FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

FOOTBALL AID
By Students?
(See Page 3)

Vol. XLI, No. 22 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Tuesday, January 10, 1956

Thirty Chosen For Inclusion In Who's Who

Committee Names Seniors Tops In Leadership Here

Thirty seniors have been chosen by a committee of juniors for inclusion in Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The committee, said Margaret Ann Ballinger, secretary of student events, was named by the with the approval of the Men's Body President's cabinet. Reason for what is supposed to be the collegiate equivalent of "Who In America were" Winfred Alman, Wendell Bailey, Beatrice Bisher, Graham Childers, Barbara Cooper, Bob Graham, Beverly Duppercourt, Bonnie Frank, Carlos Fraun, Gordon Gaster, Marlon Gealey, Jim Ed Glass, Judy Graft, Barbara Graham, Jan Halford, Don Bolder Conrad Hall, Jimmy Jeanes, Ed Mann, Mary Moore Jr., Pat Perer, Ina Jan Pruitt, Janis S Ralston, Jayleen Swanson, Jim Staples, Joan Tew, Nana Tews, Nancy Vaughn, Jim Willson, and Jane Zeiser

Factors In Government

Factors of those selected are prominent in student government. They are known in music circles as well as sports, two from student publications, one in debate, two in school service, and two for their scholastic achievements. Two will be Miss Cute Laude this month. There are two former Homecoming Queens among them.

In past years junior class committees nominated seniors for inclusion in the publication and only the seniors vote. Miss Ballinger said this was not done this year for fear there wouldn't be a good turnout among the senior class to support the thing.

Members

Members of the selection committee besides Miss Ballinger, who was chairman, were: Jim F. Moore, the student senator, and Jim C. Moore, Charles Close, Polly Swain, Bonnie Ashby, Nora Swain, Mary Elizabeth Tom, Oscar Stinson, Pat Rooney, Norma Jean Hall and Fred Roberts.

Miss Ballinger said the committee members were chosen from all activities and phases of university life. She said the "Who's Who nominees were selected for "scholarship and leadership in various fields."

'Don Quixote' To Be Shown

The Spanish film, "Don Quixote" will be shown tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30 in Conradi Theatre. The Spanish Society, Los Picaros de Lope de Vega, is presenting the film free of charge to any students interested in attending.

Accompanying this film, which has English subtitles, is a ten-minute documentary film, Mendeleiz, called "Death of a Bullfighter." The main feature, based on the most famous piece of Spanish literature, was produced in Spain and is reputedly the best film version of Cervantes "Don Quixote."

FTA TO PRESENT PANEL DISCUSSION

A panel discussion on interpretation will be featured at the meeting of the Future Teachers of America tomorrow night at 7 in Longmire Auditorium.

Flambeau photo, Adrien Allen

Beyond It All—Enjoying themselves at Cavalier-Cotillion "New Years" Dance are Nell Davis and Fred Hedges. Another picture is on page 4

Social Welfare Is CEW Topic

Spotlighted this week in the Career Emphasis Week series is the field of Social Welfare, a "wide open field for job opportunities," according to Dean Coyle E. Moore.

The program, which is designed to acquaint students with the vocational opportunities and their requirements, includes an open discussion for freshmen and students undecided in their careers at 4 p.m. Wednesday in 117 Social Welfare building.

Also included are individual conferences with Professor William L. Lesp, of the School of Social Welfare, for which appointments can be made at the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement or by contacting Dr. Melvene Hardee.

Tape Recording

A tape recording of a panel discussion by Prof. Lesp, Dr. Robert T. Landale and Ralph P. Sockler will be broadcast over WFSU-FM this week, the time to be announced later.

A total of 165 students are enrolled as undergraduates in the school and are doing graduate work. Though the number is growing, "we still get more requests for students than we can set students to fill the jobs," said Prof. Lesp.

New Warking

Some of last May's Social Welfare graduates are reported to be working now as assistant juvenile court supervisors, social caseworkers, with city children's bureaus, the American Red Cross, state departments of Public Welfare, Girl and Boy Scout troops, and mental hospitals; or studying for the ministry or master's degree. Other job opportunities include work with YWCA's and YWCA's, criminology and penology, and as guidance counsellors.

Lab Band Concert And Queen Contest Scheduled For Thursday

Event Set 7:30 In Westcott, Will Mark Band's 4th Year

FSU's lab Band will present its first concert Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium.

The event will mark the celebration of the group's fourth anniversary, announced Robert T. Braunagel, director.

In connection with the free concert will be the final judging for the Smoke Signals Queen contest.

Some of the musical numbers to be performed are: "They Didn't Believe Me", "Flamingo", "The Way You Look Tonight", "Harlem Nocturn", "Monsoona Clipper", "Just Me, Just Me", "Black Coffee", "April In Paris", and "My Heart Stood Still".

The FSU Lab Band is an organization of some twenty persons interested in various phases of modern music. The group which meets twice a week, receives no University credit and is entirely voluntary.

Membership is determined by tryouts and is open to any student meeting the standard of proficiency required on his instrument.

Objectives Listed

Objectives of the lab band are to acquaint members with the best in the different phases of popular music including dance radio, and show, explained Braunagel.

To perform the different idioms in the most musical manner and to give to interested persons a chance to arrange with emphasis on imitation of different accepted modern band styles are some tasks for the group.

Freedom To Experiment

Freedom for arrangers to experiment with new sound and techniques in developing characteristics styles of their own is another big objective to be continued.

Letting the performer play and develop the style and musicianship necessary to the character of this type of music.

Last objective is to perform at concerts, radio programs, and other occasions where popular music is appropriate, Braunagel concluded.

Trombone section of the band consists of Allen Braswell, Price Durham, Ralph Gabriel and John Lopez.

Saxophone members are Billy Bowles, Charles Colbreath, Dick Fox, Tony Swain and Frank Valdes.

Trumpet section are John Edmunds, Gene Nolen, Mike Hipps, and Roger McDuffie.

Jerry Gentry on piano, Dave Hesterberg, drums, Alana David, bass and Charlie Ally playing vibes round out the rhythm part on the band.

Linda Verran is featured vocalist.

Junior English Exams Slated

Students required to take the Junior English examination should pick up appointment cards at the Registrar's office this week, reports Martha G. Chapman, Director of Junior English.

She added that no student will be admitted to the examination without his appointment card.

Students expected in the spring examination are: (1) sophomores who will be juniors in the spring semester, (2) transfers of the fall semester, and (3) juniors and seniors previously excused.

The exam is to be given in 120 Gesbey Building from 4 to 6 p.m. January 16, 18, and 20.

Failure to take the examination at the designated time involves a five-dollar deferment fee emphasized Miss Chapman.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Five Pledged By APO Here For Service

Five men have recently been pledged into Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity. They are Adrian Allen, Russ Alderman, Bob Johnson, Dominico Cintron, and Cecil Bordstorm.

The pledges will be required to render 20 hours of service to the university before they can be initiated. These services may include work in the book store, or as ushers, attendants at election polls, waiters at banquets and hat and coat checkers at dances.

The activities which the chapter carries out include service to the student body and faculty, service to youth and community, service to members of the fraternity, and service to country.

The two fundamental requirements for active membership in APO include previous experience in the Boy Scouts and "prefer" an earnest desire to render service to others.

There are 38 members in the APO chapter at FSU, a spokesperson for the Man connect each year as a fund raising project.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

ACE Make-up exam will be given tomorrow at 4 p.m. 124 Science Building

California Personality make-up test will be given tomorrow at 8:15 p.m., 124 Science.

General Culture exam make-up will be given Thursday at 7 p.m., 124 Science.

FSU Plans TV Series In Jax Area

The everyday applications of science will be brought weekly to Jacksonville area families by members of the FSU science television series over WMBR-TV.

Dr. Gilbert Hall Kelley, the fourth annual series of live shows produced by Florida State University, will begin at 1:30 to 2 p.m. for 12 more Saturdays.

The first program, announced Roy Flynn, director of radio and communications at FSU, is to be called "Sounds of the Sea," and will feature Dr. Hugh Kelley, professor of psychology. Dr. Kelley showed slides and films of marine animals and played his recordings of the weird and varied sounds to be detected underwater

The series will be produced under the auspices of the FSU Science Camp, which each summer brings 80 carefully selected youths to Tallahassee for science study. From a small group of science camp alumni in Jacksonville who formed an informal club after returning from Tallahassee "Science in Your Life" will select one each week as an observer-assistant on the show.

The goal of "Science in Your Life" Flynn said, will be the "Stimulation of interest in a broad range of scientific fields for the entire family.

"All of the shows will be valid scientific research centered in common - place activities or sizes," he commented.

Flynn said at least one of the shows will be filmed—"kinescoped" in television parlance—with a new camera the university has purchased. Should the experiment prove successful "Science in Your Life" may be made available to TV viewers in other parts of the state.

RONOR NOTICE

A student was found guilty of stealing and suspended from school. He will be eligible for readmittance in June of 1956. The student court sent us this decision. Thursday, Jan. 5, 1956, reported Barbara Graham, chief justice of the Honor court.

Flambeau photo, Tom Sawyer

Just Can't Imagine—Who it will be, says 1955 Smoke Signals Queen Miss Barbara Emmett, as she looks over pictures of candidates in this year's contest. Final judging will be held Saturday night, is open to public.

'Signals Queen Final Judging Will Be Held

Final judging for the Smoke Signals queen will furnish a double-header flavor to Thursday night's Lab Band Concert.

Don Bridel, Smoke Signals editor, explained that the contest will be held in conjunction with the concert, scheduled for Westcott at 7:30 p.m.

Twenty-five finalists in the 4th annual Smoke Signals Queen will appear during the Lab Band Concert in Westcott Auditorium Thursday night.

Those appearing in the semi-finals are Beverly Alexander, Anita Anderson, Jane Anderson, Mary Bess Bryant, Frances Carey, Pamela Duke, Ramelle Ellis, Stephanie Gunderson, Kathie Johnson, Linda Jones, Jeani Kitchens, Beverly Laurent, and Shirley Ison.

Completing the list are Sally Mendenhall, Priscilla Moss, Rita Nelms, Paula Parsons, Jeanette Porter, Betty Prather, June Silvey, Bevery Smith, Rosemary Stephenson, Allison Templeman, Sue Throckmorton and Nancy White.

Audience Participates

Members of the audience will view the girls along with the judges who are Rick Hollister of WTNT, Dr. Rudolph Jenett of the art department, Bob Leah of university publications, Dr. Reid Montgomery, advisor of student publications and Charles Reimer of the Speech Department.

Of the twenty-five girls presented, five girls will be picked to the Queen and members of her court. The Queen will be crowned by Barbara Emmett '54 Queen

Brenton Yale

Barbara Brenton was '53 Queen and June Yale was the 1954 royal lady of Smoke Signals.

Girls will be judged on the basis of grooming appearance, walk, posture, and beauty. They will appear in shorts, Tshirts and heels.

A trophy will be awarded to the winner in addition such items as cosmetics, perfume, stationery, movie tickets, a gift certificate from one of the downtown merchants store, bracelet and perfumes to march and alcohol will be awarded Gifts were donated by local merchants in the downtown area.

We hope to see a good crowd there," concluded Merry Lou Dee, Smoke Signals Queen Contest chairman

Money Offered For 'Fat' Felines

$3 Each

By MARGARET MILLER

If you know where to find a genuinely pregnant cat, you can earn a little spending money. But you must be absolutely sure that these are female cats who are evidently engaged in reproductive activity. Don't be fooled by a few "fat cats."

This warning is based on past experience by members of the psychology department. A few years ago, they ran an ad in the Florida Flambeau for some pregnant cats, which a graduate student needed for an experiment.

The little response received from the ad was not exactly of a helpful nature in fact, the cats brought in probably delayed the progress of science somewhat, as they were only a few pudgy felines and even one disguised male cat, pre-united them by an ambitious student.

$3 Each

If the cat is genuinely pregnant, the student will receive $3 in payment; $2 will be paid for all "doubtful mothers," according to Mr. Boris Gertz of the Psychology department.

Perhaps suspecting that some tender-hearted students were fearful of bringing in the animals lest they be hurt, Gertz emphasized that the cats would be well cared for.

Just Want Kittens

"All we want is the kittens," said Mr. Gertz. The mothers will be returned intact—well almost—after the kittens are born.

He explained that Mr. Arthur Orgel, a graduate student working for his Ph. D. in psychology, needs kittens of the same age for a series of tests in personality traits and learning.

Adding Mr. Orgel in obtaining his Ph. D. shouldn't be too hard for any student interested in being helpful. Several feline residents have already been spotted near the women's dorms, where perhaps their chances of being fed and cared for are better than at other campus locations.

'Romantic Atmosphere'

It has been observed that the female cat is more consistently active in propagating their species, an inherent urge which may be encouraged by the fanned romantic atmosphere of the FSU campus.

GAMMA ALPHA CHI PLEDGES TO MEET

Pledges of Gamma Alpha Chi will meet tomorrow at 5 p.m. in Longmire Lounge. Actives will meet on Wednesday, January 18 at 5 p.m. in the lounge.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB WON'T MEET TONIGHT

The Philosophy Club will not meet tonight as planned, according to Bill Noblett, president.

Gymkana Needs Talented Coeds

Florida State's Gymkana is in need of more talented co-eds, according to Coach Hartley Price.

The show is especially interested in dancers and specialty acts, such as singers, for the forthcoming Gymkana road shows.

All interested co-eds should study at the women's gymnasium any weekday after 3 p.m.

"In my opinion this is the finest activity any girl can participate in on this campus," commented Coach Price.

It's A Hard Life, But

Flambeau photo, Steve Kleid

I suppose everyone has to study for finals. Even a dog. At least I don't have to study in those crowded classrooms, like you ordinary students. It's much more comfortable here. Nothing to bother you except pesky photographers. Which reminds me—why aren't YOU studying for finals?

FSU Authors

Readings Featured At First Coffee Hour

Dr. Griffith T. Pugh

Mrs. Orville Kennedy

David Rainey

Barbara Waddell

Readings of four original short stories marked the English Coffee Hour's first presentation of the new year.

The compositions were written and read by Florida State University students as a part of Dr. Griffith Pugh's short story class.

Selections for the Coffee Hour, which was held Friday at 4 p.m. in the Westminster House, were made as a result of a class vote.

The first short story read was a character study entitled "The Match" by David Rainey. A keen insight of family life was given, accompanied with many details which escape many writers.

This was followed by Barbara Waddell's "The Monster in the Inner Office" which reveals a common enough situation with a different approach and an unusual twist.

"On Obtaining an Elegant Chick" by William Smith (known as "Willie" to his friends) brought many a chuckle from the group. Written in a New York dialect the tale not only tells a story but indirectly gives a bit of advice.

Flambeau Photo by Bob Austen

William Smith

A trick ending was significant of "The Dregs" written by Mrs. Orville Kennedy. Primarily, the short story, which takes place in Kentucky, concerns the traditions which southerners place on whiskey.

This is one of the first times that student works have been presented at the Coffee Hour.

THE FLORIDA FLAMBEAU

student newspaper

1956

Florida State University

Tallahassee, Florida

1971

This filming - THE FLORIDA FLAMBEAU - is directed by Mrs. Gertrude Mozley Roche, Head, Micro-Materials, Florida State University Library from the originals in the Library Archives. Through the efforts of Student Senator Jeffrey Jones and SOLTAS, student organization, funds were provided in Bill 76, 23rd Senate, Student Government, FSU, 1971.

Campus Cutie Of The Week

MISS RUTH SCHUMAN
Sophomore from Plant City, member of Zeta Tau Alpha

A Merry Christmas To You

THE MECCA

Take Home A Christmas Present for Your Little Brother or Sister

FSU
Sweat Shirts
T-Shirts
College Pets

We Have Stationery
Fountain Pens
Greeting Cards

BILL'S BOOK STORE

50 million times a day at home, at work or while at play

There's nothing like a Coke

1. You feel its LIVELINESS.
2. You taste its BRIGHT GOODNESS.
3. You experience PERFECT REFRESHMENT.

DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY
"Coke" is a registered trade mark. © 1955 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

In Grecian Times

Greeks Begin Activities For '55 Christmas Season

Not to be left out of the Christmas activities, Florida State Greeks have started their Christmas activities which will last until this Friday.

That's when they will pack up their shields, arrows, stars, and crescents, kites, and five-arm stars to leave for home. Before they leave, let's stop in at a few of the houses and see what they have planned.

CHI Os, KAPPA SIGS

This afternoon the Kappa Sigs and Horseshoes will join the Kappa Sigs in a party for underprivileged children. Thursday night the Chi Os are planning their annual chapter party—gifts will be given to a local welfare organization.

One of the most active weekends of the year was given by the Kappa Sigs this past week-end. To celebrate the opening of their elaborate new house, the Kappa Sigs planned a week-end of all week-ends which included a founder's day banquet, a costume party, open house Friday and Saturday afternoons, a formal dance Saturday night, and a tea Sunday, to honor of Mother Lloyd, their housemother.

TRI-DELTS, KAs

Judging from the red carpet, brushed off Welcome mat, and portraits of Robert E. Lee throughout the house, it isn't hard to tell that the Tri-Delts are planning a tea for hostesses to the KAs.

Tomorrow night after their annual Christmas Vesper Service, the southern gentlemen and the ADs will carol throughout Tallahassee concluding at the governor's mansion. Thursday night the Tri Delt pledges will sing their pledge songs, and guests and dates will be invited to their chapter Christmas party.

KAPPA ALPHA

The Kappa Alphas will hold their annual Christmas party for underprivileged children on Thursday from 7 to 9 in the chapter house.

Elroo "Scooter" Daniels will play the role of Santa this year, with the member's dates helping to distribute toys and gifts. And besides the ice cream, cake, movies and carols, the kids will have a grandstand seat for a special clown act, put on by Tommy Wells, Buddy Jordan, and several other members of "Pirate Hall."

The KAs have received excellent co-operation from several Tallahassee merchants in buying useful gifts as well as toys to have Santa Claus give the children, and with such all-round Christmas spirit, the party will surely turn out to be another great success.

A D Phi, Phi Delts

Sunday afternoon the ADPis and Phi Delts entertained underprivileged children. This sorority-fraternity group was one of the first on campus to combine their ideas in and plans for Christmas parties for underprivileged children, which are so popular now. Monday night the ADPis had their chapter party. Most songs were sung by the pledges and gifts exchanged.

SAEs, Zetas

The SAEs and Zetas are having a charity party tonight followed by a Christmas dance Wednesday night at the SAE house Thursday evening the SAEs will have dates over for a Christmas dinner.

Pi Phis, Lambda Chis

The ring-exchanging girls and the Lambda Chis are planning a Christmas party at the Pi Phi house Thursday night. Tonight the Pi Phis are caroling for their sponsors and advisors, followed tomorrow night by their chapter Christmas party when the pledges will sing songs Darien Collins, Mary Ellen Finley, and Hayl Jackson will sing carols to the passersby in front of Westcott.

Rushing Changes

Institution of fall rushing commenced Monday, Sept. 26, with the traditional IPC smoker, at which time the general outline of the program and its rules and regulations were presented to the freshmen. Tuesday, the following day, was a closed date, with no rush functions in progress.

First semester rushing was designed to improve the procedure from both the fraternity and rushee aspects of the situation. It is hoped that by integrating the potential rushees with the respective fraternities at the earlier date will help raise the level of freshman scholarship and the operational efficiency of the houses.

It is believed that interest pressure from the fraternities will help pledges maintain the scholastic requirements necessary for initiation, an improvement over previous semester's pledging on mid-semester grades, which proved a poor indication of freshman scholarship and caused many pledges to be denied initiation and to be placed on an inactive status.

(Continued from Page 1)

are five public junior colleges in Florida with an enrollment of about 3,000, while California has 67 junior colleges with an enrollment of some 300,000 students.

There are 1,730 adults in junior colleges in Florida, while California has about 150,000.

Junior colleges in California have the financial support of the people who will pay for them and fight for them. The junior colleges in turn are sensitive to the needs of the people and try to adapt their course offerings to the needs of the community, Dr. Stickler stated.

The Pi Kappa Alphas and the Christmas party for underprivileged children this week. Entertainment will be furnished and the 25 children attending will meet Santa Claus, be presented with numerous gifts, and later be taken to the Duval Hotel for an early Christmas dinner.

The Sigma Chis will be the guests of the Thetas tonight at their annual Sigma Chi Theta Christmas party. Wednesday night the ATOs and Thetas will entertain underprivileged children at the ATO house. Hear they are going to have a merry-go-round for the children.

SIGMA NUs DELTA GAMMAs

The DGs are going continental for their Christmas party with the Sigma Nus this week. Wednesday night is the traditional Hannah party for the DGs, while the Sigma Nus will have a chapter party Thursday night.

Last Sunday the Trophy Room was the scene of much laughter and excitement as the Delta Gammas gave a Christmas party for underprivileged children.

KDs

The KD pledges will sing pledge songs at their chapter party tonight. Just a few of the KDs many Christmas projects include giving gifts to the welfare department and a Christmas basket to a needy Tallahassee family. Sunday afternoon the KD pledges entertained the actives and their dates with a tree-trimming party.

ACO

The members of Alpha Chi Omega had their annual Christmas party Sunday night at the home of one of their alums, Mrs. Gibson of Piney Z Ranch.

Traditional Christmas music was rendered by some of the women and it was followed by the singing of goat songs by the pledges. Unwrapping of Christmas gifts was next on the agenda for the evening. The party concluded with refreshments served to the girls by the alums.

ZTA

The Zeta Tau Alphas were guests at a happy bunch of girls Saturday night at the Pan-Hellenic Dance when they learned that their sorority had been chosen for the Most Outstanding Sorority of the Year Award, given annually by the Delta Tau Delta's, and that they had also won the Pan-Hellenic intramurals trophy.

Sunday afternoon found all the Zetas entertaining at their annual Christmas tea held at their house on College Ave. The event was in honor of alumni; faculty members; dormitory counselors, and dormitory, sorority, and fraternity presidents.

Fraternity Sets Up Pennell Scholarship

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity chapter at Florida State University has established a scholarship in memory of an alumnus and former student body president who was killed this summer.

Honored is William Thomas Pennell, who was a probation officer in Columbus, Georgia, until his death in an automobile accident.

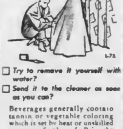
The scholarship will be for use at Florida State University unless the recipient wishes to pursue a course of study not offered by the school in Tallahassee. It must be awarded by September, 1958.

Pennell was Student Body President in the school year ending June, 1952.

The scholarship fund established by the Lambda Chis will grow annually and be held by the Alumni Development Foundation which will eventually pay the scholarship as determined by the fraternity.

In Chicago

Ogburn Receives Honorary Degree



Dr. William F. Ogburn, professor of sociology, was given an honorary LL.D. degree by the University of Chicago recently at the 25th anniversary of Social Science Research Buildings.

Before coming to FSU in 1938, Dr. Ogburn was the Sewell G. Avery Distinguished Service Professor of Sociology at the University of Chicago. He participated in the planning of the Social Science Research Buildings over a quarter of a century ago.

Others receiving the honorary doctor of laws degree were Arnold Toynbee of the Royal Institute of International Affairs and Research Professor of International History, University of London; Andre Siegfred, member of the French Academie and Professor Emiius of the College de France; Walter Lippman, author and writer for the New York Herald Tribune; Harold Hotelling, Professor of Statistics, University of North Carolina; Jacob Viner, Professor of Economics, Princeton University and Fay Cooper-Cole, Professor Emeritus of the University of Chicago.

Delegates were present from 123 colleges, universities, and learned societies. Lippman delivered the convocation address, which was attended by prominent social scientists from over the nation, and 15 round table discussions were held. Dr. Ogburn read a paper on "Industrial Organization and Economic Growth."

WHAT DO YOU DO?
When "Coke" Is Spilled on Your Dress...

L-73

☐ Try to remove it yourself with water?
☐ Send it to the cleaner as soon as you can?

Beverages generally contain tannin, or vegetable coloring which will be fast or semi-fast to treatment. So play safe. Bring the garment in to us at once.

It's Really Best to Use Our Miracle Sanitone Service!

IT'S THE ONE DRY CLEANING THAT GETS OUT ALL THE DIRT!

Spots disappear! Perspiration odors and many germs destroyed. Better press lasts longer. Call today!

SUPERIOR CLEANERS
308 S. Monroe St.
Phone 2-8652

Kappa Sigma Awards—Were given last weekend to Rat Ragland, Best Pledge of 1954, Tom Day, Man of the year Award for 1954, Bob Patterson, Fraternity Advisor; Mr. Chris Natvig, National Worthy Grand Treasurer; Floyd Gainglioff, Outstanding Achievement Award; and Russell Johnson, Certificate of Merit.

IN DESEGREGATION

Louisville, Ky (I.P.) — Kentucky now ranks second among southern states involved in desegregation of their institutions of higher learning, according to a report by Dr. Charles Parrish of the University of Louisville Sociology department.

Dr. Parrish, who is Southern Regional Council Field Consultant, has met during recent months with citizens' councils and educational groups in seven southern states to plan for complete desegregation of all schools and to prepare the citizens for the change.

Acceptance of the plan depends upon individual school boards, Dr. Parrish stated. "Opposition can develop on any point. Political opinions influences much of the news. For instance in Jackson, Miss., 2003 people met to discuss and plan, but the meeting never received notice in the papers.

"One college in Jackson, Miss., which has a regular meetings of college students has a Negro boy as chairman and a white girl as secretary."

Institutions of higher learning are now set desegregated in Florida, South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi.

RECEIVES AWARD
Ralph Newman

BAPTIST STUDENTS SLATE VESPERS

Baptist Student Union will have Christmas Vespers tonight with local underprivileged children as guests.

The program is "Student Night at Christmas" beginning at 6:30 p.m. A party will follow at 7:30 p.m.

Morning Watch Friday will be at 7:30 a.m. Mr. Gordon Speed will be a speaker for this occasion.

NOT TOO LITTLE, BUT TOO LATE

GRINNELL, Iowa (ACP)—The new president of an organization at Grinnell College has finally received the Eisenhower campaign button he requested back in 1952. years. She had a change of heart. Not one button, to be exact, but two. He now presents each of two dozen buttons and stickers college's Young Democratic Club were presented to the young man by Walter Williams, undersecretary of commerce. However the

MAKE IT A BIG RED LETTER DAY...

Educators

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

FOOTBALL AID
By Students?
(See Page 3)

Vol. XLI, No. 22 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Tuesday, January 10, 1956

Thirty Chosen For Inclusion In Who's Who

Committee Names Seniors Tops In Leadership Here

Thirty seniors have been chosen by a committee of juniors for inclusion in Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The committee, said Margaret Ann Bellinger, secretary of student events, was named by Jack with the approval of the student Body President's cabinet.

Quests for what is supposed to be the collegiate equivalent of Who's Who in America were: Winifred Allman, Wendell Barnhill, Beatrice Bisbee, Graham Cothern, Barbara Cooper, Bob Crumpler, Beverly Duppercrave, Lynn Snow Frank, Carlos Fraunfelter, Gordon Gaaler.

Marilyn Grasaler, Jim Ed Glass, John Craft, Barbara Graham, Dan Halford, Den Holder Conrad Ray, Jimmy Johnns, Ed Mann, Dixie Mayo Jr., Pat Perrer, Inia Lee Pruitt

James S. Ralston, Jaylene Rawlands, Jim Staples, Jones Tayl Hana Tews, Nancy Vaughn, Mary Willmon, and Anne J. Wynne.

Factors In Government

Business of these selected are prominent in student government. They are known in music circles, and in sports. Two from student publication, one in debate, two in school service, and two for their achievements. Two will replace Cam Lauie this month. There are two former Homecoming Queens among them.

In past years junior class committees nominated seniors for inclusion in the publication and the seniors vote. Miss Bellinger said this was not done this year for fear there wouldn't be a good turnout among the senior class to support the thing."

Members

Members of the selection committee besides Miss Bellinger, who was chairman, were:

Jim E. Moore, the student senator, and Jim C. Moore; Doris Cone Polly Swain, Florence Ashby, Tony Swain, Mrs. Elizabeth King, Carol Johnson, Pat Rooney, Norma Tippetts and Fred Roberts.

Miss Bellinger said the committee members were chosen from all activities and phases of university life and that the Who's Who nominees were selected for "scholarship and leadership in various fields."

Flambeau photo: Adreen Allen

Beyond It All—Enjoying themselves at Cavalier-Cotillion New Year's Dance are Nell Davis and Fred Hedges. Another picture is on page 4

'Don Quixote' To Be Shown

The Spanish film, "Don Quixote," will be shown tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30 in Florida Theatre. The Spanish honorary, Los Picaros de Lope de Vega, is presenting the film free of charge to any students interested in attending.

Accompanying the film, which has English subtitles, is a ten-minute documentary on Salvador Dali, called "Death of a Bullfighter." The main feature, based on the most famous piece of Spanish literature, was produced in Spain and is reputedly the best film version of Cervante's "Don Quixote."

FTA TO PRESENT PANEL DISCUSSION

A panel discussion on internship will be featured at the meeting of the Future Teachers of America tomorrow night at 7 in Longmire Auditorium.

Social Welfare Is CEW Topic

Spotlighted this week in the Career Emphasis Week series is the field of Social Welfare, a "wide open field for job opportunities," according to Dean Coyle E. Moore.

The program, which is designed to acquaint students with the vocational opportunities and their requirements, includes an open discussion for freshmen and students undecided in their careers at 4 p.m. Wednesday in 117 Social Welfare building.

Also included are individual conferences with Professor William L. Leap, of the School of Social Welfare, for which appointments can be made at the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement or by contacting Dr. Melvene Hardee.

Tape Recording

A tape recording of a panel discussion by Prof. Leap, Dr. Robert T. Lansdale and Ralph F. Sockler will be broadcast over WFSU-FM this week, the time to be announced later.

A total of 165 students are enrolled as undergraduates in the school and 58 are doing graduate work. Though the number is growing, "we still get more requests for students than we can get students to fill the jobs," said Prof. Leap.

Part Time Working

Some of last May's Social Welfare graduates are reported to be working now as assistant juvenile court counselors; social caseworkers, with city children's bureaus, the American Red Cross, state departments of Public Welfare, Girl and Boy Scout troops, and mental hospitals, or studying for the ministry or master's degree. Other job opportunities include work with YMCA's and YWCA's, criminology and penology, and as guidance counsellors.

Lab Band Concert And Queen Contest Scheduled For Thursday

Event Set 7:30 In Westcott, Will Mark Band's 4th Year

FSU's lab Band will present its first concert Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium.

The event will mark the celebration of the group's fourth anniversary, announced Robert T. Braunagel, director.

In connection with the free concert will be the final judging for the Smoke Signals Queen contest.

Some of the musical numbers to be performed are "They Didn't Believe Me", "Flamingo", "The Way You Look Tonight", "Harlem Nocturn", "Monsoona Clipper", "Just Me, Just Me", "Black Coffee", "April In Paris", and "My Heart Stood Still".

The FSU Lab Band is an organization of some twenty persons interested in various phases of modern music. The group which meets twice a week receives no University credit and is entirely voluntary.

Membership is determined by tryouts and is open to any student meeting the standard of proficiency required on his instrument.

Objective Listed

Objectives of the lab band are to acquaint members with the best in the different phases of popular music including dance, radio, and show, explained Mr. Braunagel.

To perform the different idioms in the most musical manner and to give to interested persons a chance to arranger with the combination of different accepted modern band styles are some tasks for the group.

Freedom To Experiment

Freedom for arrangers to experiment with new sound and techniques in developing characteristics styles of their own is another job for musicians," he continued.

Letting the performer play and develop his style and musicianship necessary to the character of this type of music. Last objective is to be performed at concerts, radio programs, and other occasions where popular music is appropriate, Braunagel concluded.

Trombone section of the band consists of John Bracewell, Price Durham, Ralph Gabriel and John Lopez.

Saxophone members are Billy Bowles, Charles Colbreath, Dick Reis, Tony Swain and Frank Wyden.

Trumpet section are John Edmunds, Gene Coe Mike Hipps, and Robert McDuffie.

Fred Boska on piano, Dave Cooper on guitar, Alana David, bass, and Charlie Ally playing the guitar make up the rhythm section of the band.

Ann Verran is featured vocalist.

Junior English Exams Slated

Students required to take the Junior English examination should pick up appointment cards at the Registrar's office, this week, reports Martha G. Chapman, Director of Junior English.

She added that no student will be admitted to the examination without his appointment card.

Students expected in the spring examination are: (1) sophomores who will be juniors in the spring semester, (2) transfers of the fall semester, and (3) juniors and seniors previously excused.

The exam is to be given in 120 Geology Building from 4 to 6 p.m. January 16, 17, and 20.

Failure to take the examination at the designated time will mean a fire-dollar delinquent fee, emphasized Miss Chapman.

Five Pledged By APO Here For Service

Five men have recently been pledged by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. They are Adrian Allen, Russ Alderman, Bob Johnson, Dominco Cintron, and Cecil Bordelon.

The pledges will be required to render 20 hours of service to the university before they can be initiated. These services may include work in the book store or as ushers attendants at election polls, waiters at banquets and hall and coat checkers at dances.

The activities which the chapter carries out include service to the student body and faculty, service to youth and community service to members of the fraternity and service to the country.

The two fundamental requirements for active membership in APO include previous experience on the Boy Scouts and "proving an interest in service by service to others."

There are 31 members in the APO chapter at FSU, which sponsors the Ugly Man contest each year as a fund raising project.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

ACE Make-up exam will be given tomorrow at 4 p.m. 124 Science Building

California Personality make-up test will be given tomorrow at 5:15 p.m. 124 Science.

General Culture exam make-up will be given Thursday at 7 p.m. 124 Science.

FSU Plans TV Series In Jax Area

The everyday applications of science will be brought weekly to Jacksonville area families by a Florida State University television series on WJHP-TV.

"Science in Your Life," the four-lesson serial series of films shows produced by Florida State University, will be telecast from 6:30 to 6:45 p.m. Thursday for 13 days.

The first program, announced Roy Flynn, director of radio and communications at FSU, was entitled "Science in Your World," featured Dr. Winthrop Kellogg, professor of psychology. Dr. Kellogg showed slides and films of various marine animals and played his recordings of the weird and varied sounds to be detected underwater.

The series will be produced under the auspices of the FSU Science Camp, which each summer brings 80 carefully selected youths to Tallahassee for science study. From a small group of science camp alumni in Jacksonville who formed an informal club after returning from Tallahassee "Science in Your Life" will select one each week as an observer-assistant on the show.

The goal of "Science in Your Life," Flynn said, will be the "stimulation of interest in a broad range of scientific fields for the entire family."

"All of the shows will be valid scientific research centered in common - place activities or sites," he commented.

Flynn said at least one of the shows will be filmed—"kinescoped," in television parlance—with a new camera the university has purchased. Should the experiment prove successful "Science in Your Life" may be made available to TV viewers in other parts of the state.

HONOR NOTICE

A student was found guilty of stealing and suspended from school. He will be eligible for readmittance in June of 1956.

Honor court met on this decision Thursday, Jan. 5, 1956, reported Barbara Graham, chief justice of the Honor court.

'Signals Queen Final Judging Will Be Held

Final judging for the Smoke Signals queen will furnish a double header flavor to Thursday night's Lab Band Concert.

Don Riddel Smoke Signals editor, explained that the contest will be held in connection with the concert scheduled for Westcott at 7:30 p.m.

Twenty-three finalists in the 6th annual Smoke Signals Queen will appear during the Lab Band Concert in Wescott Auditorium Thursday night.

Those appearing in the semi-finals are Bevery Alexander, Anita Anderson, Jane Anderson, Mary Stuart Bolton, Frances Carey, Pamela Duke, Ramolie Ellis, Stephanie Gunderson, Kathe Johnson, Linda Jones, Jenin Kitchens, Beverly Lamont, and Shirley Ison

Completing the list are Sally Mendenhall, Priscilla Moss, Rita Nelms, Paula Parsons, Jeanette Porter, Betty Prather, Jane Silev, Beverly Smith, Rosemary Stephenson, Allison Templeman, Sue Throckmorton and Nancy White

Audience Participates

Members of the audience will have the girls along with the judges who are Rick Hollizer of WTNT, Dr. Rudolph Jeant of the art department, Bob Leigh of university publications, Dr. Red Montgomery, advisor of student publications, and Charles Farmer of the Speech Department.

Of the twenty-five girls presented, five girls will be picked to the Queen and members of her court. The Queen will be crowned by Barbara Emmett '51 Queen.

Evening Varies

Barbara Brewton was '53 Queen and June Yates was the 1954 royal lady. Smoke Signals

Girls will be judged on the basis of grooming, appearance, walk posture, and beauty. They will appear in shorts, T-shirts and heels.

A trophy will be awarded to the winner. In addition such items as cosmetics, perfume, manicury movie tickets, a gift certificate from one of the downtown merchants store, bracelet and earrings to match and stockings will be awarded.

Gifts were donated by local merchants at the downtown area.

"We hope to see a good crowd there, concluded Mary Louise Dye, Smoke Signals Queen Contest chairman."

Flambeau photo: Tom Sawyer

Just Can't Imagine—Who it will be, says 1955 Smoke Signals Queen Miss Barbara Emmett, as she looks over pictures of candidates in this year's contest. Final judging will be held Saturday night, is open to public.

$3 Each

Money Offered For 'Fat' Felines

By MARGARET MILLER

If you know where to find a genuinely pregnant cat, you can earn a little spending money. But you must be absolutely sure that these are female cats who are evidently engaged in reproductive activity. Don't be fooled by a few "fat cats."

This warning is based on past experience by members of the psychology department. A few issues ago, they ran an ad in the Florida Flambeau for some pregnant cats, which a graduate student needed for an experiment.

The little response received from the ad was not exactly of a helpful nature. In fact, the cats brought in probably delayed the progress of science somewhat, as they were only a few pudgy felines and even one enticed male cat, prevented them by an ambitious student.

$3 Each

If the cat is genuinely pregnant, the student will receive $3 in payment. $2 will be paid for all "doubtful mothers," according to Mr. Boris Gertz of the Psychology department.

Perhaps suspecting that some tender-hearted students were fearful of bringing in the animals lest they be hurt Gertz emphasized that the cats would be well cared for.

Just Want Kittens

"All we want is the kittens," said Mr. Gertz. The mothers will be returned intact—well almost—after the kittens are born.

He explained that Mr. Arthur Orgel, a graduate student working for his Ph. D. in psychology, is to Bill Nebiell, president.

needs kittens of the same age for a series of tests in personality traits and learning.

Asking Mr. Orgel in obtaining his Ph. D. shouldn't be too hard for any student interested in being helpful. Several feline residents have already been spotted near the women's dorms, where perhaps their chances of being fed and cared for are better than at other campus locations.

'Romantic Atmosphere'

It has been claimed that the female cat is very consistently active in propagating their species, an inherent urge which may be encouraged by the famed romantic atmosphere of the FSU campus.

GAMMA ALPHA CHI PLEDGES TO MEET

Pledges of Gamma Alpha Chi will meet tomorrow at 5 p.m. in Longmire Lounge Actives will meet on Wednesday, January 18 at 5 p.m. in the lounge.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB WON'T MEET TONIGHT

The Philosophy Club will not meet tonight as planned, according to Bill Nebiell, president.

It's A Hard Life, But

Flambeau photo: Steve Kloof

I suppose everyone has to study for finals. Even a dog. At least I don't have to study in those crowded classrooms, like you ordinary students. It's much more comfortable here. Nothing to bother you except pesky photographers. Which reminds me—why aren't YOU studying for finals?

FSU Authors Readings Featured At First Coffee Hour

Dr. Griffith T. Pugh

Mrs. Orville Kennedy

David Rainey

Barbara Waddell

Flambeau Photo by Bob Ashton

Readings of four original short stories marked the English Coffee Hour's first presentation of the new year.

The compositions were written and read by Florida State University students as a part of Dr. Griffith Pugh's short story class.

Selections for the Coffee Hour, which was held Friday at 4 p.m. in the Westminster House, were made as a result of a class vote.

The first short story read was a character study entitled "The Match" by David Rainey. A keen insight of family life was given, accompanied with many details which escape many writers.

This was followed by Barbara Waddell's "The Monster in the Inner Office" which reveals a common enough situation with a different approach and an unusual twist.

On Obtaining an Elegant Chick by William Smith, known as "Willie" to his friends brought many a chuckle from the group. Written in a New York dialect the tale not only tells a story but indirectly gives a bit of advice.

A trick ending was significant of "The Dregs" written by Mrs. Orville Kennedy. Primarily, the short story, which takes place in Kentucky, concerns the traditions which southerners place on whiskey.

This is one of the first times that student works have been presented at the Coffee Hour.

William Smith

Rev. William T. Martin Not Easily Forgotten

It is hard to speak of death. It is harder to grasp its meaning in taking Dr. William T. Martin, minister of Tallahassee's First Presbyterian Church.

He was a quiet, soft-spoken man, who in the tones used by the Master he spoke o' so often, brought his congregation to laughter and tears.

Often referred to by many FSU students as their own Peter Marshall, he was quick to understand the problems of collegiate youth, the doubts which assailed their faith, and their need for a soft word instead of hellfire and brimstone threats.

In the face of overflowing student attendance on Sunday mornings, sometimes leaving little room for the townspeople, he arranged, in spite of his already overtaxed physical strength, to hold two services that all might come. And they did—of all faiths as well as all branches of the Protestant creeds.

Those of us who were skeptics learned from him, those who believed profited, and those who were disconsolate, hoped because of him. His faith was not only intelligent, but real to all students who knew him, and the things we learned from him will not easily be forgotten.

The why's of life are not seen or known by the wisest of men. And because he did not live in vain, we cannot believe he died in vain. For the things we do not know today, the world will prove for us in some tomorrow.

Dr. Martin's death, in his early thirties, is a tragic loss to our student body. May the things he taught us, stay with us, the only honor he ever wanted.

Senate Set-Up Is Getting Worse

To represent, in the political sense, means to respect the wishes and consider the welfare of one's constituents. One's constituents are those who elect the representatives.

Therefore, the idea held by some student senators that dormitory representation will be effected by having senators living in residence units while not being elected from them is false.

A representative is subject to the vote of those who are represented. Some senators envisioned last year, and some still believe, that senators will perform their duty if elected by the creaking, over-burdened, Greek-laden class system so long as they live in the groups that should be represented.

We don't want to cast aspersions on student senators in general. Still, the greater number have seldom had the relationship of proximity as a basis for knowing what the dorm students think and want. There is no fact on which to base the idea they would be any more interested were their place of residence restricted after election.

If dormitories could elect senators to represent them on the basis of the student's record and recall them if they disregard the meaning of the word representation, well, we imagine student senate would be a bit different.

For one thing, it would have student support.

Second, it would create enough student interest to increase the disgustingly low election turnout.

Third, it would sound all student complaints and opinions. The legislative body now samples what the few conscientious senators bring in.

Lastly, it would reduce the number of seats that now go to the highest bidder in a plain-and-simple popularity contest.

The Florida Flambeau submits that Student Senate cannot lay a claim to political maturity unless it is elected responsibly. Dormitory representation includes Greek living-unit representation, and further provision can be made for day students and married students.

Workable plans have been submitted and there has been ample opportunity to compromise; yet some of those whom we must regretfully term deadwood continue to make progress an impossibility.

The What's What On Who's Who

The recent announcement of FSU's choices for Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges came as a surprise.

Hardly anyone knew that consideration of seniors had been going on. Many seniors are now asking why their class was not permitted to vote, as in past years.

In defense of the appointment of a committee of juniors to make the selection as well as nomination, it has been argued that senior classes—last year's for example—have never bothered to vote.

The fact is that little advance notice was issued of last year's Senior Class meeting on nominations, but we can pass over this to an even more pertinent realization.

If seniors have, as it is alleged, always ignored voting on candidates for this publication, their disinterest has been a definite indication on their part that it is not the honor it's supposed to be.

They seem aware that Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges is run as a profit-making enterprise, the company's main aim is to sell their book. This takes quite a lot out of whatever "honor" there is in the selection.

A former Florida Flambeau editor, chosen for the publication, wrote the company that he didn't wish his name included, considering it "next to nothing as an honor".

This is indeed a strong indictment. No doubt there are many schools that take the publication seriously. Even at FSU most of the people chosen deserve recognition for outstanding achievement.

An equal number who are not nominated deserve recognition. Invariably, whether by class or committee choice, some element of popularity and politics has bearing upon the result.

We do not think that FSU Student Government should patronize and cooperate with a so-called "honorary" that is primarily profit-bent. Nor do we think the cabinet should have taken it upon itself to hand over to any committee, no matter how competent, the powers of selection. It is, of course, too late and very inadvisable to criticize the committee for instances where some may feel poor judgment was exercised.

We can only emphasize that the solution to the muddle is to forget about "who's who" entirely.

Limit Basketball Sales In Students' Favor

While we know the number of spectator seats in Florida High's Gym are in no way sufficient to fill the demand for seats at FSU's basketball games, we consider it outrageous that half (and we do mean half) the gym was reserved for townspeople and "paid" tickets last Saturday night.

Well over 300 students were turned away from the doors, some over an hour before the game started, because they weren't faculty members or townspeople with "paid-for" tickets. Righteously indignant, the students waved their activity books fat a cost of $75 per) in the nose of the ticket guard at the door and asked him if they were not "paid for."

This editor watched a faculty member and 5 friends enter without tickets, without activity books, while the guard held the doors locked to students. Finally, 15 students were admitted; each counted as though he were the worst thing to have at a basketball game.

Inside, we could see that half the gym was almost full and the other half almost empty, mainly marked "Reserved."

There's a rotten apple in the barrel somewhere when students pay for a season's games in advance and have their seats sold a second time to townspersons. One section, we could understand, but half the gym, no. Surely 5,500 activity books paid the cost of the use of the gym and then some.

We suggest the Athletic Office limit the sales of tickets in town immediately, realizing that some 5,500 students have every legal right to enter the game or have part of their activity fee refunded. If they don't, we wouldn't be surprised to find the students angry enough to riot at the doors of the next game.

"Gad, I Wish I'd Said That"

Dear Mama Seminole . . .

DEAR MAMA

Georgie sure hate to leav'um home to come back to school. After me sleep in cold rooms, eat rotten food and walk'um many miles in cold and rain me more sure me like'um home best.

Committee chose thirty braves and maidens for "Who's Who In American Universities." Me think committee got holes in head or heads in hole. One thing heap sure, some outstanding people not get chosen, some not so outstanding get chosen. How me believe. Honorary is honor only when rash people are chosen for it. Friendly village must learn this if groups and honors are to be'um meaningful. Me think'um list of Who's Who this year should be published in Smoke Signals . . . tribe will think it funniest thing in magazine all year. Course some choices good, but in this case some rotten apples ruin barrel. Congrats to those who should have been named and were not, you have accomplished something on campus. Because those who accomplish things always have to those who are jealous.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT no longer have to worry how to spend'um funds. Student Chief got method. It simple, buy.

Student Council be'um heap surprised to find someone sell them bill of goods. Big Chief of Athletic left council chamber, sponsor drive to raise funds for athletic scholarships and why not Village do same. Georgie know Auburn have no such campaign, friend tell him don know what friend Auburn have to hide, me think.

STUDENT CHIEF MAKE urge to visit Student Government Committee rooms, conservatives visit other committees. Be funny. Chief not visit council tribe member of, visit other one instead. Good reason, maybe?

Indians under way for'um Intelligent Faith Week. Me would like to be on committee, tell it remember to use word "intelligent" and remember Great Spirit take many forms, is many things to many people. Cause people disagree with you no sign you have not intelligent about faith. Me study in religious course, all religions have'um same golden rule, me of opinion all religions have same Great Spirit. No room as child of Great Spirit for narrow minded intolerance. Intelligent Faith recognize this.

FRIENDLY VILLAGE lose'um great friend in death of Dr. Martin. Members of all faiths visited his church for inspiration, comfort and worship. He possessed an intelligent faith, and a strong one, an ideal pastor for university village. Me miss him heap much, but will remember him through many seasons.

LOVE ALL,
GEORGIE II

Letters To The Editor

THE FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic, and provides this space for student opinion. The letters do not have to coincide with the views of the paper, but must be in good taste. Unsigned letters will not be printed, but names will be withheld upon request. Letters should not exceed 250 words, and preferably typewritten. Letters received by this time may be printed, but may be cut at the discretion of the editor.)

A Word From The Represented

Congratulations are in order for our Student Senate who on the Wednesday of December 7, voted unanimously on living unit representation. This is just another step in the path of a growing Student Government at a growing university. Many steps of popularity and politics has bearing upon the result.

We do not think that FSU Student Government should patronize and cooperate with a so-called "honorary" that is primarily profit-bent. Nor do we think the cabinet should have taken it upon itself to hand over to any committee, no matter how competent, the powers of selection. It is, of course, too late and very inadvisable to criticize the committee for instances where some may feel poor judgment was exercised.

We can only emphasize that the solution to the muddle is to forget about "who's who" entirely.

seemingly developed a very immature slant toward this issue of representation. It might be quite true that, as they claim, living unit representation will bring students lacking experience in Student Government into the circle of student legislation. They say that already in this web of student politics so sure of themselves and their objectives that there is no room for suggestion or reorganization.

This writer does not in any way mean to belittle Mr. Edwards, nor do I deny his right of comment from the other dissenters who feel they were voicing the opinion of the students on December 7. I only ask that you investigate yourselves and your obligations to your fellow students before this is done you may feel sure that the action taken were not only in the right direction, but also portrayed a Student Government functioning for the welfare of ALL the students.

Most sincerely yours,
GUY W. MILLNER.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Sibley

The Dissenter

A Christmas Overture In Ballet

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

During Christmas I witnessed an event for which the season was fitting, as it caused much joy for several people.

The Junior Ballet Guild of Clearwater, a non-profit group which offers free ballet training to talented and serious children, gave its first Christmas season performance—an original ballet with borrowed music called "The Pied Piper of Hamelin." (My mother is the Guild Director and I'm a vice-president, so that's how I became involved.)

A MOTHER got one of the dancers came to the final performance. She brought a friend. They sat far back and on an aisle, but just the same were asked to leave. To prevent any incident from occurring, I took the next seat.

By now you hardly need to guess. The people referred to are Negroes; her 14-year-old who was on the stage comes twenty miles from St. Petersburg so that she may walk in the front door and study with the other pupils.

After the show the mother and daughter left together. On the older woman's face was a look of joy far more deep and heartfelt than any I'd ever seen before. Whatever December 25 may have been like for them, I know that the meaning and spirit of Christmas came to them due to a few unprecedented hours in Clearwater.

Why should there ever be any question that a mother should attend the performance of her daughter? Why must a talented and promising dancer be denied unlimited freedom to develop her capabilities? Or for that matter, why anybody?

These were questions that struck very deep during Christmas season.

* * *

THERE WILL SOON be an ironic page written in this Ballet Guild story: the students will be guests at the Clearwater appearance of the famous dancer, Jacqueline Du Bief. However, in the Clearwater High School, and the county authority has denied the Negro girl permission to sit in the audience.

She will be there, though, but in the wings—and not as an attendant or servant but as a student and a welcome visitor. Many the dancer who would give everything for such an opportunity, to be almost part of such a performance and at the elbows of a famous artist. It should be the equivalent of a 14-year-old sitting on the bench of his favorite ball club, or the violinist musician hearing Toscanini listening enraptured, or the writer having his first book accepted.

That supposedly-supreme joy will, in this girl's case, be tempered by a hurt—and a wonder—that she cannot sit with the other students.

INTEGRATION has worked in the Guild's instance. The girl's teachers say that her grades have gone up dramatically since acceptance by white girls her own age. This is an unseen effect of integration that will be repeated by the thousandfold wherever the social change is attempted.

Integration has worked in this instance. It will and it will work here. It must not be postponed. Justice does not wait for the whim of small people.

Much Ado . . .

A Fire Is A Fire Is A Fire..

By CLYDE WARD

According to Dr. Laurence R. Campbell and Roland E. Wolseley, society editors and sports editors may be sent with the regular reporters to cover a fire, if the fire is big enough. Dr. Campbell is the dean of the school of journalism at FSU, and Wolseley is a foreigner, university-wise, from Syracuse U.

They're the co-authors of a five-buck textbook.

When society editors and sports editors write fire stories, we might expect something like this, from the Bellmont Bugle:

THE BELLMONT APARTMENTS at 308 Firebrand street was the scene of a warm affair last evening when fire broke simple, but eye-catching. The building was all done in red and black, the black smoke contrasting nicely with the red flames.

The fire chief made a very affable host as he ushered oglers to the firemen and waited for more pressure from the water department.

The occasion had some of the aspects of a fashion preview, as some of the sights had not had a public showing before.

Mrs. R. H. DeGraf carried out the motif of the evening dressed as a "torch girl." She was wearing a fire-engine red dressing gown, and red flames poured from her long black hair. She treated the crowd to a short, but enthusiastic ballet, entitled, "Where the heck is the water hose?"

MRS. O. O. KUYERLESS (O. O. for Oops Oops) was in an original creation, but it did not appear to be a Dior original. She was wearing cold cream, curlers, and soot mainly where a lovely pair of sky-blue pajamas had burned away.

The fire chief reported that the occasion was a success, and hoped that the people would return soon.

Now let's get the sports editor's version.

The squad of fire department fought the Bellmont apartments blaze to a draw in an overtime duel that finally ended at 3:30 this morning. The fire department is not trying for a rematch.

Several different events were included in the match, the first of which was a high dive.

Aiming for a six-foot net, K. E. Dunwiddie did a sensational double somersault with a full twist from a third-story window. He was disqualified when he missed the net.

A. P. BLANKENSHIP showed admirable baseball form as he rounded the desk in the ground-floor lobby, faced through the door, and slid into the arms of a waiting ambulance driver amid a cloud of sooty water. He was declared safe by the umpire.

Fireman O. U. Sesley chalked up two points for the firemen when he emerged with a squalling two boys, one under each arm. He was given a champion's kiss by the mother of the boys.

Not enough statistics were obtained to warrant a box score.

Now all this might lead us to believe that journalism is not what it used to be.

Neither would the city editor be, after a couple of stories like this.

At The Movies

Screens To Offer Turner, Palance

By WANDA SUE OWEN

Today M-G-M brings to the Florida screen a love story set against a background of the French 14th century Renaissance starring Lana Turner, Pedro Armendariz, Roger Moore, Marisa Pavan and Orson Welles' Iago-like

The production, "Diane" filmed in Cinema-Scope and color, tells the story of Diane de Poitiers, a famous beauty down in history as one of the world's most beautiful women.

Lana Turner plays the role of Diane—she becomes involved with Francis King of France when he spares the life of her husband Count de Breze, governor of Normandy. In return she teaches the King's younger son, Henri, the graces that befit a Prince so to make a political match with Catherine de Medici.

During the course of his "tutorship" Diane and Henri fall in love, but he has to marry Catherine in order to hate the woman who has first place in her husband's heart.

Hal Power

When Italian plotters subsequently bring about Henri's death in a jousting tournament, Catherine has the power to eliminate her rival.

What she does with this opportunity will add to her already long and none auspicious is a vital factor in the action.

A great tournament, with kings of Europe crossing lances to bear hunt, in which the beast comes close to trampling his pursuers to death, and a royal procession, with glittering trappings for 75 horses are some of the highlights of "Diane."

Wrote Screen Play

Christopher Isherwood wrote the screen play of "Diane," which is based on the story, "Diane de Poitiers" by Andre Gratze. It was directed by David Miller and was produced by Edwin H. Knopf.

The rough and romantic team of Jack Palance and Shelley Winters are co-starred in Warner Brothers' "A Thousand Times Good" playing for the last times today at the State Theatre.

The story of "Mad-Dog" Roy Earle's stay-day reign of terror as America's most hunted criminal and of "Bad Girl" Marie Garson who followed Earle from every back-alley to the bullet-riddled career, was filmed in Cinema-Scope and color.

Plays Criminal

Jack Palance plays the hunted criminal who seems to have a thousand lives with a crime for each one of them Shelley Winters, plays Earle's dime-a-dance girl.

Also starred in "I Died A Thousand Times" are Lori Nelson and Lon Chaney, Jr. as a cool and a tough young confederate of Earle's.

Willis Goldbeck and Stuart Heisler wrote the produced and directed them for the film, which was written by W. R. Burnett.

Wandering With Wiljohn

She's Just A Girl Named Mabel

By WILJOHN

Let's see what has been happening on the music and jazz (not meaning to differentiate between the two) scene since we deserted yo olde campi for the holidays.

First off, a letter has been received by this writer asking him to pick an All-Star Band from the students of this school, whether they be in the School of Music or not. I also have to give the reasons for my choice in each case. This last will undoubtedly land me in hot water with many of the people who are now my friends, but look for my selections along about the second issue of next week. Expect a dance or jazz-size band, not a symphony orchestra.

THEN, TOO, after a lot of noise being made in the music field about a hitherto unheralded singer, by name Mabel Mercer. Some of you may leap to the conclusion that I have heard of her and I simply adore her singing." This is all well and good, but the fact remains that most people have never heard of her and probably never will because she prefers to remain un-publicized and sing in small and tasty New York bistros for absurdly long periods of time.

This last statement may seem a little odd but it is quite true. She has been in one place for as long as six years and when she finally left, the management of the place asked her to come to stay another six. Where she is singing now, I don't know. But I do know that she rarely makes records and she has one out right now on the Atlantic label called "Mabel Mercer Sings" a waxing of rarely heard and very lovely old show tunes from the pens of the most popular figures of our day and some of the better but less popular composers, as well.

First off, it should be known that there isn't a single successful composer in the business who hasn't written a song just for her. That's quite a tribute. When she sings at the club she's working, the only accompaniment she uses is piano and rhythm section. She stands unseated in an arm chair placed in the crook of the piano, her drink in her hand and a lighted cigarette in the other next to the chair as her only illumination. You can ask her to sing almost any song you've ever heard and she will in a voice isn't anything to thrill you with its power or greatness. It's a very quiet and haunting voice that creeps each soft song like a mother telling a story to a sleepy child. Once you have her, you'll understand what I mean by that. To listen to her sing is not only a pleasure but an experience. This record I recommend more highly than anything I've heard so far.

Lastly, someone wanted to know my choice for the best R&B or popular disc out now? I must. I'll give the nod to some females with "Memories Are Made of This." Don't be too vanguard idea but the sound of your keep it to your self and don't write me a letter.

Hope you had a very Merry and an awful Happy.

Marriage Service Is 'Top Secret'

By CLYDE WARD

Dr. Albert Quade, director of the Marriage Counsel-Service at Florida State, heads one of the most confi- al organizations in the University. "Top secret" is watchword of the information taken in from its "clients".

"Even if someone burglarized our files," Dr. Quade said in an interview recently, "all he'd find is a bunch of code numbers." Each counseling case is designated a code number. Information telling about the person's background and problems is also given a code number. Not only would the burglar not get the names, he wouldn't get the answers.

Dr. Quade channels all the cases in the department. Tha person, or couple, who comes in for the first time always sees Dr. Quade. If no serious personality problems seem to be prevalent, he may assign the case to a graduate assistant.

Reluctant

When asked about the probable percentage of successful cases he'd handled, Dr. Quade was reluctant to deal in figures. Success is a relative thing in this business," he said. "Sometimes, you could compare this service with a physician's service, when he gets a patient that's dying. If a couple comes in that's filed for divorce already, chances are that they would want to break up.

Such cases aren't hopeless, too long.

Though, he added, "if the people are sincere and are willing to work on their marriage."

Success also depends on former circumstances. "If a couple has had at least a year of happy married life." Dr. Quade said, "the chances are much better. I think we'd be safe in saying that we help most of the people who come here."

Martial, Pre-Marital

Counseling is provided for both marital and pre-marital cases. Sometimes people come in who may not even be dating. This is usually a student from one of the preparation for marriage classes who realizes that he may have one of the personality difficulties studied about in the classes and would be detrimental to a happy marriage.

Dr. Quade is the one person in the world with access to all the information taken in by the department. He works fairly close with the graduate assistants on their cases, but they know only about the cases on which they're working.

When asked about the quick-marriage, quick-divorce situation in Hollywood, Dr. Quade did not hesitate. "Actors and actresses", he said, "probably choose that type of work because they're afraid to be themselves. Personalities such as they have just don't do the best to adapt to family life."

Will Students Pay Cash To Athletes

Danford Questions Senate

How many students would be willing to contribute to an athletic fund?

This is the question student senators and Dr. Howard Danford, Director of Athletics, considered at the Wednesday's senate meeting.

Danford stated that he had come to the senate seeking "advice and counsel" on a problem brought up by students at an athletic committee meeting. He said that the students, like many others, were dissatisfied with staying in a small college class in intercollegiate sports, yet expressed some concern about being better prepared to meet higher competition.

He said that FSU's main problem in facing the University of Florida was that "meeting this kind of competition especially in this section of the country, you need a pocketbook stuffed with cash."

'Faced With Problem'

"We're faced with the problem of meeting the University of Florida on an equal basis even though we are not receiving nearly equal amounts of money. Even though the money is divided on a basis of the number of students in school, he continued, "the number of students has no relationship to the cost of providing athletic scholarships."

He said that the students on the committee told him of a plan which Auburn students used with considerable success. At Auburn, students contribute $1 a year toward an athletic scholarship fund and thereby helped compensate for the lack of funds in the school treasury.

Might Work

The students suggested that such a plan of voluntary contributions might also work since many students were interested in meeting the University of Florida in sports.

Scholarship money is needed, Danford stated in order to attract more top-flight athletes from Florida's high schools. The athletic department here has long felt that money was needed to supplement present funds, which are derived only from the race track scholarship fund.

He commented that if such a plan of collecting voluntary contributions were continued, the project must be the responsibility of the students, although his department would be willing to assist in any way possible.

Mr. Edward Cubbon, Athletic Business Manager, was also present at the meeting as was Coyle Moore, Student Body President. Mr. Cubbon stated that Moore had suggested that if student government supported the project, various members could be responsible for publicizing and explaining the project in dorms, fraternity and sorority houses.

Board Impressed?

Most student senators showed immediate approval of this project and began to express ideas on the subject.

Senator Mansfield asked Danford, "Would the Board of Control be impressed with our efforts to help ourselves?"

Senator Atwater expressed the thought that perhaps students who contributed could be presented cards saying something like: "I contributed to the booster club."

Senator Tesa wondered if alumni could join in the project but Danford recalled past pleas to alumni as unsuccessful, because so FSU in the past was a girl's school, most of the alumni are women. Such a plan, however, might be feasible and would have to be worked out with the alumni office, he said.

"And Now, In A Little Different Vein —"

Ohio Group Asks Students To Lend Help

National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has appealed for help to enlist specialized people concerning the care of crippled patients.

Foundation said 50,000 additional nurses are needed while 1,000 occupational therapists, physical therapy number each. Another thousand medical workers are needed, it said.

The foundation said it has spent $60,000,000 since 1938 for fellowships, scholarships, and assistance to medical, professional organizations and other recipients, to bolster fields of medical social nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy.

Information regarding various scholarships can be obtained, the group said, from campus placement bureaus and any of the following groups: American Council of Medical Social Workers, 1730 Eye Street North-west, Washington 6, D. C.; Committee for National League for Nursing, 1 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.; American Physical Therapy Association, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y.; American Occupational Therapy Association, 33 West 42nd Street, New York 36, N. Y.

Two-Thirds Of ROTC Grads Will Serve 6

Over two-thirds of America's college graduates scheduled to report for active duty in the near first six months of 1956 will only have to serve six months on active duty.

Washington announcement was revealed that 4100 graduates eligible for active duty in that six month period are six months and 2,000 are transferred to the active Reserve.

The remaining 1900 will serve the full two-year tours. Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Third Army commander was informed by Army Department.

The reasons for allowing so many ROTC graduates to serve only six months active duty, Hershey said in a news release, was the need for officers to bolster Reserve forces on a reduced require- ments of Junior Officers, and decrease in the number of Regular officers voluntarily remaining on active duty.

That Time Again—Registration for the Spring Semester is well underway as this three intently-concentrating students in the top picture might testify. Pre-registration has still not eliminated the old nemesis, writer's cramp.

Bottom photo illustrates the extent to which long lines have been eliminated by pre-registration. Note also absence of mountains of hastily-scribbled notes on the registration desks.

A FINAL VERSE

MANHATTAN, Kan. — (ACP)— With finals looming ominously ahead, Ann Weathers sat down and penned a short verse in her "Over the Ivy Line" column in the Kansas State Collegian. It reads:

Tests, tests, everywhere,
With dives and drops of ink;
And never a prof who'll leave the room
And allow a guy to think.

WFSU F M SCHEDULE

WFSU-FM
91.5

Tuesday, January 10, 1956

7:00 Masterworks
7:30 Chapter A Day
7:45 Hi Fi Concert
8:00 Hi Fi Concert
8:30 Children's Circle
9:00 Hi Fi Concert
9:30 The Bible
10:00 Angel Classics
10:30 Drama Theatre
11:00 Angel Classics
11:30 News
12:00 Sign Off

Wednesday, January 11, 1956

7:00 Masterworks
7:15 Chapter A Day
7:30 Hi Fi Concert
8:30 Children's Circle
9:00 Hi Fi Concert
9:30 The Bible
10:00 Angel Classics
10:30 Angel Classics
11:00 News
11:30 Drama Theatre
12:30 Favorite Masterworks
1:00 Concert on Press
1:15 Private Press
1:30 Master U Watt
2:00 Sign Off
3:30 Wood Window
4:00 Showcase
4:30 Masterworks
5:15 Columbia Orch.
10:00 Sign Off

Thursday, January 12

7:00 Masterworks
7:30 Chapter A Day
7:45 Hi Fi Concert
8:00 Children's Circle
8:30 Hi Fi Concert
9:00 The Bible
9:30 Angel Classics
10:00 Angel Classics
10:30 News
11:00 Drama Theatre
11:30 Masterworks
12:30 Americana Adventure
1:00 NAEB Drama
1:30 Music Over West
2:00 Sign Off
3:15 Effect of Weather
3:30 Showcase
4:30 Masterworks
5:15 Columbia Orch.
10:00 Sign Off

MORAL:

DON'T FIGHT CITY HALL

WILMORE, Ky.—(ACP)— A student at Asbury College was recently arrested by a traffic officer for speeding. He decided to uphold his democratic rights and carry his case to a trial by jury.

As the Asbury Collegian remarks, perhaps we need more people with such resolutions. But they aren't sure just what he gained. The usual fine for speeding: $12.50. The student's fine after the trial: $65.50

Buy Your Films have them developed at the most convenient store
CHEVET'S
Corner of College and Adams
the best assortment of Cameras and Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

QUALITY DRY CLEANERS
For Expert
CLEANING REPAIRING
PRESSING ALTERING
CALL OR GO BY
2-5097 215 W. College

The Florida Flambeau

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor — Pat Marston, News Editor
JAY ROBERTSON—Editor
State Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Reporters ..... Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Slaughters, Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Editor ..... Eleanor Kirby
Editor ..... Margaret Miller
Sports Editor ..... Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Staff ..... Larry Block, Dave Evans, Alan Whitmarsh
Junior Staff ..... Pat Smith, Arlieca Ries, Bob Dollison, Bob Morem, Larry Meredith, Steve Kleid.
Greek Editor ..... Charlet Pottevint
MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager
Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford — Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown, Lois Friedman
Exchange Editor ..... Betsy Voorhees
Exchange Staff ..... Martha McLeod, Sandra Colley
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Mercury ..... George Goldstein
Business ..... Randy Davis, Jean Patterson
Telephone 2,800, extension 6821, 5821
311, 213 Lonestire Building
Intercollegiate Press
Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Knee Length
BERMUDA SKIRTS
Glen Plaid
Black Watch Plaid
All Wool——
At Half Prices were $12 NOW ONLY $6
Steyerman's
THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR QUALITY

YOU'LL BOTH GO FOR THIS CIGARETTE!
Flavor above all—that's WINSTON
WINSTON TASTES GOOD!
LIKE A CIGARETTE SHOULD!
Winston
FILTER-CIGARETTES
■ When it comes to real tobacco flavor, college smokers are going for Winston! This good-tasting, easy-drawing filter cigarette not only brings you finer flavor — but also a finer filter. The exclusive Winston filter works so effectively that the flavor comes right through. Join the big switch to Winston!
Smoke WINSTON the easy-drawing filter cigarette!

Flambeau Photo Adrien Allen

At New Year's Dance—Members of Cavalier and Cotillion pose for camera. Dance was held Saturday night. Seated, l. to r., are Nell Davis, Bobbie Potter, Dorothy Bancker, Sandra Sears, Donna Huggins, standing, Barbara Driver, June Knight, Connie Chillura, Marilyn Spanza, Sid Smith, and Dot Cohn. In third row are Joe Sramich, Phil Bach, Bill Robertson, Ivan Pope, Mike Guerra, Tom Ramsey and Bill Pelham. Action shot of dance is on page 7.

Answer Questions

Museum Shows 'Culture, Plants'

Did you ever wonder why the Indians smoke pipes and the Spanish-speaking people cigars?

A new display at the Florida State University Museum which will open next week will attempt to answer this and several other questions about present-day practices.

Dr. Hale G. Smith, associate professor of anthropology, said the principal purpose of the display is to be called "Culture and Plants," will be "to show how much could not live without plants."

It will incidentally show how a large part of our agricultural economy, our food, drink and other things we hardly think about were passed down from primitive people, particularly the Indians.

Tobacco is an example, he said, and the way European and American peoples now use it was determined by the ways Indians showed them how to use tobacco.

Found Smokers

"As one of the exhibits will show," said Dr. Smith, the English found Indians smoking tobacco in pipes and when they went home they used tobacco the same way. They are now known as a pipe-smoking people.

But the Spanish found Indians using cigars in primitive forms of our present cigars. Snuff and plugs and cigarettes they started using tobacco in these forms."

The exhibits, painstakingly gathered from a wide area, will show, for instance, how much of our agricultural economy dates back to Indian practices. Dr. Smith said the Apalachee Indians of what around Tallahassee, for instance, raised corn, pumpkins, squash, beans and tobacco.

Utized Products

Some of the Indians also utilized other food products which also occasionally are found in some of our present day foods and drinks.

A brew which the Indians called "black drink" and made from the leaves of the yaupon shrub, now known by way as a popular soft drink, Dr. Smith said.

The brew originally was used by the Creek and some other Indians as a ceremonial drink and its strength caused sickness at the stomach. An exhibit will include a yaupon shrub, a vessel containing the drink and an engraving by the 17th century French artist, LeMoyne showing how it is served the Timucan Indians at Fort Caroline near Jacksonville.

Invented By Jackson

Another exhibit will trace another popular soft drink back to the 16-minute break which Dr. Smith said was invented by no other than the Confederate general, Bonewall Jackson, in fact.

It was carried to European armies and the French added vin mariance to the break. The French Foreign Legion took the practice to Africa and there the juice from the kola nut was added to the drink. Back in this country the resulting drink became popularly associated with what also is called the coffee break.

Another exhibit will show how Indians in these and other areas manufactured a starch or flour from the thorny underground portion of the smilax vine, a background word.

Smilax Grated

The smilax was grated Dr. Smith said, and the flour was

(Continued on Page 6)

Art Department Exhibits English Design And Arts

Display Will End Jan. 29

The Department of Art at Florida State University introduced an exhibition of British industrial design and graphic art at its University Gallery last night.

Being displayed for the first time in the United States, the exhibition which was initiated by Rudolf Jegart, FSU associate professor of art, will continue at the gallery through January 29.

Dr. Adolph Karl, acting head of the Department, said people of this area will have the opportunity of seeing examples of British design at its best in the exhibition.

Included among the exhibits of the eight English designers whose work will be shown in the exhibition, is a design of a glass plaque for Queen Elizabeth's box at the Royal Festival Hall.

Misha Black and Milner Grey, the principal partners of a design research unit, will exhibit examples of product design, interiors, packaging, and house styling.

Abraham Games, a leading poster artist, will be represented by 39 examples of his work while Hans Schleger's contributions to the exhibition will cover the graphic advertising design field.

W. M. de Majo will exhibit examples of product styling, group-object display, packaging, and exhibition design.

Kermit Rose and Robin Day furniture designers are shipping the outstanding examples of their commercially produced line and many photographs and drawings of other models.

Lucienne Day, wife of the furniture designer, is sending generous lengths of her fabrics so that they can be easily examined for their over-all effect, explained Karl.

The university Department of Art, sponsor of the exhibition, has arranged to show the original painting of Governor LeRoy Collins reproduced recently on a cover of "Time" Magazine. It will be shown in the foyer of the gallery.

Though the original plan for the exhibition called only for a local showing, the display has increased in size to include a national tour.

After the display at FSU, the exhibition will be sent to the Chicago Design Center, the Walker Art Gallery in Minneapolis, and the large galleries on the West Coast.

Flambeau Photo Tom Sawyer

BRITISH DESIGNS—Current exhibition in University Art Gallery includes collapsible chair designed by Robin Day. Photos in background show various aspects of designs. In lower photo Marlies Gessler, Senior art major from Tallahassee, tries out chair.

Designer Flies From England For FSU Event

Noted British designer, senior partner of the firm bearing his name, Willy de Majo flown from England to Flo week on campus.

De Majo, who along with seven other British designers currently exhibiting their work at the FSU Art Gallery is known for his work in the field of packaging, display, and exhibition design.

In 1951 he was Coordinator for the Festival of Britain "Farm and Factory" exhibition, and last year was one of the guest speakers at the Aspen International Design Conference.

De Majo has worked in Europe, Africa, and the United States and has won several international and international awards.

Upon accepting the invitation to present his works in the United States, De Majo made the following statement: "As a professionals living in a country where our attention is often drawn to many outstanding American designs. It is a great privilege to be asked to show our work in the Lions' den."

He went on to say "Most

(Continued on Page 6)

Omicron Nu Initiates, 7:30

Omicron Nu, the national home economics scholastic honorary society, will have formal initiation at 7:30 tonight in the Union Lounge of the Longmire Building.

The initiates are all seniors in the School of Home Economics at Florida State University.

They are: Catherine Friedheim, Betty Beneke, Marlene Wadsworth and Miriam Beiser.

Miss Sadie Young, professor of economics, will address the group. Following her address other awards will be made to outstanding students in the School of Home Economics.

A senior will receive the $500 Borden award for maintaining the highest average in her three year years of study.

The junior with the highest scholastic average in her sophomore year will be presented with a bracelet.

The sophomore who maintained the highest average during her freshman year will receive the Silver Cup award.

Gymkana Performs At AAC Dinner

Gymkana members performed last night during a dinner for District 3 of the American Alumni Council.

The council is holding its annual conference which ends today at the Floridan Hotel.

Acts included Rafael Lecuona, little actress Jamie Ammore and Don Hilliard and balancing act, Jim Jackson and Lynn Ford, soloist, Beverly Cude five exercises, Lynn Field, tap dancer.

Claire Green was master of ceremonies and Barbara Vickers in charge of arrangements.

Two Professors Serve In PE Groups

Two Florida State University professors are currently serving on committees of the College Physical Education Association, an organization designed to improve the quality of physical education in United States colleges and universities.

Dr. H. O. Danford, chairman of the Department of Physical Education at FSU, is chairman of the Curriculum Research Committee of the CPEA, while Professor E. D. Miller is a member of the Tests and Measurements Committee of the association.

ALL THE PLEASURE COMES THRU...

THE ACTIVATED CHARCOAL FILTER

the taste is great!

Here you have the best in filtered smoking—Filter Tip Tareyton, the filter cigarette that smokes milder, smokes smoother, draws easier... the only one that gives you Activated Charcoal filtration. All the pleasure comes thru... the taste is great!

FILTER TIP TAREYTON CIGARETTES

MODERN SIZE

THE BEST IN FILTERED SMOKING

FILTER TIP TAREYTON

PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Old Spice SMOOTH SHAVE

Shaving at its best! Old Spice Smooth Shave in the pressurized container... gives a rich, velvety lather... remains firm and moist throughout your shave. And a unique, lubricating formula soothes your skin. For top performance and speed—make your next shave Old Spice Smooth Shave. 1.00

SHULTON New York • Toronto

Why John Gunther reads The Reader's Digest

"I am fond of The Reader's Digest on all sorts of scores, but mainly because it always lives up unconvincingly to being what its name implies—a service to readers. In a dozen languages. Inside Asia, Inside Europe, Inside South America, Inside Africa...it brings readers an enormously large of pleasure, information and encouragement sifted variously with and selected from printed paper all over the world."

John Gunther, author of the current best-seller "Inside Africa"

In January Reader's Digest don't miss:

CONDENSATION FROM $3.50 BEST SELLER: "A NIGHT TO REMEMBER." Hailed as "unsinkable," the Titanic proudly sailed, carrying the world's rich and famous. 5 days later—pushed by an iceberg—she sank with 1,502 souls. Here, filled with details never before published, is a gripping account of the world's most appalling sea disaster.

UNLESS YOU DENY YOURSELF. THE PERSUASIVE ATOMIC SUBMARINE. Here, told for the first time, are the capabilities of the Nautilus, and why atomic submarines will outmode the defense setups of all nations, including our own.

ARE EUROPEAN STUDENTS SMARTER? In Europe pupils learn more, work harder, and play less than in America—but fewer get to high school and college. Which system is best? Here's a chance for you to compare for yourself.

Get January Reader's Digest at your newsstand today only 25¢

39 articles of lasting interest, including the best from leading magazines and current books, condensed to save your time.

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

THE WOES OF A SPORTS SCRIBE—

Ever have ambitions to be a sports writer? Ever envy the guy who covers the big ones—the writer who accepts a free seat and describes what he witnesses?

Seminola fans who were lucky enough to squeeze into the Florida High Gymnasium Saturday night to see the Tribe slip a sophomore-studded Miami outfit left with not-too-much envy for the writers who sat there, bland-faced, wondering how they were going to describe what they had just witnesses.

For how can one describe Jim Oler?

In he flashy. Not quite. Is he a "hot rod"? Not quite. Is he colorful? Sometimes, but that doesn't quite describe him either. Let's look at it this way—the way a couple of Miami cagers did Saturday night.

You hear of a Jimmy Oler who's averaging a little better than 28 points a game. And when you see him for the first time you can't understand why. He's a relatively short, 21-year-old gentleman—about 5-feet-10 and 183 pounds.

When you watch him play, you see he has an easy-going style. He calls the plays for the Tribe—he keeps things moving at a slow, deliberate pace. And as the first quarter moves by, you begin to wonder who's pulling your leg. This guy a basketball star?—never happen.

Then it does happen. He moves up the middle three or four times in a row, spends a couple of minutes on the foul line, and then resumes his original style before you've quite figured out what in all about. But there's quite an increase of Seminola points on the books.

And then a clutch situation arises as it did Saturday when Miami went ahead for the first time with about three minutes left to play. Then you know why they call Jimmy Oler a basketball player.

Jim come through like a champion in those final three minutes. Teaming primarily with sophomore Bob Ward—who played his heart out in his own right—Oler and the Seminoles controlled the ball almost completely throughout those final three minutes.

It was Jimmy on the foul line that knotted the game and it was him on the foul line again with only six seconds remaining that sent the Tribe ahead for keeps.

How does one describe Jim Oler? The fans who mobbed him after it was all over said it in a pretty swell manner.

"He's great," said they. "Just nothing short of great . . ."

TCH. TCH AND SHAME—

Before we leave Saturday night's game, we'd like to pass on a few more comments about the Miami outfit.

Watching their "golden sophomores" under fire — four of Miami's starting five were sophs—was just couldn't help but think that "they're like the typical, unlearned youngster."

You might say they are "spoiled rotten."

Two or three times during those hotly-contested closing minutes, Miami guard Marty Burdette was seen to be literally tugging on the jersey of Jim Oler—and then moving around him.

Mr. Burdette would reach out and grab his jersey from behind to keep tabs on the bantam guy.

And Dick Artmeier felt the pangs of Miami nonsense at times, too. Twice fans tried to call the referee's attention to it but that was placed across Artmeier's while the teams were at the foul line. Nothing like tripping up a fellow to add to the discomfort of a game.

Tribe Edges Miami For First Place, 78-76

Oler's 33 Pace Tribe's 7th Win

Moving into undisputed first place in the FISC with their thrilling 78-76 victory over Miami Saturday night, the Florida State basketballers mass their first big road trip of the season this weekend.

Friday night, the Tribe moves in against Georgia, then to Statesboro Saturday for a clash with Georgia Techers and high-scoring center Chet Webb.

A standing room only crowd watched guard Jim Oler drop two free throws with six seconds remaining to edge out Miami's fast-fleeting Sophomores.

Two seconds before, Miami's Ed Klima had the crowd sitting on the edge of their seats as he missed a foul shot which might have given the Hurricanes the win.

Oler Scores

However, Oler, who scored the last seven points for the winners, grabbed the rebound and after a foul by Miami center Carl Paulus, iced the contest with his two free throws.

Thus the Seminoles won their fourth straight in FISC competition and increased their record to 7-1 while averaging 78 points per game to their opponents' 78.

Oler continued to range far out in front in team scoring by Dick Artmeier, FSU Senior forward, goes up for two as the Seminoles defeated Miami 78-76. Miami's Ed Morris (12) and Dick Miami come in too late while Stu Gregory and Jim Olar of the Seminoles look on.

Flambeau photo. Tom Sawyer

FSU-Georgia Mermen Meet Tomorrow Night

Tribe Squeaks By

In a near-repeat performance of Saturday night, guard Jimmy Oler tossed in 10 of the last 14 points to Lead Florida State to a 71-70 victory over Rollins last night in Winter Havan.

Oler tallied 34 points altogether as the Tribe rallied in the closing minutes to win their fifth straight FISC clash and 15th straight over a two-year period.

Center Gary Wold tallied 16 points for the Seminoles while forward Dick Bremer—ex Rollins with 16 points. Halftime score was 42-36. Florida State dunking 33 points, including 17 foul shots, to bring his average to 27.5 points per game with 337 points.

Center Gary Wold is second in scoring with 171 points and a 17.1 average and forward Dick Artmeier third with 135 and a 16.8 average.

Jim Oler is the only consistent scorer on a rather disastrous tournament trail during the holidays where the Tribe finished sixth and seventh respectively in the Carrousel Classic and the Orange Bowl tournament.

Upset by Clemson in the opening round, 64-79, the Seminoles swamped Boston University, 86-52, but then dropped the Carrousel consolation final to Mississippi State, 79-71 in overtime.

Orange Bowl

In the Orange Bowl tourney, the Seminoles fell to highly-rated West Virginia, 78-89 in the opening round despite holding all-American Rod Hundley to 7 points.

The taller Mountaineers got an early jump, leading 14-3 after six minutes and though the Tribe got as close as 14-13 and 24-16, they could never close the gap.

A torrid second half drive gave Santa Clara a 61-59 triumph over FSU in the second round, but the Seminoles halted NYU, 85-83 in the finale for seventh place.

The Santa Clara game was perhaps the toughest to lose as the Tribe led 25-7, after ten minutes, but couldn't hold on against the westerners' fast finish.

Hurt badly by the loss of Oler on fouls with ten minutes remaining, the Tribesmen still led all the way as they stopped NYU.

Sophomore guard Tom Garcia took up the scoring after Oler left, tallying 18 points while Wold contributed 17.

Seminole —Shorts—

By SAMMY SEMINOLE

The two all-America basketball players who have taken to the court against the Florida State basketball team have come off second best.

Ron Shavlik of N. C. State tallied 30 points in 1955 and Hot Rod Hundley of West Virginia was held to only seven in the Orange Bowl Tournament by Dick Artmeier.

The Tribe has now won 16 straight at home. Not since Jan. 15, 1954, when Lafayette of New Orleans turned the trick have they been beaten.

Florida State University's football team was the only one to place as many as three men on Mississippi Southern's all-opponents squad.

The Seminoles placed giant end Bob Pennington, tackle Bill Proctor, and halfback Lee Corso.

Wbre guard Jim Oler scored 42 points against Morningside College, he broke an FSU game record of 38 set in 1953 by Ham Wernke.

In beating Boston U. 86-52 in the Carrousel tourney, Jim Oler and Gary Wold scored more points than the entire Boston squad.

STUDENTS! GET FREE 5x7 ENLARGEMENT
With Order for Crown Jumbo Prints

Send this ad and your roll to be developed at prices shown below, and your favorite negative. You will receive your Crown Jumbo Prints in beautiful 4-inch, PLUS one 5x7 enlargement FREE.

8 EXP. ROLL 40c
12 EXP. ROLL 60c
16 EXP. ROLL 80c

EXTRA PRINTS 5c EACH

Remember, you get the 5x7 enlargement FREE with your prints. Offer good for limited time only. Write for free mailers.

CROWN PHOTO SERVICE
Box 593, Augusta, Ga.
Developers of film for over 20 years.

Gym Team Tops Minnesota

Tribe gymnast Bob Murray completes a fly-away from the horizontal bar. Bob scored 21 points to pace Florida State in its win over Minnesota.

By LARRY BLOCK

Led by Rafael Lecuona and Bob Murray Florida State a five-time gymnastics champions defeated the U of Minnesota 64-48 at St. Petersburg.

Both co-captain Lecuona and Murray scored 21 points in this meet.

The meet consisted of seven events: side horse, high bar, parallel bars, flying rings, tumbling, trampoline, and free exercise.

A total of 16 points were awarded for each event: 8 for first, 4 for second, 2 for third, 1 for fifth, and 1 for fifth place.

Four Places

FSU took four places in the side horse with co-captains Lecuona and Ron Amster finishing first and second. Ericson of Minn. was third, with Murray and Larry Bestman fourth and fifth respectively.

Lecuona finished first in side horse and high bar, tied for first with Jim Hunt of FSU on the Parallel bars, and was second in free exercise.

Murray's 21 points were made in 5 events.

He was third in side horse and high bar, tied for first in flying rings with Seiler of Minn., fourth in tumbling, third in trampoline and a first place finish in free exercise.

Other FSU gymnasts picking up points were Don Preisner for tumbling and trampoline, Laird Anderso, in tumbling, trampoline and free exercise.

Tom MacDonald for flying rings and Amster and Bestman scored in high bar and flying rings respectively.

North-South

In another match Dr. Hartley Price's south team upset the North gymnastic by 4-42's at Sarasota, Fla.

It was the first time that the south had ever triumphed over the northern stars.

Don Holder, FSU champion gymnast successfully defended his side horse crown by beating teammate Rafael Lecuona, 179-174.

Jack Niles, another Tribe champion, was named to the Cross-field of 11, 190-185 on the horizontal bar.

The other Tribe gymnast to score was Don Preisner finishing fifth on trampoline.

Don Holder was the only Tribe gymnast to take a place in the pre-Olympics trials held at Sarasota over the holidays.

Don took fifth place.

Co-Ed Corner

by Juanita Jacob

Hi There Co-Eds:

Yesterday began the 1958 basketball season for women. Intramurals in this sport will be conducted in the same manner that volley ball was carried out. The dormitories and sororities will be put in leagues and will play within their groups.

A practice schedule for each team has been posted on the gym. We hope that there will be as good a turn-out for basketball as there was for volley ball. This is an exciting sport and we know you'll have a good time. Everyone is invited, whether you are skilled or unskilled. The intramural program is designed for everyone to have a good time.

Tournaments play will begin immediately after the practice games are over.

Gloria Lantz and B J Walker, basketball managers, are anxious for an enthusiastic group of women to come out and play. Everyone is welcome.

Also table tennis begin session today. This is a fast game which is a lot of fun. All those interested please consult the practice schedule Patty Andrews is the Sports manager.

Badminton is a third activity which is in progress. A practice schedule is also arranged so that you will play on certain days of the week. The days are Monday through Thursday from 5-6 p.m. Margaret Young is in charge of this activity.

All of these activities are posted so that you will know what date to come out.

A reminder that Badminton is also played every Wednesday nights from 7-9 in the gym. Everyone is invited.

FSU Frosh Bow

The FSU frosh boxed to the Transfer team, 61-51, on Saturday night.

Joe Westhafer and Buzz Devivo poured 20 points apiece through the hoop to lead the Transfers. Tom Donovan was high man for the frosh with 16 Hugh Durham hit for 14

Touch Football Tourney Starts; Senior, SAE Bowling Champs

The double elimination championship tournament for the campus touch football title gets under way tomorrow and Thursday afternoon at 4:30 p.m.

The top two teams in each league get into the playoff.

Independent Leagues

In the "A" league yesterday the West Hall Rebels went into the lead in their league with a 6-win and no losses. The Newman Club had a mathematical chance to get a second place if they could win, but they could win.

In the "B" league the Baptists were in first with 6 wins and no losses, but they were playing Senior Hall with a 5-1 standing. Senior Hall dropped their first game of the season last week when the Pantheons' gang beat them soundly, 38-18. The same time A.K.P. business fraternity won their first game of the season, winning from Tigrevilla 18-13.

League "A"	W	L
West Hall	6	0
Newman Club	5	1
Pantheons	3	3
Vets	3	3
Gators	2	4
Pros	2	4
Magnolia Hall	2	4

League "B"	W	L
Baptists	6	0
Senior Hall	5	1
Pantheons	3	3
AKP	3	3
Gators	2	4
Magnolia Hall	2	4

Any ties for second place will be played off Jan. 11 with the tournament involving the four teams in the finals will begin Thursday Jan. 12

Fraternity

Today the fraternity teams will start their final scheduled games. Every game has a first and second place hanging in the balance. Games start at 4:30 p.m. Student Center Bulletin Board for field locations and other tournament schedules, and finals.

Tuesday, Jan 18

PDT vs TC—Field 1
DTD vs. SPE—Field 3
ATO vs. KA—Field 2
KA vs. PKT—Field 4
SN vs. PKP—Field 5
SAE vs. LCA—Field 6

Last Thursday TD stayed in the running for a spot in the playoffs by beating TEP 48-13. TC also kept their hopes alive by winning from SPE 21-14 in the wildest scoring game of the week.

A real tight game saw KA squeeze out a win from SC. This score was a 18-13 tie but under league rules KA is the winner, having gained 7 first downs to SC's 1.

KA also kept their place in the playoffs by beating PKT 18-7.

The first two games of the fraternity finals will be played tomorrow evening at 4:30 p.m., field locations will be posted on the Student Center Bulletin Board.

League "A"	W	L	League "B"	W	L
PDT	1	0	KA	2	0
DTD	2	1	ATO	2	1
SPE	2	1	SN	1	1
TC	1	1	SC	1	1
TEP	0	4	PKT	2	0
			PKA	0	2

The men's intramural bowling championships wound up on Monday with Senior Hall adding the independents title to their mantel in the dorm division while SAE came out as the king pins in the fraternity competition.

Seminole Records Fall

Records fell like tenpins in the Florida Relays as Florida State's Seminoles rolled to a 78-53 victory over Miami.

Bill Nieder, Seminole weight star, tossed the shot 54 feet 10 inches to break the old mark of 54-1 set by Jim Fuchs in 1952.

Nieder also broke the discus record with a toss of 164-2.

Jim Beatty, Seminole ace, broke the tape in the mile run in 4:16.2 to break the old mark of 4:17.2 set by Wes Santee in 1954.

Beatty also broke the two-mile record with a time of 9:12.2 to break the old mark of 9:13.2 set by Santee in 1954.

Jim Oler, Seminole basketball star, broke the high jump record with a leap of 6-4 to break the old mark of 6-3 set by Bill Vessels in 1955.

Florida State's Seminoles also won the 440 relay, the 880 relay, the mile relay, the two-mile relay, the broad jump, and the pole vault.

LUCKY DROODLES! REAL COOL!

WHAT'S THIS?

For solution, see paragraph below.

CAUTION—SLIPPERY DROODLE ABOVE. But if you like your fun on the run, it should be easy.

The title: Bobsled team enjoying better-tasting Luckies. Luckies taste better, you know, because they're made of fine tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better. So light up a Lucky. You can bank on this: You'll say Luckies are the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

DROODLES, Copyright 1953 by Roger Price

BILL'S BOOK STORE
107 S. Copeland Street—Phone 3-1066
Books — Supplies — Sundries

CASH FOR YOUR USED BOOKS
Check Our Prices Before You Buy or Sell

Seventh Military Ball Scheduled Saturday Night

Sponsored by the Air Force and Army ROTC Corps, the seventh annual Military Ball will be held Saturday night in the Suwannee Room from 9 to 1.

The Auburn Knights will provide the music.

Six candidates are vieing for Military Ball Queen which is voted on by all ROTC personnel. They are Margaret Miller, Anita Wall, Betty Lou Whittle, Linda Rollins, Shirley Ison, and Madeline Elmore.

Governor and Mrs. LeRoy Collins and Florida State University President Doak S. Campbell are among over a hundred distinguished guests invited.

Military guests include Lt. Gen. T. F. Hickey, commanding general of the Third Army; Maj. Gen. M. E. Deichelmann, commandant of Air Force ROTC, and Maj. Gen. Mark Lance, Adjutant General of the State of Florida, and their wives.

Arnold Air Society and Scabbard and Blade, honorary organizations of the two ROTC cadet corps, are in charge of arrangements for the formal dance.

General chairman is Howard Wilson. Other committee chairmen are Robert Crenshaw, Jay P. Perkins, band trophies and publicity; William Johnson, queen selection; Joe Wheat, invitations; Percy Steele, decorations, and Bobby C. Jones, refreshments.

Madeline Elmore

Linda Rollins

Shirley Ison

Anita Wall

Margaret Miller

Betty Lou Whittle

Museum Shows

(Continued from Page 4)

leached out with boiling water. "It is probable the resulting paste was added to sizes for starch. I have eaten it and it is relatively tasteless."

A similar treatment of the cocoi, still used like the yaupon as an ornamental, furnished the Indians another starchy food.

Dr Smith said the exhibit will be open from Tuesday to Friday from 12:30 to 5 p.m. on Saturdays from 9 to 12 noon and on Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA

TODAY
"Diane"
with
Lana Turner—John Lupton

Tomorrow Thru Saturday
"The Spoilers"
Anne Baxter, Jeff Chandler
Rory Calhoun, Ray Danton

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

TODAY & TOMORROW
"We're No Angels"
with Humphrey Bogart
Aldo Ray—Peter Ustinov

THURSDAY-SATURDAY
"Gunfighters"
Randolph Scott
plus
"Ulysses"
Kirk Douglas
Silvana Mangano

STATE

TODAY
"I Died a Thousand Times" with Jack Palance
Shelley Winters

Tomorrow Thru Saturday
"Desperate Hours"
Humphrey Bogart
Fredric March
Dewey Martin

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.

TODAY & TOMORROW
"The Eternal Sea"
Sterling Hayden
Alexis Smith

THURSDAY-SATURDAY
"The Black Dakotas"
Gary Merrill
Wanda Hendrix
plus
"Cannibal Attack"
with Johnny Weissmuller

KIT-CAT THEATER:
Today and Tomorrow—"KISS THE BLOOD OFF MY HANDS" with Burt Lancaster
"JOHNNY STOOL PIGEON" Tony Curtis

Swearingen Heads Education Group

Dr. Mildred F. Swearingen, associate professor of education has been selected chairman of the Florida Council on Elementary Education.

The 80-member Council is composed of a cross-section of educators who are called upon to offer advice on the state's elementary school programs.

Dr Swearingen, who will take over her duties as chairman in April, was elected by mail ballot. She succeeds Freeman Ashmore, elementary school principal of Tallahassee

The educator is a graduate of Oberlin College and obtained her doctor's degree from Ohio State University. Prior to joining the FSU faculty in 1949 she was a consultant on elementary education for the Florida State Department of Education.

English Honorary Slates Awards

Sigma Tau Delta, English honorary, will present awards for the best theme writing in English 101 and 102 this year, officers said.

The awards will go to themes judged best by a committee of three undergraduates and one faculty member. Entries must be submitted to professors by January 15.

The English honorary recently initiated twelve members. They are Faye Anthony, Barbara Ayala, Kathleen Beehler, Marian Betson, Dr. Benjamin Carroll, Carolyn Close, June Grant, Jo-Ann Grice, Dan Mengzson, David Rainer, Martha Ellen Smith and Dr. Edith West.

To Interview Summer Jobbers

Mr. Robert Lechner, of the Echo Hill, New Jersey summer camp will be here today to interview summer camp counselors.

There will be a group meeting of all interested students at 2:30 in 303 Westcott this afternoon.

Mr. Lechner is especially interested in students with music talent.

For further information contact the Guidance and Placement Office.

HEY!! FELLOWS!

DON'T MISS OUT ON THIS!
IT'S TURNERS

January Clearance
OF
SUITS! TOPCOATS!
NOW IN PROGRESS

SUITS BY - - -

HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX
Values to $85.00 NOW $58.80

KINGSRIDGE and MICHAELS STERNS
Values to $65.00 NOW $48.80

CLOTHCRAFT
Values to $55.00 NOW $38.80

SPORTCOATS BY - - -

SEASON SKIPPER
Values to $29.95 NOW $19.90

KINGSRIDGE AND OTHERS
Values to $39.95 NOW $24.90

Turner's

In Grecian Times

Frats Get Busy Naming Officers

Sigma Chi, Lambda Chi and Phi Delta Theta are the first fraternities to elect officers for the spring semester.

Jim Joanos is the new SX president. Graham Carothers will serve as vice-president; Elliot Whitton, recording secretary; Frank Sattler, corresponding secretary; Don Alford, treasurer; Dave Bachman, pledge trainer; Laird Anderson, associate editor; and Bruce Jacobs, historian.

Phi Delta Theta

Wednesday night the Phi Delts elected Gale Porter president; re-elected Tom Ehrhardt vice-president and Russ Strandhagen, treasurer; elected Paul Ort, secretary; Don Noot warden; Cary Bailey, house manager; Del Swilley, steward; Chuck Burns, assistant steward; Art "Sonny" Bennett, pledge trainer; Terry Barrows, historian; Bruce Pacetti, chaplain; and Paul Ort, chorister.

Jim Webb and Jim Moore were chosen for positions on the Phi Delt Executive Board.

Wake Follows Gasier

Succeeding Gordon Gasier as Lambda Chi Alpha president is John Ware. Other officers include James Davis, vice-president; Bob Meige, secretary; Royce Phillips, treasurer; Rod Smith, rush chairman; and Jim Heagerty, pledge trainer.

Outgoing Lambda Chis were recently honored at a banquet and dance at the Floridan Hotel.

King, Dubose Elected By FASN

Betty Anne King and Linda DuBose were elected as 2nd state officers of the Florida Association of Student Nurses.

Miss King was named vice-president and Miss DuBose was elected corresponding secretary for the organization at their convention in Daytona Beach recently.

The fourteen girls representing FSU at the Daytona Convention include Billie Gamble, Janet Boswell, Patti Copeland, Ellen Spriggs, Betty Anne King, Sarah Ewing, and Shirley Miller.

At Their Age

Designer Flies

(Continued from Page 4)

us have visited your great country—if for no other reason—to be stimulated by your enterprise and to learn about your technological and merchandising developments. There is a lot we can learn from each other, and the exchange of ideas can only help to cement still further the close friendship which exists between our peoples.

Tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall De Mejo will show a movie on British design and give a talk entitled "The Industrial Design." The program will be without charge and open to the public who will be allowed to ask questions at De Mejo's talk.

On the following afternoon at 4:30 in Longmire Lounge De Mejo and his wife will be guests of honor at the last graduate coffee hour of the semester.

Dr. Adolph Karl, head of the FSU Department of Art, will introduce the guest from England. This will be followed by a question and answer period on English design.

Sponsored by the Graduate Club, the Coffee Hour is open to the public, announced Marvin Rosenblatt, publicity director for the group.

DRESSMAKING AND ALTERATIONS
By experienced seamstress. 850 East Park Ave. Phone 2-0342. Mrs. Ruby Lane — Mrs. Norma Gibson.

Dinner At The
MECCA

Baked Young Turkey and Dressing 75c
Southern Fried Chicken 75c
Baked Ham with Pineapple 75c

All Served With Choice of Three Vegetables, Plus Hot Rolls and Butter

LET'S MEET AT THE MECCA

Campus Cutie Of The Week

Photograph by Sierra Kleid

MISS BARBARA POTTER
Freshman from New Pt. Richey.

French Drama, 'Panique,' Set By Film Club

"Panique," a French psychological drama, is Thursday night's Florida State University Film Club feature.

The showings are slated for the Demonstration School Auditorium. 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

The French film, directed by Julien Duvivier, one of France's foremost directors, is an adaptation of Georges Simenon's novel "Les Fiancailles de M. Hire" and is considered "strictly adult fare."

The plot concerns the attempts of a murderer (Paul Bernard) and his sweetheart (Viviane Romance) to pin their guilt on the one person who knows about it. They succeed in influencing the villeins of a Paris slum so strongly believe that an eccentric hermit (Michel Simon) is the criminal, and they arouse the neighborhood's hatred to the point of panic. Suspense steadily increases until the climax—a rooftop chase, when the fear-ridden recluse, pursued by the meddlesome crowd, is driven to his death.

THE POOR PEOF

EMORY UNIVERSITY, Ga. (ACP)—Professors are the butt of a couple of funnies that appeared in the "Humor Parade" column of the Emory Wheel.

Prof. 1 2 1 saw a man buying a donkey and stopped him from doing it, what virtue would be showing?"

Voice in the back "Brotherly love."

ON THE SLIMY SIDE

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—(ACP)—The members of Sigma Nu at Drury College may be feeling a little low these days. They're going to get rid of their house pet and mascot. The "pet," a seven-foot boa constrictor, is being donated to a local zoo.

FSU Home Ec Majors Find They Have To 'Keep House'

By MARGARET MILLER

Not all people who play house are children.

FSU Home Economics majors enjoy this activity too, although it isn't entirely play.

For a period of five weeks during their senior year, 5-10 girls live in the Home Management house, where they get a little "lab" experience in Home Economics.

During their stay, the girls eat, sleep, and play Tuesday to Friday from 12:30 to 5 p.m. on Saturdays from 9 to 12 noon and on Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m.

They take turns in doing the cooking, cleaning, buying and laundering. Although they pay a small rent fee, their savings on their food bills about makes up for it. They eat both breakfast and dinner at the house.

Miss Mary Ellen Durrett, their counselor, lives in the Home Management house and sees that the girl's work meets high Home Ec. standards. The girls who have lived there claim that the house is managed with rare efficiency and the meals are a gourmet's dream.

Two during their stay, the girls are responsible for entertaining at two parties. Usually they are buffet dinners, held for faculty and student guests.

Take Turns

There are five positions which each girl holds for a period of one week. The waitress sets the table and serves meals; the housekeeper does the cleaning; the manager and assistant manager plan and cook the meals, and the laundress is responsible for keeping all linen clean.

The students say there are many advantages in having this kind of experience in school. Karlin Kent, a senior in Home Economics, lived in the house last spring and said that one of the most interesting aspects of living there was learning to eat different kinds of foods."

She said that each student's taste varied and there was no complaint about always having to eat "the same old thing." She said the meals were always lavish and delicious, and caused the girls some worry about maintaining slim figures.

Karlin and her roommate, Sally Meyers, admitted that things did not always go perfectly, however. Once when she and Sally were preparing dinner, they decided to try a dessert for which they had no recipe. Preparing cherry jello pie sounded fairly easy, however, so they bravely began the experiment.

Too late, they discovered that jello won't thicken if it also contains cherry syrup, so they desperately plate the pie in the freezer compartment of the refrigerator in hopes that the pie would become more solid.

Uses Siedac Hammar

After the meal, the waitress tried to cut the pie but found it hard as a rock and impossible to cut. After much advice from all the students, someone finally cracked the pie with a sledge hammer and served the plates. Sally and Karlin insisted that the pie was delicious in spite of its frozen condition.

The students receive excellent experience in budgeting both time and money. Only $3 a week is allowed each person for meals, and the work has to be completed within a certain time limit.

Breakfast, for instance must be prepared, eaten and the dishes washed in time for the students to reach their 8 o'clock classes. Students maintain their regular class schedules at the same time that they live in the house.

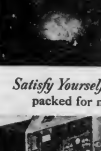
While in the house, the girls live by the same rules and regulations on hours as they do in the dorms. They claim that living in the house is a lot of fun as they enjoy "family-like" living.

Living and working with their counselor and other students in the house brings better relationships and understanding than is developed in an ordinary classroom situation.

BENNETT'S
2-8980—2-4450
SPECIALS

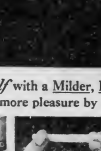
Harriett Hubbard Ayer
Luxurious Cream
$4.00 Size—$2.00
$2.50 Size—$1.25

Prince Matchabelli Cologne
$2.00 Size—$1.25



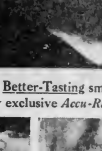
SOAP SET
$2.00 Size—$1.25

Helene Rubinstein's
Estrogenic Hormone Twins
$6.00 Value—$3.50

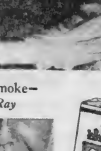


Complete Soda & Luncheonette
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY
200 S. Monroe

PACKS MORE PLEASURE
because it's More Perfectly Packed!



Satisfy Yourself with a Milder, Better-Tasting smoke—packed for more pleasure by exclusive Accu-Ray



The more perfectly packed your cigarette, the more pleasure it gives . . . and Accu-Ray packs Chesterfield far more perfectly.

To the touch . . . to the taste, an Accu-Ray Chesterfield satisfies the most . . . burns more evenly, smokes much smoother.

Firm and pleasing to the lips . . . mild yet deeply satisfying to the taste — Chesterfield alone is pleasure-packed by Accu-Ray.

CHESTERFIELD
MILD, YET THEY Satisfy!

FLORIDA'S ONLY Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

FSU SYMPHONY Sets Concert (See Page One)

Vol. XLI, No. 23 — Published By The Students Of Florida State University — Friday, January 13, 1956

1000 Attend Last Night's Band Event

Linda Jones Is Named Magazine Queen For 1956

Smoke Signals beauty contest and the Laboratory Band concert proved to be a winning combination last night, with an estimated 1 000 attending at Westcott Auditorium.

High point in the evening was the crowning of Linda Jones as the Smoke Signals Queen. She was chosen from among 25 finalists in the fourth annual event.

The Lab Band celebrated its eighth anniversary with a hang up-to audience reactions was registered. Most observers in the crowd were heard to praise the group's renditions of various types. The band set a fast pace for the preliminary contest judging was held, setting the stage for the final selection and crowning of the queen.

Smoke Signals Queen Linda is a freshman from Daytona Beach. Planning to enter Secondary Education, the brunette beauty was in the Miss Sunshine Court.

Other members chosen were Jack Parsons, Beverly Laurent, Jean Templeman and Jessie Mae Jones will be featured on the cover of the next issue of Smoke Signals which will have a four-page layout on the inside according to Editor Jean Heidel. The next issue is scheduled for late in February.

Miss Heidel said that this beauty contest was "the best one we've had—it was highly pleased by the turnout and who's who was in to hold the Smoke Signals contest and Lab Band concert at the same time" Miss Heidel. "I talked briefly with Mr. Braunagel, who made the band, and we both agreed it would be mutually beneficial."

Discussing—Intelligent Faith Week are l. to r., Jimmy Joanos, Ruge Hall; Allen Cordish, Hillel Foundation, Valma Ackerman, Baptist Student Union; and Al Dayes, Mormont Students. Week will be held February 19-22.

56 Faith Week Program Set, Speakers Announced

By MARGARET MILLER

The honest desire of many students for an intelligent faith was exemplified in the recent tragic death of Rev William T. Martin.

Attracted by his sensible as well as sensitive approach to religion, university students packed his church on Sundays, and after hearing of his death, they gathered in their dormitory halls to express time after time their gratitude for having known him.

Like the contribution of Dr. Martin, the purpose of Intelligent Faith Week, is so bring students not only a awareness of spiritual need but also its satisfaction. Religious leaders from our own country and other parts of the world will meet here with students and share their experience with those of all faiths.

Protestant, Jewish Meet

For the first time this year, Protestant and Jewish faiths will hold their religious emphasis week simultaneously supervising the IFW program will be student representatives from every religious student group on campus.

According to Dr Harris, University Chaplain, IFW provides "one of the finest opportunities for students and faculty to increase their insight and knowledge of the world events of spiritual significance."

"That week," he continued," will bring to campus outstanding leaders from various areas of the world in which humanity is being uprooted."

Classroom Appearances

He added that these leaders will appear here in nearly 100 classroom discussions, a dozen fraternity, sorority and dorm meetings, five seminars and two mass meetings, open to the local community as well as the university.

These programs, which are also being held this year in a number of Florida cities and universities—Stetson and the University of Miami—are directed by Miss Louise Woodford of St. Petersburg Miss Woodford has held her position of Director of Florida Union of Missions for the past 36 years. During her visit to this campus, Mrs Dean S. Campbell will present Miss Woodford with a gift of appreciation for her service.

Workers Named

Others aiding the FSU program include Professor Karl McIntyre, a new faculty member who came here a week ago, who will work with Dean Campbell of the Journalism School on publicity.

Dot Cannon, an art student, designed the black and white poster, which will impress on students' minds the theme of IFW— Faith at Work in a World of Revolution."

Scholars Speak

Speakers for the week include Dr. L. K. Anderson, field representative in West Africa for the Presbyterian Church and graduate theological student of Princeton University.

Dr. Dorothy Austin, representing the Disciples of Christ denomination, has served in a number of interdenominational conferences in all parts of the world. He has had graduate training at the Boston University School of Theology.

Dr Boasch, Baptist, is a talented speaker and popular college speaker. He has served as a pastor, denominational worker and has conducted many tours to Palestine, Europe, and other countries.

Another author, E Russell Carter, representing the National Council of Churches, is noted for his work among American Indians. Dr Edgar Parker specializes in work with students from the Orient, and has worked for 30 years in Istanbul as a dean and professor of political science at Robert University.

Nearby Leader

Rabbi Israel Gerber, working now in Dothan, Alabama, is an active, experienced lecturer for civic and national organizations, and a specialist in the psychology of religion Dr. David Graybeal has served many years as a Methodist minister and has also served in military religious service.

Rev. J. Harry Haines, New Zealand-born Methodist missionary, has served for many years in Burma. He has had personal contact with the revolutionary forces at work in small countries of the Far East.

Dr. Charles C. West, fraternal worker of the Presbyterian Church and the World Council of Churches, has journeyed to Germany, China and other countries.

Says Dr. Harris

All these men are outstanding leaders and scholars and are being sponsored by leading missionary boards of our country, Says Dr. Harris, "The spirit of cooperation shown the program by townspeople as well as the university community has been an inspiration to all who are working on the project."

He re-echoed FSU President Campbell's words of last year: "We welcome the opportunity to devote a week to special attention to religious affairs . . . and especially welcome to our campus the conservative and outside women who come to share their experiences with us."

In Gym

Combination Set At Coffee Hour

A dramatic combination of poetry, music, and the dance will be presented at today's English Coffee Hour, to be held in the women's gym instead of the Westminster House.

In the dance studio of the gym at 4 o'clock this afternoon," an original dance, will represent the direct efforts of seven individuals connected with Florida State University.

Combining the talents of Nancy Smith, teacher of dance; Valda Mock, graduate assistant of dance; Carolyn Brown, speaker; Doris Gregory, dancer; Jane Lawrence, dancer; Joyce McRae, dancer, and Jim Staples, pianist, the dance will be done to a poem, "Patterns" by Amy Lowrence, from whence the name of the dance was derived, and to the music "Barabaud" by Claude Debussy.

At the beginning of the program an explanation of modern dance will be given by Mrs. Nellie Bond Dickinson, dance instructor, who, with Miss Smith, choreographer, is in charge of the dance's direction. This will be followed by an analysis by Miss Smith of her choreography.

According to James Wellington, in charge of Coffee Hour publicity, the idea for the routine, the purpose of which is to demonstrate how art forms can be combined, was first conceived by Allan Thomson who is in charge of the Coffee Hour. The program is called an example of Thomson's original ambition in connection with the Coffee Hour—to employ the latest that is on campus.

Flambeau photo: Barry Kleid

To Appear—At Coffee Hour will be dancers Joyce McRae, Valda Mock, Doris Gregory, and Jane Lawrence, who will perform during reading of Amy Lowell's "Patterns."

Aliens Must Tell Address

Any alien who has not yet received his address to the Federal Government this year should do so before January 30, in accordance with a federal law.

Cards on which to print the information can be obtained at Post Offices and Immigration Service offices. Applicants should ask for "Address Report Card, Form I-53. When the alien has filled in the cards, he should sign the card and hand it to an employee at the Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Office.

Any alien, or person who is not a citizen of the United States, who is temporarily absent from the U S during this month should file his address within two days after his return.

January 18 Is Annual Deadline

Wednesday, January 18, is the last day that students may register for a 1956 Tal-la-ho. This applies only to those people who did not pay $2 for a class picture.

Students who had their pictures made or who have already registered, are reserved a copy of the 1956 yearbook.

Those failing to comply with either of these directives will have to wait until after the books have been distributed, and take a chance that there will be some left-overs.

Piano-Clarinet Recital Is Set

Lowell Roddenberry, pianist, and Shelby Creagh, clarinetist, will present a joint junior recital tomorrow night at 8:15 in Opperman Music Hall.

Both students in the School of Music, Roddenberry is from the studio of John Boda and Creagh from the studio of Harry Schmidt.

Creagh will play Brahm's Sonata in F minor, Op. 120, No. 1.

Played by Roddenberry will be two Scarlatti selections: Sonata in d minor Longo 413 and Sonata in G minor Longo 422; Mozart's Sonata in G major K 283), a Raval Toccata, and a Chopin group.

More Cold Days In Store For Students: Weatherman

Warmer By Next Week Is Predicted

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

A few more days of anguish are in store for those with thin skins and the notion that it's been cold lately.

Words of cheer came from the U. S. weather bureau at Tallahassee Municipal Airport, though, which said yesterday it should be "considerably warmer" by Monday.

Tallahassee's temperatures actually have not come near to reaching their possible frigid extremes. Four days of steady north to northwest winds of from 10 to 20 mph have caused the Low or Subzero temperatures.

The cold spell, unusual in its duration and in the steadiness with which the frigid winds have swept down the Florida peninsula, set in Sunday.

The low that morning was 33, the maximum that afternoon 55. Monday's low was 29, the high 54. Tuesday's low was 31 and the high 56. Wednesday's minimum was 32 with a high of 55.

Comparatively Tepid

Yesterday's morning low was a comparatively tepid 37 while the overcast that set in at midday caused the airport weathermen to anticipate a high of 50. If the meteorologists are right, through last night a minimum blister than 34 was to be expected this morning.

The steady winds have emphasized the cold. The weather experts say such conditions make the atmosphere seem ten degrees colder than it really is.

Cyclonic Storm

What has produced the situation is a gigantic cyclonic storm over the English which backed seaward. The storm has remained stationary for almost a week, scooping up icy drafts into its 2 000 mile diameter and flinging them southward — and carrying warm air to the north.

Consequently, temperatures in and around Florida early this week were lower than some areas in the English which backed in air south Florida claims to have poisoned.

Form At Cape

A member of the FSU meteorology staff pointed out that storms frequently form off the Cape Hatteras area during the winter but that they usually move rapidly off to the northeast.

Neither do they reach the size of the present disturbance.

Normally, when smaller low pressure areas carry cold fronts into Florida, they are soon driven over the Gulf of Mexico, warming en route, the weather experts noted. This winter, however, cold air has streamed steadily down the peninsula.

$10 Million Damage

Thus unrepaired refrigeration is now worked at least $10 million worth of damage to frozen truck crops in South Florida alone.

For Jaycees

Student Center Selling 'Florida' Tags

License tags bearing the name FLORIDA are now on sale in the Student Center.

Sponsored by the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the State Jaycees, the tags are intended as part of Operation "Boost Florida."

These tags are the same size, shape and color as the regular rear tags for 1956.

The project, the pet idea of Governor Leroy Collins, was decided upon at the Jaycee annual convention in West Palm Beach last November.

The tags were ordered from the State Development Commission and manufactured at the state prison where the regular tags are made.

Tags may also be aotten at all county tax collectors' offices.

Funds from sales will be donated to the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Florida. The local organization will receive 21 cents and the state organization 29 cents. Each cents from the latter fund will go to the Development Commission.

WESLEY FRESHMEN WEEK CONTINUES

Freshmen Week at the Wesley Foundation will continue through Wednesday, January 18th.

During this week, freshmen are responsible for all of the activities. They are working under the leadership of Tom Barlabaye.

University Symphony—Conductor Robert Sedore discusses plans for coming performance with Dr. Karl Kuerstenner, who will conduct the first number, and Bertil Boer and Dale Jensen, soloists.

At 8

Military Ball Set Tomorrow Night

Army and Air Force ROTC cadets will dance to the music of the Auburn Knights tomorrow night at the seventh annual Military Ball.

The formal dance will be held in the Suwannee Room from 8 to 12 p.m.

Highlight of the affair will be the announcement of the Military Ball Queen chosen from the six finalists: Madeline Elmore, Shirley Ison, Margaret Miller, Linda Rollins, Anita Wall and eBtty Lou Whittle.

Last year's queen, Marlies Gessler, will be on hand to crown the new queen, who was voted on by all ROTC personnel.

Among the distinguished guests will be Governor and Mrs. LeRoy Collins and Florida State University Dr. President Doak S. Campbell.

Military Guests

Military guests are Lt. Gen. T. J. Hickey, commanding general of the Third Army, Maj. Gen. M. K Deichelmann, commandant of the Air Force ROTC, and Maj. Gen. Mark Lance, Adjutant General of the State of Florida.

A military theme will be carried out in the Suwannee Room decorations. Red, white and blue colors will be used and many flags will deck the walls.

In Charge

Officers of the two ROTC cadet corps, are in charge of arrangements for the dance.

General chairman is Howard Willson. Other committee chairmen are Bob Crenshaw, Jay Perkins, band; trophies and publicity; William Johnson, queen selection; Joe Wheat, invitations; Percy Steele, decorations; and Bobby Jones, refreshments.

"Last year the dance was quite a success with Les Elgart and his orchestra," said ROTC spokesman. "we expect this dance to be as good as ever."

Rifle Team Defeats UF

The Air Force ROTC Team at Florida State University defeated the Rifle Team of the University of Florida APROTC detachment in a shoulder to shoulder match at Gainesville recently.

High man of the FSU team was Cadet Reginald B Chastain, Jr., with a score of 370 followed by Cadet Vernon C. Ricketts with a score of 361. The match was umpired by an official NRA umpire.

A return is scheduled in Tallahassee in March.

FSU Symphony Slates Concert

The University Symphony, conducted by Robert Sedore, will present the second concert of the season in Westcott Monday at 8:15 p.m.

The program will include the Fourth Brandenburg Concerto of Bach, the Brahms Haydn Variations, Istar, a symphonic poem by D'Indy, and Barkaroo Holiday, an excerpt from Copland's "Rodeo" Suite.

Dean of the Music School Karl Kuerstenner will appear as guest conductor in the Bach concerto. Dale Jenson, student flutist, will appear along with Bertil Boer, faculty flutist, and Robert Sedore, violinist, in the solo group for the concerto.

The six Brandenburg Concertos represent one of the supreme achievements of the Baroque era, along with the Handel Concerti Grossi. The Bach concertos feature as many as six soloists at one time, but the Fourth Concerto being done here features the more usual three in this case, two flutes and a violin.

The Brahms is a staple in the literature, also performed in the two-piano arrangement.

There will be no admission charge to the concerto.

Miller Named FPS President

Prof. Robert D Miller, head of the Department of Philosophy and Religion at Florida State University, was elected president of the Florida Philosophical Society at a recent meeting here.

Flambeau photo: Tom Bryner

Presenting—First "FLORIDA" tag to Student Body President Coyle Moore is Tom Fouts, chairman of local drive Tag was first sold on FSU campus.

For Once---And All

The biggest problem with which Student Senate is traditionally afflicted is their overworked ability to avoid the basic issues. The chronic illness was revived Wednesday during another of the discussions on reapportionment.

A talented and capable group of senators sought to clarify, and get a vote upon, the real question: Whether senators should be elected from dormitories.

* * *

They faced a dual problem from the start. They knew they would have to contend with senators who think the present elective system based on class is adequate. It is, however, inadequate in that it has failed to provide real representation.

Senators Gaster, Mansfield, and Jim Moore, who led the fight, knew also that their only chance would be to amend, Item-by item, an alleged "compromise that was being brought to the floor.

So they had to contend not only with opposing senators but with a tangled parliamentary problem. They handled the latter well, but not well enough for the opposing senators.

The so-called "compromise", as we have said before, would merely assign senators, elected as at present, to live in dormitories and attend meetings of IFC, Panhellenic, and the day students.

In their first item amendment, the progressive leadership sought to have senators elected from those dormitories.

They intended also, during the lengthy amendment process, to alter the bill so that senators would still be elected by class as well as to represent the Greeks, the day students, and the graduate students. They called attention to the fact that bills doing just that, bills that had taken months of mature forethought and labor, had been capriciously thrown into the wastebasket by a prior "compromise" committee.

* * *

But the opposition, whose main spokesmen Wednesday were Hank McCann, Greta Sims, Carolyn Close, and Mary Louse Dee, could not yield an inch.

They proclaimed their "compromise" the only possible solution. And they seemed unable to appreciate the real issue, which is the definition of representation.

When one has representatives he elects them. He doesn't have them assigned to live near him.

The opposition contended that the present system provides for a broader vote—implying that the senators are responsible to more people.

On the contrary, the class system has encouraged irresponsibility.

Few people know their senators. Few care. This is due to a system which is not close enough to them to arouse their interest.

Why has the issue been centered around dormitory representation? It is because the people who live in dormitories do not feel that student government is of them, for them, or by them, to paraphrase Mr. Lincoln.

Those who talk glibly about how wonderful Greek-Independent relations are here and how "subversive" editorials like this are in speaking of that relationship, might do well to ponder what will come next. If the dormitories force the issue to a referendum then we will have an unpleasant rivalry, for which there is NO NEED!

* * *

Student leaders should work together. But where interest and achievement exist among one definite group—the Greeks—and where disinterest and lack of political success have characterized two even larger categories—the dormitory and off-campus independents, it does not flatter student government to sit on its hands and do nothing.

The answer was proposed, and delayed for what seems like the hundredth time, Wednesday: actual, personal, representation.

Way The Ball Bounces

Having received some encouragement from various members of the University's staff, including an athletic coach, we are continuing our inquiries regarding seating at the basketball games.

Thus far we have learned the following statistics: 60 season tickets had been sold to townspeople at the start of the season; each of the teams (basketball) received 40 complimentary passes to dispose of as they chose; 60 to 70 passes were reserved for the Athletic Department's use; 17 of 60 single-game tickets sold to townspeople were date tickets; and 43 more were sold to townspeople just prior to gametime.

The assistant athletic business director has announced that the gym seats from 850 to 900 persons, and that students had 689 of these seats. But he also said that when the student side is filled they stop selling tickets to townspeople and allow the students to fill up the remaining seats on the other side of the gym.

These facts, when analyzed, still leave us with unanswered questions: Why, with a sure knowledge of seating shortage, were any season tickets sold? Why, if tickets are not sold after students fill half the gym, were the students not allowed to fill the other half Saturday evening?

A notable excuse was rendered here: the reserved season seats are scattered and if the season ticket holder came late, he might find a student in it. Therefore, we assume they reasoned, the empty half of the gym must remain so until all season ticket holders have claimed their seats. And we would swear that all but 20 or 30 of the 689 students in the gym Saturday night were seated atop one another on ona side of the gym. These questions we hope will be answered by the three-man men's-senate-appointed investigating committee and a meeting of Dr. Howard Danford and Athletic Business Director Ed Cubbon on Monday morning.

A possible reason for town sales, in spite of seating limitations, will, we suppose, concern the value of town interest in the team and public relations. But may we point out that Georgia Tech and a few other equally large and some better-known and nationally ranking universities allow only their studants to attend games.

And until the new gym is completed and seating capacity able to accommodate a majority of the students, we feel it should be the rule here, and that townspeople will understand. They're not graduating and leaving in June, like many seniors here who tried to see the last game. And most important, they have not purchased activity books in good faith as did 5,500 students here.

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I feel I must express my opinion regarding the method of selecting the Florida State students for the 1956 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

First, let ma hasten to say that in no way do I intend to east asperaions upon the members of the committee appointed to undertake the task of selecting these students. I sincerely feel that a group of more conscientious and thoughtful persons could not have been chosen, and there are no doubts in my mind but that they exercised these qualities in selecting the Who's Who members.

What I am getting at, however, is this: I feel it is unfair to ask a few students to assume the responsibility of such a task, and I personally cringe at the thought of having to do it myself. As has alregdy been stated, only fifteen seniors voted last year due to insufficient publicity, too, if I recall correctly, the meeting time followed an Artists' Series program which did not end until after the closing hours of the women's dorms, obviously making it impossible for many students to attend. Next year, though, with a sufficient amount of publicity and a relatively convenient meeting time, I think the seniors should be given another chance to vote for these members of Who's Who. If they fail to support it, then I, personally, should deem the whole matter worthless and would delete it from among the campus honors.

Probably there will always be deserving, hard-working people who do not receive recognition for their efforts, and, in my

(Continued on page 7)

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor

Associata Editor .... Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters .... Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sua Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Steve Kleid.
Campus Editor .... Eleanor Kirby
Feature Editor .... Margarat Miller

Pat Marston, News Editor

Sports Editor .... Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Staff .... Larry Block, Dave Evans, Alan Whitmarsh
Junior Staff .... Pat Smith, Arlleda Ries, Bob Dollison, Bob Moren, Larry Meredith, Steve Kleid.
Greek Editor .... Charlet Poitevint

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford

Exchange Editor .... Betsy Voorhees
Exchange Staff .... Martha McLeod
Sandra Colley

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17. The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown, Lois Friedman

Circulation .... Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue .... George Goldstein
Business .... Randy Davis, Jean Patterson
Telephone 2,800, extension 6821, 5821
311, 313 Longmire Building
Intercollegiate Press

The Boys At The Dike

At The Movies

Films Offering Variety

"THE DESPERATE HOURS," playing today, and tomorrow at the State begins when three killers walk through the door of an average American home.

Suspense mounts wheo Dan, (Fredrick March), returns from work and finds his house taken over by these convicts Glenn Griffin, (Humphrey Bogart), their leader; Hal (Dewey Martin), Glenn's younger brother; and Kobish Tobert Middleton), a ruthless killer.

Griffin warns Dsn and his family not to try to get in touch with the police and threatens to kill them all if they do. A crisis develops when young Ralphie returns from school, discovers the situation, and refuses to let anybody "push him around."

Next morning the killers stick to their "keep normal" plan by telling Dan and Cindy (Mary Murphy), to go to work as usual, but hold Eleaoor (Martha Scott) and Ralphie as hostages.

If you see this suspense story, produced and directed by William Wyler I'm sure you won't be disappointed with the final outcome.

"THE SPOILERS," filmed in Technicolor and starring Jeff Chandler, Anne Baxter and Rory Calhoun is playing today and tomorrow at the Florida.

The first version of the "Spoilers" filmed in 1914, boasted of a screen fight between William Farnum and Tom Santschi that is still considered an epic of its kind. Jeff Chandler, playing the busky Glennister, the hero, and Rory Calhoun, the charming villain, stage the fight in the new production of "The Spoilers."

Ann Baxter plays the provocative Cherry Malotte, proprietress of Nome's biggest and best goldrush days saloon, The Northern.

Ray Danton, a screen newcomer is excellent as Blackie, a crooked employee of the Northern, secretly in love with Miss Baxter.

Barbara Britton and John McIntire, Chandler's business partner, portray two of the spoilers.

The atmospbera of the Alaskan goldrush daya is recreated in the settings by Ross Hunter, producer. Jesse Hibbs is the director.

"TO PARIS, WITH LOVE," Alec Guinness first technicolor comedy, is playing today and tomorrow at the Ritz. Filmed entirely on location, the sophisticated story casts Guiness as a widowed aristocrat who takes his son to the famous "City of Light" to teach him the facts of life.

The father becomes involved with the girl he has chosen for his son, and the son, played by Vernon Gray, becomes infatuated with a mature woman.

In addition to Guinness, "To Paris with Love" stars the lovely French actress, Odile Versois. Others in the cast include Elina Labourdette, Jacques Francois, and Jacques Brunius.

"To Paris With Love", a J. Arthur Rank presentation, was produced by Anthony Darnborough and directed by Robert Hamer from a script by Robert Buckner.

NEWMAN CLUB SLATES MEETING

The Newman Club has announced a business meeting Sunday at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of electing a new president and parliamentarian.

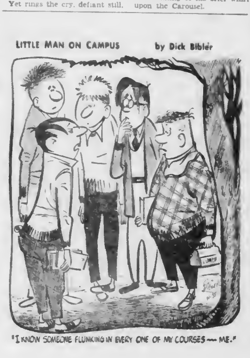
The meeting will be followed by devotions for exams.

It Could Be Verse

By
STEVE KLEID

The lines of men who proudly marched
To glory, and to fame,
Have met the foe, its fury felt,
'Till now but few remain.

The tattered flag, that onee
(Just months past, or a year)
Was borne with pride to victory
Drapes now a nameless bier.



Yes, few ramain, but from the grave,
From those who walked the Glory Trail,
Yet rings the cry, defiant still,
"Though doomed to Hell, we shall prevail!"

* * *

In the course of an existance, it is possible for a man to meditate freely upon the conquests and defeats the Being he chooses to call Fate has prepared for him.

Yet, with all his conjectures, his antagonism, his acquiescence, only at the brief moment of the passage of his soul between the flesh and the spirit can he truly understand the meaning of his brief whirl upon the Carousel.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"I KNOW SOMEONE FLUNKING IN EVERY ONE OF MY COURSES — ME."

The Dissenter

Senate Refuses Aid To Athletics

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

STUDENT SENATE decided the other day, in a distinctively sedate discussion, that students shouldn't be asked to contribute to athletic scholarships.

In taking that position—a reversal of a previous vote—Senate saved itself from terrible embarrassment. Had student government sponsorship been lent to passing the hat the hat would still have come back very empty.

I talked to a number of students before Wednesday's meeting. Most of them hadn't heard of the request that Dr. Howard Danford, athletic director, had made the previous week. When it was explained to them their reactions were unsympathetic, as follows:

"Hah!"

"Let them ask."

"It stinks."

And among the more logical responses:

"There are a lot of things more important."

IT IS GENERALLY conceded that FSU students are not the most generous of givers. Still, considering the appeal on which the proposition was grounded—that of meeting the University of Florida with equal strength—they could have been expected to out-do the Ford Foundation.

But their opinions were contrary. And Senate knew this.

Can we infer that this request finally brought home to the students the impossible rate at which college athletics have become big business? The point has been made that the appeals of school spirit, sport, and camera[illegible] that intercollegiate athletics — in particular football — once nourished are lost.

I can sympathize with Dr. Danford's position. He wants to win. The minor sports do not [illegible] scholarships in quantity. But the students do care.

I think that if conditions were as in [illegible] times long gone by — when students came [illegible] school first and tried out for the team as [illegible] incidental, where sports had not the aura [illegible] business but the quality of clean fun for spectator and player alike, things would be different.

THERE'D BE, of course, no scholarsh[illegible] Guys like your unathletic columnist might [illegible] be players and we'd lose often. But if the te[illegible] got in a jam for traveling money or nee[illegible] funds to buy letters, the student body I [illegible] would chip in wholeheartedly.

Such is a dream, I admit. But the pres[illegible] is a nightmare. The conception of student s[illegible] port is ridiculous when student tickets must [illegible] exchanged long before time for seats th[illegible] sometimes aren't very good; and when st[illegible] dents are kept out of basketball games so t[illegible] tickets may be sold at higher prices than [illegible] pro rata from the activity fee which the s[illegible] dents have already paid.

As the Miami Hurricane emphasized in [illegible] brilliant editorial which I have quoted befo[illegible] "the students are the losera." Need this be?

In The Wings

Jazz Fans Never In Agreement

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

IN THE DECEMBER issue of High Fidelity magazine there is an article on jazz by Henry Pleasants, a parvenu writer whose tongue-in-cheek book, The Agony of Modern Music, has apparently established him as a name to be reckoned with, some people having unfortunately taken him seriously. At any rate, he is capitalizing on his current notoriety by writing articles for various publications on subjects he professes to be familiar with.

There is, of course, much nonsense in his article, "What is thing thing called JAZZ?" but he nevertheless makes an astute observation: that the term "jazz" is used critically rather than generically. He notes that "what the jazzman or the professional jazz critic likes he calls jazz. His most sweeping expression of disapproval is 'It's not jazz,' or 'It doesn't swing.'"

IF YOU STOP to think about it you will probably agree that this may be the cause of the incessant squabbling among musicians and jazz-fans over what docs and does not constitute jazz. Rhythm-and-Blues and Dixieland both produce a negative reaction in me, and consequently I don't think of them as "jazz," even though both have the supposed prerequisites of a steady propelling beat aod continuous improvisation.

When I think of jazz I mean "modern" jazz —Oscar Peterson, Dave Brubeck, Dizzy Gillespie, Chris Connor, Shorty Rogers, et al. Dixieland I call simply "dixie," or "traditional" jazz; rhythm-and-blues I call many things most [illegible] them unprintable, but none of them "jazz." Men like Benny Goodman and Harry James I tend to associate with the period of their initial success, be it "swing," "ragtime," "Chicago-style" or what-have-you.

IF THIS IS typical it might explain why [illegible] have all the controversy over whether or [illegible] Brubeck, Mulligan, Kenton, and the other [illegible] novators play jazz. It seems to be merely [illegible] matter of personal taste and prejudices. Musicians themselves are quick to criticize a [illegible] professed jazzman who temporarily "goes commercial" or strays from the style with which he is associated.

The long-and-short of it then, is that o[illegible] the music we personally like is the "true jazz." This same music may produce an entirely different reaction in another person. The success of the Norman Granz Jazz-at-the-Philharmonic concerts proves that many people are still mo[illegible] by twenty-minute drum solos and honking tenor saxists (Illinois Jacquet, et al).

The controversy will certainly continue [illegible] as long as jazz is played and people are listening. But at least it is a healthy controversy ultimately rewarding to both jazz and its growing audience.

Much Ado . . .

Athletics Could 'Get Out Of Hand'

By CLYDE WARD

LOOKS LIKE this subject of football really geta kicked around. It's been de-emphasized in some schools, emphasized in others, ignored in a very few schools, and now Florida State's discussing an "athletic fund."

Which is all well and good, since we have Florida to trim down to size in the near future.

It's only natural, though, to wonder about some of the aspects involved. Dr. Howard Danford stated, according to Tuesday's edition of the Flambeau, that we need more scholarship money to attract more top-flight Florida stars.

Does it take more money for the "stars" than for a common, ordinary football player? I thought the last man on the bench had the same scholarship as the glory boys who copped all the touchdowns and press releases.

Maybe we should give more scholarships, but if we do, they'll sure as heck have to build the benches longer. We've always managed to field a pretty impressive-looking team, numerically, but the nasty old referees will only let us play 11 men at a time.

Maybe we should concentrate on the big ones. A few years ago, "Papa" Hall, who was a Tallahassee boy, went to U. of F and ran wild all over the Southeastern conference. He was awfully close, and awfully big to get away so easy.

I GUESS IT does take money to make a big splash on the sports pages, but this thing could get out of hand completely.

Even now I can see an auction block, with a couple of dozen football players in chains, growling at each other. The chains are partly for atmosphere, and partly for their own protection. Football players are known to be pretty rough sometimes, and the traders don't want all that valuable beef torn apart.

The buyers travel in pairs, usually composed of a coach and an assistant coach. What one missea, the other will catch.

They're sold by the pound, which makes a 250 pound tackle worth more than a 165 pound scatback. Which is also well and good, since it gives the line their rightful place as the most valuable segment of the team.

THERE'S A COACH and his assistant browsing around, so let's watch. The coach is giving out with the advice, and has just told the assistant to be sure and check their teeth.

"Check their teeth?" The assistant is puzzled.

"Only way to tell their age," the coach replies. "Don't believe what an athlete trader tells you. Check their feet, too."

They're examining a big, hairy-chested specimen now. The assistant starts to check his teeth, and has his hand neatly snapped off at the wrist.

"Ooo, this one's got spirit," the assistant chortles, holding his bloody nub. "We've got to have him."

"Nix," replies the coach, looking up from the specimen's feet. "We don't want him."

"We don't?" Thera is a definite question in the assistant's voice.

He doesn't even have athlete's foot," says the coach, "so obviously he's a phoney.

See what I mean? This thing could get completely out of hand.

Wandering With Wiljohn

Names All-Star Campus Dance Band

By WILJOHN.

HERE ARE the requested choices for the All-Star Campus Dance band. There are soma choices you won't like, but then, you asked me what I thought, not what you thought. So for what that's worth, here we go.

Trumpets: 1. Charlie Turner, lead, for his sparkling all-round ability and for his "personality in a horn." 2. Danny Cunningham, rida, for being the tops in jazz work. 3. Roger McDuffie, as most versatile and a fine supporting sound as section man. 4. Gene Coe, for his great range, not withstanding a tendency to blow a too screechy horn.

Trombone: 1. Lyman Hammond, lead, for his tone and facility. 2. John Lopez, ride, for his experience and work in the jazz field. 3. Larry Block, as a fine section man and one of the best readers of music.

SAXES: Alto—1. Frank Valdes, as best lead alto and dance man around. 2. Charlie Culbreth, as a fine concert sax and for his technique. On Tenor—1. Dick Reis and Lloyd Fish. To rate either of these two over the other would be an injustice. They are both blowing too much sax. Just toss them up and arrange them the way they fall. On Baritone—There's no question here. Tony Swain and that's it.

Clarinet: Roy McCance, as best Dixieland clarinet in school.

Guitar: Charlie Alley, the best and only guitar here.

Piano: I'm putting two men here to work as alternates for each other. I don't know which is the better man cause they are both great. So, once again, it's a toss-up between David Ward-Steinman and Robert Glotzbach. David works well with smaller groups because of a tendency to display too much technique and Bob Glotzbach plays one of the sweetest mixture of Shearing, Brubeck and Glotzbach that you can find.

BASS: 1. Bill Neblitt, for his driva and terrific beat. 2. Tom Greenhaw, for a good ear in playing and the smoothest changes.

Drums: 1. Al Harkness, cause let's face it, Al cuts everybody. He has good drive, beat, and lika that. 2. Don Hesterburg, as a really inventive man on the skins, though his real element is a combo or smaller group than is put down here.

Arranger: Roger McDuffie for his great original ideas and Johnny Edmunds for his professional approach, albeit a tendency to copy too much Shorty Rogers.

SINGER: And thera you have it. Which of the two is the best? My choice is Anne Verran, not for a particularly breath-taking voice but for that tremendous style and delivery. You can walk up to me and say "Anne Verran," and if you can shut me up in five minutes, I'll buy the coffee. June Knight has, of course, the better voice, but she isn't working with a group that will give her the needed opportunity to develop a atyla. Right now, she just "sings purty."

What's that you say? I've left something out? Oh, yes, of course. Pete Magnell on first Flutophone.

No Athletic Contributions, Says Senate

Four Debators Enter Tourney

Four students from Florida State University will attend the Southern Debate Tournament at Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga., today and tomorrow.

Juliette McLendon and Laura Lee Alexander, will argue the affirmative side of this year's national debate question.

Fred Roberts and Bruce Gardner will uphold the negative side.

The national debate question is "that the non-agricultural industries of the United States should guarantee their annual wage."

Only once in the five years that FSU has been represented in the Agnes Scott tournament has its debaters failed to win a trophy. Last year's affirmative team won a trophy, making it a defending champion.

Jean Eaves, graduate assistant, will accompany the debaters to the tournament.

FSU Student Is Elected MENC Officer

Lamar McClure, FSU, was elected secretary of the Florida district group of Music Educators National Conference last week in Tampa.

Florida State had 28 MENC members attending the annual meeting of the Florida Music Educators Association in Tampa January 3-5. This was the largest representation from any of the districts in the state. Many of these were held in the Florida State Hotel.

Also representing FSU were a number of the music school faculty. Manley Whitcomb, director of the FSU's Marching Chiefs, was elected to serve as a member for the bandmasters' section of the state.

Directing the All-State Junior High Chorus was Dr. Wiley Housewright. This chorus of assembled school vocalists participated in a concert clinic-demonstration meeting Saturday night. Heading the roster of consultants Clinic was Dr. Robert A. Choate, national president of the MENC. Dr. Choate was the main speaker at the annual banquet and general session. He is Dean of the College of Fine Arts at Boston University.

Louise McClure was the only student group up for the election by the group from FSU. She is a junior in music education and is president of the FSU chapter of MENC. She assumed the duties of president for the past two months during the internship of President Judy Nathan.

Heading the state group for the coming year will be Walter Beeler of the University of Florida. Also who was elected president Cecil Vice president is Earl Wise, Stetson University.

Group Postpones Reapportionment

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Battle lines were formed Wednesday in Student Senate as to whether dormitories should elect Senators.

But when the smoke cleared after a two-hour meeting Senate had postponed the issue another week.

Focal point of the debate was an amendment to a "compromise" bill introduced by Senators Dave Bachman, Mary Louise Dew, Winnie Mae Douglas and vice-president Hana Tews.

The bill would provide for the assignment of senators elected by class to live in dormitories and attend meetings of Inter-Fraternity Council, Panhellenic Council, and day student meetings to represent those groups.

Senator Fred Manalfield, asking for and receiving "division of the question" — consideration of the bill one part at a time—moved a crucial amendment.

Senators, he proposed, should be elected from each dormitory. Under the compromise bill, they would be assigned to dormitories but not elected by them.

Heated Discussion

Discussion grew so heated that Vice-President Jimmy Bonno was compelled to list the names of senators wishing to speak.

Senators Gordon Glaster, Mansfield, Jim Moore, and Jimmy Soles led the demand for actual election by dormitory in addition to class representation.

Two Catagories

Arguments fell into two general catagories.

One faction maintained that to subject senators to assignment after election would work undue hardship on some, particularly day students, for whom living in dormitories would be a more costly proposition. It would make for better representation and increased student interest, they argued, if dormitories had direct election of senators.

'Elect Right'

"Let's elect them right," advanced Mansfield for his group. "If they are to represent the dormitories let them be elected there."

Opposition forces argued in turn that many qualified people would live in the same residence, only one could be elected, and the general quality of Senate would suffer that functioning of Senate would be postponed in the early fall before dormitories could hold elections, and that the residents of dormitories are not permanent enough to justify election by dormitory.

These were advanced by Senators Mary Louise Dew, Greta Sims, Hana McClain, and Betsy Dunn, among others.

"If senators are elected this way the classes and subsequently assigned to live in dormitories they would be responsible to the dormitories and their class at large," said Miss Dew.

'Distorting'

Senator Greta Sims angrily asserted Mansfield's amendment was "distorting the bill." It would be better to defeat it, she said.

The method chosen to fight for dormitory election undoubtedly caused some confusion. Its proponents said they were not in favor of strict dormitory representation and would allow for class balloting to select "senators at large." By re-considering the bill item by item, however, a blanket amendment ensuing the fears of strong class-system supporters could not be offered.

The compromise committee which introduced the bill was appointed after a previous committee led by Senator Karl Edwards, who was absent Wednesday, rejected representation bills offered by Senators Soles and Jim Moore.

Soles Reported

Soles submitted a minority report, at the time co-signed by Moore, challenging the committee and calling for a new committee and a new compromise.

In that first test of whether representation of Senate should be undertaken Senate voted yes, though by a majority not large enough to indicate that any bill will be passed by the required two-thirds vote.

Wednesday Soles angrily called for the new compromise, buried it in a tangle of parliamentary tape, to be tabled and the original bills submitted by him and by Moore to be brought back for consideration His motion died for lack of a second.

Moore Argues

Senate Art Moore argued that merely to require senators to live in various dormitories would not be as effective in arousing student interest and in creating as accurate representation as having those dorms elect the senators would be.

Senator Jim Moore later termed this position the real issue

Senators Dave Beckman and Germaine Murray were among those who termed the bill under discussion the best possible compromise.

The bill was clamped on debate shortly after 9 p.m. when Chairman Cooper moved for one week's definite delay

BOWLER CUTS LOOSE
Claude Hall

At FSU

Bowling Offers 'Different' Sport

Want to spend a different sort of an evening?

Try taking your favorite girl over to the Florida State University Bowling Alleys.

The student operated bowling alley is open every night except Sunday from six to ten p.m.

Although there are eight alleys, four of them are reserved for Tallahassee leagues Monday through Thursday nights. This is necessary to finance the alleys, according to Earl Blakely, manager of the alleys.

Blakely, who is a graduate student in Recreation, works as a part-time assistant along with George Peacock. He explained that four alleys are also reserved for students on week day nights.

"About fifty students bowl every evening" said Blakely. "However Friday and Saturday are our slack nights. Students may have to wait then since the leagues aren't here."

WAC Course Set At Ft. McClellan

The next WAC officer basic course for college graduates commissioned in the WAC branch, U. S. Army Reserve, will be held this August at Fort McClellan, Alabama.

Applications for commission and call to active duty should be submitted as soon as possible, is was announced.

Application forms and further information may be obtained by writing to WAC officer Procurement Officer, MPPD AG Section, Headquarters Third Army, Fort McPherson, Georgia.

Music Educators Hold Conference

A panel consisting of Bob Faulkner, Bob Wright, Reginald Choir, Naomi Stott, Gwyn Cooper, and Mercelia Dawson, Fall Semester music education interns, will be held at the next Music Educators National Conference meeting, Tuesday, in the Trophy Room at the Student Center.

Schedule of events include supper at the Student Center at 5:30 p.m., short business meeting, with the panel from 6 to 7:15 p.m.

State Convention held at Tampa as well as plans for the National Convention at St. Louis, will be discussed. Missouri will be discussed

"All Music Education Majors and guests are invited to attend," says Judy Nathalin, President.

TEMPLE ISRAEL ELECTS OFFICERS

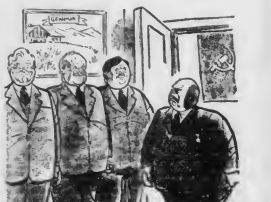
Temple Israel, Hillel officers for second semester were elected recently. They are as follows:

President, Allen Cordish, Vice President, Judy Nathalin, Secretary, Alan Marcus, Treasurer, Diane Wexler.

Plans for Intelligent Faith Week were also discussed.

Lewis Elected Veep Of NSSC

Dr. Thomas R. Lewis, professor of speech at Florida State University, has been elected first vice-president of the National Society for the Study of Communication.



A charter member of the organization of more than 500 persons, Dr. Lewis was editor of the Journal of Communications from 1950 to 1952. He and Mrs. Lew's live at 1911 Old Fort Drive, Tallahassee.

Classified

ENGLISH FORD — 1851, four door, 30 mpg. $200. Call 2-5655 between 12 and 2 p.m.

Herblock Views The Russian Scene

"All Right Men—Wipe It Off"

Previous Position Reversed

The Student Senate voted Wednesday not to ask students to contribute for athletic scholarships. The action reversed a position taken at the previous meeting.

The vote came at the suggestion of Senator Carolyn Close's recreational and social committee to which the matter had been referred for consideration

A week before, Senate had voted support when Dr Howard Dandiker, athletic director, requested students be asked to donate funds to augment scholarships in all sports.

At the time, he and Eddie Culbreth, athletic business manager, referred to a student-contribution system they said is in operation at Auburn.

Not At Auburn

Senator Close said Wednesday that Auburn has no such system.

In suggesting the Senate's previous stand be reversed she said that Florida State University will receive more money from its away games next year and that more money is expected to be put into scholarships.

This, she said would make student contributions unnecessary.

Student opinion seemed also to have no little effect on the decision Before the discussion Hana Tews, men's vice-president, remarked he had heard little but opposition from students regarding the proposal Miss Close said the opinions she sampled were similar to those heard by Tews.

Senate also:

CONSIDERED reapportionment (See separate story in this issue)

CONFIRMED the appointment of Russell Jamison to University Court.

REMOVED the office of Sandspur Chairman from the list of those to be elected since Sandspur has been re-organized along non-political lines

"Go Back And Tell Them You're A Sovereign State"

Science Profs Offer New Course

An intensive course in elementary techniques of nuclear chemistry will be offered by the Chemistry Department next month, it was announced.

This will be a laboratory course with emphasis on the handling of radioactive material and on the operation of Geiger-Mueller, scintillation and other counters of atomic radioactions.

The class carrying one semester hour credit, will meet two evenings a week for three weeks

$ CASH $ FOR YOUR USED BOOKS

Sell the books you no longer need, or trade them on your books for next semester.

BILL'S BOOK STORE

Check Our Prices Before You Buy or Sell

THERE'S NO QUESTION that Luckies taste better—they're made of fine tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better. There's no question in the Droodle above, either (in case you were thinking it looked like a question mark). It's titled: Captain Hook reaching for a better-tasting Lucky. If you'd like to get your hooks on the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked, light up a Lucky yourself. It's jolly, Roger!

DROODLES, Copyright 1945 by Roger Price

Amiable, Soft-Spoken

FSU Italian Foreign Student Is Outstanding Chemist

By MARGARET MILLER

Dr. Enrico Clementi of Italy is a new graduate student on the Florida State University campus, and an outstanding chemistry student.

About 25 years old, he is an amiable, soft-spoken young man, who, except for the decidly foreign addition of a beard, could hardly be distinguished from an American student.

Although this is his first month in the United States, he appears to feel at ease here and in spite of some initial difficulty in speaking English, readily jokes and converses with his associates.

Dr. Clementi's work here was first initiated when Dr. Michael Kasha of FSU was lecturing in Rome. There one of Clementi's colleagues asked Kasha about the possibility of sending Clementi to FSU for special study in molecular spectroscopy.

FSU was considered a desirable place for Clementi to study as it is now considered to have one of the finest spectroscopic laboratories in the country.

Liked Super Markets

Eventually, all arrangements were made for Clementi, and now he is happily installed in a small apartment near Campbell stadium. He was first impressed with American supermarkets, and remarked that he could now see how American wives can cook and work too.

"In Italy," he said, "the housewives cook and shop all day."

Clementi's hometown is Trento in northern Italy. He is the oldest of nine children, all who have become outstanding scholars. One of his sisters, reported Dr. Kasha, "a very good-looking woman, incidentally, has her doctorate in physics. All of his talented family have had professional training."

Dr. Clementi is of the staff of the Polytechnical Institute of Milan, where he specializes in the octasol process of organics. His main work is being done on the energy theory of the photographic process.

Dr. Kasha explained one aspect of Clementi's problem: when colorless rocksalt is subjected to a beam of radiation, it becomes a deep blue. Physicists and chemists, such as Dr. Clementi, are interested in understanding the reason for this color.

And so Dr. Clementi is here. Just now he is occupying himself by studying the spectroscopic equipment in preparation for his problem and in becoming more familiar with spoken English.

University Planning More Nuclear Study Emphasis

By CLIF PAISLEY
FSU Public Relations

Florida State University, already deep in nuclear studies, plans during the year ahead to place an increasing emphasis on them, officials said today.

The added emphasis is FSU's contribution toward achieving Governor Collins announced goal of making Florida "the atomic state" and toward translating the scientific business men and inventors who be needed in an atomic era.

In the field of research the emphasis will range all the way from additional nuclear research to the practical application of rays from radioactive materials for preservation of meat, oysters and vegetables.

In the field of teaching, the emphasis will range from the recently activated curriculum of "radiation physics" to a new program, to be launched in 1956, which will train future industrial managers and industrial personnel in the know-how they will need for an atomic-powered industrial era.

Basic Research

Dr. Guenter Schwarz, head of the Physics Department which has been placing an increasing emphasis on nuclear studies, said the principal work will continue as in the past to be in the field of basic research.

This, he said, is the meticulous job of adding bit by bit to the backlog of knowledge all too scant, which during the years ahead may be turned by scientists and engineers into the machines, products and processes made possible by the discovery of atomic fission.

Dr. Cooway W. Snyder, who joined the physics faculty last year after work in the Oak Ridge Institute on it's cyclotron studies is presently supervising the construction of a machine which Dr. Schwarz said will materially aid in the research program.

One Of 100

This is a nuclear accelerator—one of about 100 such pieces of equipment in the country. When it is completed the university will put the machine to work finding out, for instance, how tiny charged nuclei of hydrogen react on any number of materials under varied and carefully controlled conditions.

Besides adding to the knowledge of basic research, he said, the accelerator can be used to help along the research programs now under way at FSU in which the effect of various radiations in the sterilization of oysters and meat is being studied.

Dr. Betty Watts, professor of food and nutrition, who is directing the research with the assistance of Dr. Russell Johnson, associate professor of chemistry, said the oyster project is for the federal Fish and Wildlife Service and the meat project for the Army Quartermaster Corps.

New Field

Florida State University meanwhile plans to open up during the year ahead a brand new field of training in nuclear management. The School of Business in cooperation with the Physics and Chemistry departments will conduct the course of study.

The course, which will require four or five years' study, will be the first coordinated training of the sort in this field to be offered by a Southern institution, according to Charles A. Rovetta, dean of the School of Business. Dean Rovetta said the thing leading to the decision to set up the program is the significance of atomic energy as a source of power for plants which already are in Florida or may be located here.

Could Use It

Florida, without known resources of oil, gas and coal, has a chance to utilize its almost weightless and readily available fuel, he said

Regardless of where plants are located, though, he said the atomic era will bring a vast range of new problems, products and processes which will require an expert knowledge for plant managers and other business men.

In addition, he said, they will have to know a lot about developments growing out of electronics which are turning both manufacturing processes and management procedures into automatic performances.

Some of the fields where FSU personnel and equipment may aid in research were outlined recently to the new Florida Nuclear Development Commission by Dr Karl Dittner, head of the Chemistry Department.

Fruit Spoiling

He mentioned preventing spoilage of citrus fruits, vegetables and other farm products as one field. Another is determining the age—using radioactive tritium in water as the measurement—of the ground waters of the state.

If Florida's deep wells are found, for instance, to be pumping very old water, then thought should be given to better utilization of surface waters. Dr. Richard Wolfgang, now temporarily with the Chemistry Department, has done original research in this field in Illinois.

Several members of the chemistry and zoology department faculties are now at work on various projects which further or use nuclear research, Dean Rovetta said. Dr. Dittner himself, concerns the presence of radioactive magnesium in the rat.

Four Different

There are four different chemical or zoological research programs being conducted for the Atomic Energy Commission on

COED AIR FORCE

GREENVILLE, S. C. —ACP— The Furman Hornet also makes one of a new setup at George Washington University. It seems the fairer sex are now being admitted to Air Force ROTC courses. Two reasons are given for the radical departure: First, the college feels that the basic Air Science courses are useful not only for male but also for female students. And second, by organizing a women's AF-ROTC detachment, a girls' unit will be available, not only to march, but to serve as hostess and ushers at occasional demands.

Campus Cutie Of The Week

Photo by Steve Kind

MISS CLARA SAUNDERS
Sophomore from Sebring.

Visitor Says Top Designers Abroad Earn Less Money

Top industrial designers in Great Britain do not make as much money as those in the United States but the compensation is perhaps a better professional status.

The conclusion was made Wednesday night by W. M. de Majo of London in comparing design work of the two countries in a public lecture at Florida State University. He came to this country for the opening this week of a "Design from Britain" exhibition in the University Art Gallery.

Winner of several national and international design awards, de Majo has made recent visits to the United States. He was a speaker last summer at the Aspen International Design Conference in Colorado, and is consultant for the work in packaging, display and exhibition.

Form Society

The Britisher explained how he and his colleagues are organized into a Society of Industrial Artists with "a code of professional conduct, scale of fees and representation on Government bodies and boards of the main art schools." The society has a membership of over 1,200, all carefully checked by a selection committee for achievements.

Membership in the society means a living standard, a certain intensity, and insures the public against quacks, de Majo said.

"The further from home I go, the more English I become, and the more I shrink from talking about money," he declared, "but at home again, I talk about nothing else, how much I could make, but means our daily bread." He sees it doesn't cut so very much ice."

Talking It Over—Are Rudolph Jegart, of the art department and W. M. de Majo of England. De Majo, visiting the campus for the English Design exhibit in the Art Gallery, points out design on can labels.

Traditional Crafts

He discussed how most British industries have developed out of traditional crafts and are deeply embedded in the past, and how American industries begin from scratch with no handicaps. Facilities and the consumer market are what he says is the main difference between the two countries.

In comparing the export trade of the two countries, he said here it is "the icing on the cake but across the ocean it's the accent on prosperity here."

Could Learn

In summary de Majo said

(Continued on Page 6)

HURRY! HURRY! HURRY!
CONTEST CLOSES JAN. 31ST

$50,000 IN PRIZES

10 Ford Thunderbirds

PLUS 40 COLUMBIA Hi-Fi Phonographs

FOR THE 50 COLLEGE STUDENTS WHO WRITE THE BEST NAMES FOR VICEROY'S PURE, WHITE, NATURAL FILTER!

10 Winners! 10 Thunderbirds! Win a fully equipped new '56 Thunderbird! In your choice of colors! Automatic transmission, two tops, power steering, radio, white side walls. Act now and win!

40 Winners! 40 COLUMBIA Hi-Fi Sets! Own America's most exciting Hi-Fidelity Phonograph—the Columbia "360"K—in beautiful Mahogany!

Plus 10 RCA Victor Color TV Sets to the college organizations designated by the 10 Thunderbird winners!

JUST NAME THIS AMAZING FILTER! THAT'S ALL YOU DO TO WIN!

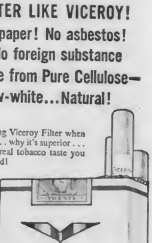
20,000 FILTER TRAPS TWICE AS MANY AS THE NEXT TWO LARGEST-SELLING FILTER BRANDS—FOR THAT REAL TOBACCO TASTE!

NO OTHER FILTER LIKE VICEROY!
No cotton! No paper! No asbestos!
No charcoal! No foreign substance of any kind! Made from Pure Cellulose—Soft...Snow-white...Natural!

HINTS TO HELP YOU WIN!

You'll think of dozens of names when you read these facts. The Viceroy Filter is the most modern in the world today! Perfected through 20 years of research!

It contains no cotton, no paper, no charcoal, no asbestos, no foreign substance of any kind! Instead, it is made from pure cellulose—a soft, snow-white, natural material found in many good foods you eat.



Only the Viceroy Filter has 20,000 filter traps—twice as many filter traps as the next two largest-selling filter brands! No wonder Viceroy gives you that Real Tobacco Taste!

Name this amazing filter and win! It's easy!

It's easy to name this amazing Viceroy Filter when you know what it's made of . . . why it's superior . . . why Viceroys give you that real tobacco taste you miss in every other filter brand!

Remember, the Viceroy Filter is made from 100% pure cellulose—a soft, natural material found in many good foods you eat! There are no impurities in the Viceroy Filter. So naturally it lets the real tobacco taste come through!

Name the Viceroy Filter! Enter this $50,000 contest today!

VICEROY
Filter Tip
CIGARETTES
KING-SIZE

JUST FOLLOW THESE EASY RULES!

1 On any plain paper, write the name you think most suitable for the pure, white, Viceroy Filter described on this page. It's easy! You can think of dozens of names—"Snow-White," "Filtron," "Natural," "Flavor Flow," "Cellutrap," "Pure-Tro-Traps." You can use one, two or three words. Any name may win!

2 Mail your entry to Viceroy Thunderbird Contest, P. O. Box 6A, Mount Vernon 10, New York. Write plainly on your entry name, full name of your college and your mailing address at college! Be sure to print! Mail as many entries as you like—but with each entry include the picture of the Viceroy Filter Tip torn or cut from the backs of two (2) Viceroy packages.

3 Contest open to all students attending colleges and universities in the U.S.A.

4 Contest closes midnight January 31, 1956. Entries judged by The Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation on the basis of aptness of thought, originality and interest.

5 Prizes listed elsewhere in this ad. Winners of the ten Thunderbirds will also be presented keys to the cities of their residence by the Chamber of Commerce. Campus Committees will award RCA Victor Color TV Sets* Write the name of the organization you want to receive this award on your entry.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
THROUGH SATURDAY "THE SPOILERS" Anne Baxter Jeff Chandler Rory Calhoun	THROUGH SATURDAY "DESPERATE HOURS" Humphrey Bogart Frederic March Arthur Kennedy Gig Young
SUNDAY - MONDAY "THREE STRIPES IN THE SUN" Aldo Ray Phil Carey Dick York	SUNDAY - TUESDAY "THE BIG KNIFE" Jack Palance Ida Lupino Wendell Corey
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
THROUGH SATURDAY "Gun Fighters" Randolph Scott Barbara Britton also "Ulysses" Kirk Douglas	THROUGH SATURDAY "The Black Dakotas" Gary Merrill Wanda Hendrix
SUNDAY - MONDAY "The Las Vegas Shakedown" Dennis O'Keefe Coleen Gray	SUNDAY - MONDAY "The Far Horizons" Fred MacMurray Charlton Heston Donna Reed

KITZ THRU SAT.—"TO PARIS WITH LOVE" ALEC GUINNESS — ODILE VERSOIS
SUNDAY - MONDAY—"HOLIDAY FOR HENRIETTA" Danny Robin Hildegarde Neff

CAMERON'S TEXACO
SERVICE STATION
CARS CALLED FOR AND DELIVERED
GREASING, WASHING POLISHING
ONE BLOCK FROM FSU CAMPUS — PHONE 3-0619
CORNER W. TENNESSEE AND COPELAND

B.F.Goodrich
FIRST in RUBBER — FIRST in TUBELESS

THRIFT TAG TIRE SALE
SAFETYLINER TUBELESS
COMPLETE SET SAFETY LINER WHITE SIDEWALLS 670 x 15
$79.84 plus tax and three
The new-car Tubeless that gives you Tubeless safety at less cost than a tire-and-tube!
$19.46
FACTORY SECONDS — PLUS TAX & ONE TIRE

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

AND WITH NO APOLOGIES—

We've been relatively surprised throughout this past year as to why we haven't been subjected to adverse criticism for the many controversial things we've had to say in this corner. Doubtless, there have been those who disagreed, but as one man this time to register those disagreements.

And, on the other hand, there have been those who were kind enough to drop us a few complimentary lines.

We more or less attributed our meager successes to an editorial philosophy we've been following—that you can't tell a man what to think. Rather, thought we, you might throw a few facts his way which he can't deny, and shape his thinking that way. But you don't tell him what he should think.

In the last edition, we obviously slipped.

The criticisms of our Jimmy Oler article were many and varied and certainly, we pen this one with some difficulty.

In the Tuesday edition, we told you of a guy and of the way his style of play registered with those writers who had to do his story. It is of little matter that we tell you that particular guy was written after conversing with the newsmen covering the Miami game. Rather, we take issue with those who composed something like this:

"Man, you really got carried away on that one. Too bad Jim isn't a better team player. . . ."

Hurts, doesn't it. But it's the injustice of the statement that reaches up and slaps you between the eyes.

Perhaps the story we're going to tell you now is one that couldn't be told. But, knowing Jim Oler, we think he'll be nice enough to understand.

Last season, the batman had averaged about 21 points a game while working out of his play-maker spot. That was when Tribe still had the point-making ability of Helms Foundation All-America Hank Wernke.

Jim moved into this season at about the same pace, averaging around 22 points per session until a game with the University of Tampa. That night he scored 34 points.

We talked with Jim right after the Seminoles came back stunned from their Tampa trip—the afternoon before a game with Morningside College of Sioux City, Iowa. And we asked him how—How'd you go about scoring that many points in one game?

Blushing somewhat, Jim answered, "We needed them. Tampa was a little too close. I only scored 12 points the whole first half."

And thereon lies the story. We checked with head coach Ed Kennedy. His comment was "we've been trying to tell Jim he should shoot more often. He only averages about 28 shots a game from the floor—that's far too few for a playmaking guard."

Dick Artmeier, the fiery little senior forward who sat in on the talk with Jim, was quick to verify Kennedy's statement.

In defense of himself, Jimmy came back with, "It's not that I don't like to score. Everybody does. But I'd rather play the game the way it's supposed to be—in a rather mechanical way. . . ."

So Jim was pinned down. He was told during that particular session that he should shoot more often, that he owed it to himself, and that he owed it to himself.

That night, the little senior scored 42 points to break the school scoring record—38 points scored by Hom Wernke in a single game in 1953. And in the following game he came just to score 27 more against Clemson one of the powers of the south.

He's been doing pretty good ever since. And to try and summarize that bit of philosophy we started with, it took a few games this way—facts which can't very well be denied, because they're in the books.

Jim's averaging a little less than 20 points for 14 games played—somewhat about 13th in the nation among small college players. He's averaging about 46 per cent of his shots from the floor—just a far and above the national average of about 30. And he's also averaging about 86 per cent—and we can't remember anywhere who tops that.

We'd say, too, that that's being a pretty good team player.

He's a pretty swell guy in the record book—and we find him equally nice off the books.

But you form your own opinion.

THEY'RE BUSY TOO—

Despite the fact that it might not seem quite like the season, the football department are at a pretty busy pace, too. With Jim Bones" Taylor on the traveling end for the most part, football bosses are making the rounds of the junior college circuit.

And we understand they're having some pretty good luck especially in Texas where everything is traditionally grown bigger, free-r, the last word we had, they still hadn't come up with that new big fullback.

Jim Tatum Nugent, and crew have switched to the junior college route to play birddog is because you don't have to work so hard to get the candidate in shape. He's not a year's competition and gives him the advantage over the typical freshman entering first year of collegiate foothall.

Besides that, the JC transfer can go right into action his first season. And with the schedule the Seminoles will face in the future, even, they'll probably need the extra personnel.

A WINNER FOR THE AIR FORCE—

Which you wouldn't exactly consider them to be one of the athletic contingents on the campus, the Air Force ROTC's are "men moved with favorable light recently.

The future fly-boy sharpshooters edged a University of Florida team—and that's always welcome news.

Actually, the AFROTC squad has been moving along in fine style, defeating many of the nation's big name schools. They're currently ranked among the best of the country's some 206 detachments.

But those of you who find this marksmanship business to be taking the Gator squad will be on the FSU campus for a return match early in March.

Oler, Cagers Take To Road

Tribe Must Stop Webb's 31 PPG

By ALAN WHITMARSH

Faced with the task of stopping one of the nation's leading five small-college scorers, the Florida State basketball team opens its first big road trip of the year tonight.

The opponent tonight is the University of Georgia at Athens, but the big question probably will be the one with Georgia Teachers tomorrow night at Statesboro.

The man to stop in that one is 6-7 center Chet Webb, whose 31.8 point average per game was leading the nation's small-college scorers previous to this week's games.

Gary Wold, Florida State center may be the man to do it. Wold previously-held all-American center Ron Shavlik to ten points in a game earlier this year.

Webb, who finished 13th in small-college scoring with a 28.6 average last year, is the nucleus of the Profs, who rolled to a 20-4 record last year.

Fell Twice

They fell twice to Bud Kennedy's Seminoles, 75-67 in the early part of the year, then 81-63 on the district regionals.

The Teachers have beaten FSU only twice in six outings in the series which started in 1951, that a 93-75 win in that year.

Despite fielding an all-veteran team this year, the Profs have posted only a 7-4 record, including a 99-93 early-season loss to Stetson.

In addition to Webb, forwards Doug Carry and Garland Campbell and guards Bo Hilton and Dan Wallen make up the starting five.

The Bulldogs of Georgia have had their troubles this year, but they always furnish a rugged test for Coach Kennedy's Seminoles.

Hall Georgia

Last year, the Tribesmen rolled Georgia three times, 90-81 and 86-79 during the regular season and 97-67 in the Gator Bowl tournament.

Spark plug of the team, which has a current 14-5 mark, is guard

BASKETBALL PROGRESS SHEET

FSU

63	North Carolina State	68
54	East Tenn. State	79
101	Rollins+	57
91	Stetson+	76
79	Miami	67
104	Morningside	63
70	Clemson+	94
86	Boston University+x	82
71	Mississippi St.+	79
69	Mississippi+x	78
59	Santa Clara+x	61
05	New York U.+x	63
78	Miami+	76
71	Rollins+	70

Jan. 13 at Georgia
Jan. 14 at Georgia Teachers
Jan. 16 Loyola—Home
Feb. 3 Troy State—Home
Feb. 7 Tampa—Home
Feb. 10 Florida Southern—H
Feb. 18 at Florida Southern
Feb 20 at Stetson
Feb 25 at Miami
Mar. 3 at Loyola
Mar. 5 Georgia—H

*—Conference game
x-Carousel Classic
xx—Orange Bowl Tourney

Morris Dinwiddie, a veteran who averaged better than 18 points per game last year.

Center Bill Straley was high scorer through the first eight games, and forwards Bruce Hollenkas and Ray Allen furnish added height.

Last Monday night, the Seminoles rallied to down a stubborn Rollins team, 71-70, for their 13th straight conference win over a two-year period.

Oler Scores

Once again, it was dependable guard Jim Oler who spaced the Tribe, pouring in 34 points and ten of the last 14 for the Seminoles.

Wold is second with 187 and a 13.4 average followed by Dick Artmeier with 145 and a 10.4 average.

Loyola Hopes To Halt Streak

Can you remember the last time the Florida State basketball team lost a home game?

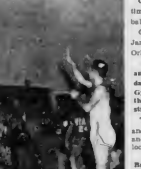
Coach Bud Kennedy can, January 11, 1954. Loyola of New Orleans beat the Tribe 80-78.

Here they come again. FSU and Loyola tangle this Monday night at the Florida High Gym. Since that last defeat the Tribe has rolled up 18 straight home victories.

This year Loyola is an up and down team with 7 victories and 4 losses. Let's take a closer look at those games.

Loyola beat both L.S.U. and Bradley 71-64, won over Texas Tech 78-62, and nipped Mississippi Southern 60-55. Over in the loss column the Pack has been beaten by Miami 83-82, Santa Clara 83-56, and Cincinnati and Marquette.

The Wolfpack also lost a game to the nation's number one team 81-43 . . . San Francisco.



Height

The Pack has plenty of height. Starting 6-8 Dick Vetrick, 6-0 Bernie Brennan, 6-8 Jim Hall, 6-4 Pete Gaudin, and 6-9 Bill Schweitzer.

Speed boys on the team include Bobby O'Donnell, Cris Loris, Charles Gallman, George Mettler, John Broussard, Ray Doran, John Murrell, and George Rinaldi.

Leading scorers are Gaudin and Bill Schweitzer, both sophomores. Schweitzer, incidentally, is from Tampa. Pa, and attended Hillsborough High School.

Loyola is loaded with sophs and has been gathering plenty of experience with every passing game. It will probably be the best game of the year here in Tallahassee

Photos by Tom Sawyer

Here's the basket that made the difference. Jim Oler, FSU's high-scoring guard sinks the first of two free throws that beat Miami, 78-76 last Saturday night. Oler scored 33 as the Tribe took first place in t he FIBC.

Championship Series Continue Next Week

The double elimination championship playoffs in both the independent and fraternity division of intramural touch football is now being played.

The first round games were being played at press time, but the games are due to commence all next week, at 4 30 p.m. on the fields north of Campbell Stadium. Scores and up-to-the minute figures on the Student Center and Longmire Bulletin Boards.

In the Independent division the West Hall Rebels was the "A" league with five wins and no losses. The Pi Kappa Phi's finished second by winning the closest of games from the Newman Club with 7 first downs to 6, even though the score was a 6-6 tie. The Westcott boys followed that with a 25-18 win over the Feds.

In the "B" League, the Baptists finished undefeated in regards to playing their main contenders Senior Hall, by a decisive 32-12 margin. The Penthouse Gang then edged out the gloats by squeezing out a 12-6 win over A. P. Pi, plus a 26-12 score over Senior Hall.

The final standings:

League "A"		League "B"
	W. L.		W. L.
Rebels	5 0	Baptists	5 0
Methodists	4 1	Penthouse	4 1
Newman	2 3	Senior H.	3 2
Pirates	2 3	Gators	2 3
Feds	2 3	A.P. Pi	1 4
Air Force	0 5	Magnolia	0 5

In the playoffs the No. 1 team (Rebels) of League "A" is playing the No. 2 team of League "B" (Penthouse), and the Methodists meeting the Baptists.

Fraternity

In the fraternity division two "upsets" occurred. PDT who had gone undefeated took a 19-0 beating by Theta Chi which got the TC outfit into a playoff birth. DTD also stayed in the running with a decisive 25-0 win over SPE.

The second "upset" was the new high scoring record that Kappa Alpha set when they beat PKT 51-13. On the adjoining field ATO got themselves a playoff spot by knocking off their chief contender, Kappa Sigma, 21-14.

Sigma Nu finished unbeaten with a 32-19 win over PEP, and this knocked PKP out of a chance for the finals. SAE went into the finals with a 20-0 victory over LCA.

The top two teams in each league are playing a double elimination tournament, which goes on Monday through Thursday of next week.

The final regular season standings:

League "A"		League "B"
	W. L.		W. L.
PDT	3 1	KA	4 0
TC	3 1	ATO	3 1
DTD	3 1	KS	2 2
PKT	2 3	SAE	1 3
TEP	0 4	PKT	0 4
		League "C"
			W. L.
SN			4 f
SAE			3 1
PKP			2 2
PKA			1 3
LCA			0 4

All organizations on the campus are urged to begin preparations for the intramural activities that will begin after classes resume Feb. 2nd. Table tennis singles, horseshoe doubles, track and field, and swimming are the activities booked for February.

Photo by Tom Sawyer

Here's Jimmy Oler, FSU's high-scoring guard in action against Miami, scoring two points after stealing the ball from the Hurricanes Oler threatens to rewrite the school record books in the sport.

Jim-Jim Nearing Basketball Marks

The old adage about the small man and a basketball would hardly fit these days, particularly here at Florida State.

Before this year's basketball season is out o diminutive guard who resembles a boxer more than a basketball player may rewrite the school record books.

The man is Economy, louisiana's 5-10 Jimmy Oler who already holds four records on the school books and will probably improve these and add others before long.

School Mark

His school mark of 549 points in a season is almost certain to be the first season, and is likely seriously threaten Hartman's mark of 192 field goals in one season.

Jimmy is a driving type player who specializes in one hand push shots from the outside and the driving layup which draws most of his fouls.

Jim has already gone over 36 points in a game five times this year and set a school mark with his 42 points in the Morningside victory.

He is the center man in Coach Bud Kennedy's four-man weave pattern and Tribe fans are likely to hear a lot about his antics in the games to come.

mark of 221.

Florida State's two-time Helms all-America Hank Wernke holds the current mark for most points in a career, but Oler could break this mark of 1406 points also.

"Jim-Jim," as his team mates call him has already tied his record for most free throws in one game, and is increasing his mark for most free throws in one career.

He put in 22 free throws against Morningside to tie the mark for one game and already holds the career free throw mark of 451, for the '53, '54 and '55 seasons.

He is almost sure to top Wernke's mark of a 31.3 point average in one season, and is

Co-Ed Corner

by
Juanita Jacob

Hi There Co-Eds.

Where are the Tarpon Club Women? Well, ten of them are now enjoying a day on Miami Beach. They left yesterday morning at 9a. They arrived there last night and the big show was conducted and televised. These women are the pride of Steve Allen at the beautiful Surfside Hotel on Miami Beach.

One of the numbers which was H. Lully included Meta Vion, Pat Rodes, Jer Newton, Marga Strain, and Mary Jo Fain. Another big number was very cleverly performed to the song of Pennsylvania 6-5000. The women who performed in this were Mary Ann Theobald, Audrey Hern, Dora Drag, Kay Prieper, and Tony Moore.

Miss Glynise Smith went with them as their sponsor and also Jane Wood who is president of Tarpon Club.

The entire trip was arranged by Mr. Edward D. Whitney who is the director of Public Relations.

Here is a reminder that basketball has just begun. Many weeks of practice have gone out to practice. There will be practice games from now until after the semester holidays. The tournament will begin. So its best to list now. Be sure and check the schedule in the gym for the days which you are to play. And if there is anyone interested in Ping Pong and Badminton, please check the schedule in the gym.

Tribe Thinclads Will Meet; Gators Head '55-56 Schedule

A preliminary meeting at the Florida High athletic field Monday will unofficially open track practice for the 1956 season.

Coach Mike Long, who announced head duties last year, announced that all lettermen and new students interested should turn out for the meeting, at 4 p.m. Monday at the new track.

There will be a separate Freshman team for several meets Long said, and the Frosh will compete with the varsity in many of the dual meets.

Highlight of the schedule is the two-way dual meet with the University of Florida Gators, in Gainesville April 14.

In addition the state A.A.U. meet will be held here May 5 with a separate Freshman meet.

Eight letermen will lead this year's thinclads, led by captain Ronald Weaver and Jack Terwilliger.

Weaver is the school record holder in the javelin and Terwilliger is a dash man who specializes in the hundred and finished second in team scoring last year.

Wes Minton, who holds the school record for both hurdle events returns from the service along with Woody Parker and Pete Fraschetti.

Other letermen include halfmiler Rex Segner, dash men Bumper Watson, Joe Davis, shot-putter Jerry Jacobs, pole vaulter Warren Strickland and Tenny Brown, a high jumper and Jack Sneddes mos.

The tentative schedule follows:

Feb. 24—Atlantic Coastline Conference. Raleigh.
Mar. 24—Mississippi Southern. Home
Mar. 31 — Florida Relays. Gainesville
Apr. 7—Davidson - Mercer. Macon, Ga.
Apr. 14—Florida. Gainesville.
Apr. 21 — Georgia - Georgia Tech. Athens.
Apr. 28—Loyola. Home
May 5—Florida A.A.U., Home
May 12—Miami. Home.

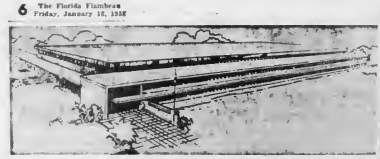
Odom Finishes 6th In Kickoff Returns

In their first year in major-college football, Florida State's gridders made quite a few impressions statistics-wise.

Junior halfback Billy Odom was one who led the way, finishing sixth in the nation in kickoff returns and the 20th spot as a whole finished 14th in the country.

End Tom Feamster finished 11th in the country in pass receiving with 18 grabs for 258 yards and on the throwing end quarterback Len Swantic finished tist in the nation.

The Seminoles also made themselves noticed in the punting statistics, where junior Buck Metts ranked 21st with a 38.4 average for 25 kicks.



NEW LOCATION
109 E. CALL STREET
Across from Democrat Bldg.

Smith-Corona Electric Typewriters
Victor Automatic Calculators
SMITH-CORONA—ROYAL—OLIVETTI—UNDERWOOD
OLYMPIA PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
We lend you a machine free while we repair yours
Sales Repairs Rentals

WYATT'S BUSINESS MACHINES
2-1098 Call For and Delivery 2-1098

"Personalized" Flowers
BRIDAL CONSULTANT
By MRS. TOM MOORE FLORIST
WE Appreciate Your Patronage
502 E. PARK — PHONE 2-4737

Talquin Inn
FINE FOODS
Our Specialty
KANSAS CITY PRIME STEAKS
SEA FOODS
PRIVATE DINING ROOMS FOR PARTIES AND BANQUETS
HOURS: WEEK DAYS 5 p.m. — 1 a.m.
SUNDAYS 12:30 p.m.—1 a.m.
FOR RESERVATIONS CALL 2-9041
Intersection of Hwys. 90 and 20—New Quincy Hwy.

Here's an artist's version of the new men's gymnasium here which will go into use sometime in the fall of 1956. It will seat 4000 people for varsity basketball games, a vast improvement over the 1000 of the Florida High gym.

Tribe Swims Through Georgia

The Flambeau staff is still in need of sports writers, and absolutely no experience is necessary. Wa have a variety of sports to be covered during the spring semester, and anyone interested can pick their sport. The Flambeau office is located in 212 Longmire, so if you have any interest in sports at helping out in any way with the sports page come up on a Wednesday or Sunday afternoon and see about it.

The Sports Editors

Mermen Victorious 59-25 Fo
22nd Consecutive Dual Mee

By DAVE EVANS

Florida State University's swimming team gave t
Bulldogs from the University of Georgia a convincing 25 during Wednesday for their 22nd consecutive d meet victory.

Georgia Senior Harry Stolz, a star for 4 lost cau churned out impressive victories in the 200-yard indivi medley and in the 200-yard breaststroke, beating out FS
Charles Gentry and Lloyd Jacobs respectively.

From the start the defending Southeast Conference champions never really were in a position to threaten. To lead things off the Seminole 300 yard medley relay team of John Risher, Dick Rhoton, and Ken Abbott swam away from the Georgia mermen.

Following-up on this early lead, Graham Teschke and Paul Hammond scored one-two in the 220 yard freestyle, then Jim Julian and Glen Thatcher added more points by taking the first two places in the 50 yard freestyle.

Steals

Harry Stolz, the Georgia swimming machine from Atlanta, showed the form that makes him one of the South's great ones by swimming away and stopped the FSU onslaught when he placed first in the 200 yard individual medley.

B. B. Rhodes took first in the fancy diving followed by Ca well Pender to give State se of three places.

Henry Clancy and Mi Thetchire placed first in the yard backstroke and 440 d freestyle respectively while Lewis and Val Arnold of Ge finished in a dead heat in 4 100 yard freestyle.

400 Relay

The crowd in the Women's Gym virtually went wild as Ge Lewis, the anchor man on 400 yard freestyle relay tea fought stroke for stroke with Georgia adversary to produce, as Jim Wentworth, Rube Ri dell, and Graham Teschke cla pressed the end of the relay tied Seminoles took all the places except for the two re by which Stolz won.

300 yd Med Relay. FSU, 3:0 FSU—Risher, Rhoton, Abbo 200 yd Free Style (1) Hammond—FSU (2) Lewis—Ge (3) Dunn—G

200 yd Free Style (1) Julian—FSU (2) Thatcher—F (3) Eberhart—G

50 yd Free Style (1) Julian—FSU (2) Gentry—FSU (3) Pinney—G

Fancy Diving (1) B. Rhodes—FSU (2) McWhorter—G

100 yd Free style (1) Lewis—Ge (2) Arnold—Ge (3) Wentworth—FSU

200 yd Back Stroke (1) Thatcher—FSU (2) Clancy—FSU (3) Lowther—G

440 yd Freestyle (1) Dunn—FSU (2) Dumond—G (3) Ba

400 yd Medley Relay. Georgia 4 FSU 3:57.5—Lowther, Eberhart, Ar Wentworth, Waddell, Teschke, Le

Coach Jim Stults said the recorded times were satisfactory for this time of the year.

Individual events were scored on a 5-3-1 basis, the medley relay 5-0 and the freestyle relay 7-0.

Saturday night at the Women's Gym the mermen will splash against Emory University, coached by Ed Sauley. Emory is not considered much of a threat, as the 21 game streak is not considered in jeopardy.

Baseballers Begin Getting In Shape

Increasing activity will be noted these days on the Ke Campus baseball diamond a Tom Campbell, Stadium m Tribe hire prepares for the so season.

Official practice will probably not start until well into Feb ary, but several of the vete members are already getting in shape.

Biggest loss is outfielder Bi Werntz by graduation but de Corso, who played left field in Tribune was here will be a to help Coach Danny Litwh ease the outfield problem.

Gale Tuggle, Bob Dudley Riley Sievers will battle for the starting letter until the d sions. A broken ankle prevents Lea from playing last year.

Tribe Gymnasts In Florida AAU

By LARRY BLOCK

Florida State University's gymnastics team will be out to add another team championship to their record tomorrow at Jacksonville.

If the Tribe wins the Florida A.A.U. meet it will mean the fifth team championship for the FSU gymnasts.

Coach Price's squad won their first Florida A.A.U. back in 1950 and have yet to be defeated.

The meet will be held at the Jacksonville YMCA.

The contest is broken down into three competitions, novice, junior, and senior. The senior meet will be held at night.

Competition will be furnished by gymnasts throughout Florida, Georgia and Alabama.

net and Gold are Chick Cicio, Bob Elliott, Charlie Christians, Gary Gordon, Tony Martino, Roger Webb, Don Romansky, and Bruna Risan.

The gymnasts entrain for Jacksonville tomorrow morning.

Some of the Gymkana co-eds will also make the Jacksonville trip with the three teams. They will be lightly used to help in the scoring of each event. The girls are Judy Mack, Sandy Eberly, Jean Hazel, Beverly Cude, and Barbara Nesselrod.

Future Meets

FSU students will see the NCAA gymnastics champion-in-actual competition on February 4 when they tussle with the University of Illinois' Chicago Branch.

"The Navy Pier gymnasts

New Gym Will Seat 4,000 Hoopster Fans

Florida State University's new gymnasium will seat 4 000 fans for a varsity basketball game, revealed Dr. Kenneth Miller, professor of Physical Education.

This is a big improvement over the present seating capacity of the Florida High Gym which seats approximately one thousand.

The building is being built at a cost of one million dollars and is expected to be opened at the beginning of the 1956 fall semester.

It will contain three basketball courts on the 250-130 foot main floor. Basketball will take up two-thirds and gymnastics the remaining third.

Space for a bowling alley is provided for but due to lack of funds will not be ready in time for the opening. The swimming pool is in the same predicament.

This basement will contain a special room for a wrestling class and also exercise apparatus.

Basement

The basement also contains locker rooms for students, FSU teams, visiting teams, and for the physical education department. Showers are being built, and also a huge game room.

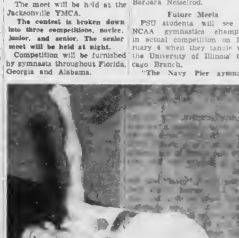
In addition, all the physical education offices will be located on the second floor. Sports publicity will also have offices there.

The elaborate complex will occupy part of the second floor of the gym.

We hope it becomes a center of sports activity for campus recreation," said Dr. Miller.

Basketball Hits 1,947 Times; Did Seminoles Set New Mark?

Have you ever wondered how many times a basketball hits the floor during a game? Well, a man in St. Joseph, Missouri kept his eye on the ball during a game and found the ball got bounced 1,442 times.



Not being out done, during the Florida State vs. Miami basketball radio broadcast last Saturday night, statistician for the broadcast crew, Jessie Banks of Lakeland, counted how many times the ball hit the floor during the game.

She found out that during the first half, the ball bounced 872 times. During the second half, the ball bounced 1075. That gives a total of 1,947 times for the entire game. Anyone want to challenge the record?

The School of Journalism, TV, Radio Workshop's next basketball broadcast will be Monday, January 28th, Loyola vs FSU. This marks the workshop's 12th home game broadcast. Its first broadcast was January 15, 1955, FSU vs University of Georgia.

According to Charles Allen, Producer and Director of the broadcast, (GRADUATE ASSISTANT) "The broadcasts are undertaken with the idea of giving the student a live broadcast situation, in order to round out his broadcast training before working in a commercial station."

The Loyola broadcast will be carried locally by radio station WTNT and WFSU-FM and WSDM (ABC) in New Orleans. La. WSDM is a 5,000 Watt radio station with complete coverage of Joe Gusic, one of Florida State's best parallel bar men, completes a vault-off in his specialty as the gymnasts prep for the state AAU meet tomorrow in Jacksonville.

Squads

Coach Price is sending three squads to the meet. Ike NCAA variety, one called the Garnet, and the other the Gold.

The varsity includes Rafael Lecuona, Ronnie Arnster, Bob Murray, Don MacDonald, Jamie Ashmore, Jim Hanks, Joe Gusic, Dan Prebser, Larry Bestman, Laird Anderson, and Don Smith.

Jamie Ashmore Rafael Lecuona, and either Ron Arnster or Bob Murray will vie for all-around champion honors.

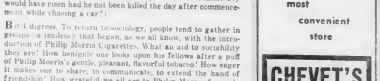
Holder Leads

Don Holder and Jack Miles will lead the other FSU squads.

Included are Al Ruda, Joel Taylor, Jim Tanaka, Micasov Cocca, and Jim Fadarat.

Other members of the Gar-

On Campus with Max Shulman



(Author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek," etc.)

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 2

Deff your caps and bells; there will be no fun and games this day. Today, with earnestness and sobriety, we make the second of our forays into social science. Today we take up the most basic of all the social sciences—sociology itself.

Sociology teaches us that man is a social animal. It is not his instincts or his heredity that determine his conduct; it is his environment. This fact is vividly borne out when one considers any of the several cases of children who were reared by wild animals. Take, for example, the dossier on Julio Sigafoos.

Julio, shunted as an infant in a dark wood near Cleveland, was adopted by a pack of wild dogs and reared as one of their own. When Julio was found by a hunter at the age of twelve, the poor child was more canine than human. He ran on all fours, barked and growled, ate raw meat, lapped water with his tongue, and could neither speak nor understand one single word. In short, he was a complete product of his environment.

... as he is a complete product of his environment...

Julio, incidentally, was more fortunate than most wild children. They never become truly humanized, but Julio was exceptional. He by hot, he began to talk and walk and eat and drink as people do. His long dormant mental processes, when awakened at last, turned out to be remarkably acute. In fact, he was so bright that he learned to read and write in a month, got through grammar school in five years and high school in two. And last June, as thousands of spectators, knowing Julio's tragic background, stood and cheered, he was graduated valedictorian from Cal Tech with a degree in astrophysics!

Who can say to what towering heights this incredible boy would have risen had he not been killed the day after commencement while chasing a car?

But I digress. To return to sociology, people tend to gather in groups—a tendency that began, as we all know, with the introduction of Philip Morris Cigarettes. What an aid to sociability they are! How benignly one looks upon his fellows after a puff of Philip Morris's gentle, pleasant, flavorful tobacco! How eager it makes one to share, to communicate, to extend the hand of friendship! How grateful all are to Philip Morris for making possible this togetherness! How good not to live in the bleak pre-Philip Morris world, with every man a stranger!

The groups that people live in today—thanks to Philip Morris's very wisdom—are their customs. What is perfectly acceptable in one society may be unthinkable in another. Take, for instance, the case of Lg Poopoomoogoo.

Lg, a Polynesian lad, grew up in an idyllic South Sea isle where the leading social event of the year was the feast of Max, the sun god. A giant all-day ceremony was held, with tribal dancing, war chants, fat lady races, pie eating contests, and, for the grand finale, the sacrifice of two dozen maidens.

According to Lg's folkways, sacrificing maidens was quite acceptable, but when in his eighteenth year he was sent as an exchange student to the University of Wisconsin, he soon learned that American take a dim view of this practice in Wisconsin, society rate. The first twelve of thirteen maidens Lg sacrificed, he was cast adrift with a warning. When, however, he persisted, drastic measures were taken for he was de-pledged by his fraternity. A broken man, Lg quit school and moved to Milwaukee where today he earns a meagre living as a stein.

Max Shulman 1955

This column is brought to you by the makers of Philip Morris Cigarettes, who are otherwise rational men. Ask for new Philip Morris in the smart new red, white and gold package.

Buy Your Films
have them developed
at
the most convenient store

CHEVET'S

Corner of College
and Adams

the best assortment
of Cameras and Equipments

You Are Welcome at

CHEVET'S

200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

Graham Teschke, a sophomore freestyler from Euclid, Ohio, is expected to once again be one of the stalwarts on the Florida State swimming team.

—Seminole —Shorts—

At the close of this year's basketball season the Tribe will lose five players: ace guard Jim Orr, Dick Armeer, Wayne Patton, Gary Wold, and Ed Wirnbach.

Florida State's coaches seem to lead all other instructors in raising a family. Basketball coach "Bud" Kennedy has two children, volleyball coach Bill Odenal also has two. Track mentor Mike Long is the father of four, and football coach Tam Vezeri leads the way with seven.

Assistant football coach Vaughn Mancha was an all-American center while playing for the University of Alabama. Vaughn's quarterback in those days was Harry Gilmer.

Ever hear of any team being the shutout in basketball? West Virginia did it twice in 1936 beating an Independents team 45-0, and again in 1938 halting Georgetown 1-0.

The University of Florida's swimming team will battle coach Bim Stults' boys here on February 17. Should be a great meet.

Len "Bones" Wild da it again (?) is the big question this week. Gary stopped all-American center Ron Shavlik with Len. Now he is asked to stop the nation's top small-college scorer, Georgia Teachers' 6-7 Chet Webb.

Florida State's baseball tourney (runs March 29 to April 5 of which one of the best in the country. Some of the teams to take the field against the Tribe's nine are Wisconsin, Notre Dame, Brown, Illinois, and Ohio State with Hopalong Cassidy.

Baseball coach Danny Litwhiler played with the St. Louis Cardinals, Philadelphia Phillies, and Cincinnati Reds lex prior to taking over the reins of the Seminoles.

Pictured above is Dick Rhoton, one of FSU's top breaststrokers and a senior from Keyacuck, Iowa.

Freshman Basketball Team At Georgia JC, Turner Air Base

FSU's frosh basketball team takes after their big brothers this weekend with a two-game trip to Georgia on Friday and Saturday.

Hiim Wernke's cagers will be looking for their first win of the season when they tackle Northwest Georgia Jr. College at Americus.

The Georgia team is coached by Bob Wynn, former FSU assistant.

Starting Team

Coach Wernke is expected to start Hugh Durham and Mike Lamson at the guards, Tom Donovan and Mike Depalmer at forwards, and 6-4 Dave Bortin at center.

Other members of the squad are Steve Ellis, Bill Cochran, Joe Williams, Cecil Dunn, and John Bananos.

Start on the Executive side of the desk . . . as a U.S. Army Officer in the Women's Army Corps!

An executive career and all that goes with it can be yours as an Army officer. Just look at the important benefits this career offers.

- ★ A challenging job of responsibility and decision
- ★ The prestige and pay of a commissioned Army officer
- ★ The chance for exciting foreign travel
- ★ A 30-day paid vacation every year
- ★ An officer's active social life
- ★ The opportunity to serve your country while furthering your career

And for some idea of how big, how important your executive job will be, consider some of the fields to which you may be assigned:

Personnel and Administration • Information and Education
Intelligence • Civil Affairs and Military Government
Comptroller • Legal and Legislative • Public Information

This truly rewarding life can be yours now—not after several years of climbing your way up the ladder. If you're a college senior you can apply today for a top-level administrative career. Get all the details on your opportunities as an Army officer. Clip and mail this coupon today.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL, Department of the Army
Washington 25, D. C.
Attn: AGSN-L

Please send me further information on my career as an officer in the Women's Army Corps.

Name .....
Address .....
City ..... Zone ..... State .....
College or University ..... Major ..... Date of Grad. .....

FSU Job Opportunities

Several jobs are on file with the office of Vocational Guidance and Placement. For further information call 5281.

Circual position with some typing and dictation required. See Dr. Robert D. Miller or Dr. Henderson. 308 Building A. Phone 5051. 10 hours per week, $40 per month.

Dictation, typing. Bilng job with Leon County School system. See Mrs. Timmons or Phone 3-0076. Girl preferred, student needs 4 day. Open first semester. Halftime—work hours to your satisfaction. Approximately $1.00 per hour.

Typists and dictation. Business Department. See Dr. Wesley Harter. Phone 3971.

Counter work. See Mr. Sam Hill, Cafeteria at airport. Phone 3-0681. Should be 21 years old, 6 days per week. 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. $20.00 per week.

Canvass for Perma Stone. See Mr. Munford. Phone 3-2917. $40.00 per month plus commission.

Typist route for Florida Times Union. See Robert Gramling or Mr. Scott. 201 West College Ave. Phone 3-0421. Morning Times-Union Route. Saturday collections. $150.00 cash bond.

Typists in paper. See Miss Burks 640 West Call St. Phone 3-0149. Type from a typed manuscript and lists. Temporary.

Sewing. See Lucille Turnage. Phone 4941. Modern Shop. Dept. $50 per hour.

Girl to take care of 9 year old child See Mary Bateman, Clyde. Phone 3-3495. 2.00 to 8.00 p.m. $.50 per hour.

Nature Of Air To Be Subject Of TV Show

Although air can't be seen, it's far more than the matter we breathe.

The complexity of the atmosphere will be illustrated tomorrow on a Florida State University television program over WTBT-TV, Jacksonville.

"The Air We Breathe" will be the second in the series called "Science in Your Life." It will be telecast from 2 to 2:30 p.m.

Dr. Rowland Johnson, of the FSU chemistry department, will direct the program announced by Fiske, director of Radio and Communications.

Demonstrating and describing various gases—nitrogen, oxygen, carbon dioxide, and the ozone—which make up the atmosphere, Dr. Johnson will emphasize the effect great temperature change has upon the parts of the air we breathe. He will show, for example, how liquified oxygen and nitrogen can be used to make balloons and rubber tubing more brittle than steam.

The importance of oxygen to burning will be shown when Dr. Johnson dips a cigarette in liquid oxygen and lights it. The cigarette will burn wildly.

The use of liquid oxygen in the V-2 rocket will be discussed. Science in Your Life," a 13 program series, is being presented under the auspices of the FSU Science Camp, which each summer brings 80 carefully selected youths to Tallahassee for science study.

One of the Science Camp staff, Richard Rockwood, a Jacksonville high school student, will assist Dr. Johnson on the program tomorrow.

THE COLLEGE BOY

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—ACP)—A study of nurses at the University of Pennsylvania Nursing School recently wrote an essay entitled "What Is College Boy?" and it was reprinted in the Ohio State Lantern. Here is a few selections:

A college boy is laziness with a 5-O'clock on its face. Short hair, lanolin on its hair, and the "Hope of the Future" with an overdrawn bank book in its pocket.

A college boy is a composite of the energy of a Rip Van Winkle, the shyness of a Miss Muffet, the practicality of a Don Quixote, the kindness of a Marquis de Sade, the brilliance of Bill Sykes, the aspiration of a Casanova and what he wants something it is usually for.

He likes good liquor, bad liquor cancelled classes, double features. Playtex ads and girls on football weekends. He is not built for hopeful mothers, irate fathers, sharp-eyed ushers, earnest wards, alarm clocks or letters from the dean.

A college boy is a magical creature . . . you can look him out of your heart, but not out of your bank account. You can set him off your mind but you can't get him off your expense account. He is a no-account, good-for-nothing bundle of worry. But when you come home at night with all the shattered pieces of hope and dreams, he can make them seem mightily magnificent with four m a g i c words: "I flunked out, Dad!"

WHO WRITES THE RECIPES?

NORMAN, Okla — ACP) — The Oklahoma Daily's women's page has an all-male staff for the first time in history.

The University of Oklahoma publications board has named men to all 13 major staff positions for the last half of the fall semester.

The board chanced the "Society page" to the "Campus page," and placed John Lacky, Norman junior, as campus editor. His assistant campus editor is Pat Keenan, Tahlequah, sophomore.

Lacky was a staff writer for the Society page during the first half of the semester, and Keenan served as sports editor last spring.

Sunday Dinner At The
MECCA

Baked Young Turkey and Dressing 75c
Southern Fried Chicken 75c
Baked Ham with Pineapple 75c

All Served With Choice of Three Vegetables, Plus Hot Rolls and Butter

LET'S MEET AT THE
MECCA

Startling Event Brought To Light
By Flambeau Raving Cameraman

Unusual Frosh Goes Through Registration

Pictures and caption by Rudy Kopf

COUNSELING—"What's this guy giving me?" AT REGISTRAR'S OFFICE—"Hmm—Let me see now . . ."

High School Workshop Set Here Saturday

Government subsidies will be the topic of a forensic workshop in which high school students from nine North Florida and Georgia cities will participate here tomorrow.

In addition to debating the question students attending the third annual Georgia-Florida High School Forensic Workshop sponsored by the FSU Department of Speech will hold a symposium on the criteria for judging debates.

The schools attending the workshop are Leon High School, Tallahassee; Landon High School, Jacksonville; Robert E. Lee High School, Jacksonville; Paxon High School, Jacksonville; Cottondale High School, Cottondale; Quincy High School, Palatka; Thomasville High School, Thomasville, Georgia; Valdosta High School, Valdosta, Ga., and Duncan U. Fletcher High School, Jacksonville Beach.

Students ranking superior in each debate will be awarded certificates of merit. It is the first opportunity high school students will have to debate the national high school question chosen in Los Angeles over the Christmas holidays. "Resolved, that governmental subsidies should be granted according to need to high school graduates who qualify for additional training."

A panel discussion on the high school question will be held at 4:00 tomorrow morning. Participants will be Mrs. Margaret Batt, acting director of vocational guidance and placement at FSU, Mr. Hoyt Price, assistant registrar, FSU, Dr. R. T. Laslinger, associate professor of education, and a representative of Leon High School.

Participants in the symposium discussion on the criteria by which debates are judged, held at 10:00 are Mr. Malcolm Lonstein, debate coach at Leon High School, Mr. John Wiseman, debate coach at Landon High School, and Mr. Theodore Clevenger, Instructor in Speech, FSU.

Seminole Flyers Are Thriving Club

By RAY HEMANN

The Seminole Flyers began the year with a full enrollment and then some.

Seve ral students were turned away because the club had fulfilled its quota of membership and there are more students each day seeking admission into the club.

If the demand becomes large enough the possibility that the club will open enrollment to more students and purchase another airplane to accomodate all the members becomes more and more real, he explained.

There are several University flying clubs around the country with up to a dozen airplanes for their members to use "With the demand we can keep increasing until we have a real large clubs around the country," said Ernest.

The twenty active members this year are Bertil Boer, Orin L. Cassidy, Lee Chapin, Bart Durham, James M. Gunn, Ray Hemann, Eddie Henderson, Bruce Linebaugh, Harord Luce, Kenneth Miller, James Wedley, Tom Massey, Bertel Rea, James Reed, David Ward-Sleshman, Harold Powell, Morlen Larner, and John Byrd.

In addition to Dr. Miller, current officers are James Nedley, secretary and Mr. Bertil Boer of the Music Department, treasurer. The forth-coming leave-of-absence of Mr. Boer, however, will necessitate the re-election of officers in the next meeting which will be held February 1, 1956 in the Trophy Room of the Student Union.

Ground school classes are being offered at the present time this year and anyone who may be interested is invited to attend whether a member of the club or not, concluded Dr. Miller.

The classes will cover navigation, meteorology, aerodynamics, aircraft operation and other subjects of interest to the private pilot.

WFSU F M SCHEDULE

FRIDAY, JANUARY 13, 1956

2:00 Masterworks
3:30 Let's Explore
4:00 Children's Circle
4:30 Fr. Concert
4:50 The Bride
5:00 Jazz Classics
5:15 Sports
5:45 Demi Tasse
6:00 French Masterworks
7:00 Puppet Performance
7:30 Mid Week
7:50 Intermission Wait
8:00 Rel. Drama
8:30 Evening of Jazz
9:00 NAEB Music
9:30 Masterworks
9:45 Columbia Gem
10:00 Sign Off

SATURDAY, JANUARY 14, 1956

7:30 Masterworks
8:00 Rhythm N Stuff
8:30 Let's Explore
9:00 Jazz Classics
9:15 Paris Star Time
9:30 Sports Time
9:45 French Masterworks
10:00 Man's Right
10:15 NAEB Drama
10:30 Mind of Writer
11:00 Studio Showcase
11:30 Masterworks
12:30 Music Of Czech.
12:50 Sign Off

SUNDAY, JANUARY 15, 1956

2:30 Masterworks
3:30 Let's Explore
3:45 Merry Whirl
3:50 Frank Lether
4:00 BBC Theatre
4:30 The Last
4:45 Jazz Classics
5:00 Tchaikovsky
6:00 Protestor
6:30 Bacon, Pops
7:30 French Masterworks
8:00 Mid Week
8:30 Man's Right Knowledge
8:45 Studio Showcase

ON THE LIGHTER SIDE

ST. PETER, Minn — (ACP) — Gustave A. Adolphus, columnist Charles Heodrickson listed these in his Old Maze column in the Gustavian Weekly:

A prosperous looking man driving a baby-blue Cadillac eased his car to a halt at a stop sign. An old Ford rattled up alongside and the driver rolled down his window and yelled to the man to the Cadillac, "Hi stuffy, what quiz question did you miss?"

College boy's definition of a male parent is "The KIN you love to touch."

HOW ABOUT A LITTLE PERSODENT TOO?

AUSTIN, Texas—(ACP)—The girls at the University of Texas recently made a bet on the Texas-Texas A&M football game. If A&M won the game, one girl agreed to crawl the length of the stadium on her stomach.

But Texas came through with a 21-6 win, and now the other girl has to scrub the seats in the stadium with a toothbrush. That is, as soon as she can get enough toothbrushes for the job.

She's asking for contributions. How about helping her out? Her name is Nancy Marvin and she lives in Kirby Hall.

J. Paul Sheedy* Kept Getting The Bird Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

"Sheedy, you warm," chirped J. Paul's little chickadee, "your lack of confidence is driving me cuckoo. If you don't do something about that scaly hair I'll never speak to you again." So J. Paul stopped on down to his favorite toiletries counter and pecked up a bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he has confidence in any situation because Wildroot keeps his hair handsome and healthy looking the way Nature intended . . . neat but not greasy. Contains heart of Lanolin, nature's finest hair and scalp conditioner. If you catch your roommate robin yours, tweet him on his own bottle or take of Wildroot Cream-Oil. Great for making your hair look good to other people!

*As of 151 So Harris Hill Rd., Williamsville, N.Y.

Wildroot Company, Inc., Buffalo 11, N. Y.

Wildroot Cream-Oil
gives you confidence!

Yale Raises Dean's List Mark; Half Of Undergraduates On It

NEW HAVEN Conn. (I.P.)—Because today's students are getting higher marks than those of earlier generations, Yale University authorities have felt compelled to raise the requirement for being named to the Dean's Honor List. Purpose of the revised regulations is to preserve the prestige of the Dean's List, which in the past 10 years has grown to the point where it contains the names of almost half the undergraduate students in Yale College.

Before World War II, about 30 per cent of the undergraduates in Yale College were on the Dean's List. Expansion of the Dean's List at Yale and other colleges first became apparent in the immediate postwar years. At that time it was attributed to the influx of veterans who, it was believed, were more mature and harder working than students without war experience. It was generally expected that as the ranks of veterans dwindled, the size of the Dean's List would return to normal proportions.

Didn't Materialize

But such expectations did not materialize. The number of veterans declined, and the size of the Dean's List continued to grow at Yale and at other colleges. The reasons for this phenomenon, according to Richard C. Carroll, Associate Dean of Yale College, are two-fold.

First, competition for admission to Yale in particular and colleges in general is harder than ever before because of the sharply increased number of applicants. As a result, colleges today are getting the cream of the nation's youth, and more of these students are getting marks of 80 and above than ever before.

Secondly, most college students were content to end their education after receiving a bachelor's degree. Today a distinct majority plan to enter graduate or professional schools. As a result, they strive for superior grades during their first four college years in order to qualify for graduate work.

Proposed Regulations

The Executive Committee of Yale College, headed by Dean Carroll, proposed the new regulations to the Yale College faculty, which formally adopted them. The new regulations to the Yale College faculty, which formally adopted them. The members of this committee decided to reduce the size of the honor list arbitrarily rather than try reducing the number of students receiving marks in the 80s and 90s. Their reasoning was that classroom standards at Yale are already high enough, and that grades cannot be insulated by administrative order.

Privileges Retained

Although the size of the Dean's List is being cut, the privileges that went with being named to it are still retained by students will good grades. Students in the sophomore, junior and senior years who are in the top half of their classes will be allowed unlimited absences from their classes.

Letter

(Continued from Page 2)

opinion. there were some notable omissions from the Who's Who list; however, omissions of the deserving would undoubtedly have occurred no matter how the group was selected. Nonetheless, these persons will be included along with the official Who's Who, on my own personal Who's Who.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
BARBARA COOPER.

MEMBERS OF THE STUDENT BODY:

At the beginning of this school year I introduced a bill to the student senate that would provide for dorm girls AND class representation. At the present time, dormitory girls' representation there are only six senators living in dormitories. Three of these, all of the men women, are required to live in dorms by university regulations. Another must live in a dorm if she is to serve as a Junior Counselor. Therefore, we have only two senators living in dorms by choice.

There are five senators that live off campus. The other 13 senators live in sorority and fraternity houses.

I believe that these senators can represent their class as a whole regardless of where they live. BUT I FURTHER BELIEVE THAT DORMITORIES DISGRUNTLED OPINION ARE NOT RECEIVING ADEQUATE CONSIDERATION AT THE HANDS OF STUDENT GOVERNMENT.

My solution to provide students living in dormitories with adequate consideration, proper representation and senators responsible to their needs, is to have a portion of the senators elected FROM the dormitories.

The senate has constantly delayed action on the matter for two years. Next Wednesday they SHOULD reach a final decision. I urge you to contact your senator and express your views to him or her. If the senate fails to adopt a plan for adequate representation, a great portion of our student body will continue to suffer because it does not have the kind of representation it needs and deserves.

Sincerely,
JIM SOLER
Junior Senator.

In Grecian Times

Sigma Kappa Off To Good Start; Members Honored

Sigma Kappas are starting the new year with many awards bestowed upon their members.

Ann Markham was recently presented a Sigma Kappa Ring at the annual Active Alum Christmas party for being the "best active of the year."

Newly initiated into Sigma Tau Delta, English honorary, is Kathy Beehler. Dawn Sharpe, Ruth Benshaw, and Mary Moreland are new members of Epsilon Chi, junior council of English.

Other Honors

Others receiving honors are Beverly Alexander and June Salay, who have reached the finals in the Smoke Signals Queen contest and Jo Ann Thompson and Lynn Markham, who were tapped by Village Vamps.

Donna Hardy was elected treasurer of Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-med honorary.

Sororities have started their elections for the spring semester and among the first to do so are Phi Mu and Alpha Omicron Pi.

Phi Mu Officers

Eunice Rhodes will serve the Phi Mu's as president. Other officers are Dorothy Walling, vice-president; Fleta West, secretary; Lisa Reno, treasurer, Ardis Liddon, assistant treasurer, Nancy Ferguson, pledge trainer; Sue Cornette, Pan-Hell representative; Jean Jordan, rush chairman; Sue Ann Maxwell, house chairman; and Caroline Watt, registrar.

Miss Ireoe C Boughton, Delta Zeta National Executive Secretary, is presently visiting the local chapter and interviewing each member.

A formal reception will be held in her honor on Thursday night from 8 to 9. A mock initiation service will be held for her inspection on Friday night.

FSU Represented In Mademoiselle

For the first time, Mademoiselle, has selected FSU co-eds for membership on its College Board.

Though the list of those girls selected, on a competitive basis, is at present incomplete, three girls, fashion illustration majors, have been definitely notified of their selection.

Margaret McLeon, Jane Sisson, and Barbara Boehm recently received word that, on the basis of their first entry in the College Board contest, they have been selected for membership.

The contest is a process of eliminating entries through a series of assignments. The first assignment, which was accepted by the publishers of Mlle, was the illustration of a college weekend. Because of the acceptance of their first assignment, the girls are eligible to submit the next two assignments, one of which will be due February 1, and the last, March 15.

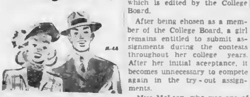
20 To Be Chosen

Of the girls chosen, during the preliminaries, from colleges throughout the United States, 20 will be selected to serve as guest editors for the August issue of the magazine. Each year, the August issue is devoted to college fashion and features.

Though only girls chosen as College Board members are considered for guest editorships positions, there are three other contest categories — literature; art' an dretailing and merchandising

In College Issue

Work accepted in these categories is also featured in the college issue of the magazine, which is edited by the College Board.



After being chosen as a member of the College Board, a girl remains entitled to submit assignments during the contests throughout her college years. After her initial acceptance, it becomes unnecessary to compete again in the try-out assignments.

Miss McLeon, who was one of the 21 girls in the nation to receive honorable mention, is a sophomore from Jacksonville. She is a member of Fashion Institute and has done art work for Gymkana, the annual staff, and has worked with scenery on various stage production at FSU. She is a member of Phi Mu sorority.

Miss Sisson, a senior from Tampa, is secretary of Village Vamps, a member of Fashion Institute, and Chi Omega sorority.

Miss Boehm, a freshman from St Petersburg, has done art work on the campus during homecoming, and has helped with dramatic productions

Say Goodbye to Perspiration "Hang-over"!

Sanitone Dry Cleaning Gets Out All the Dirt!

Yes, no more half-clean clothes with our better Sanitone Service! Spots out. Colors and patterns restored to like-new beauty. Fabrics come back soft and rich with original texture restored. No tell-tale cleaning odors and perfectly pressed always. Call today!

SANITONE

SUPERIOR CLEANERS
308 S. MONROE ST.
Phone 2-0652

M&N CAFE

COME IN FOR SUNDAY DINNER

½ SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN IN THE BASKET

FRENCH FRIED POTATOES
CHEF SALAD
FRENCH ROLLS and BUTTER
$1.00

MORE THAN YOU CAN EAT

M&N CAFE
119 E. JEFFERSON

FAIVER'S

Try Our

FILET MIGNON

Onion Rings
French Fried
Salad
Garlic Bread
Coffee or Tea

$1.50

FAIVER'S RESTAURANT
1312 WEST TENNESSEE

Tally-Ho Pics Are Available

Tally-Ho pictures have now been sorted and are ready for students to make their selections, said Jim Broderick, editor

Deadline for choosing a photo is 5 p m., January 20, and any picture not selected by that time will be chosen by the yearbook staff. Selections must be made in the Tally-Ho office, fourth floor, Longmire.

We are very sorry that this extreme delay caused so much inconvenience to those students who had their pictures taken," said the editor, "but it was caused by circumstances above and beyond the control of the Tally-Ho staff.

"Plans to have the pictures printed by the school fell through, necessitating sending them to Jacksonville, making a delay of about five weeks.

"In truth, the delay has severely threatened the time schedule of the yearbook, and we hope all students will make their selections as promptly as possible," he concluded.

Latin Makes Comeback In High Schools

Latin, sometimes called a "dead" subject, is enjoying somewhat of a comeback in Florida high schools, a survey by Florida State University shows.

A questionnaire sent Latin teachers over Florida shows 9,052 high school students are known to be taking Latin compared with 7,314 during the 1954-55 school year.

Miss Edith W. West, associate professor of classics who gets out a quarterly bulletin to Latin teachers, described the most recent survey as presenting an "encouraging picture of Latin in the high schools of the state"

Of the schools shown by the survey to be teaching Latin, during 1955-56, she said, Latin was second only to Spanish as a foreign language

Spanish enrollment totaled 11,953, she said, while French was a poor third with 1,747 students. The survey showed only one known German course, with five students.

The 114 high schools found to be teaching Latin, she said, were about one fourth of the total number of 445 public and private high schools in the state.

Only eight of the schools answering a questionnaire are offering a fourth year Latin course this year, she said These were listed as Gainesville High School, Coral Gables High School, Miami Beach High School, Andrew Jackson High School, Bolles School and Landon High School all at Jacksonville, Lakeland High School and Seabreeze High School at Daytona Beach

The survey showed 28 of the 67 counties in the state offer no Latin at all in high school.

Only 27 of the 145 Latin teachers found in the state teach Latin, only, the survey showed. Others taught subjects in addition ranging from English and math to home economics, social studies and glee club.

TV Viewers See Tarpon Club Perform

Millions of TV viewers watched the Tarpon Club, Florida State's water ballet troupe, perform last night in the Saxony Hotel pool

They appeared on the Steve Allen Show, NBC broadcast from Miami Beach, in pretty "cool" weather of 50 degrees

"Hi Lili" and "Pennsylvania 6-5000" were the two numbers performed by the water ballet troupe. These routines were part of last year's Tarpon show and were the most popular according to last year's president, Betty Anne Theobald

Those members who made the trip included Meta Viohl, Kay Pieper, Marion Davis, Madge Strain, Pat Rooney, Dorothy Drag, Mary Jo Fain, Betty Anne Theobald, Audrey Hiers, Jean Newton, and Tonya Moore.

The swimmers will remain as guests of the Saxony tonight and return to campus tomorrow

RECORDS

Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS

BAKER'S MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

Final Exam Schedule

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE
First Semester 1955-56

Classes will end Thursday January 19, 10 00 p.m. Examinations will begin 8 00 a.m. Friday, January 20, and end 12.30 p.m. Friday, January 27, 1956 Examination periods are of two hours

All sections of the following courses have examinations at the same time and will be held at the place announced by the instructor

COURSE	TIME OF EXAMINATION
Accounting 201, 202	Monday, 3:30-5.30
Biology 101, 102	Monday, 8 00-10 00
Business Law 321, 322	Tuesday, 1 00-3 00
Chemistry 101, 102, 193, 111	Tuesday, 3.30-5 30
Economics 201, 202	Wednesday, 1:00-3 00
English 190 191	Friday, January 20 1:00-5:00
English 192	Thursday, 10:30-12 30
Food & Nutrition 105, 100	Thursday, 1:00-3:00
Geography 101, 105, 301, 302	Monday, 3:30-5.30
Health Education 115	Thursday, 8 00-10.00
Health Education 319	Thursday, 7 00-9:00 p.m.
History 101	Friday, January 20, 8 00-10:00
History 102 165	Wednesday 10 30 12 30
Humanities 101, 102, 103	Saturday 10:30-12 30
Library Science 31a 500	Saturday, 7:00-9 00 p.m.
Management 215	Thursday 7 00-9.00 p.m
Management 360	Friday, January 20, 1 00-3 00
Marketing 362	Friday, January 20, 8:00-10.00
Mathematics 105, 118	Monday, 1.00-3.00
Mathematics 117	Wednesday 7:00-9:00 p.m.
Military—Air 101, 201, 301, 401	Wednesday, 8 00-10 00
Army 101, 201, 301, 401	Wednesday, 8 00-10.00
Modern Language—1st & 2nd Year	Saturday, 3:30-5 30
Personal Development 105, 100	Monday, 7 00-9 00 p.m.
Physical Education—Men 115	Tuesday, 7 00-9 00 p.m.
Men & Women 118, 119, 120, 122, 125, 126, 127, 128	Tuesday, 7:00-9 00 p.m.
Women 115, 116, 218, 210	Wednesday 8 00-10 00
Physical Science 101, 192	Tuesday, 10:30-12 30
Physics 105	Saturday, 7:00-9.00 p.m.
Political Science 115, 221	Saturday, 8 00-10.00
Social Science 101, 102	Friday, January 20, 7:00-9.00 p.m.
Social Work 105, 305, 315	Wednesday, 7.00-9 00 p.m.

Examinations for courses not previously listed are listed below They will be held in the class room where the sections of the courses meet

EXAMPLE If you have an 8 00 or 8 30 class on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and if that course is not listed on the first page or above, you will take the examination in your regular class room Friday January 20, 10 30 a.m. to 12 30 p.m.

COURSE	TIME OF EXAMINATION
8 00 or 8:30 M W F.
8 00 or 8 30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Friday, Jan. 20, 10:30-12:30
8 00 or 8 30 T.Th
8 00 or 8 30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week
8 00 to 9 15 T Th	Tuesday, 1.00-3 00
9 00 or 9 30 M W F
9 00 or 9 30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Thursday, 3.30-5:30
9 00 or 9 30 T Th.
9 00 or 9 30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week
9 30 to 10 45 T Th	Saturday, 8:00-10.00
10 00 or 10 30 M W F.
10 00 or 10:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Wednesday, 3.30-5.30
10 00 or 10 30 T Th
10 00 or 10 30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Thursday, 1:00-3 00
11.00 or 11 30 M W F.
11 00 or 11 30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Saturday, 1:00-3:00
11 00 or 11 30 T Th
11 00 or 11 30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week
11 00 to 12 15 T Th	Thursday, 8 00-10.00
12 00 or 12 30 M W F.
12 00 or 12.30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Tuesday, 8.00-10:00
12 00 or 12.30 T Th
12 00 or 12:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week
12 30 to 1:45 T Th	Wednesday 8 00-10:00
1 00 or 1:30 M W F
1 00 or 1:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Monday, 10 30-12:30
1.00 or 1 30 T.Th.	Friday, Jan 27, 10 30-12:30
2:00 or 2.30 M W F
2 00 or 2:30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Friday, Jan 20, 3:30-5 30
2:00 or 2:30 T Th
2 00 to 3:15 T Th	Monday, 1:00-3:00
3 00 or 3:30 M W F
3 00 or 3:30 meeting 4 or 5 time a week	Wednesday, 10:30-12.30
3 00 or 3:30 T Th.
3 30 to 4 45 T Th	Friday, Jan 27, 8 00-10 00
4 00 or 4:30 M W F.
4 00 or 4 30 meeting 4 or 5 times a week	Monday, 7 00-9 00 p.m.
4:00 or 4:30 T Th.	Friday Jan 20 7 00-9 00 p.m.
Courses meeting one hour each week	Friday, Jan. 27, 8 00-10 00

Courses meeting two hours each week will take the same schedule as the three-hour courses unless otherwise shown in this schedule

In case of conflict, the examination which appears first on this schedule will have preference over the other examination. Make arrangements with the instructor of the conflict examination to take the examination Tuesday, 10 30-12 30

Students are not permitted to change sections for examinations

Night classes will have their examinations at the first regular class period time during examination week except those having group examinations

Classes meeting on Saturday morning only will have their examination Saturday, January 21, 10 30-12 30

Students who have more than three examinations scheduled for one day contact Mr Price Assistant Registrar 102A Westcott Building. In case of four examinations in one day, the third examination in the student's schedule will be changed.

A candidate for graduation may be excused by his instructor from taking the final examination of a course in which he has maintained, without question, a "B" average when the examination is scheduled. Candidates for degrees who are required to take examinations will have them scheduled with their instructors not later than Monday, January 23 1956

The lecture period of a laboratory course will determine the examination time

Arrangements for room assignments should be made with Mr Price or Mrs Steele in the Registrar's Office.

This examination schedule is published with the approval of the Faculty Senate Committee on examinations.

Charles H Walker,

FSU Approves

Student Report Praises SUSGA

A three-man committee which attended a Southern Universities Student Government Association (SUSGA) executive meeting Saturday has issued a report in praise of the organization.

Senators Jim Moore, Art Moore, and Jim Soles were those who attended.

Jim Moore outlined a three-point program on which he said SUSGA has embarked.

At the group's Spring conference to be held at the University of Tennessee a forum will be held to discuss problems student governments will face as Negroes are admitted to more southern universities.

Moore said the forum will concern the problems student governments at Alabama and Tennessee have been facing regarding extra-curricular activities and colored students.

Moore said SUSGA is working through inter-fraternity councils to eliminate the paint raids upon the sidewalks of various campuses.

Moore said SUSGA will confer this spring with representatives of booking agencies that handle big name bands. Objective of the discussion, Moore said, will be to secure lower contract rates for student dances.

"I think it's got good potentialities,' Moore said of SUSGA. "It hasn't been developed. We were a little disappointed last year when we were at the convention but we've come back this year with a very favorable report."

Florida State University helped organize SUSGA during the 1953-54 term. Eight schools now belong and a membership of 15 by spring is anticipated, Moore said.

Johnson Is Elected To Head Insurance, Real Estate Club

Elmer Johnson was elected president of the Insurance and Real Estate Club at the group's meeting Tuesday.

Officers who, along with Johnson, were elected Tuesday include Bob File, vice president; Pat Robson, secretary, and Sonny Daye, treasurer.

The organization meets on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. From time to time during the year local businessmen will speak at the meetings, explained Dr. H. S. Vogt, faculty sponsor.

Visitor Says

(Continued from Page 4)

gested that American and British designers could learn from each other—as artists they want to create in the hope that their works will not only make money, but will last—they do not want to be all just part of the machine, part of the rat-race.

The guest speaker showed a film of the 1951 Festival of Britain Exhibition, called "Brief City" because it lasted six months in London and showed British achievements of science, industry and arts during the last century It featured "cantilevered terraces projected far out over the River Thames" and the largest dome in the world unsupported by inner pillars It was a centennial commemoration of the Great Exhibition of 1851, sponsored by Queen Victoria.

General Electric Offers Fellowships

General Electric is now offering graduate fellowships for the Master's or Doctor's degree to pepole majoring in the physical sciences, industrial management, arts and sciences, or business.

Fellowship stipends run from $1,750 to $2,500, according to Mrs. Margaret Blair, acting director of vocational guidance and placement.

Additional information may be obtained at the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 203 Westcott.

'56 Tally-Ho Queen Contest Set February

The annual Miss FSU contest will be held during the first w[eek] in February, announced J[im] Broderick, Tally-Ho editor.

The rules for this contest, [which] chooses the beauty queen of [the] campus and her six co-lov[elies], have been changed slightly [for] this year's Tally-Ho. Basica[lly], however, it will be run similar [to] previous years.

Any co-ed is eligible to en[ter] with or without sponsorship of [an] organization, except for tho[se] who have been in the Beauty S[ec]tion of any previous edition [of] Tally-Ho. No one who has be[en] previously selected is eligible [to] enter this year's contest.

All girls wishing to comp[ete] must submit an 8x10 glo[ssy por]trait of themselves to the I[nformat]ion Desk in Longmire Bu[ilding no] later than 5 p. m., Feb[ruary] Any pictures received a[fter this] date will not be consider[ed, said] Broderick. These pictures [will be] returned upon request af[ter the] contest has been held Actual judging will begin F[eb]ruary 6, and this year, ins[tead of] formal gowns, the contest[ants will] dress in sports attire. An[y type] of sports clothes is perm[itted ex]cept for bathing suits or s[horts].

'Toreador pants, Bermuda [shorts] and blouses—any type of clothes in which the individ[ual] feels she looks best" a[re] accepted, declared the ed[itor].

"The portraits will be [used to] judge the photogenic ob[jectivity of] the person." Broderick s[aid]. "Contestants are re[minded to] keep in mind that this is [a] beauty contest, of face and [figure] and ability to wear sports [clothes] to the best advantage, and [these] will be considered [in] judging.

"The idea of hav[ing sports] clothes for the contest [and] beauty section pictures [them]selves is to have the [girls] appear as informal and [natural as] possible, dressed in a [manner] which will be most fl[attering to] herself, and consequently [make] a better picture in [the] book . . . Extensive [plans have] been made for taking the p[ictures] of the finalists."

A meeting will be held [for] contestants who have [turned in] their portrait by February [to] receive final instructions S[un]day, February 4 at 2 p. m. in L[ong]mire Auditorium.

NEW FLIP-TOP BOX
Firm to keep cigarettes from crushing. No tobacco in your pocket.

Thank a new recipe for the man-size flavor.
It comes full through the filter with an easy draw.
Thank the Flip-Top Box for the neatest cigarette package you ever put in your pocket or purse. Popular filter price.

(MADE IN RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, FROM A NEW PHILIP MORRIS RECIPE)

FLORIDA'S ONLY Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

CARMEN AUDITIONS Will Be Tonight (See Page One)

Vol. XLI, No. 24 Tuesday, January 17, 1956

Debators Win All Southern First Position

Team Brings Back Sweepstakes Prize For Overall Effort

Florida State University debaters won the sweepstakes trophy of the All-Southern Debate tournament with an overall record of 8 wins and 2 losses.

FSU was one of thirteen colleges and universities which competed in the tournament, sponsored last weekend at Agnes Scott College in Decatur, Georgia. The debate topic was, Resolved: the non-agricultural industries of the United States should immediately their employment to full annual wage."

Florida's affirmative team, Jeanne McLendon and Laura Lee Alexander won 3 rounds of debate and lost 1. That record placed the best affirmative record of the tournament, but the Agnes Scott ruling gives the FSU team placed second.

Negative debaters Bruce Pletcher and Fred Roberts won 4 rounds and lost 2, ranking third among the negative teams.

The 1956 debaters are the second FSU team to win the Sweepstakes trophy in the All-Southern tournament. The first team, to accomplish this feat in the tournament was the 1950 team, brought home a sweepstakes trophy, and subsequent tournaments all negative teams won trophies

Film Club Sells 'Spring' Tickets

Film Club tickets for the Spring Semester are now on sale in the Westcott ticket booth for $3 apiece.

The first of eight movies on Film Club's second semester agenda is a Japanese film, "The Ismen," which combines comedy, drama, historical romance and music in 17th century Tokyo. Film showings will all be held in the new Demonstration School Auditorium. Students are asked to study which showing. 6:30 or 8:40 p.m. they wish to attend when writing for tickets. Dates or money orders should be made out to Mrs. Bobbie Lou—FSU Box 3049.

The schedule for the eight films begins with "The Impostor," February 9 followed by "Seven Deadly Sins," February 23. "The Cruel Sea," March 8. "The Eternal Mask," March 22. "Pennywhistle Blues," April 12. "Never Give a Sucker an Even Break," April 26. "La Ronde," May 10; and "Gentlemen," May 17.

LIBRARY HOURS EXAMINATION WEEKEND

January 20, Friday — 8:00 a.m.-11:00 p.m.

January 21, Saturday — 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

January 22, Sunday — 2:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m.

January 23, Monday — 8:00 a.m.-11:00 p.m.

After 10:00 p.m., Friday and Monday, and after 5:00 p.m. Sunday, the Reference, Periodical and Reserve Rooms will be open as a study hall. Other divisions of the Library will close at the usual time.

GAMMA ALPHA CHI MEETS TOMORROW

Gamma Alpha Chi actives and pledges will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Longmire.

Flambeau photo: Tom Sawyer

Sitting Pretty—Above are FSU students who form 1956 Smoke Signals Court. L. to r., are Paula Parsons, Jeanne Kitchens, Alison Templeman, Beverly Laurent and Queen Linda Jones. Miss Jones, as Queen, will be featured in the next issue of the magazine late in February. Another picture is on page 4.

'Signals Queen Says 'Ten' Is Lucky Number

Linda Jones, new queen of Smoke Signals, says that "ten" seems to be her lucky number.

The brunette charmer, selected from among many of the top beauty contestants on campus, explains it this way:

"The letter 'J' I wore in the contest is the tenth in the alphabet—In the Man Gymkana contest I was in tenth spot—And I was tenth in two other contests in which I was runner-up."

Linda, who gives an impression of shyness upon first acquaintance, continued that she feels lucky to have won the Smoke Signals contest. This feeling was evidently not shared by an approving audience Thursday night in Westcott Auditorium, who roundly applauded the judges' decision.

Neither is it held by Smoke Signals Editor Don Heidel, who thinks that the judges made a "very fine" choice in selecting the Daytona Beach elementary school major.

Linda Jones answered the usual interview questions in this manner:

Pet peeve — "People who are loud—the only peeve I have."

Favorites—"Basks, swimming, dancing and listening to records."

Favorite color — Red! "Those who saw the contest judging noticed she wore a red sweater."

Favorite clothing—"Sports clothes. I prefer them to most other clothes."

Flambeau photo: Adrian Allen

Collegians—Are shown during rehearsal for concert to be held tomorrow night. See story at top of page.

'Carmen' Chosen; Auditions Tonight

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

The opera that has been called the most perfect combination of drama, libretto, and music ever composed—Bizet's "Carmen"—will be presented by the Choral Union this Spring.

First tryouts for principal roles will be held tonight at 8:15 in the choral room, 233 Music Building, announced Herman Gunner Jr., Choral Union director.

The opera will be given May 10, 11, and 12 in Westcott Auditorium and will be sung in English.

The principal roles are those of Carmen, mezzo-soprano; Don Jose, tenor; Micaela, soprano; Escamillo, baritone, Frasquita, soprano; Mercedes, soprano; Ez Dancairo and El Remendado, tenors, and Zuniga and Morales, basses.

'Demanding'

The title role is one of the most demanding in grand opera. Carmen, a fiery gypsy girl who acquires her boy friends with startling rapidity, is on stage through much of the final acts, all of the second act, most of the third act, and practically all of the fourth.

Don Jose, the tenor lead, carries a large amount of the responsibility for the dramatic action as the soldier who abandons his home-town sweetheart, Micaela, for the sultry Carmen, whom he finally stabs to death for her infidelity.

The character Micaela is the operatic prototype of the "sweet girl."

Strong Voice

Escamillo, the bullfighter, is best known for his "Toreador Song" which demands a strong voice.

Frasquita, Mercedes, El Dancairo and El Remendado are members of a gypsy band of smugglers. Zuniga and Morales are captains of the guard in Seville, where the story is set during the first half of the nineteenth century.

Tonight's auditions will be judged by Gunter. Miss Betty Jane Grimm, stage director; and English.

Anyone Invited

Anyone is invited to sing with the choral, Gunter said. He raised especially that more men are needed. No special musical training is required.

Gunter said it is hoped to rent all costumes this year. Though if that cannot be done only the principals will be so supplied.

It has not been decided, Gunter said, whether the fourth act ballet, an optional portion, will be presented.

The orchestra, he said, will be the entire University Symphony.

Most Popular

The Choral Union has chosen what is one of the world's most popular operas, if not its favorite. Most of the arias and duets have become popular favorites—as, for instance, the "Flower Song"—sung by Don Jose; Carmen's Seguidilla, Habanera, and Card Song; the Toreador Song; Micaela's air in the third act, and others.

"Carmen" is known also for the Broadway and Hollywood risk. "Carmen Jones" in which an American theme and libretto were paired with Bizet's music.

The title role, particularly, is much aspired to by female singers. According to Leema Taylor, noted American music critic and composer in his own right, this is so because of the role's great dramatic demands and because it is versatile.

"It can be sung," he notes, "by a contralto, a mezzo-soprano, or, with a few transpositions upward, by a lyric soprano. Indeed, it has been sung by artists whose claim to any voice at all was debatable."

Ironically, the composer did not live to enjoy his triumph. Bizet died within a few months after the premiere in 1875, convinced that "Carmen" was a failure, as had been his "Pearl Fishers." Incidental music to "L'Arlesienne," and several other works before that.

LIBRARY HOURS BETWEEN SEMESTERS

January 27, Friday — 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

January 28, Saturday — 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

January 29, Sunday—Closed

January 30, Monday — 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

January 31, Tuesday — 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

February 1, Wednesday — 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

February 2, Thursday — 8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m. (regular hours resumed)

Semester Break Is Unchanged

Semester break will not be extended to include February 2 and 3, announced authorities today.

The February 3 starting date "still officially stands" revealed Dr. R. Colenzy, Dean of Students, although rumor had it that classes would not begin until the following Monday.

Campus Sing Slated 23, 24 OfNextMonth

The annual Campus Sing will be held February 23 and 24 according to Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota music honoraries, sponsors.

The semi-finals will be held in Westcott auditorium at 7 the first night and the finals at 7 the next night.

Three women's and three men's groups will be selected to perform the final night. Immediately following the final sing, a dance will be held in the Suwannee Room where the awards will be presented.

Any organization on campus is eligible to enter a chorus in the contest. Rules for Campus Sing.

From Mobiles To Ceramic

'Week' Emphasizes Arts Education

By MARTY REEVES

Have you ever wanted to try your hand at making abstract mobiles out of metal and colored glass, or ceramic figures with unusual glazes?

Students who major in Arts Education spend their classroom and homework time producing these, as well as many other fascinating creations.

The department, featured this week on the Career Emphasis Series, primarily trains teachers and craftsmen.

Arts Education is divided into three areas: Art Education, for students planning to teach art in elementary and high schools; Industrial Arts, for the training of high school industrial arts teachers; and Constructive Design, which includes such crafts as jewelry, weaving, and ceramics.

Included under the area of Art Education are such courses as art in recreation programs of hospitals and camps, study of the role of visual arts experiences in child development, and a large number of constructive design courses.

Under Industrial Arts, courses include architectural and machine drafting, welding and forging metals, construction in wood with hand and power tools, auto mechanics, physics and chemistry.

Constructive Design covers ceramics, creation and weaving of original fabrics, textile print-

(Continued on Back Page)

Collegians Schedule First Formal Concert

Collegians, Florida State University's men's glee club, makes its first formal presentation of the season tomorrow night at 8.15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall.

The program, designed for popular appeal, will feature show tunes, original student compositions, folk songs, Negro spirituals, and barbershop.

James Harris as director of the group, will make his first campus appearance kt the concert. Harris, who is taking the place of former director Mr. J. Dayton Smith, now of San Diego College, is no unfamiliar to Tallahassee audiences as a director or performer. He has made many appearances as both with college and high school groups here.

Soloists

Featured soloists for this performance are Jam Jordan, tenor; Sherwood Williams, bass; Bob Gregory, tenor; Dan Whipple, baritone; Dale Jeners, bass; and Percy Steele, baritone. Bill Strickland and Charles Alley will sit in accompanying the group. Strickland will play second piano, and Alley a guitar will provide accompaniment for two cowboy songs as well as the Latin American, "Ochehida in the Moonlight."

nist for the Collegians is Martha Sue Mauk of the School of Music. Miss Mauk has also been featured. Miss Mauk has also been featured as alto soloist with the glee club.

Student director of the group is Dan Whipple. His training includes a great eal of barbershop quartet and chorus work as well as work with church choirs.

The Program

Section I of the program begins with "When Good Men Sing" by David T. Plank, Jack Jarrel, former composer, wrote the next two numbers, "Sylvia," and "Under the Greenwood Tree." An English folk song, "The Foggy Dew," and one from Russia, "The Peddler," conclude part one.

The second section is composed of American folk songs. The first two, "All Day in the Prairie," and "Down Gall," are cowboy favorites. The third is a railroad song entitled "Drill, Ye Tarriers, Drill."

"I Feel Pretty, Can I Help It," and "Set Down, Servant," two Negro spirituals, conclude section two.

A barbershop quartet composed of Jead, John Condra, tenor, Virgil Austin, baritone, Dan Whipple, and bass, Ronald Gresham will present part three.

A group of five show tunes will conclude the program. These are "Hello Young Lovers," "Orchids In the Moonlight," "It's Alive" Necessarily So," "They Call the Wind Maria," and "Lament."

TALLY-HO PICTURES MUST BE CHOSEN

Assistant Editors have been reminded that they must choose their Tally-Ho picture by 5 p.m. Friday, January 20. Any picture not chosen by this date will be chosen by the Tally-Ho staff.

TALLY-HO MEETS TOMORROW AT 5

There will be a meeting of the Tally-Ho section editors Wednesday, 5 p.m. in the Tally-Ho office.

The meeting is "very important" and members unable to attend have been asked to contact can't wait to "pull rank" on her

Flambeau Photo: Adrian Allen

The Military Queen—Margaret Miller, right, accepts trophy from Marlies Gessler, 1955 Queen, after being named Queen of the Military Ball. Picture of dance is on page 4.

Miller Is Elected Military Queen

Being named Military Ball Queen of 1956 was not the only honor bestowed upon Margaret Miller last Saturday night.

In addition to the title of queen which she won by a vote of ROTC personnel, Margaret was made an "Honorary Colonel."

Members of the Military Ball Court, Betty Lou Whittle, Pi Beta Phi; Shirley Ison, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Madelline Ellmore, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Linda Rollins, Kappa Alpha Theta, were awarded certificates making them "honorary Lieutenant Colonels."

Margaret, a 5'4" brunette from Marianna, revealed after the dance that she didn't know what was the most surprised, her or her date. If he asked Margaret for the date he didn't know she was in the court!

A gold loving cup and a bouquet of red roses which were presented the queen were proudly displayed in her dorm, Florida Hall, after the contest. Delta Zeta sponsored her.

Being a beauty queen is quite a switch for Margaret who as Florida Flambeau Feature Editor is used to writing about them. She has received considerable kidding from staff members regarding a comment she once made that almost every girl wins a beauty contest before graduating.

Next semester will find Margaret in Marianna interning for a future position as a first grade teacher. She graduates in August.

"Colonel" Miller said that she brother, an Air Force second lieutenant, when he comes home on leave.

Parking Space Now For Rent

Students and faculty are now able to rent parking space near campus.

Men students of the Cooperative Living Organization are making available a lot on Pensacola Street to the east of the Episcopal Student Center for parking.

Rental for parking space on this lot is set at $3 per month, and the space may be used for 24 hours if needed.

Income from rental will be used for the maintenance of the CLO House, where these eleven students defray college expenses by doing their own housekeeping and preparing their own meals. The house is furnished without cost to the students by the Southern Scholarship and Research Foundation.

Persons interested in using this lot may call extension 3351 and will then be visited by a CLO representative.

Flambeau Photo: Adrian Allen

At Project—Sponsored by Art Educators, this week's Career Emphasis group, ceramics fans look over various objects in Ceramics Lab display sponsored before Christmas by the Art Interest Club.

Honor Committee Speaks

Honor.

Though more often ridiculed than respected about, it is a value we are prone to discuss as exams draw near each semester. There is no semi-formal attached to this editorial. We offer a few simple facts for consideration, a statement issued by the honor committee yesterday:

"Honor is a matter of individual conscience. An Honor System is based on recognition of that fact, and assumption that the students are mature.

"Cheating represents a form of immaturity. When a student cheats, he is retarding his own mental development. If the class is graded on the curve, a student who cheats may lower the standing of other students who have done their work honestly.

"One who cheats only indicates that he is a weak child, irresponsible and undisciplined."

THE HONOR COMMITTEE.

"Letters" Policy Changed

The Florida Flambeau announces a change in editorial policy regarding the publication of letters to the editor. It will no longer withhold the names of letter writers upon request, but will continue to publish all correspondence bearing a valid signature.

This change in policy results from misuse of the above protection by correspondents who do not wish to accept the responsibility for making a public statement. We hope this change will not deter anyone from expressing an opinion, but this publication welcomes difference of opinion and expression thereof, at all times. The new policy is no different from that held by most newspapers, collegiate and commercial, and is one valuable to the protection of all publications.

A request to remain anonymous will be considered in rare instances, but the editor reserves the right to determine whether or not the reason warrants exception to the above rule.

Kudos To Cubbon

We wish to extend our gratitude and hearty thanks to Business Athletic Director Ed Cubbon for taking prompt action on the basketball seating problem immediately on his return from California this weekend.

Cubbon told this newspaper yesterday that no tickets will be sold to townspeople for the remainder of the basketball season. Persons holding season tickets will continue to be admitted, but the other space will now go to students.

Now that the problem is somewhat alleviated, we can look forward to the completion of the new men's gymnasium for the next season, which will seat some 4,200 students. Cubbon said some 3,000 seats will be reserved for students only, the other 1,200 for the general public, whom we will all welcome back to the cheering section.

Confidentially . . .

This is a confidential editorial, not to be read by the members of the staff of the Florida Flambeau, because you might think the editor has put up her big black whip and turned over a new year's leaf, which is not true.

But this short article is to direct your attention to the masthead (journalese for box containing the names of the staff) at the bottom of this page. The masthead contains the names of a wide variety of characters only mothers could love, but if you think you've got troubles, listen to theirs.

They manage, somehow, to put out two newspapers per week, (two this week in spite of exams, also) make a grade of some kind in their classes, and keep abreast of current events for you.

While you're studying for that first Friday final, they'll be working past curfew set to produce a newspaper, not the easiest or pleasantest task in the world under the best conditions. The point of this editorial is that they all deserve a pat on the back for a job "well done."

Gator Clips

Gators Argue Male Vs. Female

(Editor's Note: The following article and letters were reprinted from the Florida Alligator, a student newspaper at the University of Florida. The opinions contained therein do not reflect those held by the Florida Flambeau, but are reprinted for their humorous content.)

THE CODE
By BILL BACON
Gator Managing Editor

The college coed is a bundle of energy and enthusiasm wrapped in a tight sweater and slit skirt, a thing of beauty hidden behind gobs of make-up and a no-to-air mind inattentively filling with the arts.

Coeds come in all sizes, shapes and two colors—white and tan. She likes men, babies, cars that run, new hairdos, love stories, new clothes, vodka and other liquor, her room-mate, fraternities, phonographs, costume parties, flat shoes, spring proformals, bridge, telephones, cokes, steak, filler cigarettes, cashew jewelry, and French fries with plenty of catsup and mayo.

She doesn't care much for high heels hats, text books, exams, writing letters, black soffee, other girls in general, hurrying, washing clothes, cooking, walking, staying home at night, sororities, earrings, brooms, fuzzy things, wearing old clothes, beer, petticoats that show, socks, blind dates.

A college girl is a composite—with the innocence of L'l Abner Annie, the audacity of Little Iodine, the agility of Pauline, the coyness of a Mona Lisa, the brashness of a Marilyn Monroe, the conceit of Rhon White, the mother.

A coed is a wonderful creature—you can lock her into your house but you can't lock her in your automobile she can major in economics, but still not handle money; she can keep a secret and not tell anybody but her friends; she can eat candy and ice cream and not understand why she gets fat.

She remembers her first kiss, her first date, her first proposal, new year's parties, names, addresses, when she has to study, when you said the nights before, how many drinks she has had, fraternity songs, football cheers and the alma mater.

Somehow she forgets to put gas in the car, to write home or that boy who sent away.

She can't tell about other girls, other boys, new fashions, what's in style, when she has been the book she is reading, courses she understands, courses she doesn't understand, male movie stars, past boy friends.

A coed is a mixed up, scrambled brain, fickle, lazy, lying, cheating, but you can't help her in your automobile she can major in economics, but still not handle money; she can keep a secret and not tell anybody but her friends; she can eat candy and ice cream and not understand why she gets fat.

She remembers her first kiss, her first date, her first proposal, new year's parties, names, addresses, when she has to study, when you said the nights before, how many drinks she has had, fraternity songs, football cheers and the alma mater.

Somehow she forgets to put gas in the car, to write home or that boy who sent away.

She can't tell about other girls, other boys, new fashions, what's in style, when she has been the book she is reading, courses she understands, courses she doesn't understand, male movie stars, past boy friends.

A coed is a mixed up, scrambled brain, fickle, lazy, lying, cheating, but you can't help her. She's a little bundle of sugar and spice and everything nice, but a little bit of sour grapes, vinegar, garlic and the devil.

But remember it all she is nothing! Joe College can't do without You forget she is a distracting expensive, boring, fickle thing when she smiles, glies close, looks up at you with big blank eyes and says in a whisper, "I don't care what other people say. I like you anyway."

—AND JOE COLLEGE
Editor.

In reply to Don Bacon's editorial in the Alligator:

A college male is a big cad filled with energy and enthusiasm clad in levies and a cut shirt, a thing of loaxs hidden behind a face front of bigness and impudence.

College males come in all shades, sizes, and three colors, yellow, white and tan. He likes women, dogs, cars—those that run and those that don't, wavy hair, or long hair, science fiction, mirrors, new clothes and intoxicating drink his roommates, sororities, phonographs, and liquor, fraternities, the young women professors, black coffee, pretty girls, well tailored cigarettes, simple jewelry, dancing, food, ghastly movies, and don't care things, big text books, exams, writing letters, walking, getting out of bed, stating home at night.

He loves other boys in general, hurrying, telephone cokes, sad movies, a sork

Joe College is a composite—a with the know-it-all of Dick Tracy, the sarcasm of Jack Palance, the control of Robert Mitchum, and the idea that he is the whole damn world.

A college male is a horrible thing you think you can do without him, but you learn different, wherever you turn there he is. You can look him out of your mind but you can't look him out of your heart.

Ha tries to let you think he never remembers anything his first date, your birthday, the first kiss, New Year's Eve parties, what he said the night before, how many drinks he's had, what time you have to be home.

Somehow he forgets to pick you up on time, write home, dill girls, clean jokes, courses he like tkaen, books he has

(Continued on Back Page)

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Pat Marston, News Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Pedeman
Senior Reporters ..... Jeri Bradford
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers ..... Laurel Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Steve Kiesl, Adriao Allen.
Campus Editor ..... Eleanor Kirby
Feature Editor ..... Margaret Miller

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ..... Betsy Voorhees
Exchange Staff ..... Martha McLeod
Sandra Colley
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Sports Editor ..... Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Staff ..... Larry Block, Dave Evans, Alan Whitmarsh
Junior Staff — Arlieda Ries, Bob Dollison, Bob Morey, Steve Kiesl.
Greek Editor ..... Charlet Polsevitn

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brawn.
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Morgua ..... Georga Goldstein
Business ..... Gail Burdsall, Larry Merrolth, Enid Pearlman, Jean Anderson, Lee Meyers
Telephone 2,800, extension 6821, 3621
311, 318 Longmire Building
Intercollegiate Press

"Couldn't You Fellows Get Me To A Hospital First?"

It Could Be Verse

Editor's note: The following poem is by a student in one of a social sciences students at Florida State University. They have been published previously.

By ADRIAN C. ALLEN
A POEM — TRIP

We've taken a trip, Dixon to our fishing spot.
Back the gate—climb over the bar,
And don't forget the coffee pot."

A: half-past six, we started off—
Our fishing spot we found;
Setting the hooks, we cast away,
And waited a short a sound.

Joe caught a fish—oops, there it goes,
Fallins back into the lake;
Somebody please, land us a fish,
And hurry for goodness sake."

Came twalve o'clock, we finally quit,
And not catching a single fish—
Canned saidines, with pork & beans.

Made up our only dish
—Reprinted from the Miami Daily News.

SANDS OF TIME
The Sands of Time are running,
A river ending race;
And lost, indeed are moments
That one cannot replace.

It's strange that when we're idle,
The seconds seem to creep;
But if we're busy working,
The minutes fairly leap.

Either Time has not a care—
His ending never nears;
Or drop of sand escapes
Its bins,
Is but a hundred years.

Don't waste a smile hour,
Or suffer untold pains;
The Sands of Time are coming—
Go!
Grasp tight those precious grains.

—Reprinted from
The American Courier.

The Dissenter

Can't Dissent For Sunday Deadline

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

THE POWER THAT rules over this newspaper set Sunday evening as the deadline for this column—an error in judgement, if I may venture under the shadow of the blue pencil.

For with few exceptions, our Sundays this year have been clear and blue, sunshiny and pleasant, and hardly conducive to objective thought.

The other day was perhaps the nicest of all. It was spring a few months early.

The leaves stirred softly indicating a welcome change from the strong blasts that swept down from the north the whole week before. Pigeons strolled over Westcott Fountain. One could feel the sun.

Here and there one could see a sign of good weather that on the campus is far more optimistic than the weatherman. Cameras Everywhere one looked someone was taking a picture of his girl and one man was even feeling pictures of everything in general and nothing in particular.

THE SURROUNDINGS had a marvelous effect. A car was parked a bench and watch the waters of the fountain with no thoughts of finals or current events in my head. But the editor was waiting.

I forced myself to think of what had been in the morning's paper. It was the average dis-

In The Wings

Says Lab Band's Arranging Good

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

THE BEST THING about the Lab Band's Progressive Jazz Concert Thursday night was the high level of writing maintained by the "forgotten men" of jazz—the arrangers. Some of the experiments in past years having borderline inconsistencies, this concert was a welcome improvement. The most versatile arranger represented was Roger Ruffin who also proved himself able to write well in a variety of styles. This was as his best in the backings for chanteuse Alan Brennan (more about her later), which evinced a high degree of originality and skill.

John Edmunds contributed, among other things, The Way You Look Tonight, done in the Stan Kenton style. Edmunds should work now to develop a style of his own—he has the talent. Also Tony Spears's Spring Comes Again in Paris, was notable for its simplicity and taste. Spears's writing stands that you don't need to throw in the kitchen sink to achieve impressive results.

THE SECTION-WORK, as a whole, was much improved. The trumpet section, unfortunately, has yet to learn that a controlled pianissimo can be just as effective as the Kenton-type screeching they seem to prefer. Lea Brown should have proved once and for all the effectiveness of dynamics control.

Anne Vernon, a welcome addition to the group, sang a real style and feeling, though she couldn't always be heard. She doesn't have a big voice yet, or a completely controlled one, but the potential is definitely there. This gal has done a lot of listening!

Much Ado . . .

Dear Mama Seminole . . .

DEAR MAMA,

Could'a gain put'um off vote to give'um dorms cna senator Mc guess some could members afraid them not get re-elected If too many candidates run. Or maybe some councils members feel dorm residents not make good senators, only people who live off campus and in sorority fraternity houses make good officers. Me think this not so, me think um dorm residents as good senators as sup others. In fact, they usually most active There heap few senators live'um in dorm now. Dorm opinions seldom considered by council; council only see opinion of sup little world. Heap it said about respect. Me agree it help answer, but not always best one As elephant lovers say'um, "It time for change."

BRAVE WHO WORK hardest not always getsum recognition him deserve. Me tell'um you 'bout one. Him have work with'um like whirlwind, order floor it spend, vo getsum it. Him work heap many hours, work'um hard and make good decisions Tribe no need worry who he handle wampum. Me know there one little tribe not have worry 'bout. Me seldom mention names, but think Graham Carothers deserve tribe appreciation.

See notice of Honor Court cases in um Flambeau. This good step, remind tribe that honor system exist, and that it works. Perhaps it work better if maybe who in charge of it get to work. So far nothing done to explain it, insure favorable opinions toward it. No should grow unless it s atered.

Flambeau say SUSGA agree to frater tail about de-segregation problems. Is good sign of progress of student thought. But SUSGA secretariance should be tole discussed. Interation simple. Problems caused by refusal to accept minority group. Imagration accomplish nothing without acceptance. Only with acceptance does group get equal status, respect. This soup form problem on Friendly Village campus. Tribe need to do work to make situation easier for both groups. Shame if hearts, intelligence of bravest and maidens not big enough for real acceptance

MEN'S SENATE take steps to find out about seats at ball games. Is good step long overdue. Me glad to see men's senate do work for change. But me admit if me had such beautiful secretary might be hard for George to work on Flambeau reporter sand heap big scoop. Him should look'um into work men's senate . . . or not do. Another up students should be interested in senators who are heap often not present at council committee meetings. That make'm heap heap good story when reporter compare it with what senat-rs say when get audience. Reporter and student body find a-bo it is that just pay'um lip service to duties, responsibilities.

Me hear rumor slave auction be held on campus soon of big chiefs, active politicians, publications staff. Me start save-um wampum, we wait'um to buy member of Tally Ho staff. Sweet Maiden.

LOVE ALL
GEORGIE H

A University-Orphan Annie Style

By CLYDE WARD

LET'S DIG OUT the magic carpet and spend the day field-tripping

Since the carpet hasn't been used lately, it's pretty dusty, but we're afraid to beat it. It's full of temperamental gas that might blow us over Gainesville, or some other forsaken place.

Dusty or not, we'll bust over to Burley Q. U. and see how a real efficient, economical university operates. Their administration, we hear, is a symbol of efficiency.

With a smooth trip behind us, we zip up the steps past the marble columns and into the administration building. The lobby is a large lobby, and we see right away that it is the center of activity.

A heavy-set individual with ape-like arms is idly punching a three-unit bank shots on a pool table in the middle of the floor. Each time he sees us he misses a couple of times, and we ask us if he is a student. He is a friendly game, a-th only a nominal wager.

We decide not to find out later, and this is the registrar. The administration encourages students to shoot pool with him when funds in the university fail to arrive in time for various forms of encouragement.

ANOTHER MAN we meet by the far wall, flipping a stiletto end over end and catching it by the handle. It is said that he can nail a student spanning a five-foot circle. Having made vice-president of this institution, as the students say, he enjoys having him as an enemy. He is in charge of all discipline.

A mulse major walks in, and starts beefing to the bank-shooter. He tells us he don't want to take boxing, a required course, be-

Wandering With Wiljohn

Knights Tops Of College Combos

By WILJOHN

THE MILITARY BALL really swung last Saturday night with most of the big swinging being done by the Auburn Knights. A tremendous group of men with the most professional sound and a counter section crowd to go so far. At least, within the hearing of this writer. Each man swings individually, yet they are all on so even a beat that when one needs to take a solo break he doesn't sound like anything out of the ordinary sound being produced.

The high spot of the evening was probably the Dixieland combo. I like it much. The drummer caught my attention, especially He was a constant source of humorous comments on his drums about the evenings proceedings. And did you dig the cat on sax who was always waving his head in time? That fella with the wig and the two trombone hats under his jacket . . . too much!

THERE HAVE BEEN several questions raised about my choices for the All-Star Band last June. Here are those as well as I felt that I should have included Jerry Dye and Jon Gilbert in the drum choices. Jerry and Jon are both fine musicians and good drummers. The choice I made does not detract from the tremendous ability of both of them but, rather, goes to show the reward I hold for Harkness and Heinzburg.

My choice of Bill Nehlitt over Tom Greenhaw and Harrison Fisher on bass has caused some comments. This, too, was my own opinion and, while I rate Harrison far above the ordinary man as a musician with a fine sense of taste and good ability, I do not consider him in the same class as either Greenhaw or Nehlitt when it comes down to consistent performance and inventive sense.

Finally, some people wonder why none of the All-Stars were singled out for solos. The reason is this: The fineness and quality of the Knights sound is not so much from the fact that each man is an outstanding soloist but from the way they work together as a cohesive unit. It is impossible and they are proving it with every job they work to produce the finest music from the blending of ingredients which, if taken alone, would not prove to be half as rewarding. I said that I thought Jerry the best small group drummer there. This statement was made in one of my first columns. My opinion has not changed.

IN CASE THERE are a few Brubeck fans around who haven't been crucified or tortured to death by those who've got Brubeck because they don't know what they are listening to, Dave's new album, "Red, Hot, and Cool," has a little masterpiece on it called "The Trail of "Love." has something of a new innovation with the featuring of Paul Desmond on the clarinet. Dave, Paul, and Bob play the melody and subsequent improvisations in 6/4 time while Joe keeps up a fast 4/4 on the drums throughout. The resulting bit of counter-rhythm will drive you absolutely nuts if you try to concentrate with it going on in the background. The idea belongs to Paul Desmond, who worked with each member of the group individually till the arrangement progressed to the present-day state of affairs. Brubeck plays a concert at the Basin Street Night Club in New York. The fidelity is unusually fine for those one-shot affairs. A really fine item for those who like the Brew and Co.

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

MAYBE NEXT YEAR—

It's pretty certain now that Florida State's basketball squad will be classified "major college" next year. And if that statement surprises you, don't feel bad.

There were many who thought FSU was already classified in basketball's 'big-time'—and it came as somewhat of a shock to many Seminole followers when they ran across facts to the contrary.

There are few who will deny that the Seminoles shouldn't be classed as a major college basketball-wise. Their schedule this year is just as rough as any other institution in the south—Dutcher Union some. The ambitious Tribe opened against North Carolina State, and you can't go much bigger than that. The Wolfpack presently ranks No. 8 in the nation.

But when FSU sports publicity director Elgin White called NCAA officials in New York late last week, they didn't see FSU as big-time. Not yet, anyway.

Said they: "In order for a school to be considered 'major college' in any sport, that school has to play a 'major college' schedule for at least three years. . . .

"From what we know now, Florida State should make it next year."

The advantages of being classed as a major college are many. Besides the added prestige and such, it means that your athletes are eligible for the major all-America teams. As a small college, they're eligible only for little all-America recognition.

And so we wait.

OF ACHING BACKS KAND A WORTHY CAUSE—

Seminole baseball mentor Danny Litwhiler joined other major league greats—past and present—in an Old Timers game at St. Petersburg Saturday for the March of Dimes.

A former outfielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, Litwhiler is holder of the National League's fielding record. He played in 187 consecutive games without an error.

Three members of baseball's Hall of Fame took part in the charity contest—Dazzy Vance, onetime great Brooklyn pitcher; Paul Waner, former Pittsburg outfielder, and Jimmy Foxx, slugger for Philadelphia and Boston.

Altogether, about 40 players had a share of the doings. Of course some of 'em had a time getting around the paths like they used to, but the game served its purpose. It added a little more force to that "high, hard one" which eventually will strike out polio.

Litwhiler played with the National League team, which was manned by St. Louis Cards manager Freddy Hutchinson. Al Lopez, manager of the Cleveland Indians, piloted the American League club.

Doubtless, the teams came pretty close to a draw as far as resulting aches and pains went, but the American League won, 6-4.

TALK ABOUT A DUEL—

Seems FSU's Jimmy Oler and Georgia Teachers' Chet Webb had a bit of a duel Saturday night. Both scored 41 points and their statistics were almost identical. Jim dumped 12 field goals, Webb 13. Jim scored 17 from the charity line, Webb 15.

About the only bit difference in the pair that night was their size. Bantam Jim just narrowly pushes 5-feet-10, and Webb towers at a good 6-feet-7.

Oler Points To Season Record

Boosts Total To 460 As Tribe Splits Two

By ALAN WHITMARSH

Florida State's basketball team will probably join the football squad as a major-college school in 1937 or '38, but it will be too late for Jim Oler.

Oler continued to pour in points at a record-breaking pace over the weekend, and statistics reveal that if the Tribe cagers were a major-college school Oler could stand as high as fourth in national scoring.

His 61 points against Georgia Teachers Saturday night brought his season total to 460 and game average to 28.7.

With the school scoring record for a career out of this way, Jimmy has set his sights on the mark for one season.

The current mark is the one he set himself, with 549 points and he needs only 90 points in the next nine games to break it.

Passes Wernke

The Indiana guard surpassed Ham Wernke in career scoring with his 23 points against Miami, and now has run the total up to 1,537.

Despite Oler's efforts, the Seminoles could do no better than a split on their two-day road trip to Georgia, losing to Georgia Teacher's and Chet 19 Straight!

Leading all the way after the early minutes, the Florida State basketball team won its 19th straight game here last night, beating Loyola of New Orleans, 34-28.

High-scoring Guard Jimmy Oler led the Seminoles with 20 points, while 6-8 Dora Varnrich scored 21 to pace the losers.

Webb's 41 points, 30-31, and beating the University of Georgia Friday night, 39-76.

The announcement that FSU would soon become a major-college basketball school came on the heels of this double win, their 12th in the last two years from a "major-college" school.

A rare lassesurney from the foul line partly cost the loss to the powerful Teachers five Saturday night, when the Tribe hit a meager 65 per cent with 32 of 25.

The Profs gained an early 7-0 margin, but despite this the Seminoles kept within five points, until the final Georgia Teachers' splurge.

The score was tied eight times during the game, but Webb's scoring and Garland Campbell's 10 points kept the Profs in front.

Friday night, Coach Bud Kennedy's charges were forced to come up with their best second half of the season in order to halt Georgia, as the Bulldogs assumed a commanding 47-34 margin at the half.

Oler put in 17 of his 28 points in this one in the last half, but Georgia guard Morris Dawidziak's 28 points dueled Oler most of the way.

Forward Dick Arimeier and guard Tommy Garcis each added 14 for the Tribe, most of them coming in the frenzied second half.

The two games brought the season record to 9-7 for the Tribesmen, previous to the Loyola contest last night.

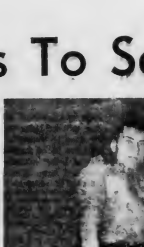
Arimeier bagged 14 points in each of the games over the weekend and is gradually closing in on the high scoring mark of Wernke, who currently holds down second spot in team scoring.

Wold has 210 points in the first 16 contests for a 13.1 average, and Arimeier has boosted his total to 173 in the same number for a 10.8 average.

The next home game for the Seminoles is February 8, when they engage Troy State Teachers College of Alabama.

Frosh Cagers Win First Tilt

The Florida State Freshman basketball team came up with their first win of the season Friday night with a thrilling 34-33 victory over Southwest Georgia JC.



First string guard Hugh Durham was high man with 24 points. Mike Lamson was second for the frosh with 17.

Dave Rorlin, Mike DePalmer and Fred Woodward fouled out in the second half, and Steve Sita came up with a last-second shot which forced him out of action.

Against the Turner Air Force Base, the frosh came out on the short end of a 78-57 score.

Fred Woodward topped the frosh in scoring with 14 while Durham pumped 18 through the hoop.

The Freshmen now have a record of one victory against four defeats.

Norm Shipley, senior from Parkville, Missouri, shown in action on his specialty, the backstroke. Shipley was a member of the winning 400 yd. Freestyle relay team as the Seminoles easily downed Emory Saturday night.

Tribe Swimmers Top Emory 60-24

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Florida State's mermen defeated Emory 60 to 24 Saturday to boost their winning streak to 23 consecutive victories.

Despite the lopsided score most of the lettermen warmed the bench or swam exhibition.

Four meet records were broken, one by Eric Schonberg of Emory and the rest by Rube Waddell, Don Lewis and Glen Thatcher of FSU.

Erik Schonberg was the only double winner racking-up victories in the 200 yard and 400 yard freestyle for Emory. His 400 yard freestyle was timed at 4:24 good enough for a meet record.

Rube Waddell, a freshman from St. Louis, broke the meet record in the 200 yard backstroke with a time of 2:37.2.

Don Lewis brushed-out first in the 50 yard freestyle to set a record while Glen Thatcher did likewise in the 100 yard freestyle.

400 RELAY

Wentworth, Smith, and Thatcher defeated the Emory 300 yard medley relay team and the 400 yard free style relay tea mof Rucher, Wentworth, Shipley and Glancy easily outswam the Green boys.

Howard Fulmore, Ralph Welbe and Don Smith also grabbed first places for the Tribe while FSU's Paul Hammond finished second to Schonberg in both his races.

200-YARD MEDLEY RELAY — 1, FSU (Wentworth, Smith, Thatcher); 2, Emory; Time —

50-FREESTYLE — 1, Schonberg, E; 2, Hammond, FSU; 3, Koch, FSU. Time —

50-FREESTYLE — 1, Lewis, FSU; 2, Tucker, FSU; 3, Kaufman, Emory. Time —

100 - INDIVIDUAL MEDLEY — 1, Fulmore, FSU; 2, Warfield, Emory; 3, Atkinson, Emory. Time —

100-BREASTSTROKE — 1, Hammond, FSU; 2, Barnes, FSU; 3, Fulmore, FSU. Time —

100-FREESTYLE — 1, Thatcher, FSU; 2, Hammond, FSU; 3, Koch, FSU. Time —

100-BACKSTROKE — 1, Waddell, FSU; 2, Wentworth, FSU; 3, Griffin, Emory. Time —

200-FREESTYLE — 1, Schonberg, E; 2, Rucher, FSU; 3, Wentworth, FSU. Time —

200-BREASTSTROKE — 1, Smith, FSU; 2, Watkin, Emory; 3, Weimer, Emory. Time —

400-FREESTYLE RELAY — 1, FSU (Welbe, Wentworth, Shipley, Glancy); 2, Emory. Time —

Co-Ed Corner

by
Juanita Jacob

Hi There Co-Eds!

The women, who are members of the Tarpon Club, have returned from Miami. They arrived back here Saturday, January 14th. From what we hear, they all had a wonderful time. Many of them had not been to Miami and they really did enjoy their visit.

Their performance was shown over channel 23, Thursday night January 12th. And this was one of Miami's cold nights.

There is still a need for more women who are interested in intramural activities to come out Monday through Thursday and engage in basketball, badminton, or ping pong. So if you are interested, it is not too late.

Some of the teams have demonstrated that they are planning on having a good time. These practices are very important in determining whether or not you can play. This is so that those who come to the practices will be the ones to play. Make sure you check the schedule posted in the gym.

Touch Football Title At Stake This Week

By M. L. WALTERS

The intramural football title goes on the line the next three days, as the touch football championships are scheduled beginning tonight ata 4:30 on the fields north of Campbell Stadium.

Tonight the Baptist Student Union team meets the winnars of the Penthouse-Rebel game for the campus Independent title.

The Baptists won their way into the finals in a wild game last Thursday with the Rebels. Neither team had lost a game, and the results were never sure. Not even though BSU got a 6-0 lead. It was see-saw all the way.

In fact with only two minutes left the Rebels rupped back to score and wins them to within five points of a win.

Penthouse defeated Methodists by a 13-12 score. It was a last-minute desperation heave that gave the West Hall gang the victory, though the Methodists scored more first downs.

Close Games

Some of the closest games have marked the fraternity playoffs. To prove the point it was the KA's who in the last quarter, surged past SAE 13-12. ATO and PDT fought to a 6-6 tie, but ATO won the game by virtue of the first-down rule, 8-5.

With PDT and DTD both having dropped a game, it was now or never on Thursday and the outcome was a tight contest. PDT scored a touchdown and the extra point.

DTD came back with a touchdown and missed the extra point, but then crashed in as a last pass and accumulated 2 points by the safety, winning the game 8-7, eliminating PDT.

ATO put Sigma Nu into the losers bracket with a 12-12 win. ATO showed lots of offensive power with 15 first downs but SN had the defense when needed. They could have won if they had rushed in on their extra point.

Theta Chi drew a bye in the first round, but cut close on KA in the semi-finals result a win a 25-6 win.

Tonight's games at 4:30 Baptists vs. Penthouse-Rebels winner, Field 1; TC vs. ATO, Field 3; SAE-SN winner vs. SAE-DTD winner at Florida H. S Field.

Wed., Jan. 18. SAE-DTD winner vs. KA-SN, Field 3; Extra final in Independent division if Baptists lost Tuesday.

Thurs., Jan. 19. Fraternity final at 4:30, Field 2.

Gymnasts Win A.A.U. Crown

The Florida State gymnasts captured their seventh consecutive Florida A.A.U. championship Saturday at Jacksonville.

The meet proved a complete sweep for the Tribe. Coach Price's NCAA varsity finished first with 81 points, the Garnet, second with 71.5 and the Gold, third with 67.5.

Don Holder, leader of the Gold squad won the all-around championship with a total score of 108.1. Trailing him by two is as Rafael Lecuona with 106.1. Mirabel Cooks finished third, 103.9 points.

In other events, Bob Elliott, Gold team was first on the trampoline with 28.2. Flying Rings was won by Jack Miles, Garnet, 27.8. Al Ruda took first on long horse by three tenths of a point over Jack Miles, Garnet, 27.7 to 27.6.

Joe Gusic, varsity, took first on the parallel bars; Rafael Lecuona, varsity, won the side horse event, while Jamille Ashmore, varsity and Chick Cella, Gold, tied for first in free calisthenics with 27.8 points.

BASKETBALL PROGRESS SHEET

FSU
53	North Carolina State	48
54	Geo. Tchrs. State	76
101	Rollins-*	67
91	Stetson-	78
86	Tampa-*	67
104	Morningside	83
78	Clemson-*	66
86	Boston University-x	52
71	Massaupps St e	79
46	West Virginia-xx	78
39	Santa Clara-xx	81
25	New York U.-xx	63
76	Miami-*	76
71	Rollins-	70
78	Georgia	76
81	Georgia Teachers	80
Jan.16	Loyola—Home
Feb. 6	Troy State—Home
Feb. 7	Tampa—Home
Feb. 12	Florida Southern—H
Feb. 15	at Florida Southern
Feb 20	at Stetson
Feb 25	at Miami
Mar. 5	at Loyola
Mar 5	Georgia—H

*—Confrence game
x-Crouser Class
xx—Orange Bowl Tourney

RELAX
DURING EXAM WEEK at the MECCA
for
● Good Meals
● Hot Coffee
● Fountain Specials

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
TUESDAY-SATURDAY
"RANSOM"
Glenn Ford
Donna Reed
Robert Keith
Leslie Nielson Showing For — FIVE DAYS —

STATE
ENDS TUESDAY
"THE BIG KNIFE"
Jack Pearson, Ida Lupino
Wendell Corey, Jane Hagen
Shelley Winters
WEDNESDAY-SATURDAY
"DAY OF TRIUMPH"
Lee J. Cobb, Robert Wilson
James Griffith, Joanne Dru

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY
"TO CATCH A THIEF"
Grace Kelly Cary Grant
THURSDAY-SATURDAY
"SHOTGUN"
Sterling Hayden, Yvonne de Carlo, Zachary Scott
also "NEW YORK CONFIDENTIAL"
Broderick Crawford, Richard Conte, Marilyn Maxwell

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY
"NEW ORLEANS UNCENSORED"
Arthur Franz
Beverly Garland
THURSDAY-SATURDAY
"SANTA FE PASSAGE"
John Payne
Faith Domergue
Rod Cameron
also "JAIL BUSTERS"
The Bowery Boys

RITZ
Tues.-Wed.—"Love In The City"
Dina Rassi—Michaelangelo Antonioni
Thurs. Sat.—"Leonardo Da Vinci"
Man of Mystery

$ Cash For Your $
Used Books
Sell the Books You No Longer Need for Cash to
BILL'S BOOK STORE
Sell Your Books Before: New Editions Come Out Book Is Changed Here
WE PAY THE HIGHEST CASH PRICES FOR USED BOOKS OF VALUE:
We Buy Books Whether Used at Florida State University or Not

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S
MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

Flambeau photo: Adrian Allen

At Military Ball—Dancers enjoy music of Auburn Knights. In picture are couples Charlie Sizer and Joy Graham, left, and Tom Westfall and Serena Schad, right. Event was held Saturday night. Picture of Queen crowning is on page 1.

Seen Through 'Scope

Moon 700 Miles Away? It Is—To Astronomy Club

Would you like to take a look at the moon as though it were just 700 miles away?

Or a close look at "The Big Horseshoe," a Florida State University astronomer's name for the Heavens' brilliant January display?

If you would, there's an enthusiastic group of stargazers who would like you to become one of their number.

Dr. Alex E. S. Green, a nuclear physicist on the faculty of FSU and an astronomer by hobby, said today an astronomy club is being formed by interested FSU personnel and townspeople.

Anyone interested in joining the group, said Dr. Green, is asked to get in touch with him or with Andrew R. Jasson, of the Florida Geological Survey, another enthusiast.

It is planned, he said, to have periodic star-gazing meetings — perhaps every two weeks—on the roof of the science building where there are high-powered telescopes set up, or in the nearby planetarium on top of Westcott Auditorium.

Longtime Enthusiast

A longtime astronomy enthusiast, Dr. Green began some time ago managing the planetarium showings and telescope looks at the stars for a class by Prof. Harold F. Richards, a veteran of 31 years with the Physics Department who teaches astronomy classes.

Sensing there was an interest in the stars among Tallahasseans, he and several others started talking about an astronomy club.

Not Formed

The club is not actually formed as yet but the hard core of enthusiasts now includes Dr. Green, Dr. Richards, Dr. Merton Barrows and John Boardman of the physics staff; Jenson and A. E. McNamara, townspeople, and Harold Euler and Wayne Wells, FSU students.

Wells plans to add a six-inch telescope to the equipment already on hand for the group.

The university's several telescopes include a 5.4 inch refracting telescope which Dr. Richards said "under good conditions will bring the moon to an apparent distance of only 700 miles and will show a spot on the moon no larger than Tallahassee."

It also will show some of the moons of Jupiter, a planet now aloft at nighttime.

Winter Best

According to Dr. Richards the present winter season is probably the best in the year to look at the heavens, now bright with their most spectacular display of the year.

He calls the group of bright stars which now can be seen above Tallahassee "The Big Horseshoe." Said Dr. Richards:

"Start at one prong of the horseshoe and go around in order, as follows: Pleiades; Aldebaran in Taurus; Orion, including Betelreuse (red) and Rigel (white); Sirius, our brightest star; Procyon; Pollux and Caster, in Gemini; Capella."

14 Visible

Of the 20 stars of first magnitude 14 can be seen at one time or another from this latitude, he said, and of these seven can be seen now in "The Big Horseshoe."

Dr. Green, the author of a widely used textbook in nuclear physics, has been interested in the heavens since he was a boy. The study of the stars, incidentally, is right down the alley of his chief interest, nuclear physics.

"After all," he said, "energy coming from the sun and the stars is nuclear energy, and some of the greatest contributions to the understanding of astrony have been made by such outstanding nuclear physicists as Bethe, Gamow and Weisskopf."

After the astronomy club gets going, he said, it is hoped that interested civic and school groups can be brought in for occasional looks at the stars, with the hope of promoting interest in astronomy and science in general.

In Grecian Times

Race Open For Tri-Delta Award

Anyone interested in winning a scholarship?

The 1956 Tri-Delta General Scholarship Competition is now open to women students on this campus. They do not have to be fraternity members, but must show promise of being valuable citizens in their future communities and have other qualifications.

The amount of the award will be announced after any one of the 89 campuses included in the competition will not exceed $200, and the Tri-Delt Awards Committee shall be the sole judge of the respective merits of the applicants.

Interested women may secure application blanks at the Tri-Delt House, 534 W Park Ave. Deadline for entries is February 24. The winners will be notified by May 15, and scholarships will be forwarded to them at the beginning of the term for which the awards are granted. The scholarships may be used for the summer session 1956.

During the '55-56 academic year, 173 Tri Delta Service Projects scholarships totaling $25,750 were awarded. Since the establishment of the Service Projects program in January 1942, Tri Delts have assisted 1,567 worthy students; the award totalizes over $200,000.

NEW AOP PROXY

Alpha Amicorn Pi recently elected Pat Hilton their new president for the spring semester. Mary Catherine Casey was elected vice-president. Lynn Burley, corresponding secretary, Gerry Lehner, recording secretary, Ella Jo Blondy, pledge trainer, and Hope Rachela, treasurer.

The AOPi chapter entertained the Delta last week. Zeta's held a dinner to honor their graduating seniors . . . The Alpha Xi Deltas have planned their weekend for February 24. Mrs. Eva Atwood of the Modern Lanzantes deity presented the Kappa Alphas with a rifle, pistol and powder horn used by her grandfather in the Civil War. The gifts were received at a dinner Thursday night at the Kappa Alpha Mansion.

PHI DELTS SERENADE

The Phi Delta Thetas went serenading last Friday night, and on Wildcat Ct. Chi Omega was sung to at Broward Hall, followed by a serenade at the Kappa Alpha house for Inia Jean Pruitt.

Flambeau Photo: Tom Sawyer

Receiving Award—As Smoke Signals Queen for 1956 is Linda Jones, left, during ceremonies in Westcott Auditorium last week. Barbara Emmert, last year's queen, and Signals editor Don Heidel make presentation. Picture of court is on page 1.

Arts Education

(Continued from Page 1)

ing, jewelry work, and design and construction of furniture, to name a few.

Coupled with these courses come many fine facilities, including one of the best equipped jewelry and weaving labs in the southeast, revealed Miss Mary Mooty chairman of the Arts Education activities connected with Career Emphasis Week. Students usually buy their supplies from the bookstore, but they also take occasional field trips in groups of two or three to collect their materials, such as stones in the rock areas around Georgia.

Approximately 100 students are majoring in the department and another 450 are enrolled in its various courses. Job opportunities are plentiful, said Dr. Johnson, head of the department, as "at the present time, there's such a critical shortage of art teachers, that Florida institutions are able to train only about 20 per cent of all that are needed, particularly in the south Florida area."

Some of the finished products of four of the classes may be seen on exhibit in the show window of the Student Center this week.

Also, in accordance with Career Emphasis Week, the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement has a display of publications and books concerning art education as a profession. Due to exams, no discussion by groups on the subject have been planned for this week, said Miss Mooty.

Deadline Near For Sandspur Scripts

Scripts for Sandspur must be turned into the group by the first week of next semester, announced Jack Rogero, chairman. Scripts may be turned in to Nancy Cubbons, Reynolds Hall or Pat Abrams, South Cawthon.

"Cash prizes for the scripts will be awarded to the best person or persons handing in a script," revealed Rogero.

RunForMoney To Be Shown

(Continued from Page 2)

Florida State University Film Club will give two showings of A RUN FOR YOUR MONEY, Thursday night.

The British film will be shown at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. at the Demonstration School Auditorium in co-operation with The General Extension Division of Florida.

An original screen story written by Clifford Evans, A RUN FOR YOUR MONEY depicts the comedy antics of two Welsh miners who win a prize offered by the local newspaper. This includes them to two hundred pounds sterling and tickets to the England - Wales football game.

Alec Guinness, as the timid garden editor sent to chaperon the two miners, adds much to the series of misadventures which assails the contest winners while in London.

Gators Argue

read, movies he has seen, to call you.

He can talk about himself, other girls, places he has been, things he has done, his past and future girl friends, things he has seen, religion, past experiences, how good he is.

A college male makes you feel mixed up, aggravated, and uncertain. He is frekle, lazy brine, worthless, trouble, and a conceited nothing. He is like a blown up balloon—full of hot air. He is distracting boring, and a waste of time.

And I believe that if we try hard enough we will find that it is not impossible to do without this mess of human flesh that is just one more human being, and not a very good example of one at that.

A COW-EYED SOAP BUBBLE

GET FREE 5x7 ENLARGEMENT

CROWN JUMBO PRINTS

Send this ad and your roll to be developed at prices shown below, and your favorite negative. You will receive your Crown Jumbo prints in a Free 5x7 Enlargement. PLUS your 5x7 Enlargement made from the negative you like best. Negatives returned with prints. This offer good for one week only.

8 Exp. Roll	40c	16 Exp. Roll	80c
12 Exp. Roll	60c	Extra Prints	3c ea

Write for Free Mailers

CROWN PHOTO SERVICE

Box 292 ● AUGUSTA, GEORGIA

QUALITY DRY CLEANERS

For Expert

CLEANING PRESSING

REPAIRING ALTERING

CALL OR GO BY

2-5097 215 W. College

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young scientist works on new ways to improve metals

Today scientists and engineers face one of the toughest barriers of all — the "metal barrier." Modern technology has progressed so rapidly that today's metals can't meet the tremendous demands placed upon them. For such fields as aviation, electronics, atomic energy, present metals must be improved and new kinds of materials must be developed.

One of the young men playing a role in this new and important field is 30-year-old Dr. Roland P. Carreker, Jr.

Carreker's Work Interesting, Vital

As a research associate in the General Electric Research Laboratory's Metals and Ceramics facility, Carreker's chief concern is the improvement of metals through new processing techniques.

In his work, Dr. Carreker has dealt with such important metallurgical problems as metal failure in high-speed turbine rotors, determining the strength of pure metals from −423°F, the temperature of liquid hydrogen, to 2,800°F and economic studies of new metallurgical processes.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Carreker came to General Electric in 1947, he already knew the work he wanted to do. Like each of our 25,000 college-graduate employees, he is given a chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed that: When fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits — the individual, the company, and the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, N. Y.

DR. ROLAND CARREKER (joins) General Electric in 1947 after receiving a B.S. in 1945 and an M.S. in 1947 at the University of Illinois. He received his Ph.D. in 1953 at R.P.I. under a G.E. program. During World War II he served on active duty as a naval officer.

Progress Is Our Most Important Product

GENERAL ELECTRIC

YOUR BIG RED LETTER DAY

the day you change to L&M

1. SUPERIOR FILTER

L&M gives you the superior filtration of the Miracle Tip, the purest tip that ever touched your lips. It's white . . . all white . . . pure white!

2. SUPERIOR TASTE

L&M's superior taste comes from superior tobaccos — especially selected for filter smoking. Tobaccos that are richer, tastier . . . and light and mild.

Get in the L&M Circle

Smoke America's Best Filter Cigarette

"FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

JUNIOR ENGLISH
Deadline Today
(See Bottom of Page)

Vol. XLI, No. 25 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Friday, January 20, 1956

Philip Wylie Named Graduation Speaker

Florida Author Will Address Graduates Here January 28

Philip Wylie will deliver the commencement address here Saturday, January 28, announced Doak S. Campbell, president of the University.

The Miami author will speak at 4 p.m. in Westcott as approximately 275 students receive degrees.

Wylie said he will speak on "my somewhat individual concept of what lies ahead for all of us."

He has recently directed his attention to the future of the world with the terrors and opportunities which nuclear science and other advancements have opened.

His novel Tomorrow deals with this subject.

The internationally known Floridian has produced a wide variety of books, including many novels and some outspoken works of non-fiction, together with short stories, articles, newspaper columns and screen plays.

One of his best known works is Generation of Vipers. Before it was published he had become widely known from numerous novels, together with the Crunch-and-Des fishing stories, more than 50 of which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

Abundant, Fast

Long known for the abundance and swiftness of his writing, which has enabled him to turn out a 20,000-word novelette in a day, the 53-year-old author has said he expects to produce his best and most valuable books and essays in the years ahead.

He was born at Beverly, Mass., May 12, 1902, the son of a Congregational minister. He earned part of his way to a schooling at Princeton between 1920 and 1923 as a telegraph clerk and a worker on a freighter during vacations.

Began Writing

Wylie's literary productions began shortly afterward while he was with a public relations firm. They continued after he joined the art department of The New Yorker in 1925. The flow of novels from his pen began in 1928, when he wrote two. His first striking success in this field came in 1934 when Finley Wren was published.

Half of Wylie's life has been spent in Florida but during World War II service of various sorts with the federal government drew him away. It was while recuperating from bronchitis after duty with the Office of Facts and Figures at Washington in 1942 that he wrote Generation of Vipers.

The book was turned out in 200 hours after his wife suggested that Wylie put into writing some of his thoughts about "moms and cinderellas."

Wylie spoke here last year on the Coffee Hour program.

Philip Wylie

Senate Makes One Decision In Redistrict Row

Declare Senators Should Be Chosen Within Dormitories

After a lengthy session ...nesday, Student Senate ...e at least one decision on ... reapportionment issue.

By a close 13-11 vote, sena... decided that students repre... dormitories would be ...ed within the dorm instead ...eing elected from the class ...rge and then being assigned ...rm to live in and represent.

... decision came in the ... of an amendment to the ...portionment bill now under ...sideration. Before amend... the bill provided that ...ators would be assigned to ... in dormitories.

The close vote is an indication ... many conflicting opin... expressed on the senate ... Wednesday. Senator Caro... Close began discussion with ...port on a sample of stu... opinion.

Women's Opinion

She stated that she and Greta ... had at random taken the ...es of junior women students ... each floor of Florida and ... Halls and had then tak... opinions of these women ... explaining the reappor... bill to them.

... girls she reported, very ... approved of living unit ...ation but advocated ... senators assigned to ... instead of being elected ... each dorm.

... of the reasons the girls ... reported, included the ... dorm elections would ... become popularity con... than elections based ... on qualifications.

... not elected by their ... tend to feel resent... their dorms was an... the girls save for ... dormitory elections. ... felt that there would ... campaigning on a large ... scope if elections continued ... on a class level.

Contradictory

... Hans Tews however, ... student opinion which ... heard and his report ... adictory to that of ... Close. "I talked to a girl ... Florida Hall," he said "and ... that much more inter... elections would result ... students voted on people ... knew because of liv... the dorm with them."

... I talked to," he con... felt that there would ... relationships between ... and representatives ... from their own dormi...

... retorted, "The only in... have of possible stu... is the present in... dorm elections for offi... interest is reported ..."

Two Votes

Close also reported ... at finding that ... all independents bu... concerned about ... not sororities and ... would have as much ... power as independent ... students, they said ... two opportunities to ... both dorm and class ... whereas Greek groups ... only the opportunity ... class elections For ... also they felt that ... representatives to ... be only fair method of ...onment.

Fred Mansfield re... think something could ... out in the form of an ...dment to prevent this ... He also seemed to ques... assumption that dorm... students would necessar... class elections.

... was so much talk and ... opinions on the sub... eventually senate ... limit debate to 3 min... each speaker and an ... limit of 15 minutes for ...mainder of the debate.

... the amendment was ... Senator Art Moore intro... a resolution that on Feb. 8 senate would meet as ... committee as a Whole." This ... committee meeting, he ... would give senators ... opportunity to decide their ... on reapportionment ...

Concert

Another highlight of Wednes... senate meeting was the ...on to support the project ... bring Fred Waring's na... known band and chorus ... concert here if they can be ...tained for less than $3,000.

Senate then voted to assume ... financial responsibilities for ... this concert within a ... limit in spite of Ed Mann's ... saying that "it is too late to ... this responsibility in view ... past losses with the Les ... concert."

... Gaston Gaster, however, felt ... students on this campus ... more entertainment." He added that by supporting such

(Continued on Page 4)

University Singers—Officers plan music for tour. L. to r. are Mary Elizabeth King, public relations, Don Randall, president; Martha Sue Mizell, librarian; Jerry Connell, vice-president, Martha Slayden, secretary, and Lee Liming, business manager

University Singers Conduct Concert Tour Next Weekend

University Singers will make their first concert tour of the season next weekend when they sing for the General Session of the Southern Division of Music Teachers National Association, in Atlanta, Georgia.

Leaving by bus next Friday, the group of 50 selected mixed voices plan to return Sunday evening.

Other stops on the tour consist of the Atlanta-Biltmore Hotel in Atlanta on Saturday and the Stephen Foster Memorial in White Springs, Sunday.

The group, which is under the direction of Dr. Wiley Housewright will sing a Victoria Motet, Kalumkoff's "Agnus Dei"; Bach's Cantata No. 106, which includes the chorale "All Glory, Praise and Majesty"; and a Bach fugue, "Through Jesus Christ, Amen."

The program also includes lighter folk songs and Negro spirituals, such as "Yonder! Yonder!", "Fare Ye Well, My Darlin'", "There's a City Called Heaven", "Simple Gifts", and "I Bought Me a Cat".

The White Springs concert will also contain "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands", "He Ain't Coming Here to Die No More", "The Island", "As I Went Out a Summer's Night", "The Chickens They Are Crowing", "Miss Lula, I Love You", and "Long Time Ago". Also on the White Springs program is "Gently Lena Clare", an all-male chorus, "Camptown Races", and "Gentle Annie", in honor of Stephen Foster.

David Ward-Steinman will accompany the group on the piano.

Speech Play

Ah, Wilderness Tryouts Today

Tryouts will be held this afternoon and during next week for the next Speech Department production, "Ah, Wilderness."

The Eugene O'Neill comedy will be presented in Augusta Conradi Theater March 9, 10, 12, and 13, said Dr. Paul Davee, director.

This afternoon's tryouts will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. in Conradi Theater. No time has been set for next week's further tryouts, Dr. Davee said, but the schedule will be posted later on the bulletin board near 115 History.

The play, described as a "nostalgic comedy" based on O'Neill's boyhood, has roles for nine men and six women.

A teen-age boy with an intellectual bent is possessed with youthful rebelliousness sometimes expressing itself in anarchistic inclinations. This is not taken well by his family.

An adolescent love affair complicates the problems of an ordinary family in 1906 Connecticut.

TODAY DEADLINE FOR CHOOSING PICS

Today is the last day to choose Tally-Ho pictures emphasized Jim Broderick, editor.

Flambeau Calls For Employees

FROM THE EDITORS:

The Florida Flambeau needs staff members to fill several empty positions.

We have openings for copy readers, reporters, photographers rewrite people, telephone answers, errand boys, chauffeurs and almost anything else you can think of.

The only qualifications are a desire to work. You don't even have to be insane, though it does help.

If you are interested, either call Pat at 6821 or come up to 213 Longmire Building.

More Tryouts For 'Carmen' Are Scheduled

Additional tryouts will be held Monday and Tuesday for principal roles in the Choral Union's spring production of "Carmen."

Herman Gunter Jr., Choral Union director, said the auditions will be held from 10 a.m. to Noon in the Choral room of the Music Building.

Gunter said almost 20 people tried out for roles last Tuesday night.

"No selection will be made," he said, "until all those who wish to sing are heard. We hope to make a decision by the end of the semester."

Planned For May

Bizet's opera will be given here May 11 and 12 and in Albany, Georgia, May 3, he said.

For the first time since Choral Union began giving a major opera in the spring, students will sing all roles. Gunter noted that it is hoped to obtain enough singers for two casts—one for each campus performance.

Anyone, he reiterated, is welcome to sing in the "Carmen" chorus. Men in particular are needed, he said. There are about 30 in the Choral Union now and in his opinion the opera could do well with 50.

One should enroll in the Choral Union for second semester if he wishes to sing in the "Carmen" chorus, Gunter said. He added, however, that one may audit the course—not take it for credit. With such an enrollment one could attend either Monday and Wednesday rehearsals at noon or Tuesday evening sessions.

The University Symphony, directed by Robert Sedore, will be the "Carmen" orchestra. Staging will be under the direction of Miss Betty Jane Grimm. Miss Lois Schnoor will direct members of the Tallahassee Junior Chorus in the children's choruses for the first and last acts.

"Carmen" will be the Choral Union's fourth opera. They have previously done Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana", Verdi's "Il Trovatore" and Verdi's "Aida."

ROTC BAND SETS SNEAK PREVIEW

The Air Force ROTC Band, who will march in the Mardi Gras Parade on February 5, will give a sneak preview concert of their performance in Opperman Music Hall at 12:30 February 2. Students and faculty have been invited to attend.

Debators Enter Two Tourneys

Florida State University debaters will participate in two invitational tournaments, West Georgia Invitational and University of Miami Invitational, the weekend of Feb. 3.

Representing FSU at the West Georgia tournament are Fred Roberts and Bruce Fletcher, negative team, and Max Kilbourn and Karl Allen, affirmative debaters.

Debating in the ninth annual University of Miami tourney on Feb. 3, 4, and 5 will be Arnold Greenfield and Norma Trippodo, affirmative, and Tom Woods and Jean Bleichner, negative.

Both tournaments feature debate on the national collegiate question, "Resolved, that the non-agricultural industries of the United States should guarantee their employees an annual wage."

This year's trip will be FSU's fourth to both the West Georgia and the University of Miami tournaments. Max Estes, graduate assistant in the Speech Department, will accompany debaters to Georgia, while Betty Flory, speech instructor, will accompany the Miami-bound teams.

BOOKS DUE JANUARY 25

All students, including graduate students, must return library books by January 25, said Charles Walker, Registrar.

An additional fee of 25 cents per book will be charged after that date. He requested that students check with the library to make sure their records are clear.

APO's Store Opens Today

Alpha Phi Omega will open their bookstore today and will remain open until March 3rd.

The bookstore located in the basement of Longmire, operates in the following manner, explained Sonny Sellers, president, "name your price and we will sell the book, send you a notice when the book has been sold, and you pick up your money."

A slight commission of five cents ($.05) on the dollar is charged to purchaser, to cover mailing and handling expenses.

Danford Asks UF Competition Sportsmanship

Dr. Howard Danford, Director of Athletics, asked Student Senate for good sportsmanship with the University of Florida Wednesday.

Florida State University is scheduled to begin competition with Gainesville in swimming in February, he said.

"While the U. of F. athletes are here," Danford said, "we want them to be treated with good sportsmanship and consideration. Bitter feelings or actions can result from the emotional tension of rivalry, as you know. Let's make sure we treat these folks as courteously as possible."

Criticizes Flambeau

He spoke secondly with considerable aggravation concerning what he termed the "anti-athletic" issue of the Florida Flambeau. Speaking of a column in which it was stated that Danford had "requested" students to support the scholarship fund, he said, "The Flambeau printed mis-statements and not the facts. We did not come to you requesting money for this fund; the idea was student inspired and we made it clear that it would have to be student promoted."

"We also said that we didn't know whether or not Auburn students actually contributed to a scholarship fund. However, as it turned out we were correct. Instead of having free tickets to home games, students pay more than student fees by paying $1 to attend all home games, and this money is used for the scholarship fund."

Jimmy Soles spoke in defense of the Flambeau when he replied that he believed—concerning the issue of students obtaining seats—that the Flambeau's intention was to protest against students' not being able to obtain better seats.

Said Danford, "We welcome any criticism if you come to us first, instead of blasting us in the Flambeau before we have a chance to react to criticism."

Hans Tews spoke up and said, "We did not vote down the idea of contributing to this fund because of the misunderstanding concerning the situation at Auburn, but because we talked to students about this proposal and found a strong lack of interest."

Junior English Ends Today

Today is the last day that the Junior English examination will be given.

Students planning to take it must first pick up appointment cards at the Registrar's office, said Martha G. Chapman, Junior English Director. No student will be admitted to the examination without it, she added.

Students expected to take the test are: (1) sophomores who will be juniors in the spring semester, (2) transfers of the fall semester, and (3) juniors and seniors previously excused.

Held on January 16, 18 and 20, the exam is being given in 120 Geology Building from 4 to 6 p.m.

Failure to take the test at the designated time involves a five-dollar delinquent fee, stated Miss Chapman.

LIBRARY HOURS
Between Terms

Jan. 27, Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
Jan. 28, Saturday, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.
Jan. 29, Sunday, closed.
Jan. 30, Monday, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.
Jan. 31, Tuesday, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.
February 1, Wednesday, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

Beginning Thursday, February 2, the Library will open regular hours: 8 a.m.-10 p.m., Monday-Friday; 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Saturday; 2-5 p.m., Sunday.

275 Seniors, Graduates To Get Degrees

Two hundred and seventy-five seniors and graduate students will participate in graduation exercises next Saturday at 4 p.m. in Westcott.

Tickets may be secured at the Westcott ticket booth Saturday from 10:30 to noon and 2 to 3. Each graduate will receive as many tickets as possible, but no one can hope for more than three tickets, according to the registrar's office.

Any seats which are not filled when the procession has entered the auditorium may be occupied by persons without tickets.

The procession will form in the corridor on the third floor not later than 3:40. Candidates will be arranged by schools and by degrees within those schools.

Deans Present

When the degrees are conferred each dean will present the candidates in his school. He will ask the candidate for each of these degrees to rise, he will then present them to the president; they will remain standing until all candidates for bachelor's degrees have been presented.

Women undergraduates should wear white dresses, formal collars, dark shoes, hose, with gowns fastened at the neck. Men undergraduates should wear dark trousers, dark shoes, white shirt, dark tie, coat optional, gown fastened at the neck.

Tassels on Left

Candidates for a master's degree should wear their tassels on the left and gowns unfastened at the neck. They should have no visible collar, long sleeves, dark shoes, hose. Men should wear dark coats, dark trousers, and dark shoes.

Hoods should show the degree to be received. They are worn with the widest expanse of color against the gown; the cord across the back should be fastened through the loop at the back of the gown-yoke, the loop on the front of the hood may be fastened so as to pull the hood away from the throat.

These are the candidates for degrees listed by schools:

SCHOOL OF NURSING
Bachelor of Science in Nursing Education

Mary Brindle, Lavinia DiJohn Duncan, Hilda Juanita Grubbs, Audra LaVerne Johnson

Bachelor of Science in Nursing

Constance D. Christie, Mary Ann Sperry

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
Bachelor of Science

David Allen Abner, Howard W. Andrews, James Samuel Bailey, Roy Benton Baker, Grace Myral Barclay, Dempsey James Barrow, Bruce Bataller, Leslie M. Buie, Wilbur R. Campbell, Shakespear A. Cosson, George Edward Cothran, Charles Edward Cunningham, Jr.

Robert Arthur Elling, Reid D. Hardin, Odis Marlin Hare, Charles David Harmon, Jr., John Delano Harris, Lon Hatton, Wilbur A. Hawkins, James Edward Hickey, William E. Hofman, Richard A. Hollahan, Kenneth Earl Jerrell, Carole Sue Jenkins, Herbert Josephs, Willie Charles Kickliter, William Carroll Lamb, Lawrence C. Linder.

Bennie L. Lombardy, William Selbach Martin, Patricia Dekle Meyer, Patricia Ann Miller, Charles Truman Mock, Sherman A. Moore II, Robert DeLeon Morris, Duggar Palmer, Riley Malone Peddle, William C. Plumb, Patricia Ann Potter, Gerald LeGrande Price, Jr.

Thomas B. Pukett, III, Sigurjon B. Ragnarsson, Robert Edward Scarbrough, Bobby Joe Sellers, Albert Selvaggi, Wayne H. Shrover, Charles P. Smith, Jr., Clarence Volney Smith, Ernest Thomas Stevens, Donald Edward Stone, Carlos Hobart Watson, Margaret Sue White, Hulon E. Whitton, Walter N. Williams, Gerald Bradford Wyman

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM
Bachelor of Science

James Gary Campbell, Robert John Gutting, Joseph Richard Hancock, Ernest Pierrepont La Roche, George Kelly Matter, Jr., William Joseph Smith, Jr.

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION
Bachelor of Science

Raymond E. Tew, Hulan E. Whitehead

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WELFARE
Bachelor of Science

Delcie Dee Barkdoll, Lewis W. Bullard, John Leon Connell, Jenny Lu Kent, Sonya I. Marcellino, H. L. Tom Sebring, Jr.

LIBRARY SCHOOL
Bachelor of Arts

Nancy Hoyt Rockwood

SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Bachelor of Music Education

Mary Anne Baucino, Charles Albert Burns, Reginald G. Cook, Meredith Ann Dawson, Judith Anne Keftulm, Barbara Jean Scanlon, Ar... B. Sharretts, Jr., Naomi Ruth Stott, Kathryn Zappolo Treadwell, Mary Anne Williams, Robert Busha Wright, Jr.

Bachelor of Music

Samuel Larry Knowles, Novella Joan Meador, Nichy Turza, Joanna Poe

SCHOOL OF HOME ECONOMICS
Bachelor of Science

Pauline Ellen Be... on, Karlin Jane Kent, Jacqueline ... Darol Lee Myers, Mary Willis

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION
Bachelor of Science

Samuel Richard Alderman, Winifred Al... (Cum Laude), Carl Al... Geraldine Toy Bowser, Marion Nunez Bradley, Mary Bowden Brett

Carlotta Carr Brown, Elsa Jina Cope, James Lawrence Cox, Thomas J. Cunningham, Jr., Edith D'Lugos, Davis Shirley M. Easter, Dorothy E. Andrea, Nancy Eleanor Hudson Folsom, Ruth Kasch Fraser, Richard Wayne Gant, Mary Carolyn Goode, Nancy Carolyn Graham, Jacquelina Fletcher Hall, Sue Ann Herndon, Donald Joseph Holder, Pramon Jatusanon, Ellen Jean Johnson, Jena Elan Jones.

Sondra Jane Kendrick, Dolores

(Continued on Page 4)

Flambeau photos Steve Kleid

In Senate Wednesday—Dr. Howard Danford, Athletic Director, criticizes Flambeau. He holds issue of paper while telling Senators he is not supporting scholarship proposal.

Waiting To Speak—Vice-president Hans Tews, standing, waits to tell Athletic Director Danford why Senate did not approve of scholarship fund idea. At left is Senate Chaplain Jan Kaminis. Senators in picture are Barbara Moore, Bill Swigert, (background), Jim Moore and Gordon Gaster.

Censorship On The Campus

(Editor's Note: The following editorial is reprinted from the Tampa Morning Tribune, January 17, 1956. We thank them for the first published support the collegiate press has seen in this state in many years.)

Within the last week, complaints against censorship of news on college campuses in Florida have come from two sources.

The Florida Intercollegiate Press Association, representing 11 colleges, protested in a resolution that most student newspapers are "merely mouth organs" for the college administrations and cannot print news for authorities don't want printed.

The Florida Alligator, student publication at the University of Florida, complained that although it is free to print any news it finds, university authorities often hold back information which ought to be made public.

In one case, the complaint is against a direct censorship of the newspapers; in the other case, it is against a censorship of the sources of news.

To many parents it may seem unimportant whether college newspapers are censored or not, by any method. College kids can be pretty reckless and a printing press is a dangerous toy. Why shouldn't the president and faculty keep tight control over what goes into print? Where's the harm?

This is where the harm lies.

College is the place where pimply youth puts away childish things and begins to speak, think and act as a man. From imparted wisdom and his own trial and error he helps to fashion a lifetime standard of values.

In this formative period it is rather important, we think, that the elders in charge of his training set a good example by their own conduct.

The student learns much about the importance of the free press to the American way of life. But what is he to think when he sees the press closest to him trotting about on a leash like a pet Pekingnese?

The student is told that one of the great virtues of our democracy is that it allows the merits of ideas to be tested in the crucible of controversy. How does he square that with a policy which bars all controversial matters from the students' widest forum, the press?

The student is admonished, too, to expect honesty and candor from those entrusted with high office. But what weight can he give this instruction when he knows that those in highest authority on the campus deliberately conceal information because its disclosure might embarrass them or anger their patrons?

Colleges can practice hypocrisy and encourage cynicism by permitting nothing but favorable news to pass through the guarded portals of the campus gates.

Or they can provide a demonstration of responsible journalism and honest administration by allowing uncensored publication of freely-given information — subject, of course, to normal penalties for abuse.

We think the authorities at both state and private colleges in Florida ought to ponder well the implication of the student editors' complaints.

"We Don't Want Any More Magazines!"

The Dissenter

Not True Crusader, Says Opponent

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

A CERTAIN COURSE in sociology is famous for its varied controversy—Sociology 308, known as Race Relations.

The semester's sessions ended yesterday in battle over the newest and most amusing argument ever heard: much went to prove that a controversial publication can rarely hope to gain the respect of its foes.

A rather outspoken segregation supporter proclaimed in fiery phrases that the Florida Flambeau—its particular, this columnist— are just sensationalists.

If we were sincere in attacking his hallowed theories, quoth this adroit objective analysis, we would do so in every issue, in every column, instead of flinding other things to discuss from time to time.

What's the use?

Every so often someone who hasn't come in contact with the latest campus fad walks into the Flambeau office and needs a clamp to get his jaw closed again. Few people can readily accept the notion of editorial opinion.

SOME OF THE CODES are buying cigarettes in pastel paper at the insignificant price of 75 cents. Although this is three times the normal price for a package of cigarettes, it is no doubt a mere nothing compared to the advantage of matching one's attire.

Next they'll find a way of tinting the smoke as well. The only thing that can complete this mick—how would you like to buy garnet cigarettes with gold smoke?

It would create a problem for anyone looking for a match.

At The Movies

Father Makes Choice

By WANDA SUE OWEN

Another suspense-filled mystery, this time a Kansas story, is the motion picture, "Ransom", starring Glenn Ford and Donna Reed, now at the Florida theater.

D. G. Stannard, wealthy industrialist in a typical American city, is the man who holds himself in the position of having to choose between paying the ransom and taking a chance on getting his son back safely, or not paying it. When the kidnapper contacts him with the demand for a ransom of half a million dollars, he liquidates all his assets with the intention of meeting the demand. It is then that a casual remark from a newspaper reporter makes Stannard change his mind.

Despite the pleas of his wife, Edith, the strong of his brother, the contempt of police officials and the condemnation of press and public, Stannard makes his irrevocable decision. On a station-to-station telephone call he openly displays the money, meeting the kidnapper that not one cent will be paid for ransom. Instead, the half million dollars will be used for one purpose—to track down the kidnapper if his son, Andy, is not immediately returned unharmed.

The effect of this decision is instantaneous. Painted as a cold-blooded parent, Stannard is turned against by his wife, by his closest friends, and by a milling throng of townspeople pelting outside his house. Only Charlie, the local reporter, and Chapman, the servant who has been with the family for years, stand by the broken-hearted father, who is convinced that what he is doing is right.

THE FIRST piece of evidence that turns up when the police start Andy's bloodstained shirt. What happens from there? I'll let you find that out for yourself.

"Ransom" is based on the television play, "Fearful Decision," written by Cyril Hume and Richard Maibaum, and directed by Alex Segal. It is the only play to have the distinction of being twice presented on the U. S. Steel Hour.

THE FULL-SCALE portrayal of Christ has not been unsuccessful on the movie screen until now when a man of the stature of James K. Friedrich, an Episcopal minister, has stepped over the bounds into theatrical production. "Day of Triumph," now playing at the Plaza.

Dr. Friedrich founded Cathedral Films in 1939 and has produced 31 religious films for churches and TV release.

In the picture, filmed in Eastman color and wide screen tells the story of Jesus' years culminating in His Crucifixion and Resurrection and is highlighted by such typical incidents as the Sermon on the Mount, the Last Supper, His preaching to the Samaritan at Galilee and the Raising of Lazarus.

It is Hollywood's first story of Christ since Cecil B. De Mille's silent film "King of Kings" in 1927.

The main actors in "Day of Triumph" are Robert Wilson, as Christ; John Siegenmeier, as John the Baptist, Lee J. Cobb, as Judas; Joseph Sudor, as John; Joanne Dru, as Mary Magdalene; James Griffith, as Judas; and Lowell Gilmore, as Pontius Pilate.

In The Wings

Praises Caliber Of Choral Program

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

WEDNESDAY NIGHT marked the campus debut of James Harris as the new director of the Collegiate Choir at the club. The program contained a much higher caliber of music than has usually been done by that organization, whose function is not one of dilettantism but simply to provide entertainment and pleasure.

Probably the most impressive thing about the Collegiana' concert was their use of dynamics effects, a fine attention to detail and phrasing. There were occasional intonation and balance difficulties, but that is to be expected in a group as heterogeneous as this one.

The program featured two Shakespeare songs by Quincy Jarrett, a former student here who is now hard at work on an opera in Gainesville. Jarrett writes in an unabashedly Romantic style, but with restless modulation, similar to the chromaticism of a Strauss, though Jarrett's melodies are more harmonically darkred.

The group of spirituals arranged by Robert Shaw[1] was one of the highlights of the program. "Deep in the Water" and "Ride the Chariot" are the popular group, was also done well, as was my arrangement of "Lamesa" from "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," which closed the program.

A PATHETICALLY small crowd was on hand for the University Symphony concert in Westcott Monday night. The orchestra merits the support of a large segment of the student body if the 1955-56 season, the most ambitious to date, is to establish a precedent. If the student body does not attend, the orchestra will undoubtedly be discontinued next season.

The Bach-Brandenburg Concerto opened the program. Soloists Robert Sedore violin, Bertil Boer, and Dela Jensen (flutist) played very well together, creating pleasant movements both alone and in ensemble. The slow movement was particularly moving. The accompanying orchestra played well, except for a fussiness on some of the attacks and some occasional rhythmic discrepancies.

The Brahms Variations on a Theme by Haydn concluded the first half of the program. Those who attended student recital in December this week heard the work in its other form, as played by duo-pianists Larry Simmons and Jim Stafford.

THE ORCHESTRA OUT-DID itself in the second half of the concert. The Beethoven work is ever has before in this season. The "Irish" variations had been played concertante and authoritatively, the orchestra having effectively captured the spirit of the thing Cromland's exuberant. "Ruskaro Holiday," a rhythmic tour de force, closed the program, the allegro-like scherzo ushered in as much as the orchestra members enjoyed playing it.

Dean-of-the-Music-School Karl Kurzenberg appeared as guest conductor in the Bach. Robert Sedore conducted the balance of the concert, first appearing with the solo group in the Concerto.

The Visitor

Ike Must Decide These Questions

Editor's Note: The following guest column should not be interpreted as representing political partisanship on the part of this publication. The Florida Flambeau welcomes contributions from all sides on current issues, reserving the right to accept or reject.

By ARNOLD GREENFIELD

IN PUBLIC LIFE one basic tenet must prevail for all officials, that a man is responsible for his actions. Among even the ordinary run-of-the-mill politicians this should be considered to if there is to be any consistent basis for democratic political decision. The public represents itself as being able to decide with an actual determination of issues, but this requires a lot of faith in the ability of a candidate. A man offering himself for public office, therefore should, if he's a man of conscience and character, consider his ability to carry out the responsibility of his office and thus justify the faith placed in him by the electorate. President Eisenhower is a man faced with just such a problem.

His term of office has been an interesting and unique political phenomenon, he has been a real rare chance to rise above the mire of politics and men and has been conceived of as the public mind as a sort of semi-deified statesman. In terms of politics, he has had at the same time the most successful of politicians; he has thrown off the bounds of the common determining factors of politics and has consequently aroused his ability to float his chosen party on the side of every issue. Therein lies his problem.

THE NAME EISENHOWER is synonymous with the word integrity in the minds of the voters. He knows this, the Republicans know this, the Democrats also know this. More especially important to these honorable men, the leaders of powerful blocs of votes as well as integrity. It is useless to debate the merits of the debacle of 1952; the fact remains that the Republicans with Eisenhower won their first Presidential election since before the author of this column was born. It is also idle to speculate over the elections of 1954, the fact remains that without Eisenhower running the Republicans lost both houses of Congress and several Governorships. It is now the year 1956 and Eisenhower must make a decision—to run or not to run. Whether he likes it or not, he responds.

Eisenhower is a man. He is an old man by American standards, he would be considered so at an age more advanced than that of any president Eisenhower. He is a sick man. He has recently suffered a heart attack and is faced with a completely non-political source, sixty-nine per cent of Americans polled by Gallup say the chances of Mr Eisenhower surviving a second term are pessimistic, the chances of his being able to operate at full capacity for the next four years are questionable.

Eisenhower is a man. Any party affiliation we should be realistic enough to admit that despite all his virtues, real or imagined, a dead Eisenhower would be a disaster to the country a live Stevenson. Very little value will accrue to Eisenhower's name or memory as a statesman if he dies in office. This is admittedly an extreme statement, but the chances are that Eisenhower does not die in office, but rather delegates part of the Presidential authority and responsibility to Nixon. The value of integrity Eisenhower be as valuable a President as ever was before he assumed working at full capacity? The ike who is so well liked will have to answer these questions as the man of integrity that he is.

His must also remember that powers once delegated are rarely if ever withdrawn and may never be relieved. This fact would have far reaching consequences regarding the delicate balance of power between the executive and legislative government. Eisenhower is an honorable man. He will consider these factors and others —and then make his decision.

Letters To The Editor

The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic of interest to the student population. The letters do not have to coincide with the views of the paper, but must be in good taste. Unsigned letters will not be printed, and names will not be withheld except in cases where the reasons are deemed adequate by the editor. Letters should not exceed 250 words, or 15 typewritten lines.

Bowling Problems

By Bill Bibler

Why is it that the Tallahassee townspeople have priority over the FSU Student, concerning the bowling alleys?

Last Friday night, I — and many others — sat for two hours waiting for a vacant alley, while four outside teams held their outside teams held their tournaments. Finally, at two o'clock, which is the closing hour, I talked the push-boy into letting me play two frames for ten cents, so I wouldn't go home mad.

I think this is terrifically unfair. They're our alleys, and I think we should have first chance to use them.

No, only do the teams tie up the alleys, but also out-of-town tournaments come in and play. While they are bowling, the students are impatiently waiting for them to finish.

Can't something be done about this? It's about time someone did something!

SHERRIT CONARROE Replies

[Editor's note: Townspeople hold leagues on the alleys on week-day nights, leaving the week-ends free for students. The incident you mention was an unusual exception to allow players to make up some lost time.]

Wandering With Wiljohn

Planning Campus Sing Week-End

By WILJOHN

PHI MU ALPHA (sound familiar?) and Sigma Alpha Iota, the male and female music honoraries, are in the thick of the mess again. This time they are heading Campus Sing.

The plan is to make Campus Sing into a traditional week-end, like Sandspur.

For the purpose the following various innovations have been dreamed up. This year, for the first time in the memory of the musicians (akin to that of the legendary elephant), a big dance will be held after the finals. Tricky, this will make the idealistics of the prize winners until the middle of the dance. Should elect a Campus Sing Queen. Just as a point of interest, you could drop me a line about who you would like to play for the dance. You may include the male and orchestras you want on campus in your choice. Also consider the possibility of bringing the Auburn Knights; they have tux, will travel.

IN THE PAST, the event has always been met with some of the greatest amateur choral work you can hear. The fraternities and sororities always go all out on this and only the best win. This year it is hoped that more than that will enter groups. I believe that the student houses are the place where all of this should be. The preliminaries will be held the night of Friday, the 23rd, in Westcott. Finals will be the next night in the same place. I think we ought to ask Robert Shaw to come and referee.

Some people have been asking me what kind of music I recommend as background for a long evening of study just before finals. Well, I can only speak from personal preference. The first off I would advise that whatever you choose to play, you make sure it is thoroughly familiar to you. Any piece of music that can't old hat, so to speak, will more than likely distract you, unless you're dead. In which case you can turn off the phonograph and go to bed. Next, avoid the Dixieland in favor of background, with Marion McPartland, Van Damme Fagnilo, and the Columbia Late Music Series. I don't like such as Mantovani, Paul Weston, Francis Scott and the like because they tend to reservate me about what I go to sleep.

OF COURSE, never use anything with a vocal or you'll find yourself filling in the text blanks with the lyrics to "Sixteen Tons" the next morning.

Classical music is always fine if it's the kind you like. Some of the best I've got away with it and -2- It doesn't drive you off your rocker. Well, course to think of it, I guess Stravinsky's "Rite of Spring" would be just the thing for studying Chemistry 357 (Glass-blowing).

The Florida Flambeau

JAY EGBERTSON—Editor

Owar Johnson, Managing Editor — Pat Marston, News Editor

Associate Editor — Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters — Jerri Bradfield, Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers — Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer, Steve Kleid, Adrian Allen
Campus Editor — Eleanor Kirby
Feature Editor — Margaret Miller

Sports Editor — Pierce Lehnbeck
Sports Staff — Larry Block, Dave Evans, Alan Whitmarsh
Junior Staff — Arlieda Rhea, Bob Dollison, Bob Moren, Steve Kleid
Greek Editor — Charlet Pollevint

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor — Betsy Voorhees
Exchange Staff — Martha McLeod, Sandra Colley

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown,
Circulation — Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue — George Goldstein
Business — Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith, Enid Pearlman, Jean Anderson, Lee Meyers
Telephone 2.806, extension 6821, 5621
214, 213 Longmire Building
Intercollegiate Press

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave. New York 17. The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

OF RECORDS AND 'ROOMIES'—

Seldom can you walk into the East Campus gymnasium without running into a gymnast. And if you meet two of them together, you can be relatively sure it'll be inseparables Jamie Ashton and Rafael Lecuona.

Jamie and Rafael are 'roomies'— and you'd have a rough time finding another pair anywhere who've captured quite so many honors.

Rafael claims the latest one. The bantam Cuban has been named for the sixth time his country's most outstanding gymnast. And when you look at his parade of records it's easy to see why.

Lecuona has captained Cuban olympic teams six times—at the World Olympics in London in 1948, the World Olympics at Helsinki in 1950, the Central American Games in 1946 and 1950, and the Pan American games in 1951 and 1955.

And Jamie hasn't done so bad himself. The 'Tumbling Texan,' as he's known, is presently pointing toward his first olympic team with his sights he'll be in the think of contenders at the official trials at Penn State in April.

He'll certainly have the record to support his move. His honors include the Texas All-Around championship; Southwest AAU Tumbling championship; Midwest and Central AAU Free Exercise championship, and for the past two years he's copped the Florida AAU Tumbling title. He's currently ranked as the 2nd best tumbler in the nation.

That's a lot of talent for one room.

WHAT NEXT?

The School of Journalism's TV-Radio broadcasting crew made a bit of news during the FSU-Loyola basketball game Monday night. They pulled a re-run on their basketball bouncing stunt.

This time the Associated Press picked up the novelty and filed two stories for the Tuesday afternoon papers—one on the game and the other about the bouncing ball.

From what we noted, both stories got pretty good play. But few of the smaller papers down-state, obviously pressed for space, really did it up good—and you might say they dealt sportswriting somewhat of a 'low blow.'

They combined the pair—and here's what they came up with:

"Tallahassee (AP)—Jim Oler scored 26 points here last night to lead Florida State to an 84-78 win over Loyola of New Orleans.

"The basketball hit the floor 2,916 times during the rapidly-played contest.

"Jessie Banks, a statistician for ete."

Nuff said.

ANOTHER TIP OF THE BONNET—

Though we haven't doffed it in sometime, we take this occasion to tip that imaginary bonnet to the Tallahassee Quarterbacks—and to the recipient of their Football Service Award.

Florida A&M's head football coach Jake Gaither was the man honored. Only two others have ever received the award, with the Quarterbacks regard as the highest honor they can bestow.

Gaither's teams have won 67 games while losing only 16 of the eleven years he's been head coach. They've won four national titles. And we doubt if a Gaither-coached team has ever been beaten along the lines of sportsmanship.

It was a great honor to a great man.

Jinx? Tribe Marches On

Troy State, Tampa Threaten Streaks

By ALAN WHITMARSH

Both of Florida State's basketball winning streaks will be placed on the chopping block after the semester holidays, but both likewise are expected to hold up.

Pouring on the pressure each time the visitors closed the gap, the Seminoles extended their longest streak to 19 games by beating Loyola, 85-75 Monday night.

It has been that many games since the Tribe was last beaten on the home floor, and it was this same Loyola team that turned the trick, 84-76, on January 18, 1954.

The other win streak is in conference competition, where the Seminoles now stand undefeated over a two-year period with 15 straight wins

This one will be tested by Tampa and Florida Southern on Feb. 7 and 13 respectively, but neither team is given a strong possibility of upsetting the Seminoles.

With the semester break beginning today, the next contest for Coach Bud Kennedy's charges is against Troy State here, Feb. 6 but if things go according to script, the home win streak will go up another notch.

Won Five

The Alabama school hasn't appeared on the Tribe cage menu since 1950, and in the six previous contests between the two schools, the Seminoles have won five.

In Monday night's contest, the Wolfpack closed in on the winners several times, but each time the Tribe poured on the pressure and pulled into a comfortable lead.

Though he had a rather frustrating start, guard Jimmy Oler found the range in the final half and pumped in 20 points to lead the Seminoles

Oler got some help from the big boys, though—particularly Gary Wold and Bob Ward, who garnered 17 and 13 points respectively.

The Indians guard continues to close in on almost every individual scoring record in the school books, and now lacks only 50 points to set a new season mark.

Following are the individual and team statistics for the first 17 games

	G	FG	FTA	FT	TP	AVG
Oler	17	147	243	195	489	28.8
Wold	17	89	170	91	267	15.7
Arbesfeld	17	66	88	65	198	11.6
Ashton	17	60	99	48	168	9.9
Lively	17	36	54	24	96	5.6
Ward	18	36	31	23	74	4.1
Simmons	17	28	31	20	76	4.5
Lecuona	17	10	13	7	27	1.6
Watts	12	8	15	7	23	1.9
Patton	10	7	7	4	18	1.8
Wurzbach	10	7	4	4	18	1.8
Mahoney	7	2	4	2	6	.9
Totals	17	476	847	486	1342	78.9
Opponents	17	480	598	327	1287	76.1

Tankers Meet Aggies, SMU

Two important meets threaten to smash the FSU tankers' 23-meet winning streak in the next two weeks—S.M.U. on January 28 and Texas A&M February 11.

Coach Jim Stults said he expected the Tribe to win, but they would be close matches. "Both teams were tough last year, and are even better this year," he said, "and both have nationally known swimmers." SMU was undefeated for two years as conference champion until last year.

Vaederbil is also on the schedule, for February 3. An all-lerman team will be needed against SMU and Texas A&M, said the coach, but Vanderbilt will meet a mixed team.

A handicap to the team is the recent dropping out of school of Ernest Stock, thought by the coach to be the "outstanding all-around man in this part of the country."

Centrart Gary Wold and forward Bobby Ward (white uniforms) of Florida State go up for a rebound along with Bill Schwenberger (23) and Dick Vavrick (24) of Loyola, during Monday night's game. The Tribe won their 19th straight home game by beating Loyola, 85-75.

Gymnasts Host Illinois, Feb. 4

With their seventh consecutive Florida AAU championship safely sailed away, Coach Price's gymnasts are now preparing for heck to back meets at the beginning of the new semester.

The first of these will be on February 3, against the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

But Georgia Tech is not regarded as too much of a treat by coach Price and will have his big name gymnasts home. "I'm doing this to have added practices put on the pressure and pulled into a comfortable lead.

On Saturday, February 4, the Florida AAU championships safely sailed away, Coach Price's gymnasts are now preparing for heck to back meets at the beginning of the new semester.

The first of these will be on February 3, against the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

But Georgia Tech is not regarded as too much of a treat by coach Price and will have his big name gymnasts home. "I'm doing this to have added practices put on the pressure men of the squad," said Price.

Co-captains Rafapi Lecuona and Ronnie Amster, and Jamie Ashmore the tumbling Texan, will not make the trip.

On February fourth, FSU plays host to the Navy gym team. The Chicago branch of the University of Illinois are the gymnastic champions of the midwest.

Art Sburlock, outstanding candidate for the olympic team, according to FSU coach Price, leads the Navy Pier team.

Co-Ed Corner

by
Jeanie Jacob

The gymnastic team here is famous all over for its outstanding performers. Many of the students participating hold various honors and recognition.

BEVERLY CUDE, nineteen years old red balling from Noranda Quebec, Canada, is a very active member of the group.

She started gymnastics four years ago, at which time she attended classes twice a week. Two years after this, she joined the Noranda Gymnastic Club where she became a Junior Leader and President. The club traveled to many places putting on shows and demonstrations.

When asked what a woman can do in gymnastic competition, Beverly replied—"They can enter in tumbling, trampoline, flying rings, and all-around. All-around consists of four events: balance beam, free exercise, uneven parallel bars, and side-horse vaulting."

Beverly has always entered in all-around competition in the summer of 1953, she was selected as Canadian SOKOL Women's Champion and third all-around in the Canadian Dominion Championships.

Then in November 1955, she entered a competition in Naples, Florida and won first place all-around for Senior Women in the South Florida A.A.U. gymnastic championships. Congratulations are in store for Miss Beverly Cuda.

Seminoles Top FIBC Standing

The first half of the FIBC season found the Florida State Seminoles solidly entrenched in first place as the only undefeated conference team.

The Tribe has met and beaten every team in the conference except Florida Southern, but the fifth place Mocosans aren't considered a match for the conference leaders.

Florida Southern and Tampa meet tonight in the battle for the second division, and last place Rollins goes against the runner-up Miami Hurricanes tomorrow night.

	W	L	Pct.
Florida State	5	0	1.000
Miami	3	1	.750
Stetson	3	2	.500
Tampa	2	4	.333
Florida Southern	1	3	.250
Rollins	1	4	.200

Baptists Halt Rebels For Independent Title

The intramurel football championships continued in full swing this week, with ideal football weather.

At press time last night ATO and SN were battling it out for the fraternity crown and the outcome was a tossup.

On Monday SAE and DTD met in a sudden-death-and-out contest, and it was a typical frat battle, with the teams closely matched.

The score at the end was ATO 32-26 with DTD knocking on the door for a tie-end-win score as the gun sounded.

On Tuesday Sigma Nu got back into the title fight by dumping SAE 26-21 on a last minute rise play.

Meanwhile ATO won their third straight tournament game, this time with a 19-6 win over Theta Chi. This dropped the TC team into the losers bracket with Sigma Nu.

In the Independent division two West Hall teams, the Penthouse and the Rebels, mixed on Monday. In their previous game the Rebels won 24-8. This time it was 19-6, and that put Penthouse out.

What was billed as the final game of the Independent tourney on Tuesday turned out to be otherwise.

The BSU team had beaten the Rebels 31-28 last week, and led on three different occasions in the Tuesday game only to have the Rebels score a last minute touchdown on an 80 yard running play and then add the winning point 21-20.

Baptists Win

The Baptist team on Wednesday evening slipped through the rain to win a well played game from the Rebels in the extra-finals and become the campus Independent division football champions, 32-19

Baptist took a 6-0 lead in the middle of the first quarter, and were never headed. The score at the half was 18-6.

In the fraternity semi-final on Wednesday Sigma Nu beat Theta Chi 20-7. They had a 12-6 lead at the half on the strength of a 70 yard return of a punt and an intercepted pass.

The all-campus playoff between Baptist and the frat champ will be a night game in Campbell Stadium after the exam periods.

QUICK WAY TO BETTER TASTE: It's illustrated in the Droodle above, titled: Lucky smoker opening fresh pack. (He's merely doing away with a little red tape.) Better taste is what he's after, and better taste is what he'll get. Luckies taste better, you see, because they're made of fine tobacco . . . light, mild tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better. Break out a pack of Luckies yourself. You'll say Lucky Strike is the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

DROODLER, Copyright 1955 by Roger Price

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES!

Luckies lead all other brands, regular or king size, among 36,075 college students questioned coast to coast. The number-one reason: Luckies taste better

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER - Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

©A.T.Co. PRESENTED BY The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

"Coke does something for you, doesn't it."

You feel so new and fresh and good—all over—when you pause for Coca-Cola. It's sparkling with quick refreshment . . . and it's so pure and wholesome—naturally friendly to your figure. Let it do things—good things—for you.

DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
THE TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

"Coke" is a registered trade-mark © 1956, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

Nothing without wings climbs like a '56 Chevrolet!

Ever level off a mountain with your foot? Nothing to it. Just point this new '56 Chevy uphill and ease down on the gas.

Up you go with a quiet (hydra-dualic-hushed valve lifters now in all engines—V8 or 6) rush of power. This is the car, you know, that broke the Pikes Peak record. The car that conquered towering grades and vicious switchback turns to prove its superior performance, handling ease and cornering ability.

These are built-in qualities that mean more driving pleasure and safety for you. Chevrolet also offers such safety features as seat belts, with or without shoulder harness, and instrument panel padding as extra-cost options.

There are 19 new Chevrolets—all with Body by Fisher. Drop in and drive one.

CHEVROLET

See Your Chevrolet Dealer

275 Receive Degrees

(Continued from Page 1)

Pearl Kirper (Cum Laude) Barbara Lee (Cum Laude) Mary Lou Lee (Cum Laude) Mary Ann Lewis Barbara Ann MacKenzie, Kenneth Bruce Mallard, Alice Faith Mangum, Mary Elizabeth Millard (Cum Laude) Earnest Bruce Miller, Jr. Mary Ann Milner, Lindsey Plummer, Mabel Pope Rogers, Mary Ann Rowell (Cum Laude) Mary Ann Savage (Cum Laude) Marilyn Carolyn Reed Scott, Carter Elizabeth Simmons (Cum Laude) Phillip Brooks Slaughter, Charles William Smith, Jr. Jean Ann Smith (Cum Laude) Mary Ann Smith (Cum Laude) Marilou Lee Stalnaker, Laura Jean Stalnaker, Mary Robert Eastwood Bell, Anne Theobald, Marjorie Elliot Vann, Orthia Cook Vann, Wesley Evelyn Lowery Wiggins, Donald Bradford Mulligan Pendleton Gilbert Wells, Paul Franklin Wilson, Jr. Mary Ann Wilson, Thomas Preston Whitehead, Bettie Jo Rhodes Wilson, Clyde William Elmore Richards, Jr. Jesse Edwin Bell, Jr. Mary Ann Woodman, Lois Elizabeth Yarbrough, Douglas Eugene Tho

Bachelor of Arts

Sara Margaret Pierson, Mary Ann Raven, Betsy Ann Ritter, Barbara B Pierson Jones, Gay Bottoms, Charlotte Prentiss Venable

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Bachelor of Science

Virginia Perry Anderson, Joseph Lee Bailey, Jr. Mary Ann Bailey, Emma Jane Barfield, Richard Louis Dean Jones, Dewayne Mary Frances Dougherty Barnes A. Dorsey, Frank Ed. Eddy, Jr. Quinton Radford Parr, Jr. Mary Ann Pearce, Jacqueline (Cum Laude) Marilou Lee Stalnaker,

Walter Anthony Krisk, Chester B. Lamb, Joseph T. Manning, Arnold Marjorie Elliot Vann, Orthia Cook Vann, Wesley Evelyn Lowery Wiggins, Donald Bradford Mulligan Pendleton Gilbert Wells, Paul Franklin Wilson, Jr. Mary Ann Wilson, Thomas Preston Whitehead, Bettie Jo Rhodes Wilson, Clyde William Elmore Richards, Jr. Jesse Edwin Bell, Jr. Mary Ann Woodman, Lois Elizabeth Yarbrough, Smith, Donald Lawrence (Cum Laude) Wade

Bachelor of Arts

Margaret Kingsley Adams, William Richard Adams, Jr. Mary Ann Allen, II Peyton, Martha Chesney, James Edgar Glass (Cum Laude) Howard W. Hartley, Jr. Peyton Hendricks, Joseph Thomas Robert Lewis, Jr. Mary Ann Lewis, Barbara Ann MacKenzie, Thomas Preston Whitehead, Jr. Charles M. Overcash, William Pendleton, Walter O. Roberts, Jr. Phyllis Sawyer, Edith Underhill Scales Joan Collins Waldenmaier, Jerome Walsh, Louis Joseph Bruno

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Master of Music

Harold T. Luce

Master of Science

James Donald Boggus, Joyce Lavelle Brown, Jerry Lee Cain, Jr. Robert Emmett Cassels, Percy B. Cleveland, Clayton Chidsey, Coleman, Jr. Leo B. Everett, Joseph Adams Fine, Johnny A. Fortune, Charles B. Franklin, Jr. Robert Lee Gaskins, Jr. Jack Hall, Katherine Lorena Hudson, James Mervin Havens, Charles H. Hopper, Alice Maxine Johnson, Fred Eugene Nathe, Inger-Marie Nielsen, Reinhold Nielsen, Anna Rebecca Sandefur, Jr. Ruth Shoemberger, Gene's Nathaniel Smith, Jr. Harold J. Thompson, Anna Clare Timmons, Sandra Ann Tyler, James John Vaj Emmett Vreeland, Veronica Brooks Vreeland, Jesse Lee Watson, Jr. Mary Ann Wilson, Jerome Woods, Jane Alice Young

Master of Arts

Rubinah Isenhour Adams, Ney C. Landrum, Jr. Mary Ann Lewis, Barbara C. Mailathlin, James O. Moore, Jr. James Middlebrooks, Eugene Virgil Murdock, Van Orgain Peterson, Dorothy Wright Watkins, Theodore Dawson Wills, Frank Harvey Young

Master of Education

Harry Floyd Dees, Merrill Merton Hall

Doctor of Philosophy

Melvin E. Baum, George High Pratt, Wilson Hildreth, Jr. Frederick Bruce Long, Jean Patrick McGuire, Herbert Arthur Olds, Richard Stuart Young

Johnson, chairman of names; Nell Davis, social chairman; Evelyn Mill, activities chairman;

Gary McAteer, house chairman; Doris Roberds, intramurals; Ruby Jean Barker, song chairman; Sally Jane Williams, altruistics; Mary Sue Barnette, editor; Jo Ellen McKnight, scribe; Beverly Davis, librarian and billet; Ann Bullock, dining hall mistress; Carolyn Bolt, chaplain; Joan Coleman, Panhellenic representative; Patsy Schuelad, guard.

ZTA

Monday evening the Zeta Tau Alpha's elected their new officers for the coming year. Sara Ann Coulter was unanimously elected as the new president, succeeding June Yates.

Other new officers are Nancy Lee Young, vice-president; Mary Powell, treasurer; Jo Jones, corresponding secretary; Crystal McRae, recording secretary; Sally Erickson, social chairman; Pandy Dugan, rush chairman. Lala McDonald, ritual chairman; Sarah Umstot, scholarship chairman; Ann Williams, house chairman; Selby Allen, historian; Joan Harmon, Panhellenic representative; Joan Jones, song chairman, and Ann Kelly, Panhellenic secretary.

Graduating ZTA seniors were honored the same night with a banquet at the house. Those receiving their diplomas next week are Sue Herndon, Jane Smith, and Nancy Watkins. Also honored were Zetas leaving after the semester, Patsy Boulware, Ann Waters, and Kitty Wade.

Pi Kappa Phi

James Ralston is the Pi Kappa Phi president for '56. Robert Hutchins will serve as treasurer; Richard C. Lukas, secretary; John G. Brown; Billy Boatright, chaplain; and Joe Emmons, warden.

Executive assistants appointed are Gilbert Fernandez, steward; Paul Perry, house manager; Val Hopkins, assistant treasurer; Jim Nettles, social chairman.

Recently pledged into Pi Kappa Phi were Stanley Griffis, and Ronald Steurer.

Phi Delts

The Phi Delta Thetas honored three graduating senior brothers, David Aonew, Wilbur Hawkins, and Bill Plumb with a banquet at the house Tuesday night.

In recognition of their service to the fraternity, they were presented Phi Delta alumni charms. Guests included Walda Sterns, ADP; Ina Jean Pruitt, KAT; Karl Burmeister, School of Music Dean, Thomas Wright, associate professor of music, and Dr. L. A. Rumsey, head of the Nursing Science Dept. and chapter advisor.

In Grecian Times

Sororities Elect Spring Officers

Alpha Gamma Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha and Pi Kappa Phi have elected officers for next semester.

Gamma Beta chapter of Alpha Gam announces Lou Griffin as its new president; Joan Cunningham, first vice-president; Barbara Ayala, second vice-president; Sue Brunson, recording secretary, Sally Lou Carlton, corresponding secretary; Dot Job, treasurer; Carmine Rainer; rush chairman, Ruth Ann Smith, Jane Waddam, Betty Lou Wade, Ride

Campus Cutie Of The Week

Photo by Steve Klatil

MISS ROSEMARY STEPHENSON
Sophomore from St. Petersburg

Student Party Sets Meeting

Plans are underway for a Student Party political convention, announced party chairman Graham Carothers.

The convention will be held Wednesday evening, February 8 at 7 in the Science 124 Lecture Hall.

The purpose of the convention is to make initial preparation for the party platform, the party constitution, and for the election of all party officials, reminds Carothers.

Chairman, secretary and treasurer of the Student Party will be elected at this convention. Any competition is expected for chairmanship.

In charge of arrangements for the convention is Barbara Bowman. Joanne Anderson is publicity chairman.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
ENDS SATURDAY "RANSOM" GLENN FORD DONNA REED	ENDS SATURDAY "DAY OF TRIUMPH" LEE J. COBB ROBERT WILSON JOANNE DEU
SUNDAY — TWUESDAY "THE RAINS OF RANCHIPUR" LANA TURNER RICHARD BURTON FEED MacMURRAY JOAN CAULFIELD MICHAEL RENNIE	SUNDAY — TUESDAY "HELL'S HORIZON" JOHN IRELAND also "TEEN AGE CRIME WAVE" TOMMY COOK
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
ENDS SATURDAY "SHOTGUN" Sterling Hayden also "New York Confidential" Broderick Crawford	ENDS SATURDAY "Santa Fe Passage" John Payne, Rod Cameron Faith Domergue
SUNDAY - MONDAY "GENTLEMEN MARRY BRUNETTES"	"JAIL BUSTERS" The Bowery Boys
TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY "The Maa From Laramie"	SUNDAY - MONDAY "HELL'S ISLAND" John Payne, Mary Murphy
	TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY "A PRIZE OF GOLD"

RITZ THEATER—ENDS SATURDAY
Man of Mystery . . . "LEONARDO DA VINCI"

SUN. - MON.—"STRANGERS"—Ingrid Bergman, George Sanders

$ Cash For Your $ Used Books

Sell the Books You No Longer Need for Cash to

BILL'S BOOK STORE

Sell Your Books Before: New Editions Come Out Book Is Changed Here

WE PAY THE HIGHEST CASH PRICES FOR USED BOOKS OF VALUE:

We Buy Books Whether Used at Florida State University or Not

See You Next Semester at the MECCA

GOOD LUCK ON THE EXAMS!

. . . and get a better shave! Old Spice Pre-Electric Shave Lotion set- up your beard—tunes up your shaver. Stops dragging, dragging and over-heating. The new, non-oily lubricant, "Isophyl," prepares the skin for easy gliding . . . lubricates the shaver cutting edges for greatest efficiency. 100 No federal tax (Plus Tax)

SHULTON New York • Toronto

Band Goes To Mardi Gras

The Air Force ROTC band will participate in New Orleans' Mardi Gras the first week of second semester. It has been announced.

The band will leave for New Orleans Saturday, February 4, and return Monday. On February 2, the first day of classes, a sample concert will be presented during regular AFROTC drill under the assistant conductorship of Richard Mayo.

In addition to marching in the Mardi Gras parade the FSU cadet musicians will present a concert at the Mardi Gras ball.

(Continued from Page 1)

Senate Says

concerts, students would have more voice in choosing their own entertainment.

Barbara Bachman asked and received permission from senate to allow Gamma Alpha Chi, advertising honorary, to do promotions and advertising of the Fred Waring concert and a project for that organization.

Classified

IF ANYONE has located a blue Jacket zippered down in front please return it to George Goldstein at Senior Hall or the Lost and Found in Lenamire. Last seen in the Soda Shop Tuesday afternoon.

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S MUSIC CENTER
107 E. JeMerson
Phone 3-0161

Buy Your Films have them developed at the most convenient store
CHEVET'S
Corner of College and Adams
the best assortment of Cameras and Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

WIN
$50,000 IN PRIZES

HURRY! HURRY! HURRY! CONTEST CLOSES JAN. 31ST

10 Ford Thunderbirds

PLUS 40 COLUMBIA Hi-Fi Phonographs

FOR THE 50 COLLEGE STUDENTS WHO WRITE THE BEST NAMES FOR VICEROY'S PURE, WHITE, NATURAL FILTER!

10 Winners! 10 Thunderbirds! Win a fully equipped new '56 Thunderbird! Pick your choice of colors! Automatic transmission, two tops, power steering, radio, white tube walls. And now and wow!

Plus 10 RCA Victor Color TV Sets to the college organizations designated by the 10 Thunderbird winners!

40 Winners! 40 Columbia Hi-Fi Sets! Own America's most exciting Hi-Fi! 20-LP Phonograph—the Columbia "360"—in beautiful Mahogany!

JUST NAME THIS AMAZING FILTER! THAT'S ALL YOU DO TO WIN!

20,000 FILTER TRAPS TWICE AS MANY AS THE NEXT TWO LARGEST-SELLING FILTER BRANDS—FOR THAT REAL TOBACCO TASTE!

NO OTHER FILTER LIKE VICEROY!
No cotton! No paper! No asbestos!
No charcoal! No foreign substance of any kind! Made from Pure Cellulose—Soft...Snow-white...Natural!

HINTS TO HELP YOU WIN!

You'll think of dozens of names when you read these facts: The Viceroy Filter is the most modern on the world today! Perfected through 20 years of research!

It contains no cotton, no paper, no charcoal, no asbestos, no foreign substance of any kind! Instead, it is made from pure cellulose—a soft, snow-white, natural material found in many good foods you eat.

Only the Viceroy Filter has 20,000 filter traps—twice as many filter traps as the next two largest-selling filter brands! No wonder Viceroy gives you real Tobacco Taste!

Name this amazing filter and win! It's easy!

It's easy to name this amazing Viceroy Filter when you know what it is made of . . . why it's superior . . . why Viceroys give you that real tobacco taste you miss in every other filter brand!

Remember, the Viceroy Filter is made from 100% pure cellulose—a soft, natural material found in many good foods you eat! There are no impurities in the Viceroy Filter. So naturally it lets the real tobacco taste come through!

Name the Viceroy Filter! Enter this $50,000 contest, today!

JUST FOLLOW THESE EASY RULES!

1 On any plain paper, write the name you think most suitable for the pure, white Viceroy Filter described on this page. It's easy! You can think of dozens of names like "Super-Pure," "Filtron," "Naturale," "Filter Flow," "Cellutrap," "Twice-The-Traps." You can use one, two or three words. Any name may suit!

2 Mail your entry to Viceroy Thunderbird Contest, P. O. Box 6A, Mount Vernon 10, New York. Write plainly or print your name, the name of your college and your mailing address at college! Submit as many entries as you wish—but with each entry include the picture of the Viceroy Filter Tip torn or cut from the backs of two (2) Viceroy packages.

3 Contest open to all students attending colleges and universities in the U.S.A.

4 Contest closes midnight, January 31, 1956. Entries judged by The Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation on the basis of aptness of thought, originality and interest.

5 Prizes listed elsewhere in this ad. Winners of the ten Thunderbirds will also be permitted to designate the school organizations to which Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corporation will award RCA Victor Color TV Sets! Write the name of the organization you want to receive this award on your entry.

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

HONOR CODE
Stands Trial
(See Lead Editor!)

Vol. XLI, No. 26 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Wednesday, January 25, 1956

Bad Housing Shortage To Be Alleviated

Married Students Affected

The university's serious shortage of married student housing may be partially alleviated with the completion of 93 new apartment units.

At a recent meeting in Jacksonville, the Board of Control voted $211,500 to buy 21 duplex and seven triplex dwellings in the El Rancho Vila section off Tennessee near the campus.

The property is owned by the Civil Housing Authority.

Initially, the property consist of 124 apartments, most of which have been sold to private individuals.

Each apartment has a bedroom, living room-dining room combination, kitchen and bathroom. The buildings are of concrete brick and masonry with tile roofs.

Many married students are forced away for lack of housing and others take accomodations off campus and at unfavorable rates.

Resume Of Events

After several final exams were missed or ruled invalid due to "excuses" last week, here's what happened:

MONDAY—Members of Men's Senate attempted to call a Student Senate meeting in order to assist in the investigative committee.

MONDAY — Representatives of fraternities met with Dr. Sam Neel, Dean of Men, and pledged their aids in organized cheating. (See Frats To.)

MONDAY NIGHT — Florida Flambeau conducts poll of students concerning the Student's Honor (See four)

MONDAY NIGHT — Honor Court obtains three witnesses to testify in suspects Suspects subpoenaed.

TUESDAY — Honor Court at 8:30 a.m. Suspended degrees Two Students Accused.)

TUESDAY — Attorney General Tom Woods says two were not guilty of deslines and pledges allies effort to prosecute others. (See Convictions)

TUESDAY — Coyle Moore, Student Body president, explains his view of situation. (See Moore Declares.)

TUESDAY — Barbara Graham, Chief Justice, pledges further investigation. (See Court Won't Stop)

TUESDAY — Faculty review committee sustains Honor Court decision. (See insert in The Students.)

BOOKS DUE

All students, including graduates, must return their library books today. An additional fee of twenty-five (25¢) cents will be charged after today. Students are urged to check with the Library to be sure records are cleared.

Frats To Help 'Curb' Cheating

Fraternities here have pledged to work with authorities to help "curb" any organized cheating on final exams.

Presidents of all of Florida State University's 15 social fraternities, including the Student Body President Coyle Moore, took the action Monday after an informal discussion with Dean of Men Sam Neel.

The meeting was arranged by a group of rumors arose that the campus of large-scale "leakage" of final exams, explained Dr. Neel. In opening discussion, Neel said the rumors amounted "almost to hysteria."

After over an hour of discussion the group decided to take concerted action, first making it clear that their action did not imply that the fraternities alone were responsible for alleged buying and selling of final exams. The fraternity presidents said they were acting only as an organized portion of the FSU student body, then agreed unanimously on the following formal statement:

"In an assembled meeting of representatives of fraternities with the student government and administration, the fraternities agreed to work with the administration, collectively as well as individually, to curb the organized cheating on examps if it exists."

Little Information

During discussion prior to the passage of this resolution, little definite information was brought forth on the situation. Neel said he was convinced in his own mind that an "organized ring" was at work distributing final exams. He continued that, according to his information, about seven different examinations had gotten into the hands of the student body before the tests were given. He believed the price of these was ten dollars per exam.

One president volunteered the information that he had learned exams were bought by members of his chapter. He said he called a meeting and asked for the exams, and that "quite a few" were turned in. These were burned, he stated.

Knew No Names

None of the presidents said they knew definitely of the names of any students who had learned exams were bought by members of his chapter. He said he called a meeting and asked for the exams, and that "quite a few" were turned in. These were burned, he stated.

Knew No Names

None of the presidents said they knew definitely of the names of any students who had learned exams were bought by members of his chapter. He said he called a meeting and asked for the exams, and that "quite a few" were turned in. These were burned, he stated.

A FAIR PRICE?

Investigations are still going on for uncovering "transactions" such as in the posed photo above.

Flambeau photo. Tom Sawyer

Men's Senate Is Investigating

Men's Senate is now carrying on an investigation of persons involved in the buying and selling of examinations.

At a meeting held yesterday in the office of Dean of Student Welfare, Dr. R. R. Oglesby, all agencies of Student Government and the administration agreed to assist in finding names of those persons involved.

Led by Hans Tews, vice-president of men's senate is investigating all possible leads to obtain witnesses. They are also investigating names already in the hands of student government.

Persons volunteering any information will be kept in strict confidence by Tom Woods, attorney general, who will prepare the cases to be brought before Honor Court.

Senator Art Moore expressed his desire that a lot more evidence should come to light before everyone goes home between semesters.

Dr. Oglesby stated that he was proud of the way the students have reacted to the episode.

"There seems to be a high morale in the student body and I think student government has done a good job of finding the guilty parties."

LAST ISSUE

This special edition of the Florida Flambeau will be the last until February 7. News will be returned to in the Flambeau office or to the director's desk in Longmire.

Student Pay Comparison Being Made

A comparison of Florida State University student assistant pay rates with those of the University of Florida is among projects being carried on by his cabinet, Coyle Moore Jr., Student Body President, said recently.

Moore said Bob Elting, undersecretary for labor, is surveying the wage situation to determine the average rates of pay for student assistants in various jobs and how they compare with similar jobs at the U. of F.

Maximum rate for assistants here is 75 cents per hour, minimum 50.

Organize Bureau

Moore said Attorney General Tom Woods and his staff are trying to organize a speaker's bureau to provide student speakers for civic clubs throughout the state. The speakers would talk about the university.

Paul Ort, secretary of student welfare, is working to set up a travel bureau by spring holidays, Moore said.

Go-Betweens

The proposed bureau, Moore explained, would serve as a go-between for students having time space and those seeking rides home.

The under-secretary for veteran's affairs, Don Noot, is investigating the number and type of loans available to veterans who must pay restitution fees before receiving government checks.

Moore said that Joan Halford, secretary of the interior, is studying women's regulations to see if anything can be done about some that may need improvement.

APO Operates StudentService

Operated as a student service, the APO Pic Procedure Service is open now through March 3.

Most books are sold the first week after the semester begins but students are urged to turn their books in now to the store in Longmire basement.

The process for selling a book through APO is simple. Students fill out a small form giving the title of the book and the price desired. A receipt is given and when the book is sold the money is sent less five to twenty cents depending on the amounts received for the book. This money is a service charge and is used for maintenance and operation of the bookstore.

The largest turnover according to APO spokesmen is in Psych English, humanities, biology, and sciences. In the facts in charging them with having abused the freedom allowed them in their positions and in calling them just what I think they are—deliberate troublemakers.

Illegal Act

"In my opinion, the group is asking the Board to commit an act which is both illegal and for which its members similt will be held in contempt of court by the Supreme Court of Florida."

A member of the chapter of professional and the resolution was adopted after a panel discussion attended by about all of the group's 300 members.

Kent said that it was his opinion that neither race wants desegregation and "I am definitely opposed to it."

"I believe the opinion of the Supreme Court constitutes the most serious piece of judicial legislation which has occurred in the long history of our country."

Two Students Suspended In Exam Deals Charge

No Appeal Put Forth On Action

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Two men accused of possessing and selling current examinations were suspended from school by Honor Court Saturday.

The two, who maintained innocence, were told they suspended now would last until "such time as you prove your merit for readmittance."

Their counsel at first announced they would appeal the decision but did not do so. The Faculty Review Committee for Student

The Faculty Review Committee yesterday upheld the penalty handed down by Honor Court.

Dr. Sam Neel, Dean of Men, told the Florida Flambeau that the ten men "have let my office yesterday afternoon and confessed the whole thing. They are showing an excellent attitude toward the whole matter."

Dean R. R. Oglesby emphasized that the matter is still not final until reviewed by President Doak S. Campbell.

Courts sustained the student court's decision in a request examination yesterday afternoon.

The Honor Court, breaking precedent, opened its early morning hearing to the Florida Flambeau after the defendants, a sophomore and a freshman, demanded a public trial.

Five Witnesses

Chief Justice Barbara Graham told the pair, who shared a house off-campus with several other men, that three witnesses had testified against them before six members of the Court.

According to Miss Graham, one witness saw copies of current examinations in the men's residence; another saw the sale of a copy for $10, and a third sent for the purpose bought an examination for an undisclosed sum.

The defendants and counsel asked to confront the accusers, but denied the request stating that the testimony was confidential and "privileged" —that no affidavits were necessary.

'It To Judges'

"It's up to the discretion of a judge in any court to conceal the witnesses," Miss Graham said.

The hearing began at 8:30 a.m. Representing the defendants were John A. Little; former Honor Court member, Curtis "Coot" Dickson; and Tom Dumper.

The first defendant testified that Coyle Moore, President Coyle Moore, Dr. Sam Neel, Dean of Men; Frank Bean, of the dean's staff, and a campus policeman searched their quarters Friday night.

He allowed the officials to examine his belongings after being told he had to do so except for an admission of guilt, he testified, but would not let them search those of his friends.

No Warrant

"They didn't have a warrant," he protested when one member of the Court asked why he didn't let the officials search the quarters of the men who were not home at the time.

"The only authority I have is with my own personal property," the defendant said.

The defendant, who admitted that he had been selling from old examinations obtained from

(Continued on Page 4)

'All Exaggerated' Moore Declares

Student Body President Coyle Moore yesterday branded as "grossly exaggerated" rumors of cheating on final exams.

He said the number of examinations out prior to the time of the test was "much lower than rumors would have you believe." Suspension from school of two students has eliminated the source of the cheating, Moore stated.

(For a conflicting viewpoint on this point, see statement by Attorney Gene:al Tom Woods on page one.)

One of the participants in an investigation leading to the summons of the students by Honor Court, Moore denied that a tight organization has been responsible for "leakage" and circulation of final exams.

"Contrary to popular belief," he declared, "the whole operation seems to have been highly disorganized and students obtained the exams simply by finding out who had a copy of the exam they wanted and then obtaining it."

The Student Body President explained that student government officials had gotten their start in investigating the cheating situation after receiving various reports that exams were out.

He continued that some of the reports were "about a house off-campus where it was indicated that a number of exams were being sold." A search of one of the rooms in the house failed to unearth any illicit exams, Moore said, "but later we received reports that these exams were in another part of the house."

(See Honor Court story explaining why other rooms were not searched.)

Explains 'Leaks'

Moore switched to the topic of how the exams had "leaked," commenting, "Judging from the information that we have, it appears that exams were secured by breaking and entering various offices on campus." He said they were later copied and sold for ten dollars apiece, but "not by an organized ring."

Besides the breaking and entering method, Moore said that the exams could have been obtained in at least two other ways:

A leak in the Duplicating department. This could have occurred, he said, from stencils or first run copies. "We have asked administrative officials of the university to investigate this."

Secondly, by removal of thrown-away copies. "This could include stencils typed in various offices, carbons or notes thrown into waste baskets and later removed by persons breaking in.

'No Syndicate'

"There doesn't seem to have been any organized syndicate dispersing the exams," he stated. "However, people in certain dormitories and certain fraternities knew where they could get exams and show them to friends."

He said that student government officials had drawn up a list of the examinations which were "reliably reported" to be in the possession of students. All of these exams have been changed, he stated, with the exception of the History 101 and Humanities finals.

"I have been told that any distribution of grades made on these Humanities and History exams does not establish any curve as the grades will be correlated with norms established over a period of years. This will mean that students who did not have a copy of the exam in advance will not be placed at a disadvantage by the students who held the exams setting curves higher than they would have been.

Not Many Out

"Also, despite rumors that are greatly exaggerated,

Barbershop Quartet—Members of Collegians' men's glee club, sing at concert held last Wednesday. L. to r. are John Condra, Virgil Austin, Russ Alderman and Danny Whipple.

Flambeau photo Adrian Allen

Convictions Don't End It Says Woods

Honor Court convictions of two students yesterday for possessing and selling current tests does not end the matter, Tom Woods, student attorney general, declared yesterday.

He asserted an all-out drive will be made to apprehend and expel leaders of a group which he said constituted "a professional job of breaking and entering several departments" to obtain copies of examinations.

He said anyone connected with the tests—as a seller, purchaser or possessor—will be liable for the heaviest possible punishments unless he volunteers information leading to the conviction of others.

"This includes everybody who had any access to an examination," he explained. "Withholding evidence also is a violation of the Honor Code."

The Statement

His complete statement follows:

"This business of test selling and cheating has gotten out of hand and as of today two people are convicted and dismissed from school, but this is only the beginning. The Honor Court, Attorney General, and his assistants are cooperating with other Student Government authorities to make a sustained effort to see that everyone connected with the thing is exposed and all of them sent to jail.

"We'll do everything in our power to prosecute offenders to the full extent of the law. If, however, an offender decides to turn himself in and confess there is an excellent chance his sentence will be appreciably lessened.

Have Names

"We have names of people who have been operating in fraternity houses and private places on campus and will investigate them thoroughly. We urge that anyone who has evidence concerning this matter report it to the Honor Court or to the Attorney General."

Woods said he thought the two men suspended yesterday were "among the top echelon" of those who have been "in the test business" if they were the leaders.

Rumors of dissension in student government due to the handing of the case were caused by a "little misunderstanding between the Honor Court and student government," he said. Woods declared the matter is now cleared up." He said all agencies are "cooperating fully."

Court Won't Stop At Just One: Graham

Honor Court chairman Barbara Graham has asserted that the "probe will not stop with one conviction."

Graham, the non-voting chairman of the investigative committee, explained that this was not the end but the beginning of her investigations.

"Although two students were suspended today, I don't know that many others are involved. We would like to get other students who are equally guilty."

Honor court is now trying to get evidence against students who both sold and bought the exams.

When asked if students who turned themselves in would receive lighter sentences, Miss Graham explained that since they would have only the charge of cheating to face, it would have to be lighter. Students who are turned in by others, also face charges of withholding evidence.

Miss Graham emphasizes however that she cannot guarantee immunity to any student. "It is up to the court to decide," she explained.

Members of the honor court are Lon Hatton, Larry Moore, Don Alford, Ed Hinson, Shirley Dallas, Jeanne Cadenhead, Evelyn Moll and Polly Swain.

Students who have information concerning the buying or selling of current exams should contact one of these people or member of the Attorney General's office, concluded Miss Graham.

SIGNALA QUEEN PICS AVAILABLE

All contestants in the Seventh Signala Queen contest have been asked to pick up their photographs in the office of Dr. Reid Montgomery in the basement of Longmire. This should be done by Monday said Don Heidel, editor.

Board Of Control Critizes UF Integration Advocates

Na Action

Chairman Fred Kent of the Board of Control yesterday lashed out at the group of University of Florida professors who advocated immediate integration by calling them "deliberate troublemakers."

Kent aimed his blast at the University Chapter of American Association of University Professors who recently adopted a resolution asking the Board to form the University "immediately to all academically and legally qualified applicants."

Kent told a Rotary Club at Gainesville that he was expressing "solely my opinion" in saying the university "has been open to all academically and legally qualified applicants.

"But the intent of that resolution appears to be to urge that the University be opened immediately to Negroes," he said.

The Board Chairman reminded the Rotarians that the State Supreme Court is presently considering a case which will determine under what conditions Negro may be admitted to the University."

The Board of Control, which administers the policies of the state university, has announced that it will take no action regarding admission of Negroes until the Supreme Court has ruled on the case.

The suit in question was filed by Virgil Hawkins, Daytona Beach Negro, who sought to gain admission to the University of Florida Law School. His move was stymied by the Florida high court which said that under the U. S. Supreme Court decision, a Negro could be admitted only when it could be done without causing "chaos."

The Florida Court has appointed a commissioner to take testimony to determine when such a move can be made.

Trouble Attempt

Kent said he considered adoption of the "immediate integration" amendment by the professors "an attempt to cause nothing but trouble by a group or persons who either are ignorant of the law and facts involved or who are deliberate and premeditated troublemakers."

Though he admitted such a resolution came under the heading of academic freedoms, he asserted "I believe that I am . . . justified in the facts in so charging them with having abused the freedom allowed them in their positions and in calling them just what I think they are—deliberate troublemakers.

Illegal Act

"In my opinion, the group is asking the Board to commit an act which is both illegal and for which its members similt will be held in contempt of court by the Supreme Court of Florida."

A member of the chapter of professional and the resolution was adopted after a panel discussion attended by about all of the group's 300 members.

Kent said that it was his opinion that neither race wants desegregation and "I am definitely opposed to it."

"I believe the opinion of the Supreme Court constitutes the most serious piece of judicial legislation which has occurred in the long history of our country."

Wilson, Baker Win Air ROTC Medals

Howard T. Wilson and J. W. Baker, advanced Air Force ROTC cadets, were presented special achievement awards during a review in their honor yesterday.

Wilson, a cadet lieutenant colonel and commander of Squadron Four, received a gold medal award and Baker, cadet captain of Flight B, Squadron One, received a silver award.

Both medals, provided by the Chicago Tribune, are based on air science achievement, scholastic attainment and character for the first semester, said Col. H. W. Withycombe, Professor of Air Science.

Convictions Don't End It Says Woods

Honor Court convictions of two students yesterday for possessing and selling current tests does not end the matter, Tom Woods, student attorney general, declared yesterday.

He asserted an all-out drive will be made to apprehend and expel leaders of a group which he said constituted "a professional job of breaking and entering several departments" to obtain copies of examinations.

He said anyone connected with the tests—as a seller, purchaser or possessor—will be liable for the heaviest possible punishments unless he volunteers information leading to the conviction of others.

"This includes everybody who had any access to an examination," he explained. "Withholding evidence also is a violation of the Honor Code."

The Statement

His complete statement follows:

"This business of test selling and cheating has gotten out of hand and as of today two people are convicted and dismissed from school, but this is only the beginning. The Honor Court, Attorney General, and his assistants are cooperating with other Student Government authorities to make a sustained effort to see that everyone connected with the thing is exposed and all of them sent to jail.

"We'll do everything in our power to prosecute offenders to the full extent of the law. If, however, an offender decides to turn himself in and confess there is an excellent chance his sentence will be appreciably lessened.

Have Names

"We have names of people who have been operating in fraternity houses and private places on campus and will investigate them thoroughly. We urge that anyone who has evidence concerning this matter report it to the Honor Court or to the Attorney General."

Woods said he thought the two men suspended yesterday were "among the top echelon" of those who have been "in the test business" if they were the leaders.

Rumors of dissension in student government due to the handing of the case were caused by a "little misunderstanding between the Honor Court and student government," he said. Woods declared the matter is now cleared up." He said all agencies are "cooperating fully."

Court Won't Stop At Just One: Graham

Honor Court chairman Barbara Graham has asserted that the "probe will not stop with one conviction."

Graham, the non-voting chairman of the investigative committee, explained that this was not the end but the beginning of her investigations.

"Although two students were suspended today, I don't know that many others are involved. We would like to get other students who are equally guilty."

Honor court is now trying to get evidence against students who both sold and bought the exams.

When asked if students who turned themselves in would receive lighter sentences, Miss Graham explained that since they would have only the charge of cheating to face, it would have to be lighter. Students who are turned in by others, also face charges of withholding evidence.

Miss Graham emphasizes however that she cannot guarantee immunity to any student. "It is up to the court to decide," she explained.

Members of the honor court are Lon Hatton, Larry Moore, Don Alford, Ed Hinson, Shirley Dallas, Jeanne Cadenhead, Evelyn Moll and Polly Swain.

Students who have information concerning the buying or selling of current exams should contact one of these people or member of the Attorney General's office, concluded Miss Graham.

SIGNALA QUEEN PICS AVAILABLE

All contestants in the Seventh Signala Queen contest have been asked to pick up their photographs in the office of Dr. Reid Montgomery in the basement of Longmire. This should be done by Monday said Don Heidel, editor,

'Troublemakers'

Cheating Nightmare Brings Much To Light

The Honor Code of this University stands trial today as did the suspended students yesterday. Only in this instance, the student body will sit as jury, to determine the verdict.

The appeal for witnesses in its behalf has been made by the student authorities concerned. Silence on the part of the student body has thus far presented an excellent prosecution of the system. Many have the knowledge required to defend the honor, but evidently lack the guts to stand up for what they believe. Or maybe honor is no longer considered worthy of student concern.

Perhaps it will be better to have a "realistic" approach, to set up a police system and tell the public that honor no longer exists at this University? No, we think not. But it would appear the student body would have it that way.

"When neither their property nor their honor is touched, the majority of men live content," said Machiavelli. But the complacency of the students has been disturbed more by anger, "righteous indignation," than by action to heal the wounds.

And if the students continue to be silent on the subject, we wouldn't be surprised to see honor bleed to death under their noses.

* * *

The administration is to be congratulated for allowing the student courts and government processes to handle the situation completely. Much credit is due to the student forces who are conducting the investigation to the best of their constitutional abilities.

However, the student constitution has been proven insufficient in its provisions for effective court procedures, and we should like to recommend the following changes be instituted as soon as possible.

Believing that all Constitutional rights (U. S. and Florida) should be allowed the defendant in a case, we were quite disgruntled to learn that FSU's student constitution did not provide half the rights allowed in legal practice outside the University.

Early this fall, the Attorney General of the student body suggested a revision of court procedures, and outlined the possibilities of creating a body for prosecution-investigation purposes and recommending counsel for defense. Such revision, had it been made, would have prevented the nightmarish state of anarchy which accompanied investigating procedures in this instance.

We feel that the final combination and cooperation of forces which has now resulted will probably handle the cases which will succeed yesterday's trial. A committee appointed by Men's Senate is continuing investigation, the Attorney General and his staff are preparing cases for prosecution, and the Honor Court will conduct the trials.

This combination of forces has already uncovered a good deal of evidence to be used in forthcoming trials which the Honor Court, by itself, would have been unable to bring to light, a physically impossible task for one group of its size.

* * *

One other factor, which has bearing on the procedure of the courts, was the demand by the accused students yesterday that they be allowed to have an open trial. In contrast to the usual closed-door proceedings, it was the first Honor Court trial on cheating open to the public and the press.

While the Florida Flambeau does not advocate the use of the names of defendants or witnesses in these cases, we do feel that more publicity than is now allowed, might make students more aware of the consequences involved in violating the Honor Code.

Versus

Graduation, FSU . . . Hmmnn

By CON HORN

Dear Mr. Administrator of my beloved alma mator:
I'm a senior—
I won't be in your rapidly expanding air-conditioned sunkissed dream (with built-in forty-story dorms and major football team) for very long now.
I may be wrong now,
but I think you're rapidly expanding in the wrong direction.
Correction:
You've gone and dood it.
I first kenwed it
when the courses that required brains and pencil,
rather than one hundred students and a stencil,
(just make an X—you don't even have to read the text), slowly disappeared
from a schedule of classes geared to educate, in a manner almost painless,
Florida high school secondraters.
I watched these inept, stumbling, smalltime operators come piling in and thought:
"Mr. Executive, you're caught.
Pretty soon your college is going to be a washed-up junior college with sophomores and freshmen all around and not a graduating senior to be found (the class of '37 having failed or been jailed)
other than a few unfortunate bright ones who couldn't afford a trip outside the state of Florida."
But it's okay, I know your position—
no tuition,
a state university, open to every Tom Dick and Harry,
what can you do? But I don't think you'd be very pleased to meet your Average Student, that second-rater
I was telling you about, the Lowest
Common Denominator,

* * *

THAT'S YOU BUDDY, with this paper in your hands and the frat pin on your sweater, sitting there in the House. A hat pin wouldn't keep the brains from trickling out your ears.
You chucked away your soul and the price of a few warm beers to buy an exam and stay in school, as if any poor demented fool couldn't make it through without doing that—they do!
Just go to class;
you'll pass.
But not you, Mister In-the-Know, you found the easy way
to flush your D's away.
So now I'm in it. I go here, too, and when I try to get a job, they'll all say "FSU . . . "
hmmm. Where they had the cheating scandal.
right?" And I'll watch them pause a minute, staring, wondering whether I was in it.

* * *

Yeah, you made it this time, buddy
Schoolmate. Friend.
Why pretend?
You're probably safe, you and your brothers and the guys who did the job and all the others
who know what's going on and smile.
Brotherhood. In unity there is strength.
Meanwhile,
all of you who don't get caught, who made it
your school is my school and I hate it.
Your breath is in the air I breathe. I touch
perhaps the things your hands have held. That much is enough to make me sick. After I get my degree in June, you'll be the guy whose laughter
I'll hear from the last row.
You, better than anyone, will know how much that piece of paper's worth.
Just my luck to graduate from FSU where a buck can probably buy
a guy
a fancy-looking phony, maybe used, degree.
If he just knows who to see.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ——— Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ——— Jerr Bradfield, Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Sketch Adrian Allen
Campus Editor ——— Eleanor Kirby
Feature Editor ——— Margaret Miller

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ——— Betsy Voorhees
Exchange Staff ——— Martha McLeod, Sandra Colley

Pat Marston, News Editor
Sports Editor ——— Pierce Lankbeek
Sports Staff ——— Larry Block, Dave Evans, Alan Whitmarsh
Junior Staff — Arlieda Rice, Bob Dollison, Bob Moren, Steve Kidd.
Copy Editor ——— Charlet Pelletvat

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown,
Circulation ——— Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue ——— George Goldstein
Business ——— Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith, Enid Pearlman, Jean Anderson, Les Mayer
Telephone 3 9 5 0, extension 8 8 8 1, 8 8 8 2, 3 1 1, 2 1 3 Lonamire Building
Intercollegiate Press

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

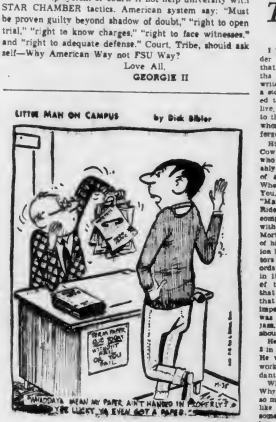
Dear Mama Seminole . . .

DEAR MAMA:

HALLS QUIET, no one run across campus, no one smile or call to Georgie. Everyone stay in room, study, cram for big exams. Georgie study too, not want leave Friendly village at request of Big Chiefs. Many braves, Maidens, not study. Them buy. Georgie disappointed in tribe that many of them buy, trade final exams that professors use every term. Georgie not want cheat. Not want be learned as have been taken for the goal of education itself. A true scholar would not compromise with an A that he got by cramming into his head information he would soon forget.

But we've got a culture—and Florida State is at its mercy—in which grades and a diploma

Seem this exam season more cheating than any before. Lot of tribe sell personal integrity for grade, for tight to be initiated, keep scholarship. Me realize value of these things, but with good scales upon which values must be weighed, these things not worth price of brave's honor. Purchase price too high for goods received, for when person sell honor little left him in realm of personal worth. Brave who stand by own accomplishments and upon own work, stand taller than brave who stand on lies and cheating. Them not raise brave, but become hole for him to lose self respect. Honest C speak louder than A that brave gettum by cheating. One brave tell'um me, "no one ever know." Him wrong because most important person of all will know: HE will know.



TRIBE MUST NOW make up mind. Honor System or no Honor System. Long been debated by all tribe. Time for decision is now, pretense of system worse than no system at all. If braves, maidens who cheat, turn in themselves, if persons who know they cheated turn them in, then me say keep system. But if all tribe refuse to carry out their portion of Honor System and these things not gone, then is time Honor System should leave Friendly Village.

Mama, maybe Georgie is "odd ball," "not hep," or is "fool," but to me Honor System and Honor are important things. And Georgie hurt that Village him love and Tribe him trust not live up to debt them owe themselves. Me think that many of tribe also feel this way, if so, then now it tribe's duty to see practice hailed. To work with Honor Court to see people who break laws made by tribe punished. Is time when work must be done in open. Too many things faster and become even more corrupt when kept covered, is time University and Tribe assume mature attitude toward things, and allow air, sunshine to help heal troubles. Or some day tribe and university find that corruptness has attacked all parts of body and Great Seminole lie dying.

HONOR COURT MUST remember one thing. Honor system good, Honor Court good. But this true only when court procedure also good. Court more than twelve hours notice to appear, no statement of charges prior to appearance, witnesses not have'um to face people they accuse. This bad. Not help system or court. It not help university with STAR CHAMBER tactics. American system say: "Must be proven guilty beyond shadow of doubt," "right to open trial," "right to know charges," "right to face witnesses," and "right to adequate defense." Court, Tribe, should ask self—Why American Way not FSU Way?

Love All,
GEORGIE II

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

The Dissenter

Rumor Sea Inundates Campus

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

THE CAMPUS IS inundated in a sea of rumors that cast some very visible and noxious debris.

It is unescapably clear that some persons obtained copies of final examinations and that many people bought such copies.

It is not an established fact to accept. It is discussed in terms of surprise and shock and the trite-but-true "I never thought it would happen here."

And, following the pattern that produced such mass dishonesty, the wailing query arises: "What about my test and my grade."

Can it be possible that honor means so little to so many? The answer lies in the key word "grade."

Grades on this and many campuses have ceased to be an indication of how much one has learned and have been taken for the goal of education itself. A true scholar would be concerned with an A that he got by cramming into his head information he would soon forget.

But FSU has taken defense upth an honor system which is self-governed in the future in that it expects us to inform on others. We cannot bring ourselves to inform, even when others' resource to the easy way to an A gives us a B on the raising curve. The honor system has further presumed that one is honorable if he exhibits the manifestations of honesty. But as an institution for a university, the honor system is pathetic, for it ignores an intangible called intellectual and scholastic honesty.

Because the lack of this intangible has been made public, a degree from FSU may well mean less as a means of buying employments and "respect" some years to come. Those who participated in the test-selling have defeated their own purpose.

WE COULD TAKE refuge in this irony except for the claims arising from our whole ratiousness and from the abuse that will soon arise from the public. We must have virtues for sacrifice.

Our cheeks burning with shame, we shall enforce the honor system and throw many people out of school. The fuse will ignite.

But the people who should get —all those who do not want an education but a degree — ask what's a difference?—will remain, and our educational system is too far "advanced" to reverse it.

Sometimes there must be an answer. This event could serve as a warning to all of us—not to be afraid to blow up who would employ the taught means of dishonesty.

In The Wings

No 'Damoclean Sword' Criticism

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

I RECEIVED a curious letter the week ended our "Let's Appreciate." While I usually ignore unsigned anonymous letters, this one raised some interesting questions Referring to the Lab Band concert, the writer said:

"I can't help but wonder if the great difference in the price you're available to you to speak out against such a farce as characterization of America's only originally conceived jazz form. Certainly some form of defense ought to be offered after the vicious onslaught of this band. Some makers has run into his own petard when he dug a suitable portion of the student body to account for the fact that the horns seemed to be playing some kind of rhythmless rag with the rhythm section? How do you account for the lack of blend among sections within the horns and the inability of the band? Explain why the group never once "swung" as a cohesive unit and seemed always to be straining within itself to find some common denominator to build on. Explain why, with all the power and musicianship available a fine Shorty Rogers arrangement came out sounding more like a fugitive from the background music of the outdated movie cartoons that we cringe at on television. Last, but still not least, please, why all I could hear from the first note of the first time was the obnoxious thump, thump, thump of a completely unrhythmic guitar amplified beyond all reason and completely out of the realm of chance of the group's swinging. "

To begin with, the writer (who insists upon hiding behind anonymity) refers to the concert as "a gross misrepresentation of America's only originally conceived art form" (jazz). I would refer the writer to my column of January 12, in which I point out the futility of trying to define jazz, and the impossibility of achieving objective standards.

THE ONLY TANGIBLE criticism the writer made was of the "thumping" of the guitar, and I think I can dig it on the fact that the band only had one rehearsal in Welcoist before the concert. There was no time to experiment with mike placement or balance, although this does not excuse the results.

The balance of the writer's criticisms deal with intangibles which you look for in the best of professional recording artists that you should not insist upon of a fine aca non for students.

The writer is also wrong to me responsible for the shortcomings of the group, apparently because I am the "composer" them or go out of my way to criticize.

I think the best way to clear this up is simply by a statement of policy, somewhat which I should have done long ago. To begin with, there is a double standard of criticism. There is the purely professional level and there is the amateur, professional, or local level. The latter is considered into the ability of the performers, the experience they have had, the levels they have reached in the past, and the levels they should be striving to reach. It is not my place to hold a Damocles sword over their heads, ready to descend on the slightest flaw. That sort of criticism

(Continued on Page 4)

At The Movies

'Rains Of Ranchipur' At Florida

By WANDA SUE OWEN

"THE RAINS OF Ranchipur," Cinemascope production in Technicolor is now at the Luxe color which took Twentieth Century Fox two months to film and $4,500,000 to playing for the last time tomorrow at the Florida.

The film story is based on Louis Bromfield's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel, "The Rains Came". It is not however, a remake of the successful beautiful. Those who read the new production, scripted by Merle Miller, author of "Reunion," is set in modern India with the original Bromfield characters realistically confronted by the background and problems of current times.

Lana Turner, as Edwina Esketh; Richard Burton, as the handsome Indian Dr. Safti; Fred MacMurray as an American engineer; Joan Chulfird in the role of Fern, daughter of American missionaries; and Michael Rennie as Lady's aristocratic husband, star in the story of conflicting ideologies and emotions.

IT IS THE story of a fabulously rich American woman who brazenly tempts an English husband a pride with her many love affairs, and the gifted Indian doctor torn between the personal desire for this woman and his duty to his people.

Kirk Douglas's first venture as an independent producer gives the Indians more than a fair shake in "Indian Fighter" playing at the Florida.

A wagon train of settlers headed for Oregon in 1870 is beset by an Indian chief because he believes that his people are being victimized in trading.

A veteran Indian fighter, played by Kirk Douglas is called in to settle the dispute. He does not but not before some battles are fought, and big fun for you.

For his leading lady, Kirk has brought over from Italy Pier one Elsa Martinelli, who makes her motion pumura debut in the film. Walter Matthau, Diana Douglas (Kirk's ex-wife) and Walter Abel, with Lon Chaney, Eduard Franz and Alan Hale heading the supporting cast.

The screen play was written by Frank Davis and Ben Reick, with Andre de Toth directing.

Wondering With Wiljohn

The Last Lonely Notes . . .

By WILJOHN

I WONDER if you will wander with me today on a path that will develop greatly from the one usually taken by this writer? I'm going to tell you a story about a man who helped to make a brand of music live, and about what happened to this man when the people for whom he had given so much forgot him.

His name was Charles (Cow-Cow) Davenport. Those of you who have been of him probably recall him as the composer of such songs "I'll Be Glad When You're Dead You Rascal You," "Cow-Cow Boogie," and "Mama Don't Allow No Easy Riders In Here." He was a composer and a pianist as well with the fabulous Jelly Roll Morton back in the 30s. Most of his records on the old Vocalion label are high priced collectors items now. The last records he made were for Decca in 1938 He was the originator of the "walking bass" effect that is used so widely today and that gave a tremendous impetus to boogie-woogie. He was one of the real greats of jazz, a man whose memory should be revered.

He died alone last December 5 in Cleveland at the age of 52. He was supporting himself by working as a washroom attendant.

Why? you can ask yourself. Why does a man who has been so much to so many turn to go like that? Why wasn't there someone who could have helped him, someone who remembered back then?

AN INJUSTICE of life. It is called fickleness. No one is pleasant to hear about but that happens just the same. Like death and taxes and the cold. No one feels sorry, no one even gives a damn.

A man is great in his chosen field. He puts a part of himself into it and makes it something it would not have otherwise been. And when he passes, he is missed or remembered by any save those with whom he worked? Rarely. Instead, people regard him as someone who did what he had to and deserving no credit for it because it was what he owed them and his field for making something out of him while he was at his peak.

No one, not even a failure, fails as far or as low as the forgotten success. No one is lonelier, nor has a harder road to climb back into the man who has been there and look his right to stay. No human being is hurt as deeply as "He's the one who used to ." Yet what is a man to do? Can he stop what he is and what he feels must be played by and or writing? He does not know that there are those who will dislike him for it and those who will forget his existence if he allows himself to slip back into fatal obscurity?

There is more than one way to tell your truth with your life. A musician performs it. An author writes it. An artist depicts it. Each one showing the truth as it is in them and to them.

THERE ARE MANY more people in this world who can't get through life with their work who can tell it. You may be remembered as a man who did something that caught the public eye, even though you would be ashamed to have anyone to tell your wife about it. And the man who gives himself to a work which holds beauty for few, perhaps none but himself, shall also unburdened. And whose contribution was the greatest? I'll always remember, and base my own personal judgment if writing on, what my Grandfather once wrote me. He said, "Kid, if you always tell the exact truth and nothing but, you may be hard put to find any friends. But when you write one, you know you've got a real one. And, while you may not be remembered by many, those who do remember you will never forget you."

PERHAPS THE really great thing that is needed is someone to work for. I said someone, not something. Show me the boy, even hero on this campus, who work isn't better and doesn't mean more to him when he has a girl to take pride in the things he's done. That's the kind of work that lasts and the sort of reward that counts.

Do you get my feeble point? I mean, who cares what the world thinks of you, if you are a success for yourself and the one you love best? My philos-

(Continued on Page 4)

From The Sidelines

By Pierce Lehmbeck
Sports Editor

OF A NICE GUY AND TALENT—

A little over three years ago Hal Schaus picked up a racquet for the first time. Today, he's captain of Florida State's tennis team and one of the top ranked amateurs in the south.

Obviously that first impression of tennis must have been a big one for Hal. And it was easy be, but he had other motivations as well.

"The fellow who introduced me to the game was the ely champion of my hometown—Manzville, Ohio. He drug me out, told me the rules of the game, stack me on one end of the court and proceeded to slam away.

"I beat him—and for the next three years I barely stopped playing long enough to eat."

Hal must have stopped quite often to eat, and a lot of it must have been 'food for the brain.' 'Cause today he's a graduate psychology student—and despite all his tennis talent, he still finds time to one ambition.

"I'm working on my masters now and my doctorate is next. Tennis will have to remain secondary."

But, doctorate or no, Hal is to be Coach Keith Pitchford's number one man during the coming season. And its a season that few tennis mentors can look at without feeling a bit humble.

It's a parade of champions—Ohio State, Rollins, Indiana, Miami, Georgia Tech, Georgia, Florida, and five other tough ones.

Pitchford managed to guide the Tribe netters to an 11-5 mark while running through a similar array last season, but admissions took their toll. And this year it'll be Schaus, Shelby Tough, Dick Walker, Tom Morgan and George Williams doing most of the swinging.

Hal had a pretty good year last season. As an individual he compiled a 12-3 record. The three matches he lost were to a trio of the nation's best—Alan Morris, Seth Petersen and Chuck Warden.

And from the way he's been working throughout this past year, you can't expect anything but improvement. He's a rapid study with the books and he's that kind of an athlete.

WHO'S CHASING WHO?—

Dateline: It seems like old stuff—contents use, we think it's plenty of value.

It's th recent Georgia Teachers-FSU basketball game we're talking about. The Tribe lost that one, 96-61. But it seems there was a little sidelight on that particular contest that we didn't catch the first time around.

It came to our attention this week when we were thumbing through the Georgia Teachers' student paper. And we borrow from an article by the George-Anne Scotts editor, Larry Hyde.

In part, this is the gist of the matter:

". . . I have never seen two more balanced teams play, although both played ragged at times. The expected duel between Jimmy Oler and Chet Webb was supposed to be the highlight of the game, but officials stole the show by never blowing their whistle at the same time. . . .

"Near the end of the game, a fool was called on an FSU player who undoubtedly thought the call was unfair and pushed the official. There is no doubt the FSU player was at fault, and shouldn't have pushed the official, but the official had no right to pursuing the player. . . .

As I see it, an official is on the court to control the game and enforce penalties when the rules are broken. When it gets to the point that an official goes after a player that has lost his temper in the fury of a close ball game and other players have to restrain the official, then I think that it is time to stop and ask ourselves this question: Is this the kind of officials that we want to officiate our basketball games at GTC?

Seems that 90-81 score wasn't the whole story. Regardless, Mr. Hyde has some good points.

Shurlock, Illinois Threaten Gymnasts

Chicago Team West Champs

Led by Art Shurlock, 1955 Canadian All-Around Champion, the University of Illinois at Chicago presents a strong threat to Florida State's gymnasts in the coming Feb. 4 meet.

Shurlock, Sandy Horn and Ted Muszynski led the Navy Pier team to their third Midwest Open title in eight years this past year.

In addition to winning the Canadian individual championship, Shurlock finished second All-Around in the Midwest Open, and is being touted for the Olympic team in many circles.

Horn took the still rings title in the Open, and Muszynski is a Sophomore who is a two-time captain for the Illinois team.

Second Meet

This will be the second meet for the Seminoles at the start of the semester, the other one a road trip to Georgia Tech the day before the Illinois meet in Tallahassee.

The Jarkets are not regarded too much of a threat, though, and it is unlikely that all of FSU's big-name gymnasts will make the trip to Atlanta.

The Tribe gymnasts have met the Chicago team twice in dual competition previously, beating them 58-38 in 1950, and 52½-42½ in 1954.

Chicago coaches Harold Frey and Irvin Bedard claim this to be the strongest team in their history, including the 1949 team which won the National AAU title.

The school, which is a two-year branch of the University of Illinois, posted an 8-4 mark in dual competition last year.

UIC's Art Shurlock swings high as he works out on the side horse in preparation for the Chicago-Illinois invasion of the South. The Chicago-Illini gymnasts, Midwest Champions, take on Florida State University on Feb. 4.

Swimmers Tackle Aggies Saturday

Four meets in a one-week stretch may put Florida State's 23-meet swimming win streak in a precarious position.

The Tribe tankers meet in order from January 28 in Tallahassee, and Vanderbilt and Kentucky on the road.

The Texas Aggies are an old opponent, having been met the last four years running, but the Texas squad has never been able to outswim the Tribesmen.

Lettermen remaining on the FSU team are each outstanding in his own way, according to Coach Jim Suits' opinions of them. Dick Rhatan, "co-captain and mainstay in the breast-stroke"; Graham Treshe, "outstanding distance man in this area, which he proved when he won the 440 yd. AAU championship of Florida last year."

Mike Tschirrel, "next to Graham in distance and one of the mainstays on the freestyle relay team." Jim Jullian, "number one sprinter." Joel Jarshe, outstanding man in 200 yd. breaststroke."

Ken Abbott, "outstanding newcomer on freestyle relay team." Don Lewis, "sprinter on the freestyle relay team." Carswell Pasder, "our only boilerman diver." John Risher, "backstroker on the champion medley relay team." and Norm Shipley, "mainstay in backstroke."

Jacobs Joins Tribe's 'Pros'

Jerry Jacobs has become the fourth member of the Florida State football team to be drafted by a professional team.

When the Pittsburgh Steelers drafted Jacobs recently, he joined Bill Proctor, Tom Framster and George Boyer as Tribe players who may eventually join the professional ranks.

Jacobs, a 6-1, 205 pound guard from South Bend, Ind., has been a stellwart in the Seminole line for some years now.

Proctor was drafted earlier by the Cleveland Browns, and Framster is currently the property of the Los Angeles Rams.

Boyer will re-enter Florida State in February after a tenure in the Army, during which he was an all-Army center. A 6-2, 220-pound center, he was drafted by the Rams, but given permission to finish school.

Center or Tackle

He will operate either at center or tackle, stated Coach Tom Nugent. He was a center during his freshman year here, but was assigned to tackle slot during his sophomore year.

Nugent pointed out that a key reason for FSU's sudden prominence in the professional ranks has been the two football clinics held here during the two past summers.

The presence of some of pro football's all-time greats such as Charlie Trippi and Bobby Layne there may have given the school and its players a little more consideration, he pointed out.

"As a result, we are probably one of the few schools in the nation to have as many as four players drafted by the pros," the coach added.

Definite salaries were not announced for the three drafters, but Nugent thought that all three would receive in the neighborhood of $6,000 for their first year.

There is a question as to whether or not Jacobs may sign immediately, because he is a track letterman, and should he do so he would forfeit his eligibility for track this year.

Following is the 1956 football schedule, recently announced:

Sept. 29 Ohio University—Home
29 Georgia—There.
Oct. 6 Virginia Tech—Home
13 N. Carolina St.—There.
20 Wake Forest—Home.
27 Villanova—There.
Nov. 2 Miami—There.
10 Furman—Home.
17 Miss. Southern—Home.
24 Auburn—There

Soph Swimmer Scores Highly

Joel Jacobs, a sophomore member of the varsity swimming team, scored impressively at the Collier East - West swimming meet held in Fort Lauderdale over the Christmas holidays.

Jacobs placed second in the 100-yard breast stroke, being nosed out by one-tenth of a second by Ron Minarik of Iowa State who had a winning time of 1:29.1.

The meet held every year in December some of the best swimmers in the country including Olympic champions. This year the coach of the victorious Eastern team was John Higgins of Navy; the West was coached by Charles Silvia of Springfield.

Ken Abbott, Sophomore freestyler from Birmingham, Ala., is called by swimming coach Bim Stults "one of the outstanding newcomers on the freestyle relay team." Abbott will be counted upon Saturday night when the Tribe tankers duel Texas A&M at the pool in the women's gym.

ATO Nips SN Or Did They?

By M. L. WALTERS

The touch football season wound up for the fraternities last week . . . we think. That is ATO beat SN 13-12 in the final game and it was a thrilling final . . . all kinds of thrills, quick changes in the fates, and all that sort of thing . . . but SN has filed a protest and so whether or not the story's finished is yet to be decided by the protest committee.

During three - fourths of the game it looked as if the hard running Sigma Nu attack was to beat ATO and necessitate an extra-final, in the double elimination tournament.

With a 12-0 lead, that looked plenty big, SN received the second half kickoff and controlled the ball for a good chunk of the third quarter. Then the fates, with a big push from ATO passing, struck quickly and before many minutes went by the red of ATO was on top 13-12.

Before the fourth quarter ended SN was knocking at the goal, called for three 5-yard line and seemingly had the game sewed up, but again they failed in score.

It all seemed like a nightmare and a repeat of the first meeting of the two teams in which event the score had been . . . you guessed it: 13-12.

If the protest is upheld the game will probably be rescheduled for the week of Feb. 6th. The all-campus playoff between Baptist, the Independent division winners, and the fraternity champions will be held up if a re-play is scheduled.

Sports This Week

Jan. 26, Saturday: Pensacola Open volleyball, Swimming Meet, here: Southern Methodist

Feb 1, Wednesday: Swimming Meet here Texas A&M

Feb. 2, Thursday: Swimming Meet, away: Vanderbilt

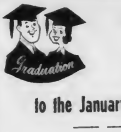
Feb. 3, Friday: Gymnastics Meet here: Chicago Navy Pier Team; Swimming Meet, away: Kentucky

Feb. 6, Monday: Basketball, here: Troy State

Volleyballers Travel To Pensacola Open

Coach Bill Odenell's volleyballers go into action for the second time this Saturday, when they travel to Pensacola for the Pensacola Open.

Earlier this year, the defending state AAU champions finished second in the St. Petersburg Invitational. All-Americans Bernie McClum and Phil Sisson lead the Tribe helmen this year.



MATCHLESS—that's the word for Lucky Strike! Want better taste in a cigarette? Light up a Lucky! Luckies taste better because they're made of fine tobaccos that's TOASTED to taste better. Incidentally, matchless is the word for that Droodle, too; it's titled: Very short candle as seen by Lucky smoker about to light up. Touch a flame to a Lucky yourself. You'll call it the most glow-rious cigarette you ever smoked!
DROODLES, Copyright 1955 by Roger Price
Get yourself in on the Lucky Droodle gold mine. We pay $25 for all we use—and for a whole raft we don't use! Send your Droodles with descriptive titles, include your name, address, college and class and the name and address of the dealer in your college town from whom you buy cigarettes most often. Address: Lucky Droodle, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S
MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

Buy Your Films
have them developed
at
the most convenient store
CHEVET'S
Corner of College
and Adams
the best assortment
of Cameras and
Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

TALLAHASSEE
DINING ROOM
Approved by AAA
and
Duncan Hines
Congratulations
to the January
Graduates
TALLAHASSEE
DINING ROOM
1630 North Monroe
Phone 2-3428
Mr. Bishop, Mgr.

QUALITY DRY CLEANERS
For Expert
CLEANING PRESSING
REPAIRING ALTERING
CALL OR GO BY
2-5097
215 W. College

Congratulations
and Good Luck to the January Graduates
Compliments of
THE MECCA

$ Cash For Your $ Used Books
Sell the Books You No Longer Need for Cash to BILL'S
BOOK STORE
Sell Your Books Before:
New Editions Come Out
Or Book Is Changed Here

WE PAY THE HIGHEST CASH PRICES FOR USED BOOKS OF VALUE:
We Buy Books Whether Used at Florida State University or Not

Students Attack Cheating Tactics

By ARLIEDA RIES

Florida State University students were unanimous in denouncing the cheating tactics brought to light during the recent final examinations.

Students queried in an exclusive Flambeau poll voiced varying opinions as to how the situation should be remedied, but were almost unanimous in asserting that something should be done.

Norma Tripoddo spoke out with, "I think they should all be expelled. I definitely think students should turn other students in, and the farce of the honor code should be cleaned up."

"I think the ones who were caught stealing the exams should suffer the consequences," remarked Lonnie Padgett.

"There should be a thorough and just investigation, including a hearing of all parties involved. This seems to be a weakness of the administration based on personal experience," was the comment made by Bert Moyer.

Others were not so vident in their calls for outright action but the majority of interviewees expressed a complete dislike for the obvious crime against the student body.

Broke Law

Martha Ann Williams stated, "They were not only cheating, but breaking the law in the first place when they broke in and stole those test copies."

In the words of Joan Strickland, "The worst part of the whole thing is that the students who cheat cause so much trouble for other students. If there were some way to find out who did the cheating, I think their names should be posted for everybody to see."

"Perhaps it will take a big scandal like this to stimulate interest in setting up a working honor system. As for me, I'm tired of having my grade lowered, especially after I've worked hard for it, just because a cheater makes a higher average," was the opinion voiced by June Watson.

Sara Monroe stated, "I feel sorry for those people who studied hard for exams with the hope of bettering up their grades, only to find the tests were not going to be counted because of the dirty work of some cheaters. I heard the history 101 final was going to be discarded, which hit me pretty hard as I had stayed up until 4:30 my birthday night just to study for it."

Not only did student opinion run high on this crime against the students but comments on the cheating aspects were also made.

"The worst part of cheating is the peace of mind you don't get," said Lonnie Padgett, "I remember once back in grammar school when I couldn't spell the word "appreciate." The letters just wouldn't go in the right places. Anyhow, I carved the word on my desk, and forever after that, I was afraid the teacher would see it and know that I had tried to cheat. Besides, it didn't get the word right anyway—how, I couldn't read my own writing," remarked Barbara Rynski

(Continued from Page 1)

All Exaggerated

the evidence indicates that not enough exams for these two courses were available in advance to have any effect had a curve been used."

Moore continued that "considerable evidence" had been brought to light against various other people who have been involved in buying or selling exams or who had access to final exams prior to the time of the test.

"The Attorney General is conducting a thorough investigation and preparing cases against a number of these individuals," he stated. "We feel that there is a large number of students who have information about this that could be made available to the Honor Court to help them bring to justice all the people who were involved.

"These students are encouraged to make this information available to the Honor Court. The court will protect its sources of information, so students need have no fear about reporting what information they have to the Honor Court. (For Chief Justice Barbara Graham's opinions on this subject, see accompanying article.)

Lonely Notes

(Continued from Page 2)

phy and dream." Summed up easily in this quotation from "Rains of Ranchipur," of all things. "I want to have someone that needs me as much as I need that someone or someone. If you will; and to whom I can say in my heart, 'you have taught me why the sky is blue; what is beautiful in a mountain, and to always, no matter how it hurts and how much I am afraid, tell the truth.'"

Margaret McClain recalls "One time I was talking to a boy, who told me I'd never texts had been stolen. Honestly, I was only kidding when I said, 'Well, guess I'll have to buy myself a copy!' But he took me at my word and asked, 'Would $15 be too much?'"

Jo Ann Williford thinks that "this episode of cheating is a bit over-done. However, if it continues there should definitely be something done about it."

Many refused to give opinions because they said they didn't want to sound hypocritical. "After all," someone remarked, "I don't believe I'd turn in one of my own friends. Maybe an honor system where you and the other person worked it out without turning anybody in might work, but I dunno about this one."

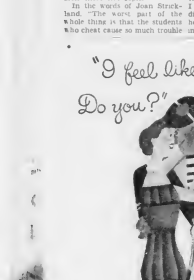
Letters To The Editor

Frustrated Frosh

TO THE EDITOR:

Because there have been repeated rumors going around about people obtaining copies of the exams beforehand, thus setting the curve at a higher level, many freshmen have taken the attitude of "Why study, we're going to fail anyway?"

Upon entering F. S. U., all that was impressed upon our minds was the Honor Code, but what is like to know is "Who" soppon to the Honor Code"? It seems to have disappeared entirely with the beginning of exams.



This really rips our constitution. It looks more like the school had the honor and the students have the system.

Isn't there anything that can be done?

Five Frustrated Freshmen,
NANCY PRUITT
MARTHA FRAZIER
ANNE LEDDY
EMILY PHILLIPS
JEAN MAY

(Editor's Note: See statements by Student Body President Coyle Moore on page one of this issue.)

"I feel like a Coke. Do you?"

Of course. Most everyone does—often. Because a few moments over ice-cold Coca-Cola refresh you so. It's sparkling with natural goodness, pure and wholesome,—and naturally friendly to your figure. Feel like having a Coke?

DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
THE TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1956 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA

Ends Thursday
"THE RAINS OF RANCHIPUR"
Lana Turner
Richard Burton
Fred MacMurray
Joan Caulfield
Michael Rennie
—also—
Starts Friday
"THE LIEUTENANT WORE SKIRTS"
Tom Ewell, Sheree North,
Rita Moreno, Rick Jason

STATE

Wednesday—Saturday
"THE INDIAN FIGHTER"
Kirk Douglas
Walter Matthew
Diana Douglas
Walter Abel
Lon Chaney
Alan Hale

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

Ends Wednesday
"THE MAN FROM LARAMIE"
James Stewart
Arthur Kennedy
—also—
Thursday—Saturday
DAVY CROCKETT
Fess Parker
—also—
"SEVEN ANGRY MEN"
Raymond Massey
Debra Paget
Jeffrey Hunter

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.

Ends Wednesday
"A PRIZE OF GOLD"
Richard Widmark
Mai Zetterling
—also—
Thursday—Saturday
"THE KENTUCKIAN"
Burt Lancaster
Dianne Foster
Diana Lynn
—also—
"HELL'S OUTPOST"
Rod Cameron
Joan Leslie

RITZ ART THEATER—Last Wednesday
"A CITY STANDS TRIAL"
Silvana Pampanini, Amedeo Nazzari
Thurs.—Sat. "THE RED INN"
Lud Germain, Carette, André Cluzit

Flambeau photo, Tom Sawyer

New Library—Modern interior features tile floors and modular columns. Interior is almost completed except for installation of furniture and decorations.

Seniors Offered Fashion Grants

Four Fashion Fellowships are being offered by the Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers in New York City to senior women students, according to announcements received today.

All senior women graduating before August 31, 1956 are eligible to apply for fellowships offered for the year 1956-1957.

A fellowship to Tobe-Coburn covers the full tuition of $1150. The number of fellowships not to exceed four, will be determined by the merit of candidates who submit presentations.

The well-known New York school offers those fellowships yearly to encourage able college graduates to enter the fashion field—a field which holds unusual advancement opportunities for well-trained young women.

Graduates of the school hold jobs in buying, advertising, styling as well as in magazine editorial work.

The students of the one year course have contact with the fashion industry through lectures by important fashion personalities, visits to manufacturers, department stores, fashion shows and museums. In addition they organize and participate in fashion shows and fashion exhibits at the School and have ten full weeks of working experience, with pay, in New York stores and other fashion organizations.

Senior women may secure Fashion Fellowship registration blanks from the vocational office, or from the Fashion Fellowship Secretary, Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers, 851 Madison Avenue, New York 21, New York. Registration closes January 31, 1956.

APO Announces Spring Officers

Alpha Phi Omega, men's service honorary, has elected officers for the Spring semester.

The new officers are: Sonny Bellera, president; Jack Champion, first vice president; Russ Parrish, second vice president; Bob Dumler, recording secretary; Adrian Aleo, corresponding secretary; Rodger Herndon, treasurer.

Dominco Cintron is the newly elected historian, and Russ Alderman is alumni secretary.

British Study Is Open

Summer study at British universities is open to American students in 1956 according to an announcement made today by Kenneth Holland, president of the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York City.

Six-week courses will be offered at Oxford, at Stratford-on-Avon and at the capital cities of London and Edinburgh.

A limited number of scholarships will be available to American students. Award and admission application forms may be secured from the Institute of International Education in New York City or from its regional offices in Chicago, Denver, Houston, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Washington.

Closing date for applications is March 26, 1956.

British Universities have combined annually since 1948 to organize a special program of summer schools. Courses are planned to serve the needs of post graduate students, but highly qualified undergraduates in their junior or senior years will be accepted. Many American universities allow credit for attendance at these sessions to both graduate and undergraduate students.

Courses to be offered next summer are Shakespeare and Elizabethan Drama, the University of Birmingham course given at Stratford; Literature and Art from the mid-18th to the mid-19th centuries, including the intellectual background to the Romantic Movement, at the University of London; Literature, Politics and the Arts in Seventeenth-Century England, at the University of Oxford; and The European Inheritance given by the Scottish Universities at the University of Edinburgh.

Each of the schools provides a variety of excursions to places of interest in its area and very often arranges visits to theatres not open to the general public.

These courses are not designed

No 'Damoclean'

(Continued from Page 3)

serves no useful purpose.

WHEN I REVIEW a performance, I look for the most outstanding features. There is usually something commendable in every recital. If there isn't, I rather omit the review or discuss the music and composers instead of the performance. When I find anything praiseworthy, I stress it and tell the readers' attention to it. I then feel justified in pointing out flaws and defects.

As for the Lab Band concert, I chose the most impressive and successful feature to single out: the quality of the arrangeme I commended vocalist Anne Verran and criticized the trumpet section. I feel that I can defend anything I say in print, but omission must not be construed as approval or ignorance. Tact is rather the word.

Alpha Xi's Make Trip To Tennessee

Ten of Florida State's Alpha Xis will travel to Johnson City, Tenn., for the installation of the sorority's 48th chapter.

LuAnn Schaefer, immediate past president of Alpha Delta chapter, will have a speaking part in the ceremony of installing Gamma Theta chapter at the Tennessee State Teachers college.

Driving up the weekend of Feb. 4 and 5 will be Kay Kohler, Ann Yeoman, Corinne Mason, Ann Murray, Barbara Evans, Claudette Carley, Patsy Wyatt, Gerry Puryear, Beverly Welch and Myra Ann Lay.

To Students

(Continued from Page 1)

a fraternity file, asked who testified against him and exactly what circumstances.

"We gave you our word of honor that we have had a case and talked to witnesses," a member of the Court said.

The defendant protested under such procedure "It's like somebody I could have kicked out of school pretty easily."

Not Fraser

A Court member told him only one of the witnesses was acquainance of the defendant and that personal motives were not possibly a factor.

The defendant said he had received "quite a few" anonymous phone calls from people who heard rumors he had testified, and that one of the anonymous told him he was suspended from school. The student said he had at the time no idea why he was under suspension.

The second defendant's roommate presence was like the first. He too asked some front witnesses.

Court member Lon Hatton attempted to extract evidence from the second witness after one "we've never heard your name in this case before now."

'Looks Bad'

"It looks damn bad, to be honest," exclaimed Hatton to the defendant asked in what position he was standing. The defendant maintained that he could interminate others or be blamed.

Counsel Little asked the student what position it would take if the defendant "looked bad" or high up in the test racket. The court answered it would be considered as real severe if defendants however even a member of the convention, and serving would indicate they knew the leaders.

Candlelight Dinner-Dance Slated Feb. 4

A Candlelight Dinner-Dance will be held by Gilchrist on February 4 in the Student Union Room.

This is the second year Gilchrist has held a dinner-dance for their his social event of the year. In addition to a six course meal, Gilchrist residents and their dates and honorary guests will be entertained on the floor show. The music will be provided by the Dynatones.

On the "program for the floor show are Jim Watson, Bobby Knight, Lynn Fussell, Jim Johnson, Edmarie Munoz, Paula Parsons and Dick Puckett.

Guests include honorary Gilchrist members Mr. Thomas G Wilson of the School of Music and Steven S Winters, of the Music Department, and Miss Mary Judy of the Modern Language department, and Dr and Mrs Dook S Campbell Dr and Mrs R R. Colesby, Miss Kathleen Warren, Miss Edith Arnold and Miss Elizabeth Lynn General chairman of the dinner-dance is Dorothy Stenback. Other committee heads include Martha Grinnell, Judy Pat Hartness, decorations; Joanne Napier, Wilda Jean Phillips, publicity; Jaye Rogers, hostess; Jane Waxman, invitations; and Judy Knight, entertainment.

Gilchrist residence counselor Miss Martha Cobb Mrs. Christine Wilson is social chairman.

primarily for undergraduates of previous years, graduate students, teachers and many people working in a variety of professional fields have attended schools with profit

CONGRATULATIONS! MID-TERM GRADS OF FSU!

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

Vol. XLI, No. 28

Tuesday, February 7, 1956

PARTY MEETINGS
Coming Up
(See Page One)

Sorority Rushing Starts Today, 11; 'Few' Is Forecast

150 Expected To Participate Here, Says Panhellenic

Social sorority rushing opens here today at 11 a.m. with the usual small participation in comparison with Fall rushing expected.

Panhellenic President Harriet Cox estimated Saturday that about 150 Florida State University women students will be rushed by the 16 social sororities.

However she said, approximately one will receive bids for membership now open in the sororities.

Panhellenic Council officials say there is no fee connected with rushing. An official bulletin explaining rushing said that one of the requirements of rushees is that they have "C" averages for the previous semester of school.

Schedule Told

The bulletin also revealed the following schedule:

Today: Registration of rushees at Panhellenic Office, 400 Longmire Building, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Tuesday, Feb. 18: Pick up invitations in Panhel office—from 9 until 1 p.m. Parties at 1:15 p.m., 3:15-4:15; and 4:30-5:30. No activities will not be having parties; Rushees may go to house-only once.

Get Invitations

Today: Feb. 19: Pick up invitations in the Panhel Office—from 9 to 4 p.m. Parties at 3-4 p.m. and 4:15-5:15.

Monday, Feb. 20: Rushees sign reverential cards in the Panhel office from 4 to 6 p.m.

Tuesday, Feb. 21: Rushees who have preferentials come to Panhellenic to pick up bids—11 a.m. until 2 p.m. No notices will be sent out.

Pledging will be after 5 p.m.

AT LAST—Thomas R. Lewis Jr. and Joan Collins Wadsworth received their diplomas from Florida State University President Doak S. Campbell at the graduation exercises on January 28.

Cheating Sentence Total Rises As Three Confess

Penalties Less Than Gotten By First Pair

Five men have been convicted by Honor Court so far for participation in the buying, selling, and possessions of first semester examinations.

Chief Justice Barbara Graham said yesterday that three were handed sentences Thursday night of exam week after they turned themselves in for buying current examinations.

She said one was given an F in the general education course involved. Two others received failing grades and were put on administrative probation.

The Chief Justice said the penalty of the first was less severe because he had not gone out of his way to buy the test.

Two men were suspended from school the Tuesday of exam week for possessing and selling copies of then-current tests.

Haven't Decided

Student Body and Honor Leaders interested to the case are at odds, though, whether their conviction cleared the case.

Men's Senate members have to-day refused any public statement according to Men's vice-president Hans Peters, and have appointed about 10 more to give testimony tonight.

One of the witnesses reportedly has information which is a leak in the duplicating department.

Student Body Mayor Moore has said the duplicating department is not at fault.

A leak uncovered by Men's Senate will be turned over to Honor Court, Peters said.

Right To Investigate

"We feel that any legitimate group has the right to investigate in order to offer better legislation," Peters said in defense of his group assuming the investigation.

A Senator participating in the investigation, Jerry Soles, said that all testimony heard so far has definitely implicated only the two men who have already been suspended.

Venturing his "personal opinion," Soles said, "I would say it's very difficult for those two boys, acting by themselves, to have had the tests distributed those exams I feel there must be others actually guilty. As to who those others are I have no idea."

Regents Assertion

Yesterday, however, Student Body President Coyle Moore Jr. repeated his assertions that the affair was "greatly exaggerated."

He said that a number of cases pending that will be brought to Honor Court.

"After conducting a thorough investigation of the whole affair," he commented, "we have found that buying and selling of examinations was not as widespread as was originally believed to be, and that only those who were suspended from school, as far as we can determine, are involved in cases that actually sold exams."

Knows Of Others

"We know there are other people who bought exams who haven't turned themselves in or who haven't been turned into the Honor Court as yet. The number has been greatly exaggerated as I said before. Only two exams that were in the possession of students prior to the exams weren't for sale."

(Continued on Page 4)

HONORARY DEGREE—Dr. Doak S. Cambell, left, gives, noted author Philip Wylie an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters during commencement exercises. Dr. Milton W. Carothers, dean of the graduate school, prepares to place the hood over Wylie's head, an act signifying he has received the doctorate.

At Commencement

Wylie Awarded Honorary Degree

Philip Wylie was awarded an honorary degree for his contributions to American literature and to his country when he spoke at Florida State University's mid-year commencement.

The degree of Doctor of Letters was awarded to the Miami author by FSU President Doak S. Campbell.

A citation presented Wylie by Dr. Campbell with the honorary degree read, "Combining the qualities of attention to American letters through 23 novels and numerous essays and human picture sercons" but has "services to the State of Florida and the United States particularly in the area of civil defense."

Florida Resident

Wylie a resident of Florida for about half of his 53 years wore the cap and gown of his late father the Rev. Edmund M. Wylie of Beverly, Mass., a Congregational minister as he accepted the honor amid the pomp and ceremony of graduation day exercises for FSU seniors.

The Miamian is then uther of the recently published novel Tomorrow, which like his commencement address was a look into the future in an atomic age, and of the collection of essays, Generation of Vipers.

Princeton Graduate

A native of Beverly, Mass., he began to pursue a literary career shortly after leaving Princeton University in 1923. The novel which first brought him striking success was Finley Mera, published in 1934.

He became one of the nation's most widely read authors through his series of short stories of the Crunch and Des series.

During World War II Wylie left his literary work for such duties as work with the Federal Office of Facts and Figures in Washington. And since that time he has served the government to advisory capacity to such things as weapons

Tickets Going On Symphony, 'Series Event

Tickets for the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra concerts, last of the present Artist Series, are on sale now.

Students may obtain tickets for any of the three performances to be held February 28 and 29, by exchanging coupon number one from their student activities book for a reserve seat at the ticket booth in Westcott.

Tickets are available to the public at the prices of $2.50 for the evening concerts and $1.00 for the matinee.

Evening concerts, which are to be held at 8:15 p.m. in Moore's require formal dress, while the matinee at 3:30 p.m. will be semi-formal.

In Top Ten

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, Antal Dorati, conductor, is listed as one of the top ten of the country. Now in its fifty-third season, the orchestra has won recognition as the most traveled organization of its type in America.

The program for the Tuesday evening concert includes Beethoven's Overture to "Egmont," Opus 84, Beethoven's Symphony No. 4 in B Flat Major, Opus 60; Ravel's "Rhapsodie Espagnole," and Strauss-Dorati's Suite from the "Rosenkavalier."

For Wednesday evening the program will be Rosario Crescenzo to "Le Scais di Sela," Bartok's "Concerto for Orchestra," and Brahms' Symphony No. 1 in C minor. Opus 68.

Matinee Wednesday

The matinee Wednesday features Overture to "The Magic Flute" by Mozart, "La Mer" by Debussy, dances from "The Three Cornered Hat" by de Falla, and Symphony No. 5 in E minor, Opus 64 by Tchaikovsky.

University Groups To Get Segregation Questionnaires

Student Party Meet Slated

The Student Party's first convention will be held tomorrow nights at 7 in room 124, Science Lecture Hall.

This convention will meet to revise the constitution, to make uniform changes, and to elect new party officials for the coming year, according to Graham Carothers, present party chairman.

All delegates and alternates must register at the desk outside the lecture room before 7:00 p.m.

Active competition is expected for the election of party chairman, secretary, and treasurer, reports Carothers.

Barbara Bachmann is in charge of arrangements for the convention and Jeanne Anderson is publicity chairman.

Activity Coupon Numbers Stated

According to Kathryn W. Vernon, Office of Special Events, Tickets in the Student Activity Book for the Spring Semester are assigned as follows: No. 1, Artist Series-Minneapolis Symphony, February 28, 29; No. 2, Third Major Speech Production, March 9, 10, 11, 12; No. 3, Fourth Major Speech Production, April 20, 21, 23, 24; No. 4, Swim Meet between Florida State University and University of Florida, February 17.

Tickets 4 through 15 may be assigned by contacting the Office of Special Events, 101 Westcott.

Women's PE 'Week' Subject

Women majoring in Physical Education have a wide choice of careers, ranging from Girl Scout leadership to camp counseling, according to Dr. Katherine Montgomery, head of women's Physical Education here.

For the benefit of students wishing further details on the subject, a panel discussion will be broadcast over WFSU-FM at 8 p.m., February 20.

Participating in the discussion will be Dr. Montgomery and Dr. Christine Foster, of the Physical Education department, and William Baker, of the Vocational Guidance and Placement Office.

The discussion is also tied in with Career Emphasis Week which spotlights a different department of the university each week. Women's Physical Education being the current subject.

Literature Available

Literature on the department is available in the Vocational Guidance and Placement Office and interviews can be arranged at that time, said Dr. Montgomery.

The women's division has 14 faculty members, five of which have doctors degrees and the rest masters degrees, except for the graduate assistants. The equipment, as well as the dance studio, swimming pool, and bowling alley are shared with the men's division.

Sports Courses

Among the various courses offered are instructions in team and individual sports, all types of dances, methods of teaching physical education, and supervision of recreation programs.

A physical education major might find herself doing anything from canoeing and sailing, giving first aid, tap dancing, or swimming, to learning how to teach driver education or administer a school safety program. A list in the department of exercise, on the graduate level, will also be offered, starting next fall.

Outside Activities

Outside of class, activities consist of intramurals, in which dormitories play against sororities, and "Sports Days," when women from this university compete against those from south Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi.

Two organizations, the Theatre Dance Group and the Tarpon Club for swimmers, give special spring programs.

"This is an area in which there is a critical shortage of teachers," said Dr. Montgomery. "Men are teaching the girls in the male institutions and others don't have any program at all."

She added that persons with a degree in Physical Education are qualified to teach in elementary and high schools, summer camps, playgrounds, church and industrial recreational programs, and work with Girl Scouts, besides having valuable training for raising their own children.

Tally Ho Seeks 'Unknown' For '56 Miss FSU

The annual Miss FSU contest will be held on February 21, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium, second floor Longmire Building.

Women wanting to enter this contest have until February 17, at 5 p.m. to turn in their portrait sittings to the Tarpon Office in Longmire, announced Jim Broderick, editor.

The winner of this contest will receive recognition in the Tally-Ho as Miss FSU, and the six finalists will be included in the yearbook Beauty Section.

Any coed may enter the contest with the exception of those Miss Florida State who have already appeared in the Beauty Section of any previous edition of Tally-Ho. Girls need not be sponsored by a sorority or dormitory.

Pictures of Clothes

Instead of formal gowns, contestants this year will wear sports clothes revealed Broderick. No shorts except a bikini bathing suit or bermuda suit, but any other type of sport attire is acceptable, he said.

Judging will be based on photogenic ability, natural beauty, and the ability to wear this type of costume advantageously.

Tally Ho Sponsors Lecture

Woody Herman and the "Third Herd," will appear here February 22 in Westcott Auditorium.

The group will give two performances at 7 p.m. and 8:45 p.m. Tickets are now on sale at the Westcott ticket office for 75 cents.

According to Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, sponsor of the show, the proceeds will go to the Campus Chest.

The Metronome poll was recently won by Woody and his group. Herman also played a record breaking series of engagements on the Pacific Coast.

Record fans have heard their latest releases "Perdido" and "Early Autumn" played by disk jockeys all over the country.

The Third Herd, called the "most versatile band ever led by Herman by Time magazine, was organized about three years ago. Herman had unhappily been leading small combos with an clarinet and sax since his Second Herd broke up.

He rounded up she present Third Herd and since then has been on the top of the musical heap, praised as a great contribution to the jazz field.

Ray Reinhardt is ATO Committee Chairmth of the program. Committee members are Bob Cohen, Tom Sawyer, Guy Milner and Vernon Edger.

Woody Herman

Student Party Meet Slated

Students at Florida's three state universities, their parents, teaching faculty and alumni will receive a questionnaire shortly as to their views on segregation.

State Board of Control Asst. Business Manager Paul Skelton said recently some $2,000 questionnaires are being prepared for mailing "very shortly."

Skelton said the action is being taken to comply with a state Supreme Court order that evidence be gathered to determine the advisability of admitting Negroes to Florida State University and the University of Florida.

If present, Negroes can attend only Florida A&M University here.

Includes High-schoolers

The survey was also intended to include high school seniors and their parents because they will comprise the bulk of the freshman classes at the universities next year. However, arrangements have not been worked out with county school superintendents for distribution of the questionnaires.

Those who will receive questionnaires because of their presents or previous connections with the three universities include 20,200 students, 18,000 parents, 22,000 alumni and $50 teaching faculty members.

Support Important

The alumni are being questioned because their support is regarded as important to their respective alma maters.

The information gathered through the questionnaires will not be tabulated and submitted to Circuit Judge A. H. Murphree of Gainesville who was designated by the Supreme Court to take testimony on the matter. It must be submitted to the Court by May 31.

SEMINOLE FLYERS MEET TOMORROW

Seminole Flyers will meet tomorrow night in the Trophy Room of the Student Center.

Dinner will be at 5:30 followed by the business meeting at 7 with a movie on Naval Aviation.

Officers are to be elected, announced Ray Hermann, publicity chairman.

ACTIVITY BOOKS NOW AT WESTCOTT

Activity books are now available at the ticket booth in Westcott Auditorium, upon presentation of their ID cards, may obtain books at any time.

State Party Meet Slated Thursday

State Party, campus political organization, will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 according to Fred Mansfield, party chairman.

Any student may attend this organizational meeting, emphasized Mansfield.

Tonight, the Senate Room, 210 Longmire, will be the scene of the sorority caucus at 7:30 p.m. and the fraternity caucus at 8:15 p.m.

'Third Herd' Band At FSU On 22nd

Spanish Honorary Sponsors Lecture

Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary, will sponsor a lecture given by Miss Marjorie Ayers of the Modern Languages Department on "Cuba, the land of a Friendly People." Thursday.

The lecture, to be illustrated with slides, will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the Longmire auditorium.

Miss Judy has lived in Cuba for nine years where she graduated from an American school which is now known as the Colegio Pinson. During the past six months she has visited Cuba twice once attending the University of Havana, and the second time visiting in the home of Cuban friends.

The talk will be given in English.

Speaks At Noon

Yale Religious Figure Here For Meeting With Leaders

Dr. Clarence P. Shedd of the Yale Divinity School is meeting with Florida State University religious leaders during a three-day visit this week.

Dr. Shedd, who has made a life-long study of the role of religion in higher education, will confer with members of the University Religious Council today and tomorrow.

He will be guest speaker at a noon luncheon today in the Suwannee Dining Room. Approximately 110 invitations have been sent to religious council members and faculty interested in the role of religion on the campus the university chaplain's office said.

FSU President Dr. Doak S. Campbell will introduce the speaker.

Shedd

SANDSPUR SCRIPTS DUE TODAY

Deadline for Sandspur scripts has been set for tomorrow, warned Jack Rogero, Sandspur chairman.

Scripts for the student dramatic production must be given to Pat Arrants or Nancy Clubbon.

Students interested in working on the Sandspur dance may contact Miss Clubbon at the Alpha Xi Delta house said Rogero.

Tryouts and selection of the script will be announced at a later date in the Flambeau.

Study Effects

During his stay, the chaplain's office said, Dr. Shedd will be concerned with religion as it affects academic life and higher education. A study of these matters was his role on President Truman's committee on higher education.

The university Religious Council, which will be Dr. Shedd's host, is composed of chaplains of the various students' religious houses, faculty sponsors associated with the groups, and local ministers.

Dr. Shedd has been a lecturer and professor at Yale Divinity School since 1923. He is a Stephen Merrel Clement Professor of Christian methods and director of studies on religion in higher education since 1938.

AB From Clark

He received the AB degree from Clark University in 1908 and the MA degree in 1914. In 1925 he received his BD degree from Yale Divinity School and in 1932, the PhD. from Yale University. In 1951 Clark University conferred the L.H.D. degree upon him.

He was associated with the YMCA in the years between 1909 from 1909 to 1926, and was General Secretary to the Worcester Polytechnic Institute from 1909 to 1911. From 1911 to 1916 he was YMCA state student secretary for Massachusetts and Rhode Island at Boston. From 1916 to 1919 he served on the War Work Council in New York and from 1917 to 1919 he was Associate National Student Secretary, National YMCA Council, New York City.

YMCA Director

He is director of the New Haven YMCA, a member of the Rotary Club, Yale Club, and the Faculty Club at Yale. He is author or co-author of the following books: "Two Centuries of Student Christian Movements," 1934, "The Church Follows Its Students," 1938 "History of Religion in State Universities," 1949, "Religion in State Teachers Colleges," 1952, and "Religion in Urban Universities," 1952.

Students Take 'Good Will' Trip

Five student government officials will be at the University of Florida today and tomorrow for a combined goodwill and study excursion, Coyle Moore Jr. student body president, announced yesterday.

Making the Gainesville trip will be Moore and Jim Joanos, vice-president; Graham Carothers secretary of finance Dave Bowman, junior senator; and Hank McCann, sophomore senator.

Moore said the trip is partly an effort to "bring the student governments and student bodies of the two universities a little closer."

Another objective, he said, will be to study the U of F student union building. FSU has proposed a similar structure to house student government offices, publications, visitors, and social functions.

Moore said the group will examine the composition and operation of the U of F student government. Tonight they will attend a session of the Executive Council, the University counterpart of FSU's Student Senate.

Wylie Awarded Honorary Degree

Philip Wylie was awarded an honorary degree for his contributions to American literature and to his country when he spoke at Florida State University's mid-year commencement.

The degree of Doctor of Letters was awarded to the Miami author by FSU President Doak S. Campbell.

A citation presented Wylie by Dr. Campbell with the honorary degree read, "Combining the qualities of attention to American letters through 23 novels and numerous essays and human picture sercons" but has "services to the State of Florida and the United States particularly in the area of civil defense."

Florida Resident

Wylie a resident of Florida for about half of his 53 years wore the cap and gown of his late father the Rev. Edmund M. Wylie of Beverly, Mass., a Congregational minister as he accepted the honor amid the pomp and ceremony of graduation day exercises for FSU seniors.

The Miamian is then uther of the recently published novel Tomorrow, which like his commencement address was a look into the future in an atomic age, and of the collection of essays, Generation of Vipers.

Princeton Graduate

A native of Beverly, Mass., he began to pursue a literary career shortly after leaving Princeton University in 1923. The novel which first brought him striking success was Finley Mera, published in 1934.

He became one of the nation's most widely read authors through his series of short stories of the Crunch and Des series.

During World War II Wylie left his literary work for such duties as work with the Federal Office of Facts and Figures in Washington. And since that time he has served the government to advisory capacity to such things as weapons

Signals Short Story Contest Gets Started

The Smoke Signals annual short story contest is now underway, announced Don Heidel, editor.

The stories, limited to 1500 words, may be on any subject.

All contributions will be judged and the top story and one or two runner-up stories will be printed in the Spring issue of the magazine, "explained Heidel. The author of the best story will also receive a ten dollars prize.

Entrants should send or deliver their stories in a mailing envelope to the Smoke Signals office 410 Longmire. Mailing stories or box number of the entrant should be included in the envelope

All manuscripts will be returned as soon as they are edited.

Students are also asked to contribute poetry although there is no cash prize in this field. The poetry will be judged and the best examples will be printed.

For additional information see Marcello Truzzi at 3-2673.

FSU Selling Policy, $4.70

Student accident insurance for the second semester may be purchased for $4.70, Student Body President Coyle Moore Jr. said yesterday.

Moore said the policy, providing $1,000 accident coverage until Sept. 11, the beginning of the first semester of next year, can be bought in the Student Government office, 214 Longmire.

The North American Assurance Society of Virginia underwrites the policy, which is sponsored by Student Government.

Please Post Grades

As if exam week were not frustrating enough, the student body had cause to groan once more when grades were posted three days later than scheduled, an event almost traditional for the past two years.

Realizing that a few miracles are needed in the Registrar's office to process some 5,500 student grades in a few days, we won't ask for another to speed the process. But we are making an appeal to all professors to post grades according to student number, a practice already begun by some.

Not only would this eliminate the phone calls which plague professors, but it might also rid the University of the maxim that grades are "top secret" and "unavailable" to the students who earned them.

We know it will mean an extra task for professors, but a simple one in light of the appreciation it will receive from the student body.

Wylie Spoke Wisely

Commencement addresses are often platitudinous sermons delivered as if the graduates' education had stopped the moment before. But such was not the case with that recently heard in Westcott Auditorium.

For Philip Wylie, a man who has never dodged an issue or feared to ask "why?", was the speaker.

His address was optimistic but it was a healthy optimism—not that of the man who preaches good fortune through inability to envision otherwise.

His speech was to the point. It was a challenge. It did not invoke the traditional trinity of patriotism, humility, and reverence but included these and demanded far more of those who received degrees that day.

Wylie admitted that his generation, hesitant too long to stand up and fight for freedom, had put freedom in a precarious situation. He realized that his generation had been naive in politics and economics.

In relating to the past he was teaching those who heard him a lesson. He did not indulge in vitriolic cliticism.

His program and views for the future were specific—a breath of pure oxygen in this clouded day of meaningless generalities.

There will be no atomic war, he said, because its power is wanting to commit suicide. Neither will the Kremlin cease its efforts to dominate the whole world.

We would shun the rest of the world, he said, at the penalty of a complete economic exclusion that would eventually reduce our own society to a level at which Communism would seem paradise.

And so, he concluded, we must lead—with freedom, not with fear. To clear away the lies and doubts that have made our situation precarious with the rest of the world, he noted, we must live as we say we are.

And this means, he declared, though in not the same words as we here employ, that the freedoms we advocate to other nations be manifested here; that color lines not be drawn; that we recognize the inherent dignity of the individual.

Much of what he said has been said before, but only by the few who have had the courage to say it and the courage to emphasize it. The time available for heeding their advice is short.

No Room To "Spare"

We were wrong.

Yes, we learn, the University was unimpeachable regarding its policy of allowing town leagues to use the bowling alleys "Monday through Thursday."

But Friday night, two editors waited a long time while town leagues tied up four of the eight alleys. We at least got to bowl one game. About a dozen students looked at the waiting list and gave up.

"Why were the leagues given the alleys on a weekend?," we asked.

"The alleys were closed Monday," was the answer.

We ask now what we asked then: Did that entitle the University to shut its students on Friday?"

It is regrettable that Tallahassee does not have a bowling alley, but that is not the students' fault.

It is true that there is not enough student business Monday through Thursday to make the alleys pay for themselves. On Friday, however, more than enough students were welting although few got the chance. Saturday, when by some miracle the leagues were not there, no alleys were empty for long.

There is hardly enough recreation in Tallahassee for the students to be denied access on a weekend to any recreation which exists on the campus.

Students To Miss Friends

The Florida Flambeau extends sympathy to friends and relatives of the two FSU students who died recently in automobile accidents.

Sam Eugene Burns, 22, of Bellegladе, Fla., was fatally injured in an auto accident on his way to work in Tallahassee, February 4, 1956. Burns, a Marine veteran, was a freshman geology major and a Delta Tau Delta pledge.

Louis Hunter, of Jacksonville, Fla., was also fatally injured in an auto accident enroute to his home, January 26, 1956, during the semester break. Fletcher, a freshman, was a member of Business, was a Phi Kappa Tau pledge.

Letters To The Editor

Bit Of Advice

TO THE EDITOR:

You met wish to publish the following verse bit of advice to the hordes of English 102 hopefuls in your "It could not Verse" column. "This column is aptly named because, it is. Waste is and seldom could be

The plot is a lot, but
The treating is creating.

NOTE: This has not been previously printed in The New York Times.

SINCERELY,
DIXON REDDITT, JR.

"Rights Ignored In Honor Case"

TO THE EDITOR AND TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I have just finished reading the Flambeau article about the conviction and suspension of two university students for possessing and selling certain exams.

I have no knowledge whether or not the two were guilty, but I do know that the Honor Court procedure was reminiscent of techniques of the old French during the revolution.

Honor Court was operated on the principle that you are guilty by accusation, that you have no right to face your accuser, that you have no right to know the charges against you, or that you have no right to challenge your accuser.

The accused, in this case, were not even present at their own trial which is a direct violation of a basic right on which our country was founded. For proof of the above statements witness the statement made by a member of the Honor Court: "We are you our word of honor that we have Had a trial and talked to witnesses."

The accused's house was searched without a search warrant and the defendant, their was present during the search and told that by allowing a search was a direct admission of guilt.

I ask you, is this justice? Is this democracy? Is this the type of procedure and technique which we come to college to learn?

I charge you that cheating is wrong, yes, but the actions of those who conducted the search . . . are a direct infringement on the rights of every individual student on this campus and are at least much more serious than cheating. Their actions merit punishment of curtailment, more so than does cheating because they attack hypocritically the rights they have been cheated to protect.

YOURS VERY TRULY
MR. LEROY DANIEL SCOTT

P.S. If this letter is not published in the next issue, it will be sent to the Tampa Tribune.

Words Without Substance

TO THE EDITOR:

In the case of the theft of exams we must remember

(Continued On Page 4)

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor

Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ..... Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Merry Reeves
Photographers ..... Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Steve Kleid, Adrian Allen
Campus Editor ..... Eleanor Kirby
Feature Editor ..... Margaret Miller

Pat Marston, News Editor

Sports Editors ..... Larry Block
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ..... Dave Evans,
Pierce Lombeck
Junior Staff — Arlieda Rites Bob Dollison,
Bob Moren, Steve Kleid
Greek Editor ..... Charlet Polsevini

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ..... Betsy Voorhees
Exchange Staff ..... Martha McLeod
Sandra Hadley

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown.
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue ..... Georae Goldstein
Business ..... Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith,
Enid Pearlman, Joe Anderson, Les Meyers
Telephone 2,800, extension 8821, 5821
314, 213 Longmire Building
Intercollegiate Press

"There's Nothing New Here, But I Just Thought I'd Drop You A Line"

At The Movies

Screens Offer Variety

By WANDA SUE OWEN

COLUMBIA PICTURES' "The Last Frontier," story of the American wilderness and the men and women who built a nation, plays for the last time today at the Florida

Victor Mature, Guy Madison, and Robert Preston are the stars. Filmed in CinemaScope and Technicolor. "The Last Frontier" also co-stars James Whitmore and Anne Bancroft and features Russell Collins. The film was written for the screen by Philip Yordan and Russell S. Hughes and is based on the novel by Richard Emery Roberts. Anthony Mann directed and William Padway produced for Columbia Pictures.

COLORFUL NASSAU, heart of the elite winter social whirl, comes to the Florida today as the State Theatre in Republic's "Flame of the Islands." Starring Yvonne De Carlo, Howard Duff and Zachary Scott

Based on a story of romance and adventure in a Bahama island city of the British Empire, "Flame of the Islands" was filmed in Trucolor amidst the old-world background of one of the most fascinating spots in the world.

JOHN AGAR AND Cleo Moore are the stars of Universal-International's "Revolt Back Tomorrow," which plays at the State Wednesday and Thursday.

Agar is seen as a condemned murderer who fails in love on the night before he is to be executed.

"Hold Back Tomorrow" features Frank De Kova, Dallas Boyd and Steffi Sidney in important roles, and the film was written, directed and produced by Hugo Haas.

ALSO PLAYING at the State Wednesday and Thursday is "The Naked Dawn" starring Arthur Kennedy and Betta St. John. "Al Hombre" an original popular song written by famed composer Mischel "The Moon is Blue." Gilbert and William Cottingham is introduced in the Technicolor production.

Popular Russian entertainer Charlita introduces the tune in the film during a Mexican Cantina sequence in which Kennedy flunks three hoodlums for her favor.

"The Naked Dawn," which features Eugene Iglesias in the cast, was directed by Edgar G. Ulmer. James O. Radford was associate producer.

ACP Notes

Capers On The Campai

Girls, Please Note:

CHAMBLEE, Ga. (ACP)—The Technician, published by students at the Southern Technical Institute, recently took a scientific view of the female of the species. It printed this description of a woman as seen through the eyes of a chemist:

SYMBOL—WO
ACCEPTED ATOMIC WEIGHT: 120 lbs
PHYSICAL PROPERTIES: Boils at nothing and freezes at any minute, melts when properly treated; very bitter if not well used
CHEMICAL PROPERTIES: Possesses great affinity for gold, silver, platinum and precious stones. Violent reaction if left alone. Able to absorb great amount of food matter. Turns green when placed beside a better-looking specimen
USES: Mainly ornamental; useful as a tonic in moderation of low spirits, and an equalizer of the distribution of wealth. Is probably the most effective income-reducing agent known CAUTION: Highly explosive in inexperienced hands.

Snoppy Comebock

ABILENE, Tex. (ACP)—Every so often, we hear about this one from Bill D. Moore's column in the Hardin-Simmons University Brand.

Bill's father was lecturing his son for being lazy. Why, when Abraham Lincoln was your age, he was splitting rails and plowing fields in the daytime and studying by candlelight at night.

"Yes," came the quick reply, "and when he was your age, Dad, he was president of the United States."

Humor, Anyone?

ST PETER, Minn. (ACP)—The "Old Mane" column in the Gustavian weekly recently included these lines of wit:

Someone suggested that this item be placed on all license. CAUTION: Be sure brain is engaged before putting mouth in gear.

In this highly energetic and progressive age there are probably more bone permanents than permanent bonnes.

Wandering With Wiljohn

Downbeat Identifies "Third Herd"

By WILJOHN

JUST TO BE sure we are being accurate, let's take a look at what Downbeat Maaazine has to say about Woody Herman and his new Third Herd. The Third Herd will appear here on the 22nd of February. That's Washington's Birthday so we must let them be.

"The newest Woody Herman herd has arisen with a personnel consisting of musicians from both coasts and even one from England.

"The rhythm section has Sen Francisco pianist Vince Guaraldi, Los Angeles bassist Monte Budwig, and Will Bradley, Jr. on drums. Bradley, son of the trombonist, makes his name big band debut with this assignment although he has acquired intensive small combo experience in the Bay area in the past year.

"Woody's reed section includes Richie Kamuca, Arno Marsh; west coast tenor Bob Hardaway and clarinet master Jay Cameron, who recently returned from a long stay in France. The trumpets are Ruti Collins, Doug Collins, Johnny Coppola, Bud Harvey from Boston, and Paul Serrano from Chicago.

"In the trombone section are Cy Touff, fr ----f Sauser-Finegan sideman Wayne Andre, and Rod-Gerry Bobby Lamb, who formerly played for the English band of Jack Parnell. On the last day of rehearsal at the end of December, the crack English band left, leaving Herman has coma to America to stay. was added to the band. Fedman plays the vibes, piano, drums, and also writes music. At presstime, Woody was looking for a girl singer.

"Herman's book will be in charge of most of the book, which also will have contributions from Nat Pierce, Manny Albam, and possibly Feidman."

This is all the available information on the Herman Herd that we might be listening to in a month. And there seems to be an excellent chance that the above-named band won't even be the one to play to the campus. The band is just shaping up and may be the one that Lionel has mentioned—Herman's booking for tours later this year.

Any way, it seems to this writer that the Herman Herd is the best thing that has happened to us so far, as far as music is concerned. He sounded to be even stronger than Ed Brown was. You'll be missing a great show if you skip this one.

* * *

TIME TO START beating the drums again. Why not bring the wonderful Victor Borge to FSU? His one man show. "The Comedy Is Music" closed on Jan. 21 after 849 performances and a gross of over $2,000,000.00 He is available now for tours and he has always loved to play to college audiences because he thinks they are more alive to what's going on and are less likely to be bored with some of the ditties he says. Many of you are already familiar with his comedy like recordings for Decca and Columbia. His out-Anna-Russell Anna Russell.

The Dissenter

Court Process Similar To "Salem"

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

UNTIL RECENTLY, the proceedings of Honor Court were entirely secret. To challenge their propriety was to cast doubt upon the integrity of student government.

Only by the most extraordinary combination of circumstances opened the Court. Then demanded a public trial. In all probability, they hoped to frighten the court into acquitting them. In this respect they failed, but the campus does owe them a debt of gratitude.

For their open trial proved what many had suspected: that these proceedings were so far from being fair as were those of the Salem witch trials and the Spanish Inquisition.

So painful and ridiculous was the Court's procedure that some student senators are now talking of a constitutional amendment which would guarantee students the same rights that are enforced in real courts under the Constitution.

Yes, the two involved in the exam case later acquitted. What proof of their guilt had been guilty? This is a question that the law must always ask.

BUT THEY WERE TOLD that three anonymous witnesses had seen them participate in test cheating. They were not given the names of the witnesses and they could not cross-examine. They were bluntly told they would have to take the word of the Court that the witnesses were reliable. How was the Court to know?

The fact that the accused person can defend himself is to face his accuser and prove that the accuser is wrong in regard to time date and identity. Witnesses to the same event often tell different stories. These innocent people could sometimes be convicted.

The defendants were obviously expected to deny that they had at some time done wrong by telling what they had done, where they had been, every second for days on end.

They were called into court the night before and were not, at the time, told why.

IN REAL CRIMINAL CASES—the all American kind that took place at the campus trial—defendants are given the opportunity to prove their accusers wrong. In this case they could only say they were innocent. It was their word against the Honor Court's procedures that some student senators are now talking of a constitutional amendment which would guarantee students the same rights that are enforced in real courts under the Constitution.

Yes, the two involved in the exam case later acquitted. What proof of their guilt had been guilty? This is a question that the law must always ask.

BUT THEY WERE TOLD that three anonymous witnesses had seen them participate in test cheating. They were not given the names of the witnesses and they could not cross-examine. They were bluntly told they would have to take the word of the Court that the witnesses were reliable. How was the Court to know?

The fact that the accused person can defend himself is to face his accuser and prove that the accuser is wrong in regard to time date and identity. Witnesses to the same event often tell different stories. These innocent people could sometimes be convicted.

The defendants were obviously expected to deny that they had at some time done wrong by telling what they had done, where they had been, every second for days on end.

They were called into court the night before and were not, at the time, told why.

IN REAL CRIMINAL CASES—the all American kind that took place at the campus trial—defendants are given the opportunity to prove their accusers wrong. In this case they could only say they were innocent. It was their word against the Honor Court's procedures that some student senators are now talking of a constitutional amendment which would guarantee students the same rights that are enforced in real courts under the Constitution.

But what if they hadn't been? The Anglo-Saxon tradition of law is one of precedence and possibility—if this is possible, what also may happen?

This is what may happen. An innocent student may come up on a cheating charge due to the mistake or actual prejurous intent of some one else. Given only the opportunity to say "I have done nothing wrong" and denied the chance to prove he may not even have been there the evidence against him, he has little or no chance

This is not justice. Better to have no student courts at all than to have one whose very practices are unjust, which we are taught in class, ended hundreds of years ago.

In The Wings

Scarlatti A La Boda Is "Flawless"

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

JOHN BODA, faculty pianist, presented one of the outstanding recitals of the season in Dodd Auditorium, Sunday afternoon at 4:00.

Having studied at Eastman, it was evident that he has been putting his time to good use. Pianists like Dohnanyi and Leonard Bernstein, is one of those rare individuals who is equally adept at piano, composition, and conducting. Before coming here in 1952 he was Assistant-Conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra, working under George Szell.

His playing throughout the recital was characterized by unusual clarity and flawless technical command. His Haydn's Sonata in C Major, K. 330 sparkled and shone with transparent brilliance. It was well-paced and perfectly balanced.

The major work of the program was Samuel Barber's formidable Sonata. This work, possibly the most difficult on the program, is one of the milestones of modern composition, judging by the number of performances it has had. Nevertheless, it is still only rarely heard in what is known disparagingly as the "concert circles of the country." Boda is certainly to be commended for giving it a double dose this year.

I WOULDN'T HAVE thought that any interpretation except Horowitz's relentlessly driving one could be convincing, but, it was Boda's restrained and intellectual approach let the music sell itself. As a result, I heard inner lines and voices that I had been unaware of in the Horowitz recording. The Sonata is full fantastic metric and rhythmic problems, and in this he was unsurpassed. That is to say that no other work like it in the Barber catalog. The composer may have regarded it as a personal cul de sac, since his style has now become much less complex and more easily accessible.

Boda began the second half of the program with the sixteen Brahms Waltzes (Op. 39). He revealed himself for the last time to be with a familiar one. His playing was delicate and sensitive, as it was throughout most of the program.

RAVEL'S ONDINE and Toccata (from Gaspard de la Nuit) Sonata in C Major respectively; concluded the program, but the best was yet to come. Boda surprised everyone by playing two Scarlatti sonatas for encores, and he had the audience eating out of his hand. The playing of both was simply absolutely flawless. It was simply beyond criticism. The ornaments were perfectly executed, phrased expertly balanced, and the interpretation exciting. The applause mounted after each sonata and continued unabated after the third. Most of us would have kept him there all night, playing Scarlatti 'til the cows came home, but he had to be satisfied with the third.

In retrospect, Boda's playing of the classic and the Romantic seemed to be of an unequivocal pianism who serves the music, rather than vice versa. He is certainly altogether lacking in too many young pianists.

The Press Table

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
Sports Staff

The Bim Stults Story

They call him the "greatest psychologist of them all." And we give him the credit for all their successes—those they've had in the past and those they intend to have in the future.

A powerful Texas A&M squad drew the dividing line between that successful past and an intended successful future here last week. The Aggie crew edged the Seminole swimming team and thus snapped the South's number one winning streak—aided in a mythological sense, a new southern swimming champion was crowned.

The Seminole mermen were lopsides for the better part of seven years. They were last beaten in late January of 1949 when Southeastern Conference champion Georgia did the trick, 45-39.

That was their successful past. And with young material the likes of which an FSU swimming team has never seen, the Tribe seems now point to a successful future.

And through it all the nice guys who do the splashing for Florida State give all the credit to the dapper gentleman they so makes 'em go. They call him "Bim".

The story of FSU swimming coach N. Baumann Stults is somewhat of a cinderella one. From his first contact with the sport—as a general handyman around a pool in Cuba's island, Ohio in 1925—he rose to become recognized as one of the nation's most respected members.

And the irony of it all is that he never did too much swimming himself. He was a wrestler.

However, Bim Stults had a philosophy about the coaching profession that made his eventual success something you couldn't stop. This is the way he saw it.

"It is not enough for a coach to know everything there is to know about his respective sport. Rather, it is better that he should know everything there is to know about the boys he has to coach."

"I believe I'd rather take a boy who knew nothing of the sport and attempt to instill in him a desire to win than to take the high school all-America and just help him improve his style . . ."

Obviously, Stults has stuck with those few words right down the line since coming to Florida State in 1947. During those first few years, half the boys who swam for him had never taken part in a swimming meet of any form.

During those first few years the Seminoles averaged less than nine setbacks a season. Came 1952 and they were just about unbeatable.

Certainly, in the books, his records are to be envied. But his fans off the books are equally important.

It's quite impressive to watch a Stults-conducted practice session. There's always a bit of drama going on there that makes you ponder—"how is it that anyone could beat them?" And this is the best example we can offer.

There's a freshman among the 28 or so swimmers under Stults' tutoring. The name's unimportant, but he comes from a long line of swimming stars—his father was an olympic star. Naturally, the pressure on this young man to make good must be a tremendous one. And that, coupled with the magical Stults touch, is enough to cause him to spend a couple of extra hours after each practice session working out alone. And you'll always find Bim sitting in the bleachers helping him with the small, but vital points of his art.

Those extra efforts are already paying off for this youngster. Though a freshman, he won the first place in his event against Texas A&M last week.

But, for this aspirant, the Stults touch is just being felt. Graham Teschke, a sophomore freestyler, tells of no incident last year during a meet in Miami that is just one of the many reasons Seminole gold hum the "greatest psychologists of them all."

Says Graham: "As a freshman, I was thrown into an event with some of the south's best—including an all-America from Miami. I remember that I was so nervous I could hardly toe the edge of the pool . . . But I won the event. And I think it was because of something Bim said to me just before we hit the water.

"His just saunntered over and said, 'Have a nice trip, Graham . . .'"

Tampa Spartans Invade Seminoles' Lair

Bernstein Gone, Tampans Weak

Mious Howard Bernstein, last year's state-leading scorer, Tampa Spartans move in tonight to threaten Florida State's 15-game win streak in FIBC combination.

Without Bernstein, a unanimous choice for all-state last year, the Spartans have been unable to do much in conference competition this year.

In the first game between two teams, the Seminoles overwhelmed the downstaters, 93-67, with Jimmy Oler pouring in 34 points.

With Bernstein gone, Chuck Smith, a 6-6 transfer from the University of Florida appears to be the top threat for the visitors.

Troy Stale

The most recent comparison between the two teams is in their battles with Troy State. Florida State's opponent here last night.

The Spartans were buried by the Alabama school Saturday night, 101-74.

Tribe guard Jimmy Oler continues to surge further into the national limelight, as he now stands second in the country in total points among small-college scorers.

While his 489 point total is a runner-up, his 28.6 average has moved him up to eighth place in that department.

However, center Gary Wold and forward Dick Armeier have given Oler plenty of help this year, with averages of 13.4 and 10.6 respectively.

The latter has received more than his share of praise from Coach Bud Kennedy for his defensive ability. "He's the very reason we won some good games," Kennedy commented.

As an indication of this, Armeier held West Virginia's All-American Hot Rod Hundley to a mere seven points in the recent Orange Bowl tournament.

Wold is the only other Seminole besides Oler and Armeier to dunk 25 points in a game this year, pumping in 25 against Boston University in the Carousel Classic.

The other two positions in the Tribe starting array have been up for grabs almost every contest, depending partly on the height of the opposing team.

Against the big boys, 6-6 Bob Williams and 6-4 Bob Ward have seen most of the heavy duty, but Tommy Garcia, a 5-8 guard and 6-3 Stu Gregory have also seen their share of action.

Photo by Tom Sawyer

Rafael Lecuona, one of Florida State's top gymnasts, performing in his specialty, the side horse, as the Tribe overwhelmed the Illinois Navy Pier team, 76-36, with a capacity crowd watching Saturday night

Gym Team Topples Illinois, Georgia Tech

By LARRY BLOCK
Flambeau Sports Editor

A capacity crowd filled the women's gym Saturday night as FSU's championship gymnasts swamped Navy Pier 76-36.

It marked the second straight triumph for the Seminoles in as many days. Georgia Tech fell by the wayside 67-43 at Atlanta Friday night.

The Tumbling Texan, Jamile Ashmore, took first place in free calisthenics, and tumbling, his specialty. Ashmore was a student at the University of Illinois at Chicago before he switched to FSU.

High point men for the evening were Jamile Ashmore, FSU, and Art Shurlock, UIC, both with 12 points.

The Seminoles had an easy time of it taking first places in all of the seven events. The side horse event was won by UIC's ace gymnast, Art Shurlock.

Shurlock gave Joe Gunoe of FSU a close battle on the parallel bars joving by nine-tenths of a point, 26.9 to 26. Gunoe took second in the Georgia Tech meet on the parallel bars.

Other winners for the Tribe were Don Preisser on trampoline, Ronnie Amsler, horizontal bar; and Joe Taylor, finishing first on flying rings. Taylor also gathered in second place on trampoline.

At the Atlanta meet, Don Preisser won first place in tumbling to break a tie to lead the Seminoles to a victory over the Rambling Wrecks.

Joe Taylor was high point man with 23 points. Taylor took first place in flying rings, second on side horse, third on the high bar and parallel bars, fourth in rope climb, and second on the trampoline.

Teams invited for the first tournament include Brown University of Providence, R. I.; Notre Dame; University of Illinois, University of Wisconsin; University of West Virginia; and the host team, Florida State.

FSU's freshmen also beach baseball practice yesterday and will have a schedule of approximately eight games.

Troy Scalped!

Jimmy Oler poured in 38 points in as many minutes here last night, and Florida State's boxtarblasters easily downed Troy State 90-65.

It was the 38th straight home victory for the Seminoles, who led from the opening whistle. Guard Harry Jacobs put in 16 points with some fancy set shooting for the visitors.

Baseball Nine Starts Training

This year's baseball team under the guidance and instruction of coach Dan Litwhiler started practice yesterday at the east campus baseball field

All of last year's lettermen are returning except for second baseman Billy Campbell and outfielder Bob Hudson.

They began the arduous task of conditioning, running will be part of the conditioning in practice for the purpose of building strong legs. They will face not only a tough regular schedule but the first annual Florida State University tournament which will be held from March 29 to April 6.

This will probably be the top intercollegiate baseball tournament presented this year.

Ten major league scouts are making reservations in Tallahassee to be on hand for the entire tournament.

FSU's freshmen also beach baseball practice yesterday and will have a schedule of approximately eight games.

Grid Spring Practice Starts

Photo by Adrian Allen

Football coach Tom Nugent welcomes Pat Sumerall as Florida State's newest assistant grid coach. Sumerall is a finishing defensive end for the Chicago Cardinals, and a specialist in extra points and kickoffs. He will join the coaching staff during spring practice, starting today.

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

More than 80 players today begin the scramble which will eventually decide the starting eleven when Florida State's footballers open their 1956 season next September 22.

In addition to last year's returnees, a dozen junior college graduates are on hand, including at least three JC all-Americans.

There are also two gridders returning from service ball, and many more JC transfers due in the fall.

The three boys who made honorable mention on the JC all-America include Don Audas, a 196-lb. fullback, and Larry Cunningham a 6-2 190-lb. quarterback, both from Kilgore (Tex.) JC.

The other honorable mention all-America is Bobby Woodruff (not the Florida coach), a 6-2 220-lb. tackle from Tyler (Tex.) JC.

Service Men

The two former service men are 220-lb. center George Boyer, an 185-lb. offensive end Jimmy Arnold, who was a defensive end back in the two-platoon days.

After sitting out a year of ineligibility, transfer Bobby Renn may move into the battle for the starting quarterback slot this year.

The biggest problems will probably arise at tackle and fullback, but Coach Tom Nugent appears to have more than a fair stake of halfbacks on hand.

Lee Cross, Burle Metts, Billy Odom, Billy Weaver, are only a few of them with more moving in from the Freshman and JC ranks to battle them for starting slots.

The starting quarterback appears to be anybody's guess, as Vic Prinzi and Len Swantis return but Cummings and Renn are around to make a fight of it.

Big Losses

The biggest losses are undoubtedly up front, where such stalwarts as Tom Prentzler, Jerry Jacobs, Don Powell, Bill Proctor, Bob Crenshaw and Vince Gibson are gone.

Top line veterans include guards Lee Baggett and Al Peeples, tackles Trey Barnes and Bob Barber and junior rush Tom Blalock and Ronnie Schoenmyer.

Under NCAA rules, only 20 days of spring practice are permissible, with the climax coming about March 4 with the annual Garnet-Gold spring game.

Aggies Top Mermen; Streak Halted At 24

As all good things must come to an end, so it is with Florida State's dual-meet swimming record.

Bim Stults' mermen fell by the wayside to a powerful Texas Aggie squad 49½-34½ last week at the Women's Gymnasium. It ended 24 consecutive dual-meet victories for the Seminoles.

Although both the Tribe and the Aggies was five first places the superior depth of the Texas squad paid off in the long run as A&M led all the way.

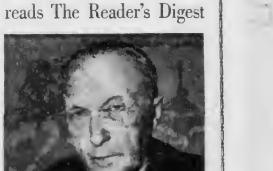
The decisive points were accorded in the 220 and 440 freestyles as the Texas team took first and second places. Graham Teschke finished third in each for the Tribe.

A total of 11 records were set at the meet. Seven meet marks were established, three pool marks, and one school record went by the boards.

Jim Julian of FSU and Texas A&M star Tetsuo Okamoto won a pair of first places.

Julian took the 50 and 100 yard freestyle while the Aggies star who is only a sophomore, won the 220 and 440 in new marks.

Last Saturday the FSU swimmers started a new streak with a win against the Kentucky Wildcats at Lexington. Yesterday they met a strong Vanderbilt squad at Nashville.



Next Meet

The team returns to Tallahassee today and will begin practice for two straight home meets on Saturday they face the Georgia Tech swimmers, and February 17, the Florida Gators will furnish the opposition.

It will be the first time these teams have faced each other in a dual meet.

300 yd medley relay—Ufer, Kippe and Weiss A&M.
200 yd freestyle—Okamoto, A&M, Mercer, A&M, Proctor, FSU.
50 yd freestyle—Julian, FSU, Hunkler, A&M, Mount, A&M.
200 yd individual—Weiss, A&M, Julian, FSU, Okamoto, A&M.
Fancy Diving—Rhodes, FSU, Mertz, A&M, Proctor, FSU.
100 yd freestyle — Julian, FSU, Hunkler, A&M, Mount, A&M.
200 yd backstroke—Ufer, Jr., FSU, Ufer, A&M, Shipley FSU and Cook, A&M tied for third.
440 yd. freestyle—Okamoto, A&M, Proctor, FSU.
200 yd breaststroke—Jacobs, FSU, Rivers, FSU, Goff, A&M.
400 yard freestyle relay—Kippe, Hunkler, Weiss, and Mercer, A&M.

Why Chancellor Adenauer reads The Reader's Digest

"In my country more than 500,000 people read the Digest in German each month. And they read not only about the people of the United States, but about the people of all nations. The Reader's Digest has forged a new instrument for understanding among men."

—KONRAD ADENAUER Chancellor of West Germany

In February Reader's Digest don't miss:

LEARN TO LIVE WITH YOUR WORRIES. Some anxieties spur you to greater effort. But many simply distort your judgment, wear you down. Aida Whitman tells the kind of worry you should learn to overcome, how to put sensible anxieties to good use.

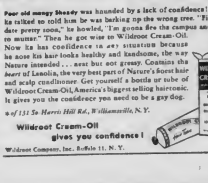
THE ONE AND ONLY BENCHLEY. When told his drink was slow poison, Benchley quipped, "So who's in a hurry?"... Chuckles from the life of one of America's best-loved humorists.

BOOK CONDENSATION: I WAS SLAVE 1E-241 IN THE SOVIET UNION. Seized without cause, John Noble (a U.S. citizen) was sent to a Russian concentration camp to work in a coal mine. In episodes from his forthcoming book, "Slave 1E-241," Noble tells of Red brutality . . . and how the "slaves" rebelled in 1953—a revolt he's sure can occur again.

PRIVATE LIFE OF ADOLF HITLER. Was the Führer insane? Did he really murder Roehm? Eva Braun the very night before they planned to kill themselves? Is his body secretly buried? Hitler's personal valet reveals hitherto unknown facts.

Get February Reader's Digest at your newsstand today—only 25¢

45 articles of lasting interest, including the best from leading magazines and current books, condensed to save your time.



It's a pleasure to get to know OLD SPICE AFTER SHAVE LOTION. Each time you shave you can look forward to something special: the OLD SPICE scent—brisk, crisp, fresh as all outdoors . . . the tang of that vigorous astringent—lasting after shave-snap. Also, heals tiny razor nicks. Splash on OLD SPICE—and start the day refreshed!

Add Spice to Your Life . . . Old Spice For Men

SHULTON New York • Toronto

J. Paul Sheedy* Had A Hangdog Look Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

Poor old sunny Sheedy was hounded by a lack of confidence! Every girl he talked to told him he was barking up the wrong tree. "Fella, it get a date pretty soon," he howled, "I'm gonna fire the campus and go house to muster." Then he got wise to Wildroot Cream-Oil.

Now he has confidence in ev'ry situation because he uses his hair-looks healthy and handsome, the way Nature intended . . . neat but not greasy. Contains the heart of Lanolin, the very best part of Nature's finest hair and scalp conditioner. Get yourself a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's biggest selling hairtonic. It gives you the confidence you need to be a guy dog.

s of 151 St Marrés Hill Rd., Williamsville, N.Y.

Wildroot Cream-Oil gives you confidence!

Wildroot Company, Inc., Buffalo 11, N. Y.

. . . And familiar things are the best. Like Coca-Cola. Full of fresh, keen sparkle . . . natural quick energy . . . and it's so pure and wholesome—naturally friendly to your figure. Have it wherever you like.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY THE TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1956 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

At FSU

Couples Occupy 209 Apartments

Housing units for married students in Mabry Heights and West Campus are now totaled at 209, announced Robert Brewer, Director of Residence for Men.

Mabry Heights is a block of 100 Reno-like units north of West Hall, available only to families with children. Apartments here are of regular frame construction situated on landscaped plots.

These apartments consist of two and three bedroom units. In addition to bedrooms, each unit has a kitchen, living room, bath, and adequate closets. Furnishings include a gas cook stove, gas space heater, gas hot water heater, and an electric refrigerator, explained Brewer. Additional furnishings are available for a small rental fee.

Not including utilities, the two bedroom units rent for $63.00 per month, while the three bedroom units rent for $37.00 per month. Applicants are required to make a deposit of $10.00 at the time an application for housing in Mabry Heights is filed. This fee will be held as a deposit against breakage and losses, he said.

Minimum Of 12

All undergraduate Mabry Heights residents must carry a minimum of twelve semester hours of work in order to be eligible for housing. During the Summer Session, each student will be required to carry a minimum of six semester hours. Graduate students are expected to carry out less than the required minimum of academic work also, unless special permission also be given for a reduced load by the Dean of the Graduate School.

Housing units on West Campus are located in temporary buildings formerly used by the Air Force at Dale Mabry Field there. Facilities are approximately 3½ miles from the main campus. They were originally planned primarily for any married family which either cannot afford or does not desire to pay the prevailing rentals for more adequate accommodations, explained Brewer.

Student apartments are of two sizes; two and four-room units. A big four-room apartment consists of two bedrooms, a living room, and a kitchen. The four-room apartments have private baths while the two-room units are in buildings using community type bath facilities.

The majority of the family housing units on West Campus are located in single story buildings, with from 2 to 16 living units in each building. All decoration and painting, if any, has been done by former student occupants.

Basic items of furniture such as beds, tables, chairs, etc., may be rented from the University for $3 per month. No cooking appliances or utensils, or refrigerators are provided, and none are available for rent by the University.

No Charge

No rentals are charged for housing on West Campus, however, the utilities fee of approximately $10.00 per family per month is assessed. Since no rentals are charged by the University, student families rent or would be responsible for the necessary maintenance as well as providing for the cost of refinishing furnaces, Brewer warned.

Regulations

All undergraduate and graduate students' work load requirements, etc., are identical to those previously mentioned for Mabry Heights residents.

Pets of occupancy is restricted to the assignee and his immediately family for the assigned space.

The assignee cannot transfer to another unit, unless the University moves in for government of the university, nor can he sub-lease the unit, said Brewer.

Also located on West Campus is a trailer park for students owning their own trailers. There are no rental charges for the 45 available spaces. Reservations are unlikely for the present.

Additional information may be obtained from Brewer at the office of the Director of Residence for Men.

Exam Cheating May Result In Court Revision

Several pieces of legislation affecting Honor Court may come out of current investigations into exam-week cheating.

Men's vice-president Hans Tews said yesterday members of men's Senate have met with Honor Court representatives to discuss such legislation.

Tews said it is proposed to set up a procedure by which the attorney general and his assistants would investigate and act as prosecuting attorney in cheating cases.

At present, Honor Court conducts its own investigations, and that being carried on by men's Senate concerning selling of examination copies has been considered as an un-legislative function.

Tews said also that an instructor should be allowed to report a student for cheating without verification by another witness. The Honor Code requires two witnesses to a dishonest act.

Denies Presumption

Tews denied, however, that a student reported by an instructor would be presumed guilty. He asserted that if the student did not admit his guilt and no supporting evidence could be produced to prove the charge, the accused would be released.

The vice-president said that a demand will be made for arrester lenth and detail in Honor Court announcements of convictions. Everything but the name of the accused and conviction should be published, he said.

Code Sufficient

"I think the Honor Code in itself, if everybody obeys it, is certainly sufficient," Tews said.

"It's not being obeyed by many but there are some in this school who are pretty wonderful and who have helped our investigation," Tews said.

"There are some people on campus who have honor and who believe in the honor system and who would like to help it out as much as possible."

Seeking Information

Men's Senate is ferreting out information for possible honor court proceedings, Tews revealed. Under criticism for assuming a police function, he replied:

"We feel that any legislative group has the right to investigate in order to offer better legislation and as you can see we are starting on Honor Court trying to put better legislation through because we've seen definite lack of procedures."

(Continued From Page 6)

TALLY-HO MEETS TOMORROW

All Tally-Ho staff members have been reminded of the meeting tomorrow at 7 p.m. Staff pictures will be taken after the meeting.

Flambeau Opens First 'Workshop'

The editors of the Florida Flambeau announced this week the first Flambeau Journalism Workshop, aimed at preparing brainners for positions on the school paper.

The workshop will be in the form of a series of informal discussions held over a period of several weeks, explained Jarboe, managing editor. The discussions will be under the supervision of members of the Flambeau senior staff and will undertake to explain all aspects of putting out the Florida State University newspaper.

First meeting of students who wish to participate in the workshop will be Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Flambeau offices, 213 Longmire Building.

Some of the subjects to be taught will be: how to report; newspaper writing; writing headlines and making up a newspaper, and the job of a newspaper business staff.

Editor Robertson said the workshop is designed specifically for students, male and female, who plan to enter journalism, but with an interest in the school paper as an activity.

Emphasis will be on practical experience, and beginners will be given materials to do themselves in the fields they take an interest in. During the first workshop sessions, students will talk with staff members about the different jobs open on the Flambeau and then learn the techniques in the areas they wish to investigate. After several weeks, said Miss Robertson, the best beginners will be made members of the staff.

She continued that the workshop was initiated due to the lack of adequate personnel on the staff. "Some students have responded to notices of position openings printed in past issues," she stated, "but there is still need for a larger staff in almost all areas of work on the paper."

IFW To Feature Nine Speakers

Nine speakers prominently identified with religious activities over the world will help students observe Intelligent Faith Week Feb 19-22.

For the first time on this campus, accordins to Dr. Edwin Harris, University Chaplain, Jews and Protestants will celebrate their religious emphasis observance. This year's topic will be "Faith At Work in a World in Revolution."

One event of the four-day annual observance will be an open meeting at Westcott Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 21, when Dr. Charles C. West of Geneva Switzerland, will speak. He is one of the nine visiting religious leaders.

A Presbyterian leader who has been working in Germany, Dr. West now is on the staff of the World Council of Churches as a tutor at the Ecumenical Institute near Geneva.

Dr. West and the eight other leaders, most of them winding up a tour of religious groups in the state for the Florida Chain of Missions as well visit nearly 100 classrooms as part of the annual observance on the FSU campus.

In these classroom visits, Dr. Hartz said, an attempt will be made to apply religion to the learning being acquired day by day. A series of breakfasts and dinners along with seminars and discussion groups in sorority and fraternity houses, dormitories and student centers will be held.

An "evaluation meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday Feb 22 in Longmire Auditorium will end the program. This will follow a panel discussion in the same place at 4 p.m.

Scholarships, Fellowships Available To FSU Seniors

Announcements have been received regarding various scholarships and fellowships available to June graduates.

The Germanistic Society of America is offering an award to be given a future teacher of German; the Free University of Berlin offers two fellowships, the Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst offers ten, and four more are offered by other schools and organizations in Germany during 1956-57, announced Kenneth Holland, President of the Institute of International Education.

The Germanistic award allows $1200 which is good for one year of study in the field of German language and literature at a West Germa Institution of higher learning. Candidates must be American-born and educated preferably unmarried and under thirty years of age; however a master's degree is desirable.

The Free University of Berlin offers two awards which include tuition and a stipend which should cover most maintenance costs.

The Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst is expected to offer ten fellowships for study at the universities and institutions of higher learning in the Federal Republic of Germany, but candidates must be unmarried to be eligible.

Through the DAAD American students may also apply for ten awards in art and music open to candidates from all parts of the world.

Only outstanding candidates with one year of graduate work or its equivalent are advised to enter this world-wide competition.

Austrian Grants

Four other scholarships for graduate study in Austria during 1956-57 are offered to unmarried American students by the Austrian government, announced Dr. Kenneth Holland, President of the Institute of International Education.

These scholarships include eight monthly stipends of approximately $100, enough to cover room and board as well as tuition and incidental expenses, ver 10, Colorado.

One travel payment, approximately $150, will be offered each of the four winners.

The awards may be used to study at an Austrian university or institution of higher learning in all fields, including history, social sciences, language, literature, and other humanities subjects. Eligibility requirements are the same as that required for German awards.

International Relations Fellowships

The Social Science Foundation have graduate fellowships for 1956-57 for the study of International Relations leading to a Master of Arts degree at the University of Denver.

College graduates who will hold a baccalaureate degree or equivalent, by September 1956 with outstanding undergraduate records are eligible to apply for the fellowships ranging from tuition to $1500.

For further information and application forms, write: The Director, Social Science Foundation, University of Denver, Denver 10, Colorado.

QUALITY DRY CLEANERS

For Expert

CLEANING PRESSING REPAIRING ALTERING

CALL OR GO BY

2-5097 215 W. College

Letters To Editor

(Continued From Page 2)

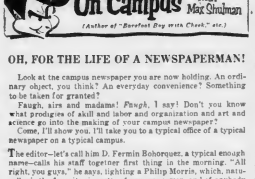
when the evidence appears overwhelming that a crime has been committed and the accused appear guilty we must then be all the more zealous in defending their liberties; because it is much easier to infringe upon the liberties of those who are down and out.

In its haste, the university obviously decided to overlook such procedural safeguards as the right to confront one's accusers and the right to be protected from unreasonable search. These procedural safeguards are the concrete expressions of a democratic philosophy, and must be maintained if the phrase—"inalienable rights"—is to be more than just words without substance.

BOB FOLSOM.

GET FREE 5x7 ENLARGEMENT

CROWN JUMBO PRINTS



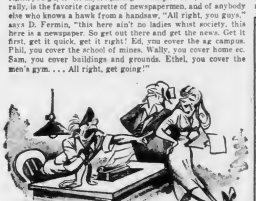
Send this ad and your roll to be developed at once (Prints Only) and your favorite negative. You will receive your Crown Jumbo prints in a beautiful Gift Box PLUS your FREE Enlargement made from the negative you selected (Colored) with prints. This offer good for a limited time only.

8 Exp. Roll	40c	12 Exp. Roll ... 50c
12 Exp. Roll	50c	20 Exp. Roll ... 80c

Write for Free Mailer

CROWN PHOTO SERVICE

Box 392 • AUGUSTA, GEORGIA



OH, FOR THE LIFE OF A NEWSPAPERMAN!

Look at the campus newspaper you are now holding. An ordinary object, you think? An everyday convenience? Something to be taken for granted?

Faugh, sirs and madams! Faugh, I say! Don't you know what prodigies of skill and labor and organization and art and science go into the making of your campus newspaper?

Come, I'll show you. I'll take you to a typical office of a typical newspaper on a typical campus.

The editor—let's call him D. Fermin Bohorquez, a typical enough name—calls his staff together first thing in the morning. "All right, you guys," he says, lighting a Philip Morris, which, naturally, is the favorite cigarette of newspapermen, and of anybody else who knows a hawk from a handsaw. "All right, you guys," says D. Fermin, "this here ain't no ladies whust society, this here is a newspaper. So get out there and get the news. Get it first, get it quick, get it right! Ed, you cover the ag campus. Phil, you cover the school of mines. Wally, you cover home ec. Sam, you cover buildings and grounds. Ethel, you cover the men's gym. . . . All right, get going!"

With many a laugh and cheer, the reporters light up Philip Morrises, favorite cigarette of the young and agile, and dash away on their assignments.

D. Fermin retires to his office to smoke a Philip Morris and write a fearless editorial scolding the university for not buying patches for the worn-out elbows of the chess team.

On the rim of the copy desk three rewrite men—Tensing, Hillary, and Laverne—sit poised and expectant, waiting for the reporters to phone in their stories. They smoke Philip Morris, favorite cigarette of the poised and expectant. Tensing's phone rings first; it is Ed calling from the ag campus.

"Stop the presses!" cries Ed. "Got a scoop! Hunrath T. Sigafoos, professor of curds and whey, has just sold his article The Resonance of Butterfat to the Dreivers and Poulterers Monthly."

On another phone Sam is calling from buildings and grounds. "Tear out the front page!" he cries. "Got an exclusive! Harold 'Pop' Wishnograd, superintendent of buildings and grounds, today announced the purchase of a new doormat for the vestibule of Burton Hall. The last doormat, it will be recalled, was eaten by a pledge named Norman Harringay for his Chi Psi initiation."

Meanwhile, elsewhere in the city room, Gangla Questover, vivacious and ubiquitous gossip columnist, sits smoking a Philip Morris, favorite cigarette of the vivacious and ubiquitous, and typing out her chatty, infotmative tidbits: "Maureen Lollipop, popular Theta, announced her engagement last night to Webster Scuff, Oliver Jenkins, Cosmo Erskine, and Walter Penn Dowdy. Wedding dates have been set for June 9, June 24, July 5, and July 18 respectively. Good luck, Maureen! . . . Irving 'Behemoth' Anselm, popular fullback, blew out 120 feet of hoophagus yesterday while inflating a football. Good luck, Irving 'Behemoth'! . . . Robin Kroveney, popular Deke last year, this year popular pfc, in the U. S. Army, writes friends that he has been convicted of deserting his post and will be executed on April 28. Good luck, Kohin!"

And now, friends, we take our reluctant leave of the drama, the action, the tension, the glamor, the churning, the seething, the roiling, the sturm und drang of the wonderful world of journalism. Aloha, journalism, aloha!

The makers of Philip Morris, who sponsor this column, have got some news for you. It's today's new grade Philip Morris in today's bright new package of red, white, and gold.

© Max Shulman, 1956

Cheating Total

(Continued From Page 1)

changed. The grades on those two showed that not enough people had the exams to make any difference.

Moore said those tests were history 101 and humanities 1C1, 102, and people 100.

"They were obtained by breaking and entering various offices and not through a leak in the duplicating department," he maintained.

RECORDS

Jazz, Classical & Pop

PHONOGRAPHS

BAKER'S MUSIC CENTER

107 E. JeffersonPhone 3-0161

PARKING PROBLEM?

Spaces Available Immediately

538 WEST JEFFERSON

$3.00 Per Month

Inquire: College Park Grocery

528 West Jefferson

Telephon 2-1311

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA

ENDS TUESDAY

"The Last Frontier"

Victor Mature
Guy Madison
Robert Preston

BEGINS WEDNESDAY

"Forever, Darling"

Lucille Ball
Desi Arnaz
James Mason

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

Tuesday - Wednesday

"The Last Time I Saw Paris"

Elizabeth Taylor
Van Johnson

STARTS THURSDAY

"Drum Beat"

Alan Ladd - Audrey Dalton

—also—

"The Big Combo"

Cornell Wilde
Richard Conte

STATE

ENDS TUESDAY

"Flame of the Island"

Yvonne DeCarlo
Howard Duff
Zachary Scott

WEDNESDAY-THURSDAY

"Hold Back Tomorrow"

John Agar—Cleo Moore

—also—

"The Naked Dawn"

Arthur Kennedy
Betta St. John

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.

Tuesday - Wednesday

"Asphalt Jungle"

Sterling Hayden
Jean Hagen

STARTS THURSDAY

"Battleground"

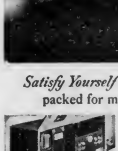
Van Johnson
John Lund
Dorothy Malone

—also—

"Five Guns West"

John Lund
Dorothy Malone

RITZ — TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY



"THREE CASES OF MURDER"

Starts Thurs — "HEART OF THE MATTER"

Trevor Howard Elizabeth Allen

PACKS MORE PLEASURE

because it's More Perfectly Packed!

Satisfy Yourself with a Milder, Better-Tasting smoke—packed for more pleasure by exclusive Accu-Ray

The more perfectly packed your cigarette, the more pleasure it gives . . . and Accu-Ray packs Chesterfield far more perfectly.

To the touch . . . to the taste, an Accu-Ray Chesterfield satisfies the most . . . burns more evenly, smokes much smoother.

Firm and pleasing to the lips . . . mild yet deeply satisfying to the taste—Chesterfield alone is pleasure-packed by Accu-Ray.

CHESTERFIELD

MILD, YET THEY Satisfy!

© Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

ATTENTION

FSU STUDENTS AND FACULTY

The Air-Conditioned

SILVER SLIPPER

OFFERS YOU

10% DISCOUNT

• CHARCOAL BROILED STEAKS • SEAFOOD • CHICKEN
• GRECIAN SALADS • ALL REGULAR DINNERS

OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK, 5 P. M. - 12 P. M.

Enjoy the Finest In Food

Phone 2-4961 For Reervations 2000 S. Monroe

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

TALLAHASSEE, FLA.

The Florida Flambeau

POLITICAL PARTIES
Begin Activities
(See Stories Page One)

Vol. XLI, No. 29 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Friday, February 10, 1956

Edwards Elected To Chairman Post By Student Party

Carothers Claims Success For Party In 1955-56 Legislation

The Student Party, by acclamation, elected Karl Edwards Party Chairman in a convention held Wednesday night.

Other officials elected were Judy Williams, secretary, and Paul Harmon, treasurer.

Outgoing Chairman Graham Carothers, in a brief speech, praised the success of the party during the past year. Said Carothers, "Our party has been instrumental in bringing about each of the legislation improvements now enjoyed by students."

He also added, "The party has advanced, with the help of its members, in establishing student interest and active participation in politics on this campus."

Main Suggestions

In caucuses held earlier this week, representatives of fraternities, sorority and independent groups made the following recommendations for plans of the state party platform:

To advocate reorganization and study of the honor system and honor code, in light of the recent revision during examinations. The revision of the funds committee regulations.

That more money be appropriated to subsidize Homecoming and the Junior and Senior Proms.

More Parking

More parking space.

Speakers Bureau which will help in the expenditures of those persons who will speak for state.

To help women's rules by refining that what is considered obscenus and to help obtain additional late hours for women on co-eds. Inserted at the convention was another plank for an positive action to see if co-eds can wear Bermuda shorts on Saturday.

Publication of just what the $5.00 registration fee goes for.

Making increases in possible duties for those holding offices in Student Government, especially the Secretary of Finance and Secretary of Elections. Further suggestions were

(Continued on Page 8)

State Party Lays Plans For Convene

State Party laid plans last night for its platform convention to be held next Thursday. Fraternity and sorority caucuses had been held previously.

Party Chairman Fred Mansfield said Wednesday that last night's organizational meeting was to plan for the platform convention. The event will be staged next Thursday, February 16, in 124 Science Building with registration beginning at 7 p.m.

Purpose of the two caucuses already held was for discussion and suggestion of changes in platform, the constitution and matters of finance, said Mansfield. Selection of representatives on the party's Executive Committee were also made by the fraternity and sorority caucuses.

Other caucuses will be held Monday for the independent women, 6 p.m., and independent men, 9:30 p.m., in the Senate Room, 210 Longmire.

Moore Speaks

One development in the platform plans is the selection of Senator Jim Moore to deliver the opening address according to Mansfield. Moore is not a member of the State Party. Mansfield said Moore was invited to speak at the convention by a "team" of the party.

An outgrowth of last night's meeting was to be suggestion of prospects for party offices. Mansfield stated Freshman Senator Art Moore (Jim Moore's brother) has already "tossed his hat in the ring" for party chairmanship. Others said to be seeking the office became be held. He can best serve student government by developing more interest among students," Mansfield continued.

Urges Thought

The State Party Chairman urged all party members and among members as to who will be Florida State University Senate at the coming platform convention. "There will be keen competition for the top offices, so it is definitely before it is necessary that the delegates come to party convention with open minds so that we can select the best men and women to lead our party."

Flambeau photo: Larry Anderson

The New Prexy—Karl Edwards, right, accepts gavel and handshake from Graham Carothers, upon being elected new Student Party Chairmen.

From Britain

Ambassador Sets Talk On Monday

Sir Roger Makins, British ambassador to the United States, will make a public address here Monday, announced President Doak S. Campbell.

The British diplomat will make his address at 11 a.m. in Westcott Auditorium. Dr. Campbell said, and the public is invited to attend.

With Sir Roger will be his wife, and an aide. They are to be guests of Col. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Griscom while in Tallahassee.

Dr. Campbell said that the ambassador was to have a similar address while here a year ago but that he was recalled to Washington before it could be made.

An attorney, Sir Roger served the diplomatic service of his country in 1926 and has served at Oslo and in the British Foreign Office in addition to his service at Washington.

Garnet Key Taps 24 FSU Coeds

Garnet Key, women's honorary recognizing leadership, service, and spirit, tapped twenty-four FSU coeds Wednesday night.

Membership in this honorary, open to juniors and seniors, is regarded as one of the highest honors a woman at FSU can attain, explained Barbara Cooper, president of the group.

The new tags were presented at a breakfast in the Seminole Room yesterday morning and they will be initiated. Thursday, Feb. 16.

The new senior members are Sylvia Britt, Jeanie Cadenhead, Irene Crews, Sally Pussell, Phyllis Keen, Martha King, Mary Elizabeth King, Pat Perez, Harriet Ramsey, Carolyn Redfern, Betty Willmon, and June Yates.

The new junior members are Florence Ashby, Margaret Ann Ballinger, Marian Benson, Jane Chapman, Nancy Cubbon, Elsie Frank, Gretchen Kerr, June McManus, Barbara Hughes Moore, Pat Rooney, Greta Sims, and Polly Swain.

SORORITY RUSH REGISTRATION STARTS

All girls who are interested sorority rush, which begins Saturday, February 18 and continues to Sunday, may register in the Panhellenic office today from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.

Debate Teams Compile Even, Show Records

Florida State University debaters last weekend broke even in the fourteen-round competition at the University of Miami Invitational Tournament, and while the affirmative team finished third in the West Georgia Tournament at Carrollton, Georgia.

In the Miami tourney Norma Rapoolo and Arnold Greene field debated in the affirmative, while Jean Belschner and Tom Woods upheld the negative side of the guaranteed annual wage question.

FSU defeated such teams as Harvard, Princeton, Army, Navy, Texas, and South Carolina. University of Miami's affirmative team won the tournament, debating the negative team from the University of Florida in the final round.

Representing FSU in the West Georgia tournament were Laura Ley Alexander and Jeanette McLendon, affirmative, and Fred Roberts, and Bruce Fletcher, negative. This group won eight of twelve debates.

Sophs-Seniors Hold Breakfast Next Saturday

The annual Sophomore-Senior breakfast will be held Saturday, Feb. 18 at 8:30 a.m. in the Suwanee Room as a kick-off to Intelligent Panhellenic.

Each year Sophomores bring their Senior "brothers" and "sisters" to the traditional breakfast. However, all Seniors will be welcomed to the breakfast regardless of invitations, according to Sophomore President Bill Simon.

Speaker at the Sophomore-Senior breakfast will be Colonel M. Graybeal, of Emory and Henry Colleges in Virginia. Colonel and his daughter Sandra will be on campus for Intelligent Faith. They will be guests at the breakfast.

Dr. Graybeal taught school briefly in his career. After a spell in the U.S. Naval Reserve, he became pastor of Williamsburg Methodist Church until 1952. By then became pastor of the Lakeland Methodist Church. At the present time he is Chaplain of Emory and Henry College and Pastor of the Emory Methodist Church.

Colonel said that tickets to the breakfast will be sold Monday through Wednesday with the latter day as deadline for ticket purchases. They will be sold at the Student Center and Phi Mu Alpha Council is in charge of tickets sales, he said.

The breakfast is under the direction of Sophomore Class officers. Those breakfast officers are Jon Lewis, vice-president; Shirley Mejia, secretary; and Karen Keogh, treasurer.

Former Graduates On Yale Council

Two former graduates of FSU, Grace Lawler and Bob Canada, have been elected to two positions, one of four, on the President's Student Council of Law School at Yale University.

Lawler, while at FSU, served as vice-president of the student body, summer editor of The Florida Flambeau, member of ODK and Gold Key, and was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1953-54.

Canada, a 1953 graduate of FSU, was sophomore class president, member of Pi Kappa Epsilon Sophomore Men's Council, ODK and Gold Key.

Grimm Recital Slated Tonight In Opperman

By MARTY REEVES

Mozart-lovers are assured John Boda's recital last week may be interested to know that another faculty recital will be presented tonight by concertaliz Betty Jane Grimm.

Beginning at 6:15 in Opperman Music Hall, the program will include works of 17th century composers as well as several contemporaries: Mary Esther Vaughn, also of the music faculty, will accompany.

Part One will consist of "No, No Not Solamente Mio" by Giacomo Carissimi (1604-1674); "O, In This Dreaming" by Marco da Gagliance, (1575-1642); and two songs. "How Dare You Break No Love for Men" and "In A Lonely Room" from Verdi's relatively unknown "Compositi da Camera."

Part Two will contain "Ah, Fors' Fair Those Infant Eyes" by Rudy Wolf; "The Alike," by Schubert and "Viola" and "Poor Withered Flower" by Gabriel Faure.

Miss Grimm will then sing "O, Fatal Dow'r" from Verdi's "Don Carlo De Me"; Emma Taylor, "The Banks O'Doon"; Roger Quilter, "O, Lovely Rose"; and John Alden Carpenter, "One Day When Death Will Knock At The Door . . ."

She will close her program with "Toby You Know That I Love You" from contemporary Gian-Carlo Menotti's modern opera, "The Medium."

Graduate Speaks At Fashion Day

Florida State University will feature one of its own 1951 graduates, who has risen fast to an executive job with Mademoiselle magazine, in "Fashion Day at FSU" Tuesday.

Alumna Mrs. Barbara Buechly McKinna, formerly of Miami, will be the speaker at the luncheon meeting for Fashion Day, discussing "Behind the Scenes at Mademoiselle."

The luncheon will also feature a fashion show with about fifty Panhellenic students who will model clothes they have made themselves. In some cases, costumes will be self-designed.

Open to Public

The program, free and open to the public, will run from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. There will be $1.25 charge for the luncheon only; tickets are available in the Women's Social Affairs Office.

In addition to Mrs. McKenna and fashion experts will make addresses, Budd Gore of Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Celine Feiden of San Antonio, Texas, on the morning program, and Mrs. Rucy Messenger of Washington, D. C. in the evening.

"Fashion Must Be Sold", "Fashion Promotion" and "Fashions and People Behind Them" will be their subjects. The speakers will participate in the group meetings during the afternoon on "Advertising".

(Continued on Page 3)

Discussing—Fashion Institute program are, l. to r., Mrs. Eleanor Adams, Jeanne Cadenhead and Louanne Self.

Senators Decide On Dual Representation

Reapportion Issue Still Not Solved

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

A majority of Student Senate agreed Wednesday that its members should be elected both from classes and living areas such as dormitories.

The decision does not necessarily mean that Senate will pass a bill reapportioning itself in that fashion. Wednesday's session was informal, intended to result in more understandings and arrive at a workable reapportionment plan through a series of "votes of indication."

While accepting 17 to 5 the idea of electing some senators from dormitories the Senate rejected, 13 to 8, a proposal that they sit in a separate body in a government somewhat like the bicameral—two-house system of the U. S. Congress and state legislatures.

Issues Raised

During debate that totaled four hours, Senator Jim Moore and several colleagues set forth a series of questions which have arisen during more than a year of reapportionment debates. These questions were:

Did the Senate want reapportionment? There were no negative votes.

Did the Senators want "some representatives to come from living units"? (which Moore and others said did not include fraternity houses, fraternities, and sororities) Senators Jo Jones, Gordon Glazier, Ed Mann, Fred Mansfield, Bebe Bubeck, Germaine Murray, Barbara Moore, Jimmy Soles, Jim Moore, Greta Sims, Lis Cerny, Peter Dunn, Al Moore, Cathy Gwynn, Pat Finlay, Nancy Spence, and men's vice-president Tewa voted "yes." Senators Mary Louise Dee, Dave Bachman, Karl Edwards, Bill Swigert, Polly Alsaker, Winnie Mae Douglas and Hank McCann voted "no."

Ask Reconsideration

Did the Senators want some to be elected from the classes? Again the Senate voted yes, but only after a long debate, that was followed by a frenzied discussion during which as many as 10 senators were on their feet waiting to speak.

Senator Dave Bachman objected that having two different kinds of representatives in Senate would result in one group being regarded as more important.

Jo Jones asked the senators to reconsider the vote that was in favor of electing some senators from living units.

Senator Jim Moore asked Bachman if he would like to raise a further point.

Separate Elections

"How many of us know if it's going to be good or bad or not?" objected Senator Fred Mansfield.

At this point Sen. J. Moore asked Senate if they thought it would be possible to elect senators now in the spring and dormitory representatives in the fall.

Vice-President Jimmy Joanos, who was not chairman of the informal discussion, objected that Senate, which at present is installed in the spring, would be at half-strength at that time when considering "the most important issues" such as the next year's budget.

Two-House System

Parrying questions and motions for postponement, Moore held the floor until Senator Greta Sims asked, "Do you or do you not have a bicameral system in mind?"

Moore said he did. Senator Art Moore distributed a chart illustrating their system.

At that point Senate recessed and adjourned for dinner.

Reconvening at 6:45, with senators drifting in and out of the Longmire chambers all evening, the group continued debate. The suggestion that the legislative branch of student government have two houses took up most of the meeting.

Vice-President Tewa expressed opinion that the proposed two houses would be equal in power. He charged the House of Representatives would be given powers inferior to those of the class senate.

Some senators protested that having two houses would lengthen the time required to pass legislation. The proponents of bi-cameralism, mainly Senators Jim Moore, Art Moore, Fred Mansfield, and Gordon Glazier said the two houses should have equal powers.

Different Powers

Senator Carolyn Choe, a conservative classics major, said it would be better to let dormitory representatives, under a bicameral system, have jurisdiction over only "those matters affecting the dormitories" and establish the senate's powers over matters "affecting the whole University."

Under questioning by a Florida Flambeau reporter, she could list no specific matters peculiar to dormitories.

Senator Polly Alsaker protested against making the proposed house of representatives equal in power. "If they prove themselves they should be given more power and more power," she suggested.

"That's not reapportionment," countered Senator Gwynn.

Governmental Period

Senator Jimmy Soles, suddenly taken ill, asked to be allowed to speak on an issue he said was non relevant to the equality of the houses.

Soles attacked the principle of bicameralism, asserting that the present Senate could work efficiently if it included representatives of living units.

"I've made an extensive study," he said. "Florida State University is represented by one of the best structures of any university in the nation . . . we've come a long way since 1947." (When the school was made coeducational.)

One House Good

A single senate, he declared, had proved effective in the school's growth. An additional house is not needed now, he declared.

"We need some form of representation," Soles declared. "Let's keep Senate as one body. I do not think it out of order to elect people from classes and fraternities and think they can function effectively."

Having two houses, he said, would "complicate a situation where no complication at all is needed . . . we don't need another body but we do need the members of the body to shoulder a little bit more responsibility and work harder."

Soles said he would vote against any plan for a bicameral legislature in spite of the value of living unit representation.

As Soles left the room Senator

(Continued on Page 3)

Flambeau photo: Steve Klenk

Explaining Proposal—For Bi-cameral student government at FSU is Senator "JEM" Moore, at blackboard. Others in picture are Germaine Raniere, Senate Secretary, and Karl Edwards, Sophomore Senator, back to camera.

Lecturer Explains America's Source

The events from which the United States arose were produced by a major revolution in scientific thought, Dr. Maurice Vance told a lecture audience this week.

Dr. Vance, assistant professor of history, was addressing the first session of the American Studies Lecture series. "Science and America." He is acting director of the program.

Before the 1600's, Dr. Vance said in the introductory lecture, men explained all natural occurances with a "concept of supernaturalism."

Only during the same period in which the 13 American colonies began to be settled did men begin to realize they could change their environment, Dr. Vance said.

This "Enlightenment" or "Age of Reason," he said, was the achievement of four great scientists.

Copernicus First

Copernicus was the first, declaring that the earth was the center of the universe and holding instead that the earth was one of many bodies revolving around the sun and turning on their own axes, the professor declared.

Kepler first proved that natural phenomenon could be put into mathematical equations, he continued. Galileo bore out the Copernican theory and Sir Isaac Newton completed the work of his predecessors into one universal law of gravitation.

Not By Whim

The realization that "the universe does not operate not according to the whim of certain unpredictable supernatural beings" created two different reactions among Europeans, Dr. Vance declared.

Some felt insecure when thrust on their own he said. Others acquired a feeling of greater assurance that they could regulate the world about them because of the newly found natural laws.

Why Not Others?

It was then asked "Why not similar laws in other areas of knowledge?" Dr. Vance continued.

By the ensuing years of thought, reason, and inquiry men such as John Locke began applying science to government, economics, politics, and other fields of endeavor.

Specifically, Locke's theories that all power comes from the people and is handed by them to rulers inspired Thomas Jefferson when he wrote the Declaration of Independence.

Spirit of Krasea

Because it came into existence at about the same time as the Enlightenment, Dr. Vance maintained, America was from the first imbued with a spirit of reason that was felt directly by the leaders and indirectly through a widespread and highly literate people.

Even Puritan ministers in New England, he noted, thought of as highly intolerant, approved examinations for ordination.

Another effect was that the colleges became more and more practical and less and less devoted only to the training of ministers, he said.

Future American studies lectures given every Tuesday night at 7:30 in 218 Music Building, will concern the particular effects of science in America.

Buddy System Proposed Here

A plan to furnish foreign students with a "buddy" is being proposed here.

Nancy Vaughn, Secretary of State, announced the program. It is to be sponsored by Pan-Hellenic and Inter-Fraternity Council in cooperation with the dormitories.

"The first that we have not taken advantage of all the foreign students have to offer", explained Miss Vaughn. "This system is designed to help American students get acquainted with the foreign students."

Students interested in being a "buddy" for a foreign student may sign up this week in their living areas. Miss Vaughn's committee will appoint "Buddies" from this list.

Correction, Please

We were wrong again. In our editorial on the extensive use of the FSU bowling alleys by town leagues in the last issue, we bemoaned the fact that "a" Friday night had been given to the leagues despite the night's having been set aside for students.

It has been brought to our attention by several students, that the past four consecutive Friday evenings had been given to the leagues for "make-up" games.

Long Overdue Project

If you think it's hard enough to find your way around campus, then pity the poor visitor.

For him, the names Longmire, Westcott, and Seminole Club have no significance. He wants street names. But we don't have any—as well! We do!

Two years ago Student Senate, Gold Key, and the Florida Flambeau were enthused about a contest to name the streets. The Flambeau was to run the contest; Gold Key was to label the streets.

And so the street from the gate by the Sweet Shop to Westcott Circle became Orange Drive. The street from Westcott Circle ending in front of the arcade between Bryan and Reynolds Hall is Conradi Place, after a former University president.

Jacksonville Boulevard is the street that runs from the library past Longmire building to West Call Street.

Osceola Place runs from Landis and Florida Halls past the women's gym; Jackson Place runs behind Magnolia Hall and the women's gym; Hutchins Boulevard runs from between Landis and Gilchrist past the dining hall to West Call Street.

Harvard Place is the little area of pavement around the infirmary.

McCarty Drive is the area behind the dining hall around Gilchrist Hall.

The categories from which these names were chosen were, respectively, botanical, former FSU presidents, Florida cities, Seminole Chiefs, Confederate Generals, noted educators, colleges and universities, and former governors.

Interesting, aren't they? The question is, What good are they?

Some smart candidate for election this spring would do well to run on a platform of labeling the streets. While this might not mean too much to present students, it should appeal to their humanitarian concern for future freshmen and for their own parents who sometimes come to visit.

On-The-Spot Survey

U Of Alabama Students Denounce Riots Over Coed

By ORCHID ALONSO
Special to The Flambeau

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—The students of the University of Alabama took the bull by the horns this week, and in various forms denounced the actions of a "few" who aided and abetted a ragtag group of "outsiders," causing the ouster of the first Negro student to enroll in the university on the third day of class attendance.

The student legislature started the ball rolling by passing a unanimous resolution condemning the Board of Trustees for their decision to dubar Arthurine Lucy, 26-year-old Birmingham secretary. They charged she adults on the Board allowed a "bunch of high school students to intimidate them."

Joining in the chorus of announcing to the nation that the students of the university were not in favor of the events in the past few days were the Student Religious Association, campus ministers, the International Relations Club, the Women's Student Government Association and a number of honorary service organizations.

Abhorred Actions

The International Relations Club made it clear that they abhorred the mob actions and the subsequent ban by such actions by the Board of Trustees, which action paves the way for anti-democratic sources of the world in creation of new and erroneous but effective propagands.

The statement by the IRC was followed by a report that The Associated Press in London had monitored a Radio Moscow report on the University of Alabama and the "persecution of the Negro student. . . .

Faculty members of the university also shed their fear of administrative restraint and openly attacked the decision of the Board of Trustees.

Board Actions Explained

University President Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, who delivered the Board decision to the press and has acted as its spokesman, has steadily maintains that the action of the board was based solely on the precept of preventing possible bloodshed. This statement was more than corroborated later in Montgomery where assistant to the president Jeff Bennet, declared in no uncertain terms that the mob Monday was making an attempt "either to kidnap her (Miss Lucy) or to kill her on the campus."

Bennet and Dean of Women Sarah Healy, were with Miss Lucy in a car when it was charged by the mob in an attempt to seize her. Following Bennet said, was composed largely of persons not attending the university.

The car in which the three were riding was smashed by rocks and splattered by eggs. It was following this episode that Miss Lucy decided not to attempt her afternoon classes.

The disbarment order came at night following a promise to "close the University doors"

Onladers Recognized

Although the authorities recognized on campus during demonstrations were workers in two factories having only high school football players from which the university recruits Tuscaloosa), members of the Ku Klux Klan, White Citizens Council, and several individuals who allegedly "cut their teeth" on labor troubles.

Actual student participation in all uprisings but the first, was confined to a small group of inebriated fraternity men", who, estimated by observers at 4 to 5 per cent. Student body and fraternity leaders were credited during the rebellions with doing the utmost to quell the trouble, although they succeeded in little more than keeping the violence incidence down.

The first flurry of both honored and dishonored Dean Autherine Wilson, described by most as a "gentlewoman and leader, spoke Tuesday before television cameras. He declared that he would do it again and would continue to oppose the entry of Miss Lucy by "peaceful" demonstrations. He came under heavy fire from both reporters and fellow students, who constantly reminded him that he had called for the fatal demonstration on Monday morning while clinging high to a flag pole. Wilson defended his actions by asserting that if many Negroes were allowed to enroll, the university would decay. Another student then asked him if he would consider Harvard and Yale decayed, but Wilson would not answer.

Excitement High

Although excitement reigned high among the few students who were taking in by the spirit of the mobs, there could be discerned a cautious cohesion to individual action. And the cry of "Hey, Hey, Ho, Ho that dirty Autherine Lucy has got to go" was heard "The hell with the white citizens councils" Inflammatory signs were thrown out to students during the demonstrations was quickly torn up amid hurrahs from other students. The literature quickly made its way into a pile and provided fuel for a big bonfire.

Though the student leaders were condemning the actions of the mob participants, their elders in the capital were doing the very opposite. The state Legislature quickly drew up a resolution repeating the students for showing fine leadership. Speeches from the floor of both houses praised demonstrators who tossed rocks at cars and buses and forced police reinforcement to cover the campus.

Another speech declared that "History was written in Alabama 'Monday' by the common man." The resolution further urged the students to remain calm and declared that the students were ready to oppose the Supreme Court, and would not

In The Wings

Herman's Third Herd 'The Best'

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

IT WILL BE interesting to hear what sort of band Woody Herman is fronting these days, especially if it is anything like his high-powered publicity says it is. Herman's band has had more ups and downs than Frankie Laine's career; at the moment it seems to be riding high.

The best band Herman ever had was the so-called First Herd of 1936-37 that time it boasted such jazz greats as Bill Harris, Neal Getz, Phil Urso, Shorty Rogers, Don Lamond, Ralph Burns, and Red Norvo—a collection that would be practically impossible to assemble today.

Woody Herman's Second Herd was one of the finest examples of tasteful big-band jazz. Arrangers could do nothing wrong, and Herd's "Summer Sequence" from the album is at the very pinnacle of extended form in jazz that I can ever remember as being completely convincing.

AFTER THE DEMISE of the First Herd, Herman formed various pick-up groups, on and off. Most of them were off, including the Second Herd. Consequently, I was greatly surprised when I heard the band for the first time in several years at New York's Paramount last spring. Everything was clicking. The sidemen swung collectively and individually, the band played had more spirit and spark than I'd ever known it to have before—barring the First Herd. The guitar-al was good, too. No novelties or 'fx' in that one it boasted such jazz greats as Bill Harris, Neal Getz, Phil Urso, Shorty Rogers, Don Lamond, Ralph Burns, and Red Norvo—a collection that would be practically impossible to assemble today.

Herman's Second Herd was one of the finest examples of tasteful big-band jazz. Arrangers could do nothing wrong, and Herd's "Summer Sequence" from the album is at the very pinnacle of extended form in jam that I can ever remember as being completely convincing.

AFTER THE DEMISE of the First Herd, Herman formed various pick-up groups, on and off. Most of them were off, including the Second Herd. Consequently, I was greatly surprised when I heard the band for the first time in several years at New York's Paramount last spring. Everything was clicking. The sidemen swung collectively and individually, the band played had more spirit and spark than I'd ever known it to have before—barring the First Herd. The guitar-al was good, too. No novelties or 'fx' in that one. There was no exciting tenor solo—but a fine, swinging one by Shorty Rogers, Don Lamond, Ralph Burns, and Red Norvo—a collection that would be practically impossible to assemble today.

Herman's Second Herd was one of the finest examples of tasteful big-band jazz. Arrangers could do nothing wrong, and Herd's "Summer Sequence" from the album is at the very pinnacle of extended form in jam that I can ever remember as being completely convincing.

AFTER THE DEMISE of the First Herd, Herman formed various pick-up groups, on and off. Most of them were off, including the Second Herd. Consequently, I was greatly surprised when I heard the band for the first time in several years at New York's Paramount last spring. Everything was clicking. The sidemen swung collectively and individually, the band played had more spirit and spark than I'd ever known it to have before—barring the First Herd. The guitar-al was good, too. No novelties or 'fx' in that one. There was no exciting tenor solo—but a fine, swinging one by Shorty Rogers, Don Lamond, Ralph Burns, and Red Norvo—a collection that would be practically impossible to assemble today.

Herman's Second Herd was one of the finest examples of tasteful big-band jazz. Arrangers could do nothing wrong, and Herd's "Summer Sequence" from the album is at the very pinnacle of extended form in jam that I can ever remember as being completely convincing.

AFTER THE DEMISE of the First Herd, Herman formed various pick-up groups, on and off. Most of them were off, including the Second Herd. Consequently, I was greatly surprised when I heard the band for the first time in several years at New York's Paramount last spring. Everything was clicking. The sidemen swung collectively and individually, the band played had more spirit and spark than I'd ever known it to have before—barring the First Herd. The guitar-al was good, too. No novelties or 'fx' in that one. There was no exciting tenor solo—but a fine, swinging one by Shorty Rogers, Don Lamond, Ralph Burns, and Red Norvo—a collection that would be practically impossible to assemble today.

Herman's Second Herd was one of the finest examples of tasteful big-band jazz. Arrangers could do nothing wrong, and Herd's "Summer Sequence" from the album is at the very pinnacle of extended form in jam that I can ever remember as being completely convincing.

AFTER THE DEMISE of the First Herd, Herman formed various pick-up groups, on and off. Most of them were off, including the Second Herd. Consequently, I was greatly surprised when I heard the band for the first time in several years at New York's Paramount last spring. Everything was clicking. The sidemen swung collectively and individually, the band played had more spirit and spark than I'd ever known it to have before—barring the First Herd. The guitar-al was good, too. No novelties or 'fx' in that one. There was no exciting tenor solo—but a fine, swinging one by Shorty Rogers, Don Lamond, Ralph Burns, and Red Norvo—a collection that would be practically impossible to assemble today.

Herman's Second Herd was one of the finest examples of tasteful big-band jazz. Arrangers could do nothing wrong, and Herd's "Summer Sequence" from the album is at the very pinnacle of extended form in jam that I can ever remember as being completely convincing.

AFTER THE DEMISE of the First Herd, Herman formed various pick-up groups, on and off. Most of them were off, including the Second Herd. Consequently, I was greatly surprised when I heard the band for the first time in several years at New York's Paramount last spring. Everything was clicking. The sidemen swung collectively and individually, the band played had more spirit and spark than I'd ever known it to have before—barring the First Herd. The guitar-al was good, too. No novelties or 'fx' in that one. There was no exciting tenor solo—but a fine, swinging one by Shorty Rogers, Don Lamond, Ralph Burns, and Red Norvo—a collection that would be practically impossible to assemble today.

The Dissenter

Says Nation Must Remain United

By MARTIN DYCKMAN
THERE IS NO basis for the contention that "states' rights" prevent the federal government from dealing with segregation.

There is indeed little basis for the idea of "states' rights" itself. The term has historical significance only.

Every so often some branch of the government in Washington—the Congress, the Court, or the President—will try to put some step away from the status quo. Immediately the luckless branch arouses the wrath of and denounced as tyrannical and unconstitutional.

Very eloquent propagandists define the issue as a conflict between noble American states and the "tyranny" that exists in "those" in Washington.

The cry of "states' rights" is always a diversion. Certain petty, self medicine manufacturers, who were champions of the 48 states, didn't want the way they were poisoning the public brought to light. Perpetrators of unfair railroad, business, and meat packing house practices also resorted to "states' rights."

Of course, there are some who adhere to the doctrine of "states' rights" because of sincere conviction. But that does not affect the fallacy of the belief.

IT IS TRUE that those who created the United States were jealous of the sovereignty of the individual states. Hence they became and sought to limit the government.

Shall we remember also how their bickering almost enabled England to triumph in the Revolution, or how the country was little better than a chaotic anarchy under the pitiful and meaningless Articles of Confederation?

In writing the Constitution they wrote a document that became subject to change according to the necessities and aggressions of ensuing years. This nation fought many wars, wealthy and powerful nations have received many election campaigns, as a nation.

In politics, economics, and foreign policy we have been one people. There have always been differences in opinion, but the variances that at worst were only sore and not fatal.

And this issue of segregation is another problem that confronts the nation as a whole and cannot be left to the whims of a number of legislatures and governors whose actions reflect upon the country as a whole.

For the Constitution has ignored all states and under it the United States has come to be a hazy power, albeit not always

Letters To The Editor

Writer Explains Article Intent On Alabama

TO THE STUDENTS:

The coverage of the University of Alabama upriuses was not offered—and I hope not printed—with the intention of ridiculing or disparaging the students or officials of the Cadenne. Nor is it intended to glorify or enhance the segregationist or what she represents.

Instead, it is offered primarily as a vivid example of the corrosive qualities of unreasonable behaviour and to free the readers of the unperceptual view of the world reason that the "student body" of the university condoned or themselves took part in the disgraceful, unlawful uprisings. The article could reflect or illustrate the evolution of past tense to present tenuous. And the past tense could well apply to those who are still lacking in the lawful and moral interim: intents which prolific discoveries use continually in appropriate or inappropriate ways. The entire ones are undoubtedly [illegible] uncouth and are usually [illegible] as "pimply faced members usually come "to watch the fun." No one ever remembers

Just when things set out of hand or why.
"We'll just scare her good," these killers cry,
and know they can't be stopped, for in unity
there is impunity.
And so these ignorant evil mobs, composed of misled youths and slobs from nearby factories, will rule, not only at this hapless Alabama school,
but in every other South,
until the vulgar, bitter, stinking mouth of hatred is closed with the fist of the law.
Until that day arrives we must allow Autherine Lucy to walk alone into that shameful building, cold, and gray no stone
will touch her, breaking the thin glass barriers of the Southern institution of class barriers, that's right, rebels, crackers, hicks.
Rebuild the glass walls of the South or bricks will shatter them, maidens will die the crisis—Solve the problem now or twice as many will arise.
The eyes of the country are upon you. I myself would run the streets of Tuscaloosa with a gun and die,
rather than alive in to the lie
that passes in the South for Truth.
Blame it on my youth.
But if Autherine Lucy does not survive,
why would YOU want to stay alive?

Alarmed Alumnus Questions Court Proceedings

TO THE EDITOR:

I have just returned from a very pleasant visit to the FSU campus. However, before my departure, a friend handed me a copy of the Florida Flambeau, January 25 edition. I cannot remain silent.

To Miss Barbara Graham, Chief Justice of the Honor Court—I am sure a personal acquaintance with the two gentlemen accused and convicted of stealing and selling exams, nor will I venture to voice an opinion as to whether or justice prevailed in the court's decision . . . I will say . . .

These men were given a trial that flagrantly violated every concept and principle of our system of juris prudence which demands that allows" as a right (not a privilege) that every person . . . shall be presumed innocent until proven guilty, that an accused be entitled to be confronted with his accusors, that evidence secured in any manner other than according to strict rules of evidence be declared inadmissable and suppressed, and that the accused be represented by competent counsel.

To Mr. Coyle Moore, Student Body President: Though you are in no sense of the word to be pardoned for illegally entering the home of the two gentlemen . . . you ruined an otherwise sane and level-headed approach in your article on the situation by ending it with "The court will protect its source of information . . ."

To certain members of the Court . . . What kind of "trial" could you have possible had with no defendant present? . . . Are you each and every one, singly and collectively, mind-readers? I remain very alarmed and indignant.

YOURS FOR A BETTER HONOR SYSTEM AND COURT.
WILLIAM L. AYNES

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ..... Bradford Brinkley
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Heeva
Photographers Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Copy Desk ..... Adrian Allen
Campus Editor ..... Eleanor Kirby
Feature Editor ..... Margaret Miller

Pat Marston, News Editor
Sports Editors ..... Larry Bloch
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ..... Dave Eisele
Pierce Allman
Junior Staff — Arlieda Rice, Bob Dolleman
Bob Moren, Steve Kinkel
Greek Editor ..... Charlet Pollens

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ..... Betsy Voorhees
Exchange Staff ..... Martha McLeod
Sandra Cline

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown.
Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue ..... George Goldsmith
Business ..... Gail Burdsall, Larry Merrill
Staff Assistants ..... Enid Saulsbury, Jean Anderson

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, Inc. 420 Madison Ave., New York 17. The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Telephone 2.800, extension 6821, 5821, 211, 213 Longmire Building
Intercollegiate Press

200 Help Plan Intelligent Faith Week Details

By MARGARET MILLER

Over 200 FSU students have organized to do everything from furnishing flowers in hotel rooms and setting breakfast tables to conducting religious programs.

These activities are a part of the various responsibilities for Intelligent Faith Week, set here for March 4-11. Students are taking over part of the responsibility for all phases of the IF Week program.

The overall chairman, who is responsible for general direction and planning of all phases of IF Week, is Jim Spence. He is aided by secretaries Nilda Britt and the nine committee members, Miriam Wilson, senior from the Presbyterian Student House; Austin Holliday, of the University Religious Center, and Reverend William Lee, who will act as IF Week chaplain.

The Hospitality Committee headed by Joan Tavel, will escort and introduce the speakers to their hostess, fraternity and sorority members. They will also be the social graces of being hosts and hostesses.

Jo Wilson heads the Arrangements committee, which has the practical arrangements for speakers will supply certain linens. Powell heads the Transportation committee, which is responsible for chauffeuring or securing the various speakers to and from the various places where they are to speak.

Heads Publicity

Soles heads all students responsible for IF Week publicity. The Florida Flambeau notices, posters, news releases, radio and television announcements for IF Week are considered of IF Week.

Lowe heads the program committee. Duty.

Wilde will plan the annual display and Mary Ann Sanders is in charge of planning general seminar. Marlene Wilkes will see that the meals are served, and Prudy Hall will be in charge of IF Week breakfasts. There are over 70 all activities.

Meet Feb. 19

The first open meeting, which initiate IF Week, is being held by Doris Wardlaw. This will be held Sunday night at the Episcopal church. The mass meetings, which will be held at night for two people students, will be directed by Dr. Mode.

Dr. Soles will direct the closing and worship programs, and Dr. Shedosh will make arrangements for speakers to appear at the meetings such as dormitory and fraternity meetings.

brisk as an ocean breeze!

Old Spice
AFTER SHAVE LOTION
100
SHULTON

It's a pleasure to get to know OLD SPICE AFTER SHAVE LOTION. Each time you shave you can look forward to something special: the OLD SPICE scent—brisk, crisp, fresh as all outdoors . . . the zing of that vigorous astringent—bathless, shave-soap film, heals tiny razor nicks. Splash on OLD SPICE—and start the day refreshed!

Add Spice to Your Life . . . Old Spice For Men
SHULTON, New York • Toronto

Catholics To Hold Annual Weekend

The Newman Club, Catholic sponsored college organization, is planning its annual weekend.

Saturday at 7:30 p.m. there will be a bobo party at the Newman House where the wearing apparel will consist of anything sloppy. A program of entertainment and fun is planned with square and round dancing included.

Sunday evening program will consist of Rosary and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at 7 followed by a talk by Supreme Court Justice Stephen C. O'Connell on "Public Attitude in Government and Politics."

The Newman Club invites any and all to attend either of these two functions.

CULTURAL SIDE OF LIFE

BARTALLIS, Cyr— (ACP)—A lecture was recently playing school of Rimet's "Carmen" by a friend of his asked him about them. He paused and listened to some them asked if this a foreign translation of a music from "Carmen Jones"

Gamma Alpha Chi—officers show Miss Dianalee Dye, associate retail coordinator from Mademoiselle, their fashion scrapbook. Left to right are Mary Elizabeth Krug, president, June Yates, vice president, Miss Dye; Claudette Carley, treasurer and Mrs. Royal Ray, advisor. Miss Dye spoke on future fashion trends and gave suggestions for obtaining work in the quality field at a GAX sponsored speech and reception on Monday afternoon in Longmire building.

Flambeau photo. Adrian Allen

Senate, In Long Session, Votes Dual Representation

(Continued from Page 1)

Jim Moore announced he would pair his vote with that of the absent legislator—in effect, not vote himself on the question.

Senator noted that if two houses were to be created they should be equal. It later rejected the proposition of bicameralism.

Election Necessary

During the debate which preceded the final vote Senator Fred Mansfield, an advocate of living unit representation and of bicameralism, said his "only interest" was to get people elected from the dormitories. He decried suggestions that representation would be achieved by assigning senators elected from the classes to live in dormitories, such suggestions having been presented in a "compromise" resportionment bill several weeks ago.

A final question raised by the liberal leadership was whether candidates for multiple office could be elected from groups. They said this would allow those seeking a senatorship from a class to select certain opponents for one of the seats rather than run against all candidates for the office. No vote was taken on this proposition.

Parliamentary Discussion

The meeting, conducted according to parliamentary terms, was a "committee of the whole" as intended. Senate leaders asked to arrive at principles which could be incorporated in a reapportionment bill.

Still to be settled are the number of senators to be elected from living units; whether these should be representatives from the groups of fraternity and sorority houses and the day student organization among other categories; how many senators should be elected from classes; when the elections should be held and when senators should take office.

Majority Evident

It is possible that Senate could repudiate the test votes taken Wednesday when they are presented in the form of a bill. On the crucial issue of electing dormitory representatives, however, the vote Wednesday was 17 for, 5 against—more than the two-thirds majority that would be required to pass a reapportionment bill.

Advocates of living unit representation, led by Senator Jim Moore, expressed satisfaction with Wednesday's meeting. They admitted privately that establishing a bicameral legislative body was not their primary interest and were therefore not discouraged at the Senate's rejection of that proposal.

Sandspur's Director To Be Chosen

Sandspur Committee will meet today to select a director for the forthcoming student musical production.

The meeting is slated for 4:30 in the Student Lounge, Longmire.

The director, who should be a student with some previous experience in theatrical direction and production, will supervise rehearsals and direct the performance, according to Jack Rogero, chairman of the Sandspur Committee.

The production is slated for April 6 and 7, Rogero revealed. He added that several "big name" orchestras have been contacted for the dance the night of April 7, but none has been signed as yet.

Tryouts for Sandspur begin next Tuesday and conclude Thursday, February 16. All tryouts are conducted in the Student Lounge, Longmire, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Tuesday night's tryouts are for dramatic roles. Music tryouts are scheduled for Wednesday. Musicians must bring their own music and provide their own accompanists, Rogero said.

Tryouts for dancing roles, both solo and chorus, are slated for Thursday night. Students who are unable to attend either the Tuesday or Wednesday night tryouts may appear Thursday night.

Students interested in technical work should either attend this afternoon's meeting or contact Pat Arrants at North Cawthon.

(Continued from Page 1)

Graduate Speaks

Careers in Fashion", and "Fashion Illustration."

Reception Honors Speakers

A reception in the University Art Gallery where the main speakers will be the guests of honor, will climax afternoon events. An exhibition will feature high—fashion art work provided by Harpers Bazaar magazine.

This second annual expanded "Fashion Day at FSU", is an interdivisional effort with the department of clothing and textiles, retailing, art, arts education, advertising, marketing and home and family life taking part.

Committee Cited

Mrs. Eleanor Adam is chairman, Dr. Adolph Karl, secretary of the group. Other faculty members of the committee are Mrs Anna Carey, Dr. Ruth Conner, Ivan Johnson, Miss Ann Kirn, Dr. Royal Ray, Dr. W. G. Shuver, William B. Slaughter, Dr. Janet K Smith, Dr. Hazel Stevens, and Dr W. Bruce Wiske

FSU President Doak S. Campbell will extend greetings while Tom Brownlee, manager of the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Ruth Chapman, society editor of the Tallahassee Democrat will introduce speakers.

Jean Cadenhead, Fashion Institute student from Ft Lauderdale, will serve as commentator for the fashion show where over 100 Fashion Institute students, majoring in various fields, will participate.

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S
MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

Flying High Starts First Road Show

Fifty members of "Flying High", FSU's student circus, start their first big road show of the year today.

Performances will be given tomorrow in Lake Worth and Monday at Stetson University in De-Land.

A stop will also be made at Sarasota to visit the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey headquarters and the Circus Hall of Fame.

Featured in the presentation by the circus will be aerial acrobatic routines and "Clown Alley" antics.

The old circus ford has been completely remodeled so that it will now rare up on hind wheels and circle in either side which gives the clowns more lee-way for additional laughs.

Coach Jack Hoskins reports that there are about 210 members in the entire "Flying High" group, but only 50 are taken on each road journey. In order to go on tribe a student must maintain a "C" average.

The schedule for the spring semester road trips, released by Coach Hoskins is as follows: February 18, Cocoa. March 2 and 3, Orlando; March 17, University of Georgia at Athens. March 23, Jacksonville; March 24, Palatka April 7, Waycross, Georgia; April 13, Dothan, Alabama, and April 14, Albany, Georgia.

Looking Over—Costumes preparatory to leaving on road show are "Flying High" members Charlotte and Phyllis Patten and Betty Lou Whittle.

Flambeau photo. Dick Horne

Symphonic Band Starts Second Tour

Florida State University's Symphonic Band is completing its second concert state concert tour this weekend.

Made up of 60 talented musicians, mostly working for professional degrees in music, the band is directed by Arnold Wilcomb.

The band is giving concerts at high schools, mostly open to the public, in Ocala, Orlando, Miami and Bradenton. The only repeat performance on this year's tour will be Bradenton where the FSU band will stage an all day district clinic tomorrow at the Manatee High School, and then give a public concert that night at the school.

Twelve Bands

Twelve high school bands from Central and South Florida are scheduled to participate in the clinic, all represented by 18 student performers and the school band director. Both high school and FSU students will take part in demonstrations.

Although FSU bands give annual clinics in Tallahassee for high school bands, travel distances make it impractical for South Florida. To service the entire state, FSU will give the Bradenton clinic tomorrow and another in Tallahassee on Feb. 18.

Assistants

Faculty members assisting Whitcomb on the tour and with the clinic are Robert Brungardt, Joseph White, William Cramer, Miss Nancy Fowler and Harry Schmidt.

Selections to be given on the concert tour include Trumpeter's Lullaby, Fantasia on Verdi's "Ricoletto," Semlinole Spirit, North Sea Overture, Reguine for Band, Fairest of the Fair, Overture to "Risnit," Etude Caprice, FSU Fight Song, Hankell's Rascals and Relax: Rumba.

Hurst Wins 1st Sculpture Prize, $300

Ralph Hurst, instructor in arts education at Florida State University, Sunday won first prize for sculpture in the Hoosier Salon Patrons Association Annual Exhibit.

Hurst's black walnut figure, "Toreador Goddess," won the top rating and $300 for the sculptor. This is the second time Hurst has captured first prize for sculpture in the Indiana exhibit. His 1952 entry also won top rating.

Hurst did his undergraduate work in arts education and earned his master's degree in art at University of Indiana. He did his graduate work under the French-born sculptor Robert Laurent.

Active Since '52

He has been active in extension work since joining the FSU faculty in the fall of 1953. He especially likes working with elementary art teachers. He feels it is up to them to teach children how to observe color, shapes and textures around them that the children may better understand their environment.

His many education activities have not prevented him from continuing sculpture, which remains foremost in his research and leisure hours. He carves both in stone and in hardwoods, especially mahogany and ebony, which he finds in Pensacola.

Won Prizes

Hurst has won several other sculpturing awards since moving to Florida. He won prizes in the annual Florida Craftsman Awards, honorable mention in the Four Arts Society Exhibition in Palm Beach and honorable mention in the New Orleans Art Association exhibit.

Last year Hurst was invited to show in International Contemporary Sculpture and Drawing at Ohio State University, and he won the Indiana Sectional Career Memorial Sculpture Prize.

BAUM NAMED CAMS HEAD

Dr Werner A Baum, head of the Department of Meteorology at Florida State University, has been elected to the Council of the American Meteorological Society.

Dr. Baum is editor of the Society's Journal of Meteorology.

HEY!
C'mon Over!
Let's Eat at the
MECCA

Superior Cleaners
"SINCE 1924"
Oldest Dry Cleaning Service In Tallahassee

Ever Get Muddled By A Puddle?

TRY OUR MIRACLE SANITONE SERVICE!

SANITONE SERVICE

Superior Cleaners
305 S. Monroe St. Phone 2-0652

YOU'LL BOTH GO FOR THIS CIGARETTE!

Flavor above all—that's WINSTON

■ When it comes to real tobacco flavor, college smokers are going for Winston! This good-tasting, easy-drawing filter cigarette brings you full, rich flavor. Winston also brings you a finer filter that works so well the flavor comes right through. Join the big switch to Winston.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

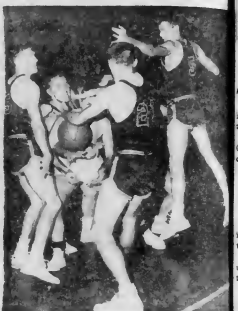
Smoke WINSTON the easy-drawing filter cigarette!

Basketball—It's Just A Nice, Friendly Game

By PIERCE LEHMBECK

"Basketball," they call it. It's a nice, easy-gaing indoar game far the guy who puts more emphasis on winning thraugh sheer talent than thraugh the bruising tactics restorted ta in same other athletic activities.

But when a Tray State basketball squad came an campus this past Manday night, there were thase who were given reason ta doubt the "mildness" af this spart.



FLAMBEAU phatagrapher Tam Sawyer viewed the gaing's-an thraugh the eye af his camera. Here are same af the antics he captured. (Pictures begin at right.)

THINGS START—but easy enough. FSU's Fred Twomey bends over to pick up the basketball—and what better position for a well-placed knee? Of course, Fred isn't the only fellow who'll get it in the end. Note that Ed Wurzback (34) is about to make like a place-kicker. And like all artists of the trade, note too, that Ed has his eyes on his target.

THEN COMES—the backboard play. Every good coach will tell you it's very important to control the backboards during a game. What better way to control a backboard than to remove the opposition? And, certainly, a well-placed body block is the best way to accomplish this.

OF COURSE—if your opposition does get the ball—Jimmy Oler did here—then the best thing to do... smother him under. Facial expression plays a great part also. You've got to look downright mean when you do.

BUT IF—the opposition is Jimmy Oler, don't be surprised if he breaks loose to send you sprawling and score a basket—or, maybe it's a touchdown. Anyway, Jim's pretty brawny too.

AND SOME—guys just don't have a sense of humor. You score on 'em and what do they do? Toss you up in the bleachers, of course. But hurry back, Jim. The fun's just beginning.

Wheat Announc... AF ROTC Positio...

Temporary positions ... for flight commander ... Force ROTC cadet ... Florida State Univers... been announced by Cal... tri Anthony J. Whea... unit commander.

Flight commanders ... Heavy Bomb Squadron ... Russell W. Johnson ... Baker, Fredrick B. ... John T. Boyd. The ... Bomb Squadron flig... manders include K... Nelson, Horst H. B. H... Clifford S. Kidd III ... liam L. Johnson.

Bobby L. Ward, Ovey's Geiger, Jr., Edward B. Wo... and Emmett P. Hardy ... mand flights in the 3rd ... reptor Squadron. Comm... flights in the 4th ... Squadron are James ... Glayden L. Shafer. ... Davis, Jr. and Donald S. ... All of the flight comma... hold the rank of cadet ...

PECK, SCHALLER ARE MARRIED

Peter Peck and Bar... Schaller were only plea... when they appeared as Alma... er and Julie in "The New Mo... as husband and wife, but not ... for real. The two were ... last Saturday in Thomas... Ga.

Magazine Seeks Unknown Model

In Contest

Vogue Magazine is looking for a new model.

The magazine announced in its February 1 issue that its editors and art directors are searching for someone who hasn't appeared in national magazines before, to present fashion to America.

They want someone whose personality and features, figure and way-of-wearing clothes combine to meet the standard Vogue sets for the presentation of fashion.

She doesn't have to be a beauty by conventional standards, have a given set of measurements, or be a certain age.

Any woman over 18 years of age is eligible to enter Vogue's model search, but anyone under 21 must have written consent of her parents. The main requirements are individuality, freshness, variety, elegance—and the luck to be photogenic," explains Vogue.

Entry Blank

The rules and entry blank appear in Vogue's February 1 issue. Deadline for entries is midnight, March 1, 1946. Women wishing to enter must fill out the entry blank and send it in along with three photographs: a close-up of the face; a full-figure, from head to toe, in a dress, and a full length figure in a bathing suit. Photographs, or anapshots if they're recent, must not be larger than 8" x 10" nor smaller than 2¼ x 2¼.

Six finalists, selected by the editors on the basis of the photographs taken in New York.

Vogue Contract

This woman will receive a three-months' exclusive contract to pose for Vogue. She will be paid a retainer fee of $100 a week for the three months she is in New York, plus model fees at the regular Vogue rate for beginners for modeling assignments performed.

All finalists will be introduced to the leading model agencies.

Don't write home for money—write Lucky Droodles

The easiest $25 you'll ever make!

A raft of students have already earned $25 in Lucky Strike's Droodle drive. By June, hundreds more will. Better get with it. It's like taking candy from a baby.

Do as many Droodles as you want. Send them, complete with titles, to Lucky Droodle, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Include your name, address, college, and class—and the name and address of the dealer in your college town from whom you most often buy cigarettes.

If we select your Droodle, we'll pay $25 for the right to use it, with your name, in our advertising. And we pay for a lot of Droodles that never appear in print! Talk about easy money! This is it!

DROODLES, Copyright 1953 by Roger Price

LONG WALK ON SHORT PIER
Beverly McMonnigal
Texas A & M

CENTIPEDE DOING CARTWHEEL
Warren Hartmann
Gonzaga

And while you droodle, light up a Lucky—the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

©A.T. Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURERS OF CIGARETTES

Ellen Kaye

Dual personality . . . the dress that looks like a suit! Luxurious silk and cotton in smoke, burnt almond or navy. Sizes 5 to 15 . . $24.95

The Vogue

PARKING PROBLEM?

Spaces Available Immediately

538 WEST JEFFERSON

$3.00 Per Month

Inquire: College Park Grocery
528 West Jefferson
Telephone 2-1311

FAIVER'S

For A Noon-Day Treat—Try Our 60c Lunch!

Choice of:

- Meat
- Vegetable
- Salad

With Rolls and Butter, Coffee or Tea

— Week-Days Only —

FAIVER'S RESTAURANT

1312 WEST TENNESSEE

The Press Table

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

AT LAST

Probably unknown to most Florida State students, this institution fielded a football team in 1902 and 1903, under the banner of Florida State College.

Sometime during the 1902 campaign, Florida State College defeated the Florida Agricultural College, by a count of 6-0.

Three years later the agricultural school became the University of Florida at Gainesville, and after evolving through the Florida State College for Women, our institution finally became Florida State University, in 1947.

Some fifty-three years from the date of battle in 1902, it almost took an act of the state legislature to bring the two schools together on the gridiron again.

You would have to look a long time to find two state universities who have seen as little of each other as the two Florida schools on the athletic field of battle.

During this half century, the two schools met twice in dual competition, both in basketball, and both won by Florida: 61-51 and 82-79 in 1952 and 1954 respectively.

Cries for competition from this university began almost as soon as the school itself began active inter-collegiate athletics, but were to no avail until finally last year the State Board of Control, which certainly has better things to spend its time debating, ordered the two presidents to arrange a date for a football game.

However, the two presidents, as they had been doing for years, deadlocked and the Board of Control was forced back into the matter again. This time they laid down the decree a football game between FSU and Florida is now scheduled for November 22, 1958 in Gainesville, with provisions for an earlier date if it can be arranged.

This opened the door, and now only basketball remains to be brought into the number of sports scheduled for dual competition between the Gators and Seminoles.

The latest addition comes on the baseball diamond, as the recently announced University of Florida diamond slate pits the Gators and FSU April 9 and 10 in Gainesville. The tennis teams get together March 28 in Tallahassee, and May 1 in Gainesville.

The first regularly scheduled battle is set next Friday night in the women's gym here when the two swimming teams get together. The return meet is set March 16 in Gainesville, and the other sports read something like this:

Golf: March 5 in Tallahassee. April 16 in Gainesville; Tennis: March 28 in Tallahassee. May 1 in Gainesville: There are no regularly scheduled dual contests in either gymnastics or volleyball, and basketball is yet to be slated.

Despite this assumed cordiality between, the two schools now, FSU coaches will tell you that recruiting has not been exactly a pushover in the state of Florida. The idea of a girls' school still penetrates the minds of many of the state's populace, particularly since the majority of them if they are college alumni, went to the University of Florida, and not too strangely want their offspring to join them as Gator alumni.

It has been a long, hard climb for FSU athletic officitias, who have had to face the cries of "girls' school", "not big-time" etc., and It's not over yet. The football team played its first year as a major-college school this year, the basketball team is expected to join them in the big-time ranks in 1957.

The Tribe athletic system hit the top of its publicity peak last year, with a football team in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas, and a basketball squad in the NAIA tourney in Kansas ICty. Of no little help also, from a publicity angle, was the appearance of Dr. Howard Danford and several of the coaches at the recent NCAA meeting in Los Angeles.

The 1957 home football slate reads like a top team list, including Auburn, Miami, Villanova, North Carolina State. With a new million-dollar gym marked for completion this spring, next year's basketball schedule might well surprise a lot of skeptics.

If the Gainesville people should get huffy over their two basketball victories, the Seminole fans can point to several national championships (gymnastics and volleyball) and challenge Florida to do the same.

Anyway, we're sure the Seminoles will come out on the betetr half of their duals with Gainesville, and win, lose or draw, this should turn into one of the hottest sports rivalries in the South, and we hope one of the friendliest.

Oler Fiddles As Records Burn Southern Threat To Tribe Streak

By LARRY BLOCK
Flambeau Sports Editor

With two straight wins in as many days and a home victory skein of 21 straight games, FSU's basketball team turns to meet the oncoming Florida Southern Moccasins on Monday night.

The Tampa victory saw high scoring guard Jim Oler break his own record for most points in a single season with 8 free throw midway in the second half. It marked his 330th point for the year.

Oler also broke his own free-throw record at 221 as he cashed in on 17 foul shots for a new record of 226.

The cager's two streaks will be at stake against the Florida Southern team. Besides the 21 home wins, their 16 consecutive FIBC victories will be on the line.

In Cellar

At present the Moccasins are in the cellar of the FIBC with one victory and five defeats. However, Florida Southern has four of the top 13 scorers in the conference.

Top threat for the Mocs is Frank DeAvelos, 6a high scoring forward, who is averaging 20 points per game. Right behind DeAvelos is guard Dale Collins with an 18 point average for conference play.

Wood and Stocia, a forward and guard respectively, follow each with a 13 point average per game.

A valiant band of Tampa Spartans threw a scare into the Tribe during the final half of Tuesday night's game before auccumbing 88-72.

Midway through the first half the Spartans tied up the game and held a small lead until the last minute when Jim Oler scored a basket and free throw to put the Tribe ahead at the half, 42-42.

It seemed that the Seminoles were in for a bad time of it as center Gary Wold fouled out of the game with slightly more than a minute remaining in the opening half.

The opening of the second half saw the Tribe score eight points to only two for Tampa. Forward Dick Armeier accounted for six, and Stu Gregory scored the other basket.

Dick Armeier continues to add scoring punch to the Tribe's attack as he scored 19 points, the had 18 against Troy State) to boost his average to 11.8 per game.

Bobby Ward was behind Armeier with 16, on 6e baskets and three fouls. Gary Wold's average dropped to 12.7 as he only scored four points before fouling out.

Tiny Stan Bill Bosworth with 21 and guard Howard Bernstein with 16 paced the Spartans attack.

Troy Stale

The Tribe had an easy time of it against the Troy State Red Wave, winning as they pleased 90-65.

During the latter part of the opening period, the cagers surged to a 17 point bulge at half-time, 48-31.

Jimmy Oler again paced the Tribe in scoring, winding up with 38 points.

Leading scorer for the Red Wave was Harry Jacobs, a sophomore guard who put on a one-man show with his set shots. Jacobs made nine homs from the floor and hit on eight of them.

Photo by Steve Kleid

1-2-4-26—Hike. Howard Berstein, Tampa guard, appears to be ready to hike the ball to the official in the background but FSU's Stu Gregory is going in for the tackle. Bobby Ward (33) and Dick Armeier look on, a little perplexed as to what's happening.

Frosh Cagers Seek 2nd Win

Coach Ham Wernke's freshman basketball team's savings bank section tonight with Jacksonville Navy squad as their opponents.

The frosh hope to improve on their one victory and four loss record. Tonight's game is at Jacksonville.

The team suffered a blow when starting guard Nunie Lamson transferred to Hanover College in Indiana between semesters.

"I still haven't decided who will take Mike's place on the starting five," said Coach Wernke.

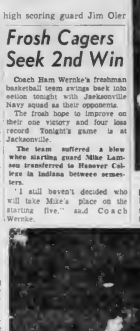


Photo by Steve Kleid

Florida State's Bobby Williams goes up, then down in Tampa game, but unfortunately the ball stayed up and is about to be hauled in by an opposing player. Bob Ward (foreground), Jimmy Oler and Stu Gregory look on.

SN Protest Stands; Tilt To Be Replayed

The Fraternity touch football championships are not over. Even though ATO beat SN 13-12 in the final game, a play occurred in the first half that put off the game which caused a protest.

SN had the ball on the S. 3rd down, and 54 second left. A backfield in motion penalty was enacted, but the officials also charged a down, making it 4th and 11.

The protest committee has ruled a mistake by the officials and ruled a replay of the game. The committee reasoned that to make it 3rd and 11 with 2 plays left, the SN would give them ruly advantage.

So . . . the game will be played at Campbell stadium Feb. 14 at 3 p.m.

If ATO wins they will be the champions. If SN wins another game will be necessary in the double elimination system and this game will be played at the stadium the next day.

Table Tennis

The intramural table tennis championships begin Monday at 5:30 p.m. with the opening rounds of the Dormitory-Independent Division.

On Tuesday at 5:30 the Fraternity division will get underway.

West Hall is acting as host for the tournamenta. The double elimination tourney will be in singles only.

Tribe's 6-0 Mark Tops Hoop Play

Stetson's Hatters have taken some of the glister away from the proposed FIBC championship battle between Florida State and Miami Feb. 25 in the Magic City.

The Hatters stunned Miami, 91-84 Wednesday night, and thus dropped the Hurricanes two full games behind the undefeated Seminoles.

The Miamians still had a gauntlet of three straight FIBC opponents facing them as this edition went to press.

The Canes met Rollins Thursday and face Florida Southern and Tampa tonight and tomorrow respectively.

Florida State's Jimmy Oler seems certain to add the conference scoring crown to his other accomplishments for the season.

Oler has poured in 186 points in the first six games for a 31.0 average, and the only man close to him is Dick Bezemer of Rollins with a 24.5 mark, but only two games remaining.

Here are the conference standings through Thursday

Team	W	L	Pct
Fla. State	6	0	1.000
Miami	3	2	.600
Mercer	3	3	.667
Rollins	3	3	.333
Stetson	2	4	.333
Fla. Southern	1	5	.167

Volleyballers Take Pensacola Open; Face Albany Monday

With four all-Americans in the starting lineup, Florida State's national champion volleyballers meet the Albany, Ga. YMCA team Monday night in the Women's gym.

This is the first home meet of the year for Coach Bill Odenseal's netters, who have a victory in the Pensacola Open and a second place in the St. Petersburg Invitational to their credit thus far.

The all-Americans who will play Monday are Ray Johnson, Bernie McCann, Lyle Lasear and Eugene Lewis.

Tomorrow night, the volleyball squad moves to Columbus, Georgia for a battle with the Columbus YMCA team.

Their most recent performance was a triumph in the Pensacola Open last Saturday, achieved with a victory over the New Orleans YMCA in the finals.

The Seminoles had lost to the same New Orleans team in the semi-finals earlier, defeating them in the opening round.

"On the whole the team played wonderful ball," Odeneal commented. "Passing was good and setting up was excellent. Our toughest competitor was the New Orleans team.

Lasear led the team in spikes with 35, and Lewis followed with 47. John Miller had the most ace serves, nine

Swimmers After 6th Against Tech

Florida State's swimmers go after their sixth win of the season tomorrow night against Georgia Tech, after a successful road trip against Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

The Seminole tankers broke a total of seven different pool records while crushing the Wildcats and Commodores, 55-23, and 56-24 respectively.

Coach Bim Stoltz men broke or tied marks for the medley relay, the 400-yd. freestyle relay, individual medley and 200 yd. backstroke in both pools.

Freshman Jerry Gainey led the way with record-breaking performances in the 200-backstroke both times, and a leg on the medley relay teams.

Stoltz calls him the "greatest Freshman group we've ever had", pointing particularly to Claner, Charlie Gentry and Paul Hammond.

Gainey, a frosh from Atlanta, is unbeaten in his specialty the 200-backstroke, and "probably has our top prospect" in Stoltz words

Gentry, an all-American prep schooler from Knoxville, specializes in the individual medley breaking the pool mark in his specialty against Kentucky.

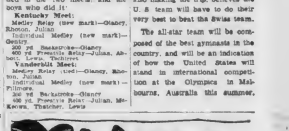
Hammond is a freestyler from Jacksonville, and raised hubby in the 100, 220 and 440 yd. freestyle events.

Here are the records set or tied in the two meets and the men who did it:

Kentucky Meet:

Medley Relay (new mark)—Gentry, Bench, Julian.
Individual Medley (new mark)—Gentry.
200 yd. Backstroke—Gainey.
400 yd. Freestyle Relay—Julian, Abbott, Gainey, Hammond.
Vanderbilt Meet:
Medley Relay—Gainey, Abbott, Bench, Julian.
Individual Medley (new mark)—Gainey.
200 yd. Backstroke—Gainey
400 yd. Freestyle Relay—Julian, McKeown, Thatcher, Lewis

Holder, Miles Lead All-Stars

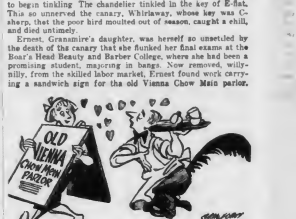


Jack Miles and Don Holder, two of Florida State's most outstanding gymnasts leave this afternoon for Maywood, Illinois to join a United States all-star gymnastic team in a meet against Switzerland's Olympic gymnasts in that city.

This same Switzerland team placed second in the 1952 Olympics behind Russia and currently is undefeated in a tour of the United States.

The meet is being managed by Bill Roetheisn, former Seminole star and United States Olympic team member.

Coach Hartley Price, who is also making the trip, believes the U. S team will have to do their very best to beat the Swiss team.



The all-star team will be composed of the best gymnasts in the country, and will be an indication of how the United States will stand in international competition at the Olympics in Melbourne, Australia this summer.

FAMOUS LAW CASES: NO. 1—GRANSMIRE vs. MIDDLE ATLANTIC BUS AND DRAY CO.

Gransmire, the plaintiff in this celebrated case, lived with his daughter Ernest and his canary named Whitney on Elm Street in Cooch, Delaware. The Middle Atlantic Bus and Dray Co. started operating a bus line on Elm Street. The passing buses caused a cut-glass chandelier in the Gransmires' living room to begin tinkling The chandelier tinkled in the key of E-flat. This so unnerved the canary, Whirlaway, whose key was C-sharp, that the poor bird moulted out of season, caught a chill, and died untimely.

Ernest, Gransmire's daughter, was herself so unsettled by the death of the canary that she flunked her final exams at the Boar's Head Beauty and Barber College, where she had been a promising student, majoring in bangs. Now removed, willy-nilly, from the skilled labor market, Ernest found work carrying a sandwich sign for the old Vienna Chow Mein parlor.

Here she met a bus-boy named Crunch Slagfoon. Although Crunch was not especially attractive—he had, for one thing, a large bushy tail—he was always clean and neat and kept his shoes shined, and after a decent interval, he and Ernest were married.

Ernest soon learned that Crunch's large bushy tail was not as anomalous as she had supposed: Crunch was a werewolf. After a while Ernest got sick of staying home at night while her husband went howling around, so she asked him to change her into a werewolf too, which he did with an ancient Transylvanian incantation. Then, together, the two of them would lope out each night and meet a lot of other werewolves and maybe kill a few chickens or hear some book reports or just lay around and shoot the breeze.

Meanwhile Ernest and Crunch's landlady, a miser named Mrs. Augenblick, noticed that Ernest and Crunch never used their room at night, so she, in her greed, started renting it to transients. One night at 3 A.M. Ffellent stayed there. In the morning while brushing his hair, he took a bottle that looked like hair tonic out of the cabinet, poured some, and rubbed it vigorously into his scalp. Unfortunately, it was not hair tonic, but a bottle of glue which Ernest had bought to mend a model airplane that Crunch had given her for their paper wedding anniversary.

As a result of Mr. Ffellett's grisly error, he was unable to remove his hat and was, therefore, barred from his usual occupation which was lecturing to women's clubs. He sued Mrs. Augenblick, who sued Ernest, who went to her father, who sued the Middle Atlantic Bus and Dray Co. who had started the whole horrid chain of events.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said the defense attorney in his opening address, "this case, though very ramified, is covered by law. Indeed, every facet of life is covered by law. Law governs the homes you live in, the cars you drive, the food you eat. Even the cigarette you smoke is strictly regulated in its purity and uniformity. The gentlemen over there, for Philip Morris a own idea. Out of their vast experience as tobacco people, out of their profound regard for the gratuitous pleasure of your palate, the makers of Philip Morris have evolved a gentle, new cigarette, with a taste as mild as a May morn, as subtle as gossamer, as welcome as money from home. I thank you."

Whereupon everybody rushed to the tobacco counter to buy bright red, white and gold packs of Philip Morris and were all rendered so amiable after a few gentle puffs that the whole complicated case was dropped. This later became known as the Delaware Water Gap.

P.S., the makers of Philip Morris, sponsors of this column, rest our case on our new, gentle cigarette in our new, smart pack.

Buy Your Films
have them developed
at
the most convenient
store
CHEVET'S
Corner of College and Adams
the best assortment of Cameras and Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

Swimmers Begin Practice Today

With tennis practice starting Monday, February 13, this year's hopes for a successful season already look dim. Two of last year's lettermen, Dick Walker and Tom Morgan, are out with injuries.

However, Coach Pitchford says, "Excluding even this drawback we should fare better than last year's squad."

"This means that this year's outfit will have to post an 11 and 4 won-lost record or better.

Supporting last year's mainstays, Hel Shaus and Shelby Cowan, are a fine crop of freshmen.

They include Frank Bryan, South Carolina's Dixie champ; Jim Maddock, an exceptionally good duckies player; Fred Ferrett, Arkansas State Junior single's champ, Lex Hester, a sharp single's competitor; and Charles Nordlinger, Arkansas State High School doubles champ.

Other than the above Freshmen, Coach Pitchford is relying on Sonny Sellers, Bill Counts, George Williams, Tom Woods, Ron Fisher, Oliver Cannon, and Jacke Crews.

However, Pitchford is still shy of upperclassmen. Anyone wanting to try out be at the varsity courts Monday, February 13, at 4 o'clock.

Below is the 1956 varsity tennis schedule:

Date	Opponent	Place
Mar 15	University of Georgia	Here
Mar 16	Ohio State University	Here
Mar 23	Southern Illinois U.	Here
Mar 24	Georgia Tech	Here
Mar 27	University of Miami	Here
Mar 30	University of Florida	Here
Mar 30	Indiana University	Here
Apr 7	Emory University	Here
Apr 10	Mercer University	Macon
Apr 11	University of Georgia	Athens
Apr 13	Georgia Tech	Atlanta
Apr 13	Emory University	Atlanta
Apr 21	Florida Southern Col.	Here
Apr 26	Mercer University	Here
May 1	Univ. of Florida	Gainesville
May 5	Rollins College	Here

Assistant football coach Frank Toomey was once an outfielder for the Philadelpia Falls' club, and has spent some time scouting for the Phillies. Toomey was an outfielder in 1946 with Utica.

'Carmen' Cast Is Announced

Char-laine Weeks and Martha Slayden will sing the title role in alternate performances of "Carmen" to be given by the Choral Union May 11 and 12.

The role of Don Jose in Bizet's opera will be shared by Wendell Barthelf and Sam Jordan. Barbara Schaller will sing Micaela one night; Beverly Brown will perform the role the next, announced Herman Gunter Jr., Choral Union director.

The role of Escamillo, a bullfighter, will be sung by Peter Peck and Richard Waff. Ralph Moien will sing El Dancairo, Sheldon Turn, El Remendado; Carolyn Glenn, Frasquita; Harriet Ramsey, Mercedes; Allen Crowell, Zuniga; and Steve Beven, Morales.

Members of Choral Union will sing in the chorus with music provided by the University Symphony under the direction of Robert Sedore. Betty Jane Grimm is stage director.

Rehearsal accompanists, said Gunter, will be Billy Allon, Sarah Torsay, and Paul Perry.

Johnson Wins Leading Part In Production

Don Johnson will have the leading part in the coming Speech Department production, "Ah, Wilderness," announced Dr. Paul Daves, director.

Johnson will play Richard Miller, a teenage boy, in the nostalgic comedy with an early 1900 Connecticut setting. Marjorie Trudell and Eb Thomas play the boy's parents. Nancy Cubbon plays Mildred, the boy's sister, and Carol Owens has the part of Muriel, his girlfriend.

Others in the cast are John Paul Davis, Ruth Hayward, Walter Sarle, Bill King, and Lois Friedman. Also Faye Pearce, John Zillis, Allan Kass, and John Schyesser.

Charles Reimer of the Speech Department is in charge of backstage workers.

"The cast is already in rehearsal and is progressing nicely," revealed Dr. Daves.

"Ah, Wilderness" is scheduled for March 9, 10, 12, and 13 in the Augusta Conradi Theater.

Tonight At Quincy

1st Gymkana Road Show Underway

Gymkana opens up the new semester with the first of a series of road shows tonight at Quincy, Fla.

Other performances by the Florida State University student gymnasts will be at Apopka, Feb. 17, and at Moody Air Force Base in Valdosta, Ga., Feb. 24.

Additional shows may be held later, depending on whether they can be fitted into the students' schedules, revealed Hartley Price, gymnastics coach.

Dr. Price announced today that the new chairmen to manage this year's road shows are Joe Gusic, top parallel bars performer for the National Collegiate Athletic Association varsity team, Judy McCoy, and Janice Eberly.

Same Show

The show, "Latino," will be the same one over 9,000 students, faculty, and townspeople watched last November here on the FSU campus.

Acts on parallel bars, trampoline, tumbling, dancing and singing will be featured in the 50-minute show. Several members of the Tallahassee Tumbling Tots, an organization of youngsters, will also make the trip.

Queen Reigns

Reigning over the show will be Alice Sullivan, Miss Gymkana of 1955-56, and members of this year's court of honor.

Backbone of the show is the NCAA varsity gymnastics team performing on various types of gymnastic apparatus.

The include co-captains Rafael Lecuona and Ron Amster, Malin, Larry Bentman, and Don Preisser.

Prospects Present

Also present will be some of the most promising freshman prospects from Ocilla, Harry Webb, and the champion trampolist, Bob Elliott.

Due to a recent leg injury Bob Murray, varsity team member, pollneur, Bob, Elliott.

Tickets Needed For Swim Meet

Seminole fans who want to be on hand when the University of Florida's swimming team moves in next Friday had better get their tickets early.

Athletic business manager Eddie Crichton has announced that due to limited seating space available, tickets must be picked up Thursday at the athletic ticket office.

Gymkana's Road Trip—Will be under the direction of, l. to r., Judy McCoy, Joe Gusic and Janice Eberly.

In Grecian Times

Pi Kappa Phi's Kept Busy Moving At Semester Lull

There was no rest for Pi Kappa Phis between semesters. They were kept busy moving into their new house at 536 West College.

Extensive remodeling and painting are now under way with the pledges in command. The pledges are completing their "Help Week" prior to initiation on February 12. The evening of initiation, the new members will be feted at a banquet at the Tallahassee Dining Room.

Some fifty alumni and active members will attend the banquet at which time the District Archon, Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles T. Henderson, will announce the annual Pi Kappa Phi "Hall of Fame" award.

The following weekend is the Pi Kappa Phi's weekend which culminates in the Rose Ball at the Tallahassee Country Club on February. 18.

Alpha Gam

Alpha Gamma Deltas recently entertained two prominent alumna. Mrs. H. C. Flemmer, National Grand Secretary and Mrs. P. B. Hoelton, Gamma Province Vice-president.

Mrs. Flemmer and Mrs. Hoelton arrived in Tallahassee after a circle tour of Florida colleges and alumnae chapters.

Tallahassee alums honored them with a luncheon and the FSU chapter gave them a tea and held an open house in their honor.

Pi Phi

Welcomed back by her Pi Phi sorority sisters is Jean Hayden. Jean is back on campus after spending a semester at Mary Washington. The '54 Miss Jacksonville cooped many honors while a freshman here last year including IPC Queen. Smoke Signals Court member, and Sigma Chi Derby Queen runner-up.

Newly elected officers of Pi Beta Phi are Ruth Ann Whittle, president; Faye Anthony, vice-president; Katherine Lindley, corresponding secretary. Dale Leary, recording secretary; Patsy Stewart, treasurer; Betty Jane Jackson, asst. treasurer; Betty Haston, pledge supervisor; De-Ann Head, asst. supervisor; Pat Smith, scholarship chairman; and Adria Ann Whitlie, rush chairman.

Kappa Delta

Kappa Deltas were entertained at an informal party given by by the Sigma Chis Wednesday night.

Officer elected for the KDs are Shirley Morgan, president; Bennie Jo Cosart, vice-president; Diane Latimer, secretary; Martha McGinnis, treasurer; Ruth Williams, editor; and Emilie Hudson, house chairman.

These new officers will be installed at the beginning of next week.

Zetas

Zeta Tau Alpha recently appointed the following officers; Mary Margaret Williams, acturities chairman; Ruth Shuman, publicity chairman; Chris Glonochilo, assistant pledge trainer; Mary Margaret Meadows, devotions chairman; and Beth Bowen, standards chairman.

A "Doe Patch" party was given by the ZTAs for the Lambda Chis Thursday night. The pledges were in charge of decorating in an appropriate fashion and entertainment was provided by a "hillbilly" band.

Classified

NOTICE: Delta Air Lines, with headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia, is interested in girls qualified for the position of stewardess. For details contact: Mrs. Fay Farmer, Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement.

NOTICE — Girls who would like to model shoes, sportswear, or accessories on WCTV each week, contact Ed Miller, Miller's Bootery. Apply in person. Small fret—4 -6 's. Pay: $20 hr.; $5. 15 min.

Bill Harris, Trombonist, Joins 'Herd'

Trombone star Bill Harris, five time winner of the Down Beat award and multi-winner of the Metronome award, will join Woody Herman and the Third Herd here as featured trombonist.

Harris will be with the Herman band when it plays two concerts at Westcott Auditorium, Feb. 22 for the Campus Chest fund under the sponsorship of ATO fraternity.

Harris, who was noted for his work with the Herman Herd of 1945-46, has toured Europe, America and tha Far East as a member of Jazz at the Philharmonic.

He has made numerous recordings with Herman and with the JATP group and also under his own name for Clef and Capitol.

Considered one of the great trombone artists of modern jazz, he is the author of the tune BIJOU (with Ralph Burns) on which he was featured for many years with the Herman Herd.

Harris replaced bass trumpter Cy Touf in the Herman organization.

Bill Harris

(Continued From Page 1)

Edwards Elected

that grades be posted before the pre-registration.

The endorsement of the married housing policy established by the University.

To re-establish overnight coast parties with proper University sanction;

That seating preference be given students at all athletic and Artist Series events.

To assist student groups in getting Homecoming subconcessions;

To revise rulings on yearbook budgeting and contracting;

To investigate means of raising scholarship allotments to minor sports;

To recommend that plans be made for construction of a Student Union building;

To initiate plans for recreational facilities on campus for students, to include barbecue pits, shuffleboard, etc.

The only new recommendation was to help see that junior counselors receive some sort of compensation for services during the year.

Delegates were asked to consider other recommendations before the spring convention.

One change was made on the party constitution. Article I shall now read, At February Convention each delegation shall be assessed 25 cents toward campaign expenditures for class and student body election campaigns.

WOMEN'S "F" CLUB SPONSORS DANCE

There will be a dance at the Student Center Saturday night, sponsored by the Women's "F" Club.

The Ravens will furnish the music for the evening from 9 to 12 p.m.

Joint Recital Set Monday

James Stafford and Anne Hoffman, of the School of Music, will present a joint junior recital Monday night at 8.15 in Oppermann Music Hall.

Stafford, who is from the studio of Edward Kilenyi, has chosen a program of classical and romantic music, consisting of Thirty two Variations in C Minor by Beethoven, Chopin's "Ballade in F Minor"; and "Mephisto Waltz", by Liszt.

Miss Hoffman, from the studio of Mary Winslow, will play selections representing a wide range of periods, from Bach's "Partita in B flat Major to Samuel Barber's "Excursions for the Piano: No. 1 and 3. She will also play Sonata in A Major by Schubert, Debussy's "La Puerta del Vino", and "Capriccio in F minor", by Dohnanyi, faculty member of the School of Music here.

Folk Ballads Named Subject Of Coffee Hour

Folk ballads will be the subject of the English Coffee Hour's first presentation of the new semester.

At 4 p.m. Friday in the Westminster House Dr. J. Russel Reaver, Associate Professor of English, will present a program of "British and American Ballads."

Dr. Reaver will give talks on the folk ballads illustrated with recordings sung by Ed McCurdy, Pennsylvania singer of folk songs, with guitar accompaniment.

The program, which is divided into four parts, will feature "Sir Patrick Spens," "Hugh Barbary," "The Butcher Boy" and "John Henry" among others.

Dr. Reaver has done much field research in the Midwest and South, where he has collected folk tales and songs. Many of his original recordings on Florida folklore are now in the Archives of American Folklore at the Library of Congress.

Dr. Reaver, who is at present chairman of the Folklore Section of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association, has published articles, notes, and reviews relating to both American and European folklore in the Journal of American Folklore and the Southern Folklore Quarterly. At present he is writing a book on Florida folk tales.

Grossman Seeks Aberdeen Recruits

Mr. H. F. Grossman of the Aberdeen Proving Ground, will be on campus today to recruit students for positions with his firm.

Grossman is particularly interested in Math, Physics, Business Administration, Education, Physical Science, or Industrial Arts majors.

Students may make appointments to see the interviewer and receive additional information by calling the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement at 5261.

BILL'S BOOK STORE

WE HAVE COMICAL AND REGULAR VALENTINES

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA

ENDS SATURDAY
"FOREVER DARLING"
Lucille Ball, Desi Arnaz,
James Mason

SUNDAY - MONDAY
"GUNPOINT"
Fred MacMurray
Dorothy Malone
Walter Brennan

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

THURSDAY - SATURDAY
"DRUMBEAT"
Alan Ladd - Audrey Dalton
—ALSO—
"THE BIG COMBO"
Cornel Wilde
Richard Conte

SUNDAY - MONDAY
"LAND OF THE PHARAOHS"
Jack Hawkins, Joan Collins,
Dewey Martin

STATE

FRIDAY - SATURDAY
"TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE"
Fred MacMurray
Sylvia Sydney
—ALSO—
"SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS"
John Wayne, Betty Field

SUNDAY - TUESDAY
"Come Next Spring"
Ann Sheridan

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.

FRIDAY - SATURDAY
"BATTLEGROUND"
Van Johnson-John Hodiak
Ricardo Montalban
—ALSO—
"FIVE GUNS WEST"
John Lund
Dorothy Malone

SUNDAY - MONDAY
"TOP OF THE WORLD"
Dale Robertson

RITZ—Thurs.-Sat.— "HEART OF THE MATTER"
Trevor Howard, Elizabeth Allen
Sun. - Mon.—"BEAUTY AND THE DEVIL"
Michele Simon, Gerard Philipe

Compliments of
SKYLINE RESTAURANT
"Serving Good Food For Fine People"
2220 West Tennessee

NEW FLIP-TOP BOX
Firm to keep cigarettes from crushing
No tobacco in your pocket

You get a lot to like
-filter
-flavor
-flip-top box

Marlboro
THE NEW FILTER CIGARETTE FROM PHILIP MORRIS

Thank a new recipe for the man-size flavor.
It comes full through the filter with an easy draw.
Thank the Flip-Top Box for the neatest cigarette package you ever put in your pocket or purse. Popular filter price.

MADE IN RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, FROM A NEW PHILIP MORRIS RECIPE

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

FASHION DAY
Begins Here
(See Page One)

Vol. XLI, No. 30 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Tuesday, February 14, 1956

Party To Meet Thursday, Name Planks, Officials

Moore To Deliver State Convention Keynote Address

The State Party will hold its first convention Thursday night to elect a chairman and adopt a platform, Fred Mansfield, organizational chairman has announced.

Student Senator Jim Moore chairman will present a short introductory address, followed by Moore's keynote speech, consideration of constitutional amendments, adoption of the platform, and election of party officers.

Moore

Moore is not a member of the State Party but some have speculated that he will seek its nomination for Student Body President.

"I personally feel that because of the curiosity that many people have that he (Moore) will comment on his plans at the convention," Mansfield declared.

Proposed Platform

The proposed platform presented by State Party officers follows: compose members of the Student Senate and changes in the Honor System procedure.

If approved by the delegates, the party's platform as announced by Mansfield will state:

"We advocate and will actively seek a Bill of Rights for the Student Body.

"We will demand a $1,000 appropriation be added to next year's budget for the promotion of the Honor System.

"We urge statutory changes to shorten, and intensify, the Pub Court Period and to give it suggestions from an Honor-College to participate in this basic building activity.

"We are in favor of a traffic program that will keep abreast of the 50 year Building Program.

Secure Phones

"We shall work diligently to secure phones which will be major accessible in classroom buildings.

"We will always keep every branch of Government open to student observation and attention.

"We advocate the proper placement of the power of initiation of Honor Court violation in the hands of the Attorney General.

"We have led and will continue to lead the fight for a fair and equal reapportionment of the Student Senate.

"We advocate a system of obtaining used text books to refer our financial burden created by the constant change of text books.

Change Selection

"We urge statutory provision to establish a fair and equal method for selecting Florida State University's members of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Mansfield said the platform will be open to addition, amendment, or rejection from the floor.

He stressed that the proposed Bill of Rights would, among other provisions, guarantee a Florida on trial for an offense punishable by dismissal, trial by jury in his option.

Little Time

Amendments to the party's constitution are not expected to take up much time, Jones said, as it is provision for a vice-chairman.

Several people, Mansfield said, are seeking the chairmanship he is lacking.

Delegates Thursday will represent fraternities, sororities, and dormitories on the basis of one delegate for each 50 students, Mansfield announced.

Day students will be limited to the number of delegates allotted the largest dormitory, Mansfield said. Their number will be 11, rule be 11, the size of the delegation from Wiley Hall.

4 Debaters Travel To Azalea Tourney

Four Florida State University debaters are participating this weekend in the intercollegiate Azalea Tournament at Spring Hill College, near Mobile, Ala.

They are Lavanne Hecla and Norbert Lacayo on the affirmative side of the Guaranteed Annual Wage issue, and Arnold Greenfield and Roby Combs on the negative.

At Mardi Gras—Above are some of the FSU Air Force ROTC drill team members, shown rounding a New Orleans corner. The Band also attended.

Segregation Questionnaire Mailed To Students Today

Questionnaires on segregation attitude will be mailed to all students here today, announced the Board of Control.

"Every student should get one," according to Paul Skelton, assistant business manager of the board. Questionnaires totalling 62,000 will be sent to students, parents, faculty and alumni of Florida state universities in all, Skelton said. 8,500 are to be mailed to FSU students.

Skelton urged cooperation in the return of the questionnaires in the postage paid envelopes enclosed, because, the greater the percentage of return, the more valid the results of the survey.

The de-segregation study, which includes an analysis of facilities at the three state universities, is to determine "what administrative problems may arise which might cause disruption of the university system."

Skelton said the results will permit the Board of Control and the respective administrative officers to plan for meeting these problems in the event of desegregation.

Mailing of the questionnaires is in compliance with a state Supreme Court order that evidence be gathered to determine the advisability of admitting Negroes to Florida State University and the University of Florida.

Results will be presented to Judge John A. H. Murphree of Alachua County who is the appointed Commissioner of the Florida Supreme Court, at a hearing to be held on May 21.

Tickets On Sale For Breakfast

Tickets for the Senior-Sophomore Breakfast are on sale at the Student Center and Westcott Building today and tomorrow.

The annual event sponsored by the Sophomore class in honor of their Senior brothers and sisters will be Saturday at 8:15 a.m. in the Suwannee Room.

Soph President Bill Cullum said he wanted the breakfast to be attended by more men than has been the case in the past, "Up until now, he asserted, "it's been a tradition for the women, but not for the men."

Speaker will be Dr. David M. Graybeal of Emory and Henry College in Virginia. Dr. Graybeal will start Intelligent Faith Week with his talk.

Menu for the event includes bacon and eggs, grits, hot biscuits, orange juice and coffee.

Day Of Fashion Begins At FSU

With the limelight on Fashion, the second annual Fashion Day is being staged here today.

A luncheon meeting is slated at noon in the Suwannee Room with Mrs. Barbara Buckly Mc-Kenna, FSU alumni, as guest speaker. Mrs. McKenna will talk on "Behind the Scenes at Mademoiselle." She is a staff member of the noted fashion magazine.

A student organized fashion show will feature fifty Fashion Institute students who will model clothes made and designed by them. Miss Jean Cadenhead, Fashion Institute student, will narrate the program.

Models include Helen Ireland, Sora Ann Coulter, Janice Jarvit, Cheryl Gibson, Alice Lee Mc-Lesquita Johnson, Margaret Dodson Blount, Emma Jane Mc-Barbara Caldwell, Lois Stein, Barbara Emmett, Dorothy Jeb Stuart, Lana Rose, Harriet Love, Laura Jones, Marie Gangler, Mopsy Greer Bolton, Esther Frieden, Pat Arranis and Sunnie Lett.

Special Groups

On the agenda for the rest of Fashion Day will be meetings of special interest groups in the Longmire Building at 2:30 and 3:15 p.m.

Dr. Royal Ray, head of the advertising department, will preside over the speech advertising meeting to the Large Lounge. Mr. Budd Gore, publicity director of Rich Brothers Co. in Cleveland, Ohio, will act as consultant. Mr. Gore was one of the main speakers this morning's program. He spoke on "Fashion Must Be Sold."

Careers in fashion will be discussed in the Small Lounge. Dr. W. G. Rimmer, head of the Marketing department, will preside, with Mrs. Barbara McKenna acting as consultant.

Heads Illustrators

Miss Ann Kirn, of the art department, will head a meeting of Illustration group in the auditorium. Panelists will be Mary Fielden, art director of Frost Brothers in San Antonio, Texas. Miss Fielden spoke on "Fashion Promotion" earlier today.

A reception in the University Art Gallery, where the winning speakers will be the guests of honor, will climax afternoon activities in Washington at 1904. Rimmer will be the "Head-To-Toe Fashion Picture" and satellites on "the people behind them."

Fashion Day is being put on by the departments of clothing and textiles, retailing, art, arts education, advertising, marketing and homes and family life.

Chairman of Fashion Day is Mrs. Eleanor Adam. Dr. Adolph Katt is secretary. Other faculty members of the committee are Mrs. Anna Cone, Dr. Ruth Conner, Ivan Johnson, Miss Ann Kirn, Dr. Royal Ray, Dr. W. G. Shover, William B. Killgore, Dr. Jared Smith, Dr. Hazel Stevens and Dr. W. Bruce Weale.

Makins Claims U.S.A.-British Agreement High

Ambassador Says Differences Minor In Address Here

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Understanding and agreement between the United States and Great Britain are at their highest point ever, Sir Roger Makins, British ambassador to this country, said yesterday.

"Never has there been such a full measure of agreement and a feeling of confidence between us as there is today," he declared. "The differences cannot be of serious consequence."

Specifically, he noted the different attitudes regarding Communist China. Britain has recognized the Peking government; the United States still regards the Chiang Kai-shek government on Formosa as the only Chinese government.

His government recognized Peking, the ambassador said, because "that was the government that could speak for the nearly 30 million people of China," adding "but of course, in our view, to recognize a government in that way does not approve what they have done or are doing."

Later, in response to a student's question, he said that by trading in "non-strategic" materials with China, Britain is not necessarily taking the possibility that Peking may be buried away in a mountain cave. (Communists with such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.)

He said the position of three uncommitted countries is analogous to the desires of George Washington, whom he said wanted to keep the infant United States out of "entangling" foreign alliances until she could build herself up.

Like the West

Many of these nations, Sir Roger commended, are more in sympathy with the western powers

Florida Photo: Dick Parks

SPEAKS IN WESTCOTT
Sir Roger Makins

with the regional alliances that Sir Roger said he expects will be of primary importance in maintaining peace. (Organizations such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.)

He said the position of these uncommitted countries is analogous to the desires of George Washington, whom he said wanted to keep the infant United States out of "entangling" foreign alliances until she could build herself up.

Like the West

Many of these nations, Sir Roger commended, are more in sympathy with the western powers although they make a greater effort to understand the Kremlin position than the west does.

Sir Roger declared that responsibility for leading free forces in "competitive coexistence" must be assumed by the English speaking nations.

This is necessary, he said, because the United Nations has been unable to fulfill its purpose of security for member nations partly due to the veto power of the great powers. Quoting from President Eisenhower's description of the U. N as a "mirror of the world," the ambassador said the world organization has become "at least a more faithful mirror" by the

(Continued On Page 4)

Student Artist Series Proposal Is Planned

Tews Plans Suggestion

A suggestion that a student artist series be established independent of the univesly's Artist Series will be heard tomorrow by Student Senate.

Hank Tews, men's vice-president, said he will introduce the proposal if Senate will take the necessary time off from its consideration of reapportionment.

The resolution that Tews has prepared calls for a standing Student Artist Series Committee to prepare for contracting "name" bands for dances and orchestra and to secure other artists or professional groups.

By the wording of the resolution, Senate would have the final authority to contract for or perform them.

Tews suggests two requisites for programs given under Student Senate sponsorship: that they be "educational" and entertaining—in his words "to mean that enough students are interested in a certain performance as to render it financially feasible."

'In Favor'

Mrs. Kathryn Vernon, administrative assistant in the faculty committee that conducts the Artist Series and the established group is "heartily in favor" of Tews' proposal.

It stresses the entertainment aspect, the proposed student organization would differ from the Artist Series in that the latter is now dedicated to "culture" and is a factor in classical fields including drama, music and the dance.

This, said Mrs. Vernon, is a new concept that has just been established.

The Artist Series, supported in the main by money from its activity fee, is intended to supplement the university's educational program, Mrs. Vernon said. Students are not charged admission.

Students Charged

Under the Tews proposal, students would be charged admission to the Senate-sponsored events according to Graham Carothers, secretary of finance, Senate would have to budget a contingency fund for any real to cover instances in which enough students might not attend to cover contract costs.

Tews states that the committee he suggests should try to bring to campus a greater variety of entertainers than the performed by the Artist Series Committee.

He stipulates "That this should not be a profit making activity but understands that Senate strive to give the student a greater insight into the various aspects of our culture through the experience of seeing, hearing or dancing, and responding to the performances of artists who represent the finest in achievement in their respective fields."

Entertainment 'By-Product'

"Entertainment is the proposed state, "is not the prime requisite for the selection of artists but it will very probably be a by-product of any accomplished performance."

The men's vice-president recommends that Senate, if it approves the proposed student committee and the Artist Series committee have no objection.

If his plan is accepted by Senate it will not affect students' eligibility to attend Artist Series performances, Mrs. Vernon said.

Owen Sellers, of he School of Music, is currently chairman of the Artist Series Committee. Tews, as men's vice-president, and Jo Jones, as women's vice-president, are members oi the committee.

New Standard

Mrs. Vernon said that the Artist Series, as it is now, is a new standard, is considering for next year the Roger Wagner Chorale, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo Monte Carlo, the National Ballet of Canada or the Paris Opera Ballet Company. The latter, and possibly an appearance of Brandon Tarn in Drama, Mrs. Vernon said.

Owen Sellers, of he School of Music, is currently chairman of the Artist Series Committee. Tews, as men's vice-president, and Jo Jones, as women's vice-president, are members oi the committee.

New Standard

Mrs. Vernon said that the Artist Series, as it is now, is a new standard, is considering for next year the Roger Wagner Chorale, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo Monte Carlo, the National Ballet of Canada or the Paris Opera Ballet Company. The latter, and possibly an appearance of Brandon Tarn in Drama, Mrs. Vernon said.

32 Years Ago . . .

"About 30 years ago, my father was a medical student at the University of Pennsylvania," said Charlie, "and once when literally down to his last dime, he was making inquiries for work in a nice, quiet place," where he could study part of the time. Your grandfather was told of his undertaking establishment and thus saved his life, which is perhaps contrary to his usual professional practice . . .

Such coincidence evidently appealed to Mr. Stuart, who invited Charlie to spend a week-end in his home on his yacht. Consequently, came to dock during his amazing cruise.

"Florida is fabulous," declares Charlie enthusiastically, "and I firmly intend to make my home here." Charlie is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, where he received a BS in Bacteriology. Later he worked as a chemist, as an inspector in the U. S. Food and Drug Administration where he helped prevent blackmail - sterilization of Salk vaccine, and more recently, he has taught science in a Baltimore Junior high school.

While teaching, he wrote an article on textbook transmission of bacteria and had it published in an educational publication on science and math teaching. "I am very favorably impressed with the graduate school here," says Charlie who is preparing now for junior college teaching.

yacht in Palm Beach.

Mr. Stuart told Charlie he was associated with the undertaking profession in Philadelphia, which led Charlie to inquire if he knew an undertaker there who was an old friend of his father's.

"Yes, he is my cousin," said the wealthy tourist, who then heard Charlie's story of how his doctor father had first become associated with undertakers.

Such coincidence evidently appealed to Mr. Stuart, who invited Charlie to spend a week-end in his home on his yacht. Consequently, came to dock during his amazing cruise.

"Florida is fabulous," declares Charlie enthusiastically, "and I firmly intend to make my home here." Charlie is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, where he received a BS in Bacteriology. Later he worked as a chemist, as an inspector in the U. S. Food and Drug Administration where he helped prevent blackmail - sterilization of Salk vaccine, and more recently, he has taught science in a Baltimore Junior high school.

While teaching, he wrote an article on textbook transmission of bacteria and had it published in an educational publication on science and math teaching. "I am very favorably impressed with the graduate school here," says Charlie who is preparing now for junior college teaching.

Ort Resigns Cabinet Post

Paul Ort, Secretary of Student Welfare, resigned his position yesterday.

In a letter to Coyle Moore, Student Body President, Ort explained his resignation on the grounds of a lack of time "I cannot in fair deal to the honor" by justifying the duties of the position," he explained

DEGREE APPLICATIONS ARE DUE TOMORROW

Applications for degrees must be in by tomorrow for all graduating seniors.

This must be done in the Registrar's Office in Westcott, announced Bob Crenshaw, senior class president.

Johnson Speaks At Politics Meet

Malcolm Johnson, executive editor of the Tallahassee Democrat, will speak at a meeting of the Politics Club tomorrow night.

Howard Lambert, chairman of the club at Johnson will discuss "The Role the Press Plays in Politics."

The meeting is at 7:30 p.m. in the Trophy Room of the Student Center.

Career Emphasis Week

'American Negro' To Be Discussed

Two panel discussions and one lecture will be held this week, in connection with Career Emphasis Week, which is currently featuring the programs of American Studies and Pre-law.

"The Negro In the American Society" will be the subject of one of the panels, scheduled to feature Malcolm Johnson, and Lieutenant Major Nutt all is

The other panel discussion will be large recorded and broadcast over WFSU-FM next Monday night at 9. Taking part will be Dr. James Proctor, pre-law advisor, and Supreme Court Justice Campbell Thomas who will discuss law as a career.

Second of Series

The lecture is the second of a series of American Studies lectures on "Science and America". Dr. Maurice Vance is acting director of the program. Meeting every Tuesday night at 7:30 in 216 Music Building, the series is actually a course but usually at least half the group are visitors. Dr Vance said.

Also related to American studies is an open meeting Wednesday night at 7:30 of the Political Club in the Trophy Room of the Student Center.

Malcolm Johnson, managing editor of the Tallahassee Democrat, will speak on "The Role the Press Plays In Politics."

Relations Topic

American Studies, a relatively new program at FSU, is part of the College of Arts and Sciences and at present has only 30 students majoring in the field.

Instead of preparing you for a specific career, Dr. Vance said, it aims at providing a background for such careers as teaching, writing and public service. Also providing a broad knowledge of our culture, and a basis for established elite-ship, it is a good major for students who want to sample a lot of fields in order to find where their interests lie, he added.

On the faculty are specialists in the fields of political science, art, sociology, history, and English.

Offers Training

Pre-law, is also part of the college of Arts and Sciences and offers a broad social arts training in preparation for law school which requires a bachelor's degree for admittance. Purpose of the meeting on the circular fun can be obtained by consulting Dr. Prothro.

Meets 'Nice Young Lady'

Confused Graduate Student 'Explains' Wild Fish Story

By MARGARET MILLER

It sounds like a fishy story, but it's no line, says graduate student Charlie Bryan.

Charlie still shakes his head in bewilderment when he recalls how he recently won—on his first fishing trip—the gold medal contender in a Palm Beach fishing derby.

He claims he had an intention of doing any fishing during the recent semester break. Instead, after finishing his registration a little early, he took the wander downstate in the general direction of glamorous Miami, always alluring to graduate students such as Charlie, who hails from Baltimore.

A few days later, the amateur fisherman found himself at the Palm Beach and Baltimore papers for making the record catch of a 7 feet, 11¼ inches sailfish. The catch made Charlie the Palm Beach Fishing Club trophy and also won for him the Daily Express award in the Silver Sailfish derby.

How Charlie, who had started downstate with nothing in his possession even vaguely resembling fishing tackle and certainly nothing like a yacht with him—won such fishing fame is a story of coincidence.

Began In Palm Beach

It all began when he stopped in Palm Beach for a rest and a swim. Charlie, who naively that "It certainly doesn't take lons to make friends in Florida," met on the beach a "nice young lady," who in turn introduced him to her boyfriend.

Probably to get me out of the way," admitted Charlie, "her boyfriend introduced me to a friend of his who did a lot of fishing and suggested that I go fishing with him."

The fisherman turned out to be Wally Stuart, a wealthy Philadelphian, who owns a

Shades Of 1984

The University of Texas student newspaper, the Daily Texan, has recently been subjected to pre-publication censorship, the most direct and crushing strangulation of thought to be feared.

The action came about through the University's Board of Regents, who ordered "that the Texas Student Publications Board effect a more rigid enforcement and stricter interpretation of its Texas Student Publications Handbook than in the past."

We would like to quote in part from Texan editor Willie Morris' front-page editorial opposing the censorship restrictions:

"Monday morning the editor tasted the new editorial policy by submitting for publication a 'yes-no' editorial" from the New York Times, one of the nation's most respected dailies, on the Fulbright-Hruska natural gas bill now before Congress. The editorial was critical of the bill. It was rejected by the editorial director on the grounds that material on the other side of the issue had not been presented to balance.

"Several paragraphs by Thomas Jefferson on press freedom were also submitted under the guise of a personal column. They also failed to pass because it was felt events did not justify extensive discussion of the issue.

"Let it be said parenthetically that the editor was not surprised by the Regental ruling. Since March, 1953, it has been known by those intimately associated with The Texan that University administrators were dismayed over all Texan editorial views, particularly those issues pertaining to state politics. Those closely connected with The Texan have known that the remnants of an unencroached Texan were in danger.

"It has been the feeling among Regents and administrators that the University's newspaper should not commment editorially on the Texas political scene, far fear that such comment would involve the University in the eyes of the people of the state, who, in truth, consider The Texan the official organ of the administration. Also, that the Texan should represent the views of a majority of the students, and confine itself to campus affairs."

* * *

The Florida Flambeau editors, having followed Texan editorial policies during this school year, are not of the opinion that the Texan has been guilty of misusing its editorial license. We have seen objective analysis on proportionately equal campus and extra-campus activities relevant to the interests of a thinking and intelligent student body. To say merely that we support Morris in his stand is to understate the issue's implications.

The UT Board of Regents invoked as reference for prohibition of future comment on controversial state, local or national issues, the following portion of House Bill 140, of the Fifty-fourth Legislature of Texas:

"Political aid and legislative influence prohibited. None of the moneys appropriated by this Act, regardless of their source of character, shall be used for influencing the outcome of any election, or the passage or defeat of any legislative measure . . ."

* * *

Said the Board of Regents:

"The editorials and columns appearing in The Texan, members of the Texas Legislature or of the Texan staff or quoted from editorials or columns written by others, has by the issuance of such precedent as implying attitudes and positions of the University. As such editorials, therefore, may violate the statutory prohibition against using appropriated funds of the University to influence the outcome of any election or the passage or defeat on any legislative measure. (Sec. 1, Art. VI, H. B. 140, Fifty-fourth Legislature). Comments on the merits or demerits of any candidate or potential candidate for public office, or on Legislative matters are thus specifically prohibited as violations of the intent of the Texas Legislature. Editorial preconception with state and national issues, and political matters is definitely a distortion of the basic function of the Daily Texan."

* * *

As Morris pointed out in a later editorial, such a measure "could be used to invoke fear in every student and professor of this University community." And " . . . The decision on this newspaper's right to comment editorially on all issues is not the basic principle involved; academic freedom and liberty of dissent, on this campus, is at a hurtful crisis, rests on the outcome." . . . "To deny students the right to read a controversial editorial, no matter how strongly that denial is founded on the fear of politics or the need for money, is to rob them of the right to think."

We have quoted for you some of the more disheartening facts in this instance of suppression. But we cannot make known the joy with which we greeted the impact of student opinion on the Texas campus voicing their support of the student newspaper in z 5-1 resolution passed by their Student Assembly.

* * *

The Board of Student Publications at Florida State will vote today on a set of general principles for publication. Also follow at this University. Therefore, we consider it pertinent to quote the abovementioned resolution and request the BSP here to reflect on the implication and consequences contained in this entire discussion, preparatory to their adoption of guiding principles.

Said the resolution:

"WHEREAS the University community does not exist apart from, but rather as an integral part of, the state and national community, and as such is charged with not only the right but the responsibility to be informed of and concerned with the problems of the various communities of which they are a part; and,

"WHEREAS The Daily Texan has traditionally been and should be a student enterprise, financially and published for the enlightenment of students on state and national issues as well as campus affairs; and,

"WHEREAS the question has recently been raised whether the present editorial policy of commenting on state and national political issues is proper conduct for a student newspaper;

"BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED BY THE STUDENT ASSEMBLY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS, that the Assembly stands in favor of a free editorial policy for The Daily Texan which will allow the editorial staff to make known facts and opinions on state, national, and local affairs which they or others may possess, and which they feel should be presented to the Student Body.

"AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Student Assembly encourages all campus groups to discuss this matter intelligently and to make known any opinion or conclusion which may result from their discussion."

Letters To The Editor

Read Poem With Much Disgust

To Mr. Coo Horn:

Last Friday, I read with much disgust your article entitled "Lucy Had a Little Crowd." I thought you had very poor judgment in publishing that distasteful verse against the Univ of Alabama who purposely passed in an attempt to dissuade Authorine Lucy from entering a university in the southern area only. Not only were you lacking discretion in publishing your indicrous poem, but you had the unmitigated gall to describe those Alabamans who had the gumption to take a definite stand in opposing the entrance of Lucy as "red-faced, sion-witted, degenerate Defender of its dreaming Race."

Authorine Lucy was not active in trying to further her education when she applied for admission to the Univ of Ala. She is nothing more than a pawn of the NAACP or some other subversive organization intent on causing as much disorganization as possible.

Mr. Horn, if you are really honest and sincere when you say that you "would run the streets of Tuscaloosa naked" you'd die rather than give in to the lie that people are created equal. Truth, why don't you transfer to Florida A. & M. and help expedite integration in the public schools, or are you one of those people who are for racial integration only when it's far you can remain aloof from the black and hide all of the cultures, great sympathy and admiration?

BILL JOHNSON.

Student Offers Verses "Pro" Segregation

TO THE EDITOR:

To the point of the Flambeau can never be too high. However, I feel that some of the articles in the editorial section and especially the good letter from Coo Horn, in fact worthy me a good deal for the behavior of the student here are being corrupted or else the majority is not speaking up for what is right.

Another after reading Coo Horn's "Lucy Had A Crowd", I decided not to try and rival him for poetic ability but to at least speak out for segregation. Forgive my humble attempt, but maybe something is better than nothing.

YANKEES AND CARPETBAGGERS

Yankees, carpetbaggers,
Scalawags too.
Times have changed.
Why can't you?
We have a high standing
And lots of fine culture.
But you keep waiting
Like some greedy vulture
To crash interest.
With its Southern distasts
On Dixieland's purples
So you can save face.
Mos' Negroes are content to Let well enough alone
And raise their cultural standards
All on their own.
But some interpretations,
Corn' Horn implied,
Think all the poor darkies
Are being persecuted.
And many Florida writers
Orchid A. and others—
Seem to be desirous
Of many Negro brothers
Even some Southern Students
Who think they are smart,
Favor interration
To their local Southern part.
I don't feel sorry for Authorine Lucy—
I think she got what she sought.
Segregation

Continued On Page 4)

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor

Associate Editors ..... Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ..... Jim Bradfield
Wanda Sue Owen Marty Reeves
Photographers: Jared Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Steve Kield, Adrian Allen.
Campus Editor ..... Eleanor Kirby

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ..... Betty Voorhees
Exchange Staff ..... Martha McLeod
Sandra Shilling

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, Inc., Radio Ad. Sales, New York City.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Pat Marston, News Editor

Sports Editors ..... Larry Block
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ..... Dave Evans,
Pierce Lamar
Junior Staff — Arlieda Ries, Bob Dollison,
Bob Hall
Greek Editor ..... Charlet Pottevint

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown.

Circulation ..... Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue ..... George Gelbrehm
Business ..... Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith,
Enid Pearlman, Dale Anderson, Leo Meyers
Telephone 2.800 extension 6821, 3821, 211, 213 Longmire Building

Intercollegiate Press

Versus

Columnist Answers Letters To Editor

By CON HORN

PROBABLY MOST of you who wade this deeply into the editorial page know that for the past few weeks I have taken it upon myself to belabor the more unpleasant aspects of the South, piling insult upon insult under the disguise of humorous "verse," certainly not "poetry." I've received many kind words from students I meet on the campus, and I'm grateful that they seem to share my views, or at least to tolerate them. I was pleasantly surprised to discover that there were so many open-minded and, I think, "sensible" people here at FSU.

Just when I was beginning to wonder if my "cause" were an unopposed one, or if my opposition were only a little bit vocal, I received two champions of the status quo warily poked their heads out from beneath the protection of majority opinion and voiced their opinions of me and integration in general. I appreciate their individuality and courage, even if they risk little or no censure.

TREATING HAMMOND'S letter first, since it is the more literate, I would ask him if the South actually IS permitting the "Negro" skin to raise their cultural standards all on their own? Isn't that just what this entire controversy is about? Progress since, I think, the Civil War? Authorine Lucy; rather, I admire her courage and her apparent willingness to sacrifice her future and her personal safety in a cause whose benefits she may never share in.

I think, as I have said many times, that Hammond is merely exercising his rhymy abilities when he claims that the thugs and bullies from Tuscaloosa are shouting in "self-defense" if and when they assault Miss Lucy. Certainly no presence no threat in herself, and I am particularly annoyed by these righteous "race patriots" who want to know if I am in favor of "negro brothers," for certainly this could only occur with more than a little white cooperation. Correct? I am POSITIVE that Miss Lucy has not been sent to entice the males of Alabama University.

In answer to the less convincing Johnson, I want to point with pleasure to the fact that the student body of Alabama had little or nothing to do with the last violent demonstrations in Tuscaloosa, and I'm glad that you have to use poem did I accuse them of this. I think it encouraging that today's college students, concern intellectual affairs so increasingly, prefer to accept the negro and, in many instances to mix with him against the gradually thinning ranks of the racial reactionaries.

JOHNSON IS justified in superstition and myth when he refers to the NAACP as "subversive." That is what the demagogues of the south would have the American public believe, and it is just for this reason that the NAACP takes extraordinary care to exclude Communists and other "subversives" from its midst.

Coming to Johnson's challenging and sneering, what intelligent person is not a "race traitor," I suppose it's about time that I explained myself. Probably Johnson would much rather ask, "Why

(Continued On Page 4)

The Dissenter

Dear Mama Seminole..

DEAR MAMA,

HOW YOU LIKE'UM poem me send'um you. Me tear it out last week's Flambeau, like it very much. "Lucy had a little Crowd" almost as good as "White Christmas." Brave who write them very good, not only possess vast knowledge of work with words, but have'um talent too that make him discontent with wrongs, that seem through sham, and reach for heart of things. First talent always good, second talent will keep him discontent all life. But will make possible for him to contribute to effort that must somehow right the wrongs the Brave sees.

SENATORS WHO try to divide Big Council into two groups fail. Them three say them not disappointed, dreamt not real aim. That so me think them owe other senators apology, for wasted time and effort. Or is just that some continually play at Student Government? Time it become serious business or disappear. Play senators want? Me suggest tennis, dolls or hide-and-seek.

Maiden on campus me wish you know. She work hard at many things, debate team, Sophomore Council, Politics Club, Attorney General Staff, Women's University Court, and Political Party. Surely Queen must receive honors from groups, not from make'um front pages of paper, or given credit for accomplishments and achievements. Yet she come up do more actual good for reputation of Friendly Village than most other senior maiden. Her sports, work, help to make Friendly Village great place.

Maiden in Florida Flambeau Staff, too. Many people work hard to make it success. Students give up time from studies, other activities to help. Is good freedom exist at Friendly Village where we may discuss things that interest us without interrupt fault. Some universities not permit some subjects discussed, but we do not. Some people not like what we write, but we not care. Some think white skin necessary before person can contribute anything of value, or be of worth. The pipe dream of those who know this not so, but need someone in inferior place in society to prevent selves from occupying that place.

One young certain, when each man finally judged, in top bracket there be white, red, yellow, black men. There be Protestant, Catholic, Moslem and Buddhist. Greatness, value, not determined by outward shells of structures. Realization of this go long way toward intelligent faith.

LOVE ALL.
GEORGE II

ACP Notes

Capers on the Campi

The Passing Farm

EMORY U. (Atlanta) — The White Tripper of Emory and Henry College has given a few hints on "How to Pass a Course Without Studying."

Laugh at the professor's jokes. This is practically the duty of students, and the art of laughing at odd jokes should be particularly developed in lectures. Instructions for the best laughing technique follow:

A Pretend not to catch on at first.

B Look thoughtful for a moment.

C Break into a healthy chuckle, followed by a loud guffaw if you deem it necessary.

If you must nap in class, do not do it behind an open textbook, as this strategy is too old and has often used. Instead use paper even which are available for this purpose and which can be stuck on closed eyelids give the a lifelike semblance of wakefulness.

Gridiron Glossary

BEMIDJI, Minn. ACP—With one football season over and the fans already talking about the next, it seemed a good idea to pass along this brief dictionary of football terms. It was originally printed in Coronet magazine and then reprinted in the "Off the Record" column of the Northern Student of Bemidji State Teachers College:

UNBOWED: Close, but you lost.

SCRAPPY: Made a touchdown on the opponent's fourth team.

DISCIPLINED: Knows what's going on.

In a one-sided white-washing

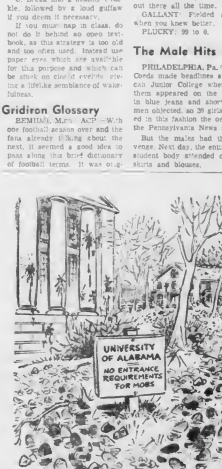
GAME: Took the ball up to mid-field.

FEARLESS: Racked up a first down.

DARING: Recovered a fumble.

VALIANT: Kept eleven men out there all the time.

GALLANT: Fielded a team when you knew better.



PLUCKY: 99 to 0.

The Male Hits Back

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (ACP)—Coeds made headlines at Pasadena Junior College when 10 of them appeared on the campus in blue jeans and shorts. The men objected, so 20 girls paraded in this fashion the next day, the Pennsylvania News reports.

But the males had their revenge. Next day, the entire male student body attended class in skirts and blouses.

Themes View FSU Student Morals

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

A NUMBER OF freshmen, asked by an English professor to discuss morality at Florida State University, came up with some interesting themes.

Among them, Bermuda shorts, women smoking and drinking were viewed as pressing moral problems.

If college students themselves are prone to view morality as a question involving only "right" and "wrong," it is not that they are even fonder of generalizing on the subject.

Where else but even books have been written asking but rarely answering, "What is the younger generation coming to today?"

THIS FRESHMAN'S attitude that refuses to consider the individual among the group should irritate anyone who's at an age when he is trying to establish his own. That is wrong. I find students also examining "morality" in terms of smoking, drinking, and longing to wear Bermuda shorts I must admit, I myself am under the influence of our elders.

One can see the more isolate "aspects" of morality than he can, with his naked eye, tell where the blue in the rainbow becomes the green and the green becomes the red.

As far as I'm concerned, the attitude of my age group is clearly and inconstesably good. High school seniors are still coming to college. Young people still graduate from college. Among their ranks are many dependable, hard working, full and useful life. People are still getting married and children are still being born, and was still think it better to live than to die.

AND ALL THIS is true despite economic conditions of mounting taxes spent in interna-

In The Wings

Variety Keynotes Faculty Recital

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

VARIETY WAS THE keynote of Betty Jane Grimm's faculty recital Friday night in Opperman auditorium as the improper vocal composers were represented. Miss Grimm, a contralto from Miami, artistically expertly arranged her program chronologically, and with the exception of the classical period, all influential schools were represented.

The beginning of monody and subsequently opera was represented by two early seventeenth century numbers—Caccini and Falsi—Amerilli. Skipping a century, Miss Grimm then sang two songs from Verdi's Chambec Works, written in 1847 and 1853.

The next group included representative selections by Brahms, Wolf, and Faure.

Her last two groups, composed of contemporary selections, were for me the most satisfying. She has a unusually attractive, expressive voice in Scott's Think on Me. Her treatment of songs by Anna Taylor, Roger Quilter, and John Aiden Carpenter also demonstrated her artistic phrasing and attention to detail and balance.

Personally, I enjoyed the group of American composers treat native subjects in a straightforward way—and because spectacular Program imitators. I think the revised version of Copland's The Tender Land is a wonderful example of what can be done with native materials. After opening to mixed reviews in New York it was presented in concert form recently at Tanglewood, where I saw it. I would be curious as to what new critical reaction it would provoke if it were brought back to Broadway. It contains some of Copland's best music to date. In the Appalachian Spring tradition but more cohesive.

Much Ado . . .

Bowling Etiquette On Trouble List

BY CLYDE WARD

LOOKS LIKE THE Tallahassee Bowling league has been stepping on some toes. It looks like it was hard enough in a couple of instances to have the editors of the Flambeau to register a protest.

The editors evidently don't know the score, which means that a very prominent of the student body probably doesn't know the score, either. This is for those fortunate enough not to know.

First of all, it's not merely the "leagues." It is THE league. The fanfare, please, maestro! Tallahassee Bowling League, to be exact. These words should always be spoken with reverence and awe, and remember that the word "League" is capitalized.

The league is composed of local members, but it is sanctioned by the long fanfare, please! American Bowling Congress. Now these words are not to be spoken with reverence and awe, but are not league members. Since writing them, I've had to go to the dictionary chief at the infirmary for an anti-hex ritual.

And they have rules, this League. Their rules cover all the finer points of bowling etiquette. Bowling etiquette applies only to league members, however. For instance, it's against the rules to moan and groan and tear out your hair when a team member is making his bid for a strike, but it's O.K. to do so with everything if it's only a student in another alley.

BEFORE WE PROTEST, we should remember that this is the League. And not all educational, university bowling alleys are fortunate enough to be blessed with the presence of a League in their midst. Be grateful, few.

INTEGRATION IS being booted back and forth at a great pace.

Mostly forth, in the Flambeau, which if good only in one respect, Con Horn's "poetry" in Friday's issue exceeded all limitations.

Sort of amazing how a person could become so apparently enraged and bitter over a subject of which he probably knows nothing because is read, and he sounded very noble in a few lines, but whether or not he would "walk the streets . . . and die" for his cause is open to speculation.

It will probably never be necessary, at any rate, so he was pretty safe in making the boast.

IF HIS SOURCE of information was Orville Alonso's "On-the-spot Survey" in the same issue, his attitude is more explainable. "On-the-spot Editorial" would have been a more appropriate name for this article. It was a perfect example of subtle news slanting.

Much of the story was good, irrefutable facts which gave Miss Alonso's opinion an even better chance to be adopted by the reader. The factual portion made interest the slanted portion enough for the reader to be unaware of the fact that his opinion was being tampered with.

The cause may be good, but does the end ever justify the means?

The Press Table

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
Sports Staff

A PREDICTION AND A FOND HOPE—

Though some of us might still find it hard to believe, the Florida and Florida State Universities formally open athletic competition here Friday night. It'll be a test of swimming superiority, also the surprise of many—we offer this prediction:

FSU will whip the Gator mermen, 51-31.

Realizing, of course, that those few words form a rather surprising statement, may we clarify them.

These things we know: That, through previous agreement with the Gators, FSU will not be allowed to use freshmen—which means the Tribe will have but seven swimmers eligible Friday night. Since a pair of freshmen—Glancy and Gentry, by name—have been consistent record-breakers for FSU, we might say that's a definite disadvantage.

We know, too, that both FSU and Florida will enter the contest with identical 4-1 records—and that both were beaten by the same Texas A&M squad, and both by almost identical margins.

Looking at those facts, you'd think the Gators would be the favorites. And they are in some circles.

But by looking at the books and at previous performances of both squads we've, tabbed the Tribe Here's why.

By taking the program and going down it, event by event, you can compare both squads' average time on each event.

Example? Try this. Jim Julian is perhaps the Tribe's No. 1 sprint man. He clips the 50-yard freestyle at a :23.5 pace. That's a school record. The best Gator time in the same event is right around :24. In track's 100-yard dash, .5 of a second is equal to approximately 5 yards.

It reads right down the list that way. According to the one on the books, the Tribe should finish on top Friday night. So you never can tell.

We'll just call it a fond hope. The Tribe, 51-31.

A CHAMPION IN HOCK—

It started in the Saturday Evening Post. Joe Louis, perhaps the master of all the heavyweights when he was upside, wrote an article entitled, "Oh, Where Did My Money GO?" It was the tale of how the Brown Bomber managed to hock himself to the government for an estimated one million dollars

The reactions to the article were many and varied. Some expressed no sympathy for the bombed guy. Others—and one lady in particular—were downright sympathetic.

Her name is unimportant, but the lady pointed out that if everyone who once sung the praises of the champion would donate one nickel to "get him out of hock", he would be able to buy back the rest of his life from the government.

It's a commendable suggestion.

A NAME FOR THE CORNER—

It's probably no secret, but the editors of this page have been trying for sometime to dig up a suitable—and original—name for this corner. And if you think it's an easy task we invite you to try it.

There have been many suggestions as to what it should be called—some of 'em nice, and some of 'em not so nice. But one of the quaintest suggestions came from a lady member of one of the downtown newspaper organizations.

Her suggestion: Athletes' Frats.

Nuff said.

It's a pleasure to get to know OLD SPICE AFTER SHAVE LOTION. Each time you shave you can look forward to something special: the OLD SPICE scent—brisk, crisp, fresh as all outdoors... the tang of that vigorous astringent—bandshave-soap film, heals tiny razor nicks. Splash on OLD SPICE—and start the day refreshed!

Add Spice to Your Life . . . Old Spice For Men
SHULTON New York • Toronto

Seminoles Dunk Tech's Jackets

★ ★

Gridders Complete First Week's Practice

58-26 Triumph Gives Swimmers 6th Win

By JOE GREENE
Flambeau Sports Writer

The tide went out against Georgia Tech last Saturday night as the freshman-led Florida State tankers smothered the Engineers from Georgia high and dry on the short end of a 58 to 26 score.

Four meets records fell during the evenings' events in the Florida State gym as Hal Reeves of Georgia Tech swam the 220 freestyle in 2:20.8 shattering 6 off the previous record.

Rube Waddell, FSU backstroke artist set a new mark in the 100 yard backstroke event turning in a 2:23.2, rotting the old mark by 1.4 seconds.

Don Lewis, FSU sophomore picked up 10 points for the Seminoles as he set a new meet record in the 50 yard freestyle; and also captured first in the 100 yard dash of the same name.

Relay Records

Florida State's 400 yard freestyle relay team composed of Glen Thatcher, Lewis, Pat McKeown and Ken Abbott delivered the final blow to the hapless Georgians' as it shattered the old meet record by a full 7.6 seconds.

Of the 10 events on the program, the Seminoles copped eight firsts while Georgia Tech managed to squeeze out two wins, one in the fancy diving contest and the other in the 200 freestyle.

The University of Florida invades the Seminole lair for the next home meet scheduled for Friday night, the 17.

Florida, because of its depth, promises to be a very formidable foe according to Bim Stults, FSU coach.

200-YARD MEDLEY—1 FSU (Waddell, Bell, McKeown); 2, Georgia Tech. 2:23.8

220-FREESTYLE—1, Reeves, Georgia Tech; 2, Fillmore, FSU; 3, Cloptiz, Georgia Tech. 2. Fillmore FSU, 3 Cloptiz Georgia Tech. 2:20.8 (new meet record)

50-FREESTYLE—1, Lewis FSU; 2 Walker, Georgia Tech; 3, Thatcher, FSU. :24.2 (new meet record)

FANCY DIVING—1, MOSLEY—1 Woodward, FSU; 2, Wright, Georgia Tech, 3, Decker, Georgia Tech 139.1

FANCY DIVING, 1, Ballard Geor. 2, Bell, Woodward, FSU, 3, Ballard 120.45

100—FREESTYLE—1 Lewis FSU, 2 Walker, Georgia Tech, Thatcher, FSU. :55.2

200—BACKSTROKE—1, Waddell, FSU; 2, Bowden, FSU, 3, Chaney, Georgia Tech 2:23.8 (new meet record)

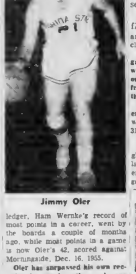
400—MEDLEY RELAY—1 Tallahassee FSU, 2 Reeves, Georgia Tech, 3 Lee Georgia Tech 4:52.6

200—BREASTSTROKE—1 South, FSU; 2 Lee, Georgia Tech; 3 Reed Georgia Tech 2:37.1

400—FREESTYLE RELAY—1, FSU (Lewis, Lewis, McKeown, Abbott) 2, Georgia Tech, 3:42.8 (new meet Record)

Oler Points To New FG Mark

As the season slowly draws to a close, and Jim Oler rewriting the record book with each passing game, only a few marks seem beyond the scope of the little high scoring guard.



However, it seems very doubtful that the second leading scorer in the nation would wait them, and one is impossible for him to get.

The farmer is the most personal foe in a season held by Bud Scott, 1951, with an even 100, and most in a career by McLaughlin, 46-52, a total of 276 through those years.

Due to his small stature, Jim is nowhere near the top in most records bounds.

Career Record

Over on the bright side of the ledger, Ham Wernke's record of most points in a career, went by the boards a couple of months ago, while most points in a game is now Oler's 42, scored against Morningside, Dec. 16, 1955.

Jimmy Oler

Oler has surpassed his own records of most free throws in one season which was 221, now 226, and most points in one season, was 548, and is now 568.

Both of these will continue to mount higher with six games left to play.

The Economy, Indiana senior is 27 field goals behind the school mark of 193 in a season, set by Hartman in 1951.

Coach Bud Kennedy is not taking the forthcoming games with Florida Southern lightly, especially since the Moccasins only lost to Miami by one point last week. The team was put through a heavy scrimmage last week, and the starting five only managed to beat a second team composed of Gregory, Patton, Mahoney, Wurzbach and Twomey by two points.

Freshmen Bow To Jax Navy

Friday night the Florida State University freshmen basketball team suffered their fifth defeat of the season at the hands of a strong Jacksonville Navy team by the tune of 76-65.

Guard Hugh Durham continued to pace the frosh in scoring as he hit for 19, of which 17 came in the second half. Also scoring in double figures was Tommy Donovan with 14.

Fred Woodward started at guard in place of the recently departed Mike Lawson. Benny Etis and Mike DePalmer fouled out for frosh cagers.

This Friday night, the baby Seminoles look again for their second win of the campaign against Southwestern Georgia Junior College. The game will be held in the Florida High Gym starting at 8 p.m.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
Tuesday - Saturday	End Tuesday "Coma Next Spring"
"Helen of Troy"	Ann Sheridan Steve Cochran Sonny Tufts
Rossana Podesta	Wednesday - Thursday
Jack Sornas	"The Houston Story"
Sir Cedric Hardwicke	Edward Arnold
Stanley Baker	"The Crooked Web" Frank Lovejoy
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
Tuesday - Wednesday	Tuesday - Wednesday
"Deep in My Heart" Jose Ferrer	"Mission Over Korea" John Modish
Thursday - Saturday	Thursday - Saturday
"The Purple Mask" Tony Curtis	"Robber's Roost" George Montgomery
"Strange Lady In Town" Greer Garson	"Gang Busters"

RITZ—Tuesday, Wednesday—"FRONT PAGE STORY"
Thursday - Saturday—"THE GREEN SCARF"
Michael Redgrave, Lea Ginn

In thay gn . FSU and Georgia Tech swimmers about to hit the water in the 440 yd. freestyle. Event was won by Tribe's Mike Tschirret, second from left.

Photo By Steve Kirsh

ATO, SN Meet Tonight At 8 p.m.

Unless the weatherman deals out a rainstorm the replay for the fraternity touch football championship is set for tonight at 8 p.m. at the Florida High field.

Sigma Nu will be meeting ATO in a replay of their final game. ATO has won two games by 13-12 scores and tonight should see another close tussle.

If SN wins tonight the second game of the double elimination will be played tomorrow at 8 and on Thursday the winner of the fraternity championship will meet the Baptists for the campus title.

B.S.U. won the dorm-independent division in an extra-final game with the West Hall Rebels by a 21-26 score.

Table Tennis

The fraternity table tennis singles championships got under way last night at West Hall with 12 entries competing in the first and second rounds.

Tonight beginning at 5:30 p.m. the quarter-finals of the losers' bracket, and the semi-finals of both the winners' and losers' bracket will be played.

The tourney semi-finals are booked for West Hall at 6:15 on Wednesday and the finals will be played at 8.15 on Thursday.

Only two teams met the entry deadline for the Dorm-Independent Division so Magnolia Hall meets the Methodists tonight at 7 p.m. in their first match, and tomorrow at 7 in the second.

If each wins one the deciding match will be Thursday at 8.15 p.m.

Nugent Impressed By Team's High Morale

Very few new names appeared on the coaches' standout list after the first week of spring football, and particularly rough scrimmage Saturday.

The fourth day of workouts saw a three and a half hour day for the gridders, climaxed by a rugged two-hour scrimmage.

Head coach Tom Nugent told the footballers it was a "good solid scrimmage," and praised them for hitting so hard this early in the practice session.

The team had worked on a particular series all week, and the scrimmage was specifically aimed at producing better blocking techniques.

The list of standouts will probably be headed by junior halfback Pat Versprille and senior

Linksters Open In GW Tourney

The Florida State golfers open their season by competing in the George Washington Open Tourney which runs from February 23 to the 26.

The FSU team will have to get by strong competition from both University of Florida and Rollins, plus quite a few entries from the amateur ranks.

Top men on the FSU team are Jack Vehsle, Bobbie Dunn, Bunk Berry, and Edwin Jenkins. The first three are returning lettermen, and Jenkins is a junior college transfer.

Other lettermen who hold top positions on the team are Bob Shuman and David Morris. Three transfers who figure into the plans of the team are Harry Shoemaker, Dick Huff, and Billy Shelton.

Leading the crop of freshmen are Bob Shreve and Russ Carino.

The main objective of the 20-man team is to get into top shape for the March 5 meet with the University of Florida.

Feb. 23-26 George Washington Tourney, Tallahassee.

Mar. 2: Stetson—Away.
Mar. 3: Florida Southern—Away.
Mar. 5: Florida—Home
Mar. 8-10: State Intercollegiate—Deals.
Mar. 16: Auburn—Home
Mar. 20: Georgia—Home.
Mar. 23 Maxwell AFB—Home.
Apr. 6 Jacksonville Navy—Home.
Apr. 7: Stetson—Home
Apr 9 Georgia Tech—Away
Apr. 11: Rollins—Home.
Apr. 14: Auburn—Away.
Apr. 16: Florida—There.
Apr. 21: Rollins—There.
May 2-5: Southern Intercollegiate—Athens, Ga.

Southern Falls

A last-half surge kept Florida State's home basketball winning streak intact here last night, as the Seminoles rallied to blast Florida Southern, 82-74, with Jimmy Oler scoring 32 points.

Lee Corso, who picked up continuously big assists, was also all day.

Nugent named the other standouts as follows:

Ends — Schoenburger, Fountain, Bisher, Nellums.

Tackles—Jerry Graham, Staab, Barber, Musselman.

Guards — Pacifico, Bill Brown, Baggett, Leonard.

Centers—Barnes, George Boyer, Quarterbacks — Priest, Swantic, Renn

Fullbacks—Holt, Frank Schenkle, Morale Best

Nugent pointed out that despite the long scrimmage, "The morale is better than I've ever seen it, and we look forward to a great spring game."

"We believe that the ideal spring game score would be about 28-28, and that if we can be extremes either way we're lacking either offensively or defensively."

The contest, which will be the climax of the 20-day spring workout, is slated for March 9 with the band in full dress and a good crowd expected.

"This game means a lot to both coaches and players," the head mentor added, "because it goes a long ways toward deciding the starting lineup next September 22."

Scullions Slate Iceland Meal

An Icelandic dinner has been scheduled for Friday evening by the Scullions.

The meal, part of a series of Gourmet's Dinners, will feature authentic native food.

All cooking is done by students of the School of Restaurant and Hotel Management.

Friday's meal will include Soup Cauliflower, Sliced Icelandic Fish Pudding with Tomato Sauce, Boiled Potatoes, Boiled Carrots and Sliced Tomatoes, Rye Cakes with butter and Icelandic Pancakes with Whipped Cream for dessert.

The dinner is being cooked by Sigurjon Ragnalsson, Birgir Karlsson and Daniel Petursson, all Icelandic students.

The dinner will be held in the Suwanee Room at 7:30 p.m. Only 40 people can be accommodated, so tickets must be ordered in advance, warned Jack Kulker, president of Scullions.

(Continued From Page 1)

Makins Claims

admission of 16 additional nations.

Arabs Recognize Israel

During a question and answer period he voiced the opinion that the Arab states, despite present declarations to the contrary, will recognize Israel.

He refused, however, to answer a question posed by an Indian student, who asked the British government's position on Portugal's possession of Goa, a small area on the Indian coast.

"Portugal is Britain's oldest ally," he stated, "and India is a member of the British Commonwealth. A dispute over Goa is not a matter on which I, as British ambassador, will express an opinion."

Art Educator Speaks Tomorrow

Dr. Manuel Barkan will speak here tomorrow on Art Education.

Dr. Barkan, a professor in the School of Fine and Applied Arts at Ohio State University, will speak in the Demonstration School Auditorium at 9 and 11 a.m.

His first lecture a lk take up the "Foundations for Art Education" and his second topic is "Aspects of Creativity in Human Development."

The author of several books the latest of which is Foundation For Art Education, Dr. Barkin became widely known for his studies in creativity in a project sponsored by the Ford Foundation. He currently is chairman of the Research Board of the National Art Education Association.

The Arts Education Department at FSU is sponsoring his appearance here.

Biological Frat, Phi Sigma, Is Installed Here

A new chapter of Phi Sigma, national biological society, will be installed Feb. 18 at Florida State University.

The Beta Beta chapter is an outgrowth of a strong, well established campus organization, the Biological Club.

Dr. Karl F. Lagler of the University of Michigan, president of the national society, and Dr. Fred S. Orcutt of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, national secretary and treasurer, will be in charge of the installation ceremony scheduled for 4 p.m. in the Science Lecture Hall.

Dr. Lagler, who is head of the Natural Resources Department at Michigan, will give an illustrated lecture on "Biological Basis for the Conservation of Our Aquatic Resources" that night, beginning at 8 p.m. in Science Lecture Hall. It will be free and open to the public.

A banquet, honoring guests and charter members of the chapter, will be held in Suwanee Room between the installation ceremony and lecture.

FSU faculty members and advanced students in biological sciences who will be charter members of the chapter will be Dr. Sidney Fox, Dr. Robert K. Godfrey, Dr. Chester S. Nielsen, Dr. A. V. Zeller, Dr. Harry J. Lipner, Dr. R. Winston Mensel.

Ronald C. Phillips, George Grier, Clarence Hardiman, Joan Hassett, Lovette Williams, Robert Lynn, Birtie Pitman, James Thomas, Mary Ann Joyner and Morris Suggs.

Lida R. Almodovar, Gilbert Hughes, Robert Krai, Donald Devley, James Cockrell, Nell Hulsend, Richard Jackson and M. NeJed.

GAX Initiates 23 Tomorrow

Twenty-three women will join Gamma Alpha Chi, women's advertising honorary in an initiation ceremony tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Roya A. Ray, 2230 Amelia Circle.

Mrs. W. C. Altman, executive secretary of GAX national, revealed recently that the Florida State University chapter is the largest ever initiated into the national hoorary.

The list of initiates includes Martha Brigman, Barbara Caldwell, Margaret Donaldson, Barbara Ann Durrett, Ann Freedman, Sarah Dell Gibson, Barbara Graham, and Joan Grantham.

Other women to be initiated are Nan Henley, Louise Hoyer, Joan Harmon, Eleanor Kirby, Kay Kohler, Evelyn Mahon, Donna McNab, Sharon Mixon, and Marion J. Porter.

Lisbeth Stainer, Virginia Vaughn, Louise Yarborough, Ann Yeoman and Mrs. Richard Joel conclude the list of initiates.

Flambeau Photo: Adrian Allen

Sweetheart—Of Jennie Murphree, chosen Saturday night, was Miss Cynthia Lawrence, center. Court members were Jean Turk, Sue Throckmorton, Stephanie Gunderson and Jackie Lopez.

Tickets Needed For Swim Meet

Students who want to witness the first swimming meet between Florida State and University of Florida must pick up tickets Thursday.

Tickets for the event will be on sale in the Athletic Ticket Office in the Student Center. They will go on sale at 10 p.m., announced Eddie Colburn, athletic business manager.

Transportation Set For 'Faith' Speakers

Transportation is being planned for speakers for Intelligent Faith Week which begins Feb. 19 and runs through the 22nd.

Students who will meet the speakers at they arrive and escort them to their hotels are Joy Auten, Powell Brewton, John Cordes, Tommy Dunn, Karl Edwards, Don Gold, Pat Gregory, Donna Hardy and Ray Heinann.

Also John Johnson, Charlie Miller, Elizabeth Slainer, Maurice Stenberg, Elisheva Still, Joe Swann and Ken White.

The committee is also in charge of furnishing transportation for the nine speakers to their various meetings.

LOS PICAROS SLATE PLEDGING CEREMONY

Pledging ceremonies for Los Picaros will be held the first of March.

Latin American students interested in joining the Spanish honorary may do so without taking the entrance examination required of North American students. Students interested in the group must contact Alice Lentz, 309 Florida Hall by February 27.

West Hall Sets Inaugural Ball

West Hall will inaugurate a new governor at a formal Inaugural Ball this Saturday night from 8 30 to 12.

The ball will feature the music of Billy Bowles and the naming of a West Hall Sweetheart, to be selected from representatives of all sororities and women's dorms on campus.

Finalists for the sweetheart title will be announced in Friday's Florida Flambeau. Last year the title went to Betty Lou Whittle.

There is no admission charge for the dance which is open to all Florida State University students Dark suits are acceptable attire for men, according to Hans Tews, West Hall spokesman.

Freshman Flunkies Elect New Officers

Betty Cleary was recently elected president of the Freshman Flunkies.

Other newly elected officers include Sandra Rosenburg, vice president; Jean May, secretary; Nancy Fowler, tryout chairman; Dixie Wirker, poster chairman; and Ruth Starling, miscellaneous chairman.

The next official Flunkies meeting is slated tomorrow night from 9 to 9:45 in Longmire, according to Miss Cleary.

READING COURSE BEGINS MONDAY

A short non-credit reading course will begin Monday.

According to Mrs Ailene Thompson of the Reading Service this course, which is open to all students, will run four weeks, Monday through Thursday at 4 p.m in 225 Westcott.

SUMMER JOBS DISCUSSED TOMORROW

"Summer Job Opportunities" will be discussed at tomorrow's meeting of the Sociology Club.

Scheduled for the home of Dr. John L. Haer, students needing a ride should meet at the Diamond House at 7 30 p.m.

Columnist Answers

(Continued from Page 2)

don't you go somewhere where you BELONG? Why don't you leave us alone?" I feel that I belong here. Johnson, even though I don't think I have the courage to remain here for much longer.

Johnson would feel better if I were at A & M. but I must point out that the law prevents this. In other words, the law here in the South, prevents both negro AND white from exercising complete freedom. Certainly this is not democracy as the sovereign state of Alabama seemed to admit last week when it negated the Constitution in order to justify its actions. It has reached the point where the traditionalist must break with the most sanctioned of tradition in order to maintain its precarious semi-legal position.

Until the times comes when I can do more or until I become enough of an altruist to sacrifice security and future, I'm afraid that I can only help expedite integration as I am now. Admittedly, actions would speak louder than these unskilled and painfully ineffective words, but to do more at this time would be to betray the obligations I have to my family.

I will continue to do all I can, however, if just to ease my conscience of this most heinous of all "white men's burdens," whether it be to serve as counselor in an integrated camp or to pound out semi-literate verses in an effort to shatter the complacency of an oppressive, conscience-tormented majority.

Panhel Installs New Officers

New officers of Florida State's Panhellenic Council were installed last week in Longmire Auditorium.

Retiring president, Harriet Davis, handed the gavel over to the incoming president, Marion Benson, in the late afternoon ceremonies. Marion in turn installed the other officers and members.

Other new officers installed were: Ann Kelly, secretary; Charlotte Lucy, treasurer; Dottie Sue Thompson, Honor Court Chairman; the presidents of Chi Omegas, Alpha Delta Pi, and Gamma Phi Beta, executive council.

Officers are elected on a rotation system and serve a term of one year. They are responsible for seeing that the work of Panhellenic is carried on.

Panhellenic Council consists of the president and one representative from each of the sixteen national sororities. They meet weekly to further interfraternity relations and to set up rules governing rush, and initiation.

27 Women Vie For 'Miss FSU'

Twenty-seven women have submitted their pictures so far as contestants in the 1956 Miss FSU Contest.

"Of this number only one is not affiliated with some sorority and only nine of the sixteen sororities on campus have anyone entered," revealed Jim Broderick, Tally Ho editor.

"I'm baffled at the extreme lack of interest in this contest," commented Broderick. "The winner every Ann Kelly, secretary; Charlotte Lucy, treasurer; Dottie Sue Thompson, Honor Court Chairman; the presidents of Chi Omegas, Alpha Delta Pi, and Gamma Phi Beta, executive council.

Officers are elected on a rotation system and serve a term of one year. They are responsible for seeing that the work of Panhellenic is carried on.

Panhellenic Council consists of the president and one representative from each of the sixteen national sororities. They meet weekly to further interfraternity relations and to set up rules governing rush, and initiation.

Friday is the deadline for girls to enter by submitting their photograph to the Director's Office in Longmire. Pictures must be 8 x 10 glossy prints, either portrait or taken in sports clothes as previously announced.

Actual judging will take place on next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Longmire Auditorium.

"Since this contest is open to co-eds except those who have already appeared in a previous edition of the Tally-Ho, it's impossible to understand why there aren't 200 girls willing to enter this contest," said Broderick. "I'll take at least this number to make judging worthwhile."

All contestants are asked to attend a meeting Saturday at 2 p.m. in Longmire auditorium.

Letters To The Editor

(Continued From Page 2)

Was she really after an education—
Or were her services bought?
She made some Alabama students
Seem void of common sense—
They aren't murderers and killers,
They abot in self-defense.
Equal—maybe—but separate
Is the only possible solution
And that is how I want to draw
My poem to its conclusion.

THANK YOU.
PAUL HAMMOND

Holderbach 'Sets Dyckman Straight' On States' Rights

TO THE EDITOR

I would like to set Mr. Dyckman straight on his rebuttal of State's Rights in the Florida Flambeau of February 10th.

It is best that we remember that the central government was created for, and as a result of, the states. The states were not set up by, or exist for the convenience of the Federal government. Once we forget this, and continue to allow the Federal government more power, we are invariably leaving the door wide open for a dictatorship, oligarchy, or similar form of corrupt and degenerate government.

It is much easier to control a government that is at least partially decentralized and near: home.

AL HOLDERBACH.

Magazine Seeks Agents At FSU

"Playboy", men's entertainment magazine, is seeking representatives on the campuses of many of America's leading universities, including Florida State University.

Students chosen will become members of the magazine's college bureau and will act as reporters on campus life and trends, conduct surveys and promote circulation, according to Playboy.

The magazine said work on the bureau will "provide practical experience for any one interested in public relations, journalism and connected fields."

Students interested in the work have been asked to write "Playboy College Bureau, 11 E. Superior, Chicago 11, Illinois".

Dr. Cairns Speaks To Philosophy Club

Dr. Grace Cairns of the philosophy department will address the Philosophy Club tonight at 8 p.m.

"The Philosophy of Religion" will be the subject of the regular club meeting in room 313 of the old demonstration school.

Dr. Cairns, who teaches classes in philosophy of religion and religions of the Far East, received her BA at Goucher College in Baltimore, MA at University of Ohio and Ph.D at the University of Chicago.

OIL COMPANY SEEKS TRAINEES

Shell Oil Company is interested in sales trainees.

Mr R K Cowha will be on campus Thursday to interview interested students of any major.

Further information and appointments are at the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement in Westcott.

Frosh Carnival Meet Planned

There will be a Freshman Carnival planning meeting tonight at 7:30 in 303 Westcott.

Committee chairmen will be announced at this meeting at which all freshmen are urged to attend, announced Bill Clendinen, freshman class president.

The carnival, any suggestions for which are welcome, will be held April 30. A new feature has been added, a bicycle race similar to the Indianapolis 500. According to Clendinen, directions for conduct surveys and the tradition of the carnival.

Phys. Ed. Majors Attend Convention

Eleven Physical Education majors are attending the Southern District Convention of American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Annual convention is held in Nashville, Tenn. are Bill Hill, Pat Armstrong, Sue Thomas, Nadine York, Dolores Villasana, Patty Andrews.

Also Mary Page Williams Carolyn Mullis, Sally Reed, Ann Bunting and Bonnie Lee McGregor.

Freshman Honorary Offers Scholarships

Phi Eta Sigma members will plan to work for graduate scholarships and are interested, scholarships should contact Dr. James F Carr, Jr., in 201 Westcott by February 15.

Phi Eta Sigma, a national freshman scholarship honorary offers two three-hundred-dollar scholarships each year on the basis of the student's academic record, evidence of citizenship, evidence of financial need, promise of success in chosen field, and personality.

Only Phi Eta Sigma members are eligible for these scholarships.

STEGE'S CAFETERIA
On Adams Street, Near The Capital
You'll Enjoy Delicious Food Cafeteria Style
STEGE'S

GO TO
BILL'S BOOK STORE
for
Art Supplies
College Outlines
etc.
BILL'S
BOOK STORE

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S
MUSIC CENTER
107 E Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

GET FREE 5x7 ENLARGEMENT
CROWN JUMBO PRINTS
Send this ad and your roll to be developed at prices shown below, and your 5x7 enlargement is free. You will receive your Crown Jumbo prints in beautiful Album. Plus your 5x7 enlargement made from the negative. Your negatives returned with prints. This offer good for limited time only.
8 Exp Roll ... 40c 16 Exp Roll ... 80c
12 Exp Roll ... 60c 20 Exp Roll ... 1e ea
Write for Free Mailers
CROWN PHOTO SERVICE
Inc 271 S AUGUSTA, GEORGIA

QUALITY DRY CLEANERS
For Expert
CLEANING PRESSING
REPAIRING ALTERING
CALL OR GO BY
2-5097 215 W. College

Today and Every Day — Come To
THE MECCA

So Good to your TASTE —
So Quick on the DRAW!

1. SUPERIOR TASTE
So good to your taste because of superior tobaccos. Richer, tastier—especially selected for filter smoking. For the flavor you want, here's the filter you need.
2. SUPERIOR FILTER
So quick on the draw! Yes, the flavor comes clean—through L&M's exclusive Miracle Tip. Pure white inside, pure white outside, as a filter should be for cleaner, better smoking.
RELAX WITH L&M
MAKE TODAY YOUR BIG RED LETTER DAY!
EFFECTIVE FILTRATION
KING SIZE
L&M FILTERS
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

SOPHS, SENIORS
Have Breakfast Sat.)
(See Page One)

Vol. XLI, No. 31 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Friday, February 17, 1956

Campus-Wide IF Week Starts Saturday

Two Mass Talks Are Scheduled

Two mass meetings are scheduled for the 1956 Intelligent Faith Week.

Dr. Charles C. West will kick-off the Tuesday meeting with a speech on "The Student In a Period in Revolution," in West Auditorium from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Vocal Union will perform the Musical Finale" at the meeting with Robert Leslie as organist. An ensemble from the Concert Band will also play.

A panel discussion "Religious Faith in a Changing World" is scheduled for the final Wednesday mass meeting from 4 to 5 p.m. in Longmire Auditorium. Members of the team members and student leaders will participate.

On Furlough

Dr. West is now on furlough from his work in East Germany as a guest lecturer in Christian and ecumenical questions at the West Berlin theological school.

Dr. West has also worked among the Guanner Mission to industrial workers in Malnz and Dusseldorn on the Rhine. Later he served at the University of Tubingen and directed an international work camp for youth. He was a teacher in Cheelon Tsinghai Nianking

Flambeau Photo: Dick Parry
Coffee Hour—Speaker, Dr Chester Nevison, discusses a classwork with a student. (See story p. 4.)

Rev. Charles C. West

the Communist Government made it impossible for him to continue his work.

To Join Council

Dr. West will soon join the World Council of Churches as editor at Geneva, the Ecumenical Institute near Geneva, a center for research and education in problems of the life and the mission of the Church of Christ acclaimed.

An evaluation meeting at 7 p.m. in the Westminister House will end IF week activities.

Hess Charges Social Forces Retard Science

Are Americans concentrating too much on the practical application of science and ignoring the discovery and study of the basic laws of the physical world?

If so, is it because of social pressure for conformity in thought?

These questions were asked Monday night by Dr. Emerson of the Florida State University meteorology department, speaking on the American Men of Science Series, "Science and Society."

Dr. Hess said that while Americans possess more advantages than ancient science, for instance, possession of 76 per cent of the world's automobiles for only seven per cent of its population, he has "certain misgivings."

In such fields as meteorology and nuclear physics America has done much work but the basic laws and facts were founded out by Europeans, he said.

Maybe there is something wrong with our society or American education which tends to steer people away from the abstract and the mathematical toward the concrete and the practical, Dr. Hess said it is dangerous over-emphasize applied science because the foundation stems from theories and research for the sake of research. Dr. Robert W. Rogers of the geology department and Dr. Peter Kiang, a psychology professor, assisting the study of human nature and behavior, also spoke on the program.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The Christian Science Organization at 535 West College holds weekly testimonial meeting at 8 p.m. on Thursday.

The Christian Science Monitor and the works of Mary Baker Eddy are available at the study room from 2-4 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7-9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

Jim Moore Joins State Party Ranks

Jim E. Moore, student Senator, announced last night his candidacy for Student Body President.

Declaring that the spring elections will be fought on the issue of progress versus the status quo, he told the State Party, in convention, that he will seek its nomination for president.

The junior senator, who has led a current fight for Student Senate apportionment based partly on living areas, was keynote speaker at the State Party first convention. He has not been a member of the party.

"For the first time in the history of the political parties system at FSU the issues and principles involved and at stake are diametrically opposed," he asserted.

BULLETIN

Art Moore was elected State Party Chairman, Hank McCann was elected vice-chairman last night.

Moore accused the Student Party, which has won a majority of offices in the last three years, of "actively working for years to keep the students in a position of static quo."

He said that a "limited amount" of improvements have come from that party, as well as a number of praiseworthy attempts.

Brought Progress

In the 1954-55 Senate most progress, he declared, was brought about by five State Party senators and a small number of "positive thinkers" opposed by a "substantial majority of very conservative Student Party senators."

He accused the Student Party of working for a lack of competition in student government.

"We have that old attitude of 'you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours and everybody stands around shaking hands' and the will of the students is forgotten and lags," the candidate charged.

Greener Pasture

"On the other side of the fence in greener pastures," he maintained, "there rests a party whose great belief is progress through trying. The State Party believes that reasonable men can honestly disagree even among its own ranks and that issues are the things that are of most importance."

"Capable leaders," Moore said, are all that is necessary to increase respect for student government.

Scores Secrecy

He scored secrecy in the government. "The greatest single thing that this area party could do would be to open Student Government to the eyes of the students," he said.

"Student Government is making progress and will make even more progress as it gains more and more aware to work. There is no end to what it can accomplish. We only need capable leaders who are willing to speed up that end, who are willing to disagree on principles even with the party if necessary and if disagreement is honorable and honest."

Senate Alters Election Date

Student Body election primary day will be Tuesday, March 20 with run-offs a week later, Student Senate decided Wednesday.

The required date, the first Tuesday in April, would have conflicted with Easter holidays, students returning to class only on primary day. Under the Constitution, in case of such conflict the Senate may designate

Andersan Speaks

Combined Faculty-Student Lunch Slated Wednesday

Dr. L. K. Anderson will speak at a combined faculty-student luncheon Wednesday at 12 noon in the Suwannee Room.

The luncheon is open to anyone interested in hearing the speaker.

Reservations may be made with Joanne, chairman of Intelligent Faith Week committee, or any members of the committee. The cost is $1.00.

Dr. Anderson, a Canadian by birth, has worked extensively in Latin American countries. He is now a field representative in West Africa for the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church.

Dr. David M. Graybeal, chaplain of Emory and Henry College in Virginia, will speak at a special faculty luncheon Monday noon in the Suwannee Room.

Mr. E. Russell Carter will field representative in West

Dr. L. K. Anderson

David M. Graybeal

speak at a similar faculty luncheon Thursday. Mr. Carter is a Africa for the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church.

Intelligent Faith Is Week's Topic

By MARY ELIZABETH KING

Intelligent Faith Week begins Saturday and ends Wednesday on the Florida State University campus.

"Goals For Which We Unitedly Strive" as religious students have been set forth with mass planning meetings for IF Week. They are listed by chairmen as:

"To reach, enrich and strengthen the members of the university community by showing that a religious faith is vital to everyday living;

"To explore and seek solutions to the problems which confront students in a changing world;

"To provide opportunities for an understanding of the various faiths and to build within the individual a deeper meaning of his own faith;

"To stimulate a higher concept of ethical behavior in all living;

"To encourage a spirit of inquiry into the spiritual resources available toward courageous living in these times."

The hope that all students will "Enter In" is the primary purpose of IF Week. Activities begin Saturday with the annual Sponsor-Senior breakfast, which will serve as a "kick-off."

Next Dr. David M. Graybeal, chaplain of Emory and Henry College in Virginia, will speak.

A reception for the nine speakers will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. in John's Episcopal Church, pushing an opportunity for IF Week planners to meet and fellowship members a chance to meet each speaker personally.

Faculty Cooperation Generous

Faculty members have been generous in donating their time for the various speeches. More class time is available than speakers will be able to use. Each of the twelve main planning committees have faculty and adult advisors to assist them in their respective religious.

Students are urged, by IF Week leaders, to attend the spaghetti supper on Sunday evening from 5 to 6:30. Cost is 25c per plate at the Alfriend Hall at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Honorary chairmen of Intelligent Faith Week are: Dr. Doak S. Campbell, president; Miss Louise Woodford, state director of the Florida Chain of Missions, and Dr Edwin R. Hartz, university chaplain.

Planning Traced

The history of our present Intelligent Faith Week can be traced in the Florida Flambeau as far back as 1916 when the Florida Chain of Missions was first formed to give Floridians a chance to meet and hear missionaries from abroad.

The Chain with FSCW's Youth Conference and Student Affairs sponsored their first campus meeting with speakers from the mission fields. Later, in 1938, the Youth Conference was statewide.

In 1941 evidence of Protestants and Jews working together in mission and world affairs was in the Religious Life Week. Hillel Foundation joined the yearly meeting. The Religious Council, composed of the heads of 27 organizations in promoting a program for brotherhood, religion and missions. This is the first time that the Bahia have worked together on IF Week.

Someone got the idea to combine the Religious Emphasis speakers with a Religious Emphasis Week in 1945. REW was changed to University Christian Mission Week but later the term Religious Emphasis Week was again used. Recently, the name has been revised to Intelligent Faith Week.

Social Subject Set At Senior

"Sex, Love and Marriage" will be the Senior Hall's subject for Intelligent Faith Week observance. Russ Hall Chaplain Harmony Waller will preside there at 9 p.m. Tuesday night.

Magnolia Hall will hear Dr Spencer P. Austin, who has traveled with Dean Acheson envoys to Japan, the Philippines, Thailand, India and the Belgian Congo, speak on "Humanity's Hungers in a World of Change," at 9 p.m Tuesday accompanying and assisting Dr. Austin at Magnolia Hall will be Rabbi Louis S Josephson and Dr. William Kirk, of the classics department.

Dr. Claude U. Boach, who has conducted tours in South America The Holy Land, and Europe, will speak to West Hall on "No Apologies for Faith," at the Tuesday night dining discussion meeting at 9 p.m.

Fraternities and sororities will meet in various groupings to hear the nine speakers on Monday night from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m Each group was able to choose from numerous topics, the speech they preferred

Dr. Edgar F. Fisher will be among those speaking to the fraternities and sororities

(See pictures, page four)

Only Florida women's college officially observe IFW. Bryan, Jennie Murphree, Landis and Cawthon Halls will entertain speakers at special teas, Tuesday afternoon at 4:30.

Killian Lecture At UF Planned Despite Protest

Attempts to block an FSU professor from speaking on integration at the University of Florida ended in failure this week when the student government cabinet there killed the proposition.

Dr. Lewis Killian, Florida State University professor of sociology and social scheduled to deliver lectures on integration during the "Religion-On-Life Week" on the Gainesville campus.

Some question was raised as to whether he would speak when U of F Student Body President Bob Ballard announced last week that the Killian lectures be cancelled.

"I am afraid that the University would suffer bad publicity if either Dr. Killian or students attending the University expressed their views in favor against University integration during these seminars," the U of F student newspaper "Alligator" quoted McClure as saying.

Tickets Disappear In 20 Minutes

Tickets for the FSU-U of F swim meet were all distributed twenty minutes after the box-office opened yesterday.

Ronald Metz of the Athletic business manager's office revealed yesterday that the 378 tickets were taken at once. Of these 100 are standing room. No earned, so students must arrive early if they want seats. See story, page 3.

In Address

Moore Criticizes Senate's Reapportionment Emphasis

By MARTIN DUCKMAN

Too much emphasis is being given to reapportionment of the Student Senate, Corky Moore, student body president, declared Wednesday.

"We're making too big an issue out of reapportionment," he told the senators in a traditional semester-start address.

Moore said he "most certainly" feels reapportionment important but asserted that there are other measures Senate could pass that are more needed by the student body.

Referring to a recent informal Senate decision that representatives should be elected both from classes, as they are now, and from living units, he charged that so doing the senators would not take office until the fall. Senate would be at half-strength in the spring while considering the next year's budget.

Maintaining that reapportionment should be kept "simple," he voiced approval of a plan, scarcely rejected by the Senate, to assign senators elected by class to live in dormitories.

Six Additional

He recommended adding six senators to the present body, as an alternative plan. These, he said, should be elected from Magnolia, Reid, Senior West, Landis and Cawthon Halls

The student body president said prospects are good for increased student assistant wages next fall. The university president, Dr. Doak Campbell, Loans and Student Employment is now making a comparative survey with student wage rates at the University of Florida, Moore announced. He said rates at the other state university are higher.

Moore said President and Student Government exceeds that of the U of F except in the Honor Court and Honor System area. They have a lot more tradition behind them, he said.

Won Respect

He said handling of the recent Miami cheating scandal won respect for student government and editorials lauding it in several of the state's newspapers.

Reviewing the past semester, the president said:

$6 000 worth of new telephones bought at the request of student government will be installed upon the arrival of a new switchboard.

Student Government is being asked to study the possibility of establishing a student-faculty committee to act as a liaison between the two groups.

Other guests invited for the breakfast will include the following: Dr. and Mrs. Doak S. Campbell, Deans Katherine Warren and J. R. Odenheimer, Dr. Edwin Hartz, Dr. Samuel Noel, Miss Laura Lee, Rev. Austin Phillips, Miss Mirian Winkler, and Dr James McDonough.

Alpha Council, men's leadership honorary is in charge of ticket sales for the event. Around 250 people are expected to attend, revealed spokesmen.

The meal, planned by Dr. Ben Adams, Dining Hall manager, will be served by Sophomore Council members.

Menu for the occasion includes orange juice, scrambled eggs, bacon, grits, hot biscuits, sweet roll, butter, jelly and coffee.

Speakers View Student Ideas

Four Seminars with student-originated topics are slated for Monday and Tuesday afternoons from 3 to 4 p.m. and 4 to 5 p.m.

Final topics were chosen from suggestions of dormitory, sorority and fraternity members.

"Jim Crow and the Christian Conscience" a seminar, led by E Russell Carter, field representative for American Indian work, will take place Monday at Ruge Hall, 655 W. Jefferson from 4 to 5 p.m.

Carter has worked extensively with Indians in this country. He has pictured them in his mission stand book The Gift is Rich.

On Tuesday a similar discussion will be conducted by Dr. Claude U. Broach, Baptist minister, at Ruge Hall from 4 to 5 p.m.

Noted For Biography

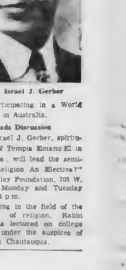
Dr Broach, a traveler and author, is especially noted for his biography of the first student secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention entitled Dr. Frank.

Dr. Glenn C. James, pastor of Trinity Methodist, will lead the seminar on "How Can I Know What Is Right and Wrong" Monday and Tuesday from 4 to 5 p.m. at the Hillel Foundation, 508 S Copeland.

Assists James

Dr. James will be assisted on Monday by Dr. Paul Gray-beal, Chaplain of Emory and Henry College in Virginia and Pastor of the Emory Methodist Church.

"Is Faith Here Belief?" will be discussed by Dr. Spencer P. Austin of the United Christian Missionary Society from 3 to 4 p.m. at the Westminister House, Monday and Tuesday.



Dr. Austin has traveled extensively throughout the world as representative of the Churches of

Dr. Spencer P. Austin

Dr. Claude V. Broach

Rabbi Israel J. Gerber

Christ, participating in a World Convention in Australia.

Leads Discussion

Rabbi Israel J. Gerber, spiritual leader of Temple Emanu-El in Dothan, Ala., will lead the seminar "Is Religion An Elective?" at the Wesley Foundation, 705 W. Jefferson, Monday and Tuesday from 3 to 4 p.m.

Specializing in the field of the psychology of religion, Rabbi Gerber has lectured on college campuses all over the country as representative of the Jewish Chautauqua.

Senate Looks At Series Idea

A Student Senate committee has been appointed to follow up a suggestion for an independent student Artist Series.

Senators Carolyn Close, Winnie Mae Douglas, Hank McCann and Gertrude Murray were appointed to the committee Wednesday. Their job, according to the suggestion of Hank McCann's vice-president, will be to arrange "student activities who could be brought to campus under the Senate's sponsorship.

Subsequent legislation to empower the committee is expected.

INTERNS MUST FILE APPLICATIONS

All students who have scheduled to do intern teaching first semester of 1956-57 and have not filed final application papers with the Internship Office should do so immediately.

Application papers can not be processed for placement unless they are filed now, reminded Dr. B. Goulding of the School of Education.

Annual Breakfast Set For Tomorrow

The Senior-Sophomore Breakfast is scheduled for tomorrow morning at 8:30 in the Suwannee Room.

The breakfast, sponsored by the Sophomore class is in recognition of the Senior brothers and sisters. A traditional event on the campus in the past, every sophomore is personally urged to invite a senior as his or her guest, explained Sophomore Class President Bob Cullum.

An Opportunity

Cullum went on to say, "this occasion is an opportunity for the sophomores to know the seniors better, and it is good to have such fellowship together as breakfast. I feel as if anyone who misses this event is missing an important event of his short college life."

This year the breakfast will serve a dual purpose as it will be a kick off to Intelligent Faith Week. Dr. David M Graybeal of Emory and Henry College in Virginia will be the speaker. With his talk Dr. Graybeal will start Intelligent Faith Week.

Guests Invited

Other guests invited for the breakfast will include the following: Dr. and Mrs. Doak S. Campbell, Deans Katherine Warren and J. R. Odenheimer, Dr. Edwin Hartz, Dr. Samuel Noel, Miss Laura Lee, Rev. Austin Phillips, Miss Mirian Winkler, and Dr James McDonough.

Alpha Council, men's leadership honorary is in charge of ticket sales for the event. Around 250 people are expected to attend, revealed spokesmen.

The meal, planned by Dr. Ben Adams, Dining Hall manager, will be served by Sophomore Council members.

Menu for the occasion includes orange juice, scrambled eggs, bacon, grits, hot biscuits, sweet roll, butter, jelly and coffee.

Editor Post Requests Due

Applications are now being accepted for editor and business manager of the three student publications on campus.

Those who were in last year's Florida Flambeau, Smoke Signals and Tally Ho must apply in writing to Dr Reid Montgomery, advisor to student publications, before March 1.

Qualifications fo rthese positions include an overall scholastic average of 1.50 for editor or 1.0 for business manager, or the same averages for the previous semester, and over two full semesters of experience in a responsible position on the respective publication staff

Appointment of the editors and business managers will be made by the Board of Student publications by April 1.

Return Questionnaires

The opportunity for students to express themselves on tha segregation issue is at hand.

The State Board of Control, in seeking student opinion through distribution of individual questionnaires, has given this student body opportunity to express itself. It is not an empty opportunity, for each individual answer will contribute tn the methods employed by the State in solving the problem of integration.

We cannot stress enough the importance of having every student on this campus express his opinion by answering the questionnaire and returning it immediately. It is not only an opportunity which students in some other Southern states have been denied, but one which will be used to determine State action.

We will abstain from asking students to vote one way or the other in the questionnaires, urging only that segregationist and anti-segregationist alike return their opinions to the Board of Control.

It is hoped, however, that students answer the questions honestly and intelligently, for such a questionnaire voids its value in the hands of insincerity and practical jokes.

Bowling Action Forthcoming

Action on student complaints regarding non-student league use of student bowling alleys is forthcoming.

In checking via telephone yesterday to see if any action had been taken or considered, the editor of the Florida Flambeau discovered that little knowledge of student complaints had found its way to the Department of Physical Education. But Dr. Kenneth Miller, acting director of the Department, said he would be glad to call a meeting of the Bowling Committee to hear and consider student opinions, as soon as possible.

Having been asked to attend this meeting and represent the students, we would like to eall for further expression on the part of students as to what they wish done. One member of the bowling committee said he feared students were only "missing tha water after the well had run dry," and wondered if students would continua their recent active interest in the sport, if conditions were changed in their favor. It is our opinion that they will.

For this reason, we will make the following recommendations to that committee:

1. That non-students be charged the regular commercial rate of forty cents per line.

2. That the League be allowed to use the alleys only three nights per week, these being Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

3. That members of this League be prohibited from use of the alleys Thursday through Sunday evenings, whether for make-up games or practice.

4. That the League be given the use of alleys on either side of the room, rather than use of the four middle alleys.

The reasons for these requests lie in the facts that students have been made to forfeit their privileges to make way for non-students; that increased cost to the league and other non-students will provide the money necessary to improve and maintain the alleys, that students in bowling classes have had to forfeit use of the alleya for practice; that students wishing to use the recreational facilities should have priority.

Dorm Interest Gaining

Those who say that dormitory leaders ara disinterested in student government had better look again.

This week, 407 West Hall men turned out to vote in their dorm's elections. This, according to figures furnished by the residence counselor, is a 73 percent vote.

And in Senata Wednesday there were three observers sent by the dorm government—to observe the machinations of a group that has not yet reached an equitable reapportionment.

West Hall is definitely interested in a system of representation that would originate at the "grass roots," with elections instead of a sham system of assigning senators to live in dorms.

We believe that the other dormitories, men's and women's, are equally interested and suggest that they too send representatives to observe Student Senate, until the day when those delegates will have a voice.

Tallahasseeans File Protest

According to wira service reports, the Board of Control heard a petition yesterday from about 30 Tallahassee-area residents asking that a number of University of Florida professors who spoka for Integration be fired.

They also demanded an oath from present and future faculty members to swear they will defend segregation.

The Board members agreed they had a right to be heard, and so do we. But we agree most of all with the comment of Hollis Rinehart: "I think we ought to throw it in the waste basket."

Asked to whom he should send acknowledgement of the petition's receipt, Dr. J. Broward Culpepper, executive secretary, was told by member J. Lee Ballard, St. Petersburg "You live in Tallahassee and ought to know these people. Pick out the most vociferous one and write to him."

In The Wings

First Stafford Recital Impressive

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

MONDAY NIGHT merked the debut appearance of pianists Anne Hoffman and James Stafford in formal Junior Recital. The programs were well chosen, and provided an enjoyable evening of listening.

Miss Hoffman opened with the difficult Bech Partita in B Flat, a collection of Baroque danceforms similar to the English and French Suites. Her playing was clean and well-balanced, the technical difficulties seeming to offer no problem.

Schubert's Sonata in A Major, Op. 120, was Miss Hoffman's next offering. Her playing was properly lyric.

Her final group consisted of a Debussy prelude, two sacerpts from the Barber Eacursions, and the Dohnanyi Cepriccio in F minor. The latter was especially wall done.

Jim Stafford, who alterneted numbers with Miss Hoffman, opened his section with the 32 Variations in C-minor of Beethoven. Endowed with an elmost prodigious technique, Stafford was completely convincing and logical in his performance. These variations are supposed to contain representative examples of all the various types of piano technique Beethoven ever used. You ean imagine the difficulties involved. But Stafford was in complete control throughout and thoroughly sympathetic to the music.

AFTER INTERMISSION, Stafford played the Chopin F minor Ballade. This is a fairly longish work, one of the staples in the Romantic literature. The piece is sectional in construction and is booby-trapped with an unusually difficult and brilliant finale. Stafford, however, seems to come to life when a difficult passage approaches: he apparently revels in technicel ehallenges. At the drop of a het then, he drage aut the old fire end gusto, and the result is nothing short of amazing.

The best thing Frans Liszt ever wrote wes the Mephisto Waltz, the only Liszt piece to which I'll listen at eny time without provocation. It is one of the few things in which Liszt was able to transcend himself and rise above meaningless banalities and dazzling pyrotechnics. Here there is Unity and Purpose, logically conceived and brilliantly cerried out. All this is somewhat beside the point, especially since I seem to be in the minority in my views, but I don't pretent to be objective. At any rate, it will serve to introduce Stafford's final number.

IN ALL THE PIANO literature there is probably nothing that makes as effective a close as the Mephisto. From the drametic standpoint, nothing cao follow it if it is well pleyed. From the technicel, the job is only half done when the notes are learned (that in itself is e major achievement!). The pianist must learn how to hold the piece together and how to conserve his energy for the climaxes. Stafford did an admirable job of solving the various problems involved.

Surpisingly enough, both pianists were et their best in their opening numbers—Miss Hoffman in the Bach and Stafford in the Beethoven.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ________ Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ________ Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers _Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Steve Kleid, Adrian Allen.
Campus Editor ________ Eleanor Kirby

Pat Marston, News Editor
Sports Editors ________ Larry Block
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ________ Dave Evans,
Pierce Lehmbeck
Junior Staff — Arlieda Ries, Bob Dollison,
Bob Moren,
Greek Editor ________ Charlet Poitevint

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Jean Halford
Exchange Editor ________ Betsy Voorhees
Exchange Staff ________ Martha McLeod
Sandra Colley
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17. The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown,
Circulation ________ Alpha Phi Omega
Morgue ________ George Goldstein
Business _ Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith,
Enid Pearlman, Jane Anderson, Les Meyers
Telephone 2,300, extension 8821, 8821
311, 313 Longmire Building

Intercollegiate Press

"Let's See —— What'll I Wear Today?"

ACP Notes

Capers On The Campai e

The Bord:

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—(ACP)—Continuing our lesson en Shakespeare and student life, bere are some quotes from the Augsburg Echo:

CRAMMINO AT MIDNIGHT:

This now the very witching time of night,
When churchyards yawn, and hell itself breaths out
Contagion to this world: now would I drink hot blood
And do such bitter business as the day would quake te look on.—Hamlet 3 3.

DAY OF FIRST EXAM ARRIVES:

O woe, O woeful, woeful, woeful day,
Never was seeo so black a day as this.
O woeful day. O woeful day.
—Romeo & Juliet 4-5.

EMERGING FROM TEST:

No hat upon his head, his stocking foul'd,
Pele as his shirt, his knees knocking each other,
And with a look so piteous in purport
As if he had been loosed out of hell.—Hamlet 2:1.

From Round About

According to Red Sanders, UCLA football coach, the UCLA student body takes an adult view of hanging in effigy. When approached on the subject by a sports writer, Sanders said, "There's nothing childish about our student body. If they decide to hang me, it would be for keeps."

Temple University recently received an unusual letter. The enevelope was addressed directly to the University and marked in bold letters "PERSONAL."

Confucius say: Many a man's tongue has broken his nose.

Food For Thought

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH—(ACP) — The most important word in the world? Here they are according to the Utah Daily Chronicle:

FOUR MOST IMPORTANT WORDS: What is your opinion?

THREE MOST IMPORTANT WORDS: If you please.

TWO MOST IMPORTANT WORDS: Thank you.

L E A S T IMPORTANT WORD: I.

The Dissenter

Ike Faces A Lonely Choice

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

IT SHOULD be good news to political friend and foe elike that the President of the United States has regained his health.

Only the mean, the base, and the petty wish personal ill to their political enemies, and such are not the qualities of vigorous political competition.

The verdict of his doctors, including the world-famous heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White, has evoked anew e torrent of words concerning his impending decision on whether to seek reelection.

The answer still is, only Mr. Eisenhower himself can make that choice. But the choice is now more difficult.

He has indicated on more than one occasion that no man is indispensable to any party and has eepressed fond thoughts toward the farm to which he, a country boy so many years ego, longs to retire.

After over 40 years of government service, is he not entitled to a life of his own?

THE DOCTORS HAVE pronounced him physically fit, but they have not probed into the man's soul. They cannot say if he is weary with politics and turmoil and conflict. Only he can say.

On one side is the president as a man, and as such is respected by his enemies and by those who disagree with him less strongly in the political sense. A most precious human right, privacy, is not his.

On the other side is the president as a politician. His own party wails that it cannot do without him; the public opinion polls back this up, though 1948 proved they are not infallible.

Partly because he has never been the professional politicien that Mr. Truman was, with all of his neglected virtues, President Eisenhower is loved, to an almost undemocratic degree, by his country; partly because of his role as a leader in World War II is he respected by Europeans: he has shown a sincera desire for peace that has impressed even the Soviet leaders and has not pleased many in his own party, such as Senator Knowland, who make political music with a war-drum.

HE IS, DUE to these considerations, a valuable president in such a time of stress and conflict, in spite of trusted friends and subordinates who have specialized in saying the wrong thing at any time. ("Bird Dog" Wilson, "Brink of War" Dulles; and "Republican Supreme Court" Nixon, to name a few.)

Of all these factors he, more than any other man, is aware.

Is he indeed indispensable to his party? Is he indispensable to the nation and to the world? Is it possible that some of those who sing his praises want to ride into office on his popularity? Is another term worth the personal risk, the frustration, the bitterness, the boiling cauldron of politics?

Although I have disagreed with some of his policies and disapproved of the conduct of his administration, and cannot explain his fondness for Richard Nixon. I personally think the nation owes him much for tho many years he has spent in its service. The least it cao do for him now is let him make his weighty choice in peace, and grant him his retirement if he chooses it.

Wandering With Wiljohn

Silvery Satellite-Light And Roses

BY WILJOHN.

THIS COLUMN usually concerns itself with the popular song and, since nothing is as popular as the ordinary love ballad, I've become quite concerned with that lately.

Not that I'm going to go on the warpath against the popular love song now, oh no, you can breathe easy again. But I've been considering some of the problems of the composers and lyrists of pop music are going to run into with the advance of the more scientific and mechanical age.

For instance, right now there isn't anything unusual about a boy and girl going out and parking under tho light of the moon. But cen you imagine making love under a satellite? This business of parking end smooching, or (as it was known in our fore-fethers' days) "bundling," is the entire basis of the music trade at the present time. What's going to happen?

I mean, satellite doesn't at all rhyme with "June," you know. And such songs as "By The Light of the Silvery Satellite" would be an absolute bust on the market. Of course, under the very worst circumstances, one could pull something like:

"Hold me tight
Under the satellite."

But I wouldn't advise that unless the writer happens to be an extremely fast runner.

AS THE SATELLITE swings lower, there appeers among most people a pronounced tendency to duck. And you know what a bad job that can make of the ordinary good-night kiss. But you can't really be blamed for ducking, either. No one likes to be clouted in the rear of the skull smack in the middle of a good-night kiss (or "Good-Boys Reward," as it is sometimes known on campus).

Then, too, the instrumentalist will have to contend with a new electronic marvel which will reproduce eny sound to a better and more faithful degree than the original sound. Can you picture Art Tatum being closed up in favor of a machine that can play Art Tatum better than Art Tatum?

This machine will also reproduce the human voice into ranges far beyond the ability of the human vocal eord. That means that opera singers may haee six measure rests while the machine dubs in an unheard of cadenza and they just stand there moving their mouths. It may even come to the point of dressing the machines in Valkerie costumes end having the stage crew push them around stage.

THE TREND toward the unusual has even been exhibited in the titles and contents of some of the more recent LP's on sale. I saa one the other day entitled "Mrs Drew Pearson Hums John Phillip Sousa." And one of the larger companies plans to release en album soon called "The Vienna Boys Choir Whistles Dixie." I guess these are the signs of the times and it has even effected me. I just got an album I'm crazy about. It's called: "Music To Fight By" by Perry Como with Jackie Gleason's orch. And my theme song is now, "Satellite-light and Roses."

Students Air Views On Bowling And Segregation

(The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic, and provides this space for student opinion. The letters do not have to coincide with the views of the paper, but must be in good taste. Unsigned letters will not be printed, and names will not be withheld except in cases where the reasons are deemed adequate by the Editor. Letters should not exceed 250 words, or 25 typewritten lines.)

Protest Bowling Alley Abuses

TO THE EDITOR:

In the past two issues of the Flambeau there have been small editorials concerning league activities at the FSU Bowling Alley.

We, too, heve found the league situation more than just a little irritating. In fact, it is our opinion that we think something should be done about it as soon as possible.

It is the purpose of this letter to offer e few suggestions we think might prove worthwhile in future operations of the alley.

First of all, we do not think the leaguers are eharged enough. While we as students pay twenty cents per game, townspeople pay only a five cent premium to bowl on our elleys, in ather words, twenty-five cents a line. The townspeople are doing the university no favor by bowling on their alleys. We think they should pay more for such a privilege. To our knowledge, the bowling elley is the only university-sponsored recreational facility open to townspeople.

It is indeed unfortunate that nobody has had the foresight to build an alley downtown, but we do not think the unfortunate residents of Tallahassee should monopolize a university facility for four nights a week.

In our respective home cites of Sarasota and Bradenton, and in other cities in the Tampa Bay area, the standard rate is forty cents per line at all of the elleys. We do not think this rate is unreasonable, nor do we think it would be too outrageous a price for the Tallahasseeans to pay to use our alleys. Of course student bowling could remain at its present rete. As much as the leagues use the alleys the forty-cent games would increase the income of the alleys greatly. This extra income could be used to improve the alleys.

This past Saturday night we noticed numerous townspeople at the alley, no doubt practicing for the neat week's leagues. We did not investigate, but we wondered whether they paid the student rete or the twenty-five cent rate. Naturally, the proposed forty-cent rate would apply to Friday end Saturday nights as well as league nights.

Your editorial also mentioned make-up leagues on Fridays end Saturdeys. We think that leagues should be strictly limited to their regular four nights. Make-up leagues should be scheduled so as not to interfere with student nights. What about Saturday afternoon?

We hope the University Recreation Association will take some sort of action on this matter before the leagues take over OUR alleys completely.

YOURS TRULY
JEAN A. LEVINSON
W. H. HEFNER, JR.

Student Wishes "Open Minds"

TO THE EDITOR
AND MR. HORN:

There have been in the far and near past, and undoubtedly will be in the uncertain future, many comments made about the editorial page of our school newspaper. The trend of the times and affected whims of the day have beeo mirrored both in the columns presented end in the occasional responses of the student body.

Lately every student on campus has had set before him in every issue of the Florida Flambeau, a truly sincere plea for a bit of the students time for him to read thoroughly and thoughtfully of the situation facing us now, today. The Supreme Court, as the interpreter of our Constitution, made a decision. There are narrow-minded, selfish individuals who are opposing this decision in order to promote their own cause under the supposition of the superiority of their meager selves. These unflexible persons rant their nonsensical reasoning into the ear of the rest of the unconvinced nation.

FSU has a very definite reason to be proud of its newspaper, of the editor and writers; but, most of all, this school owes more than it can, or I fear will ever be able to repay to the staff that carries this real, factual segregation problem of the "outside world" into our own small, shiny clean minds.

Following is a verse that I submit "into the ring".

An Ode To The

PERSECUTORS
By BARBARA E. WYATT

Open your minds you pernicious scavangers of alabastered sensibilities,
And sleep not.
Open your eyes to the ruination of your station
And grovel with shame.
Take the myth of human dignity
Tear the story of human aims
Cry for the lost, pasted heritage
Beg a station egain higher than worms.
Sob, you slag of earths' great teeming centuries
Recognize vanity, greed and rot thet lies within yourselves,
Open your childish mind to the faults of your thinking
And sleep not, anywhere, ever.

Very sincerely,
BARBARA WYATT

Federal Ruling Over States'

TO THE EDITOR:

Many statements have been made concerning the Supreme Court's decision on Segregation. I believe, however that it is now time to inform the student about the basis of this ruling.

The ruling developed out of the case Brown vs. Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas. The Supreme Court ruled, basing its decision on the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, that segregation of white and Negro children in the public schools of a state solely on the basis of race, pursuant to stete laws permitting or requiring such segregation, denies to Negro children the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment—even though the physicel facilities and other "tangible" factors of white and Negro schools may be equal.

Article XIV, Section I of the Constitution states: All persons born or naturalized in the United States, are subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall ebridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall eny State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

The ruling by the Supreme Court is constitutional, end The War Between The States proved that Federal Law based upon the Constitution must prevail over State Law. To deny this would put us back into the position of thirteen sovereign states united under the Articles of Confederation.

JEROME BERNSTEIN

Poses Question To Segregationists

TO THE EDITOR:

Possessing no ability to express myself poetically, I am forced to resort to the feeble reasoning power of my mind in discussing the issue of segregation.

The recent issues of the Flambeau have proven thet all that is necessary to incite the emotions of the die-hard followers of Jefferson Davis is the mere use of the word "integration." The followers of Davis beck up their stand on segregation by appealing to prejudice or by asserting states rights over federel rights, a question which was settled ninety yeers ago.

To the supporters of segregation I esk the question: Give a reesonable argument supporting segregation thet does not contradiot the principles of God and Democracy, principles that stata all men to be ereated equal and all meo to have equal righte in pursuing an education?

ROBERT MELCHER

Came Here To Escape

TO THE EDITOR:

After 18 years in and around Chicago, Illinois, I came down here to FSU to escepe the schools in that area. After my experience of living for that length of time in intergrated schools I have only this to say about it. If you want FSU ruined as e school, just let the Negroes in.

If Con Horn is from the North, I say send him back there. If he is from the South I have a suggestion for him. That is, to go to Chicago and attend a few of those schools for a year (if he can stand it that long) and then tell me

(Continued to Page 4)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"WELL TELL HIM AGAIN — I'LL BE DOWN IN A MINUTE."

'See You Later Alligator', At 8 Tonight

FSU, Florida Finally Clash In Swim Meet

By DAVE EVANS
Flambeau Sports Writer

The Seminole mermen will get the opportunity tonight to do what all FSU athletic teams dream of doing, that is, playing and beating the University of Florida.

This will be the first time the two teams have met in dual competition although their paths have crossed many times in championship meets.

Four times in the past five years Florida has placed below FSU in the Georgia AAU tournament. Last year Florida State was first followed by the University of Florida.

Both teams are set on winning this meet because it is to be the start of a rivalry between the five Florida schools, not only in gymnastic, but in all sports.

FSU Coach B. M. Stultz is worried because of his team's reported shortness in depth. Florida stipulated in the contract that no freshmen swimmers would be used, giving the Gators a fourteen man advantage.

Coach Stultz commented, "Other teams we have met, including the other Southeast Conference members, have always swam freshmen, however Florida has agreed to swim against us only if freshmen be excluded from swimming varsity events."

Stultz continued, "It should be a good meet, the outcome of almost every event is in doubt."

The Gators will be led by all American diving champion Craig Pitts who will oppose FSU's Bill Rhodes and Bill Ponder.

Backstroke Man

Their backstroke man, George Dugans, a high school all-American, has won the SEC and Florida AAU 200 backstroke events in the past two years.

Bob Fisher, the Evansville Ga. breaststroke artist, is good in any event from the 50 yard to the 440 yard freestyle.

Rodger Ryan from Vero Beach will be used in the sprints along with Douglas Crytzer.

The Gators will probably concentrate much of their talent in running the relays, opined Coach Stultz.

In the 400 yard freestyle, Fisher, Reed, Crawley, and Crytzer will swim, if they follow their past strategy.

Coach Stultz has not disclosed the names of his men he will use tomorrow night.

Jacobs

Joel Jacobs is a safe bet to swim in his specialty, the breaststroke, and the measure is pretty sure that Jacobs will finish first, as Florida does not have anyone of his caliber in this event."

Don Lewis, FSU sophomore, is expected to have a tough battle with Florida's Fisher and Reed, in the freestyle.

Both teams have almost identical records with the Gators having one more victory, that against Miami. The two schools have posted victories over Georgia, SMU, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, and Vanderbilt.

The loss loss on the Stultz's and Gator's record was at the hands of TEXAS A&M.

In addition to the varsity meet, the Gators are bringing along their freshman team to swim against the Seminole frosh.

Diamond Slate Features Gator

With last Friday's release of the Florida State 1956 baseball schedule, it became apparent that Danny Litwhiler's diamond men are in for a tough season.

However, according to the head coach, the Seminoles are going to shoot the works. The season's opener pits Furman against the Tribe at the East Campus field, March 16, at 3:30 p.m.

This season will mark a few firsts in FSU baseball history. Among them will be the International Baseball Tourney and the first competition on the diamond between the Florida Gators and the Seminoles.

Although practice has been hampered by bad weather conditions, Litwhiler feels that the team is in good shape except for the pitchers who need more work.

Date	Team	Place
Mar 16	Furman	East Campus
Mar 17	Furman	East Campus
Mar 18	Ga. Teachers	East Campus
Mar 20	Ga. Teachers	East Campus
Mar 23	Fla. Southern	East Campus
Mar 24	Fla. Southern	East Campus
Mar 26	Indiana	East Campus
Mar 27	Indiana	East Campus
Mar 29-Apr 1	Florida State University Invitational Tournament: Brown, Illinois, North Carolina, North Dakota, Wyoming, Wisconsin	Host Campus: Doak Campbell Field
Apr 3	Wisconsin	Panama City, Fla
Apr 6	Florida	Gainesville, Fla
Apr 7	Florida	Gainesville, Fla
Apr 10	Florida	Gainesville, Fla
Apr 13	Clemson	Clemson, S.C.
Apr 20	Rollins	Tallahassee, Fla
Apr 21	Rollins	Tallahassee, Fla
Apr 24	Georgia	Athens, Ga
Apr 25	Georgia	Athens, Ga
Apr 26	Miami	East Campus
May 4	Ga. Teachers	Collegeboro, Ga
May 5	Ga. Teachers	Collegeboro, Ga
May 8	Georgia	East Campus
May 11	Rollins	Athens, Ga
May 12	Rollins	Conference Field
		East Campus

At first glance it might appear that Gary Wold (center) of Florida State is trying to catch the ball with his mouth but actually "Bonns" and Bob Williams (15) were battling for a rebound as the Seminoles downed Florida Southern, 92-74, Monday night.

Photo by Steve Kirk

ATO Takes Gridiron Intramural Title, 13-0

By M. L. WALTERS
Flambeau Intramural Writer

They did it again!

Alpha Tau Omega took the measure of Sigma Nu Tuesday night at Florida High Field by a score of 13-0 and became without question the 1956 fraternity football champions.

Those qualifying in Monday's events will compete in the finals at 4 p.m. Monday Feb. 27th.

Last year's champs were Phi Delta Theta and Senior Hall.

A man may enter 5 track and 1 field event, or 4 field and 1 track event.

Table Tennis

John Miller, DTD, and Leon Cutler, TEP, moved into the winner's bracket in the intramural table tennis this week.

Frank Bryan of PDT and Cecil Jones of LCA survived the 2nd round of the losers bracket and met Wednesday to decide a finalist.

Finals were held at West Hall last night, but results were not available at press time.

Sigma Nu dominated the first half and led in first downs 5-1 when the half ended with the score 0-0. Two punts by Sigma Nu that went dead on the 4 and 8 yard lines kept ATO on the defensive.

In the second half the ATO offense rolled, but it was the Bob Jones-and-Kelly combination that brought the points.

Jones broke loose in the middle of the third quarter and setting up the defense 45 yards for a touchdown. A pass, Jones to Kelly for the extra point made it 7-0.

In the fourth quarter ATO began a drive into ATO territory. A lateral-forward pass play sprung a receiver loose at the 10, when "Little-man Jones" sprinted out of nowhere to hat tick the ball with one hand and deflect it from the receiver, in what would have been a sure touchdown.

It was a game-saving play. For ATO then took over and a lateral Jones to Kelly, plus a forward from Kelly to Atwood scored the game-clinching touchdown with only two minutes to play.

The ATO-Bapist all-campus title game is at 6 p.m. at Florida High Field tonight.

Track

Attention all intramural managers!

All entries for the intramural track and field championships must be in the intramural office WC 4B before 4 p.m. today.

The intramural track and field trials will be held beginning at 4 p.m. Monday Feb. 20th on Florida High School Field. Both fraternity and dormitory-independent competition will be held.

Co-Ed Corner

by
Juanita Jacob

Basketball practices will end this week. The tournament begins Monday when the dormitories and sororities will play against each other. Games will be played Monday through Thursday.

Also badminton and ping pong are now being played. These activities provide enjoyment for the participants, and this is the main purpose for having such a program as intramurals.

One coming event that is not far off is the annual Sports Day. At this time various colleges play against each other in such activities as basketball, volleyball, softball, ping pong, tennis, and bowling. March 3 is the designated day this year for this event.

Colleges from Florida will be the participants. Anyone who is interested in any of these activities, may sign up in the lobby of the gym.

Cagers Out To Sew-Up FIBC Race

Photo by Steve Kirk

Florida Southern's Bill Wood (34) closes his eyes to avoid charging Bobby Williams of FSU in Monday night's game. Dick Armsiar (11) of FSU and John Spicuzza (55) of Southern look on.

The Press Table

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor
THE GATORS ARE HERE!

Tonight's the big night!

It's a dream come true for fans all over the state who have been plugging Florida-FSU athletic relations since last year, as the Seminoles' and Gators' swimming teams meet tonight here in the women's gym.

Few will deny that the Gators have gained a type of an advantage by denying Coach Bim Stutts the use of Freshmen in the meet. Why Florida would refuse the Tribe the use of Frosh when four other SEC schools didn't nobody can answer, but is unlikely on the other hand that Coach Stults could foresee such an outstanding crop of Freshmen when the meet was originally slated.

It's no secret that the Frosh, the G-Men (Charlie Gentry and Jerry Glancy) in particular, have been a major factor in the 6-1 mark which Stult's swimmers have posted thus far. So much so in fact, that some of the outstanding varsity men have in a way been somewhat secondary publicity-wise.

There are only seven of them performing tonight, and you can read their names elsewhere on this page It auffices to say here that the Gators are in for a fight.

It'll be close, but we like Florida State.

HATS OFF

Everybody knows Jimmy Oler, we're sure of that, but Monday night the fans got a good look at the Tribe's other good Ittie man.

Few people who saw the game will forget Oler's 32 points, in particular his 20 foul shots, but few also will forget the great defensive play of Tommy Garcia.

"Garc," a sophomore from Fort Myers, amazed the crowd with his defensive antics, stealing the ball innumerable times from Florida Southern's classy guard Dale Collins.

Garcia, at a mere 5-8, hasn't done much scoring this year, principally because he hasn't seen much action against the big boys because of his size.

Next year, Tommy would certainly seem one of the leading candidates for Oler's starting slot, but until then he will stick to the defensive side of the game, and you can bet that any team that gets careless is just liable to find the ball suddenly switching hands.

We'd be willing to bet that those hands will belong to Tommy Garcia.

Tribe Faces Southern, Stetson Away; Oler Adds To Records

By LARRY BLOCK
Flambeau Sports Editor

Florida State's cagers can ice their second consecutive FIBC championship with their forthcoming two road games tomorrow against Florida Southern and Monday at Stetson.

The FSC Moccasins will be out to avenge last Monday's 92-74 defeat at the hands of the Tribe.

A victory over the Mocs will guarantee the Tribe of at least a tie, regardless how they come out in their two remaining conference games.

"Stetson is really going to be a tough one," is the opinion of coach Bud Kennedy, "even though we did beat them quite handily earlier in the season."

The Miami Hurricanes had lost wind taken out of them by the Hatters, 91-84 at DeLand. Forward Mac Simms scored 27 points in pace the Hatters. Jim Kilchens chipped in 19.

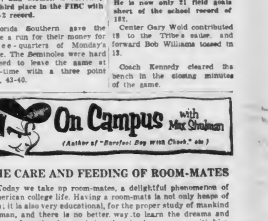
Center Frank Stokavic, 6-8, and the 6-4 Stones have a 12 point average in conference play, and Stetson is currently in third place in the FIBC with a 5-2 record.

Florida Southern gave the Tribe a run for their money for three quarters of Monday's game. The Seminoles were hard pressed to leave the game at half-time with a three point lead, 43-40.

Sparkplug

Sparkplug for the Moccasins was 6-3 Dale Collins who along with John Scicluna scored key baskets to keep them close. Scicluna was high scorer for Southern with 21 points.

Their leading scorer, Frank DeSarino, was held to nine points before fouling out with 11 minutes to play in the game.



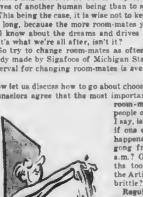
None of DeSarino's nine points were scored while he was guarded by Tommy Garcia. In addition, Garcia stole the ball numerous times, most of which led to scores by the Tribe.

Guard Jim Oler, FSU's all-America candidate, led in scoring with 32 points, as he continued to rewrite the school's record book.

The lanky guard now has 597 points for a 19.8 average. He is now only 71 field goals short of the school record of 187.

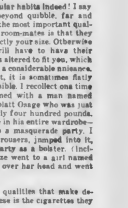
Center Gary Wold contributed 18 to the Tribe's cause, and forward Bob Williams tossed in 13.

Coach Kennedy cleared the bench the closing minutes of the game.



THE CARE AND FEEDING OF ROOM-MATES

Today we take up room-mates, a delightful phenomenon of American college life. Having a room-mate is not only heaps of fun; it is also very educational, for the proper study of mankind is man, and there is no better way to learn the dreams and drives of another human being than to share a room with him.



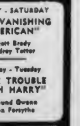
This being the case, it is wise not to keep the same room-mate too long, because the more room-mates you have, the more you will know about the dreams and drives of human beings. And that's what we're all after, isn't it?

So try to change room-mates as often as you can. A recent study made by Sigafoos of Michigan State shows that the best interval for changing room-mates is every four hours.

Now let us discuss how to go about choosing a room-mate. Most counselors agree that the most important thing to look for in room-mates is that they be people of regular habits. This, I say, is a errant nonsense. What if one of their regular habits happens to be besting a great gong from midnight to three a.m.? Or growing cultures in the tooth glass? Or reciting the Articles of War? Or peanut butter jelly?

Regular habits indeed! I say that beyond quibble, far and away the most important quality in room-mates is that they be exactly your size. Otherwise you will have to have their clothes altered to fit, which can be a considerable nuisance. In fact, it is sometimes flatly impossible. I recollect one time I roomed with a man named Trembiatt Osage who was just under seven feet tall and weighed nearly four hundred pounds. There wasn't a blessed thing I could wear in his entire wardrobe—until one night when I was invited to a masquerade party. I cut one leg off a pair of Trembiatt's trousers, jumped into it, sewed up both ends and went to the party as a baloter. (Incidentally, I took second prize. First prize went to a girl named Antonia Wilkins who poured molasses over her head and went as a candied apple.)

But I digress. Let us get back to the qualities that make desirable room-mates. Not the least of these is the cigarettes they smoke. When we borrow cigarettes, do we want them to be harsh, shoddy, and disdainful of our palates? Certainly not! What, then, do we want them to be? Why, we want them to be gentle, delicately-reared, and designed to suit the tempo of today's broader, easier life! And what cigarette is gentle, delicately-reared, and designed to suit the tempo of today's broader, easier life? Why, Philip Morris, of corris! (I'll bet you knew it all the time!)



To go on. In selecting a room-mate, take great pains to find someone who will wear well, whom you'd like to keep as a permanent friend. Many of history's great friendships first started in college. Are you aware, for example, of the remarkable fact that Johnson and Boswell were room-mates at Oxford in 1712? What makes this fact so remarkable is that in 1712 Johnson was only three years old and Boswell had not been born yet. But, of course, children matured much earlier in those days. Take Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, who wrote his first symphony at the age of four. Or Titian, who painted his first masterpiece at five. Or Hans Otto McGrath, who was in many ways the most remarkable of all; he was appointed chief of the Copenhagen police department at the age of six.

(It must be admitted, however, that the appointment was less than a success. Criminals roamed the city, robbing and looting at will. They knew young McGrath would never pursue them; he was not allowed to cross the street.)

Elliot Shulman, 1956

The makers of Philip Morris, who sponsor this column, cordially invite you and your room-mate to try today's new, gentle Philip Morris. It's always welcome!

GO TO
BILL'S BOOK STORE
for
Art Supplies
College Outlines
etc.
BILL'S
BOOK STORE

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
ENDS SATURDAY
"HELEN OF TROY"
Rossana Podesta
Sir Cedric Hardwicke
Sunday - Wednesday
"THE BOTTOM OF THE BOTTLE"
Van Johnson, Joseph Cotten
Ruth Roman
PERRY HIGHWAY DRIVE-IN
ENDS SATURDAY
"The Purple Mask"
Tony Curtis - Colleen Miller
—plus—
"Strange Lady in Town"
Greer Garson
Dana Andrews
Sunday - Monday
"Betrayed"
Clark Gable - Lana Turner
Victor Mature

STATE
FRIDAY - SATURDAY
"THE VANISHING AMERICAN"
Scott Brady
Audrey Totter
Sunday - Tuesday
"THE TROUBLE WITH HARRY"
Edmund Gwenn
John Forsythe
CAPITOL DRIVE-IN
ON WOODVILLE HWY.
ENDS SATURDAY
"Robbers Roost"
George Montgomery
—plus—
"Gangbusters"
Sunday - Monday
WALT DISNEY'S
"The Vanishing Prairie"

RITZ—ENDS SAT.—"THE GREEN SCARF"
Michael Redgrave, Lea Seon, Ann Todd
SUN. - MON.—"PARIS EXPOSE"—Claude Rains, Marta Toren

Buy Your Films
have them developed
at
the most convenient store
CHEVET'S
Corner of College
and Adams
the best assortment
of Cameras and
Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

Most likely to succeed—
in more ways than one

His name is Sand from his prof, not only for sinking the most buckets, but also for borrowing how to pick his clothes. This Arrow University button-down shirt is beautifully tailored gingham in an authentic miniature, $5.95—also available in oxford cloth (choice of nine colors), $5.00.

When worn together with Arrow chino slacks, (pleatless front and back strap) they mark the influential guy on campus. Slacks, $5.95.

ARROW
—first in fashion
SHIRTS • TIES • SLACKS

Speakers Discuss Negro, Press In Campus Talks

Editor Defends Record Of Press

A Tallahassee editor presented a staunch defense of the role of the press in Florida politics during a speech before the Politics Club Wednesday night.

Malcolm Johnson, executive editor of the Tallahassee Democrat, declared that Florida "has probably the best coverage in the United States of a state legislature.

"I know that visiting newsmen from other states are amazed at the concentration of reporters in our state legislature," he said.

During his discussion, Johnson tried to pinpoint the difficulties confronting newspapermen in their attempts to report the news. Their job, he said, is to "inform the public, fearlessly and fairly, about the things going on in they government . . . By and large, I think the Florida press has done a good job in living up to this responsibility."

In the Presidential election of 1952, which he used as an example, Johnson said that most Florida papers favored Eisenhower, but the majority of news and picture coverage was of Stevenson.

"I think that's fair presentation," he stated.

Johnson defined the major shackle placed on newsmen in their quest for news as "the difficulty in finding the truth." He explained that there almost never exists a "black and white, right or wrong" answer to an issue.

He denounced "the half-truth, the distortion—particularly when it is thrown off by politically irresponsible persons. Na press in the United States has found a method of dealing with the demagogue or even a sure-fire method of catching them before it is too late," he declared.

Going on to other problems of newspapers, Johnson set forth the difficulty in getting people to "accept the truth." He lamented the fact that newspapers send out their trained reporters to find the truth, "and people call it 'newspaper talk'."

This problem is increased, he maintained, by politicians who "can't get off the hook" and "as the newspapers are undermining the American way of life."

"But where do we read of this charge against papers?" Johnson asked. "In the newspapers!"

"I'm not saying that every newspaper is this way—fair and unbiased—," he explained, "but almost every editor I know agrees with my beliefs. In Florida, at least, and I think the rest of the country, the press is keenly aware of its responsibility and is always striving to improve its methods."

But I Studied French!—might well be the reaction of students confronted with the unfamiliar menu. It's Icelandic. Daniel Petursson Jr., left, and Birgir Karlsson, both juniors in restaurant and hotel management from Reykjavik, Iceland, are preparing a dinner for 40 professors and fellow students, to be served tonight.

In Grecian Times

KA, SAE Pledges To Run Marathon Event Saturday

By CHARLET POITEVINT

The KAs and the SAEs are challenging each other in a big marathon race tomorrow. The pledges will do the running, a half-mile each, from half way to Quincy to the Wescott Pool.

"There should be quite a few dunked pledges for the losing team. The prize guarantees that the winner's thirst will be quenched, but, chances are, so will the loser's.

All kinds of shenanigans have been going on with Greek initiations scheduled in the near future.

"Air Raid" was played by the Kappa Sig pledges the other day. Charlie Sizer relates how he had to carry a box brick, and run-runs around. When a brother yelled "air raid" he had to drop the brick in the box and search the skies through the binoculars provided for the approaching planes.

Another day the pledges carried foot-high pledge pins and loaves of french bread. Those poor souls were George Otter, Tom Stromboe, Jim Scott, Dick Freso, Dan Well, Leroy Scott, Richard Kure, Charlie Christian, Bert George Favors, Dave Solomon and Bill Johnson.

Phi Mu

Five Phi Mu pledges moved into the house seven weeks ago and one says they have been under "persecution" ever since. The other night they were "asked" to sing "My Phi Mu Lady" . . . including Gussie Lee Edwards. Guess they will hold out until initiation.

The Phi Delts gave a "Suppressed Desire" party Saturday night with many guests from other fraternities attending.

On Valentine's night the PDTs gave for Phi's a party. Afterwards Faye Anthony was serenaded and presented a box of Valentine candy to honor her as Phi Delta Theta Sweetheart.

Phi Delt

From the Phi Delt house again . . . "Bashful and Shy" is one of the songs they will sing in the Campus Sing. It's a new number written by Bob Robinson, son of Penn State and the U. of F. . . . New pledges are Bob Caton, Don Chappell, Don Masters, John Neville, and Gil Smith.

New wearers of the Alpha Tau Omega pledge pin are Tommy Munson, Bob Casteel, Gary Landrum, Ted Williams, Mac Welchum, Frank Clayton, Marshall Hicks, Clay Cosburn, George Jones, Henry Conley, and Bob Fitzpatrick.

Delta Gamma

The Delta Gammas rented a cabin at Lake Bradford last weekend. Since they don't have a house at the present time, it was an opportunity for an informal get-together.

DGs who were honored recently are Jane Chapman and Margaret Ann Ballinger, new members of Garnet Key, and Jackie Loper, Jennie Murphree Valentine Dance Court member.

Those Sigma Nus must think of nothing but food! Last week it they had a hamburger fry at the house and a stag fish fry at Lake Bradford. With their appetites satiated they returned to campus to serenade the Delta Gamma.

'Jim Crow' New, Historian States

"Jim Crow" practices were not always the way of the South, a Florida State University historian declared Tuesday night.

Segregation laws and Negro disenfranchisement were retribution for many Negroes having supported the Populist Party and other liberal farmers' elements toward the end of the 19th century, said Dr. Weymouth Jordan, head of the history department.

He was a memeber of a panel discussing "The Nesro In American Society." Other panel members were Dr. Paul J. Piccard, political science; Dr. William P. Dillingham, economics; and Dr. John L. Haer, sociology. Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary, sponsored the panel.

'Shallow Knowledge'

Those who attribute the current "Jim Crow" laws to disgruntled Confederate veterans betray "shallow knowledge," the historian asserted, saying that politics in the 1890's were the key factor.

'FEUDIN' THEME OF WESLEY DANCE

"Feudin' and Fussin'" is the theme of the square dance at the Wesley Foundation Friday night at 8.

Sunday morning one of the Intellifest Faith Week speakers, Dr. David Graybeal, will be on the program with Jane Soper as student leader. Because of the IF Week general program, there will be no fellowship at the foundation Sunday evening.

Monday and Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 4, Rabbi Gerber will lead a Seminar at the foundation on "Is Religion an Elective?"

Examining the government's role in relation to "a very large number of American citizens who are Negroes," Dr. Piccard maintained the question is whether the government can practice or support "discrimination."

He said that in voting, military service, education, housing, employment practices, and recreation the trend is toward Negro equality.

Cites Decision

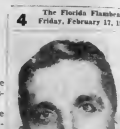
As an example, he noted the Supreme Court decision that courts cannot enforce private agreements not to sell real estate to Negroes.

Any person, he said, can practice discrimination. "In the public capacity," however, "the state does not have this freedom."

The Fourteenth Amendment, under which school segregation was declared unconstitutional, "is as much a part of the Constitution as the First Amendment, the political scientist declared. "I see no way to escape the intent and purpose of the 14th Amendment, whether I like it or not."

American Negroes are slowly emerging from a low economic position including little participation in the professional, management, and official occupations, declared Dr. Dillingham.

Demands Of Industry



The demands of industry created by World War II were an opportunity for Negroes, especially as a disproportionate number had been idled by the depression, he explained. Reconversion to peace brought "no major downgrading," he continued.

The income of the average Negro family has risen to 55 per cent of the income of the average white family, from a 38 per cent comparison in 1940, Dr. Dillingham stated.

Won't React

Dr. Haer said sociologists believe that people will not necessarily react to a social change such as integration—as they say they will. Much depends on the statements of leaders with prestige who will use the law to prevent violence or exhortations to violence, he maintained.

He noted that Texas, Louisiana, Virginia, and North Carolina are among states who have integrated some parts of their public educational systems without the violence that was predicted or threatened by individuals.

Rev. J. Harry Haines

Rev. Haines will be among class speakers during Intellifest Faith Week. See story page one.

Scandinavina Is Topic Of 'Hour'

(See Picture, Page One)

English Coffee Hour will feature a talk on Scandinavian culture today by Dr. Chester Nielsen, Associate Professor of Botany.

Dr. Nielsen will speak on the little known facts concerning Denmark and Norway at 4 p.m. in the Westminster House. This will be illustrated with colored slides taken by the doctor during the four months he spent there.

It was as a result of attending the Eighth International Botanical Congress at Paris in 1954 that Dr. Nielsen had the opportunity to visit the two Scandinavian countries.

Dr. Nielsen, who has instructed at Chicago Junior College, Northwestern, DePaul, and University of Chicago, acquired his BS at University of Chicago. MS at Northwestern, then returned to Chicago for his Ph.D. He has done much writing in the botanical field.

He is a member of various botanical societies, while honoraries include Sigma Xi, Phi Sigma and Fellow of American Assn. Advancement of Science.

Dr. Nielsen, who has been here since 1944, teaches classes in biology, genetics, and graduate courses in botany.

Letters

(Continued from Page 2)

he wants FSU to become like those schools.

Let's come down here to get away from de-segregation, and now I have people like Connie Horn asking me to swallow what I'm running away from. I think there are enough people on this Campus that are white and intend on staying that way.

BONNIE THOMSON

WESLEY PLANS SQUARE DANCE

Wesley Foundation will hold an informal square dance called by Dr. William Tait of the recreation department Friday, Feb. 17.

Race Relations Sunday will be observed this week by a speaker Sunday morning and the Matins theme of brotherhood. Matins are Mondays, Wednesday, and Friday mornings at 7:30.

HAVE YOUR CAR WASHED
—Only $1.00—
9 a.m. — 5 p.m. Saturday
—at the—
Baptist Student House
602 W. CALL

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

Cool FOUNTAIN FEATURES
Serving You
Good Food
The MECCA

THESE ARE FOR YOU! LUCKY DROODLES!

FAMOUS LAST WORDS OF BEEF-SEA DEVER
Harold Tarrant
U. of Pennsylvania

EGGS FEELS BY MODERN ARTIST
A. Hanna
Amherst

GOLF SOCKS (18 HOLES)
Vernon Axelrauer
U. of Colorado

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

Students! EARN $25.00
Eat yourself in on the Lucky Strike "Droodle" game. We pay $25 for all we use—and for a whole raft we don't use! Send your Droodle (original) on a postcard to Lucky Strike, include your name, address, college and class and the name and address of the dealer in your college town from whom you usually purchase most often. Address Lucky Droodle, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

LUCKY STRIKE
"IT'S TOASTED"
CIGARETTES

SNOWED UNDER? Give yourself a Lucky break. Day time or date time, book time or bull time, a Lucky always tastes better. That's because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco—mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. See for yourself—light up a Lucky. And check that Droodle above: Squad of camouflaged snow troops taking Lucky break. Get the drift? Get with it! Get Luckies!

DROODLES, Copyright 1953 by Roger Price

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER—Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!
©A.T.Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — "AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES"

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young manager handles finances for $40,000,000 business

General Electric is made up of more than 90 product departments that operate as individual "businesses"—each conducting its own legal, financial, manufacturing, engineering, marketing and research activities.

One of the most important of these businesses is the Technical Products Department that makes broadcasting and communications equipment and semi-conductor devices. Responsible for managing the finances of this $40 million business is Robert H. Platt.

Platt's Work Is Important, Responsible

In the next ten years, the Technical Products Department is expected to reach the $100 million mark—more than doubling its present size. This is a big job. And it requires Platt to keep tabs on everything from tax, cost, and general accounting to payrolls, budgets and measurements, credits and collections, and internal auditing.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

Experience gained in the Business Training Course and as a traveling auditor gave Platt a variety of financial experience. Like each of our 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given the freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

ROBERT H. PLATT joined G.E. in 1951 after receiving his B.S. at Colgate University. He served 2 years in the Navy, attaining the rank of Lieutenant (j.g.). He is also a graduate of G.E.'s Business Training Course.

Progress Is Our Most Important Product
GENERAL ELECTRIC

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

THIRD HERD
Plays Here
(See Page One)

Vol. XLI, No. 32 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Tuesday, February 21, 1956

Campus Chest Raises $3600 At Last Count

Two Scholarships Are Established For FSU Students

A total of $3,604.64 has been raised so far by Campus Chest, chairman Mary Fenn Lawhon announced yesterday.

A new plan put into effect this year is the allocation of $50 for two scholarships to be awarded to Florida State University students, she said. The scholarships will be given to students of any religion on the basis of need and grades" beginning next Fall.

In addition, further grants of $50 will be given to the International Christian University in Japan; $100 to Leonard Wood Institute Foundation and $15 for Alcohol Chest promotion. All of these allocations will be subtracted from the total funds before the percentage deductions are made, she said.

Remainder Given

The remaining funds at the end of the year will be allocated on the following percentage basis: World University Service or cerebral palsy, 6; hearing aid, 9; polio, 8; T. B., 8; mental health, 8; cancer, 8; and emergency fund, 10 percent. The latter fund, said Miss Lawhon, will be used for students here on the campus who need help or assistance in case of an in case of fire or accident.

Two Features

The two main features of this year's allocation" she said, "are the Scholarship and Emergency funds. These, when awarded will be a gift, and not to be paid back.

The reasoning behind this was to use a percentage of the funds for which the student body worked so hard on the campus so that students might see visible results of their efforts."

Photograph by Laird Andrews

Outgoing Chairman—Fred Mansfield shakes hands with Hank McCann, left, and Art Moore right. McCann and Moore were elected new Blue Party vice-chairman and Chairman, respectively, at a convention Thursday night.

Herman's '3rd Herd' Plays In Westcott Hall Tomorrow

Woody Herman and his "big, modern, jazz band" the Third Herd, are expected to play to a capacity audience tomorrow night in Westcott.

Two performances are scheduled for the group, at 7 and 8:45 p.m. According to a ticket office spokesman, the general admission tickets have been moving fast but some are still available today for 75 cents.

Alpha Tau Omega is sponsoring the program under the chairmanship of Rex Brinkhaus. Proceeds from the event will go to Campus Chest in the name of the fraternity.

Herman and his Herd recently played a record breaking series of engagements on the Pacific Coast. Called the "most versatile band ever led by Herman" the Herd won the Downbeat poll to add to their honors.

Of the Third Herd, Wood said that he "has the smoothest, most exciting band in the business today."

In The Woody Herman Herd, that will play here tomorrow night.

Woody Herman's effort to play good music has payed off according to the critics as well as fans. On a European tour in 1954 a British critic said, "At last we have heard a truly great American Band."

Started In '55

The Third Herd was organized about three years ago. The Second Herd, though successful, had broken up because of the high salaries of the music business. After it disbanded, Herman unhappily kept various small combos with his clarinet and sax until he got an opportunity to put together the Third Herd together.

Now the talent was attracted and the band was designed to play the finest dance music as well as good jazz, but always modern in conception. This is the band

Bob Martin of Down Beat, magazine of the Third Herd described, "This band took off like a varsity team awaking an undefeated season ... there is a rebirth of the band business right before our ears. George Simon of Metronome wrote: "An astounding, jumping, versatile, thrilling band."

Some of the most successful recordings by Woody and his herds were "Laura" as well as time best seller, "Caldonia, Apple Honey," "Keen and Peachy," and "Early Autumn."

Since Woody Herman founded the present Third Herd in 1952 he has been on the top of the musical heap, praised as a great contributor to the jazz field.

When asked why he continues to go out on tour making one night stands, Woody said it was because of the kids that come along. He said that their enthusiasm alives him the incentive to go on.

ATO Committee members of the project are Bob Cohen Tom Sawyer, Guy Milner and Verle on Edger.

Annual Campus Dance Slated Friday

Tickets Now Being Sold

Tickets are now on sale for the Campus Sing formal dance, to be held Friday night from 9 to 12 in the Suwannee Room.

At $1 a couple they can be obtained from any member of Sigma Alpha Iota or Phi Mu Alpha, Campus Sing sponsors, or at the door, Skag Isleta, at an emsi sponsor, may only be bought at the door.

The 13-piece Commodore band will provide the music for the affair, which is the first Campus Sing dance to be organized in the history of FSU. Any special lighting effects must be arranged through Hal Poe. Late permission for the women will be given, it was announced.

An event of the evening will be a gala floor show, said Louise McClure. Trophies for first place male and female groups and plaques for second and third places will also be presented. This is also the first time in the history of Campus Sing that second and third place awards are being given.

Receive Recordings

First place winners will also receive recordings of their performance. All preliminaries and final performances will be taped so that each organization may purchase a recording if it so desires.

Chairman Sara Saliaris up until the time of the dance, the awards will be announced at the Variety Book Store along with a scrapbook displaying winners of previous Sings.

Preceding the dance, the Sing itself will be held in Westcott Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Preliminaries will be charged. Three male and three female groups will compete in the finals.

Preliminaries Set

Preliminaries are scheduled for Thursday night in Westcott at 7 p.m. except for the Phi Alpha trophy are Sigma Chi, led by Neil Sanders and singing "Serenade of Sigma Chi" and "No Man Is An Island"; Lambda Chi Alpha, led by Harrison Turner, singing "Story Of Man's Brotherly and "It I Had A Million." Pi Kappa Alpha singing for the first time and led by Robert Baden, singing some "Oh Susanna" medley and "Ode To The Garnet And Gold"; Kappa Alpha Rho, led by Sandy Sanders and singing "Laura", and "There's Nothin' Like A Song"; Alpha Chi Omega, conducted by Sidney Wells, singing "St. Louis Blues" and a medley of "Dardanella" and "Sweet Phi Delta Theta, led by Paul Ort, singing "Ballad And Shy" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Securities

Sororities will vie for the Sigma Alpha Iota cup are Alpha Xi Delta, led by Carol Hannah, singing "A Shepherd's Time" and "Come Back To Me"; Delta Gamma, conducted by Charlaine Weeks, singing "Sometimes I'm Happy" and "Only Forever"; Phi Mu Delta Zeta, led by Martha Sue Mizell, singing "Love Is A Many Splendor man", Gamma Phi Beta, led by June McCaskill, singing "Looking At The Moon" and "Ballad Of Anson Of The Moon"; Alpha Gamma Delta, led by Dorothy Dickerson, singing "Get Happy" and "Bye Bye Blues"; Phi Omega, led by Jean Tedder, singing "Dancing In The Dark" and "I Go Rhythm."

Also, Chi Omega led by Bettie Jane Woodward, singing "Rodger And Hammerstein" medley; Kappa Delta Gamma, led by Sandra Smith, singing "La Harrote" and "Will You Remember"; Alpha Omicron Pi, conducted by Lynn Shirley doing "Mood Indigo" and "Blue Skies"; Delta Delta Delta, led by Beverly Brown, singing "With A Song In My Heart" and "Alice Blue Gown"; Phi Mu, led by Jean Jordan, singing "When Da Is Done" and "I Love Little Billie"; Alpha Chi Omega, led by Terrys

Carole Redfern, singing "Clap Yo Hands" and "In The Shill Of The Night"; Sandy Dickerson, singing Jean Bernheim, doing "KD Medley" and "American Dream"; and Kappa Alpha Rho, led by Martha Benson, singing "Happy Hulk" and "Young And Foolish."

Dorms Participate

Dormitories participating are Reid, Gamble, entering for the first time, led by Barbara Cooper, singing "Sentimental Journey" and "I Wish"; Jennie Murphree, led by Louise McClure, singing "Come To The Fair" and "Softly As A Morning Sunrise" and Reynolds, led by Nancy Carlson, singing "I Loved You" and "Surry With A Fringe On Top".

Dormitories, fraternities, sororities, or any other non-music organization, may sponsor a group, providing it is not a mixed chorus.

Contestants will be judged on blend of voices, pitch, rhythm, dynamics, phrasing, balance, going, interpretation, stage setting, audience appeal, appearance, and technical difficulty of selection.

Campus Sing—Planning committee confers on last-minute changes on Sing preparations. L. to r. are Karl Mohr, Louise McClure, Carole Ann Nydegger, Gwen Cooper and Ralph Nolen.

Beasa Is In

Campus Sing was begun on this campus in the spring of '46. As a sensing event on many university campuses throughout the nation, its counterpart in Florida is the University of Miami's "Songfest And capacity crowds.

"One of the best-attended functions sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota," said Dr. Wiley Housewright of the School of Music "there have always been Chi took the men's trophy.

Photo by Dick Parks

Two Hundred FSU Interns Leave Campus March 12

Two hundred and one FSU Carol Ann Wells, Janet Faye students will so be leaving for various parts of the state to start their internship, dating from March 12 through May 4, 1956. These students and the respective counties in which they will intern are:

ALACHUA COUNTY

Lioks Abrano, Carol Faulkner, Kristina Stahl, and Marion Stephenson.

BAY COUNTY

Florence Bridges, Helen Bulger, Ronald Langston, Devayn McCrimmon, Ann Wisenbaugert, and Shirley Yates.

BROWARD COUNTY

Shirley Borrell, Carole Ann Harris, and Florence Jackson.

CALHOUN COUNTY

Candace Jones.

DADE COUNTY

Sidney Jonnson, Carolyn Pearson, Eugene Turano, Mary Anne Turpin, Dora May Wardlow, Sue Allen, Nancy Ann Carroll, Barbara Ann Cooper, Germaine Murray, Ann Jean Pruitt, Virginia Sisney, Margaret Tomberlin, and Mary Ann Mac Vicar.

DUVAL COUNTY

Winifred Cannon, Irene Cress, Mary Jane Davis, Mary Sarah Fletcher, and Theodocia Freeman, Gretchen Kitchoff, Peak Biven, Frances Brunson, Greta Larsen, and Esther Peals.

ESCAMBIA COUNTY

Mary Brevelle Margaret Cary, Ann Catherine Nelson Clement Nelson, Patricia Parlpoon, and Osmond Sharpless.

GADSDEN COUNTY

Harry Bell, Gene Belser, Barbara Bullock, Jimmy Dolan, Leonard Swantic, and John Taylor.

GULF COUNTY

Max Kilbourn

HIGHLANDS COUNTY

Wilson Turner.

HILLSBOROUGH COUNTY

Anita Alberetti, Betty Bowman, Lucy Council, Mrs Martha Dixon, Kathleen Hamilton, Agnes Hanrahan, Dinha Perez, Pat Perez Marilyn Sheffield, Loretta Armstrong, Betty Ruth Beneche Mildred Carlton, Thomas Crenshaw, Ira Hubbard, Mona Lee McKelvey, Nancy Nelson, Aubrey Odom, Betty Padgett, William Pharris, Claudia Smith, Emily Stephens, Frank Valdes and Abel Whitfield.

JACKSON COUNTY

Margaret Miller, Mary Branch, Sarah Fletcher, and Theodocia

LAFAYETTE COUNTY

Elizabeth Edwards

LAKE COUNTY

Nancy Rumbley, James Atkinson, and Mary Edwards.

LEON COUNTY

Richard Artimer Charles Ashley, Sylvia Van Britt, Emma Beck, Roy Carter, Betty Funk, Dale Wesimore, Betty Jane Woodward, Pat Baker, Janet Graff, Katherine Panos, Laquita Renfroe, Mrs. June Wilson Patricia Wrona Sandra Zevin, Frankie Harrison, Jerry Jacobs, Joseph Kauta, Mrs Wylene Lapinski, Don Powell, Avery Vaughn, Amelia Vause, Hugh Watson, Thomasina Wells ,Lorita Hamrick, Jra Lizenbach, Regina Stalford, Nancy Keel, Barbara Asbury, Helen Carothers, Julia Clark Helen McClain, Edwin Cargill, Prezy Ann Fernald, Barbara Hughes, John Kreimeyer, Thomas Robertson.

Mary Stewart, Dous DePuy, Helen Odom, Betty Jo Hyatt, Beth Krarger, Mrs. Elizabeth Maxwel, Ed Pernell, Dick Lee, Alle McCoy Billy Odom, Al Pittman, Judith Rehard, Russell Wilson Ed Wurstbach, Barbara Bazadian Ikey Cubirth, Merlina Brooks, Betty Voorhees, Muriel Fielding, and June Yates

ORANGE COUNTY

Barbara Christman, Frank Hearn, Anne Printup, Audry Carlton, Virginia Cobb, Shirley Dallas, Mary Pain, Elizabeth Parrigon, Dorothy Jean Ford, Joan Tavel, and Nina Wadsworth.

PALM BEACH COUNTY

Joanne Anderson, Valdeen Banks, Dorothy Watkins Barbara Wilf, Claire Neill, and Barbara Rymki

PASCO COUNTY

Betty Cox. FBLA president, will preside

PINELLAS COUNTY

Barbara Ann Heiler, Dardie Lillian Delegal, Mary Jo Gribnia, Helen Heralifeh Christine Lambert, Constance Lutig, Corinne Mason Barbara McCullough, Mary Dorothy Pettengill, Margaret Wooten, Robert Elliott, Catherine Prechelin, Sally Ann Russell, Shirley Reynolds, William Hardin Lequita Johnson, Kathy Kirby, Florence Lowe, Carole Nydeager Donna Ritter John Torney, and Yvonne Weidman

POLK COUNTY

Mary Ann Humphreys Prezy Gail Morrow Dorothy Shuler, Patricia Ann Wyatt, and Gordon Tillery

ST. LUCIA COUNTY

Barbara Ann Vickers

SARASOTA COUNTY

Bill Darlrymple, Wayne Lewis Erin McCawley and Richard Thierry.

SUWANNEE COUNTY

Dwight Cullum and Gena

(Continued on Page 6)

Prexy Criticizes Status Quo Talk

By Downes

Assertions that student government is merely in a position of "status quo" were declared as "plain poppycock nonsense" by Student Body President Coyte Moore Jr., yesterday.

"We have made more progress this fall than in any other year in the past," said the president in a written answer to Jim Brown of Jim E Moore's keynote speech to the State Party convention Thursday. In response to his candidacy for president, Moore, who is also backed by the President Moore, and the Student Party has been "active working for years in student affairs and is in a position of status quo."

Student government this year has succeeded in proving that a majority of the students that are formerly did not behave" the president replied. For example, a committee formed traffic committee now functions while regular rules for the campus."

Increased Activity

President Moore also cited increased student activity fee refunds, work on a new physical plan building, the beginning of athletic competition with the University of Florida, and a successful recommendation for a new day of Christmas holidays among accomplishments of this year's Student Government.

Student govarnment has shown this year that it is capable of assuming greater responsibility and as a result has had a very successful and encouraging voice in University policies he declared.

Won't Advance

"Student government will not continue to gain power if student officials — senators, Cabinet members, or otherwise — make irresponsible and unfounded statements.

A consultation of our student government with those of other universities show that we are not out in front, in most instances. I think that students in general will look at the facts and realize that outstanding progress has been made"

HOME EC. CLUB MEETS

There will be a called meeting of the Home Economics Club for members interesting in the Science Building, room 204, at 5:30 p.m.

CAMPUS SING HEADS MEET

Official heads of committees working on Campus Sing will hold an important meeting tonight at 5 p.m. in 218 Music Building, McClure, publicity chairman, said.

Reserve Forces Act To Affect Male Students

By JEROME BERNSTEIN

Passage of the Reserve Forces Act of 1955 which in mandatory training provisions affects the immediate future of almost every male college student for the next several years.

Reserve Training goes back to the Revolutionary War in the role of the Colonial Militia. The early successes of the Militia at Concord, Lexington, and Bunker Hill proved that victory without proper preparation and organized training was costly and illusive. It was only after months of training at camps like Valley Forge that the citizen-soldier was assured of final success.

At the outbreak of the War of 1812 the Regular Army contained approximately 6 700 men The citizen-soldier was called upon again, but again it took months of training before he was ready for successful fighting. The Mexican War, in which two-thirds of the troops consisted of militia and volunteers, was the same story

Taming Of The West

The Civil War proved to be the turning point in the progress of an Organized Reserve. In 1862, the Morrill Act was passed by Congress which provided grants of land for educational institutions where military science and tactics were included in the curriculum. This act was hooed, would provide officers to lead and train the new recruits ments being organized In 1888 similar assistance was extended to secondary schools.

It wasn't, however, until the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916 that the first comprehen-

(Continued on Page 4)

Male Housing Now Available

Any men students who live off campus have been urged by the Office of the Dean of Men to leave their correct address with the Registrar's office.

Students who have changed addresses since Registration should report to the desk in the Registrar's office, but in the Office of the Dean of Men and in Personal Records, emphasizes Dr James Carr, Associate Dean of Men.

He explained that in case of emergencies, the University should be apt to know where to find all men students who live off campus, and not only from the address they buy it from us before it is delivered in Tallahassee.

Queen, Court Judged Today

Miss FSU and her court will be chosen tonight.

The Tally Ho beauty queen and her six attendants will be judged in person tonight at 8 in Longmire's Friday.

The 68 contestants will appear before the judges in sports clothes such as Bermuda shorts, skiing and sweaters and pedal pushers, revealed Cec Horn, managing editor of the yearbook.

Judges for the contest are Dr. Adolph Bell, of the art department, Dr. Claude Flory, of the English department; Don Reidel, publicity director; Oscar Johnson, managing editor of the Flambeau and James Jim Broderick, editor of the Tally Ho.

Although the queen and her court will be chosen tonight, she will not be revealed until publication of the 1956 Tally Ho. The contest is closed to the public.

By personal appearance before the judges, instead of photographs, contestants can be chosen on the basis of both phonogenic qualities and on personal appearance and poise, explained Horn.

Student Party Getting Ready

Karl Edwards, chairman of the Student Party, has announced that the party is now being organized for the student body elections to be held later this year.

Students interested in working for the party in any capacity should contact either Karl Edwards at 2-4511, Ruth Williams at 3-2625, or Joan Harmon at 3-1739.

Since most of the committee chairmen and committee members will be appointed before Friday of this week, it is essential that the above people be contacted as soon as possible, emphasized Edwards.

FBLA Convention Set During Week

Future Business Leaders of America will hold a convention here to culminate Business Education and Secretarial Science Week of the Career Emphasis series.

FBLA will sponsor the sixth annual convention to be held at Florida State University Friday and Saturday. According to State Chairman Howard Abel over 200 students, representing 20 high school chapters, are expected to attend.

Friday's schedule includes registration, installation of exhibits, a business meeting where state officers will be nominated, and a tour of Tallahassee.

Activities for Saturday feature group discussion in the following Building. Subjects are Secretarial Science Training for Interest, and Money-Making Projects with Miss Lois Fraser of Bass; Miss Emma Jean Smith, and Mrs. Agnes Smith respectively presiding.

Further activities include luncheon; pictures "The Right Touch" and "Electric Typing Time," a spelling relay, the judging of exhibits and scrapbooks by members of the art department faculty, a student impressions demonstration and a business meeting where Miss field at Ext. 4781.

FSU Organizations Must Fill Out Form

All organizations and fraternities a ho have not filled out the proper organizations for the Personal Records Office should pick up forms in room 17 of Longmire Building.

The forms must be picked up and filled out, then returned to room 17 Longmire by 5 p.m. Friday.

It is necessary that these forms be filled out and filed in order for the groups to be considered active

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Wiki

Three Wishes For Faith

The topic for IF Week, "An Intelligent Faith in a World of Revolution," is more than merely appropriate. And we welcome the speakers of the Protestant and Jewish faiths to this campus with sincerity.

Many things could be said in behalf of the program, but we choose to point out three which underlie its necessity.

The first is clearly visible: that "common ground" and finding similarities rather than differences among faiths is more important than ever in a world of cold war, international tensions and the struggle for the preservation and happiness of humanity.

Second, for the benefit of agnostics and skeptics who deride "faith" as incapable of being intelligent, we suggest that any code of conduct which enunciates the "greatest good for the greatest number of people" requires faith. Even if scientific findings have revolutionized religion for some, they cannot escape the fact that no faith means no action and stagnation, as one writer editorialized several years ago. As he so aptly put it, "We should never lose sight of the fact that whenever we say 'should' in regard to social behavior, we are stating a kind of faith."

Lastly, we welcome the program with the hope that it will mean more to the growth of this University than mere publicity and a good public relations measure. We hope the words of the speakers cause our student body to think—for we have never seen a man who believed in nothing but himself who was happy or who knew how to make others that way.

Let's Reach Port, Senate!

For a brief time it seemed that Student Senate was about to arrive at a good system of reapportionment. Now, however, certain parties are trying to throw down the anchor short of the harbor.

Why did Student Body President Coyle Moore suffer so long in silence before telling Senate just what it was taking too much time? Only the week before the Senators agreed—for the first time—on certain basic principles that should be considered in devising a new system of electing student government representatives.

We would agree with the president that Senate has taken too much time, but we can do no less than shout disapproval of the systems he recommends.

Last year, by his own confession, he devised a workable plan that Senator Nancy Vaughn. This system, which ha now recommends again, would have given no representatives to certain districts only.

While it is the dormitories that feel least accepted in student government, it is not justice nor democracy to GUARANTEE representation to them and to them only.

Under the present class system members of Senate are usually members of fraternities or sororities. They are rarely dormitory residents though they may be formerly living in dormitories. It is the contention of president Moore and others that this will always be so.

Are we trying to create a Greek-independent feud? We should not be but if we guarantee representation to dormitories only and leave it to whim and changing tradition as to whether residents of fraternity and sorority houses will be elected we make a mockery of our government.

A strong government allows for any eventuality; for any stress of the changing times.

Senate has, however, a fair and equitable plan. Not only would members be elected by classes but they would be elected from all living units; from dormitories, from fraternity and sorority houses arranged in precincts, from the Day Students, from Mabry Heights, and so on.

This is the liberal proposal, for it will provide what is lacking now: An INTEREST in student government. In electing senators from their living areas students will feel s close, working part of their student government and it will have a direct, personal meaning for them.

We cannot agree that Senate has to begin functioning the very first week in the school year, as those who decry fall dormitory elections insist.

We cannot agree that the Senate should be complete the spring before so that it can consider the budget. It is better to have the old Senate consider the next year's budget for only does experience enter into the consideration but also a knowledge of the financial problems that have existed during the outgoing senators' term of office.

These two objections have been used against electing class senators in the spring and confidently expect that if it is brought to the plank roots. We advocate the right of recall, whereby any senator representing a dormitory could be removed from office if his constituents felt he was not doing a proper job nor considering or appreciating their wishes.

Under the present class system this is impossible.

Under the present class system, not only is there a lack of interest from the start, but a candidate with a small group of close friends can take the entire class election. He need not represent the whole class nor consider their wishes. Although he is responsible to the class, he may or may not; he usually cannot meet all his constituents.

If he lived among them, these failings would not be.

Senate should resolve this issue tomorrow and should not let the timid, hesitant, voices of those who are not capable of envisioning a dynamic student government, hamper it.

On Campaign Coverage

A most precious and valuable journalistic freedom is that of the right to engage in a partisan way, in politics.

In state, national, and international issues, the Florida Flambeau has never held peace when it had something to say. Nor have we avoided pinpointing campus issues.

But when it comes to spring elections here on campus, some rules must be drawn. These limits will affect editorials, by-lined columns, and letters to the editor.

It would be unfair for the Flambeau to support any candidate for any office in the spring elections. This restriction will govern our editorial policy and will forbid our columnists from using their space to advocate the election of an individual.

It will not preclude a constant vigil to insure that the campaign process is fair and open and free of mudslinging and slander. When we observe improper activities we shall reveal them, with names where possible.

Nor will students be prevented from supporting candidates in letters-to-the-editor. This is a voice that shall be made available to all. Such letters must be in good taste, and because of space limitations, must not exceed 150 words.

In addition, The Flambeau will grant interviews to all candidates for student body president. These interviews, expected to outline platforms, promises, and other statements, will be of a nearly equal length as possible and will be run side-by-side.

Staff members will have their personal preferences and will be free to voice them away from the printed page. An earnest effort will be made to prevent favoritism from appearing in this newspaper.

Beyond this effort little can be done.

In closing, we urge that the campaigns be fought openly, cleanly, and without the name-calling and rumor-mongering that disgraced last year's presidential elections.

The People Vs. George

The "civil rights" of campus canines were staunchly defended last Friday morning.

It seems that George, a shaggy black and white tail-wagging BDOC (Big Dog On the Campus) had been declared "unsanitary" by the local canine gendarmes who were in hot pursuit of this culprit who hadn't taken his Saturday night bath in preparation for his Friday classes.

The gendarmes, realizing that George often took coffee at Kathlee's before his 10 a.m. "British Lit." course, surrounded the cafe for the capture. Now George has a great many friends who frequent the den of caffeine addicts, and they all conspired to prevent his capture. Some twenty friends fetch his pursuers with "Here, George went that-a-way," each pointing a different way in the true tradition of man's humanity to four-legged friends.

The dog-pound pursuer, however, sensed treachery and soon was hot on George's trail. But an unidentified heroine saved the day when she scooped George up in her arms (all 30 pounds of him) and ran.

A later investigation of the matter by the Tallahassee police force failed to reveal George's whereabouts. Informed sources, however, commented that George needs a vaccination, a bath, and lesson in being more gentle in his romps about campus before he can come out of hiding safely. Since George is one of man's best friends we expect he will receive this education and help from them.

Our concern for George is lucky he's a dog, and not a human being.

Students Seek Bachman Draft

TO THE EDITOR:

Now that the 1954 Student Body Election is approaching, the political spotlight is focused on the outstanding and capable persons in our classes. It is very natural for the students to seek a candidate for Student Government President who has in mind the best interest of the men and women of our university and who is qualified by merit of past experience and accomplishments.

Most significant in our minds is a man equipped with a knowledge of parliamentary law and the mechanics of student government, and characterized by humility, versatility, conscientiousness, and proven executive ability. This man is Dave Bachman. Here is a man of whom we could be very proud whether he be representing FSU on this campus, elsewhere in the state, or in the nation.

Because some of us are members of fraternities and sororities we can understand Dave's being reluctant to declare candidacy against a fraternity brother, but we are convinced that the fraternity system should complement the student interest their living areas students will feel s close, working part of their student government and it will have a direct, personal meaning for them.

We cannot agree that Senate has to begin functioning the very first week in the school year, as those who decry fall dormitory elections insist.

We cannot agree that the Senate should be complete the spring before so that it can consider the budget. It is better to have the old Senate consider the next year's budget for only does experience enter into the consideration but also a knowledge of the financial problems that have existed during the outgoing senators' term of office.

These two objections have been used against electing class senators in the spring and confidently expect that if it is brought to the plank roots. We advocate the right of recall, whereby any senator representing a dormitory could be removed from office if his constituents felt he was not doing a proper job nor considering or appreciating their wishes.

Under the present class system this is impossible.

Under the present class system, not only is there a lack of interest from the start, but a candidate with a small group of close friends can take the entire class election. He need not represent the whole class nor consider their wishes. Although he is responsible to the class, he may or may not; he usually cannot meet all his constituents.

If he lived among them, these failings would not be.

Senate should resolve this issue tomorrow and should not let the timid, hesitant, voices of those who are not capable of envisioning a dynamic student government, hamper it.

YOURS TRULY,
JOHN BOARDMAN.

Student Party Answers Moore

TO THE EDITOR:

It is quite difficult for us to understand Jim Moore's recent assertion that the Student Party has been "actively working for election" to fill vacancies in the position of status quo. This statement is particularly difficult to comprehend when it can be noted that he has previously run on the Student Party platform and has represented that party in the Senate.

But to assert that the Student Party has followed a "do-nothing" policy in recent years simply is not true. In order that this misconception be laid upon the Student Party's will not pass unnoticed it might be well to look at several of the accomplishments of the "status quo" party in recent years.

A Student Party President conceived and promoted the existence an association of student governments in Southern Universities—known as the Southern Universities Student Government Association — as a great progressive achievement.

A voluntary accident insurance program for all students was formulated by a committee on which a majority were Student Party senators and repested into law by a Senate in which the majority were Student Party members.

A committee of two Student Party senators first studied the question of reapportioning the Student Senate and recommended that a system be adopted to allow some senators to be elected from dormitories.

Student Party senators are responsible fir e recommendation that was adopted allowing women students to return to the dormitories at later hours than outsiders may.

These are the facts. They are facts which indicate how the Student Party has been ever conscious of its responsibilities to the students of F.S.U. and to the University as a whole. The accomplishments made in student government under Student Party leadership do not seem to indicate that the party has been actively working to keep students in a state of "status quo". Rather, it might appear that considerable progress has been made.

In writing this letter the executive committee has desired to emphasize that we do not deny that there is room for improvement in the Student Party or in student government generally there is and we recognize this fact. However we do object strenuously to anyone asserting or implying that we have not even been interested in the best interests of the students of F.S.U.

SINCERELY,
THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE STUDENT PARTY.

Race Lectures "Disheartening"

TO THE EDITOR:

It is the opinion of one who went to Opperman Hall last Monday night, in search of an unbiased lecture, the talks were most disheartening.

Although small fault can be found with the first and third speakers, the second and last were definitely swayed by personal opinion. The second speaker is the one we know much more about stratosphere balloon flights than conditions in the South made such biased remarks as "Look up the Supreme Court 100 years to see my point of view".

The last speaker wisely avoided such touching areas as interracial marriage which would have thrown a new light, and a great big one at that, on the subject.

I am not a hot-headed Southerner like many of the people that you last at so viciously in the little propaganda sheet that passes as a student publication. On the contrary, I find when I am forced into arguments on the segregation issue it is my integration-minded opponent that turns red in the face and resorts to name calling. Furthermore, I am not one of the mine-raised group of fellow Rebels who is doing all in his power to integrate the Negro and cause him as much discomfort as possible, resorting to mob violence if necessary. I am now who desires to see segregation abolished only because it will prevent inter-racial marriage.

YOURS TRULY,
JIM DAWSON

Offers Rebuttal To Miss Thomson

TO THE EDITOR:

I have followed with great interest the arguments on integration which is taking place currently in the columns of the Flambeau. I would like to congratulate the Flambeau on its courage in presenting both sides of the question.

The letter by Bonnie Thomson, which appeared in last Friday's Flambeau, puzzles me, however. I wonder if she can be referring to the same Chicago where I lived and attended school for three years. Like Miss Thomson, I have attended integrated schools. I have lived in Chicago and elsewhere, and can see no reason for segregation. It is unnecessary and cruel. In the city of Chicago, Yale, Harvard, Oxford and Cambridge, all of which have graduated Negroes as scholars?

I can speak particularly of the University of Chicago, while there I made the acquaintance of Negro students as classmates, floormates, ideological associates, friends and dates, and I can affirm that absolutely no generalizations can be made about those ethnic cohorts as opposed to or separate from Caucasians.

I also believe that Miss Thomson will find those others who claim that FSU should be kept "white" over an upheaval in the many Oriental students who have contributed to the intellectual life of this university.

In closing, I would like to request, specifically suggest that the energy being expended by the proponents of integration could be put to better effect in trying to keep the sun from coming up tomorrow morning.

YOURS TRULY,
JOHN BOARDMAN.

On Blake's "Little Black Boy"

TO THE EDITOR:

I have read several letters in the "Florida Flambeau" expressing opinions about segregation. My answer to these letters is a quotation from the poem "Little Black Boy" written by William Blake: "And I am black, but O! my soul is white". I wish the students to read this and remember that Jesus Christ is truly brotherly love. Can anyone suggest a better way of life than this?

SINCERELY,
PANSY STEELE

Perhaps British Are More Practical

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

IT HAS BEEN said of the British that the army is the only institution in that nation make them far more practical in affairs of state than the United States.

That they are more practical can be seen in Britain's recognition of Red China, as exemplified by Roger Makins, British ambassador who spoke here recently.

After all, he said, Mao Tse-tung Chou En-Lai and Sarlow are in power in China and they DO rule 500 million people, a number far greater than the combined populations of the United States and Great Britain.

To not recognize Peiping, reason the British, is to deny the existence of over 500 million people as a powerful state

Furthermore as Britain DO exist, why not trade with them? "Trade is a two-way street," Sir Roger declared And if the West trades with China, as we have said, the international nation will rely on the Soviet Union for economic assistance.

Such is the British viewpoint.

THAT OF THE UNITED STATES is in a very much different light. Our less practical We are shocked and revolted by the manner in which Mao-tse-tung has gained control of the 500 million Chinese. we have bitter memories of fighting the Chinese in Korea, and we realize that Red China is the friend of Russia, still very much associated with the Kremlin.

Since we do not think Mao Tse-tung is the right kind of man, we do not grant the government in control of continental China diplomatic recognition. This position is often embarrassing. We had to treat with their military leaders at Panmunjom and we have met them in Geneva, all the while denying their existence as a nation.

We recognize Chiang Kai-shek and the Nationalists on the island of Formosa as the rightful Chinese government They are, in our view, a government in exile who shall some day resume their old role as if nothing has happened in the interim.

THIS IS a convenient reasoning but black unrealism. The British recognize Chiang's Nationalists as the proper possessors of Formosa and Mao Tse-tung's people as the rulers of China, as they actually.

Even though we are committed against the Chinese Reds, we must lose sight of the fact that one properly differentiates between them and Chiang Kai-shek by decrees Nothing approved in our deeds can supersede human rights, and integrity in government. But to support Chiang Kai-shek in Taiwan and Formosa while their systems of government are the antitheses of ours, they are at least supposed to those who are our enemies as well. This makes them allies

* * * *

SIR ROGER DID not make it clear in his speech whether he was voicing official opinion or his own views. But the practical and realistic neutral countries in Asia is commendable are worthy of close study.

We frown upon India and the other Asian nations who have not allied with either side in the Korean conflict. We do not think that they are against us, or so we are prone to think.

But, as Sir Roger explained, they are young nations, only recently given self-government. They have little democratic tradition, little capital, little development, little, indeed, but a burning desire to survive

This could easily have been a description of the United States in 1789, when the Constitution was ratified.

And, said the British ambassador it was for the same reasons that George Washington advocated neutrality in the early office that the Asian nations espoused it today. They want to build themselves up.

In The Wings

Mozart Program Features Wilson

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

FOR THE FIRST time this season the music faculty presented a group recital in an all-Mozart commemorative program The recital, which took place in Opperman Friday night, featured Howard Wilson as pianist in a program of solo, chamber, and concerto music.

Except for the Phi Mu Alpha-sponsored Campus Composers Concert this was the first formal program in which chamber music played a substantial part. This regrettable dearth of performance can only result in a situation much to be decried. There are many instrumental combinations available among the faculty members as well as students. It is unfortunate that there is so seldom any chamber recitals especially with the material available

Friday night's program consisted of the Sonata in B Flat for Violin and Piano, K. 402; two piano selections—the D Major Rondo and the Fantasy in C Minor; "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star" "Ah, vous dirai-je, maman," as it is known in French"; a quartet for piano and strings in G Minor, K. 478; and the D Minor Piano Concerto.

THOMAS STONE performed the violin sonata with Dr. Wilson. The sonata consists of only two movements, and it, in effect, a prelude and fugue rather than a true sonata form.

The "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star" theme which Mozart used in the piano variations is the same nursery tune Johnny Jones and his most popular and oft-performed work Variations on a Nursery Theme, which is set to orchestra. It amused me to observe several small children, who up to then had been either dormant or restless, perk up when they recognized the theme.

The Quartet enlisted the additional services of Robert Steward, Eugene Crabb, and Marcus Barnes. The playing was articulate and brisk.

THE DIFFICULT task of playing with the chamber orchestra which accompanied Dr. Wilson in the concerto. An obviously well rehearsed and experienced faculty and advanced students from the University Symphony. The playing was of professional level. Except for the bassoons, who had a tendency to play flat, and the oboes, who occasionally overbalanced the rest of the woodwinds, the performance throughout was a delight to hear. Sedore, who conducted, and the orchestra are certainly to be praised for what was undoubtedly the best orchestral playing heard this season.

Perhaps we could persuade this orchestra to give a concert of its own, in addition to its regular series. There is plenty of Baroque and early-Classical music which would be suitable in an aggregation of this size, as well as many impressionist and modern scores.

FSU To Enjoy Gala Musical Week

By WILOHN

TODAY IS MY day for giving publicity and "knockers" to every one in sight. And, by the way, I didn't go to bed AT ALL last night. So I hope, as you read, that you stand in proper respect and awe of the knock the writing of this is costing me.

First off, Campus Sing week-end is upon us. Everybody and their pledges are sitting up late practicing, practising, and practising some more The girls should find little advertisements for I-don't-know-what with the strains of "If I Loved You" and "Ten Years" issuing from them nightly.

The big dance comes right after the singing spirit has died, so be another knock-producing effort That's good news for your dancing feet, but lovers of the concert will be unaccounted at the dance so be sure to be there.

Then, too, Woody Herman descends with the added attraction of Trumpeter Bill Harris, top rated in the country for many years. I've already heard Woody's Monday Night Editor smiles upon this favorite columnist. I will shortly force upon you a very large story explaining Jazz, what it is, what can it, and how so does it?

LET'S FLIP over to a short piece of praise for one of our local groups. The Devilaires played for the Sweet Shop Intramural Ball last Saturday night. Believe me, I would have never thought an improvement like that possible. The outfit is really beginning to swing with a worthy sound. The greatest thing I heard was vocalist June Kight, who seems to have blossomed out of her vocal inhibitions and is trying to break out into a style of her own. The new style is there and just needs polish. Her rendition of "Rasa Mopp" slid a lot more freely than it ever has for her before. Billy Bowles is always a good drummer. But the exciting sax style than he formerly did at least is wonderful that way, and his style of drumming now is getting carried away and there's no limit to JATP honks and squawks when mingled for the listening pleasure of all.

Jerry Dye is a greatly improved drummer lacking only a shade of inventiveness and originality to make him the group's overrides any shortcomings. Harrison Fisher is the best of the bunch by far, and has the style that can be possessed and, if they don't watch out, the last all-star band around will find a new man over them at the next choosing.

THEIR PIANO has always rocked and rolled, however, I've always wondered whether there wasn't much be needed to contribute to the group. The trumpet has at last found its place and the wonderful value of the saxophone will be more often to change the tone color of the group. Also would like to hear Fisher play more clarinet.

That about does it. I fell asleep three paragraphs ago. I would have sworn last Friday that there would never be another Wanderings column. Badly bent but not broken.

It Could Be Verse

(A Letter To The Editor)

THE CLOISTERS GATHERING

By PAUL HAMMOND

The clouds are gathering. Their dark thickness
Casts a blue of sickness
Over the interests of the Southern white Man people, peace-lovers, but willing to fight—
And die—for country and ever proud
This pride, obscured by a cloud,
Breeds tradition, heritage,
racial stand.
All frowned upon Northern man.
Supreme Court, Lucy, Constitution,
Law, trials, all confusion.
Little specs that grow in size
Until they black the Southern skies
And what's to come of this hornet's nest?
The answer is sure to be a test
Of whether the interests—

claimed "progressives"—
Will triumph over the
"regressives"—
As some Yankees name our antagonists.
Or will the spirit of another decision?
The latter—as a sun shining brightly
Through the hazy mists so amazingly—
Would warm our hearts and souls
But, who can predict the mold
If the storm breaks with violence?
Will the white skins tan through miscegenation?
Somehow, sometimes the answer will come.
Too bad it must be unpleasant to some.
But, no matter what the answer be
I hope it is accepted peacefully.

The Press Table

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

GOLFERS MOVE IN

Though it's undoubtedly a sport that doesn't grab very many of the local headlines in the course of the sports year, golf will take top listing on the local sports calendar this week.

The annual George Washington tourney swings onto the Tallahassee Country Club links this Thursday, and with it come most of the top golfers in the state.

Edwin Jenkins, ex FSU junior from Jacksonville, put the coming tourney into the sports spotlight this past week with a record-shattering 62 practice round at the country club.

Jenkins defied the newly-renovated par 72 course with eight birdies and six eagle, and established himself as a definite threat in the GW.

The Seminoles are sure to have their share of team members in the top bracket, including Bunk Berry, Jack Veghte and Bobby Dunn, all Juniors. Veghte finished second in the recent Tampa Gasparilla tourney and freshman Russ Shave took fourth apot.

However, the Seminoles and most of the patrons on hand will have their eyes on Doug Sanders, a Cedartown, Ga. boy playing on the Miami club who dropped out of the University of Florida just this year.

Sanders is the defending champ in the event, with a record-breaking 272 for 72 holes last year. Doug stands currently number two in the Golf Digest ratings for 1956.

In their 1956 annual, the Digest predicted a win for Sanders in the 1956 Western Amateur and placed him third among the country's top amateur linksmen.

Last year, he bolted into the national golf headlines with victories in the World and All-American tourneys at Chicago's famous Tam O'Shanter course, after an earlier triumph in the Mexican Amateur.

Sanders' 286 in the All-American would have placed him 11th among the pros, but he didn't stop there. Doug came back with a sizzling 284 in the World, a total good enough for a third place tie among the pros and a good sized chunk of cash.

In addition to Sanders, there's likely to be a better than average sprinkling of former state champions in the GW.

If golf is your sport, you'll want to be on hand for a couple rounds of this one, for it surely hits the climax in the sports world in Tallahassee this week.

LOOK OUT NEXT YEAR

When you go down the rosters of most of the Tribe's FIBC basketball opponents this year, it becomes evident that the Seminoles' domination in conference play may be in danger next season.

Most of the FIBC teams, the Tribe excepted, are loaded with Sophomores and Juniors in key positions.

To mention a few, Dick Bevemer of Rollins, who is second to Jimmy Oler in conference scoring, is but a Sophomore. Miami's runner-up Hurricanes have Sophs in four of five starting positions. Guards Gene Stone and Marty Burdette; Forward Ed Morris and center Bob Skinner.

To of Florida Southern's key starters are Sophomore Dale Collins and Junior John Spicuzza. Three of Stetson's best are Sophs. Jim Kitchens, Curt Moffett and Chuck Smith. There's only one Soph on Tampa's starting outfit. Bobby Bryan, and Howard Bernstein, the state's leading point-maker last year, will be back next year, though he had to sit out most of this year with a leg injury.

Florida's Gators are sure to find their way onto the FSU schedule sometime in the next two years, and three of the UF starting combo are, you guessed it: Sophomores: guards Charlie Pike and Joe Hobbs and forward Jim Zina.

Against this collection of veterans, FSU's FIBC domination certainly would seem a little shaky, and fans can look for a more evenly matched conference race next year. That's for sure.

SURPRISED? NOT US—

Florida State's walloping of the Florida Swimmers last week seemed to come as somewhat of a surprise to many sports fans around the state. Seems, too, that its' outcome came as a surprise to many of those who were supposedly "in the know" on such contests.

Said the Florida Times-Union's Bill Kastelz:

That 66-18 score by which Florida State's swimming team sank Florida's fine splashers Friday night came as somewhat of a jolt to those of us who have trouble distinguishing between a flutter-board and a bikini . . .

"Our only comment is that 66-18 is a h— of a way to get things started on a friendly basis . . ."

Our own sports specialist, Pierce Lehmbeck, probably came closest to calling the final tally.

He figured it 51-31.

J. Paul Sheedy* Was An Udder Failure Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

The boys were having a ball session in Sheedy's room. "It's no yoke," heeled Sheedy. "Henley got I ask for a date turns me down flat." Then Sheedy's roommate spoke up: "There's good news tonight J. Paul. Try some of my Wildroot Cream-Oil on those cowlicks." Sheedy did and now he's the cream of the campus. Wildroot keeps his hair handsome and healthy looking the way Nature intended . . . neat but not greasy. Contains the heart of Lanolin, the very best part of Nature's finest hair and scalp conditioner. Get Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's largest selling hair tonic. In bottles or unbreakable tubes. Gives you confidence . . . you look your best. There's no udder hair tonic like it.

*of 151 So. Huron Hill Rd., Williamsville, N. Y.

Wildroot Cream-Oil gives you confidence

Mermen Put Gators In Drydock

Swimmers To Face Miami Here Tonight

By JOE GREENE
Flambeau Sports Writer

Submerged can be the only title for the University of Florida swimming team. Friday night as the Seminoles from Florida State took the wind out of Gator sails 66 to 18 before meeting the University of Miami Hurricanes tonight.

Miami comes to town featuring Hal Miechner, iin unbeaten sprinter in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle. The Hurricanes have been plagued with a lack of manpower all season and have been forced to default some events in meets prior to this.

The victory over the Gators was a great one for the Seminoles as it marked the first time Florida and Florida State had been pitted against each other in a dual swimming meet.

Ken Abbot, Dick Rhoton, and Mike Tschirret were the opening specials in the typhoon that swamped the Gators as they took the 300 yard medley relay and jumped the Tribe to a 5 to 0 lead.

The only glory for the boys from Gatorland came in the fancy diving contest when Crad White picked up five points and the only first for Florida with an exceptional performance on the board.

Following this FSU was quick to administer final rites as Jim Julian and Tschirret dashed home one-two in the 100 yard freestyle to boost the Seminole lead to a commanding 38 to 12.

Clincher

The next event proved to be the clincher as Norman Shipley and Abbot combined to take first and second in the 200 yard backstroke and the fate of the Gator boat became too big to patch.

Graham Teschke added his share of points to the Tribe win with a double victory in the 220 yard freestyle and the 440 freestyle. Julian was another double winner with "Al" as he took the 50 yard freestyle event.

Florida State's win proved to be a sweet one themselves of at least a tie for first in the FIBC. FSU's cagers hoped to wrap up the conference title within a way over Stetson last night, in DeLand.

The Tribe downed a stubborn Florida Southern five 85-81, last Saturday on the Moccasins home floor.

The game was a far cry from the Terbo's 97-74 victory over the Moccasins here at Tallahassee a little over a week ago.

With a little less than three minutes to play the Seminoles were on the short end of an 80-75 score, but two free throws and a field goal by high-scorning Jim Oler put the Tribe ahead for good.

Final figures show that the Seminoles won the game with three more field goals than the Moccs could manage. 27-24. The Southern team outscored the Tribe From the free-throw line 30-27.

Oler Leads

Jim Oler led both teams in scoring with 35 points on 10 baskets and 15 fouls. Oler is now 11 field goals short of setting a new FSU record. He has 183 and the present mark is 193.

Center Gary Weld dunked 18 and guard Tommy Garcia contributed 17 points to pushthe cagers' FIBC record to 8-6 for the year

Frank DeSalvino, held to nine points here at Tallahassee, led the way for Southern with 25. Zane Whitson chipped in 19, and Dale Collins and John Spicuzza each had 16 for the losers.

Fifty-three fouls were called during the game. Forward Dick Artmeier fouled out for FSU, while Spicuzza, Barlow, and Hamaker were forced to retire for the Moccasins

Here are individual scoring totals not including last night's game:

	G	FG	FTA	FT	TP	Ave
Oler	21	183	316	207	573	27.3
Weld	21	96	155	106	298	14.2
Berry	21	76	105	59	211	10.0
Veghte	21	56	68	72	130	6.8
Dunn	21	54	78	39	147	7.0
Artmeier	21	50	68	32	132	6.3
Shave	12	26	48	31	83	6.9
Hamaker	21	28	48	17	73	3.5
Barlow	21	28	48	17	73	3.5
Jones	15	11	15	9	31	2.1
Gardner	13	11	18	5	28	2.2
Whitson	16	8	14	3	19	1.2
Mangione	4	4	5	3	11	2.7
Bell	4	3	3	1	7	1.7
FSU	21	553	814	501	1607	80.8
Opponents	21	366	670	426	1067	50.8

IT'S THE BEGINNING of the end as Florida's Gary Weld and Stetson's Jim Kitchens battle for a rebound during the first half action of the night against the Game while a Seminole player looks on. Weld was very event in this fashion, the Seminoles buried the Gators, 66-18, to put an auspicious start on the series between the two schools.

Cagers Assured Of Tie For First

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

ATO Halts Baptists For Campus Crown

By M. L. WALTERS
Flambeau Intramural Writer

ATO won the campus touch football championship last Friday night under the lights at Florida High Stadium, 37-21, over the Baptist students, inexpedient champions.

It was quite a case of too much Jones - Robert A., that is, of Cocoa, Fla., whose accurative passes and speedy running accounted for four of the winners' touchdowns.

B.S.U. took the lead in the first quarter with Dunn scoring, and Davis getting the extra point. In the second quarter Morris and then Davies scored to make the score 17-7 at the half.

It was 18-14 in the third quarter as both teams scored again, but not until the middle of the final quarter did an intercepted lateral and pass interception put ATO into the clear, 37-21.

The score by quarters:

	1	2	3	4–T
ATO	7	7	7	16–37
BSU	7	7	7	0–21

Board Meets

The Men's Intramural Board holds its first meeting of 1956 Thursday at 4 p.m. in the Trophy Room of the Florida Gym.

All organizations are invited to send representatives. Plans for softball, volleyball, golf, swimming and horseshoes will be made.

Track Finals

The finals for both dorm and fraternity track meets will be held next Monday at 4 p.m. at Florida Hi Stadium.

Frosh Cagers Take 2nd Win

When the smoke of battle had cleared, the Florida State University freshman basketball team had come up with a win over a strong Southern Georgia Junior College, and a loss to Chipola Junior College in a practice game.

Friday night in the Florida High gym the frosh averzame a 48 to 47 victory to take advantage of the score of 83 apiece at the end of the game. FSU took advantage of the five minutes overtime, and won by the slim margin of 96 to 94.

Hugh Durham led the baby Seminoles with 23 points, followed closely by Tom Donovan with 20. DePalmer both of whom bucketed 20 points. Steve Ellis and Joe Williams, who played superb defense, also broke into double figures for the frosh with 12 and 11 respectively.

The Georgia team was led by Curt Pearce with 28, and Charles Cape with 25.

Things didn't go so well Saturday night in Marianna, as the Freshmen were handed a 108 to 67 beating by Chipola Junior College. The Chipola team was early lead, and hr halftime had run the score to 56 to 32. The frosh were never able to close the gap.

Durham once again led the scoring parade with 19 points. Dave Hortis put in 14 and Joe Williams contributed 13 points.

Bill Tuffli, Waylon Graham and Gene Brookman scored 20 points each for the Chipola team.

Seminole —Shorts—

If you think FSU has played some little-known teams in basketball, take a look at some of the cage teams the University of Florida has met in past years.

Among the teams the Gator have faced are Ralph's Dry Cleaners, Havana Tobacco Seeders and the Jacksonville Seminole Canoe Club. They lost to the terrible Seeders and the Cleaners incidentally. This was basketball?

Florida State a football coaches almost outnumber the players these days. The latest addition, end coach Pal Summerall, brought the number to nine or ten coaches for the spring practice season.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
ENDS WEDNESDAY "The Bottom of The Bottle" Van Johnson, Joseph Cotten Ruth Roman — STARTS THURSDAY "The Benny Goodman Story" —also— Steve Allen, Donna Reed Merry James	ENDS TUESDAY "The Trouble With Harry" Edmund Gwenn — WEDNESDAY-THURSDAY "Inside Detroit" Dennis O'Keefe —also— "Devil Goddess" Johnny Weissmuller
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY "Female on the Beach" Joan Crawford Jeff Chandler — THURSDAY-SATURDAY "The Sea Chase" John Wayne, Lana Turner —also— "Seminole Uprising" George Montgomery	TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY "To Catch A Thief" Grace Kelly, Cary Grant — THURSDAY-SATURDAY "Ulysses" —also— Kirk Douglas —also— "The Outlaw Stallion" Phil Carey

RITZ Tues.-Wed., "Mr. Denning Drives North"
Thurs.-Sat., "Wuthering Heights"

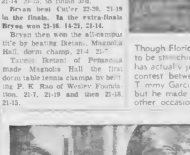

Photo by Tom Sawyer

Though Florida Smithsonn's Hank Barlow may appear here to be stretching line a record in the discus or shot put, he has actually just hooked up a shot with the recent basketball contest between the Moccasins and FSU here. FSU's Tommy Garcia then throws up a hand too late this time, but he made up for it by stealing the ball on numerous other occasions.

ALL THE PLEASURE COMES THRU...

the taste is great!

Here you have the best in filtered smoking —Filter Tip Tareyton, the filter cigarette that smokes milder, smokes smoother, draws easier . . . the only one that gives you Activated Charcoal filtration. All the pleasure comes thru . . . the taste is great!

THE BEST IN FILTERED SMOKING
FILTER TIP TAREYTON

PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Policies Adopted For Publications

A statement of principles for student publications was adopted by the Board of Publications at its monthly meeting Tuesday.

The statement is intended to be used as a guide by the student editors of the Florida Flambeau, Smoke Signals and Tally Ho.

The statement reads as follows:

Rightly or wrongfully, Florida State University is held accountable by the general public for everything that appears in campus publications. Although the editor of an FSU publication is not an official or semi-official spokesman of the University, he is presumed to be by the public. Since the words and illustrations he writes or approves appear in print and receive more or less wide circulation, they have a permanency and an implication of authority not ordinarily gained by or accorded to the spoken word.

University publications exist because there is a Florida State University. Florida State University does not exist because there are publications. The University is the publisher, directly or indirectly, of all publications which go out under its name, and thus has not only the right but the specific duty to make certain that these publications reflect the high aims and good character of the institution.

Spirit Consistent

The spirit of publication must be consistent with the continuing purposes of the University, which are perpetual, rather than with the ideas of any individual or group within the University, which ideas vary from year to year or from month to month.

Besides abiding by the laws of libel and making every effort to report factual matters accurately, objectively and fairly, student editors, like non-student editors, are expected to exercise good taste in the presentation of all editorial matter, factual or fictional.

Fair Play

Fair Play is a fundamental principle. "Smear stories" should not be printed. Individual students, faculty members and campus organizations should be treated with the dignity and respect they deserve.

Good Taste

The words "good taste" admittedly are difficult to define, but in general any material which is offensive to a considerable number of the readers or prospective readers of a publication shall not be considered to be in good taste. Articles, says, verse, illustrations, and all other material bordering on the salacious, obscene or vulgar should be carefully scrutinized with these points in mind. The editor should keep ever in mind the fact that each University publication is seen not only by men and women students of the University, but by men and women alumni, faculty members and friends of the University, parents and other relatives of students, and the general public.

Recommended

It is recommended that the editor of each publication consult with several of his senior staff members before deciding whether to use any item which is in the least questionable. If such matters cannot be reconciled by the senior staff members, it is further recommended that prior to publication the editors of all student publications submit to the Director of Student Publications all items which might prove offensive to the sensibilities of their readers. Applying the canons of good taste, the Director of Student Publications shall, if he finds any of the items questionable so inform the editor. The final decision as to whether to publish a questionable item shall be that of the editor.

The Board of Student Publications believes however that the widest degrees of possible latitude should be provided to student editors for the free dissemination of current issues and problems subject to the above considerations.

We believe if the editors abide by these principles, they will be fulfilling their responsibility to the Board of Publications and to the University.

Row Over Dog, Pitched Battle Liven Weekend

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Two incidents, one a squabble over a dog in front of an off-campus restaurant and the other a pitched battle between fraternity actives and pledges, livened what was an otherwise ordinary weekend on campus.

The first incident was a controversy over whether Tallahassee dog-catchers should be allowed to haul off "George" a well-known Florida State University canine.

After student interference prevented "George" and several other dogs from being caught in front of Kahler's Friday, the Business Office here issued a statement that all dogs on the FSU campus without licenses or rabies vaccinations will be picked up.

Dr. Sam Neel, Dean of Men explained the reason for the order is that there have been several, reported incidents of dogs snapping at people and one crippled woman being knocked down by "George."

Dr. Neel said he hoped students would realize that Tallahassee dog-catchers were only doing their duty in protecting students and Tallahassee residents from such attacks.

Sunday night a more involved controversy developed when nine fraternity members were arrested by Tallahassee police on charges of disturbing the peace.

Police records say that the men were arrested at 112 S. Woodward Street at 2:15 a.m. Monday morning. Patrolmen assigned to investigate a "disturbing the peace" report found "some" FSU students "causing a disturbance."

After taking the men to the downtown station, police released them to the University for handling. Dean of Men Sam Neel said his office is investigating and will take appropriate action if necessary."

Spokesmen for the fraternity meanwhile said from 25 to 30 pledges and about 25 members were involved in the late-night escapade. Pledges entering their "test-hours" period, when they are allowed to seek revenge for wrongs inflicted by brothers during the pledge period, surprised the members while they were playing.

Many were tied up, the spokesman stated, and carried down stairs. Two escaped, he continued, and one called the police from another location with a report that students were disturbing the peace. This was done, said the spokesman, to get back at the pledges.

Soon, he continued, three Tallahassee police cars arrived, along with a campus police car. The policemen found members tied up on the front lawn and started trying to restore order to the scene. When members refused to go inside the fraternity house, he said, seven were arrested. Two members who went to the police station later were also arrested, he stated.

Religious Figure—Speaking at annual Sophomore-Senior breakfast held Saturday is Dr. David M. Graybeal, chaplain of Emory and Henry College in Virginia.

Florentine photo—Dick Pettit

Film Club Presents Foreign Movie, "Seven Deadly Sins"

"The Seven Deadly Sins," one of the best foreign films of 1953, is being presented by the FSU Film Club Thursday at the Demonstration School Auditorium. The film will be shown at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

The film is made up of seven different episodes, five French and two Italian, which are related by a carnival barker. The seven episodes deal with seven sins: Avarice, Anger, Sloth, Gluttony, Envy, Pride, and Lust.

Each episode is directed by a well known director. Italian directors, Robert Rossellini and Carlo Rim and French directors Claude Autant-Lara, Yves Allegret, Georges Lacombe, and Eduardo de Filippo, have all been brought together in this film.

Foreign actors and actresses in the film are Michele Morgan, Francoise Rosay, Isa Miranda, Viviane Romance, Henri Vidal, Frank Villard, Gerard Philipe, and Noel-Noel.

IFW Meetings, Seminars Slated

Two Intelligent Faith mass meetings and several seminars are slated for tonight and tomorrow afternoon.

Dr. Charles C. West, guest lecturer from Europe, will keynote tonight's 7:30 meeting with a speech on "The Student in a World in Revolution," in Westcott Auditorium.

Choral Union will perform the "Festival Finale" and an ensemble from the Concert Band will play at the meeting.

For the final Wednesday mass meeting at 4 p.m. in Lonsmire Auditorium, a panel discussion, "Religious Faith in a Changing World," is scheduled. All of the team members and student leaders will participate.

Seminars with student-originated topics will be conducted by ministers at the various student religious houses.

Dr. Claude U. Broach, Baptist minister, will conduct a discussion on "Jim Crow and the Christian Conscience," at Rugg Hall this afternoon at 4 p.m.

At the same time, Dr. Glenn C. James, pastor of Trinity Methodist, will lead the seminar on "How Can I know What Is Right and Wrong," at the Hillel Foundation.

Dr. James will be assisted by Dr. David M. Graybeal, Chaplain of Emory and Henry College in Virginia, and Pastor of the Emory Methodist Church.

"Is Faith Mere Belief?" will be discussed by Dr. Spencer H. Austin of the United Christian Missionary Society from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Westminster House this afternoon.

Reserve Act To Affect Men Here

(Continued from Page 1)

sive piece of legislation on military policy was passed. Under it the Reserve Corp came into its own.

The act provided that the Army of the United States would consist of the Regular Army, the National Guard while in the service of the United States, the Officers Reserve Corps, and the Enlisted Reserve Corps.

Standing Need

Both World War I and II showed the need for a standing force. In 1948, with the enactment of the draft the first Reserve obligation was established. Pay was granted for attendance at drills and creation thousand Reserve units was established. The Organized Reserve Corp for the first time had the personnel for a force being rather than a paper organization.

In 1952 the Organized Reserve Corp became the Army Reserve. New armories were built and equipment no longer needed in Korea was issued to units. Summer training was made mandatory for units organized and trained to serve on active duty with unit instructors chosen from officers with combat experience.

Reserve Strengthned

The Reserve was further strengthened by the Reserve Forces Act of 1955 which contemplates an Army Ready Reserve of 1.7 million and a Standby Reserve of about 2 million. Under this law every male who serves in the Armed Forces will be required to perform regular Reserve duties.

REMEMBER --- BILL'S BOOK STORE

FOR —GREETING CARDS
BOOKS
DAILY NEEDS

BILL'S BOOK STORE

FAIVER'S
FOR CHICKEN
West Tennessee & Brevard
FAMOUS FOR GOOD FOOD

Monday— SPAGHETTI NITE Regular $1.00 85c
Tuesday— PIZZA NITE Regular $1.00 85c
Wednesday— CHICKEN NITE Regular $1.25 $1.19
NOON DAY LUNCHEONS— 60c -- 85c
FAIVER'S

Two Hundred

(Continued from Page 1)

Con
VOLUSIA COUNTY
Forrest Gold, Jimmie Horan, Forrest McGinley, and Robert Parrish
WALTON COUNTY
Curtis Lee Simmons
WASHINGTON COUNTY
Lour Jean Dunn, Ellen Carolyn Fuller and David Raney
STATE OF GEORGIA
William Dixon

Classified

LOST—Will the person who found a pink raincoat in 219 History Friday, Feb. 10 between one and three p.m. please return it to Dr. Sarah Hexson at the English Building. Small Reward.

FSU Job Opportunities

Today
Home Insurance
Wanted: Students in any major, preferably business.

Today and Tomorrow
Butterfield Paper Co
Wanted: Single men who are interesting in sales work.

Tomorrow
Du Pont
Wanted: Chemists.

Thursday
Aetna Life Insurance
Wanted: Students in any major.

Thursday
U. S. Naval Air Development
Wanted: Physics and Math majors

Administration Society To Meet

The American Society of Public Administration will have its first meeting of the semester Thursday night at 7 p.m. in the small lounge of Lonsmire.

"9 originally came from Atlanta"

That's where the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coke began. Now it's enjoyed fifty million times a day. Must be something so it. And there is. Have an ice-cold Coca-Cola and see . . . right now.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
THE TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.
"Coke" is a registered trade-mark © 1956 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

WANT YOUR CLOTHES TO LOOK LIKE-NEW AGAIN?

Let Us Dry Clean Them Our Miracle SANITONE Way

SPOTS VANISH
PERSPIRATION GONE
BETTER PRESS
COSTS NO MORE THAN ORDINARY DRY CLEANING

K-22

We get out all the dirt so clothes are cleaner—colors and patterns brighter! Come in or phone today!

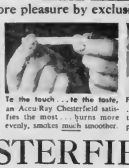
SUPERIOR CLEANERS
308 S. Monroe St.
Phone 2-0652

QUALITY DRY CLEANERS
For Expert
CLEANING REPAIRING
PRESSING ALTERING
CALL OR GO BY
2-5097 215 W. College

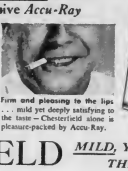
RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S
MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 2-0161

TIME FOR A BREAK
COME TO
THE MECCA

STUDENT TOUR TO EUROPE
$1456
JUNE 12—AUGUST 17----67 DAYS—11 COUNTRIES
England, France, Holland, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, Spain, Austria, Germany, Liechtenstein, and Yugoslavia. Fourth annual tour. Chaperoned. Princeton trained art historian director. Student ship. First class hotels, first class rail travel, 4 air trips.
WRITE, WIRE, OR TELEPHONE FOR ILLUSTRATED FOLDER
PROFESSOR L. J. WATHEN
919 N. W. 8th Place, Gainesville, Florida Tel.: FR 6-6698



PACKS MORE PLEASURE
because it's More Perfectly Packed!



Satisfy Yourself with a Milder, Better-Tasting smoke—packed for more pleasure by exclusive Accu-Ray

The more perfectly packed your cigarette, the more pleasure it gives . . . and Accu-Ray packs Chesterfield far more perfectly.

To the touch . . . to the taste, an Accu-Ray Chesterfield satisfies the most . . . burns more evenly, smokes much smoother.

Firm and pleasing to the lips . . . mild yet deeply satisfying to the taste—Chesterfield alone is pleasure-packed by Accu-Ray.

CHESTERFIELD MILD, YET THEY Satisfy!

Bachman Enters Student President Race; To Oppose 'Jem' Moore

Student Senator Dave Bachman entered the race for Student Body President yesterday and said he will seek the Student Party nomination.

He will oppose Senator Jim E. Moore in the spring elections. Moore announced his candidacy last Thursday.

At the same time, Senator Jimmy Soles, who had been expected to make it a three-way battle with the two other Junior class senators, said he will not run but will support Bachman.

Soles' endorsement drew a surprised protest from Senator Moore, who said Soles had promised him his support.

"I am not running to keep another man out," Bachman told The Florida Flambeau. "I am running because I feel I can do the job."

Declines Comment

He refused to comment directly on Moore's keynote speech to the State Party convention last Thursday in which Moore accused the Student Party of "working to keep the students in a position of status quo."

Saying "our student government is fast emerging as one of the country's leading student governments," Bachman declared, "Because of my deep concern that students' government continue to progress and gain more lasting benefits for the students, I am announcing my candidacy for the office of President of the Student Body.

Responsibilities'

"I am aware of the great responsibilities and tremendous amount of work that are involved in the duties of the office. However, I am also aware of the great benefits that can be accomplished through the office for the students; benefits in every phase of our university life. I am confident that with earnest effort on my part and with the help of competent, experienced people we would be able to accomplish this aim."

In endorsing Bachman, Soles, who had been associated with the State Party on whose platform Jim Moore is running, said:

Changes Party

"It is my feeling that I can best serve the interests of the students by withdrawing my name from consideration as a candidate for President and becoming a candidate for Vice-president of the Student Body. I have recently affiliated with the Student Party and shall seek its nomination for that office."

Art Moore, newly elected State Party chairman, accused Soles of "party-jumping'" He said Soles had helped to draft the State Party platform for the spring elections.

Moore 'Shocked'

Jim Moore, the other presidential candidate, commented:

"I was very shocked and surprised. He (Soles) had already pledged his support to me and I can see no logical reason that would make him change his mind and he has not given me any. I really honestly don't believe he knows why he did."

Soles Replies

Retorted Soles:

"At the time I told Jim Moore I would run on the State Party ticket for Vice-president and pledged him my support in his race for the presidency, he had assured me Dave Bachman would not be a candidate. I have a tremendous respect and a great admiration for Jim Moore. Those people who know me, I think, will understand that it is necessary for me to support the person I feel best qualified for president regardless of my personal friendships. I shall not engage in any exchanges of charges or accusations."

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

ANNUAL DEBATE
Tourney Begins
(See Story, Page 1)

Vol. XLI, No. 33 — Published By The Students Of Florida State University — Friday, February 24, 1956

Flambeau Photo: Tom Sawyer

Going Strong—Woody Herman's "Third Herd" beats out "Northwest Passage" during concert Wednesday. Events raised about $425 for Campus Chest, according to Alpha Tau Omega, sponsors. For picture of Woody, see page 6.

Senate Agrees On Redistricting

Elections Primary April 10

Senators Reverse Previous Decision

Student Senate, reversing action on Wednesday an earlier vote, set Tuesday, April 10, as primary day for the Student Body elections.

In case run-offs are necessary they will be held Friday, April 13. The constitutional date for the primary, April 3, would have conflicted with Easter holidays.

Senate got the opportunity to reverse the previous week's decision that elections should be held the third and fourth Tuesdays in March after Attorney General Tom Woods advised the elections committee the action was invalid.

Statute Necessary

Woods said that a new date must be made by a statute and not by a resolution, which he said merely expresses the Senate's opinion.

Hans Tews, men's vice-president, amended a bill subsequently introduced, to provide for the April elections.

After a motion to end debate was passed over the protests of senators seeking an earlier election, Gordon Oaster, one of this group, moved to suspend the rules beautiful railroad job I've ever seen."

Charges Encroachment

Senator Art Moore alleged that President Jim Moore Jr. had held a pre-meeting with senators who voted for the later election. Senator Moore, State Party chairman, termed the meeting as "an encroachment on the legislature." Committee chairman Moore admitted the discussion was about the election date.

Students May Attend FSU Summer School In Mexico

Part of Florida State University's summer school will be held south of the border this year.

Students will be able to study in Monterrey, Mexico, at the Institute Technologico de Monterrey, according to Dr. Heriberto Lacayo of FSU.

Dr. Lacayo, associate professor of Spanish, is in charge of arrangements. He says a six-weeks course is open to Arts and Sciences students at a cost of $226, including living expenses at the Institute.

Varied Study

There will be studies in literature, geopolitics, geography, sociology, archaeology, government and law, education, philosophy and folklore and arts and crafts, with particular emphasis on Mexico and Latin America.

Instruction will be by members of the faculty of the Institute, visiting faculty members from other institutions in the United States, and FSU faculty members.

Enrollment for the summer instruction program begins here July 14, says Dr. Lacayo.

Windswept

The $230 cost of the session does not include transportation, which may be arranged with car pools here. Dr. Lacayo describes the location of the school as lying at the windswept foot of the Las Mitras Mountains, where breezes come down to cool the nights.

He said instruction will be conducted both in Spanish and in English, and that numerous extra-curricular activities are included in the fee. These will include swimming, fiesta excursions, picnics at nearby ranch houses and other social activities.

Arrangements for use of the Institute this year were perfected by Dean Charles Davis of the College of Arts and Sciences, following a contact made many months ago by FSU President Doak S. Campbell.

Flambeau Photo: Adrian Allen

LEAVES CAMPUS
Mr. Sam Baptista

Sam Baptista To Leave For New Position

By PAT MARSTON

Sam Baptista, advisor to foreign students, is leaving Florida State University to work for the Air Force.

Baptista, the first to hold his present position, will take over as education officer for the Straits Air Command at Homestead Air Force Base, Homestead, Florida. "Mr. Sam" as the foreign students call him, first came to FSU as a Freshman in 1946. By 1952 he had an AB in psychology and finished his MA in 1952.

While he was doing work as a graduate assistant, he began advising the foreign students. When one of the students left the area, he was appointed as the first full time advisor.

Like Father

Baptista feels just like a father to his 124 students from 27 different countries. While here, he has encouraged and arranged for the International Club, an organization for both foreign and American students, to get acquainted with one foreign visitor.

Sam would like to encourage more students to get to know students from other countries. "We can learn so much from them if we want," he emphasized. "We don't just be a 'hi' friend, get together with foreign students and really know them."

International Flavor

The Baptista family really has

(Continued on Page 6)

Students Surprised

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Supposed Student Senators found themselves agreeing with one another Wednesday as re-apportionment based on living areas became virtually a certainty.

All that remains is for a five-member committee to draw up a bill embodying the results of several meetings of continuous, informal discussion.

Wednesday, the senators indicated approval of a general plan whereby the campus will be divided into a number of precincts, each to contain between 200 and 300 residents. A senator will be elected from each of these precincts.

In addition, each class will elect ten men and two women in spring elections.

Technically Tentative

Technically, these proposals are tentative. They were agreed upon after several weeks of discussion in what parliamentarians call "committee-of the whole." The senators informally discussed the reapportionment problems, which has been on the Senate floor specifically for a year, voting on it by one on different issues. Two weeks ago they agreed that senators could be elected both from classes and from dormitories, clearing the way for Wednesday's decision on how this could be done.

Senate president pro-tem Jim Moore appointed Gordon Oaster chairman of a committee, whose members: —The Jimmy Soles, Polly Atwater, Art Moore, and "Mr. Sam" as the foreign student. He will present a bill representing the Senate's agreements at a later date.

Fall Elections

According to discussion on Wednesday's meeting, the bill which may be introduced next week, will provide for the division of the campus by several areas, each to contain between 200 and 300 residents, each to elect a senator in the fall.

Two men and two women to be elected in each area are to comprise the freshman semesters, each to represent the classes. At present the Senate is composed entirely of representatives elected from the classes.

Those day students who are carrying a minimum academic load should be represented, the senators said, but no definite method was devised.

Amendment Proposed

Senator Jim Moore suggested that fall elections for living unit representatives be held the first Tuesday in October, at which time the representatives of the class elections be held. He indicated he will introduce an amendment to the Constitution next year the earlier time for freshman elections possible.

The precinct plan will apply to fraternities and sororities as well as residence halls.

Only a few questions were raised during the discussion Wednesday and those who objected did not vote against the plan. Senator Dave Bachman suggested Senate might consider two major issues but others answered that the basis for election could be increased, perhaps to 500, as the campus enrollment increases.

Senator Fred Mansfield protested that senators would not be living in all the dormitories, according to the plan.

Lengthy Issue

Reapportionment has been an issue for over a year. Its advocates have held that student interest in student government would be aroused by electing senators from living areas.

After Jim Moore introduced last year failed, and after senators became deadlocked on procedural technicalities that session, meeting in the informal discussion was suggested as a way of resolving differences

In a series of test votes, on "areas of election" the Senate arrived at Wednesday's proposal. During the process they rejected a suggestion for a two-house legislature, composed of dormitory

(Continued on Page 6)

Fifty-five Women 'Sign Up' After Spring Sorority Rush

Fifty-five Florida State University women pledged social sororities this week.

They will be initiated into the sororities after a semester-long pledge period if they maintain the required scholastic average.

Names of pledges, by sororities, follow:

Alpha Chi Omega

Sara Hodges.

Aspha Delta Pi

Vangie Lee Carruthers and Jono Tyson.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Mary Boven, Marilu Frazier, Marie Locker, Pat Thornton and Barbara Watson

Alpha Omecron Pi

Sallieann Beardsley, Alice Boland, Sandra Champlin, Mary McGwen, Gloria Meltzer, Nancy Murray, Jean Richardson, Charlotte Wilson, and Wilnona Zeh.

Alpa Xi Delta

Charlotte Abney, Maria Measer, and June Walden.

Delta Gamma

Caryl Beal, Diana Holroyd, Barbara Mueller, Suzanne Slappey, and Letitia Tasmarina.

Kappa Delta

Ann Duncan, Sarah Hobbs, Patsy Lemona, June Rodgers, Carol Rule, and Wilra Schantz.

Gamma Phi Beta

Patricia Baker

Kappa Alpha Theta

Barbara Bertolett, Carolyn Brown, Evie Morris, Sandra Rosenberg, Priscilla Swain, and Virginia White.

Kappa Delta

Carolyn Holder, Dolores Lafferty and Elise Newberry.

Phi M

Elizabeth Ellery, Augusta English, and Sharon Poyser.

Pi Beta Phi

Nancy Ann Hall.

Sigma Kappa

Leslie Bauer, Peggy Cain, Rosemary Grow, Dorothy Rice, Alice Turnbull, and Gayle Ulsey.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Linda Bean, Ruby Combs, Mary Harris, and Dean O'Sullivan.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

All second semester Freshmen are required to make an appointment to see their educational counselor between March 9 and March 26.

LA SEUR DISCUSSES HURRICANES WEDNESDAY

Dr. N. E. La Seur, associate professor of meteorology, at Florida State University, will talk on "The Structure of Hurricanes as Revealed by Aircraft Reconnaissance" Wednesday.

The talk will be given before Sigma Xi at 124 Science building at 8 p.m.

Annual Debate Round Schedule

Sixteen colleges and universities from nine states will compete in the Seventh Annual FSU Invitational Debate Tournament today and tomorrow.

Six rounds of debate are scheduled in the tournament. The first four rounds, all of the "standard" college pattern, will be held in the Baptist Church School Building, College Ave. and Duval St., today at 1:30 p.m. The last two rounds, both of the "experimental" conference style, will be held in the History Building, tomorrow at 8:30 a.m.

Three individual speaking events are part of the tournament program: original oratory, impromptu speaking, and after-dinner speaking.

Finals of the after dinner speaking will be held during the tournament banquet in the Suwannee Room, Friday night. Finals of oratory will be held Saturday at 9:45 a.m. Finals of impromptu speaking on subjects dealing with international relations, will be held Saturday noon at the closing awards luncheon. All debates are open to the public.

Will Participate

Schools participating are Appalachian State, Auburn, Emory, Florida Christian, Florida State, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Howard, Miami, Mississippi Southern, North Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Florida Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Louisiana, Illinois, and Virginia.

FSU's entry in debate includes: Affirmative — Leeanne Reese and Herb Lacayo, Jean Goldburn and Karl Allen, Jeannette McLendon and Laura Lee Alexander, Negative — Jean Bleschner and Tom Woods, Ruby Combs and Fred Rogers, L. A. Hester and Bob Martin. Norma Trippodo and Arnold Greenfield will debate sides of the one national guaranteed annual wage resolution.

Tournament director is Dr. Greeg Phifer of the department of speech, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Flory. Assisting in tournament judging will be members of the FSU faculty.

Won Recent Tourneys

The University of Miami has won the FSU Tournament for the last several years and is coming with every intention of carrying home the 1956 Sweepstakes Trophy, announced Dr. Phifer.

Future Freshmen Must Have 1.8

Future freshmen must compile a 1.8 average for both semesters of the second trimester, Student Senate was told Wednesday.

Senator Charles Walker said the policy stiffer than existing regulations was reached by the Council of Deans subsequent to a Senate resolution asking academic requirements be increased.

The letter said that if a freshman does not have a 1.8 average under the point system by the end of his second semester he will have one more semester to complete the 1.8. If he does not succeed, the Registrar should suspension will follow.

A suspended student who returns must make a C average for a minimum of 12 semester hours his first semester back on campus, the letter said.

Present rules state that any student, other than a first semester freshman who gets more than half his work will be liable for suspension.

Sing Preliminaries Over; Finals Set

Campus Sing finalists were chosen last night in preliminaries held in Westcott Auditorium.

Vieing for the women's trophy will be Delta Zeta, Kappa Alpha Psi, Neva Cawthon while Alpha Tau Omega, Lambda Chi Alpha and Pi Kappa Phi will compete for the men's cup.

Campus Sing finals will be held tonight at 7:30 in Westcott Auditorium. Emcee last night was Robert Parrish, who will be named in the finals by Donald Westerbrook.

The Campus Sing is an annual affair sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota, music honoraries.

Winners will be announced and awards handed out at the formal dance to be held from 8 to 12 in the Suwannee Room.

Presents Awards

Karl Mohr, president of Phi Mu Alpha, will present the first place cup, and plaques for second and third place in the men's division, as well as serve as emcee.

Ellen Snow Frank, as president of Sigma Alpha Iota, will present corresponding awards in the women.

Commodores Play

With the 13-piece Commodores setting the pace for the evening, the dance will also feature a "surprise" floor show, said Louise McClure, of the Campus Sing planning committee. Permission to stay out till 12:30 will be granted the women.

Tickets can be bought at $1 a couple from any member of the sponsoring organizations or at the door. Sing tickets, which can only be bought at the door, are 50 cents.

Flambeau Photo by Bob Kloss

Spring Is Here, The Grass Has Ris—Wonder Why His Classes Fly

It's that time again: FSU Junior, Lou Weiss, is shown sleeping on bench on Long more Green.

Choirs To Join For Production

Palm Sunday evening, March 25 the combined choirs of Trinity Methodist Church and the First Presbyterian Church will present Handel's "Messiah Mass" of Verdi.

Robert Sedore, conductor of the FSU Symphony, will conduct the performance. Soloists will be members of the voice faculty of the School of Music, Mrs. Edith Kane, Miss Betty Grimm, Mr. Walter James, and Mr. Herman Lester.

Participation in this production is open to all FSU students. Rehearsals are held at noon or both of the churches on Thursday evenings from 8:30 until 9:15 p.m. Interested students should contact either Mr. James or Mr. Guoter at the School of Music.

ACTIVITY BOOKLETS STILL AVAILABLE

Students who have not yet picked up their activity books should do so according to Mrs. Florence Vernon of the Special Events ticket office. They may be picked up in the Westcott office.

Cardinal Newman Day Set Sunday

The Newman Club, Catholic student group, is celebrating National Newman Day Sunday, with a Communion Breakfast in the Seminole Club after the 8:30 o'clock Mass.

Dr. James T. Vocelle, chairman of the Industrial Communications will be the guest speaker on "Christian Warfare." Monday night, there will be a program at the Newman House, featuring entertainment and refreshments.

ATO To Donate $425 To Chest

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity members estimated yesterday the total they raised for the Campus Chest by Woody Herman's two performances here.

Herman's famous "Third Herd" presented two performances here Wednesday before packed houses in Westcott Auditorium. Tickets sold for 75 cents each.

The fraternity, which sponsored Herman's star here, said that after deducting expenses of advertising and ticket sales, he will be able to contribute approximately over $425 to Campus Chest. Final tabulations have not been completed, however."

Elting Name Is Considered

Bob Elting has been appointed Secretary of Student Welfare to replace Paul Ort, who recently resigned.

Student Body President Coyle Moore, Jr., requested Elting's confirmation along with approval of four other appointments in a letter read to Student Senate Wednesday.

His other appointees are Dick Lukas to junior men's judiciary replacing Don Mengason; Polly Swain, who recently resigned from Honor Court, to be clerk of the court; Jan Kamins to the secretary of state's committee, and Lynn Wilder to replace Elting as under-secretary of labor.

The appointments must be confirmed by the Senate Committee on Elections and Appointments Committee before they can be accepted or rejected by Senate.

Commands Our Applause

Huzzah! Hurrah! And all that.

Senate has come up with a good, sound plan for reapportionment—election from "precincts" or voting areas, and from classes. The plan will provide adequate representation for dormitory students, day students, Greeks, and married students in Mabry Heights.

We could remind the senators that this was one of the first plans to be submitted two years ago when the battle for reapportionment began, but we won't. Suffice it to say that we are glad they have seen

Bowling Situation Pinpointed

Any immediate solution to the bowling alley situation appears to be out, due to financial straits and a contract with tha Tallahassee Bowling League.

However, until the League finishes its scheduled games in the middle of March, tha bowling committee has promised to give preference to students. If possible, the students are encouraged to reserve alleys in advance. The committee further urged that students set up their own bowling leagues in a manner which will organize the now spasmodic and seasonal interest in the sport.

The committee, composed of Dr. William Dell, Dr. Ralph Miller, Miss Anne Lankford, and Dr. James Carr, met Wednesday with this editor to discuss student complaints. While no action was taken definitely at the meeting it was made clear that while the committee wanted to give the student body every preference, the bowling alleys would not be operated at all this year without the Tallahassee League's support.

This financial situation results from a hit-or-miss budget plan under which the alleys are operated, one which definitely should be acted upon by the parties concerned if the alleys are to remain in operation in the future. Operating procedure for the alleys evolve from the School of Education which budgets the Department of Physical Education, from which expenditures in recreational bowling, and from the League.

The committee pointed out that seasonal temperatures as well as other seasonal sports and student activities put the alleys at a disadvantage in competition for student participation. For instance, 372 lines were bowled by students in October last year, and only 185 lines were bowled in April. The committee feels that while present bowling statistics indicate an increase in bowling on the part of the student body over and above past years at this time, the number is subject to future student apathy to bowling.

The biggest problem lies in the insufficient funds allotted to the alleys for the past few years. It appears that they have taken last place in budget consideration, even though they are used daily from 8 to 5 for bowling classes, and from 7 to 10 for recreation. We feel the bowling alleys are not only necessary for classes but equally important as one of the few recreational sports students have on this campus.

Money should be allocated for air-conditioning of the alleys that they may be used in the warmer seasons and thus become financially solvent. The committee also said that an additional $2,000 per year is needed to replace equipment worn and in poor condition due to constant class use.

Where these funds will come from is anyone's guess, but Student Government might consider the alleys from a recreational standpoint in future budgets, and the School of Education might better provide for them since they are primarily instructional units.

If the added student interest continues, such plans would be well warranted in light of the fact that the bowling alleys were among the first things to be scratched in the plans for the new Men's Gym when funds fell short. Not to mention the swimming pool and handball courts as well. We have the existing facilities for a profitable venture. They must not be allowed to depreciate further.

Fuller's Earth . . .

A story printed in one of Florida's newspapers about Fuller Warren's declaration of candidacy for Governor began like this:

"In 209 words the Bible tells how the Good Lord created heaven and earth and the seas.

"In approximately 9,400 words yesterday Fuller Warren mentioned certain plans he has for Florida.

"He's running for Governor." Etc. etc.

Wa think the story should have read like this:

"In 209 words the Bible tells how the Good Lord created heaven and earth and the seas.

"In approximately 9,400 words yesterday Fuller Warren told how he plans to bring heaven to earth . . ."

Letters To The Editor

"Good Ole Tally" Is Defense Of Segregationist

TO THE EDITOR:

Why is it some people can't tend to their own business? That is the main thing wrong in our world today.

I have read the letter by John Sherrinda, which appeared in the Tuesday's Flambeau. Such people as that is what irritates me, and some more students I know.

This is good ole Tallahassee, Florida and FSU, not Chicago, Illinois. Neither do we believe in segregation in schools. If that is what he wants, Negro friends keep out." then let him accept what is here or either go back to Chicago.

Frankly I do not think Miss Bonnie Thomson was referring to the Colonial Students when she said "keep FSU White". I honored that these foreign students do attend our wonderful school.

There is a negro school already in this city. And I must admit it is rather a nice one too.

And as for keeping the sun from setting on John. We like the sunshine and segregated schools down here.

DOYLE ROBERTS

Ex-Editor Criticizes Board's Act

TO THE EDITOR:

I am glad the Flambeau printed the Board of Publications statement of principles in essence and stripped of its high-sounding words, what this statement amounts to is simply the ancient doctrine that whatever is unpleasant to the ruling hierarchy is bad and will not be tolerated if the hierarchy can help it. In essence the publication board has done is apply this doctrine to the FSU campus.

It has and, in effect, has undergraduate publications must censor themselves in accordance with the principles of the FSU Administration. Views or ideas disapproved of by the administration will of course as always, be regarded as immoral in the high aims and good character of the institution. It is inconceivable that the administration will ever regard its own ideas or policies as immoral in the "high aims and good character of the institution."

To quote the statement: "the university . . . has not only the right but the specific duty to censor materials that the publications reflect the high aims and good character of the institution." May one ask who is the university? It is the president? so administrative group? the faculty? students? the public that supports the institution? Or all of these? And does the publication's board mean to imply that all of these groups always agree on what reflects the "high aims and good character" of an institution? I wonder myself as to what the phrase means. I was once told that it meant the continuing search for and discussion of free thought. Now it seems, But I am sure some would disagree, for I am afraid that the words "high aims" mean just what anybody wants them to mean.

As for "good character", certainly no one would argue for bad character. But one would be a fool to determine what is "good character"? Is the editor the arbiter of good character because of his internationalist leanings? Or what of the New Republic? Or the Reporter? Would everyone consider them of "good character"? I do not think so.

The statement continues: "The spirit of a publication must be consistent with the continuing purposes of the university, which are perpetual, rather than with the ideas of any individual or group within the University which ideas vary from year to year or from month to month."

(Continued on page 3)

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROSERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor — Pat Marsten, News Editor
Associate Editor ——— Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ——— Joy Wilkins, Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers ——— Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer, Steve Sheldon, Adrian Allen
Campus Editor ——— Eleanor Kirby
Columnists ——— Wilfrin, Dave Ward-Stutzman, Chido Ward, Martin Dyckman

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ——— Sandra Colley
Exchange Staff ——— Joy Wilkins, Sandra Colley

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave. New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Feature Editor ——— Arlleda Ries
Sports Editors ——— Larry Block, Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ——— Dave Evans, Pierce Allen
Junior Staff ——— Bob Dollison, Bob Moren, Bob Morin, Greek Editor ——— Charlet Poltevint

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown,
Circulation ——— Mike Brady
Morgue ——— George Goldstein
Business ——— Gail Burdall, Larry Meredith, Enid Pearlman, Jane Anderson, Les Meyers
Telephone 2-900, extension 6821, 3621
211, 213 Lonnaker Building

Intercollegiate Press

Dear Mama Seminole..

DEAR MAMA:

RACE FOR GOVERNOR pick up, already get heap hot. Ex-Governor Warren entrance into race assure onlookers of good battle; the old silver fox from Dade County is past master at getting votes After reading much too long platform me also of opinion that him past master with use of words, at least him use one great heap lot of them when telling what him do. Mr. Bryant good man, but him handicapped that another good man already occupy governor's chair and that present governor probably be able to run again. Mr. Bryant need learn one good lesson: if you candidate, talk about stuff, not other candidate only issues. Courts suspend some months, some maidens. Few days later one brave re-election to take. Him brave lady star or football scholarship. Is too bad that maidens not have lucky star or football scholarship We should be proud such never happen at Friendly Village" Or did it?

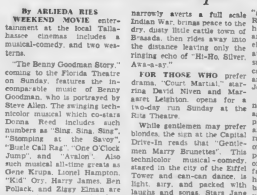
Intelligent Faith Week now over. Me have only one comment: If we continue call week by name mean used we need at different type speaker than we have this year Them good men, often interesting speaks, but me found little intelligent approach to faith in talks me heard at meetings.

Many moons ago me predict restoration of student government official in letter. Me read in last week Flambeau when him resign.

WORLD WEATHER HIT campus again. Me getting suspicious about cold weather, me think maybe him lady in Pentagon ordering it so women council members forget about bermuda shorts. Me guess this solve her problem fine, but it sure make things hard for Georgie; me not use to ice on nose and pretty cheeks. Me willing let women wear most anything them like best, but me warn one more times time Pentagon lady, you ease hot weather and me promise me wrap up in blanket to keep you happy.

Your friend,
GEORGIE H

Screens Offer Musicals, Drama, Wild Westerns - French Spice



By ARLIEDA RIES
WEEKEND MOVIE entertainment at the Capitol Plaza-Tallahassee cinemas includes a musical-comedy, and two westerns.

"The Benny Goodman Story," coming to the Capitol Plaza Theatre on Sunday, features the incomparable music of Benny Goodman and all of these groups always agree on what reflects the "high aims and good character" of an institution? I wonder myself as to what the phrase means. I was once told that it meant the continuing search for and discussion of free thought. Now it seems, But I am sure some would disagree, for I am afraid that the words "high aims" mean just what anybody wants them to mean.

As for "good character", certainly no one would argue for bad character. But one would be a fool to determine what is "good character"? Is the editor the arbiter of good character because of his internationalist leanings? Or what of the New Republic? Or the Reporter? Would everyone consider them of "good character"? I do not think so.

The statement continues: "The spirit of a publication must be consistent with the continuing purposes of the university, which are perpetual, rather than with the ideas of any individual or group within the University which ideas vary from year to year or from month to month."

(Continued on page 3)

"Just Let Me Catch Some Soldiers Moving In Here"

narrowly averts a full scale Indian War, brings peace to the Big Bend little cattle town. B-Seads, then rides away into the distance leaving only the ringing echo of "Hi-Ho Silver. A-a-a-a-y."

"THE HOUSE WHO prefer drama, 'Court Martial' starring David Niven and Margaret Leighton, opens for a two-day run Sunday at the Florida Theatre.

While gentlemen may prefer blondes, the sim at the Capital Drive-In that is currently gentlemen Marry Brunettes". This technicolor musical-comedy, shared in the city of the Florida Tower and can-can dance, is light and gay and filled with laughs and songs. Stars Jane Russell and Jeanne Crain do much to lighten the scenery and make the average moviegoer forget his worries.

Superscope and technicolor do much to accent Claudette Colbert's flaming hair and temper in "Texas Lady", which shows Sunday and Monday at the Perry Highway Outdoor Theatre. This western, involving a newspaper-woman who prods a dormant

The Dissenter

Hints To Georgie Seminole Sleuths

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

WHO, OR WHAT, is Georgie Seminole?

Georgie Seminole, guardian of virtue and champion of the common student—or, brave—is a bigger mystery than the question of what happens to the cafeteria profits.

And those of you who think the Flambeau staff members know, and pose them the question, are rubbing salt into open wounds. For none want to be quite as desperately as do we whose ideas are first expressed, whose curiosities are examined, whose feelings of journalistic proficiency are outraged, by Georgie S.

Everyone has been suspect. To begin, I am not Georgie S.

I ONCE THOUGHT I had his identity pinned down and laid plans to trip the victim. In the present-to two others, I accused A. Oscar Johnson, the Flambeau's silent, cat-that-swallowed-the-canary-countenance managing editor, "Are YOU Georgie Seminole?"

He blushed, turned red, giggled, but said nothing. He let me be wasn't. I bet him he was. Now I'm not sure. Other people are solemnly swearing that someone ELSE is Georgie Seminole.

Someday he will be discovered, though at the present time he does not face the threat that did the first Georgie, two years ago, who would have had good reason to fear that dozens of people had taken blood oaths to secure his scalp.

FOR THOSE SLEUTHS who can neither eat nor sleep nor study nor drink nor ac on daze due to their debilitating, disconcerting doubt, only, here is an analysis of Georgie's politics and social philosophy.

As expressed by his column, he does not believe in an excess of strong social regulations. He does not think that people should be dismissed from school very often. He does not think those in student governments are doing a good job but considers the idea worthy of many instances. He has no tolerance for intolerance, speaking out quite bluntly about segregation and other forms of discrimination.

His name for FSU, "Friendly Village" indicates a genuine feeling of affection for the university and its students, though at times it rises to the heights of bitter satire, as did Jonathan Swift, who mercilessly attacked humanity because he loved it so.

Judging from his writings, he is essentially religious but not dogmatic and is possessed with a high idealism.

MY OWN GUESS is that he lives in a dormitory and has something to do with student government, either in publications or as an unofficial member of the executive branch, not a

(Continued On Page 6)

In The Wings

Says Third Herd Tops Brown

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

THE THIRD HERD opened Wednesday night was in many respects better than that of Les Brown. Herman at his best does not equal Brown at his best, but the higher proportion of the Herd's staff in the former group gives him the nod over his more illustrious competitor.

The fact that both bands had to resort to the old standbys—band vocals, novelty songs, clowning—is an unfortunate reflection of contemporary tastes. No one is going to sit down and listen any more; they have to be entertained. Herman, however, carried the vaudeville to a ridiculous extreme.

Herman is one of the fakers of the Old School; grab a high note and hold it astern Brown said he could sing and Herman was sure to hold the other one where everyone could hear it. The clarinet straight out in front of you or (better still) high in-the air, and get as many weird sounds as possible out of the instrument. If you can dance a jig and play flute at the same time, the audience will just love you.

HERMAN, AS A musician, has always been far behind his band. It is a paradox that Herman should have such high artistic standards for his soloists and sidemen, while, he, himself,

The Visitor

Ike's Gas Bill Veto Has Implications

By ARNOLD GREENFIELD

LAST WEEK President Eisenhower, by vetoing the so-called Gas Bill startled the American public and made a move which may be the foreshadowing of actions leading to far reaching political and historical consequences. Perhaps it would be desirable to review the short but happy story of this nullified piece of legislation.

First of all the bill was a product of the "genius" of a strange alliance of politicians, Republican and Democratic members of both houses of Congress combined in determination and support of this statute which would have exempted producers of natural gas sold in the interstate commerce from regulation and taxation at the source of production by the states. The supporters included arch conservative Republican Representative Carl Hinshaw of California and Democratic Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

TO BE SURE, Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois spoke brilliantly and almost single-handedly against the measure and warned that the use of private interests overriding the public well-being and the general good; nonetheless, the bill sailed through with ease toward passage. Then came the fateful day Republican Senator Case exclaimed that he had been approached and had offered him a few thousand dollars to vote in favor of the bill and that he previously would have done so; but that, because of the attempted bribe, he had now changed his mind and would vote "nay."

But enough of the sordid details—anyone reading this can familiarize himself with the whole affair through other newspapers. My concern here is with the political implications. First of all, the President boldly stepped into the measure took a courageous and public spiritual position. However, we can see that regardless of his reasons for his veto and regardless of the interests of the public being served by his action, the President has laid himself open to wide-spread political criticism from both sides of the party fence. For virtually the first time, personal interest has been made upon the formerly untouchable Eisenhower.

THIS IS unfortunate; nevertheless, we must assume that Ike was aware of what the consequences would be of his unprecedented act. One would not exactly have to be an oracle or soothsayer to foretell the undercurrent political resentment that would arise from his own party, violent attacks from the opposition party, potential loss of support from that great Main political bloc of the middle-class that is instrumental in gaining Mr. Eisenhower the states of Texas, Louisiana, Florida, etc., on the Republican side in 1952. Ike's veto was politically almost that Ike's strength in these critical areas of the country would remain was materially weakened by his alienation of these primary political supporters and that he was aware that this would happen when he made the decision.

Believing the improbable "grass roots support" thesis, what conclusion can we draw about the President's motives? If he did not act for political ends, then he must have felt that he deliberately take this seemingly dangerous course of action. Or could it possibly be that the primary motive was disgust with the oil and corrupt practices surrounding the advocates of the bill. Perhaps more important is the implication that President Eisenhower no longer has reason to be concerned about the political consequences of his actions. And in what case would this be true? Obviously only in the case of his chances for re-election? Obviously only if he has decided not to run for a second term. Thus the Gas Bill veto may prove to be an act indicative of a decision of historical significance.

Wandering With Wiljohn

Herman Gives Personal Comments

By WILJOHN.

BETWEEN BY PERSONAL CRUSH of the Herman group Wednesday night, I went backstage and was fortunate enough to obtain a personal interview with Woody. We got pretty chummy, so I calls him by his first name. He has quite a lot of questions and got a lot of answers, some of which I didn't expect.

Ques: "Musically, is the Third Herd trying to bring anything new to the listening public?"

Ans: "Quite the contrary. I am playing a swing player and I guess I always will be. I'm trying to retain some of the old swing quality of music while at the same time bringing out some of the more modern jazz sounds that people are accepting. Actually we I'm trying to create a wedding of the two. I haven't done it to my satisfaction yet, but I'm trying."

Ques: "Are you using any different voicings or instrumentation that are new to this group or the Herd of yesteryear?"

Ans: "Basically the same, with changes in reeds (three tenors, no alto) and more trumpet than usual, and a couple of trombones. Right now, we aren't on a jazz tour. This is primarily dance gigs and concert. We've been on the road for four months now and we have one more month to go. Then we pick up Louie Armstrong and we will REALLY be on a jazz tour then."

Ques: "What kind of audience do you prefer?"

Ans: "Exactly what we've got here. I think music men all over will pretty well agree that college students are the best thing that ever happen to jazz. This first audience was pretty good. I guess the party our fault cause we're so beat. We'll really give them hell this half, though."

Ques: "Who do you think are some of the outstanding jazz artists?"

Ans: "Now you've done it. There are so many. Let's see—I like Harry Edison on trumpet and of course, Billy Butterfield and Bill Harris. I'm partial. Clarinet and sax I like Buddy DeFranco. He is really doing some great work and too, Tony Scott is one of my favorites."

That about finished my brief questions as he just started to talk. I had mentioned what we had heard when Brown was here and that he didn't seem to be as flashy a frontman as Brown. I'd also asked about his trick of playing with one hand, etc., that certain "Musical Literati" in one of the shows columns mentioned. This is what he said.

"The day I throw a pink jacket on my stand, I hope they lead me out the door and shoot me. I have a lot more to do than that and I'm afraid that my showmanship isn't what it might be. I figure that people came to hear music. They wanted to see a carnival, they would be sitting in an auditorium. I don't like to get in the way of my music so I try to hold that down a bit. If I had my way, I'd play the whole concert with the curtain closed so folks would

(Continued On Page 8)

68 Percent Of Students Turn In Questionnaires

Florida State's Return 'Good'

Sixty-eight per cent of Florida State University students have completed and returned the Board of Control's segregation questionnaire.

Paul Skelton, assistant business manager of the Board, in announcing this response yesterday, termed it "good."

The number of questionnaires coming back from FSU students is diminishing daily, he said, explaining that the total FSU student response will be 75 per cent.

Results of the poll, which asks how people would respond to integration in the state universities, will not be made public unless the Board votes to do so, Skelton said.

The survey, including students' family members, alumni, and parents of students at the University of Florida, FSU, and Florida A & M University, still be presented to Circuit Judge Murphree of Gainesville, who was designated by the Florida Supreme Court to gather data relevant to whether public mischief" would be caused by integration.

Mailed Wednesday

Questionnaires were mailed to University of Florida students Wednesday, Skelton said.

Parents of FSU and U of F students have returned 33 percent of their questionnaires, Skelton said. Faculty members from the two white institutions have returned 37 per cent of theirs. Those in Gainesville were only recently mailed but faculty questionnaires at FSU have been in longer and a 70 percentage, he said.

Triple Expected Number Of Teaching Scholarships Open

Three hundred eighteen General Scholarship Loans for the Preparation of Teachers are open for the 1956-57 school year, according to Dr. Sam Lasinger of the School of Education.

Examinations will be held in the Strozier Room March 27 at 6:00 a.m. Interested students should obtain application forms at 218 Education Dr. Lastinger said.

The scholarships, three times as many as before, will be awarded first by counties. Unused scholarships will then be placed in a general state pool. Dr. said. Applicants who are unsuccessful in obtaining a scholarship from their home counties will be entered into the competition for scholarships in the general pool.

Men And Women

Scholarships are open to both men and women who are preparing to teach. Recipients of the $200-per-semester scholarships will be expected to teach in Florida public schools for as many years as they hold the scholarship.

Openings by counties are as follows:

Alachua, 16; Baker, 1; Bay, 6; Bradford, 4; Brevard, 1; Broward, 10; Calhoun, 3; Charlotte, 1; Clay, 4; Collier, 2; Columbia, 3;

Dade, 18; Duval, 28;

Escambia, 16; Gadsden, 7; Glades, 1; Gulf, 3; Hamilton, 2; Hardee, 3; Hernando, 2; Highlands, 4; Hillsborough, 16; Holmes, 3; Indian River, 3, Jackson, 8; Jefferson, 1; Lake, 8, Lee, 3, Leon, 8, Levy, 5, Manatee, 6; Marion, Martin, 2;

Monroe, 3; Okaloosa, 5; Orange, 19; Osceola, 1; Palm Beach, 13; Pasco, 4; Pinellas, 21; Polk, 20; Putnam, 4; St. Johns, 7; St. Lucie, 5; Santa Rosa, 3; Sarasota, 3; Seminole, 4; Sumter, 2; Suwannee, 3;

Taylor, 2; Union, 2; Volusia, 9; Walton, 1; Washington, 3

Kansas Liberal Arts College Grade Requirements Boosted

LAWRENCE, Kans.—(UP)—The faculty of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Kansas recently approved changes in scholarship and probation requirements for undergraduates enrolled in the College. Faculty members also added 10 courses to the curricula, dropping two.

Under the new scholastic requirements, freshmen and sophomores must earn a grade-point average of at least 70 each semester, and juniors and seniors are required to earn at least a 1.00 average. A student in good standing who fails to satisfy these requirements will be placed on probation at his next enrollment, providing his gradepoint average is not below a D average.

Will Be Suspended

Students who have an average of less than zero for any semester will be suspended and will not be eligible to re-enroll except with permission from the Committee on Scholarship and Probation. The old requirement stipulated that students who received a grade below C in over 40 per cent of their work or failing to meet probation requirements would not be eligible to enroll the next semester.

Now, a student placed on probation will remain on probation until returned to good standing by the Committee. If any student on probation fails to satisfy the required minimum grade-point average, he will be suspended and not allowed to enroll again without permission. If he fails to attend classes regularly or makes unsatisfactory progress in his studies he may be dropped from the College at any time.

Four English courses were added to the College curricula. They are "Introduction to Folklore," "English Biography," "Modern American and British Writers," and "American Fiction." "Introduction to Folklore" is the first course of its kind offered at the University.

Five courses pertaining to the history of science were added making the first time that courses in this field have been offered here. They are "History of Medieval Science and Technology," "Science an dthe Industrial Revolution" and "History of Science 2, and 11."

Another new course is "Introduction to Linguistic Science" which also touches upon a new field for the University.

Other courses added are "The Psychology of Language," "Principles of Television Production," "Advanced French Conversation" and "Scientific Illustration."

Latin American Teaching Jobs Are Available

Would you like to teach in Latin America?

You don't have to speak anything but English, according to Dr. Margaret V. Campbell of the Modern Language Department, although knowledge of either Spanish or Portuguese is desirable.

Dr Campbell heads a committee set up here by direction of Milton Dosk H. Campbell to recruit prospectus teachers in America - sponsored nonprofit work in Latin America.

Those passing the local screening will be referred to the Inter-American Schools Service of the American Council on Education which asked FSU to set up the committee.

There are 720 Latin American posts served by the Service. Salaries range between $2400 and 14,000. Instruction is primarily in English.

The schools usually require the equivalent of a B.A. degree and two or more years of experience in the grade or subject to be taught.

Applications should be made later than April 15. Dr. Campbell said, but a new school year starts in March in the Latin American countries.

Working on the screening committee besides Dr. Campbell are Dr. R. B. Delachlaupt, head of the Modern Languages Department, Dr. Robert L. Gouldin, School of Education, Edwin J. Silliman, History Department, Mrs. Margaret Blair, Director of the Placement Office; and Sam Baptista, foreign affairs editor.

Sightseeing, Study Tour Is Offered Here

An opportunity to mix sightseeing with serious study of family life in 10 European countries awaits those who sign up for a Marriage and Family Life Study tour.

The tour, sponsored by Florida State University and the National Council on Family Relations, is scheduled for next summer.

The price of the tour will be $1,395.00 which will include tuition and registration.

Dr. M. F. Nimkoff, head of the Department of Sociology at FSU, said those taking the tour July 30-Aug. 31 will go to England, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Denmark, Austria, Switzerland, France and Holland. Dr. Nimkoff and his wife also a sociologist, will conduct the tour.

Purpose, he said, will be to "observe what other countries are doing to stabilize and enhance marriage life, to investigate patterns of family organizations, of state and community social services and counseling of community planning and family life and of other functions performed by schools, clinics, universities and adult education programs."

In addition, Dr. Nimkoff said, students will have a chance to meet in each country persons who are active in the marriage and family life field, with enough time left over to take numerous sightseeing tour to historic and cultural landmarks

The tour may be taken for six semester hours credit, which will be good also in other universities, or without credit.

Harter Again Heads Alpha Kappa Psi

Dr Harter, head of the department of business law at FSU, was re-elected, Saturday, as the District Councilor of the Alpha Kappa Psi Business and Professional Fraternity for the five southeastern states of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Florida.

Dr. Harter will serve the fraternity for another three-year term as one of the nine members of the Grand Council.

For Your Films
have them developed
at
the most convenient store
CHEVET'S
Corner of College
and Adams
the best assortment
of Cameras and
Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

WFSU F M SCHEDULE

What's — on (Program Schedule)
2:00 Masterworks	2:30 Dance Parade
3:00 Hi-Fi Salon	3:00 Let's Meet Perf.
4:45 Sp-Fi Concert	4:15 PTC Matinee
5:00 Love Duet	7:30 Music U Want
6:30 Cordial	8:00 Tchaikovsky
6:00 Stories	8:30 Orf: Moments
6:30 Angel Chap	9:00 Violin Recital
6:30 Beethoven	9:30 Folk Music
7:00 Dr. Talks	9:45 Bill Monk
7:30 Drama	10:00 Jazz Revisit
8:15 Demi-tasse

SATURDAY

2:00 Masterworks	2:30 Demi-Tasse
3:00 Delta Rho	7:00 Choral Press
3:45 NAEB drama	7:15 French Press
4:00 Hi-Fi Concert	7:30 Music U Want
5:00 Classics	8:00 Melancholy
6:00 Story	8:30 Symphonies
6:30 Concerto	9:00 Violin Recital
7:30 Auditorium off	9:30 Hour of Jazz
8:20 Requiem	10:30 Bedtime Music
9:00 Star Time	11:45 Herald
9:15 BPO Orch

2:00 Masterworks	2:30 Barnaby
3:30 La Bocettes	7:00 Pr. Maestro.
4:45 Pianist	7:15 BDP Orch
5:00 Music Time	7:30 Music U Want
6:00 Adventures	8:00 Masterworks
6:00 Philharm	8:30 Masterworks
6:30 Aug Choir	9:00 Recital
6:00 Lyrics	9:30 Bedt. Stories
7:30 Drama	9:30 Wash. Reign
8:00 Demi-Tasse	9:45 Barclay
8:15 Lecture

MONDAY

7:00 FM In Am	6:00 News
7:30 Hi-Fi Salut	6:15 Demi-Tasse
8:00 Pros of Cvil	6:30 Strings
8:30 Masterworks	7:00 Guitar
9:00 Hi-Fi Salut	7:30 Music U Want
9:30 Jazz Chair	8:00 Music U Want
9:30 Talisman	8:00 Grand Cath
9:30 Drama, F with	8:30 Bedt. Stories
10:00 Sinfonie	8:00 Prof. Pitch
10:00 Angel Chap	8:30 Choir Music
9:30 Olympia	8:45 Rock Rollers
9:30 Quadrille	9:00 Symphonies

West Hall's Sweetheart

West Hall's Queen—Miss Jean Hayden 19-year-old second semester Freshman from Jacksonville was named the choice of 552 mail ballots at FSU's biggest dormitory. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Letters To The Editor

(Continued from page 2)

month." This sounds like homegrown totalitarianism. Here we are told that the "monthly" or "yearly" undergraduates must not dissent from the "continuing purposes" of the university. Just what is meant by "continuing purposes"?

The statement indicates that the ideas endorsed by the "University" are the only ones that are "perpetual" and therefore should be followed. Then, if any of these "monthly" or "yearly" undergraduates insist on an idea or view contrary to this "continuing purpose" he can easily be told his view is not consistent with that of the "University." In other words, undergraduates must conform and certainly dare not cross the line followed by the "University."

Among other things, I can recall what David Reisman was reported as saying in a recent article: "By attempting to be all things to all men (schools) risk being nothing so much as havens for mediocrity . . . and school which fails to produce some brilliant nonconformists has probably failed, because one of education's highest aims is to provide a basis for the criticism of society . . . good schools are not comfortable places where popular attitudes are ratified, they are rather, forums from which a nation can be changed".

The statement concedes that "good taste" is difficult to define. It should have stopped there. It can be defined in a hundred ways. Was the Tampa Tribune in good taste in its recent editorial deploring that such efforts as this so control student thought in undergraduate publications? Was Paine's Common Sense in good taste? Was Milton in good taste or the regime that sent him to prison? Was the Declaration of Independence in good taste? All these, in their time were "offensive" to considerable and powerful individuals and groups.

No, I do not think the tone of this statement of principles is one that acknowledges independent thought. Or, if it does to an extent, but only to the extent it wants to define it.

The phrase used in this statement are the same grounds used before by the Administration to try and curb the views of groups on this campus, whose views were or are unpopular with a segment of the public. These grounds have now merely passed the responsibility of a board that can't or doesn't want to see the implications of what it is doing.

BOB FOLSOM

Honorary To Tap Freshman Women

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's scholastic honorary, is making plans for tapping new members in March and for initiation in April or May.

Freshmen women who did not make a 3.5 average first semester will be recognized for their high scholastic achievement.

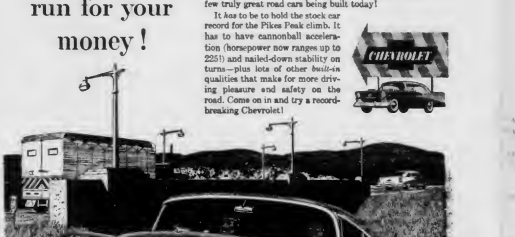
Freshmen women who did not make a 3.5 average first semester, but who attain a 3.5 overall average for both semesters will be eligible for tapping the first semester of their second year.

* * *

National Council of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary, will award the Alice Crocker Lloyd Fellowship in June for 1956-57 graduate study.

The fellowship is for $750 and may be used in any college or university where there is a chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Any member graduating in 1954, 1955, or 1956 who has maintained a 2.5 average throughout her college career is eligible. Graduating seniors may apply if they have maintained this average through the first semester of their senior year.



Any senior interested should contact the Dean of Women for details of the award and for application blanks. Applications must be submitted before April 15.

Classified

FOR SALE: Tuxedo with white and black jacket; tweed sport coat; size 36; telephone 3-3338.

LOST: Sigma Kappa sorority pin. Triangular, with pearls. If found contact Dawn Sharp.

Get a record-breaking run for your money!

Only Chevrolet puts you in charge of the dynamic action and sure-fire handling qualities it takes to break the Pikes Peak record! Better try it before you buy any car at any price.

Almost everybody likes a real road car. And nowadays you no longer have to pay a king's ransom to own one. They're going at Chevrolet prices! For the new Chevrolet is one of the few truly great road cars being built today!

It has to be to hold the stock car record for the Pikes Peak climb. It has to have automatic acceleration (horsepower now ranges up to 225!) and nailed-down stability on turns—plus lots of other built-in qualities that make for more driving pleasure and safety on the road. Come on in and try a record-breaking Chevrolet!

The Bel Air Sport Sedan—one of 19 new Chevrolet beauties. All have directional signals as standard equipment.

See Your Chevrolet Dealer

When classes are through
And your girl's close to you
Here's a good thing to do—have a CAMEL!

—Man, that's pure pleasure!

It's a psychological fact: Pleasure helps your digestion. If you're a smoker, remember — more people get more pure pleasure from Camels than from any other cigarette!

No other cigarette is so rich-tasting, yet so mild!

Hauser Speaks At 'Hour'

Noted Author Sets Coffee Hour Talk

Noted author Marianne Hauser will be the guest at the English Coffee Hour today at 4 p.m. in the Westminster house.

Miss Hauser will read an original short story, entitled "The Sheep", which first appeared in Harper's Bazaar, then was translated into several languages.

A winner of a Rockefeller grant, Miss Hauser is at present living in Tallahassee. She is working on a new novel, "The Living Shall Praise Thee", to be published by Houghton Mifflin. Portions of this book have been printed in Harper's Bazaar already.

Born in Strasbourg, France she has free-lanced for Swiss periodicals, published short stories in leading fmtionlcines and magazines, written book reviews for the New York Times and has been the author of several novels.

In real life, Miss Hauser, who has traveled in Egypt, India, and the Far East as a correspondent, is married to Fredrick Kirchberger, concert pianist, and is the mother of a ten year old boy, Michael.

Kirchberger is professor of music at Kirkaville, Missouri. At present, is at FSU working on a doctorate in music under Kilenyi.

SPEAKS AT COFFEE HOUR
Miss Marianne Hauser

American Studies

Science Important In Agriculture Still

The roles of science and technology in the development of agriculture are not at an end because the frontier has vanished, a Florida State University geography professor said Tuesday night.

Dr. Burke Vanderhill, assistant professor of geography, told the American Studies audience that the "agricultural glut" from present farm lands makes development of the few remaining dry areas impractical.

"We still feel we ought to do something people in arid western areas at great expense and give subsidiaries them indefinitely," he charged.

The technology that science has given us, he maintained, should go into "modifying present existing methods" through such practices as soil conservation.

Second Period

The second period, 1790 to 1860, saw the extension of the cotton growing area provoked by the development of the cotton gin and various textile machines, Vanderhill said. Water power made expansion in northern New England possible while steam driven lumbering machines facilitated the harvesting of Great Lakes timber states.

As public roads channelled immigrants and others into the midwest, manufacture at first of iron and then of steel plows made it possible to till the rich but tough prarie soil, Vanderhill continued.

In the period from 1845 to 1860, a new factor, the cattle industry, entered the story of America's geographic growth. The cattlemen voiced demands for railroads which in turn helped build up the West.

Plains Settled

From 1860 to 1890 the Great Plains were settled and the drilling of water wells moved cattle and farming away from the rivers, Dr. Vanderhill noted. Some attempts at scientific method were made in this time, he said.

In the "modern era" after 1890, when the frontier was officially declared closed, such techniques as dry farming, control of watershed, conservation, strip plowing, and contour plowing made tillable all but the most arid of western areas, he said.

Science can still be of service in correlating the experiences of the past in analyzing soil, land, and weather, and in producing new fertilizers, machines and tools, he commented.

Next week's lecture will be delivered by Dr. Francis R Allen, of the sociology department and will deal with transportation and communication in America.

Magazine To Give Prize For CollegeFiction

Mademoiselle, in its annual College Fiction Contest, is offering $1000 in prizes and publication in the magazine, to student authors.

Besides two winners, who will each receive $500, two honorable mention stories will be selected, which may be published in regular rates paid by the magazine for fiction.

Entries, submitted to: College Fiction Contest; Mademoiselle; 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N.Y.; should be post marked by midnight March 15, 1956.

Any woman undergraduate under twenty-six, regularly enrolled in a degree-granting college is eligible. Stories, which should run from approximately 2,500 to 5,000 words, may be submitted if they have been published in undergraduate publications, but not elsewhere, and should be original and deal with fictitious characters.

Entries should be typed on resolutions-size paper, double-spaced, and only on one side of the page. Work must be marked clearly with name, age, home address, school address and school year. Stories will be returned only if a 9" by 12" self addressed, Manila envelope is included.

Decision of the judges, Mademoiselle editors, will be final.

Pitzer To Conduct Chemistry Seminar

Dr. Kenneth S Pitzer, who was director of the Division of Research, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission from 1949-51 is now visiting Florida State University this week.

Dr. Pitzer will give a chemistry seminar tomorrow entitled "Energy Effects from Electron Correlation." This will be given at 4:00 P.M. in room 3068, and the public is invited.

Dr. Pitzer is the Dean of the College of Chemistry at the University of California in Berkeley. He is the recipient of numerous awards for his distinguished research, and is one of the best known American chemists.

Pitzer To Conduct Chemistry Seminar

Dr. Kenneth S Pitzer, who was director of the Division of Research, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission from 1949-51 is now visiting Florida State University this week.

Dr. Pitzer will give a chemistry seminar tomorrow entitled "Energy Effects from Electron Correlation." This will be given at 4:00 P.M. in room 3068, and the public is invited.

Dr. Pitzer is the Dean of the College of Chemistry at the University of California in Berkeley. He is the recipient of numerous awards for his distinguished research, and is one of the best known American chemists.

Theatre Dance Group

'Dance Evening' Set Next Week

Variety is the keynote of the forthcoming Theatre Dance Group program, according to Nellie-Bond Dickinson, director.

The performance, called "An Evening of Dance," will appeal to the person who "just likes a nice visual experience and no deep meaning, or a chuckle or two, or dramatic content, deep meaning, and mood quality," Miss Dickinson said.

This year's performance is slated for next Thursday and Friday evenings at 8:15 in Westcott Auditorium.

The Theatre Dance Group which each year presents the dance program is an organization of students who are interested in dance and in obtaining experience in dance production. The annual performance gives these students the opportunity to work out patterns, spacing and spirit of dance movement and to design costumes.

Stimulate Interest

In addition, the program fulfills another purpose of the group, which is to stimulate interest in and develop appreciation of modern dance on the campus and in the Tallahassee area.

"An Evening of Dance" is a blend of talents from several areas in the university Carlise Floyd, assistant professor in the School of Music, is one of the musical directors of the program. He also composes music for some of the dances.

Lester H. Bruch, instructor in the physical education department, is another musical director and composer. In additions, he is accompanied by University Dance classes and for the Theatre Dance Group.

Handles Lighting

The speech department, under the direction of Dr. Lynn Ahrt, handles lighting. Prop designing is the work of Art Newcomb, Demonstration School art instructor, and William Watson, ceramics instructor in Art Education.

Student composers are David Ward-Steinman and Ryan Mc-Kenna wards. Jim Staples is accompanist. All three students are in the School of Music.

Students who will take part in the program are Lucille Turnage, Ryan Edwards, Sue Rosers, Nora Shinda, Sheila Aspinall, Pat Napier, Charles Robinson, Wood Hickmon.

Others are Jim Staples, Carolyn Brown, Charlotte Curry, Jerry Hunt, Donna Gregory, Jane Lawrence, Betty Gooch, Nancy White, Jacqui Charles, and Serena Schatz.

Other performers are Diane Kagan, Sarah Monroe, Barbara Grebel, Jim Padigan, Joan Strickland, Carolyn Bell, Dora Burr, Peggy DeBoli, Diana Johnson, Princess Kovaz, Jean Wilson, Mary Ann Cleary.

Katherine Hartley Nancy Key, Astrid Tindall, Gail Rose, Ara Hay, and Pamela Duke conclude the list of performers.

7 'Miss FSU' Finalists Are Selected

Seven finalists in the Taily-Ho's "Miss FSU" contest were chosen Tuesday night.

They are Faye Anthony, Jean Harden, Dot Job, Beverly Laurent, Ann Munroe, Linda Rollins, and Alice Sullivan.

One of them has already been designated "Miss FSU" but her identity will be secret until the yearbook is published.

Judges were Conrad Horn, Taily-Ho managing editor, Oscar Johnson, manager editor of the Florida Flambeau; Don Heidel, Smoke Signals editor; Dr. Claude Flory, English department; and Dr. Adolph Karl, art department.

3rd Flambeau Workshop Set

The third in a series of workshops for students interested in working for the Florida Flambeau will be held tomorrow, said Jayleen Robertson, editor.

The meeting will begin at 2 p.m. in the Flambeau newsroom, 213 Longmire.

Topics to be discussed a proof reading, an activity in which many students begin their association with the newspaper.

At the close of the workshop there is no more attending, who display an ability and interest will be made regular staff members.

Pi Kappa Lambda Elects New Officials

The following officers were elected Tuesday for Phi Chapter of Pi Kappa Lambda, National Honorary Society for scholars in the field of music.

Presidents, Dr Robert L. Briggs; vice-president, Mr Robert Glorbarb; secretary, Miss Schnoor; treasurer and Dr Howard Wilson

Candidates for election to membership will be announced later in the spring and will be installed at a special meeting in May. A formal banquet will be held in their honor at that time.

Candidates will be presented to the faculty and students in the School of Music at a Student Recital prior to their initiation.

Flambeau Photo, Dick Perry

Just Completed—This $750,000 classroom building is expected to ease area classroom shortage at FSU. It is to be occupied by the zoology, botany, bacteriology and physiology departments and the Oceanographic Institute.

Librarian To Tell Of Recent Books

Mrs. Sara K Bryaler, assistant professor in the Library School will discuss "Recent Books for Young People" at a meeting of Epsilon Chi, campus affiliate of the National Council of Teachers of English.

The meeting is slated for Tuesday at 6:45 p.m. in Longmire Lounge.

Mrs. Bryaler, who is a former member of the Florida State Department of Education, is now an active member of the American Library Association. She has received national recognition for her work in the field of school libraries.

Epsilon Chi, the group sponsoring her talk, is one of three junior orastunations of the NCTE. It was organized at Florida State University last spring. Membership is open to students interested in the teaching of the English language arts at elementary, secondary, or college levels.

Current officers of the professional organization are Margaret Malloy, president; Carolyn Redfern, vice president; Caroline Jo Sherman, secretary; and Marsha Shannon, treasurer.

LEON 'ARISTO CATS' PLAY AT CENTER

A new orchestra from Leon High School, the "Aristo Cats" will play at a Student Center informal dance tomorrow night.

Mrs. Grace Bateman, hostess, said the group will play from 10 to 12 p.m.

Student Center dances are without admission fee.

Journalists Set Get-Together

The Journalism Jamboree, an informal get-together of faculty and students of the School of Journalism, is slated for next Friday night, at Camp Semiole.

Festivities will begin at 7:00 Cars will leave for the camp from the Journalism building at 6:30.

Students who wish to participate in the Jamboree must register by next Wednesday noon in Dr. Jones office, Room 301, Journalism building.

A fee of 75 cents per person will be obtained to cover the cost of food. Students are requested to deposit the fee when they register to attend the Jamboree.

NESMITH INSTALLED 4-H CLUB PREXY

Virginia Nesmith was installed as the president of the Collegiate 4-H Club on February 7 in a ceremony held in the small lounge of Longmire.

Other new officers are June Bowen Stoutamire, vice president; Phyllis Shaddick, secretary; Carolyn Bell, treasurer; and Anna Lois Clark, Rural Youth Chairman.

Putnam Slates Talk Today On Chemistry

Dr. Frank W. Putnam, chairman of the department of chemistry at the University of Florida College of Medicine, will deliver a lecture before the American Chemical Society at 4 p.m., today.

It will be given in the new general classroom building auditorium.

Dr. Putnam's talk on "Abnormal Serum Proteins of the Human" will include much of his own research on unusual proteins of the blood which become prominent in leukemia diseases.

Following service with the Chemical Warfare Service, Dr. Putnam taught at Loyola University School of Medicine one year and became assistant and later Associate Professor to the Department of Biochemistry, University of Chicago. While there he was Markle Scholar in Medical Sciences, 1948-53. During this time he spent one yhear as Lasdon Research Fellow at the University of Cambridge, England.

He is also a member of A A A S, American Society of Biological Chemists, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi and Phi Lambda Upsilon. He is editor of Archives of Biochemistry and Biophysics." member of Executive Committee ACS Division of Biological Chemistry and of the General Biochemistry Panel. Committee on Growth, American Cancer Society. He was chairman of the A.A.A.S. Gordon Conference on Proteins and Nucleic Acids in past summer.

White Sands Team Comes For Interviews

Members of a special recruiting team from White Sands Proving Ground, New Mexico, will be on campus Monday to interview students interested in obtaining positions at the Proving Ground.

Positions are under Civil Service with starting salaries from $4000 to $5000 per year, depending upon training and experience. In addition, generous insurance and retirement benefits are granted, as well as annual sick leave.

Those selected will be assigned to one of the Proving Ground's research laboratories, field test divisions, or support organizations.

Students may get an appointment by calling the office of Vocational Guidance and Placement.

Two Named To Film Club Post

Mrs. eGorge Lewis H. of Tallahassee, and Professor Charles H Fairbanks, member of the Anthropology Department at FSU, were recently elected as members of the Board of the FSU Film Club.

These newly elected Board members will replace Professors Adolph Karl and Mathew Stone whose two year terms expire to May.

Other members of the Board are Professor George A. Finch, chairman; Mrs. Margery Dutmer Urwanger; Mrs. Nancy Gunn; and Professor Hale G. Smith.

JOHNSON LECTURES AT KANSAS

Prof. Ivan E. Johnson, head of the Department of Arts Education at Florida State University, has left for the University of Kansas where he will give three art education lectures.

During a stopover in Kansas City, Mo., he will speak at the Kansas City Art Institute.

OH YOU KIDS! LUCKY DROODLES!

WHAT'S THIS? For solution, see paragraph below.

HOLIDAY TRAFFIC LEAVING CITY
Theresa Morris Dream Tech

AUTO (SNOWED IN)
John Rolandy Purdue

PLEXPOSE SITTER ON CLOUDY DAY
Edward Zimmerman U. of Denver

DROODLES—POCKET EDITION. There's a pocket edition of almost everything these days. Why not Droodles? This one's titled: Shirt pocket of Lucky Smoker. This smoker might give you the shirt off his back—but he'd sure hang on to that pack of Luckies. Reason: Luckies taste better. You see, they're made of fine tobacco—light, mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. Matter of fact, you'll say Luckies are the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked! Better pocket a pack today!

DROODLER, Copyright 1953 by Roger Price

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES!

Luckies lead all other brands, regular or king size, among 36,075 college students questioned coast to coast. The number-one reason: Luckies taste better.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER – Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

©A.T.Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Herbert Block v. Gas-Oil Lobby

"We Don't Want to Leave Any Stone Untarned"

"Ain't Nobody Here But Just Us Public Servants"

The Press Table

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

ANOTHER TITLE

As most of you know, when the Florida State cagers clipped Stetson, 89-83, Monday night they not only won their 19th straight conference game, but also sewed up a second straight conference title.

Just for the record books, the Tribe meets Miami tomorrow night in the Magic City, but the Seminoles, with the help of Stetson, have long since taken the glory away from the contest.

Billed all year as the battle for the FIBC championship, the game lost most of its luster when the Stetson boys toppled Miami, 91-84, in DeLand and dropped the Hurricanes two games behind.

So, it's all over for another year, the conference race that is. The games with Miami, Loyola and Georgia still have an important bearing on the Tribe's final records and they need a win in each of them.

In addition to a conference title, the Seminoles are sure to have taken the individual scoring title with guard Jimmy Oler. Oler has poured in points at a 20-31 point per game clip in the first nine conference garnes, and nobody has a chance to catch him.

But what about next year? The Seminoles face a stronger FIBC with no Oler, Dick Artmeier or Gary Wold. Who takes up the slack?

As we have mentioned previously in these columns Tommy Garcia has recently stepped into the limelight as a likely prospect to fill Oler's shoes.

Garcia came up with his best performance of the season against Stetson, pouring in 24 points while playing the entire game for the first time this year.

He's a good bet.

Another "good bet" to move into a starting slot next year is Freshman Hugh Durham from Kentucky. Durham has consistently led the Frosh in scoring all year.

He hit a high of 39 points against Southwestern Georgia Junior College in mid-season, and has been over 20 in a game numerous times.

NO BIG MAN

Both Garcia and Durham however, are relatively small men for the game, a variety which Florida State seems to have had more than their share of in the last few years.

Head coach Bud Kennedy has expressed a repeated desire to field a team with not only tall forwards, but also a pair of guards over 6-0.

With this in mind, the head cage mentor has tried much of his season to mold 6-3 Stu Gregory into an outside man in his double post setup, but with admitted minor success.

"Stu seems to work better out of the pivot slot on the inside," Kennedy says, "so that's where he'll stay from now on."

Gregory has turned in some outstanding pivot performances in practices and is a good bet to see plenty of action next year. Stu bagged 12 points against Stetson, and played "one of his better games" in Kennedy's estimation.

"We'll still lack the good big man next year," Kennedy stressed," and with this in mind we've taken interest in some of the junior college boys out west."

After his 13-point performance in the Stetson game here, it appeared that 6-8 Bobby Williams had at last found himself, but here fate took a hand.

Two days before the Southern contest in Lakeland last Friday, ironically enough in the last full workout of the year, Williams re-aggravated an ankle injury and did not see full duty in either of the Southern or Stetson contests on the road.

"We think that Bobby is just beginning to find himself," Kennedy comments, "and we're counting on him to improve even more next year."

However, with Gary Wold departing this June, the Tribe still lack another big man and the search goes on.

Kennedy is of course interested in Jacksonville Junior College's Chuck Brendler, but so is everybody else. Local fans will get a good chance to view Brendler in action today when JJC meets the FSU frosh in the Florida High Gym.

FSU OVER DAYTON?

Arguments over the value of comparative scores in any sport have ranged hot and heavy for years, and it's true that if you pin down the line comparing team victories and losses you can come up with some startling revelations.

For instance, if you run over the scores for a certain set of games this year, you can establish Florida State's Seminoles as a 45 or 46-point favorite over the Dayton Flyers, nationally ranked number two.

Incredible? Probably, but it's fun to look at 'em anyway. Earlier this year, the Tribe nipped Miami here, 76-76. Not too long ago, Miami edged Xavier of Ohio, 77-75. Last week, Xavier stunned University of Louisville, 99-98. Louisville has upset Dayton twice this year, 64-62, 58-56.

Florida State over Miami; Miami over Xavier; Xavier over Louisville; Louisville over Dayton twice. Result FSU over Dayton. Simple, isn't it?

They tell us that coaches dream of such things.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
STARTS THURSDAY	FRIDAY - SATURDAY
SHOWING ONE WEEK	"THE RETURN OF JACK SLADE"
"THE BENNY GOODMAN STORY"	John Ericson Mari Blanchard
Starring, Steve Allen with	SUNDAY - TUESDAY
Donna Reed Gene Krupa Ziggy Elman Harry James	"THE LONE RANGER" Clayton Moore Jay Silverheels Lyle Bettger

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN on WOODVILLE HWY.
ENDS SATURDAY	ENDS SATURDAY
"THE SEA CHASE" John Wayne Lana Turner —also— "SINBAD'S UPRISING"	"ULYSSES" Kirk Douglas —also— "THE OUTLAW STALLION" Phil Carey
SUNDAY - MONDAY "TEXAS LADY" Claudette Colbert Barry Sullivan	SUNDAY - MONDAY "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes" Jane Russell Jeanne Crain

RITZ—Ends Sat.— "WUTHERING HEIGHTS"
Sunday — Monday—"COURT MARTIAL"—David Niven

Seminole Cagers Tackle Hurricanes, FIBC Title Safe

By LARRY BLOCK
Flambeau Sports Editor

Miami's hurricanes play host to FSU's basketball team tomorrow night in the "Magic City" but the game has no bearing on conference play.

Coach Bud Kennedy's cagers entered their second consecutive FIBC crown Monday with an 89-83 win over Stetson.

The Tribe boasts a 9-0 record in FIBC competition, a lambeau Sports Editor and stands at 7-2 in the runner-up position. A victory over the Hurricanes will give FSU its 20th straight conference win.

Guard Dick Miani will be playing his last collegiate game for the Hurricanes. Miani holds the record for most points in a single season for the U. of Miami, 488.

Others making their farewell appearance are Gene Hoban and Ed Klima.

No Bearing

"Even though the game has no bearing on conference play, Miami will be up for this one. They would like nothing better than to send us off, avenging their 78-76 loss here in Tallahassee," said assistant coach Bud Gross.

"And I can say the same for my boys, they'd like to beat Miami in their own back yard," continued Kennedy.

The Seminoles made good on 27 of their 37 free throws while Stetson sank only 17 of 31.

Stetson opened up with a rush and was ahead during most of the opening half, but two free throws by Tom Garcia put the Tribe ahead 38-36 and a 46-45 margin at the half.

The lead changed hands several times during the second half. With the score deadlocked at 78 all, center Gary Wold sunk a basket and the cagers were never headed after that.

For Stetson it was only their third defeat in conference play and the first time this season they had been beaten on their home floor.

Jim Kitchens led the Hatters in scoring with 24, and forward Curt Moffett hit for 23. Guard Bobby Crumpton was held to four points.

Five Players

All of FSU's points were scored by five players. All-American candidate Jim Oler was high point man of the game with 27, guard Tom Garcia dunked 24, Wold, 21, Stu Gregory 12 and forward Dick Artmeier had five.

Oler poured nine field goals through the hoop and is now only two away from setting a new school mark. With three games remaining the hardcourt guard needs only 58 points to score 500 points for the season.

Besides the Miami game Saturday, they face Loyola on March 5 away and close out the season against the University of Georgia, at home March 8.

Varsity Netters Open March 15

With the first Freshman match due March 10, and the varsity match March 15, Coach Keith Pickford's tennis squad is beginning to round into shape.

Hopes for a successful season might appear to rest on the shoulders of five Freshmen, Frank Bryan, Lex Hester, Jim Maddock, Fred Serrett and Charley Nordlinger.

After the first week of practice, Hal Schaus and Shelby Creasy appear to be the best prospects for number one men among the varsity.

Both have been battling for the number one slot in practice, and Creagh appears currently to hold a slight edge.

Other upperclassmen showing promise in Pickford's estimation, include Bill Cozine, Sonny Sellers and George Williams.

The five frosh will battle it out in a round robin to establish the number one netter, when they take the University on the 10th of next month.

Photo By Steve Kidd

OOPS!—That's what FSU tankman Jim Lee will be thinking as he starts the final lap in the 400 freestyle relay in a recent meet. PS—he won.

Tribe At Atlanta For AAU Meet

Florida State's swimmers tackle their third meet of the week tomorrow night when they go after the Georgia AAU title in Atlanta.

After sinking the University of Miami Hurricanes Tuesday night, 58½ to 25½, the Tribe swimmers sought their ninth win of the season last night against the University of Georgia.

Hal Miichner, Miami's formerly unbeaten sprinter, was the loser's only winner Tuesday night, setting a new mark in the 50 yard freestyle.

The undermanned Hurricanes furnished only seven men for the meet and partly because of this did not enter the first event, the 300 yard medley relay.

Sophomore backstroker Ken Abbott and the FSU 400 yard relay squad joined Mischner in the record-setting department.

Abbott was home first in the 200 yard backstroke with a meet record time of 2.22.1 while the relay squad continued for a 3:41.8 time and a record in their specialty.

The only double winner was FSU's Graham Teschke. The Sophomore speedster picked up the 220 and 440 yd. freestyles and was pressed only in the latter.

It was the end of the home campaign for the Seminoles and marked the second straight meet in which their opponents had picked up but one first.

The loss plus Florida's victory over the Hurricane swimmers Wednesday left Miami with a 1-4 swim mark and in the cellar of the mythical state race.

The Tribe swimmers will get a rest after tomorrow's AAU with no more meets on tap until the relays clash with the Florida Gators March 10.

Here's the summary:
300-yd. medley relay—FSU (Bagley, Gentry, Tschirret) 3:07.1
220 yd freestyle—Teschke FSU Joseph, Miami; Hammond, FSU. 2:20.1
50 yd. freestyle—Mischner, Miami, Lewis, FSU; McKeown, FSU. 24.1
200 yd. ind. Medley—Rhodes FSU; Leppiger, Miami; Fillmore, FSU. 2:21.4
Diving — Nellis, FSU; Blackman, Miami; Hall, FSU.
100 yd. freestyle—Tschirret, FSU; Mischner, Miami; Thatcher FSU and Johnson, Miami. 55.2
200 yd. backstroke—Abbott, FSU; Waddell, FSU; Waldez, FSU; Smith, Miami. 2.22.1
400 yd freestyle—Teschke, FSU; Joseph, Miami; Keech, FSU. 5:50.2
200 yd breaststroke—Rhodes, FSU; Leppiger, Miami; D Smith, FSU. 2:50.1
400 yd freestyle relay—FSU (Bagley, Hall, Lewis, Thatcher, McKeown) 3:41.8

FSU Thinclads Open In ACC

By BENNY BALSER
Flambeau Sports Writer

Thirteen representatives of Florida State's track team are in Raleigh, North Carolina today competing in the Atlantic Coast Conference indoor meet.

FSU is in the non-conference division and will be competing against schools of a very high caliber.

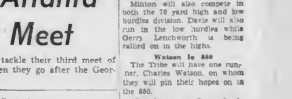
Included in the schools in the non-conference division with the Seminoles are Davidson and the University of Florida, both of whom can be face in dual meets later in the year.

The Seminoles will be counting heavily for points on speedster Jack Terwilliger. Terwilliger was second to Carlos Praundorfer in total points last year, and the latter is no longer eligible for intercollegiate competition.

Track coach Mike Long is counting on Jack Terwilliger, Joe Davis, and Wes Watson in the 60 yard dash. Terwilliger took a second in this event at the meet last year.

Minton will also compete in both the 60 yard high and low hurdles division. Davis will also run in the low hurdles while Gerry Lemmon is being rallied on in the highs.

Watson in 880



The Tribe will run one runner, Charles Watson, on whom they will pin their hopes on in the 880.

Mike Conley and Bruce Jacob will run the mile although according to coach Long they have not rounded into top form as yet.

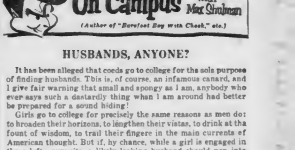
Ken Seaver, Doyle Ruff, Davis and Terwilliger comprise the Seminole mile relay team which has a good chance to win that event.

Jerry Jacobs will present the Garnet and Gold by pulling the shot which is his specity. The grueling pole vault event is being handled by Warren Strickland.

The Tribe posts quite a threat in the high jumps where they will have Lloyd Lassen, Tenny Brown and Lemmon competing for honors. Brown tied for second last year in this event.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek," etc.)



HUSBANDS, ANYONE?

It has been alleged that coeds go to college for the sole purpose of finding husbands. This is, of course, an infamous canard, and I give fair warning that small and spongy as I am, anybody who ever says such a dastardly thing when I am around had better be prepared for a punch in the snoot.

Girls go to college for precisely the same reasons as men do: to broaden their horizons, to lengthen their vistas, to drink at the fount of wisdom, to trail their fingers in the main currents of American thought. But if, by chance, while a girl is engaged in these lofty pursuits, a likely husband should wander into view, why, what's wrong with that? Eh? What's wrong with that?

The question now arises, what should a girl look for in a husband? A great deal has been written on this subject. Soma say character is most important, others say background, some say appearance, some say education. All are wrong.

The most important thing — bar none — in a husband is health. Though it be handsome as Apollo and as rich as Captain McCutchen, what good is it if he just lays around all day accumulating bedsores?

Make Sure he is Sound of Wind and Limb...

The very first thing to do upon meeting a man is to make sure that he is sound of wind and limb. Before he has a chance to beguile you with his wit and charm, slap a thermometer in his mouth, roll back his eyelids, yank out his tongue, palpate his thorax, rap his patella, ask him to straighten out a horseshoe with his teeth. If he fails to pass these few basic tests, phone for an ambulance and go on to the next man.

If, however, he turns out to be physically fit, proceed to the second most important requirement in a husband. I refer to a sense of humor.

A man who can't take a joke is a man to be shunned. There are several simple ones to find out whether your prospect can take a joke or not. You can, for example, slash his tires. Or hurn his "Mad" comics. Or steal his switchblade. Or turn loose his pet raccoon. Or shave his head.

After each of these merry pranks, laugh gaily and shout "April Fool!" If he replies, "But this is November 28," or something equally churlish, cross him off your list and thank your lucky stars you found out in time.

But if he laughs silverly and calls you "Little minx!" then put him to the next test: Find out whether he is gentle.

The easiest, quickest way to ascertain his gentleness is, of course, to look at the cigarette he smokes. Is it mild? Is it clement? Is it humane? Is it balm to the palate? Does it minister tenderly to the tastebuds? Does it coddle the nerve-ends? Is it the perfect accompaniment to today's easier, breezier living? Is it genial? Is it bright and friendly and full of dulcet pleasure from one screw to the heart of darkness?

Is it, in short, Philip Morris?

If Philip Morris it be, then clasp the man to your bosom with hoops of steel, for you may be sure that he is gentle as a summer breeze, gentle as a mother's kiss, gentle to his very marrow.

And now, having found a man who is gentle and healthy and blessed with a sense of humor, only one thing remains: namely, to make sure he will always earn a handsome living. That, fortunately, is very simple. Just enroll him in Engineering.

©Max Shulman, 1956

The makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column, would like to suggest another pleasant and gentle life's companion: Philip Morris, of course!

HAD ENOUGH of Old-Fashioned Dry Cleaning?

SANITONE'S SO MARVELOUS... GETS OUT ALL THE DIRT... YET IS SO GENTLE TO FINEST FABRICS!

Now... Stretch Garment Life This Amazing Better Way!

At last, in one revolutionary service, dry cleaning that removes even the embedded, ingrained grime yet is extra kind to the most delicate materials. Gone are the sharp dirt particles that shorten garment life! Spots vanish! Never a trace of stale cleaning odors! Better press lasts longer. Why not try Sanitone Dry Cleaning today.

Sanitone

SUPERIOR CLEANERS
308 S. MONROE ST.
Phone 2-0652

BILL'S BOOK STORE
We Have
COLLEGE OUTLINES
SCHAUM OUTLINES
MAC-RAE-EASY SERIES
LANGUAGE WEB WHEELS
SCIENCE WHEELS
MODERN LIBRARY BOOKS
PENGUIN SERIES
FOSTER ART BOOKS
GREAT ART SERIES
and
VINTAGE, MENTOR, ANCHOR AND POCKET BOOKS

Photo By Steve Kidd

HIGH STYLE—FSU's Ralph Weibel shows the form that copped first place for the fancy diving event in the FSU-Miami meet last Tuesday.

Track Finals Set Monday

There was plenty of excitement at Florida High Stadium last Monday afternoon and it looks like there will be plenty more next Monday at 4 p.m. at the track and field finals.

No records were broken in the events run to date, but no fraternity or dorm team has enough of a lead to predict the winner. To the fraternity division the PDT's are in the driver's seat having qualified 16 men for the finals plus a relay team. ATO follows with 11 SAE and SC with 10 each and a relay team, while KA and LCA have 9 each and a relay squad

Each of the 12 intramurary events are completed with Senior Hall in front with 38 points. Methodists have 19, Baptists 18 and Penthouse 16.

Wood, 880 yard run, 880 relay, discus and board jump yet to be held after one of the four teams could come out on top.

Verrouille, Odom and Musselman have been entered for most of Senior Hall's points, but with each man limited to 3 events they will not be able to do all the scoring next Monday.

Volleyball

The next sport on the docket in men's intramurals is volleyball. Teams are urged to begin practice as volleyball will begin the second week in March. Entry blanks will be out next week.

SECRETARY'S NOTICES & RESULTS
120-yard Low Hurdle Finals
1st—Wood, Sr. Hall; 2nd—Chiles, Sr. Hall; 3rd—Trost, Meth.; 4th—Moore, Meth.; 5th—Gerrald, Penthouse. Time 16.3
220-yard Dash Finals
1st—Verrouille, Sr. Hall; Odom, Sr. Hall; 3rd—Griffin, Penthouse; 4th—Wood, Sr. Hall; 5th—Robertson, Meth. Time 25.4
880-yard Run Finals
1st—Dunn, Bapt.; 2nd—Buffalo, Penthouse; 3rd—Elliott, Sr. Hall; 4th—Wood, Sr. Hall; 5th—Hall, Meth. Time 2:17.3
High Jump Finals
Tie for 1st—Burton & Dunn, Bapt.; 3rd—Trezzville, Sr. Hall; 4th—Robertson, Meth.; 5th—Trost, Meth.
Shot Put Finals
1st—Wood, Meth.; 2nd—Musselman, Sr. Hall; 3rd—Rochman, Penthouse; 4th—Thomas, Sr. Hall; 5th—Trost, Meth. Distance 39'2"
880-yard Relay
All entries qualify for finals
880-yard Run
All entries qualify
Broad Jump
All entries qualify
Discus
All entries qualify

Frosh Meet Brendler, JJC Here Tonight

Florida State's Freshman basketballers go after their third win of the year here tonight, but they must halt Chuck Brendler.

Brendler and the Jacksonville Junior College Dolphins move in tonight to meet the undermanned Frosh in the Florida High Gym.

Brendler, a 2.5 mark and sub seven men, Ham Wernke's Frosh fore a ricochet tank in beating Miami and in particular Brendler.

Brendler's 40 points was the principal cause of an earlier JJC victory in Jacksonville when he led the Dolphins to a 69-68 romp over the Baby Seminoles.

The junior Tribesmen will be counting heavily on guard Hugh Durham, who hit 18 points in the first game between the two teams, for the Frosh offense.

Durham Leads

Durham has led the Frosh most of the year in scoring, and will probably be joined by Tommy Dorman, Lake DePalmer, Dave Horton and Steve Etts on the starting team.

Dorman, who was after men on the squad are guard Cecil Dunn and forward Fred Woodward, both of whom will see plenty of action.

Should Brendler have a bad night, unlikely though it may seem, the Dolphins have plenty of scoring power to back him up with.

Guards Dean Hoppmann and Snoopy King and forward Jerry Oswald are leading cogs in the JJC offense and will probably do their share here tonight.

A previously scheduled contest with the Jacksonville Navy team here tomorrow night has been cancelled.

Students Broadcast Golf Tournament

The George Washington Golf Tournament will be broadcast over WTNT by the TV-Radio Journalism Workshop.

A stroke by stroke description of the four day tournament, in which the FSU golf team is participating will start with a broadcast today at 2:30 p.m.

Five, ten, and fifteen minute programs will be on the air until Sunday. Director of the shows is Tom Hall Jr., Charles Allen, assistant director, Pam Warren production assistant, and Ross Jamison, engineer.

In Grecian Times

Initiations, Pledgings, Frat Weekends Occupy Greeks

Initiations, pledgings, fraternity weekends, and election of new officers have been foremost in the minds of campus Greeks this week.

During Intelligent Faith Week the Zeta Tau Alphas had as their dinner guests Rabbi Israel Gerber and Dean Moore. The Pi Kappa Alphas joined the Zetas to hear Dr. Gerber speak later. A most Tuesday night at the Zeta house was Mr. Russell Carter, field representative for Indian work for the National Council of Churches.

"Moonlight and Roses" is the theme of the Alpha Omicron Pi Rose Ball to be held March 3. Following the chapter's tradition, the seniors and pledges will be presented in a special ceremony and a special award will be given the "outstanding AOPi of the year."

Recent visitor of the AOPi's, Mrs. George Roller, national president, was entertained with a reception.

New officers are Pat Hilton, president; Mary Catherine Casey, vice-president; Ella Jo Bilinski, pledge trainer; Gerry Lehner, recording secretary; Lynn Shirley, corresponding secretary; and Gail Gardner, rush chairman.

Also planning their weekend are the Chi Omegas. It's slated for next weekend with the Carnation Ball as the main feature. At the Ball the Owlman trophy will be given to the male who has done the most for Chi Omega during the past year. Other plans for the event include a coast party at Alligator Point Saturday and breakfast at the house Sunday.

The Phi Mus and the Delta Tau Deltas put a new twist on Greek parties. Last Thursday the two presidents, Carlynn Rhodes and Bob Culliver exchanged houses for dinner. Ten Phi Mus ate dessert at the Delt house before they moved to the Phi Ma house for an informal party, where the groups danced and presented skits.

A "Hollywood Party" was given by the Sigma Kappas for the Alpha Tau Omegas last week. The SKs carried the theme out in the skit and decorations. The ATOs were even presented "Oscars" which were really their own trophies.

Cotillion members recently elected SKs Janice Grosser and Shirley Jackson president and secretary, respectively.

Kappa Deltas who recently received honors are Sally Fussell, new Garnet Key member, and Joan Boelker, new jersey of the Social Work Club.

Another interesting party was given by the Lambda Chis for the Alpha Chi Omegas. For entertainment at the informal dance and mixer, the groups played Charades.

The Owl Gals (Chi Omegas) elected Martha Grizzard to head the sorority for this semester. Ginger Smith is vice-president; Nancy Shannon, secretary; Barbara McCartney, treasurer; Jane Hummer, pledge trainer; Elaine Brewton, rush chairman; Phyllis Langford, personnel chairman; Jan Hinson, social chairman; and Jan Davis, panhellenic representative.

Janie Pasqualillo was recently named Alpha Delta Pi president. Other officers are Sandra Moore, vice-president; Carolyn Conova, corresponding secretary; Jeannette McLendon, recording secretary; Nancy Dvorak, treasurer; Peggy Greene, chaplain; Pat Brady, reporter-historian; Penny Rourk, guard; and Laura Ley Alexander, registar.

Dr. Glenn C. James, Pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Dr. Stickler, research leader, and Dr. Dorothy Hoffman, ADPi faculty advisor were guests for dinner during Intelligent Faith Week.

After dinner the Phi Delts were guests to hear a talk by Dr. James.

Alice Sullivan was chosen as one of the seven Campus Beauties for the Tally Ho contest. Alice was sponsored by the ADPis.

SAEs new president is Norm Shipley. Fred Siegrest is vice-president; Bill Grow, recording secretary; Ken Hearn, corresponding secretary; Frank Reuse, historian; Stuart Gould, warden; Joe Tarbuck, treasurer.

Ten men were recently pledged by SAE. They are Ed Garee, Frank Musser, Don Joyner, Bobby Nellums, Melvin Pope, Pete Manton, Phil Johnson, Ken Jacquet, and Dave Walla.

The SAE pledges won the Marathon race against the KAs last Saturday. After the 10 mile race, the pledges and actives had a party at Dry Lake.

New wearers of the Pi Kappa Phi pin are Gary Allen, Warren Bryson, Michael Donahue, James Nettles, Walter Smith, and Burnett Bullwell, Jr.

At the Initiation Banquet held last Sunday, James Gary Campbell was presented with the Pi Kapp "Hall of Fame" award and Carl Williams received the "outstanding pledge" award.

The Sigma Phi Epsilons pledges beat the actives in a five inning slug-fest last Saturday. The game was the highlight of a visit from the Sig Ep chapter at Florida.

New pledges are Dick Smith, Norman Sheffield, Roger and Gino Calao, Fred Corran, Tom Davison, and James Day.

With spring rushing at a close, Sigma Nu has added ten men to the ttl. They are Robert Guest, Buddy Bowden, Dick Hayes, Randy Ackerl, Charlie Holland, Paul Mergenthal, Clyde Humphries, Jerry Brock, Leslie Jones, and Arthur Willor.

All attention is now turned toward preparation for the annual White Star weekend, which is slated for the first weekend in April.

Officers for Kappa Sigma include Mark Casto, president; Tom Hamilton, vice-president; Jim Stanley, secretary; Tom Bruckman, treasurer; Larry Beck, sgt-at-arms; Don Peterson, inner guard; Tom Belchior, outer guard; Bob Stearns, pledge master; and Floyd Ganzliff, social chairman.

The Alpha Chi Omegas held their installation of officers last Tuesday night. Miss Sue Thompson is president. Nan Shirley, first vice-president; Barbara Jeffries, second vice-president; Carson Edwards, recording secretary; Mary Jo Githens, corresponding secretary; Jeri Bradfield, treasurer; Anne Holcombe, chaplain. Sue Hinton, editor.

Newly elected officers of Gamma Phi Beta Chapter are: Frances Horn, president; Sylvia White, pledge director, Faye Moses, social chairman; Betsy Green, recording secretary; Betty Jo Hafer, corresponding secretary; Penny Wilson, treasurer; Irene Rodriquez, Panhellenic delegate; Grace Schmidt, house president; Barbara Brooks, rush chairman; June McCaskill, song chairman; and Judy Coulter, standard chairman.

Margaret Dellinger has been elected president of Delta Delta Delta.

Other officers chosen in recent elections are: Jane Soper, vice-president; Matilda Hume, recording secretary; Sandra Jones, corresponding secretary; Elizabeth Graves, chaplain; Judy Hardenburg, marshall; Hester Wright, rush chairman; Nanta Harvard, recommendation chairman; Carol Roth ad Susan Kirkconnell, social chairmen; Sara Connell, treasure; Shirley Ison, house president.

Social Wark Club Chooses Officials

The Social Work Club met recently to elect officers.

Chosen to head the club in the coming year were: president, Jean Boeker; vice-president, Pat Manning; secretary, Sandra Fletcher; treasurer, Jane Chapman, program chairman, Robert Pope; social chairman, Maxine Hanson; publicity chairman, Patsy Nell Hirt.

Faculty advisors will be Professor Charles Newman and Dr. William Leap of the Social Welfare Department.

It's a pleasure to get to know Old Spice After Shave Lotion. Each time you shave you can look forward to something special: the Old Spice scent—brisk, crisp, fresh as all outdoors . . . the tang of that vigorous astringent—bashes shave-soap film, heals tiny razor nicks. Splash on Old Spice—and start the day refreshed.
Add Spice to Your Life . . . Old Spice For Men
SHULTON New York • Toronto

Wandering With Wiljohn

(Continued from page 1)

have to listen. This one-handed playing bit is a holdover from swing. If I have to give some of those people a show, I'd rather show them something connected with what I'm doing."

"I guess some people will be disappointed by Bill Harris' bit tonight. He really had an off night. He told me he wasn't feeling too red hot before we opened the curtain. He still managed a few exciting moments, though. I was sorry that Vic Feldman, vibes) didn't feel it with the rest of the group. He'll warm up, though. I just can't say enough in praise of these boys."

There you have it. Maybe you didn't like his one-hand playing. Maybe you are far enough advanced musically so that you can look down on the tricks of swing that call for almost "Dancing a jig and sturing Dixie." Perhaps he is "Dated and reactionary," but the man is playing a brand of music that none of us are old enough to have done any more than heard about. And, if you've formed the wrong ideas from w'hat you've heard about swing and how it should look and sound, the fault doesn't be with Herman. It lies with you.

The Dissenter

(Continued from page 2)

inet.

I do NOT think, as some have suggested, that it is Jack Norton, Dick Victory, Conrad Horn, or Tom Woods. Norton doesn't think the way Georgie does; Victory is deeper in his manner of expression; Horn wouldn't bother with anonymity; and Woods is too high up in student government.

His anonymity permits Georgie to say a lot of things that would get him mobbed were his identity known, but I don't think that would particularly deter him.

Student Senate, of course, could always launch an investigation, but that would be unconstitutional.

(Two years ago Flambeau editor Bruce Galphin told Senator Chris Young who that year's Georgie was, and Young abandoned his plans to launch a Senate inquiry.)

Anybody got a good guess?

RAINBOW GIRLS ASKED TO MEET

Rainbow Girls interested in form. ing a campus Assembly have been asked to meet tomorrow at 2:30 in the North Cawthon recreation room.

Campus Cutie Of The Week

MISS ANNE MUNROE
Freshman from Tallahassee, majoring in secretarial science

Flambeau Photo: Steve Kirtl

Colorado Dean Approves Stand Of Greeks On Discrimination

BOULDER, Colo.—(I.P.)—Commenting on the controversial Greek discrimination issue on the University of Colorado campus, Dean of Students Clifford Houston declared that "without exception, we have been pleased with the attitude of the seven fraternities still maintaIning discriminatory clauses. Of course, that does not mean that we have always been pleased with the position of the national organizations."

The present university policy of annual examination of fraternity houses retaining discriminatory clauses was enacted in 1949, and became effective in 1951. "Under the legislation we had," Dean Houston said, "we were not trying to stop discrimination, but to get rid of the clauses. Our directive was merely to deal with constitutions of the groups involved."

Employ Education

In the process, however, we have tried to employ education with all the Greek groups, be continued. "Educational institutions must use educational means as far as possible. In event of further legislation over unwritten discrimination, Dean Houston stated, the problem will become one of the spirit, not the letter of the law. "We would, of course, do everything in our power to enforce such a restriction.

Outnumbered

"Some of the local fraternities have felt hopelessly outnumbered in their national setup," he said. "Others, however, have expressed the view that clauses would be removed at their next national session." The local fraternities have two options, Dean Houston stated. On the one hand, they can go before national conventions, often a difficult undertaking; on the other, they can form regional alliances in order to increase pressure on the nation-wide body.

Primary Criteria

Dean of Men Harry Carlson pointed out that one of the primary criteria of the National Interfraternity Council was that "the aims of the fraternity must be those of the university." The national has continued, are in a weak spot because Greek organizations owe their very existence to the University's existence. "I can't see why these national groups cannot give local organizations autonomy in selecting their own members."

Fraternities Slate Open House Day

"Fraternity Open House Day" has been set for this Sunday.

Jim Joanos, new president of Interfraternity Council announced that all fraternity houses will be open during the hours of 2 to 4 p.m. on this day in order to afford new as well as old students the opportunity to visit and learn about FSU fraternity life.

Joanos urged that all men students who may be interested in joining a fraternity either this semester or next fall to go by and visit all of the houses and begin learning as much about each of the groups as he can.

However, no restrictions have been made which require the student to visit all of the houses like the policy of formal rush last fall.

Urges Learning

"IFC does stress a policy of urging the prospective fraternity man to learn about all of the fraternities on campus before he makes a decision as to which is particularly interested in," Joanos said. "This is healthy for each fraternity as well as for all," he added.

Throughout the coming semester President Joanos said that fraternities are being asked to work more closely together and put forth their combined efforts in maintaining a good reputation for fraternities on campus.

Senate Agrees

From Page 1

representatives in one body and class senators in another.

Little Question

Although Senate could conceivably reject the bill that the Senate committee has been assigned to draft, the seemingly unanimous approval given the preliminary plan Wednesday left little doubt, according to Senate veterans, that a necessary two-thirds majority will voice formal acceptance.

Other issues that may require settlement first will include the manner of representing day students and in what way the campus will be divided into precincts as nearly equal in population between 300 and 500 as possible.

Must Be United

Joanos remarked that he believes fraternities can never do their best service either for themselves or for the university, if each go their separate ways rather than together in many respects.

Officers of IFC for the current semester are: Jimmy Joanos, Sigma Chi, president; Gayle Porter, Phi Delta Theta, vice-president; Jim Ralston, Pi Kappa Phi, treasurer; and Bill Neblett, Theta Chi, secretary.

Wesley Foundation Elects Officers

Evelyn Mell as elected president of Wesley Foundation and of the Interfaith Council recently.

Other Wesley Foundation officers chosen were Pat Wolfe, vice president; Joyce Washburn, recording secretary; Jane Chapman, attendance secretary, and Ken Bryan, treasurer. The new officers will be installed Sunday, March 4th.

Methodists from FSU will leave Friday, March 9th for the Methodist Student Movement Conference in Leesburg. Application blanks are still available from Austin Holladv at the Wesley Foundation.

Sam Baptista

From Page 1

Although Sam Baptista's initial appearance will include the usual Latin flavor, his two children have learned song and dances from all countries from the visitors Sam has invited to his home.

"I hate to leave all my friends here, but I just can't pass up this opportunity," concluded Baptista.

GO WOODY

Woody Herman plays clarinet in Westcott. For pictures of band in action, see page 1.

Weather Topic Of Discussion

Man's favorite topic—the weather—will be discussed on television tomorrow, by a Florida State University meteorologist.

Dr. Warren Dryden, assistant professor of meteorology at FSU, will present "The Story Behind The Weather Map," from 2 to 2:30 over WHBR-TV, Jacksonville.

Films of meteorological instruments will be shown and some of the scientific devices used in keeping track of the weather will be demonstrated, said Roy Flynn, director of radio and television at the university.

Slides of clouds and other weather phenomena will be used in explaining why weather changes occur and how.

The FSU summer Science Camp is presenting "The Story Behind The Weather Map" as the climax program in its series, "Stories In Your Life."

TIME FOR A BREAK
COME TO
THE MECCA

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S
MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-8161

OLD GOLD FILTER KINGS
now proudly announce an amazing
NEW IMPROVED SCIENTIFIC FILTER

1. Here's the new, improved filter that actually steps up flavor!
2. Here's the new, improved filter so free on the draw you have to look at the tip to realize the filter is there!
3. Here's the new, improved filter you've been waiting for!

Have you been denying yourself the extra benefits of filtered smoking because:
a . . . you didn't get that real tobacco flavor you wanted?
b . . . you had to "pull" on the cigarette like a bellows to get enough smoke to satisfy you?
Well, you got a big surprise coming!

Just try a pack of Old Gold Filter Kings with the amazing
NEW IMPROVED SCIENTIFIC FILTER
See if you don't get the richest, smoothest smoke you've ever had with any cigarette—filtered or unfiltered
ALL DAY LONG!
Popular filter price

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

TARPON CLUB
Performs Here
(See story, page 1)

Vol. XLI, No. 34 | Published By The Students Of Florida State University | Tuesday, February 28, 1956

Political Parties Set To Compete In Coming Battle

State, Student Will Vie In Student Body Elections

By ARLIEDA RIES

Florida State University's two student political parties—the State and the Student—are set to vie for governmental offices in the coming elections.

Their annual struggle will begin April 10 when the primary election for Student Body offices will be held.

The State Party is now headed by Freshman Senator Art Moore, who calls his party the "active" party. The party was organized in the Spring of 1954, with Warren Cobb and Fred Crawford as the successive chairmen before Moore.

Both take doesn't seem to faze the Student Party head, however, as party chairmen Reneilly the gavel was turned over to Sophomore Senator Edwards.

'Create Competition'

Both present chairmen say that the purpose of the two-party system here is to "create breaking competition" among contenders. Because of parties, they say, more students come into contact with the student government.

The theory behind this is that students are more likely to take a definite stand on current political issues when they come face to face with them.

For the past two Student Body elections both parties have offered slates which, for the most part, were only partially filled. It should be noted however, that the majority of offices are filled by members of the two parties.

No Majority

To date, the younger State Party has not enjoyed the majority rule which the Student party claims. Calling itself the more "liberal thinking" of the two, it has failed to capture the top prize—the presidency.

Moore has won the men's vice-presidency and other similar offices. It has showed up especially strongly in class offices.

By way of party organization a nominating convention is first held to formulate party policy, to lay the tentative platform, and to plan the convention. The first duty of the convention delegates to which are elected by their respective housing units according to populace, is to elect a party chairman, who customarily does not run for office.

To become active in this type of examination the interested student should seek nomination, which is open to any student, to become a convention delegate.

Bill Is Readied On Unit, Class Rearrangement

A bill providing living unit and class representation is tentatively ready for Senate action, Ben Gordon Oaster revealed yesterday.

He said his committee has prepared a measure embodying the re-apportionment suggestions agreed upon by the Senate during several meetings of informal discussion.

Senate will meet tomorrow at 4:15 in 210 Lonsmire. Final action on re-apportionment cannot take place unless there is a motion to waive the rules and consider the bill's first reading as its final reading.

The fraternities and sororities would be divided into six precincts, each to elect a senator in the fall. Dormitories would each constitute a represented district, except for Bryan and Broward halls, the two smallest, which would be combined.

'No Partiality'

"No partiality has been shown" Hall Arc Ginger Kiser and Linda Slaton and the social chairman is Nettie Black. Elected floor chairmen for this year are: Judy Minter, Norma Heller, Barbara Thackston, Mildred Lamb, Nancy Negus. Intramurals chairman is Georgia Mellinger.

Broward Hall's new vice presidents are Lois Charlesworth and Sandra Rosenberg. Social chairman is Sonia Poland. Three girls chosen as floor chairmen are Marlene Ingrid, Muriel Cunningham and Carlene Herrington.

Taking over as "reepa" in Jennie Murphree are Barbara Ball and Barbara Jean Turk. Social chairman is Nancy Worrall, and breakfast chairman is Clare Ewing. Intramurals chairman for this year is Joan Crawford. The following girls were elected floor chairmen: Ann Leddy, Boots Nesselrod, Nancy Hilsteed, Ginny Pepper, Gina Gaskins, Gretchen Oetjen, Delores Eby and Penny Appleby.

Antal Dorati will conduct . . .

Minneapolis Symphony To Perform, 8:15

The strains of Beethoven's Overture to Egmont", Opus 84, will open the first concert of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra in Westcott tonight at 8:15.

Under the baton of Antal Dorati, the many performances will be given: a matinee tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. and an evening performance at 8:15.

Also on the program tonight will be Beethoven's Symphony No. 4 in B flat major, Ravel's "Rhapsodie Espagnole", and Suite from "Der Rosenkavalier" by Strauss Dorati.

Tomorrow afternoon's audience will hear Overture to "The Magic Flute" by Mozart, Debussey's "La Mer", three orchestral sketches, de Falla's Three Dances from the Ballet "The Three Cornered Hat", and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 1, in E minor.

Rossini's Overture

The Wednesday evening performance will include Rossini's Overture to "La Sahi di Seta" "The Silken Ladder"); Bartok's Concerto for Orchestra, and Symphony No. 1, in C minor by Brahms.

As the concerts are an Artist Series event, strict formal attire is a requisite for the evening performances and dressy clothes for the matinee, emphasized Mrs Kathryn Vernon, Artist Series chairman.

Sell For $2.50

Tickets, selling for $2.50 for evening performances and $1 for the matinee to the general public, can be obtained by students in exchange for coupon No. 1 of their Activity Books. Available at the Westcott Ticket Booth, seats in the center sections of the auditorium are almost sold out already.

Now in its 53rd season, the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra was first conducted by Emil Oberhoffer. Leadership of the group changed hands four more times before it finally rested with Antal Dorati. Making its home on the University of Minnesota, the orchestra presents approximately 76 concerts on tour each year, in more than 50 various cities of the United States, Canada and Cuba.

. . . The Minneapolis Symphony

'Good Seats' Are Available

"There are still plenty of good seats left for the three Minneapolis Symphony performances," announced Mrs. Katherine Vernon, director of special events.

She explained that although tickets were going fast, some good seats were still unclaimed.

Move Underway To Ban Freshman, Soph Cars At UF

A move to ban freshmen and sophomores from having cars on campus or in Gainesville has begun at the University of Florida.

According to daily newspaper reports, the University of Florida senate has endorsed the regulation, which must also pass the student executive council, Gainesville's city attorney, and the Board of Control.

"Commuting students" may be granted exception on the basis of living more than one direct mile from a specific point on campus, the proposal said.

Frosh Women Officers Named

Freshmen women's dorms recently held elections for freshmen officers who will take over this semester.

In Reynolds Hall new vice-presidents are Pat Malsed and Betsy Smith. Social chairman is Pat Thornton while the following girls were elected floor chairmen of Reynolds: Ruth Dickinson, Jean Brazda, Carolyn Bell, Linda Brunkley, Marie Locker, Madeline Copeland, Carolyn Holder, Deanbie Bassman and Pat Wilder.

Smoke Signals Short Stories Due March 15

Entries for the Smoke Signals short-story contest are due March 15, managing editor Marcello Trumi announced yesterday.

John D. Macdonald, a professional writer, will be the judge. He is author of some 13 published novels and is well known in the science-fiction and mystery fields Macdonald, a graduate of Syracuse University and Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, resides now in Sarasota, Florida.

Any original story by an undergraduate is eligible. First prize is ten dollars, and that story with one, or possibly two runner-ups will be printed in the last issue of the Smoke Signal given to Marcello Trumi.

Students To Hear Special Music Talk

There will be a special lecture-demonstration on "Musical Sounds—Their Physical Nature" given by Dr. Gunter Schein of the Physics department tomorrow at 5:15 p.m. in 124 Science.

This is a session designed especially for music students and all the request of those in Psychology of Music classes, said Donald E Mishell of the Music faculty.

"However," he added, "because of its interesting nature, all students who wish may attend." The demonstration will last an hour.

FRESHMEN MUST CONSULT COUNSELORS

All second-semester freshmen must make an appointment with Education Counselor between March 9 and March 26 revealed Miss Hokis Tinney, Assistant Coordinator of Counseling and Guidance.

Gilchrist Slates Leap Year Party

Gilchrist Hall is holding a leap year party in the recreation room, March 1, from 7 to 9 p.m.

There will be entertainment, dancing, mixing games and refreshments. All male students are invited to drop by.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB SLATES MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Philosophy Club tonight at 8 in the Old Demonstration School.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Charles H. Fairbanks, professor of Anthropology. He will speak on the "Functional System of Cultural Anthropology."

INSURANCE, REAL ESTATE CLUB MEETS

The Insurance and Real Estate Club will hold its first meeting of the Spring Semester today at 5:30 p.m. in the First Floor Lounge of the Lonsmire Building. Besides the regular business meeting, there will also be a guest speaker.

'Evening Of Dance' Slated Thursday, Friday: Westcott

By MARGARET MILLER

The annual Theatre Dance Group presentation, "An Love Unrequited" or "Why Did You Act Like You Liked Me in the First Place?" "Love Unrequited" features student Ara Hay and graduate assistant Valida Mock in an odd-fashioned musical and stage setting. The boy in striped blazer and straw hat eagerly pursues the girl, who is donned with a floppy hat and high-button shoes. At first rebuffed by the boy, but then frightened by his ardor, she indignantly and hastily leaves him.

The free production is open to the public on a first come, first serve basis. The audience is requested not to save seats, explained Nellie Bond-Dickinson, director of the Theatre Dance group.

One of the more humorous dance numbers to be presented in the modern dance performance is "Love Unrequited" or "Why Did You Act Like You Liked Me in the First Place?"

During this short-lived courtship Lester Bruch plays background music with a melodramatic effect. Like the background music in yesterday's silent movies, the yearning melody is accompanied with rolling, thumping chords for the "heartbreak" effect. Choreography for this number was done by Miss Mock.

Serious Number

A more serious number, "Be Still My Soul," is based on the theme of man's search for God and a quiet soul. Its dramatic effects include a narrator who reads various Bible verses which exemplify this idea.

The dancers are at first in complete darkness except for a faint gold illumination; then, as the dance progresses, fuller lighting is used. Dancers express their anxiety in stark, agitated movements, complemented by the pulsating, clashing music composed by Carlisle Floyd and performed on two pianos by Floyd and Jim Staples. Miss Mock also did the choreography for this dance.

Another dance with an unusual twist is called "The Female Approach." Miss Nancy Smith, dance instructor, collaborated with Lester Bruch in planning the idea for this one. Bruch had mentioned using a dance composed of humorous sketches of girls he had observed in the dance studio.

Found Book

Miss Smith later came across a book by an English author entitled "The Female Approach" which included some personality sketches, she judged, could be adapted to a dance composition.

The part of a home-loving girl is depicted by Barbara Grebel, president of the Theatre Dance Group. Kathryn Hartley plays the aesthetic poetess. "So few people understand 8:15, but those who do agree that it is a very good show," Sue Rodgers plays the sweet and shy "Someday he will come along" type. The last of the satirical sketches is a bop number performed by Misses Smith and Mock.

Rhythm Satirized

The boy rhythm rather than the bop step itself is satirized. Mr. Bruch says that in most bop, the steps and rhythm are at odds with each other. The steps, he says, are on a 4 beat pattern while the music is 4 beat. In writing his music for the dance number, Mr. Bruch experimented with 6/4 time.

Ryan Edwards and David Ward-Steinman wrote the other musical numbers.

Other choreographers are Miss Nellie-Bond Dickinson, director of the Theatre Dance Group; Lucille Turnage production manager; Jacqui Charles, Maxine Fletcher, Katherine Hartley and Barbara Grebel.

Flambeau photo Adrian Allen

Theatre Dancers—Jacqui Charles and Charles Robinson perform "The Cycle." Performances of "An Evening of Dance" are set for Thursday and Friday.

Tarpon Club's Show Business Starts Tomorrow

A series of acts by expert girl swimmers in the Tarpon Club will depict the ups and downs of a hopeful Broadway star in a four-night production, "Show Business", starting tomorrow night at 8:15.

The show will be held at the swimming pool of the women's gymnasium. It will run tomorrow through Saturday. The show is free but seats are limited.

Assistant Prof Clynise Smith, faculty adviser to the club of student swimmers, said that will be eight numbers, the water patterns for which were designed by the students themselves. Music was taken from various Broadway shows.

Eighteen water maidens swim the first number, "Show Business," to illustrate the potential star a first chorus job.

A "fast act" means her in the second number, "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue," and tells her how he can make her break.

'Still of Night'

In the "Still of the Night" she becomes disillusioned and thinks she will never make it in show business.

"Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered" is next. The Tarpons show that she is bewitched because she has the desire to be a star, bothered because she can't get anywhere in her career, and bewildered because she doesn't know what to do.

Comedy Routine

In a comedy routine, "Barry With the Prince On Top," her hometown boyfriend comes to New York. She takes her to the show "Oklahoma," and encouragges her to go on.

In "Tambo" she dreams she is Queen of the Stars. Paula Parsons dances before the audience.

"This Is My Beloved," seventh on the program, shows her as understudy in a big production.

Jane Walker, Tarpon president, will do a solo part in "One Man Ain't Enough For Me."

Mixed Finale

The finale will involve parts of all the numbers. Accompanying Miss Walker will be Gordon Whitney and Bob Gabler.

Committee members in charge of the production are Patsy Dunn, decorations; Jean Hull, props; Anne Miller, narration; Audrey Hiers, lights, and Glenda Sherrill, publicity.

Officers are Jane Walker, president; Tinney Moore, vice president; Joan Harris, secretary; Pat Rooney, treasurer; and Miss Gilyeau Smith, sponsor.

Members

Tarpon members include Marjan Davis, Mary Margaret Mayo, Margaret Williams, Kay Hyatt, Peggy Lefever, Pat Malsed, Lucy McDaniels, Gail Moody, Jeanne Newton, Dean O'Sullivan, Dora Roberts, Madge Smith, Eleanor Stanley, Lucy Rhea and Lynn Strickland.

Rifle Teams Meet Again

Florida State's Air Force ROTC Rifle Team will defend its laurels here Saturday, in a shoulder-to-shoulder meet with the team from the University of Florida.

Col Howard J. Withycombe, professor of air science, and the FSU team defeated the cadet marksman from Gainesville by 13 points in a January match at Gainesville.

The competition will be held at the rifle range underneath Doak S Campbell stadium. Reginald B Chastin Jr. is captain of the FSU Air ROTC Rifle Team.

Business Frat Slates Rush

Beta Psi chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, will hold rushing parties tonight, tomorrow and Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the house.

All male students, enrolled in the school of business are invited to attend the parties. Pledging will be held early next week, said Percy Steele, newly elected president.

Other new officers are: Don Mayer, vice-president; Bill Coleman, treasurer; Charles Watford, secretary; Sonny Daye, master of ritual; and Ben Hunter, rush chairman.

Junior Meeting Set Tomorrow

There will be a junior class meeting tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Lonsmire auditorium.

Important news concerning the Junior-Senior prom, the Junior class good-will clothes drive, and other projects for next year will be discussed, said Bobby Temple, Junior class president.

All sorority, fraternity, dorm representatives and all other members of the junior class are urged to attend.

In Finals

DZ, Lambda Chi Win Sing

Delta Zeta sorority and Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity took top honors in the annual Campus Sing, each for the second straight year.

The Delta Zetas led by Martha Mizell, won in the finals over North Cawthon dormitory whose song leader was Barbara Conner and Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, led by Jo Jones.

In the men's division, Harrison Fisher Jr. led the Lambda Chi Alphas to victory in the traditional event, Tuesday night. Second place was taken by Pi Kappa Phi fraternity led by Paul Perry, and third place went to Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, led by Bid Wilick.

Fraternities, sororities, and dormitories vied in preliminary competition Thursday and the finals Friday night for the two trophies presented by Phi Mu Alpha and Sinfonia Alpha Iota, men's and women's music honoraries.

Judges were Miss Betty Jane Grimm, Jim Harris, and Mrs Edith Kaup, faculty members of the School of Music.

"My Lover is a Fisherman" and "Anna Lucia" were sung by the Delta Zetas. Lambda Chi Alpha performed the difficult, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "If I Loved You," from "Carousel."

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity "gives out" during Campus Sing
(Another picture on p. 4)

Signs Of The Times?

Another axe has fallen on collegiate journalism.—This time at the University of Maryland, where the Faculty Senate reconstructed the publications board from a 1 to 1 student-faculty ratio to 4 to 1 in favor of the faculty.

The board, which functioned over the years under four faculty and four student members, now consists of eight faculty members and two students, neither of whom can hold paying positions on publications. The latter replaced the four students who previously were members of the Board.

The Miami Hurricane, editorializing on the death of student publication spirit at Maryland, echoes sentiments being expressed here and all over the nation as collegiate editors are being forced to rise to defend our non-silent generation:

"College publications are dependent on the integrity of their editors. They are also dependent on their governing body's faith and trust in that integrity. To limit student publications by such lack of trust and experience is for practical purposes to kill them . . .

"When college publications are handed over to faculty and/or administrative control, an atmosphere of fear necessarily pervades the situation.

"When such action is taken, a pall of illiberality drops on the scene.

"Thomas Jefferson once said: 'Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost.'

"The freedom of our fellow publications at Maryland has been limited. There is no reason to believe that the logical conclusion Jefferson drew 150 years ago does not follow today."

At the University of Texas, the battle for freedom to comment continues; Yoder and Kraar, co-editors of the North Carolina Daily Tar Heel were forced into a recall election for disagreeing with a University coach, but won by a 2-1 vote; In Massachusetts the legislature is considering a bill sponsored by a man who says, "It is a well-known fact that Harvard is a nest of Communists." So grows the mounting hysteria of fear of open discussion.

The examples cited, seemingly insignificant by themselves could, however, be indicative of more to come and worse to come. But the battle must be doubled and quadrupled if we are to maintain freedom of expression.

To quote Mark Etheridge, publisher of the Courier Journal and Louisville Times who recently spoke at the University of Florida outlining fights for personal freedoms:

"We can't win, absolutely; but we can prevent losing, absolutely, as the people have in recent times in Spain, in Italy, in Germany, in Russia and in Argentina."

Gubernatorial Survey

We do not see how students at this university, located as it is in the capital city, within sight of the Capitol Building and the Supreme Court, can be ignorant of the developing gubernatorial campaign.

Students are reminded, also, that registration to vote must be made by April 7, preferably in the counties of their permanent residence.

The race promises to be one of the strongest and most hard-fought ever to be staged in this state.

In one corner is a former governor, Fuller Warren, who has strong support and friends throughout the state.

In another corner is Farris Bryant, rising young politican from Ocala, who, even if he loses this time, will certainly occupy the governor's chair in the future.

In another is LeRoy Collins, who technically is serving the unexpired term of Dan McCarty. Should the Florida Supreme Court rule, after hearings that begin today, that he can run for a full term, the popular governor will be out to make a certainty of it. The greatest danger to Collins' forces is over-confidence.

There is a fourth candidate whose influence can deserve note, and yet we hate to see his campaign begin.

Lt. Gen. Sumter Lowry, retired, is running for governor on a strict segregation platform, though he has yet to advocate any specific proposals for retaining segregation. It suffices for him to accuse the other candidates of not being militant on the issue.

His accusations merely attribute to the others a higher degree of patriotism, a greater measure of love for their country and its Constitution. But he has injected the racial issue into the campaign, where it does not belong.

The proper issues that should concern Floridians are roads, taxes, tourists, industry, finances, public improvements, education, integrity in government, and the like.

We do not think that Gen. Lowry will win, for we believe that the people of Florida have other values than segregation. But we are appalled that the voters' dignity has been insulted with his approach to the gubernatorial campaign.

Redouble Our Vigilance

It is deceptively easy to deride those who have petitioned for the dismissal of University of Florida professors who advocated integration.

For while the demand that men be fired for speaking freely at a university bespeaks a philosophy that is neither enlightened nor democratic, it is voiced by many.

Consequently, we should not smirk that such a petition has not been heeded. We should redouble our vigilance to the end that freedom of expression, inquiry, and thought, the fundamental characteristics of a true university, shall always be those of the state universities of Florida.

In the Twentieth Century, in the United States, at a time when the Axis threatened to devour the world, education was profaned in Georgia, our neighbor to the north.

There, Talmadge the Elder had installed his machine even into the Board of Regents and before they were through the entire state university system had been discredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Among the things that had happened was the loss of jobs by professors who dared to question segregation.

But a man who denied the assertion that thinking is anathema to the true Southerner, Ellis Arnall, defied the Talmadge regime and was elected governor. He ran partly on a promise to make the universities wholesome once more. This was done, and they were re-accredited in December, 1942.

It happened there and could happen anywhere else in the South, as long as there are people who maintain that the only freedom should be liberty to say what they outline as correct, to think on topics they select, and to study only that history which satisfies their points of view.

The simple truth is that intolerance is allied with ignorance.

Those whose way of life decrees success by any means cannot permit free speech. According to the fundamental principle of democracy the truth, through free and open debate, shall prevail.

Ellis Arnall, in The Shore Dimly Seen, defined the role of education as opposed to intolerance. Speaking of the race-baiting demagogue, he wrote:

"But wherever he lives, he fears schools and colleges and teachers and students. He feels that they are engaged in a single gigantic conspiracy against his rule, his person, and his way of thought. His instinct is both sure and accurate; they are."

We are glad to see that the Board of Control ignored the plea that it throw Florida back into the Dark Ages. We urge that their course of action always be in defense of our universities and everything for which they stand.

Letters To The Editor

An Answer To Letter

TO THE EDITOR:

I have noted the letter in this Friday's Flambeau by Doyle Roberts. Stripped of invective, Mr. Roberts' argument seems to be, 'Mind your own business. This is good ole (sic) Tallahassee, and things are different here from in Chicago.'

I don't believe it. Despite attempts to compartmentalize our species on the basis of superficialities of geography, language, or skin color, humanity is one. Human problems such as racial discrimination are the concern of every mature human being.

Human standards of right and wrong are also one; segregation and other manifestations of racial discrimination are equally wrong in "good ole Tallahassee," Chicago, Capetown, Soviet Asia, or wherever they occur.

I am glad that I have irritated Mr. Roberts and the others of whom he speaks. There was no irritation when segregation was universally accepted, and there will be none when segregation is universally rejected. During these years of transition in which we live, irritation will help stimulate people into thought and action on these injustices.

YOURS TRULY,
JOHN BOARDMAN.

Kudos For Campus Singers

TO THE EDITOR:

Congratulations to the Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota on the smoothest running Campus Sing ever witnessed by this adjudicator.

This is not the most brilliantly worded idea ever to be typed, but what can one expect of a voice teacher with a complete lack of literary talent? Removing this possibility, one may rightly assume that the motivation is purely inspirational.

It has always been a pleasure to serve as judge for the Campus Sing—to watch it grow and acquire taste, dignity and pride without losing any of the youthful enthusiasm that gives it life and breath above the realm of hum-drum competition.

There has been the fear too, that pleasurable balance of singing together and singing to win might topple to an untimely end. There has been the fear too, that adjudication would be too severe and too lacking in helpful suggestions, automatically squeezing out the smaller groups. None of these fears have materialized.

Thursday and Friday night found the Phi Mu Alphas and Sigma Alpha Iotas at their most helpful and efficient best. All participants maintained a group pride and evidenced a total appreciation of the efforts of other participating organizations. The choice of music was in every case, far above that of other years. The careful preparation resulted in smooth and entertaining performances. There wasn't a bad entry in the lot. It was GOOD, the best. Thanks for a memorable occasion.

MISS BETTY JANE GRIMM
SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Mail Pouch Brings Note

TO THE UGH-DITOR:

Associate Chief Hole-in-the-Dyck can quit shading his eyes with his hand. He need look no further if he wants to know who writes the Flambeau's dia-tribe titled "Dear Mama Seminole."

Now it can be told—I write it.

Very tepee yours,
GEORGIE II.

"I Hope You Brought All Your Tools This Time"

Applications Now Accepted For Italian, Cuban Scholarships

Fellowship Open For Cuban Study

Competition for the Father Felix Varela Fellowship for study in Cuba is open to American graduate students.

The fellowship is good for study at the University of Havana during the 1956-57 academic year.

Closing date for the competition is April 1. The award covers tuition and most maintenance expenses. The successful applicant must provide travel plus funds for incidentals and other expenses.

Candidates in the fields of philosophy, Spanish and Spanish-American literature, history, education, social sciences, and law are preferred. Preference will be given to students under 30 years of age not primarily interested in research.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens. Other eligibility requirements are: a Bachelor's degree from an American college or university of recognized standing, by the date of departure, demonstrated academic ability and capacity for independent study; good moral character, personality and adaptability; good knowledge of Spanish; and good health.

Applications may be secured from the United States Student Department of the Institute of International Education.

Italian Government Offers Study Grants

The Italian Government and three Italian universities will offer fellowships to American graduate students for the 1956-57 academic year. Closing date for the Italian competitions is April 1.

Six fellowships for advanced study or research are offered by the Italian Government through the Cultural Relations Office of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Men and women candidates may apply in any field. Each grant includes a stipend of 600,000 lire. Free tuition will be given at a school or university for a six month period. Candidates in the field of music will be given an extra 50,000 lire for private lessons. A grant of 10,000 lire will also be provided for travel and incidental expenses. They may, if eligible, apply for Fulbright travel grants.

The University of Padua will offer two tuition and maintenance fellowships. The competition is open to both men and women under 35 years of age, but preference is given to men candidates.

The Collegio Ghislieri in Pavia, a residential college with a long tradition of high academic standing, is offering one tuition and maintenance fellowship to a male graduate student under thirty years of age. In addition to courses in letters and science students may attend lectures in the various faculties at the University of Pavia.

The Scuola Normale Superiore in Pisa offers one maintenance and tuition award for study at the University of Pisa. Candidates must be men under thirty, preferably those planning to teach.

Eligibility requirements for the Italian awards are: United States citizenship, demonstrated academic ability and capacity for independent study; good moral character, personality and adaptability; and good health.

Candidates for the Italian Government awards must have a master's degree or its equivalent in advanced work, such as recognition as an artist, a scholar, or a scientist. They must present a project, outlined in detail, for advanced study or research. Artists and musicians may have to submit recordings or samples of their work. Successful candidates are required to learn some Italian before taking up their fellowships.

Applications may be secured from the United States Student Department of the Institute of International Education.

Students Solve Parking Problem

Several enterprising Stanford students solved at least one driver's parking problem. When the student couldn't even find a place to park his small Volkswagon, his fellow students lifted it off the ground and deposited it in the main corridor of their dormitory. Campus cops weren't too happy, but they couldn't seem to find a regulation against it.

It Could Be Verse

IT SHOULD BE VERSE
by A. NONNY MOOSE

Four score and seven years ago:
Its almost tomorrow.

A horse; a horse my kingdom for a horse.
Or perhaps a Hertz U-Drive It car.

He is too full of the milk of human kindness
To get potted easily.

A man said to the universe,
"Sir, I exist."
Well, what the heck.

If it were done when tis done,
Then it is well it were done quickly.
To cut the class or not cut the class,
That is the question.

Give me some men who are
stout hearted men,
and I'll show you one wild woods-party.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"NO-NO! TH' NEXT ONE — THAT ONE'S FULL O' BEER!"

The Dissenter

Lobbying Per Se Is A Good Thing

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

THE COUNTRY has heard much about "lobbying" in the past two weeks.

President Eisenhower vetoed the Natural Gas Bill, which he had favored, his reason being that certain lobbying practices that had been used to pass the bill were too shady to sanction with Presidential approval.

The Senate has established a committee to investigate lobbying practices, "campaign contributions," and outright bribery. It will not be the first time that lobbying has occupied the attention of Congress and the curiosity of the nation.

What is it?

Strictly speaking, and according to the law requiring registration of lobbyists, as interpreted by court decision, a lobbyist is one who attempts, through direct influence, to bring about the passage or defeat of a measure before Congress.

For this purpose some 23 top interest groups spent $2,139,380.48 in 1954. The fantastic total of over four million dollars was spent by a total of 222 lobbies.

THE PUBLIC makes a great mistake if it assumes these expenditures represent dishonest influences on Congress. Much of the figure represents the salaries of men who are experts in the economic and legal areas in which railroads, for example, are concerned.

Some organizations may include the costs of the telegrams that are sent by member chapters—as the Chambers of Commerce—when a vital bill is being considered.

Lobbying, in its honest form, occurs when an interest group sends someone to Washington to work for measures that will benefit the group.

There is nothing wrong with this. Our country is so large and its population so diverse economically and culturally speaking that a person cannot make his influence felt through the ballot alone.

SO HE MAY BELONG to the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Legion, the PTA, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Florida Citrus Mutual, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the American Medical Association, the AFL-CIO, and countless others who have Washington representatives. Some of these groups have undue, but not illegal, power over the votes of Congress.

And there are myriads of religious groups, nationality groups, professional organizations, social clubs, citizens' societies and the like which have no hired lobbyist but who pass resolutions and write letters to Congress.

Through the constant counteraction of these many groups something reasonably beneficial to and acceptable by all is forged by the government.

Occasionally some lobbyist—usually an unregistered lobbyist — tries to buy votes with money. This is plain and simple bribery and could be minimized by making the lobby and bribery regulation laws more strict. But lobbying in itself, we must not forget, is but a Twentieth-Century implementation of the democratic principle. Everyone is entitled to be heard. We might only regret that not all groups have a lobby.

Of All Things

Says He's Not "Georgie", Either

By OSCAR JOHNSON

HAVING BEEN "accused" of being Georgie Seminole, I have decided to explain my position. This way seems to be the simplest, to once again take up my cudgeling of campus affairs under the "Of All Things" kicker.

I want to assure readers of "The Dissenter" that I am not Georgie. Having been assured, both of you can rest at ease from now on. Seriously, Georgie's political and social philosophies speak for themselves—you don't have to know the author to appreciate them.

I realize it is frustrating at times to campus journalists when another writer prints the inside "tips." Georgie has done this occasionally; once he had Coyle Moore wondering how he had found out about some of Moore's plans. (This is no mean trick, either.) So other writers can perhaps be excused for wishing to know who is scooping them.

On the other hand, efforts to expose G. S. should not be carried too far. In fact the ideal attitude concerning the situation should be, "What, me worry?"

• • •

NOW THAT GEORGIE Seminole has been dealt with, I'd like to turn to another writer—the F-bo's "struggling" columnist, Dave Ward-Steinman.

This fellow is a rather tall, clean-cut youth who aspires to enlightened criticism of the more sedate areas of musical activity at FSU. Yet, somehow, he is seemingly stymied in this endeavor by the tormenting Flambeau headline writers.

For awhile, Dave found that the headlines didn't quite say what he said in his columns. He didn't want to make a complaint about it, but he did discreetly inquire as to why this was taking place. He was told that headline writing is an exceedingly difficult task, one in which the results often do not measure up to the standards envisioned by their writers.

So the "In The Wings" author decided to try one of his own. But he added a new twist: instead of merely repeating in the headline the main point of the column, he got back at his tormentors by saying something in the headline he had not quite come out and said in his column. Thus, he reasoned, people would believe the headline writers had said it, not him.

AFTER THIS outburst, the mild-mannered Dave decided to let the Flambeau "regulars" take over the headline chore. But in his last column, in which he carefully avoided using the description, the "Third Herd" in criticizing the Herman concerts for fear it would lower the level of his column, he found the following headline emblazoned above: "Says THIRD HERD Tops Brown."

Sometimes you just can't win!

• • •

By the way, if "The Dissenter" is THAT worried about Georgie Seminole, I believe I can assure him with considerable certainty that her identity will be revealed shortly.

In The Wings

Box-Office Demands Showmanship

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

IN THE LAST issue I crossed swords mildly with another columnist over the question of showmanship. While I have no intention of starting a feud and no desire to rehash last week's Herman concert, I would like to clarify my thoughts on the subject.

To begin with, a performing artist, if he wishes to make a living at his trade, must sell himself to the public. He must distinguish himself as an Individual and a Personality, not only because it's good box-office but because he must do something to set himself off from his competitors, many of whom are just as good as he.

There are several ways of doing this. One is by being associated with a particular type of repertoire or style of playing: Casadesus — Ravel, Gieseking — Dubussy, Schnabel — Beethoven, and crossing the fence, Gillespie — bop, Kenton—screaming trumpets, and so on.

ANOTHER IS through personal idiosyncrasies (bohemianism is always good box-office) or identification with a group or school. A third way is through "tricks" and mannerisms in performance. It is this last method, of course, that is most suspect. If the artist can deliver the goods, one must indulge him his whims. But if, as so often happens, he turns out to be a faker, one should not hesitate to expose him, though this may be a dangerous pastime if practiced recklessly. The public does not like for mud to be thrown at its idols (Liberace being a case in point).

This brings us back to Woody Herman. The columnist mentioned above quotes Herman as justifying his mannerisms by identification with swing. All well and good, but I am of the opinion that Herman does not play "swing" or any type of jazz. He plays formulas—patterns, sequences, and runs—all stereotyped and obvious. There is nothing inventive or fresh about him even by swing standards. That was my justification for last week's diatribe.

• • •

FINALLY GOT around to hearing the Jazz-at-the-Oasis group Sunday night. Found them more impressive individually than collectively. Chief complaint: too loud for a place that size. The fault lies with the rhythm section rather than the trumpet or tenor. If Al Harkness, their inventive drummer, would back the horns at the same level he backs the piano, then drop his piano-backing one notch, one could get a better idea of what's going on.

Danny Cunningham (who by the way was offered a recording contract by Arno Marsh, one of the Herman Herdsmen) holds forth on trumpet; with Lloyd Fish on tenor, the two have worked up a fine book of riffs and contrapuntal lines. Eric Knight, the pianist, is a real find, but doesn't always seem to listen to what the others are doing, especially on ballads. The rhythm section as a whole does nothing about dynamics or levels; it seems to be every man for himself. Still there are some exciting moments.

The sessions start at 8 on Sunday nights and there is no cover or admission charge. Don Shearn, a recent addition, is the bassist.

Wandering With Wiljohn

'Stereotyped', Yes, But Satisfying

BY WILJOHN.

"OUT SWORD and away withall!" The rather persistant fellow who writes that droll column above me seems to have a few more comments on Woody. Let's take a look. Go on, give him a break. Read his column for a change. I'll wait.

Now, do you see where he says something about "stereotyped formulas?" It may be true that Woody's playing sounds familiar most of the time. That is probably because he plays the same tried-and-true tricks on his stick every time. After all, when you use a successful commodity, there isn't much sense in changing. Those tricks, if you insist on referring to them as such, still please the crowds.

The old "Wing-Watcher" up above is probably one of the finest technical musicians in this school. But he has a lot to learn about not panning a crowd-pleasing performance because it didn't meet his technical standards.

While we are kicking this around, I have heard that there is a local disc-jockey who has been putting down the twin columns of Wiljohn and Steinman. His comments, over the air on the "Night Watch" program, have been to the affect that neither of us are qualified to be doing the work we labor so punily at. I've been told he also states that we are ridiculous for attempting to compare Herman and Brown. If he'd been very careful, he'd have noticed that we didn't attempt it; we DID it.

AS TO NOT being qualified, I defie the boy to find me someone to compare with David's knowledge of music, short of faculty or graduate students. (And even they would be hard put.) As for myself, I'll freely and gladly admit that there are many with a more complete knowledge of jazz, a keener musical sense and a more profound outlook on life in general. However, although there are some who could have done a better job, there were none who would when this column was started. And, since my chief interest lies in this field and I'm always eager to learn more of it, I undertook the job.

This DJ was reported to have specifically torn down our columns on Herman. Dave wrote his opinion and I merely quoted Woody, himself. So, if there are any disagreements over the words of wisdom, either write to Woody or don't tear down a man because his opinion differs from yours. You could be wrong, you know. It has been done.

• • • • • • • •

THE COMMODORES provided some mighty wonderful music for the Campus Sing Dance Friday night. If those boys would only learn that there are other dynamic markings than FF, they would really be tops. I guess I'm old fashioned. I like the music to allow me to remain on my feet while I dance. Valdes does a swell job of fronting. I hope he keeps it up.

The Press Table

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

S IT ENDS

As all things usually do, Florida State's 19-game FIBC e streak went the way of fate Saturday night, but we ink that there might be a little more to this one than meets in the newspaper box score.

Evidently experiencing one of their worst nights, the Seminoles showed most of the meager gathering in Miami ere little during e rapid-fire first half, and it seemed hey rallied their forces perhaps too late.

To be sure, the Hurricanes were up. They had waited years for a conference win over the Seminoles and now they grabbed the lead they would not be headed.

However, Friday we got a first hand look (and feel) why visiting teams usually enter a fray the underdog ne time farther they travel the more of an underdog they become.

Frankly, we commend any bunch of boys who can withstand the grueling 14-hour bus trip from here to the Magic City and somehow manage to play 40 minutes of effective basketball with only a day's rest. We'd personally hate to try it.

Still, the Seminoles made a fight of it, and with one or two breaks tossed their way might have brought home the 20th straight triumph.

It can still be contended out that the Tribe DID win her second straight conference title, loss or no loss, and crushed a full game in front of the runner-up Hurricanes.

Next year is another story.

OSH SPARKLE

A few local fans who avowed up at the Florida High ym Friday night got a first hand look at Jacksonville's ball-touted Chuck Brendler, and probably went away considerably impressed.

Most everybody knows that Chuck is high on the prospect list of the junior college boys FSU coach Bud Kennedy would like to see wearing the garnet and gold next year.

The trouble is, every coach from here to Wisconsin also wants Chuck, and it's not too hard to see why.

Chuck poured in 32 points Friday night, not an uncommon evening's work for him. Some say that Kennedy on the inside track on the big boy, but if he does he's not about it.

He'd be e big help to any team, and might even make the difference between e successful or unsuccessful season.

Keep your fingers crossed. We'd like to see him working for the Seminoles next season, not against them.

S UK THROUGH?

Saturday night's 101-77 trouncing of the Kentucky Wildcats by the University of Alabama brings up the old question again.

Is the University of Kentucky's domination of the Southeastern Conference basketball race slowly dying out?

It's undoubtedly been a long time since a UK team took such a decisive beating in conference play, and it, coupled with the two Georgia Tech surprises last year, got some people to thinking.

Before you jump to conclusions, though, remember ch Adolph Rupp has dropped only e little more than 20 conference games since he joined the institution 26 years ago, and that no team is invincible, though it may seem s at times.

Despite the fact that they are unlikely to win the conference title after Saturday's defeat, the Wildcats like e, will probably find a way—into the NCAA tourney.

That is.

The NCAA rules-makers, who cause coaches more worry than income taxes, have left Alabama with five ineligible men—their entire first team.

With this fact in mind, it's probable that 'Bama will turn down an NCAA tourney bid and the only logical choice from then on in UK, who battled third-place Vanderbilt, 76-55.

Is UK through? Wait 'till next year. We doubt it.

WHY MONDAY?

One of the most difficult angles to any sport is undoubtedly the tricky business of schedule-making, but one particular angle of it has come to our attention through several sources, and we'd like to see something done about it.

Both last year and this, many of the Seminole basketball contests have popped up on Monday night. We know that sometimes it's hard to avoid this, because we're usually more interested in the caliber of the opposition and have to take what date we can.

Nevertheless, the fact that five of nine home games this year, came up on Monday nights has probably reduced the total attendance figure by one-third, possibly one-half.

The reason for this of course, is that through tradition the great majority of the fraternities and sororities on campus hold chapter meetings Mondays, and there are a strong percentage of the total students in Greek organizations.

Maybe it's impossible to change things, but we doubt it. Let's have a few games on some other nights. How about athletic committee?

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
ENDS WEDNESDAY
"THE BENNY GOODMAN STORY"
Steve Allen
Donna Reed
Gene Krupa
STARTS THURSDAY
"PICNIC"
William Holden
Kim Novak
Susilind Russell

STATE
ENDS TODAY
"THE LONE RANGER"
Clayton Moore
Lyle Bettger
WEDNESDAY - SATURDAY
"THE LAST HUNT"
Robert Taylor
Stewart Granger
Debra Paget
Lloyd Nolan
Sam Tamblyn

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY
"LUCY GALLANT"
Jane Wyman
Charlton Heston
THURSDAY-SATURDAY
"TALL MAN RIDING"
Randolph Scott
Peggie Castle
—also—
"MAMBO"
Shelley Winters
Silvana Mangano
Vittorio Gassman

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY
"CANYON CROSSROADS"
Richard Basehart
Phyllis Kirk
THURSDAY-SATURDAY
Walt Disney's
"DAVY CROCKETT"
Fess Parker
and
"PHANTOM OF THE JUNGLE"
Jon Hall

BITZ—TUES. - WED.—"PARDON MY FRENCH"
also "LONG DARK HALL" Lili Palmer
Thurs.-Sat.—"PAGLIACCI" Gino Lollabrigida

Seminoles Caught In Hurricane

Miami's 91-85 Victory Snaps FIBC Streak

By LARRY BLOCK
Flambeau Sports Editor

It was bound to happen sooner or later, the saying goes, as Florida State's basketball team finally tasted defeat in FIBC competition.

An inspired group of Miami Hurricanes turned the trick last Saturday in Miami, 91-85, a feat no other conference member could accomplish in almost two years.

The victory wasn't quite enough to dethrone Florida State from the league title with a 9-1 record. Miami captured second place with an 8-2 mark.

The Tribe was behind at the half, 52-38, but came roaring back in the opening minutes of the second half to pull within three points of Miami.

However, basketal by Gene Stagg and Ed Morris ended Miami's scoring drought, and FSU could get no closer.

Jim Oler and Gary Wold wound up the evening as high point men each dunking 27 points. Forward Dick Artzner helped the Seminoles cause along with 24 points, but no one else could hit in double figures.

Wold

Wold dunked 14 of the first 30 Seminole points, and continually stabbed the Miami defense with layups and hooks at crucial points.

The 6-7 center thus boosted his year's total to 268 points and e 14.6 average, second behind Gene Freer's e-setting marks.

The Seminoles could hit on but 29 of 80 shots for a 36.6 percentage while the winners dropped 31 of 73 for a 42.3 average.

Guard Dick Miani closed out his collegiate career with 22 points for the winners, but teammate Ed Morris grabbed scoring honors from him with 24.

The Hurricanes' starting Sophomores, Dave Stagg and Marty Burdette added 12 and 14 respectively a; crucial points.

In addition, Morris had a lower of strength under the boards, with 21 rebounds.

45 Fouls

A total of 45 personal fouls were called during the game.

Future Bright For Gym Frosh

Four of Florida State's Freshman gymnasts, Chick Cleo, Roy er Webb, Bob Elliott, and Bruno Klaus have shown considerable promise in recent Gymkana shows.

Coach Hardy Price has high hopes that these gymnasts will become excellent material next year.

Chick Cleo and Roger Webb compete in free exercise. Bob Elliott works on the trampoline and Bruno Klaus is an all around performer.

They have been in Gymkana shows because intercollegiate rules prohibit Freshmen from competing with the varsity in dual meets.

This weekend they traveled with the Gymkana show to perform at Moody Air Force Base in Valdosta, Georgia.

Also promising as varsity material are Ed Brimius, a newcomer from Coral Gables, Florida, Gerry Gordon, and Don Rosasky.

Intramural News

Volleyball is next on the schedule for men's intramurals. Teams wishing to enter must have their entry in by 5 p.m. next Thursday March 1st.

Practice times for all teams are available on application. Matches will be held in the women's north gym 5:30-6:30 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays be ginning March 9th.

Matches will be best 3 out of 5 games.

Track

At press time last night the finals of the track and field championships were under way at Florida M. S. field.

Board Meets

The February meeting of the Intramural Board was held last Thursday in the Student Center.

It was voted to retain the flag-type touch football rules for next season. A resolution passed to petition the use of football shoes during the football season rather than play in the old season.

Table tennis plans for next year, as well as those for basketball were expanded in a longer schedule, in view of the use of the new men's gym.

It was voted not to hold the golf tournament on the FSU short course. Golf entries will be due on March 20th.

Dates of the prelim and final swimming meets were set for Mondays April 20 and May 7th at 7 p.m.

Softball will get under way the first week in April.

Horseshoes will be played in March.

Seminole —Shorts—

The annual Garnet and Gold football game is the only time that coach Tom Murrell does not sit down on the bench. The mentor will be up in the press box strictly as an observer.

After the regular basketball season is over the varsity will take on a team of alumni led by Ham Wernke. It should be interesting to watch Wernke guarding Jim Oler.

No one can say that the FSU baseball team wastes their time in Saturday. A double practice session is on tap every Saturday, one in the morning and again in the afternoon.

It's hard to find another school with a better pair of end coaches than at FSU. The lanky Bones Taylor and Pat Semmeral were both all-pro ends.

Notice

There will be an important meeting of all lettermen Tuesday Feb. 28 at the Women's Gym.

The meeting will include a general reorganization of all lettermen also football films highlighting FSU's games. All lettermen try to be there, but only two men fouled out. Sid Gregory left with five minutes remaining for the Tribe, while Miami's Gene Stagg followed one minute after.

Oler added the field goal record to his swelling list. Jim sank six field goals to boost his total for the year to 166, Six over the previous mark.

His total points for the season now stands at 681, and his average at 29.6. Ith two games to go he is almost a sure bet to enter the 700 class.

FOR STUDENT NEEDS, REMEMBER
BILL'S BOOK STORE

GO TO
THE MECCA

Photo by Steve Kleid

FOLLOW THE LEADER . . . Center Garry Wold seems to be leading the parade as he is about to lay the ball through the hoop. Those arms belong to Miami center Stan Kojkowski, next comes Bob Williams, and bringing up the rear is Ed Morris of Miami.

Cindermen Hampered By Injuries In ACC

Florida State's track squad returned from the Atlantic Coast Conference indoor meet last Friday with two fourth places to show for their efforts.

Joe Derke nabbed a fourth place in the non-conference low hurdles against tough competition. A makeshift mile relay team composed of Ken Segner, Mike Cosley, Charles Watson and Davis, placed fourth in the mile relay event.

Bad luck hit the Seminoles on this meet. For example Jack Terwilliger, main stay of the team, injured his foot in the preliminary 60 yd. dash, and because of this injury he could not enter the fina.s.

Track coach Mike Long hopes that the injury will not bother Terwilliger during the season. As far as trainer Dan Falls can see it is a bone spur that causes an irritation. However, Terwilliger is expected to be in shape for the Tribe's first dual meet March 28, against Mississippi Southern.

Coach Long stated that although the performance of the squad was average he though that the team gained experience and learned what improvemnts have to be made.

Freshmen Bow To JJC, 99-88

It was another case of too much Chuck Brendler, as Hank Wernke's Freshmen bowed to Jacksonville Junior College 99-88 last week.

The 6-6 center scored 32 points and took home his own scoring record. He now has 446 for the season.

The halftime score was 46-42 with the Frosh on top, but JJC caught up and passed them in the early minutes of the last half.

The game was a fer cry from the one played in Jacksonville, when the Dolphins ran away from the Frosh Little Joe Williams, guard Hugh Durham, and forward Fred Woodward kept the Frosh alive with their set-shooting. Williams was high scorer with 26.

Photo by Steve Kleid

Guard Jimmy Oler makes like a football end and snares the ball on his way toward the basket. Miami defenders are Stan Kojkowski, (18), and Gene Stage while Dick Miani, (11) and Tribe forward Bob Williams look on.

Swimmers Easy Winners In AAU

By JOE GREENE
Flambeau Sports Writer

Florida State's tankers breezed by four teams in the Georgia AAU last week to claim the championship by scoring 89 points.

Before going to the AAU meet the Tribe defeated Georgia in dual competition 48 to 36, Thursday.

The AAU meet in Atlanta last Saturday night saw the University of Georgia pick up 36 points, enough to edge out Georgia Tech for second place. The Engineers tallied 32 for third place while the Florida Gators finished it off with 24 points

In the Georgia dual meet the Tribe's only double winner was Graham Teachke who won both the 200 yard freestyle and the 400 yard freestyle.

The Seminole relay teams in the 300 yard medley and 400 yard freestyle continued their winning ways as Ken Abbot, Dick Rhodes and Mike Thelkuriet took the former and Don Lewis, Abbot, Teachner and Jim Julian the latter.

Three Firsts

Georgia put a halt to FSU's complete domination over opponents in dual meets. The Bulldogs managed to squeeze out three firsts in the course of the even ag events.

Julian, Florida State's boman torpedo in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle dashes, had trouble finding himself in the 50 and finished third behind Georgia's Arnold and Eberhart. In the 100 yard sprint he finished first with a time of 54.1.

The one meter diving contest saw Georgia pick up another of its firsts as McHutt took the number one position with a score of 224.1. Ponder and Rhodes of FSU finished second and third in the diving event.

The Seminoles have a few days for brushing before they go to Gainesville March 10, to face the Gators for the second time this year, in the final meeting between the two teams the Tribe walked off with an easy 66-18 win.

All the pleasure comes thru...
THE TASTE IS GREAT!

Here you have the best in filtered smoking—Filter Tip Tareyton, the filter cigarette that smokes milder, smokes smoother, draws easier . . . the only one that gives you Activated Charcoal filtration. All the pleasure comes thru . . . the taste is great!

THE BEST IN FILTERED SMOKING
FILTER TIP TAREYTON
PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

In Grecian Times

Annual Sigma Chi Derby Scheduled For March 17

Sigma Chis are planning their annual "Sigma Chi Derby" to be held March 17. Coaches are being chosen for the popular event. Kappa Alpha Theta won the Derby last year.

President Jimmy Joanos has been chosen as SAE candidate in the annual "Sigma Chi Balfour Award." If he wins the prestige award, his name along with those chosen from the other 23 provinces will go to National Headquarters for the finals.

New initiates are Bobby Bryson, Dale Evans, Bob Moren, Cecil Creek Cecil Dunn, Gerry Gordon, John Calhoun, Lynn Wollschlaner, Tom Hale, Rob Carter, Rufus Jennings, Chris Voel, Tom Pendray, Les Meyers, Art Unger, Art Moore, Phillip Knight, and Dean Donley.

Chris Voel won the most outstanding pledge award and Rufus Jennings won the Dick Merrin Scholarship award with a 3.6 average.

Sig pledges are Dick Aitchison, Stan Baldwin, Chuck Burnham, Dave Byars, Bob Green, Fred Hoffinger, Jim Haywood, Don Lewis, Charlie Mathews, Wylie Pons, Jim Stone, Glen Thatcher, and Rube Waddell.

Kappa Deltas entertained the KD Sopths and Seniors with a coffee Sunday at the home of Mrs James Thompson, president of the alum group.

Receiving the Second Degree Saturday were Hope Davis, Kay Davis, Caroline Evans, Sally Girnis, Diane Kern, Nancy Kry, Anne Munroe, Kay Neilson, Sandra Stewart, Mary Lou Suhrer, Frances Townley, and Susie Tyler.

The Zetas are now proudly displaying the plaque they received for placing third in Campus Sing. Mary Margeret Meadows and Joan Jones were initiated into Alpha Zeta honorary womens' music honorary. While two other Zetas, Mary Margaret Williams and Dean O'Sullivan will appear in this week's Tarpon show.

Kappa Alpha Theta recently elected officers for the new year. They are Florence Ashby president; June McManus, vice-president; Alice Gunnard, corresponding secretary; Mary Carhill, recording secretary; Mimi McCulloch, treasurer; Dee Estenta, chaplain; Shirley Davidson, social chairman.

The Theta's are entertaining their district president, Mrs Robert Little, this week.

A "Shipwreck Party" was given last Saturday night by the Kappa Sigmas for their rushes and new pledges. Several of the pledges gave skits, and the house was decorated to represent a desert isle.

The Kappa Sigs have ten more men wearing the "Star and Crescent." They are Jim Scott, Richard Hay, Dave Salmon, Jorge Otero, Danny Wells, Leroy Scott, Bill Johnson, Richard Prego, George Faiver, and Tom Stromsen.

Some Alpha Chis were honored recently when Carolyn Redfern was tapped for Garnet Key. Dottie Sue Thompson, Barbara Jeffries, and Carson Edwards were tapped for Kappa Delta Pi. Maxine Hannon was elected Social Chairman of the Social Welfare Club. Gretchen Oetjen was chosen as a floor chairman in Jennie Murphree. Nettie Black was chosen Social Chairman for Bryan Hall and Dottie Sue Thomnson was installed as Panhellenic Honor Court Chairman.

The Alpha Chis celebrated their annual weekend on Feb. 24 and 25, with a fried chicken dinner and square dance at Silver Lake on Friday night and a luncheon at the Tallahassee Dining Room Saturday noon. The weekend was topped off with the formal Carnation Ball at the American Legion Hall on Saturday night.

INTERS MUST ORDER INVITATIONS

Interns must order graduation invitations before they leave for their internship.

Receiving Trophies — Don Westbrook, left, and Karl Mohr, Phi Mu Alpha president, present awards to Harrison Fisher, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Paul Perry, Pi Kappa Phi for Campus Sing efforts. Story and picture are on page 1.

Flambeau photo: Adrian Allen

Sixty Promoted To Cadet Rank

Sixty members of the army ROTC corps have received promotions to cadet rank, Colonel Philip S. Gross, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, announced today.

Promoted are Jerry C. Connell, cadet major; Bobbe C. Jones, cadet major; Edward K Legerton, cadet sgt. first class; Thomas L. Reitz, cadet corporal; Thomas P. Bennet, cadet private first class; and LaVerne W. Williams, cadet major. Also Norman W. Burth, cadet first lieutenant; George K. Faiver and Richard W. White, cadet second Lieutenants; Charles B. Bradshaw, cadet master sgt.; Thomas D. Branch Jr., William L. Charles H. Paul, and Joseph J. Thompson, cadet sergeants first class.

Cadet Colonel

Receiving cadet corporal promotions were James N. Adams, Leonard E. Darsey, Cecil F. Duno, Frank C. Furci, Richard A. Gardner, and Jack H Heisler. Promoted to cadet sergeants were Charles E. Burns, Harry C. Tyminez Jr., Charles F. Bryan, Weyland H. Elam Jr., Robert P. Murray, and Hiram L. Snow. Theodore M. Kennedy, John C. Phillips, Philip J. Knight, Robert F. Sanchez, adn David A. Wallace received cadet corporal promotions.

Also Promoted

Also promoted were Thomas J. Mosely and Gary D. Rice to second lieutenants; and William B. Crawford cadet sgt. first class. Promoted to cadet private first class were Charles L. Seale Jr., Clarence W. Shirey, Joseph M. Best, Bradley C. Canon, Thomas E. Clarke, and James W. Hoke. James M. Moore, Harold B. Hall, and Richard B. Johnson were promoted to cadet sergeants first class.

Cadet Corporal

Cadet corporal promotions went to William R. McCollum, Hoke W. Williams, Franklin B. Smith, Cecil B. Cheek, Roelurt D. Sandoval, Donald M. Thomas, Tommy C. Chivers, Joseph Adamo, Richard G Rhodes, Mary W. Williams, and Arthur L. Moore, received cadet private first class promotions. Also promoted were Jack B. McCollum, cadet sergeant, William V. Phillips and John R. Terwilliger, sergeants first class.

Episcopalian Group Elects 1956 Vestry

Rose Hall, the Episcopal parish - on - the - campus, has announced the 1956 Vestry elected at the regular Canterbury Hour on February 12.

Those officers who will serve for one year are Jack Watson, senior warden; Lucile Turnage, junior warden; Beverly Perkins, secretary, Willard Lynn, treasurer, Bill Holt, worship chairman; Jean Magill, social relations, Dan Dearing, chairman of publications and promotions, and Mary Ann Benedict, missions chairman.

Succeeding Cynthia Mason is Lucea Griffin, newly appointed chairmad of the Altar Guild.

Kappa Delta Pi Initiates Friday

Kappa Delta Pi, national education honorary will initiate new members Friday.

Dr Ralph Eyman, dean of the School of Education, will address a dinner meeting to be held after the 5:30 p.m. initiation in Longmire Club Room, said Cleo Rainwater, Kappa Delta Pi publicity chairman.

The dinner, for members, invited guests, and initiates, will be held in the "Trophy Room of the Student Center beginning at 6 p.m., she said.

Classified

WANTED: Girls interested in waitress work. Howard Johnson Restaurant.

Special Radiological Fellowship Open

A number of special fellowships in radiological physics are available to 1956 college graduates in physics, chemistry, engineering, or the life sciences.

These fellowships have been made available by the US Atomic Energy Commission beginning September, 1956 at one of these institutions: the University of Washington and the Hanford Works, Vanderbilt University and Oak Ridge National Laboratory, and the University of Rochester and Brookhaven National Laboratory.

CHESTER APPOINTED MATHEWS ASSISTANT

Charles A. Chester, senior in Political Science, has been appointed an intern in the office of U. S. Congressman Billy Matthews.

Matthews' office in Washington announced that Chester, a veteran of the U. S. Air Force, has been placed there to gain practical experience in his chosen field.

Playwrights To Get Broadway Chance

Plays by young writers can take a shortcut to Broadway, TV to Broadway Productions is looking for scripts by recognized or promising new playwrights.

Broadway producer, Oscar S. Lerman, recently established the producing firm to present plays in the various entertainments fields.

"TV to Broadway Productions" will first present the new plays on television and then on the Broadway legitimate stage and films.

The new firm plans to sponsor a television program to showcase those new plays, Lerman says that this program is similar to the role that the summerstock troupis play in the legitimate theatre.

Before submitting scripts, persons interested may secure an application by writing to "TV to Broadway Productions" Suite 609 147 West 42 Street, New York City, and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelop.

FSU Job Opportunities

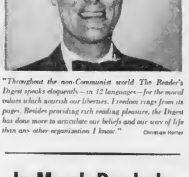
Today

WHITE BANDS PROVING GROUNDS Wanted: Chemists (Anal.), Physics, Math Recruiter: Reed Lackey & Robert Hutchison

Today & Tomorrow

SOUTHERN DAIRIES Wanted: General business graduates & Accounting Recruiter: Charles Capri & H. J. McFarland

Tomorrow & Thursday



T V. A. Wanted: Statistics & Economics Recruiter: Howard Ellis.

Friday

Standolin Oil & Gas of Houston Wanted: Math., Physics, Geology Recruiter. F W Popp.

DeKalb County Schools, Decatur, Georgia Wanted: Teachers.

Why the Governor of Massachusetts reads The Reader's Digest

"Throughout the non-Communist world The Reader's Digest speaks eloquently — in 12 languages — for the moral values which nourish our liberties. I reckon rage from its pages. Besides providing rich reading pleasure, the Digest has done more to articulate our beliefs and our way of life than any other organization I know." Christian Herter

HAVE YOUR CAR WASHED — Only $1.00 — Profits for Mission Fund 9 a.m. — 5 p.m. Saturday —at the— Baptist Student House 602 W CALL

RECORDS Jazz, Classical & Pop PHONOGRAPHS BAKER'S MUSIC CENTER 107 E. Jefferson Phone 3-0161

QUALITY DRY CLEANERS For Expert CLEANING PRESSING REPAIRING ALTERING CALL OR GO BY 215 W. College 2-5097

1. SUPERIOR TASTE
So good to your taste because of L&M's superior tobaccos. Richer, tastier — especially selected for filter smoking. For the flavor you want, here's the filter you need.

2. SUPERIOR FILTER
So quick on the draw! Yes, the flavor comes clean—through L&M's all white Miracle Tip. Pure white inside, pure white outside for cleaner, better smoking.

RELAX WITH L&M MAKE TODAY YOUR BIG RED LETTER DAY!

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

I wouldn't trust my fine dresses to anything but magic SANITONE SERVICE!

Be Sure... Always Insist on Our Better SANITONE Dry Cleaning ...It Costs No More!

Your finer dresses demand the special care our expert Sanitone Service gives them. They'll come back sparkling fresh and spotless because all the dirt's gone! No cleaning odors! Perspiration vanishes! And you'll appreciate the beautiful press... handfinished down to the last detail! Try us today, and see what a difference Sanitone makes.

SANITONE

SUPERIOR CLEANERS 308 S. Monroe St. Phone 2-0652

In March Reader's Digest don't miss:

HOW TO CONQUER FRUSTRATION. When blocked from what we seek to do, we feel pent-up and thwarted. Result: most of us work off our feelings by lashing out at someone else. Here's how—if you are aware of what frustration is doing to you—you can avoid many a needless clash.

BEST ADVICE I EVER HAD. A street-corner phrenologist "read" the bumps on the boy's head, spoke 6 words. British Labour Party leader Herbert Morrison tells how that advice spurred him on his career.

GUIDED MISSILES: KEY TO PEACE? Terrifying weapons we are building in hopes of preventing war.

HOW MUCH DEBT CAN YOU AFFORD? Worried over your installment buying? Feel you owe too much? Here's a simple way to measure how much debt you can afford on your income—and suggestions on how to avoid getting in too deep.

HOW YOUR NOSE KNOWS. Scientific facts about our amazing and mysterious sense of smell.

AMERICAN MEN ARE LOUSY FATHERS. Famed author Philip Wylie tells why a child needs his father's companionship; and why a dad's greatest rewards lie in sharing himself with his kids.

THE MAN WHO SAVED A PRESIDENT. The impeachment of Andrew Johnson depended on the vote of one man: Edmund Ross. Senator John F. Kennedy tells how Ross sacrificed wealth, career to vote as his conscience bade: "Not guilty."

WHY DO DOCTORS SMOKE? A doctor asks, "How can medical men condone the use of tobacco, knowing its harmful effects?"

COLLEGE WITH A BUILT-IN POCKETBOOK. Story of Southern Missionary's work-study plan where students earn their tuition, get practical experience—and make a profit for the college.

DOOMED PRISONERS OF DIFFEORANGE. How a Nazi guard risked his life to save 18 of his captives from death—a drama whose final scene was enacted just last spring.

Get March Reader's Digest at your newsstand today—only 25¢

43 articles of lasting interest, including the best from leading magazines and current books, condensed to save your time.

It's a pleasure to get to know OLD SPICE AFTER SHAVE LOTION. Each time you shave you can look forward to something special: the OLD SPICE scent—brisk, crisp, fresh as all outdoors . . . the tang of that vigorous astringent—bracing shave-soap film, heals tiny razor nicks. Splash on OLD SPICE—and start the day refreshed!

Add Spice to Your Life . . . Old Spice For Men

SHULTON New York • Toronto

FLORIDA'S ONLY Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

FSU PRODUCTIONS Set Over Weekend (See Stories, Page 1.)

Vol. XLI, No. 35 | Friday, March 2, 1956

New Redistricting Bill Turned Down In Student Senate

Minor Graduate Omission Causes Postponement Of Whole Measure

Student Senate Wednesday turned up its nose at a reapportionment bill which had been agreed upon in essence at Senate's previous meeting.

But the reason for the change was minor: lack of graduate student representation. The bill will be taken up with any changes at the next meeting. Story follows:

By MARGARET MILLER

It looked as if Student Senate would finish up Wednesday on the reapportionment issue.

Gordon Gaster presented his committee's bill, after which Senate voted to waive the rules and consider its first reading as also being its final reading.

Reason for the waiving was, as Senator Petey Dunn put it, "We knew what was going into this bill beforehand. The Gaster committee had our votes of input, decided upon after nine screaming weeks' of discussion."

The table was set—an air of expectancy existed in the room. The cross of almost a year's trial of debate over reapportionment. It seemed that the gavel on redistrictine troubles was about to be closed.

Fool To Crack

But then the unusual quiet Senator Winnie Mae Douglas let her foot in the crack.

She somewhat timidly brought up the fact that graduate students are given no representation in either the present constitution or in the new reapportionment bill.

The discussion following revealed that this fact should completely neglected previously, deserved consideration.

Gaster Speaks Up

Said Gordon Gaster, "Graduate students are sort of between the devil and the deep blue sea as far as representation goes." He represented a different faction: nor student government ideas, yet his work there is of considerable importance to him, and he has no outlet for his desires. Gaster continued.

Said so further action on the reapportionment bill was tabled until next week. Jem Moore stated that if the bill was passed, the constitutional amendments would have to be passed.

Class Senators

The bill as read in Senate Wednesday provides that there will be two men and two women senators elected from each fraternity during spring and two representatives from living units.

These living units are divided into precincts, with each precinct allowed 1 senator. West Hall is the only exception to this rule in the dormitory groups, due to its larger population. It will be allotted two senators.

Sororities and fraternities are divided into precincts of approximately equal membership.

(Continued on Page 3)

Ham Dinner Blocks Bill

A ham dinner prevented Student Senate from deciding Wednesday on whether to establish porter board facilities for use by campaigners during election periods.

Senators were well into a discussion on the prospect of having large boards built for use by candidates when Senator Greta Sims reminded them that they were late for a dinner being given by Karl Edwards.

A motion to adjourn the meeting was quickly passed, leaving the bill just "hanging in the air" as described by Senate Secretary Carmine Raniere.

The bill will probably be open for discussion again at the next meeting Wednesday.

"Ah, Wilderness"—Eb Thomas and David Wade rehearse for coming production.

Speech Production

'Ah, Wilderness' Tickets On Sale

Reserve tickets for "Ah, Wilderness" go on sale in the Westcott ticket office Wednesday.

This latest Florida State University speech department production, a comedy by Eugene O'Neill, will be presented March 9, 10, 12, and 13. The curtain rises at 8:15 on the Dr. Paul Davis directed play in the Augusta Conrad Theatre located in the history building.

Fine university students may obtain tickets in exchange for the number two coupon of their activities books, free of charge, while general admission for the public is seventy-five cents.

The play, which takes place in a small Connecticut town in 1906, concerns an ordinary American family and their humors and vexations. The Millers are typical average folk, beset by average problems which they have the strength to solve.

The Plot

The plot of "Ah, Wilderness" centers around the adolescent son, Richard, played by Don Johnson. Much to the concern of his parents, Nat and Essie Miller as portrayed by Eb Thomas and Marlene Tindell respectively, he is a rebel who spends his time reading Swinburne, Shaw, Wilde, and Omar Khayyam. As an insolent anarchist he hates especially which worries his father. He is also unsatisfied in life with the neighbor's daughter, Muriel Carol Owen, whom he plans to marry.

It is out of this situation that Eugene O'Neill weaves the warm and humorous comedy of the Miller family to create a tender, wistful and compassionately comical picture of life.

Old Romance

A seventeen-year-old romance between Nat's sister Lily, Ruth Harvard, and Kid's brother, Bud, Dave Wade further complicates the scene. While various members of the family, John Davis as Dave directed play in the Augusta Conrad Theatre located in the history building.

Fine university students may obtain tickets in exchange for the number two coupon of their activities books, free of charge, while general admission for the public is seventy-five cents.

The play, which takes place in a small Connecticut town in 1906, concerns an ordinary American family and their humors and vexations. The Millers are typical average folk, beset by average problems which they have the strength to solve.

The Plot

The plot of "Ah, Wilderness" centers around the adolescent son, Richard, played by Don Johnson. Much to the concern of his parents, Nat and Essie Miller as portrayed by Eb Thomas and Marlene Tindell respectively, he is a rebel who spends his time reading Swinburne, Shaw, Wilde, and Omar Khayyam. As an insolent anarchist he hates especially which worries his father. He is also unsatisfied in life with the neighbor's daughter, Muriel Carol Owen, whom he plans to marry.

It is out of this situation that Eugene O'Neill weaves the warm and humorous comedy of the Miller family to create a tender, wistful and compassionately comical picture of life.

Old Romance

A seventeen-year-old romance between Nat's sister Lily, Ruth Harvard, and Kid's brother, Bud, Dave Wade further complicates the scene. While various members of the family, John Davis as Dave directed play in the Augusta Conrad Theatre located in the history building.

Supporting roles feature Walter Sale as Muriel's father, Bill King as Wint Selby, Lou Friedman as Belle, Faye Pierce as Nora, Jon Zilles as the bartender, and Alan Klass as the salesman.

Behind Scenes

Behind the scenes Jamie Conlon and Ethel Clifford handle the hand props, while Bill King is the stage manager and Carolyn Brown is the assistant. Lighting Control board operators are Gaynor Goldman and Carol Davis, while Vince Tata is in charge of set props. Members of the stage crew include John Paul Davis, Alan Klass, Lois Friedman, Walter Earle, John Zilles, Carol Owen, Sue Powell, Sue Mahoney, and Faye Pierce.

The role of Nat Miller was originally played by George M. Cohan. Cohan created quite a sensation with this part for he had made his name and had always played in musical comedy. Gene Lockhart played the original Sid and Elisha Cook, Jr. created the role of Richard

Moore Speaks At Veterans' Club Meeting

Student Body President Coyle Moore will speak at a Veterans Club meeting Tuesday at 7:30 in unreserved Veterans Club cochairmen Jerome Benstein and Percy Steele.

The meeting to be held in Room 601 Conradi Conference Room in Longmire from 7-9 p.m., will be the first meeting since the club's constitution was approved earlier this month by the Students Organization Committee.

Co-Chairman Benstein explained that the meeting will be open to nominate candidates for offices and get a charter-member roll. He added that veterans attending this first meeting will be considered charter-members.

The idea of forming a Veteran's Club was first considered at a general meeting of FSU's veterans last November. At that meeting another meeting was appointed to look into campus procedure pertaining to formation of an organization. They were also given authority to write a tentative constitution subject to approval at a future general meeting.

Early in December the constitution was submitted to a second general meeting and with a few minor changes was approved. It was then submitted to the Student Organization Committee which gave final approval early this month.

Co-Chairman Percy Steele stated that with over thirteen hundred veterans enrolled at FSU he hopes for a substantial membership.

At Symphony

Dohnanyi Given Ovation

Musicians Meet—Antal Dorati, conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony, and Dr. Ernst von Dohnanyi, professor of music, "talk shop" after Wednesday night's final concert here of the Minneapolis Symphony. The audience recorded Dohnanyi, famous Hungarian-born composer, conductor, and pianist a standing ovation after Dorati and the Symphony played his "Wedding Waltz."

Dr. Ernst von Dohnanyi, world-famous pianist, composer and conductor, who is professor of music here went to hear Antal Dorati conduct the Minneapolis Symphony Wednesday night.

Before he left he had received a standing ovation from 1,500 students, faculty and townspeople in Westcott Auditorium.

The Symphony had concluded its final number the First Brahms Symphony. Dorati stepped onto the podium and stilled the swelling applause.

Entertainment Country

"At last I have the opportunity to pay tribute to a great musician from my country," Dorati began. "Ernst von Dohnanyi . . ." and the audience turned toward the elderly, white-haired man with the broadest of smiles on his face. "and I were born not far from each other . . . he a few years earlier than I. He held all the music of my country in the palm of his hand . . . he played for us, Beethoven as it had never been played before . . . and he taught us new music and made it meaningful to us . . . just as he is doing now for you."

The Symphony then played an early work of the Hungarian-born Dohnanyi—"Wedding Waltz," from the ballet, "Veil of Pierrette."

The conductor led energetically and that is how the Symphony played. But the audience surpassed them. It thundered applause as Dohnanyi walked to the stage to shake hands with Dorati and the concert master. As he returned to his seat they rose in ranks with their applause

When they were quiet, the lights brightened, the auditorium emptied. The program, plus an unexpected tribute, was over.

Tarpon's Show Business Slated Tonight, Tomorrow

Performances Set In Gym

By PAT BRADY

The last two performances of Tarpon Club's "Show Business" will be held tonight and tomorrow night at 8:15 at the swimming pool in the Women's Gym. Tickets are free for the event but seats are limited.

The first two performances of this annual event, presented by the women swimmers "boogie", exhibited a night of talent, spectacle, and enjoyment to capacity audiences.

Fitting decorations carried out the theme with silhouetted scenes of a second metropolitan "Broadway."

There are eight numbers with music taken from various Broadway shows. The water patterns were designed by the students themselves, according to Professor Glynise Booth, director.

The theme depicts the ups and downs of a boorful Broadway star Sally Baldwin (Mary Hudson) swim the first number, "There's No Business Like Show Business", illustrating the potential star's first chorus job.

A "Fat Guy"

A "fast guy" meets her in the second number, "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue", an adventure so that he can make her famous in the "Bill of the Week" she becomes disillusioned and thinks she will never make it in show business.

"Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered" is the next number, she is bewitched when she has the desire to be a star, bothered because she can't get anywhere in her career, and bewildered because she doesn't know what to do.

Comedy Routine

In the comedy number, "Hurry With the Fringe On Top", her humorous boyfriend counts to the big climax and takes her to the show, "Oklahoma", encouraging her onward. This act, perhaps, is the high spot in the entertainment of the evening from the audience.

In "Tambo" she dreams she is Queen of the stars. Paula Parsons dances before the number, "This Is My Beloved" accompanied on the piano, shows her as a successful understudy in a big production.

Jim Walker, Tarpon president, did a solo part in "One Man Ain't Got Nothin' On Me". Accompanying Miss Walker is Gordon Whitney and Bob Gobler.

Finishing the big production the entire Tarpon Club returns for the finale.

Winner—Of scholarship offered by Delta Delta Delta sorority is Susan Weson-Barger, at center. Service projects chairman Marjorie Lu Hicks is at left, while sorority president Louanne Self is at right. Award is worth $100.

American Studies

Effect Of Media Declared Small

Mass communications such as motion pictures and television do not influence the individual as much as we think, the Ame-Josh Studies audience was told Tuesday.

Dr. Francis R. Allen, associate professor of sociology, said the type of entertainment or diversion a person seeks, and consequently the effect it has upon him, is a matter of his own choice.

The basis for this self-selection, he said, "generally goes back into the early family life."

He intimated this might be a factor in the controversy about whether "comic" books dealing with crime actually cause or contribute to juvenile delinquency.

Addressing the American Studies lecture series which is closing this year with "Science and America," Dr. Allen noted some social, political and economic effects of transportation and communication as we think of them today.

He said modern transportation has resulted in doing away with "the whole conception of being far away or strange" in relation to other nations and people.

"There is no longer much isolationism," he said, referring to the "the idea you could live unto yourself and have nothing to do with other nations."

Consequently, he noted, the social studies—geography, politics, sociology—have become more important.

LIFESAVING CLASS TO BEGIN MONDAY

Red Cross Senior Lifesaving class will begin Monday at 8 p.m. in the women's gym.

Class will meet Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights from 6 to 10 p.m. for three weeks. Meta Vinnh and Bob Rooney will instruct the class.

FSU Debaters Place Third In Meet Here

Florida State University placed third in overall points in the Seventh Annual Invitational Debate Tournament here last weekend.

University of Miami won the Sweepstakes and carried home the 1956 trophy for the fifth consecutive year with a total of 49 points. William and Mary placed 2nd and FSU came in third with 41 points.

Arnold Greenfield and Tom Woods of FSU won superior ratings along with students from University of Miami, University of Georgia, Howard College and College of William and Mary.

Three individual speaking events were part of the tournament program, original oratory, impromptu speaking and after dinner speaking. Beverly Dupree, novel won a finalist certificate in the original oratory division while Tony Ash won second place in the after-dinner speaking.

Director of the tournament was Dr. Greg Pfuter of the department of speech with Miss Elizabeth Flory assisting. Members of the FSU faculty assisted in the judging.

Moore Critical Of Senate Bill To Redistrict

Coyle Moore Jr., student body president, said yesterday he does not like the re-apportionment bill being considered by Student Senate.

Specifically, he objected that it would create too large a Senate, prevent that body from functioning with dispatch and in the fall and place freshmen men "at a disadvantage."

He did not say whether he will veto the bill if it is passed as it reads now. The veto power could only serve him as a delaying action, however. If Senate passes the bill as it is made to be by a two-thirds majority, which is the same proportion required to override a presidential veto.

Moore said on reapportionment bill: page one.

I'm very much in favor of re-apportionment. If a simple, logical system can be worked out," Moore told The Florida Flambeau.

Right Track

"I think that this bill is definitely on the right track although I'm not in favor of it as it reads at present. The Senate has spent a lot of time working on the problem and I would hate to oppose any reapportionment measure that is passed unless it is absolutely sure it is really very serious. I realize that we will probably never get a perfect reapportionment bill."

Moore protested that, according to the present bill, Senate would consist of 37 members, including the men's and women's vice-presidents.

Not Good

"A Senate this large would not be good for the university.

(Continued on Page 3)

Graduate Class To Hear Nugent Tell Of Future

FSU's Football Future" will be presented to the Graduate Class Thursday by Head Coach Tom Nugent.

The luncheon to be held in the Trophy room of the Student Center at noon will be the regular cafeteria line so members may either eat or have coffee.

Because of the limited seating of the Trophy Room, reservations must be mailed to Fred Vogel in the Schwalmeyer house by Wednesday noon

Bailey Against Paying Large 'Outside' Pay

State School Superintendent Thomas D Bailey said this week he is opposed to paying "big salaries" to professors hired by Florida's state universities from outside the state. He said he favors a big salary and the others should be paid less.

Bailey said

His comment came during discussions of a request by the Board of Control that the Cabinet Budget Commission approve a $12,000 a year salary for Dr. Harry H Sisler, who takes over July 1 as head of the University of Florida Chemistry Department.

The commission approved the pay recommendation after hearing Bailey's criticism.

POW-WOW MEETING IS SCHEDULED

Students interested in working on Pow Wow, the student handbook are asked to meet in Room 405 of Longmire at 4 p.m. today, announced Russell Johnson, editor.

Dance Lessons Start Tuesday

Cavalier-Cotillion dance lessons start this Tuesday night at the Student Center from 7:30 to 9

They will be held every Tuesday and Thursday nights for six weeks. At the end of this time, tryouts for the organization will be held.

Cavalier is a men's honorary dance group with Cotillion as the dance honorary for women.

Last 'Evening Of Dance' Presentation Set Tonight

The second and last performance of the annual 'Evening of Dance" takes place tonight in Westcott Auditorium at 8:15.

Presented by the Theatre Dance group, the show is a result of dedication of the talents of the Art, Speech, Arts Education, School of Music and Physical Education Departments. Each of these groups has contributed time and energy toward the production of the dances.

Under the direction of Miss Nelle-Bond Dickinson, of the Modern Dance Dept., the students' performers and the graduate assistants have planned a showing as represented by the dancers.

"Love Unrequited" or "Why Did You Act Like You Liked Me In the First Place" features Sandra Alex Hay and graduate Assistant Valda Mock as the fashioned comedy on a short-lived courtship. Choreography for the number was done by Miss Mock while Lester Bruch composed the music.

New Dance

Miss Dickinson has created a new dance, "Dance of Remembrance". She chose a happy moment out of the past and built her dance around original music by Paul Bley. Nancy Smith will be the solo dancer for this number.

Music is depicted in "The Female Approach a series of pictures characterizing modern day females. Choreography by Miss Smith and Bruch, brought out the idea of satirizing a boy-crazy girl a bop enthusiast an aesthetic poetess and a sweet shy boy.

Good Fun

Mass's search for God and a quiet soul is another facet of life shown in the "Evening of Dance" program. Be Still My Soul," includes a narration who reads various Bible verse to exemplify the basic idea.

Miss Mock did choreography for the dance; Carlisle Floyd, composed the music; Jim Staples and Floyd perform the work on two pianos

Other dances on the program are "To Belong", "Patterns", "The Circle", "Class Prayer", "Man Alone" and "Early to Bed-lam".

No admission is charged, and seats are not reserved.

Stringent Requirements Good

The recent decision increasing academic requirements to 1.8 for freshmen certainly deserves commendation.

If mass education is not to be allowed to defeat its own purpose, perhaps additional and similar strict requirements should be imposed on upperclassmen as well. The impending extreme growth of enrollment, without stringent academic requirements, could very well make a'are education a veritable farce of mass production.

The only drawback to these measures is the prominence it places on grades as grades, rather than true estimates of a student's knowledge in a subject. The ideal system of "passing," "failing," and "with honors," is no longer applicable to our public education system. For such a grading system necessitates small classes, professor-to-student transmittal and interchange of ideas.

The present system of grading, however, while the best for our giant-scale education processes, must be braced with other factors if students are to seek knowledge instead of grades.

The A-B-C grading system cannot conceivably be effective if future professors are being taught to over-simplify, to condense, and to outline knowledge until, like Pablum, it slides down the throats of students, necessitating only the effort to swallow. The challenging quality of knowledge has to offer have already lost most of their salt because these practices are already in existence.

There can be no response without stimulus, and the desire to learn cannot be produced without a challenge. The creation of the challenge in education is an art, but that art cannot be learned if it is not taught. And if diplomas, grades, or education itself, are to be meaningful on a mass scale, these principles must never be ignored.

Defects Correctable

We had hoped that Student Senate this week would finally settle the much rehashed issue of reapportionment.

Such was not to be the case. An unfortunate oversight in the matter of graduate student representation plus the knowledge that extensive constitutional revision would have to be carried out proved the bill's undoing.

Bailey's Motives Excellent

State School Superintendent Thomas Bailey says he is opposed to paying "big salaries" to professors hired by Florida universities from outside the state without raising the salaries of those already on the job.

We heartily agree with his motives. The comparative low pay of instructors at Florida's state institutions has long been a sore spot in education within Florida. Their salaries should and will eventually, we hope, be related to a level commensurate with the skills and abilities of their recipients.

This is not to imply that "outside" professors brought in at salaries, such as the $12,000 the new U. of F. chemistry department head will get, are not deserving of their pay. Contrarily, they have made large contributions in the past to FSU's scholastic standing and prestige in educational circles. We hope that more will be brought here for the betterment of our university—at large salaries if necessary.

Still, Supt. Bailey's attitude reflects a painful knowledge that our university professors' salaries are at present undeniably low. We are glad that he is living up to the duty of his office by seeking to better this situation.

Eastland's Accession Lamentable

The death Tuesday of United States Senator Kilgore was very sad indeed. He had many friends and supporters across the nation; his death will be a great loss to America.

But the political manifestations of Sen. Kilgore's death are also significant. Perhaps the most important of these is the change in control of the Senate's powerful Judiciary committee, of which he was chairman.

The new chairman, under the seniority rule, will be 51-year-old Senator Eastland of Mississippi.

Eastland is what is known as a southern conservative Democrat. But of his lot, he stands almost alone. He is unquestionably the supreme supremist in the federal government.

Some idea of Eastland's stand on white supremacy can be gained from his views on integration. Eastland looks on the southern fight against integration in schools, or any other walk of life, as "a great crusade" in which "defeat means death, the death of Southern custom and our aspirations as Anglo-Saxon people." He advocates "nullification" as an entirely proper means to win his "great crusade".

In addition, Eastland has been one of the strongest Senate opponents of civil rights legislation. And he was a bosom-buddy of the late Sen. McCarran, of whom little needs to be said.

* * *

In contrast to Eastland's theories on how to run things, Sen. Kilgore was generally a New and Fair Dealer who supported liberal legislation. He had headed the judiciary committee since the Democrats regained control of Congress in January, 1955.

He was head of the subcommittee on immigration and strongly favored liberalization of the immigration law—legislation which was co-sponsored by McCarran.

Thus it is difficult to see how two persons of more opposite views could have followed one another.

* * *

The accession of Eastland to the judiciary committee chairmanship is a compelling argument against the seniority rule of Congress, an unofficial system under which committee chairmen are designated automatically as the members of the majority party who have served longest on the committees.

There are several points which can be listed against the seniority rule. First, it ignores ability. It implies inherent ability in mere continuous service—it discourages party attempts to achieve recognition and high office by hard work and demonstration of interest or skill. The seniority rule's continued use, though only a matter of precedent, seems to be a certainty. Yet it means a long term of apprenticeship for junior Congressmen, a fact which doubtless deters many able and mature men in public life from seeking election to Congress.

So once again the seniority rule performs a disservice to the American people. Although the importance of a committee chairman in steering the actions of the others is a debatable subject, it is axiomatic that Eastland will utilize any possible means his new position affords him to perpetuate the ends he has long pursued.

And if Eastland's accession is not a telling blow to the spirit of liberalism in America, it is nonetheless lamentable.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"I'VE WAITED FIVE YEARS FOR SOMEONE TO ASK ME THAT QUESTION."

Dear Mama Seminole..

DEAR MAMA,

GEORGIE HOPE professors are interested in things ao on this week as me. All in few days are dance production, symphony, and tarpon show. All good, but me wish someone plan calendar so me not have to run think courses if him see um everything. Me breathe prayer that professors like see these things too, maybe them not have um time write tests. Me think it silly anyway that learned people spend time writing out silly questions, why them not write good books or something. Me like that much more.

Is good news to many people that Cheap Chief decide him hasta to continue as Chief. Me have great admiration for him, but ms wonder, is wise for him? Call of Duty is heap strong call to man like Great Chief, and ambitions for position him start also heap strong, but is question whether he can safely serve . . . is duty to run, serve, perhaps die in office to fulfill countries needs? Or is it greater duty that Chief step aside, give people opportunity to choose as polls person they reasonably sure can serve full term. Me think Chief would have served nation better to step aside, continue his work in other position.

Me see still more candidate run for State Chief Him run on simple platform . . . legal gambling. Me think him waste his one hundred dollars. Better him take money and place on long shot. Him more quickly make profit than by placing money on self in governor's race. Small candidates not win, but them play definite part in race, votes them get cut into majorities of other candidates. Old silver fox watch out him find self cut into pieces by small candidates.

NEW SMOKE SIGNALS come out soon. Braves, maidens, who intend read comic book run heap fast buy dark glasses, good thick ones. Also buy aspirin for Board of Publication, and something to lock up brave's copy in so it not gettum stolen. Me think it very good, me not think that everybody going to agree with Georgie, but they not have to, me know of humor.

Wedding coming up soon. Georgie glad come at time when every brave, maiden, and flower in bloom out in new outfit. Me going me hope. You would like um couple who plan ceremony. Should be heap big celebration. O.K., Mama, me remember what you say bout overdressing. Me not go me get fired.

Stupid letter in Flambeau last issue not written by me, Mama, someone like to be funny man. Me wonder what funny man say if me write letter to Flambeau and sign him name . . . CRAP. Maybe me just write you whole letter 'bout funny man sometime. Me know LOTS bout him.

Mama, tell Nice Lady please set warm weather, ms wrap up in two blankets if that make her happy.

LOVE ALL,
GEORGIE H.

Letters To The Editor

State Party Has New Policy

DEAR STUDENTS:

At the last Senate meeting your State Party started in a positive manner on its way toward offering services to the students by working to the community of Tallahassee.

Although the gravity of the situation prevented us to change State Party members as Senate placed a Resolution on the desk before the room ten the Inter-Junior Counselors to Freshman women's dormitories because we feel that the work they do merits a reduction.

The State Party also introduced a Resolution which strongly opposes any movement to prevent effort to show you that we stand for something concrete, for your better interest and that our platform is not offered loosely, we then have already begun work for you. This is a start of a new policy for a new party.

ART MOORE
Chairman, State Party

To Educate Or Indoctrinate?

TO THE EDITOR:

As more and more "General Education" courses are being rammed down my throat, I have come to the conclusion that we should do without some of these courses in "General Education".

The "some" I refer to are the humanities and history courses, as we have them at the present time. It is not the subject material that is being contested, but the ineffectiveness in the methods of teaching and grading.

In both courses the students are forced, by the inadequacies of the grading system of today, to learn hundreds of unrelated facts, so that there is little time left for original thinking. In

(Continued on Page 3)

"Let's Dig Up That Little Worm, Shall We?"

The Dissenter

Democrats May Raise Health Issue

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

IT CAME AS a surprise to few when President Eisenhower said he will run for re-election.

Even though faithful Democrats had assured what was coming, the announcement was a shock. There are no underdogs.

Republicans are smiling for the first time since late September.

There is not very much chance that their smiles will be dissipated. Eisenhower is more popular than any president since Roosevelt in 1936.

Although unemployment is far from negligible, the Republicans can refer to a general prosperity. They can also mention that we are not at the moment involved in a war.

The Democrats, if they resort to the fundamental approach in American politics, are going to have to prove that conditions could be better.

THERE ARE ISSUES that could be raised—as, for instance, the Democratic Fair Deal, which Eisenhower defended but which would have cost the average citizen eventual millions of dollars.

Then there is an assortment of Cabinet members and a Vice-president who have set new records for ineptitude, lack of discretion and forethought, buck-passing, and saying the wrong things at the worst possible times.

The Democrats can merely resurrect such verbal faux pas as "Republican Chief Justice," "third dogs and kennel dogs," and "brink of war." If they want high-explosive ammunition.

But that won't work. Eisenhower himself is in a position that cannot be challenged, except from the standpoint that other people might be able to do the executive job better. This is a contention that is always hard to prove to the American people, who like to see clear-cut distinctions between sin and virtue, poverty and wealth, war and peace, integrity and corruption, and so forth—even if these are fictional, as they were in 1952.

THE DEMOCRATS have only one weapon that might hit effectively. That is Eisenhower's health.

Mama was well piteously that it is unfair, Immoral, and unsportsmanlike to speak of such a thing—as if we wished Mr. Eisenhower ill.

But he has had a heart attack, and is apt to prone to another one than a man who has not been so afflicted, and is already at age 63, past the male life expectancy.

It was June, 1944 that FDR was in poor health and yet it was not mentioned in any conversation, or indeed in any conversation.

The possibility of the president's death is what makes the office of vice-president necessary.

So the Republican nominee for vice-president must be a capable and intelligent man.

He must be a statesman but not too-kind-of-man that is Richard Nixon, who has shown too many times his tendency to opportunism.

Eisenhower is noncommittal regarding Nixon and the vice-presidency. To republican Nixon now would be to lose the right-wing of the Republican Party. To accept him now would be to alienate those Republicans and terrify the hearts of voters in general.

Best bet: Massachusetts Governor Christian A. Herter will be the Republican vice-presidential nominee. It will be Harriman and a dark-horse vice-presidential nominee for the Democrats.

Of All Things

Scoop On UF's Proposed Car Ban

By OSCAR JOHNSON

IT IS DIFFICULT to say exactly why this is so, but there seems to be a general attitude of competition (call it mistrust) between Florida State University and the University of Florida.

One aspect of this competition is the matter of student body enrollment. For millenia, Florida, the "southern state's girl's school" has had to take a back seat while our southern neighbor could casually mention tie sister institution as though it were among the lesser things in life.

The tides of time have run in FSU's favor, however, and gradually this pre-imminence has been worn away. We have reached striking distance with the U. of F. and are about to match UF's size.

Now is the point, so the argument has been thrown into our laps "As it were," to move it underway, gaining momentum daily, to overtake the Gator Sophomore jinx having cars on the UF campus or in the swamplands of Ocala.

WHAT THIS MEANS in practical terms is that the overlords in control there have renounced the rights of a large segment of the campus population. Whether their action was right and justifiable or not is not the important thing here.

What is of greater note is that those to be affected by the proposed ban will probably heartily object . . . And those who could come under the effect of the future would also be outraged. In other words, graduating High School Seniors and others planning to enter college in Florida will realize that if they go to the University of Florida they cannot have cars.

So—they might come here. The car ban could be the deciding factor in many people's minds as to where they are going to go. Knowing this, then the next step is to see that they DO know it.

THIS IS A JOB for FSU's Public Relations department. Of course, it is against all the principles—all their codes—to stoop to conquer to even mention the heinous words, "University of Florida." In this case, though, there could be an exception.

A well-conducted promotional campaign telling about the fact that the ban exists, propaganda that FSU is the "friendly" school and doesn't ban cars, will go a long way toward doing the trick.

However, the students must themselves cooperate in this. A slip-of-the-tongue, a word or two about the "friendly" school, will come from that "ain't prejudiced against Freshmen will do wonders. There's one hazard, however—if we get too brazen in our enthusiasm, the UF people will get wise. They will pass their ban. So care must be taken.

Of course, the ban might never get passed anyhow. There are some obstacles in its path. It has to be approved by the student executive council, the university president, and the Board of Control. But if it does pass, it could well mean a new era at FSU—a new era of degeneration.

In The Wings

Dorati Pays Tribute To Dohnanyi

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

THE MINNEAPOLIS SYMPHONY Orchestra concluded its series of concerts here Wednesday night before a highly enthusiastic, capacity audience. It is rare enough to find a professional orchestra playing in this town, but rare still to have the opportunity of hearing the same orchestra under different conductors in two days. This procedure has much merit, in that one is able to arrive at a fairly good evaluation of the orchestra's capabilities.

After the conclusion of the final number, Dorati paid a very touching tribute to Dr. Dohnanyi, who had had a great influence upon the former's life. In honor of the late composer, Dorati played Dohnanyi's Wedding Waltz as an extra number. When the distinguished composer came on stage Dorati's insistence, the audience gave him a standing ovation. It was a very tasteful gesture. These are the moments one remembers.

Before getting around to the music, I would like to dwell on some observations that may be of value to the peripatetic concert-goer. In attending the concerts I arranged to sit in over six different sections of the auditorium to ascertain times, for the purpose of locating the best seats, acoustically speaking. I found that the best place of all, if you want to hear absolutely everything, is the balcony. The worst place is the section of seats nearest the stage, comprising fifteen or twenty rows. Anywhere in this section you will hear an unproportionately large amount of string tone.

IF YOU MUST sit downstairs, sit under the balcony or in the last few rows, but not far back. Here you will get perhaps the most satisfactory blend of the orchestral choirs, but the wood-wind and brass sound will not be quite as sharp as it will be anywhere in the balcony. These observations may not hold true for an orchestra that uses risers, since the brass and woodwinds usually pack a very soothing tribute to Orpheus, they provide a handy rule-of-thumb.

The orchestra as a whole is an exceptionally good one. The violins have a magnificent tone and plays with great precision. The woodwinds, unfortunately, were disappointing except for the oboist, who is a real virtuoso. Also every clarinet entrance was flat, especially in the mid-range (throat-tones). The bassoonist as well played out of tune in several crucial places, but he was sharp for variety. The flutist, however, was very good, even though his tone was set ahead of him in one of the Mozart concertos. The basses were exceptionally good, first horn.

As for the performances, Wednesday night's concert (the last) was undoubtedly the best

(Continued on Page 3)

Wandering With Wiljohn

Answers Questions About Woody

By WILJOHN

LET'S SEE if we can't answer a few of the questions that have been tossed my way in the days since the Herman Herd hit campus. Many young cat wanted to know what recognition the Herd had ever gotten that made me talk their destiny so seriously.

Well, I don't have to have acknowledged proof by anyone else before I decide I like certain music. If I like to hear someone's music, I don't care whether the critics or the professionals like it or not. However, I will state for you: decide you like Herman, in 1946, Igor Stravinsky wrote the "Ebony Concerto" especially for the Herman Herd and it was recorded that same year on Columbia Masterworks. It had very little element of jazz in it, being purely classical Stravinsky.

Second—what musicians of any note have bothered to affiliate themselves with Herman? To name just a few: Stan Getz, Zoot Sims, Bill Harris, Flip Phillips, Dave Tough, Pete Candoli, Neal Hefti, Ralph Burns, Urbie Green, and Serge Chaloff. That reads like a "Who's Who of Jazz," right there.

THIRD, which would I rather listen to — swing ala Herman or music ala Mitropolis Symphony? I feel I can truthfully say that I'd rather listen to both. Unless you hit me with R&B or Hillbilly, you know I am sure to I don't like to hear or learn about. One of my pet peeves is the "Musical Snob" and I'm trying to coerce Mr. Thomas Wright, of the School of Music faculty, into writing a guest column for me on that subject. There are even some writers while elements in hillbilly and R&B, but the general interpretation and performance of these two particular brands of music tends to obliterate the better aspects and just leave a stinking feeling.

The music I'm most in favor of is the following, believe it or not. Jazz and the Classics come in a close second and third. I enjoyed the Symphony this week as much as I enjoyed Herman last week.

FOURTH—who do I think is the most influential man in music at the present time? Well, I will take it that the question meant in the field of jazz because I know little enough about that and even less about classical music, I guess, as far as influencing the field of arrangers is concerned, you would have to turn to people like Shorty Rogers, Pete Rugolo, and the Stanley Fineran outfit. In the way of composition, Stan Kenton and Duke Ellington are my favorites. In the field of actual performance, there are many fine men on each instrument that haven't got the room or the time to favor you out here. I'll try to devote a column to the next week. Let me explain that the above choices don't necessarily mean that these All-Americans are the best. I just think they are and, after all, that's what you asked, isn't it?

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor

Associate Editor ——— Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ——— Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers ..Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Steve Kleid, Adrian Allen.
Campus Editor ——— Eleanor Kirby
Columnists ——— Wiljohn, Dave Ward-Steinman, Clyde Ward, Martin Dyckman, Oscar Johnson, George Seminole.

Pat Marsten, News Editor

Feature Editor ——— Arlieda Ries
Sports Editor ——— Larry Block
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ——— Dave Evans,
Pierce Lehmbeck
Junior Staff ——— Bob Dollison, Bob Moren
Circ. Editor ——— Charlet Polsevink

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ——— Sandra Colley
Exchange Staff ——— Joy Wikins

Nationally Repcsented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown.
Circulation ——— Mike Brady
Morgue ——— George Goldstein
Business ——— Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith, Enid Pearlman, Jans Anderson, Les Meyers
Telephone 2-800, extension 4821, 5421
211, 213 Longmire Building

Intercollegiate Press

Picnic At Florida Is 'Fine' Movie

By BOB SIMMONS

Every so often a truly outstanding movie comes to the Tallahassee theatres. Picnic, which began a week's run yesterday at the Florida Theatre, is one of them.

Picnic is the story of a down-and-out former college athlete, played by William Holden, who comes to a small Kansas town seeking a job through his wealthy ex-roommate. As the play unfolds we attends the town's Labor Day Picnic where the fireworks really begin. Women seems to find some strange fascination in him, which livens up the scene.

This movie should serve to establish Kim Novak as an actress to her own rights. William Holden, who was recently awarded the Photoplay Award for his role in Love is a Many Splendored Thing, gives what is undoubtedly his best performance in Picnic. Rosalind Russell, young Susan Strasberg, and Cliff Robertson in supporting roles go along to make this an unusually moving film.

World is My Career, featuring Jane Murphy and Barbara Rush, goes Sunday through Tuesday at the State Theatre. This is a tale of a spunky young fighter who, after winning the world's championship finds he cannot find happiness. But he manages to console himself with his winnings and a beautiful girl.

The story of Frank Lloyd Wright, Genius of Love, begins Sunday at the Ritz Art Theatre. This movie, starring Pierre Richard Willm, Rita Farely, and Annie Ducaux, should prove to be entertaining as well as enlightening.

Some of the beauty of Italy has been captured in Summertime, which was filmed on location in Venice Summertime, which shows Sunday and Monday at the Perry-Lindsey Outdoor Theatre, is the bittersweet story of a search for love. Katharine Hepburn's antics as an old-maidish woman who finds her savings in love and romance in Italy is most enjoyable. Rossano Brazzi also finds the man.

Island of Women, showing for two days at the Capital Drive-In Theatre beginning Sunday, is probably one of the most fanciful movie scenes out of Hollywood in quite a while. The beautiful girls and beach galore, this is a film to go see for cheering up.

During the remainder of the week Red Sundown fills the screens at the Florida Theatre with typical style excitement. All That Heaven Allows, which features the Sirhan-Hudson combination of Magnificent Obsession, comes to the State Theatre on Wednesday.

Tuesday-Wednesday fare for the Ritz includes Hundred Hour Hunt starring Anthony Steel and Jack Warner. The Drive-In theatres this weekend boast the Jungle with Glenn Ford and Anne Francis at the Perry, and Timbuktu with Victor Mature and Yvonne De Carlo at the Capital.

GROSSER ASSUMES COTILLION PREXY

Janice Grosser will take over duties as president of Cotillion, serious dance honorary.

Sylvia White was elected vice-president, with Barbara Jackson as secretary. Gail Crews as treasurer, and Nell Davis as dance manager.

Music Library Is Represented At Convention

FSU's music library was represented at the convention of the National Music Library Association last week for the first time since the library was founded.

Mrs. Alice Ward, professional librarian here, attended the meeting, which was held in Pittsburgh with the Music Division of the Carnegie library.

There was no opportunity at the meeting to announce our recent acquisition of the Downes collection, said Mrs. Ward, but everyone she discussed it with privately seemed enthusiastic.

Member For Years

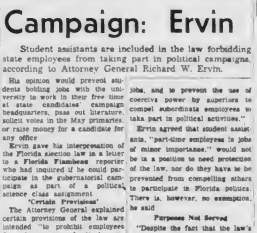
The music library has been a member of the Association for several years, said Mrs. Ward, but had not sent a representative to the meetings before because it had not been in the charge of a professional librarian until she came five years ago. She said she planned to go as often as possible in the future, however.

The staff, which used to consist of just two members and students, now includes one full-time assistant and four student assistants, said Mrs. Ward.

Now 4000

Now containing 4000 scores, 370 78 rpm recordings, 400 LP's, as well as microfilms and tapes of various recitals, it will reportedly be the largest music library in the south after the Downes collection is added.

Dorati Pays



(Continued From Page 1)

There was evident spirit and enthusiasm in the orchestra, perhaps because this program contained the best music. But as I have said many times before, enthusiasm is contagious, and the audience was aware of the rare thing it was witnessing and responded accordingly.

If I WERE to criticize any of the interpretations it would have to be the Ravel's Rhapsodie Espagnole on the opening concert. The woodwind ensemble among the chords and Dorati etched everything in sharp relief, rather than using the impressionism so necessary to this work. His La Mer (debussy) on the next concert, however, was much better.

From the purely technical standpoint, the Beethoven Symphony on the first concert was practically flawless. The best example of orchestral ensemble-playing, though, was probably to be found in the Strauss Rosenkavalier Suite from the same concert. But I'll quibble by no guns on the third concert. Spirit can transcend technique.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

Catch Them Young—FSU's Spanish Teaching Policy

Catch 'em when they're young. That's Florida State University's policy in teaching Spanish. Through its Demonstration School, the university begins teaching Spanish to five-year olds in kindergarten.

Spanish is taught in all the grades hereafter, through high school and the university. Masters's and doctor's degrees are offered in the subject.

G. E. Peres is the Demonstration School Spanish professor. He has taught kindergarten through high school, averaging 18 students in a class.

"The younger I get them, the better they are on pronunciation because they seem to grasp dictones and inflections of sound better," said Peres, who is now in his second year of teaching kindergarten youngsters. He is reasonably certain that he has the youngest public school Spanish pupils in the country.

However there is a national trend toward teaching Spanish in elementary grades, he said. "I know of a number of schools in Texas which begin teaching Spanish in the third grade."

Ten Minutes A Day

The Spanish professor starts his youngsters off with ten minutes of Spanish a day, at a regular period, five days a week. He brings by teaching them simple, everyday words like chalk, desk, chair, boy, girl, father, mother, brother and sister. Soon he has them making short sentences in Spanish.

"They love it. Frequently, they hail me on the street, wanting some new Spanish word to impress their friends. Parents report there is a definite influence of Spanish in family table talk, especially when a couple of young children are learning Spanish—the parents have to learn Spanish or brush up on it in self defense."

Peres works closely with the kindergarten teacher, being tipped off on field trips well in advance. When the group visited the university dairy recently, the children greeted the cows as well as officials with, "Buenos tarde" and La leche es blanca

Keen On Songs

The five-year olds are keen on learning some of these favorite songs in Spanish. Peres has taught them "Ten Little Indians," "Row, Row, Row Your Boat," "Riggety Jig and Away We Go" and "Hickory, Dickory, Dock." He has the help of a music teacher, Miss Dorothy Flory, who gives them violin accompaniment. And the children have mastered the additional rhythm accompaniment.

"They constantly bring all kinds of Spanish American objects to class, like sombreros, castanets and various flags," Peres said. His answer to the enthusiasm was a "Parents' Day" program, at which they turned out full force for the exhibit and program, and were served chocolate caliente as the finishing touch.

Notions of Grammar

Not until the fifth grade does Peres introduce "elementary notions of grammar." Up until then the emphasis is entirely on speaking and listening and increasing vocabulary. He makes tape recordings of conversations so that the students can listen to their own pronunciation. Later he sometimes uses commercial, Spanish records as an aid after students are already familiar with the language.

Moore Critical

(Continued from Page 1)

It would be too inefficient," he declared. "The larger a legislative body becomes the more inefficient it is, and the less active each individual member becomes."

The bill provides for the election of living unit senators in early October. This Moore says, seems premature. "There is far too long

The longer Senate waits to get started, the less it will get done," he asserted.

Disadvantage

He said freshmen man would be placed at a disadvantage in that they would have to campaign against upperclassmen. Greeks from the living units. This, he said, would deny them an opportunity to get started in student politics.

He said re-apportionment would be a "political hassle-case."

He recommended the bill be amended to provide for two men and two women senators elected from the freshman class, and a reduction in the number of living area senators to six from the present total of 17, not counting, day students.

New Redistricting

(Continued From Page 1)

proximately 200 persons, said Gaster. Other living units of between 180-320 persons will be allowed 1 senator and those areas of 500-640 people will be allowed two representatives, according to the present bill.

Figures Arbitrary

The figures quoted the "arbitrary" according to Gaster, and were arrived at in order to follow Wall Hall two senators without causing confusion.

Gaster said the decision to include a provision in the bill that senators moving from the various precincts in which they were originally elected forfeit their offices was made by his committee.

"We felt that such an action would defeat the purpose of re-apportionment, which was to provide living unit representation," he explained.

WFSU F M SCHEDULE

TODAY P.M.	TOMORROW P.M.	SUNDAY P.M.	MONDAY P.M.
2:00 FM in AM	2:00 Masterworks	2:00 Masterworks	2:00 FM in AM
3:00 Chap. a Day	3:00 Chap. a Day	3:00 Chap. a Day	3:00 Chap. a Day
3:45 Hi-Fi Hour	3:45 Hi-Fi Hour	3:45 Hi-Fi Hour	3:45 Hi-Fi Hour
4:00 Scott-Sesame	4:00 Scott-Sesame	4:00 Hi-Fi Concl.	4:00 Opera
5:00 Possible	5:00 Possible	4:30 Bozz' Ear	5:30 Masterworks
5:30 Fife & Air	5:30 Fife & Air	5:00 Chap. a Day	6:00 Chap. a Day
6:00 Masterworks	6:00 Masterworks	5:30 Masterworks	6:30 Masterworks
6:30 Concert Suite	6:30 Concert Suite	6:30 Concert Suite	7:30 Opera
7:30 Scotia Guard	7:30 Scotia Guard	7:30 Masterworks	9:30 Chap. a Day
8:30 Lund Press	8:30 Lund Press	8:30 Lund Press
8:45 Pr. Press	8:45 Pr. Press	8:45 Angel Cam.
9:00 Masterworks	9:00 Masterworks	9:00 Masterworks
9:30 Concert Hall	9:30 Concert Hall	9:30 Concert Hall
10:30 Chap. a Day	10:30 Chap. a Day	10:30 Chap. a Day

THE POWDER PUFF BEAUTY SHOP

Announces

KAY WHITE

Hair Stylist

Formerly of

KAY WHITE BEAUTY SALON

Washington, D. C.

trained by

ROBERT FIANCE

of New York

Call For Appointment

Phone 2-1675

107 W. Jefferson

FAIVER'S

FOR CHICKEN

West Tennessee & Brevard

FAMOUS FOR GOOD FOOD

Monday—	SPAGHETTI NITE Regular $1.00	85c
Tuesday—	PIZZA NITE Regular $1.00	85c
Wednesday—	CHICKEN NITE Regular $1.25	$1.19
NOON DAY LUNCHEONS—		60c--85c

FAIVER'S

HI ! COME ON OVER TO

THE MECCA

SENIORS!

May 28

Graduates

(Especially the interns who leave campus March 12)

Order

Graduation Announcements

Caps and Gowns

NOW!

UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE

"In the Student Center"

SEMINOLES

In Gubernatorial Race

Assistants Cannot Campaign: Ervin

Student assistants are included in the law forbidding state employees from taking part in political campaigning, according to Attorney General Richard W. Ervin.

His opinion would prevent students doing jobs with the university to work in their free time at state candidates' campaign headquarters, pass out literature, solicit votes in the May primaries, or raise money for a candidate for any office.

Ervin gave his interpretation of the Florida election law in a letter to a Florida Flambeau reporter who had inquired if he could participate in the gubernatorial campaign as part of a political science class assignment.

Certain Previsions

The Attorney General explained certain provisions of the law are intended "to prohibit employees from the necessary of actively campaigning for their employer or someone else in order to keep their jobs, and to prevent the use of coercive power by superiors to compel subordinate employees to take part in political activities."

Ervin agreed that student assistants, "part-time employees in jobs of minor importance," would not be in a position to need protection of the law, nor do they have to be prevented from compelling others to participate in Florida politics. There is, however, no exemption, he said.

Purposes Not Served

"Despite the fact that the law's real purposes are not served with respect to student employees of the state, there are no provisions of the law which allow them to be exempted. Their active participation in a political campaign, although it might be considered only as a technical violation of the law, would possibly subject them to criminal prosecution.

"Although I agree that students employed by the state should be permitted, as a part of their education, to participate voluntarily in political campaigns during their free time, we are confronted with a law that in my opinion prohibits such activities," he advised.

No Opinion

The question whether student assistants are a part of Florida politics is not a new one. During the gubernatorial campaign two years ago Phil Keiley, a political science major who was president of the Offstreet-Governor Committee on campus, had to resign because of it.

No official opinion has been rendered prior to this time, although the Attorney General's opinion might not be that of the Florida Supreme Court should a test case ever be made.

Students Win Press Awards Of Foundation

A series of articles and editorials written by high school students attending the 1955 Southern School Press Institute has won a Freendom Foundation Award. The Institute is sponsored by the School of Journalism.

It was announced on George Washington's birthday that Florida State University will receive the $200 cash prize Georges Washington Honor Medal soon. The Freedoms Foundation Award is given for outstanding activities "to maintain the American way of life."

The articles were based on the Valley Forge Pamphlet, the habit which was on display hard last summer.

Subject on the exhibit became a project when Miss Virginia Davis, Institute advisor, discovered them while looking for informative feature material.

The students viewed the exhibit and turned in various editorials, features, and cartoons, which Miss Davis compiled into two scrapbooks One scrapbook was sent to the Freedom Foundation.

A jury composed of chief justices of State Supreme Courts and heads of different patriotic organizations selected the winners.

Justice W. Glenn Terrell of the Florida Supreme Court was a member of the awards jury.

'Ship'n Shore'

Italian-collar... striped pima

398

Turner's

Letters To The Editor

(Continued From Page 2)

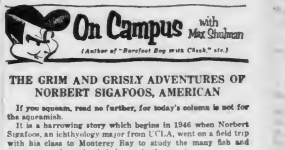
these courses. Which are critical and dried, the student has no opportunities to make any original contributions of his own, he has to accept or reject the opinions of others.

It is the student of today that obtain a thorough knowledge of the sciences that will become the "cultured" person of tomorrow. The "culture" of today and tomorrow does not lie in the beds that it has in the past, but on the pedestals of the geniuses of today and of the future. The "culture" that has been known in the past has become one of today's many varied forms of entertainment, that only those have little to do with making the student one of "culture."

I am sure that science to this problem are varied and many. It is not a question of these subjects that I am after, but a just and fair method of teaching and grading. Graded by a grading system that would not be based on how much can be crammed into the heads of students nor one based on the objective method of testing.

Are we getting "General Education" or are we getting "General Knowledge"?

MIKE KELLY.



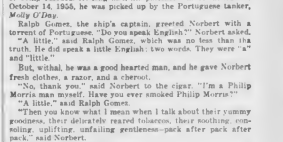
Says Integration Is Two-Sided Issue

TO THE EDITOR:

In my opinion the Negro may be compared with the American Indian. We have little in common with the Indians. We brought nearness with him to our world as slaves. He did not use the Indians as slaves but forced them on to reservations where they have remained fairly content with their lot. To them this is where contentment can partly be explained by the fact that they are never forced to work for the white man as the negroes were and they expect other nations to turn Democratic.

The change is going to come just as surely as slavery ended, and it's up to us how better it will be a painful change or not.

YOURS TRULY, K. R. HESS, JR.



THE GRIM AND GRISLY ADVENTURES OF NORBERT SIGAPOOS, AMERICAN

If you squeam, read no further, for today's column is not for the squeamish.

It is a harrowing story which begins in 1946 when Norbert Sigapoos was 23 years old and fresh from UTI, a technical school trip with his class to Monterey Bay to study the many fish and crustaceans who make their homes in these waters.

But truth to tell, Norbert was not very interested in ichthyology. What he was interested in was television, which in 1946 was an exciting new infant industry. While his classmates were over the rail of the boat, studying the tunny and mackerel-jack which swarmed below, Norbert just leaned and thought about television. Thus preoccupied, he fell overboard and, all unnoticed, was swept out to sea.

A strong swimmer, Norbert, after 43 days, sighted land—a tiny atoll, far away from the normal sea lanes. Tired but happy, he clambered ashore. Being a man, he was, of course, fearless, resourceful, and clean in mind, body, and spirit. His built himself a snug shelter, fashioned traps for animals, wove fishing lines, and arranged day and night signals to attract any passing ships.

Though nine years went by, Norbert never abandoned hope of being rescued. At long last, his patience was rewarded. On October 14, 1955, he was picked up by the Portuguese tanker, Molly O'Day.

Ralph Gomez, the ship's captain, greeted Norbert with a torrent of Portuguese. "Do you speak English?" Norbert asked.

"A little," said Ralph Gomez, which was no less than the truth. He did speak a little English: two words. They were "a" and "little."

But, withal, he was a good hearted man, and he gave Norbert fresh clothes, a razor, and a cheroot.

"No, thank you," said Norbert to the cigar. "I'm a Philip Morris man myself. Have you ever smoked Philip Morris?"

"A little," said Ralph Gomez.

"Then you know what I mean when I talk about their yummy goodness, their delightful rugged individualism, their soothing coolness, uplifting, unfailing gentleness—pack after pack after pack," said Norbert.

"A little," said Ralph Gomez.

"I suppose you're wondering," said Norbert, "how I kept my sanity during all those years on the island."

"A little," said Ralph Gomez.

"Well, I'll tell you," said Norbert. "I've been thinking about television because that's what I want to get into when I get back. For nine years I've been sitting on that island thinking up brand new shows for television. And I've got some marvelous new ideas! I've got one terrific idea for a show where a panel of experts tries to guess people's occupations. 'What's My Line?' I call it. Then I've got one, a real doozy, where you pull somebody unexpectedly out of the studio audience and do his whole life story. 'This Is Your Life,' I call it. But that's not all! I thought up a real gut-buster of an idea for a quiz show where you give away $64, not $6400, but—get this, Ralph Gomez—$64,000! Wow, I can't rdly wait to get back to the States and sell these fabulous ideas to the networks."

There is, fortunately, a happy ending to this chilling tale. Norbert never had to suffer the bitter disappointment of learning that all his ideas had long since been thought of by other people. Why not? Because the Portuguese tanker, Molly O'Day, struck a reef the day after picking up Norbert and, I am gratified to report, went down with all hands.

©1956 Max Shulman 1956

If the shattering story of Norbert Sigapoos has left you limp, remember, next time with a gentle Philip Morris, he are the makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column weekly through the school year.

'Little Man On Campus' Lives It Up

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"HEY, FELLAS! COME SEE WORTHAL'S NEW PIN-UP."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

GET FREE 5x7 ENLARGEMENT

CROWN JUMBO PRINTS

Write for Free Mailers

CROWN PHOTO SERVICE
Box 392 • AUGUSTA, GEORGIA

Steyerman's
STYLE SHOP
118 South Monroe

We Have JANTZEN
Bathing Suits,
Shorts and Tee-Shirts

COME IN TODAY—

See Our Complete Line of Spring Fashions

Choose Your Easter
Outfit

Steyerman's
—THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR QUALITY

Ten To Appear On Composers' League Event

Ten students and faculty members from FSU will appear on the program of the Florida Composers' League's annual convention this weekend in Gainesville.

Starting off a program this morning entitled "Music Art's Sake", Lewis Pankaskie, faculty member will give an address on "Recent Books of Interest to the Composer." Also representing FSU in the morning concert will be James Yelvington, student, who will play his Sonata for Piano, and Howard Wilson, faculty pianist, presenting Five Miniatures for piano entitled "The Children's Hour, Op. 7." The Miniatures depict Trotting, Dreaming, Tumbling, Skipping, and Praying.

An evening concert of compositions for Band, Chorus, and Orchestra is also scheduled. Included will be two works for concert band composed by Charles Carter, student, "Tension" and John Boda, faculty member, "Music for Concert Band". Also David Ward-Steinman's "Cry of Ships" for harp, piano and chorus, with Ward Steinman at the harp and Jack Jarrett at the piano will be played. Both are students. A composition by Jarrett, Overature to the Opera "Cinderella", will be performed by the U of F Symphony Orchestra.

On tomorrow mornings program Boda will play a Suite for Piano by Charles Barrick, student. Ellen Show Frank, soprano, will sing Two French Songs by Ward-Steinman, who will accompany at the piano.

Tomorrow night, the program will again include musicians from FSU. Robert Sedore, faculty violinist, will perform Sonatina for violin and piano by Boda. Fantasy for flute, violin, cello and piano by Lenore Johansen, student will be presented. Wilson will play his Sonata for violin and piano Op 6 assisted by faculty violinist Tom Stone and the U of F's Men's Glee Club will sing Jarrett's "Three Songs" from Shakespeare.

Professor Pens New Workbook

While [illegible] scientists are investigating atoms of matter a FSU Journalism professor claims to have exploded the news atom.

"News Behind the Headlines" is the title of a new workbook by Dr. Sidney Kobre of the School of Journalism. The book is aimed at breaking news down into its basic elements for a better understanding of the product newspapers, radio and television present.

"The news which commonly meets the eye" says Kobre, "is often only a bare skelton outline of the main events of a given happenings. Boring beneath the surface to explore the news atom, you find an undercurrent of social, economic and psychological problems boiling below."

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S
MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

"JUKE BOX" DANCE SLATED TOMORROW

There will be a "Juke Box" dance at the Student Center tomorrow night from 9 til 12.

In Second Round

Two Coeds Win In Fashion Contest

Two Florida State coeds are among the prize winners in a national fashion design contest.

Jane Sisson and Margaret McLean won in the second round of competition for Mademoiselle's "College Fashion Board" membership.

Both students are majoring in art in the Fashion Institute here.

The contest is in three parts. Miss McLean won an honorable mention on the first part. Both girls received ten dollar prizes for the second round.

Ends In July

The contest will conclude with 20 girls being chosen to help edit the magazine during July. They will plan and execute the September College issue.

For the first round of competition, both girls planned a college wardrobe for all events of Homecoming Weekend. Next, they planned clothes for girls spending the summer in Europe, complete with layouts and copy.

Illustrates Stories

For the last part of the contest Miss McLean is illustrating five short stories, including Hemingway's "The Killers," while Miss Sisson will submit a 30-page layout of campus fashions for the September issue of Mademoiselle.

"Of course our girls still have stiff competition ahead, but I'm keeping my fingers crossed for them," said Miss Ann Kirn. She is their major professor in fashion illustration.

The women have taken courses in fashion sketching, fashion illustration and fashion accessories. They are both aiming for careers in the field of fashion illustration.

Fashion Conscious—Left to right, Jane Sisson of Tampa, Margaret McLean of Jacksonville and Miss Ann Kirn, their Florida State University fashion design instructor, are hard at work in the university's art department. The two students are finalists in Mademoiselle Magazine's "College Board Contest."

Student Makes Office Survey

A Florida State graduate student will begin calling on business men and office managers in Tallahassee next week to find what requirements are made of beginning office workers.

Mrs. Sara M. Corner, graduate student in the School of Business, said the survey is to check "whether or not school standards satisfactorily meet local business requirements."

She said the survey will begin about Tuesday, covering a sample of about 200 employers from Chamber of Commerce lists, and state and federal agencies.

The results, she said, are to go into a thesis she will write for a master's degree.

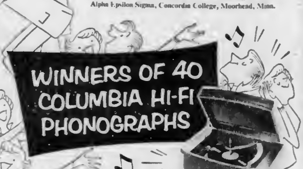
Dean Charles Rovetta of the School of Business said the survey will attempt "to encourage cooperation between business men and business educators in the development of realistic standards which will be an aid to both business and education in guidance, placement and employment."

The survey will cover these beginning employees such as stenographers, secretaries, bookkeepers, general clerks and typists.

THE WINNERS! IN VICEROY'S $50,000 COLLEGE CONTEST!

The judges' decisions are in! Here are the 50 students who wrote the best names for Viceroy's filter . . . a filter made from pure cellulose—soft, snow-white, natural! . . . and the college organizations named by the 10 Thunderbird winners to receive RCA VICTOR Big Color TV Sets.

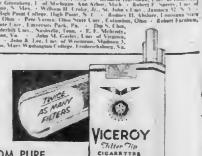
WINNERS OF 10 THUNDERBIRDS



Dorothy Wingate Newell, Univ. of California, Berkeley, Calif.
Jim Melton, Stanford University, Los Altos, Calif.
Garry C. Noah, Emory Univ., Emory University, Ga.
P. Robert Knaff, Univ. of Maryland, College Park, Md.
Dan Hubert Hinz, Harvard Univ., Cambridge 38, Mass.
Alex Levine, Univ. of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.
James A. Vaughan, Akron Univ., Akron 19, Ohio
James D. Williams, Oklahoma Univ., Norman, Okla.
James L. Ayers, Roanoke College, Salem, Va.
Robert S. Syvrud, Washington State College, Pullman, Wash.

WINNERS OF 10 RCA VICTOR COLOR TV SETS

Alumni House, Univ. of California, Berkeley, Calif.
Palo Alto Hospital, Palo Alto, Calif.
Emory Medical School Office, Emory Univ., Emory Univ., Ga.
The Student Union, Univ. of Maryland, College Park, Md.
Lowell House, Harvard Univ., Cambridge 38, Mass.
Rho Fraternity, Univ. of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.
Student Bldg., Akron Univ., Akron 19, Ohio
Oliver House Women's Quads, Oklahoma Univ., Norman, Okla.
Smith Hall Girls' Dorm. Lounge, Roanoke College, Salem, Va.
Alpha Epsilon Sigma, Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn.



WINNERS OF 40 COLUMBIA HI-FI PHONOGRAPHS

To the Winners . . . in this great contest—congratulations! To all the students who entered—our sincere thanks for your interest and efforts!

The overwhelming response, literally tens of thousands of clever and original names for the exclusive Viceroy filter tip, has proved beyond a doubt that Viceroy is King of the Filter Cigarettes on every college campus in the land.

Only VICEROY gives you that smooth, fresh taste—that Real Tobacco Taste you miss in every other filter brand!... Because VICEROY has twice as many filters as the other two largest-selling filter brands!

VICEROY ...WITH 20,000 FILTERS MADE FROM PURE CELLULOSE—SOFT, SNOW-WHITE, NATURAL!

Seminoles Off To New Orleans

Cagers Meet Georgia Monday; Hoop Finale

By LARRY BLOCK
Flambeau Sports Editor

Ever since the Loyola series started, Lady Luck has turned her back on Florida State's basketballers when the Tribe is the visitor.

In fact, she has only graced the Seminoles twice in nine meetings since the series began back in 1950-51.

One of the victories came during this season by an 81-75 count, a 4-4 according to coach Bud Kennedy "one of the best played games he has ever seen."

"Our games with Loyola are always great, no matter who wins," he said. "In fact the best game I've ever seen was against Loyola at New Orleans last year. And we lost that one 101 to 95."

'Fine Team'

"The Tribe always comes up with a fine team, and although their record isn't an exceptional one they play some of the best teams in the country," added the FSU mentor.

Loyola has plenty of height on its team. Leading is Bill Schelberger at 6-9, Dick Yaverick, 6-8 are poured in 21 points against the Tribe, and Bernie Brennan, 6-8.

Also there's 6-5 Jim Hall, and 6-4 Pete Gaudin. Spectators include Cecil Lotz, Bobby O'Donnell, John Murrett, and Ray Doran.

To match Loyola's height, Coach Kennedy is expected to start his tallest men. That will put either Bob Ward or Stu Gregory in the fifth slot.

The other starters are all-America candidate Jim Oler, who is only 15 points shy of cracking the 700 mark in scoring for the year, center Gary Wold, and forward Bob Williams.

Arimeier

Dick Arimeier will move back to the other guard position for the addition of a big man in the forward wall.

After the Loyola game the cagers return home to face the University of Georgia Bulldogs in the season's finale.

The Bulldogs are currently in the cellar of the Southeastern Conference. Their lone conference win came at the expense of Florida.

In the first meeting the Tribe came out on top by a 79-76 count, after both gave fine 11 points at the half.

Georgia is paced by guard Morris Dinwiddie who scored 36 in that game. Starting center Ben Swann, and forwards Henry Cabineau and Ray Allen furnish added punch.

The game will be played at the Florida High gym Monday night, which will mark the fare well collegiate careers of Jim Oler, Dick Arimeier, Gary Wold, Wayne Patton, and Ed Wurzbach.

Photo by Tom Sawyer

CAN THEY DO IT AGAIN? Stu Gregory puts in two as the Seminole cagers beat Loyola here earlier in the year.

The Press Table

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
Sports Specialist

OF STROKES AND GATORS AND A TRIBE WIN—

Florida and Florida State take another stride along the path of mutual athletic competition here Monday afternoon. This time golfers from the two state universities will be testing who's better than who.

And despite the fact that the Gator squad is ranked among the best of the south's strokers, we're going to call another Tribe win.

It'll be FSU, 15-12.

This we know of the Florida squad. They've been tissue for quite a few years now—they're defending Southeastern conference champions. But this year, they don't have Doug Sanders.

Sanders is the jovial gentleman who recorded his second successive George Washington Tourney title here last week. The Gators will miss Doug. And, doubtless, a lot of the woe will be on the psychological side.

On the other hand. Florida State has fielded an improved squad this year. The Seminoles were beaten only once in 11 meets last season, but even their modest mentor—Don Veller—rates them as "somewhat improved."

Bobby Dunn is the biggest reason. By virtue of his placing in the George Washington tourney, he might be ranked presently as FSU's best. Bobby placed third in that event—behind the methodical Sanders and FSU graduate student, Art Butler.

Edwin Jenkins is a big reason, too. The Jacksonville golfer had a bit of trouble in the George Washington, but about two weeks earlier he carded a 10-under par 62 to establish a course record for the Tallahassee Country Club.

That's pretty good golf.

Returning, too, are such outstanding golfers as Jack Veghte, Bunk Berry, Harry Schumaker, and Billy Shelton. Veghte and Berry averaged 71.8 and 71.9 respectively for the 12 meets last year.

Shelton will be working to improve a 76.3 average while Schumaker is a newcomer.

Scoring in the Gator meet will be of the "Nassau type." There will be three foursomes composed of two members from each squad. Nine points will be awarded to each foursome—the two low balls getting one point for each nine, and one point for the total 18.

Here's the way we see the meet.

In one foursome, FSU will use Dunn and Jenkins. Florida will counter with its top two men—Dave Ragan and Jim McCoy. Ragan placed fourth in the George Washington tourney while McCoy placed out of the top 10.

FSU will take six of the nine points here.

In the second foursome, FSU will send Jack Veghte and Bunk Berry against Florida's Art Gleason and Hale Baugh. Baugh is a 40-year-old transfer student and is said to be a good golfer. He could ease McCoy out of that top foursome.

Regardless, FSU will take this one. 5-4.

The third foursome is the tough one to call. Florida State will use Billy Shelton and Harry Schumaker and Florida will probably toss in Al Kelly and Al Cameron. Though we know what to expect of Shelton and Schumaker, we don't know too much of the Gator pair.

Regardless, even by calling it a tossup or giving the Gators a 5-4 edge in this event, we think it'll end with the Tribe topside. 15-12.

Certainly, it's a fond hope. But so was the FSU-Florida swim meet—and we were the only ones in the state to call for an FSU swamp in that one.

No swamp this time. Just 15-12.

TALK ABOUT TALENT—

And while we're on the subject of golf, we might throw in a few kinds words about the modest gentleman we mentioned earlier. Golf coach Don Veller used to be quite an athlete himself.

He played three years of football at Indiana in 1932-33-34 and came to be known as one of the midwest's finest backs. He was awarded the Big Ten medal in '34 and was honored the same year as Indiana's top athlete when he received the Balfour award and the Chicago Tribune award.

All that and he rambled 82 yards for a touchdown that beat Purdue in his final collegiate game.

—You might call it gratitude.

garnet & gold
NOW OPEN
UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT
Free Delivery 5 - 10 p.m.
Phone 2-2892

LOOKING FORWARD TO THE 1956 SEASON—An FSU golfer lines up a practice putt as the Tribe linksmen prepare to face Stetson tomorrow.

Golfers Open Season Tomorrow At Stetson

The Florida State golf team will travel to Deland tomorrow to meet Stetson, then will return to play host to the University of Florida on Monday, March 5, at 1:00 p.m.

The boys who are making the trip for the Seminoles are Bob Dunn, Ed Jenkins, Bunk Berry, Bill Shelton, Jack Veghte and Harry Shoemaker.

George Herndon is expected to be the main cog for the Haiten, but since this is their first match of the season their fall strength is not known.

When the University of Florida arrives Monday it will mark the second meeting in athletics between FSU and Florida.

Dave Ragan is top on the Gator squad, while Art Gleason, Hale Baugh and Jim McCoy will be added to back him up.

Golf coach, Don Veller, asserted that it should be a very close match and that the Tribe has a good chance to win it.

In the George Washington Golf tournament which ended Tues Sunday, Don Sanders from Miami Beach successfully defended his title by squeezing past FSU's Art Butler in the final 18 holes.

Dunn, an FSU sophomore fin-

Co-Ed Corner

by
Juanita Jacob

Tomorrow is the annual Sports Day here at Florida State. College from all over the state of Florida will participate in the event.

The following colleges will be represented. St. Petersburg Jr. College, Pensacola Jr. College, University of Tampa, University of Miami, Florida Southern, University of Florida, Barry College, Rollins, Webber, Stetson, and Mont — Florida State University.

This event is held each year at a different university. The purpose for the women to participate in and enjoy the various activities that have been scheduled.

The day is started by registration in the morning in order to get everything organized. Dr. Odd L. Bonn, Assistent dean of education will speak before the group before the activities begin.

The events of the day include: Basketball, Volleyball, Badminton, Archery, Bowling, Croquet, Tennis, Table Tennis, Gymnastics, and Softball.

There will be a luncheon in the Conference Room for those who wish to attend.

At Reception

The women will stay at the Reservation Camp while they are here. We should all make a special effort to welcome these women when they arrive Friday night.

Basketball intramural results are as follows: Thursday, February 23rd, found Bryan defeating Broward and Florida winning over West Landis.

Friday, the Women were Reynolds over B.S.U., and Kappa Alpha Theta was victorious over Gamma Phi.

Monday found Pi Beta beating Zeta Tau Alpha and Alpha Chi Omega defeating more than Chi Omega. In Tuesday's games, Florida won over Bryan and West Landis beat Broward.

Singles in Badminton have started. Monday, February 27th, Sigma Kappa won over Alpha Xi Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta beat Alpha Chi Omega. Tuesday found Reynolds beating Chi Omega and Alpha Gamma Delta defeated Kappa Alpha Theta.

FSU Gymnasts Set For SIGC

The Seventh Annual Southern Intercollegiate Gymnastic Championships will be held at Florida State University March 10 in the East Campus Gym.

The Florida State University team defending champs, are heavy favorites to capture their fifth straight Southern Intercollegiate title.

The Seminoles have annexed the team title five out of six times since the meet was originated in 1950.

The FSU team will also be seeking their 26th team championship, a record unparalleled by any other gymnastic team in the country today.

Other colleges who will be entering full teams in the meet in an effort to halt Florida State's domination of the South will be Georgia Tech, University of North Carolina, Duke, and Northwestern State of Louisiana.

Spearheading the Seminole attack will be Rafael Lecuona, Jaime Ashmore, Joe Oseo, Bob Murray, Jimmy Hanks, and Ronny Amsler.

Intramural News

ATO and Senior Hall swept to victories in the intramural track and field meet last Monday, on a windswept Florida High field, but no records fell.

In the first division, ATO scored 42½ points to wrest the track title away from defending champion, PIPT who scored 34. After 3 of the 10 events were held the two teams were at a 14-14 tie, but a 1-2 finish in the 880 sent ATO in front 23-19 and they were never headed.

Main point getters for ATO were from the football squad men Metts got 10 with first in the 100 and 220. Stabb got another 10 in the discus and shot. Monson helped with 7 with a 440 victory and 4th in the broad jump.

The main point scorers for PIPT were Chaca with 8, a low hurdle 1st, 220, 4th and a broad jump 5th. His teammate Hall got 10 with two seconds in the low hurdles and discus, and a 4th in the shot.

It looked for awhile as if SAE might have a chance, but they had to settle for 3rd with 24½ points.

The closest anyone came to breaking a record in the frat division was Chaca who ran the hurdles in 16.9 against the 14.4 record.

Dorm Division

Senior Hall retained their track crown with a clear-cut win of 49 points. the Penthouse being runner-up with 27. Methodists had 22 and Baptists 20.

It was the BSU relay team that came within a hair of breaking the only record when they turned in a time of 1 minute 43.5 seconds when only three-tenths of a second off the old record of 1:43.2.

Vezprille had high individual

(Continued on Page 8)

Seminole —Shorts—

Football fans who come out to watch the Seminoles in action next year are sure to see plenty of speed from the Tribe backs, a fact that is borne out by the recent intramural track meet.

Halfback Pat Versprille copped both the 100 yd. dash and low hurdles in the inter-dormitory division, with Billy Odom taking the 220. In the fraternity division, Buck Metts took the 100 and the 220.

We're still hunting a title for our column, now under the caption of "The Press Table." Send your suggestions to the Flambeau drop them by the sports desk at 213 Longmire.

Garnet And Gold Backfields Named

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

Only two newcomers feature the starting backfields for the coming Garnet-Gold game, as tentatively announced by head gridiron coach Tom Nugent.

A week from tonight, the two squads climax a 20-day scrimmage season with the annual Garnet-Gold contest in Campbell Stadium.

Bobby Renn, a transfer fullback last year, will probably get the starting nod at quarterback for the Garnets, and junior college graduate Frank Scheible will draw the fullback assignment.

Renn is a holly contested race for the opening quarterback slot next September 22, with veteran signal-caller Vic Prinzi playing for the Gold; and Len Swantic, who will be Renn's teammate Friday night.

Scheible is a graduate of Lindbrook, Ala. Junior College, and is a top candidate for the fullback duty along with Senior Joe Hall.

Joining Renn and Scheible in the Garnet backfield corps will be probably be Lee Corso, the team's leading runner last year, and speedster Buck Metts.

The Gold backfield will have Prinzi, Pat Versprille, Billy Odom and Hall.

One of the standouts of the season according to Nugent has been halfback Versprille, who moved to the slot from a quarterback post last fall.

Versprille, Corso and Billy Weaver are in a hot battle for the starting left half slot, according to Nugent, "and each one has drawn a lot of support from the coaches."

Leading the other newcomers expected to break into the starting lineup Friday is Bill Brown, for the Garnets, and junior college graduate Frank Scheible will draw the fullback assignment.

However, Brown may draw plenty of competition from Bud Leonard, a converted fullback also next September 22, with veteran signal-caller Vic Prinzi playing for the Gold; and Len Swantic, who will be Renn's teammate Friday night.

Scheible is a graduate of Lindbrook, Ala. Junior College, and is a top candidate for the fullback duty along with Senior Joe Hall.

"Barona has developed tremendously this spring," says the head mentor. "and right now has a slight edge in the battle for starting honors."

The other best bet for a starting slot is Bob Nellums, a Pensacola boy and junior college graduate, but Nellums is unlikely as see action in the spring game.

Nellums, a 6-0 200 lb. end, injured his back recently in practice, and Nugent reports that the doctor has advised to keep him out of uniform until next fall.

Photo by Tom Sawyer

HERE ARE SOME of the newcomers who will play a heavy role in next year's football fortunes. Front row, Barry Philp, George Boyer, Bill Brown; Back Row, Larry Cummings, Bob Renn, Frank Scheible.

Buy Your Films
have them developed
at
the most convenient store
CHEVET'S
Corner of College
and Adams
the best assortment
of Cameras and
Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

BILL'S
WE HAVE
BILL'S
WHAT YOU NEED
BOOK STORE

At your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES
FLORIDA
THROUGH MARCH 8
"PICNIC"
WILLIAM HOLDEN
KIM NOVAK
BETTY FIELD
CLIFF ROBERTSON
ROSALIND RUSSELL
—Cinemascope—
STATE
ENDS SATURDAY
"THE LAST HUNT"
Robert Taylor
Stewart Granger
Debra Paget
Lloyd Nolan
Russ Tamblyn
SUNDAY - TUESDAY
"WORD IN MY CORNER"
Audie Murphy
Barbara Rush
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
ENDS SATURDAY
'TALL MAN RIDING'
Randolph Scott
Peggie Castle
—plus—
"MAMBO"
Shelley Winters
Vittorio Gassman
SUNDAY - MONDAY
"SUMMERTIME"
Katharine Hepburn
CAPITOL DRIVE-IN
ON WOODVILLE HWY.
ENDS SATURDAY
"DAVY CROCKETT"
Fess Parker
—plus—
"PHANTOM OF THE JUNGLE"
Jon Hall
SUNDAY - MONDAY
"SON OF SINBAD"
Dale Robertson
Sally Forrest
RITZ—Ends Sat.—"PAGLIACCI"—Gina Lollobrigida
Sun.-Mon.—"DREAMS OF LOVE"—The Story of Franz Liszt

An "Operator"
par excellence
It's not just his suave "pitch"— he's got the inside track on style and value, too. Here, he sports an Arrow Gabanaro—the sport shirt that fits perfectly, in neck size and sleeve length.
Gebanaro comes in a new lighter weight rayon gabardine . . . 13 solid colors. Now available in a new medium-spread collar.
Just $5.95.
ARROW
CASUAL WEAR
—first in fashion

In Grecian Times

Frat Men, Women Wearing Many New Pins This Week

There are many bright new pins being worn by frat men and women this week.

Initiated by Theta Chi last Sunday were Charles Ricketts, Don Ramsden, Myron Herndon, Neil Lasar, Bill Brown, Jack Curtiss and Dick Trudeau.

Tri-Delt initiated Judy Allen, Gerry Anderson, Mary Ann Bendict, Barbara Buckles, Kitty Boland, Ellen Carson, Mary Ann Coleman, Judy Dekle, Shirley Dertine, Ann Frick, Nancy German, Mary Ann Griffin, Nancy Harvard, Joan Hedrick, Dianne Henry, Louise Justice, June Kessler, Kay Moon, Mary Ann Parrish, Peary Philyaw, Helene Sinclair, Pat Starnes, Moue Serquine and Jeanne Wilson.

Following initiation, a banquet was given at the Seven Seas by the new initiates for their pledge mothers.

Ceremonies were held last Saturday morning for 13 Phi Mus who now wear the gold shield.

They are Anaela Ambrosini, Betty Jane Atkinson, Helen Breen, Dena Ann Bryan, Anne Lamb, Susan Murphy, Elinor Thompson, Patty Tucker, Estelle Puckett, Pat Sexton, Angela Squerli, Mollie Walker, and Caroline Watt.

Phi Mus recently honored are Tina Gifford, new member of Tau Beta Sigma, band honorary, Lisa Reno, new GAX member, and Dorothy Wilkins, new member of Kappa Delta Pi, national education honorary. Anne Preston was chosen to represent Georgia in Washington's annual Cherry Blossom Festival in April.

Theta Chi's officers for the spring semester are Bill Nesbitt, president; Ed Hinson, vice-president; Dick Crawford, secretary, Ben Powell, treasurer; Ron Tuttle, social chairman; Jack Curtiss, historian; Bill Brown, librarian; Skip Hibbard, 9-11. Methodist students from most of the colleges in Florida will attend the conference.

Mary Lou Campbell, President of Wesley Players, a national dramatic association, announced that the first open meeting for the spring pledges will be Thursday night at the foundation.

Singers Leave On Another Concert Tour

University Singers began another concert tour yesterday, with an evening performance in Orlando.

A second presentation is scheduled for tonight in Bradenton.

Both programs feature arrangements by David Ward-Steinman, who also acts as accompanist. Dr. Wiley L. Housewright directs the group.

The program includes a selection of spirituals, folksongs and classical music. The finale is a presentation of some modern music arranged by Ward-Steinman.

Wesley Council's Installation Set

Wesley Foundation Council will be installed Sunday morning by the outgoing president, Barbara Cooper.

A bus load of Methodist students will be headed for the Methodist Student Movement Conference in Leesburg, March 9-11. Methodist students from

Classified

LOST—Black billfold, near Women's Gym Contained valuable papers. Return to Longmire Lost and Found.

WILL THE person who took a purse belonging to June Anderson please keep the money and return the contents, at least the glasses, into Longmire lost and found.

the elections.

Last week the Delta Gammas were happy to have their province secretary, Mrs. John W. Slaughter visit the chapter.

Also the biggest DG event of the year, their annual weekend was held. Opening the festivities was a Shipwreck party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Ballinger. The Anchor Coillion was held Saturday night in the Coral Reef Hotel.

The 1956 pledge class was formally presented and the new Anchor man, Larry Miller, was crowned.

New Delta Gamma officers are Marion Ard, president; Sue Shives, first vice-president and pledge trainer; Charlina Pierce, standards; Carolyn Jones, secretary; Judy Rogers, treasurer; Jane Chapman, scholarship; Jan Morrow, social chairman; Sallie Gladding, panhellenic representative; Margaret Gunter, rush chairman; Pat Byrd, ritualist; Diane Rowe, historian; and Betty Faye Horner, public relations.

Tri-Delta a o r o r i t y awarded their annual scholarship this week to Susan Weisenburger.

Miss Weisenburger, a junior counselor in Bryan Hall, has maintained a 3 point overall average.

The scholarship is worth $100.

The selection was made for high academic standing, extra curricular campus activities and her excellent community standing.

Intramural News

(Continued from Page 5)

honors with 12, including first in the hurdles and 100 and 2nd in the high jump. Buffalo of the Penthouse was a close second with 12, including a broad jump first, 440 2nd place, and 3&o 3rd place.

John Wood of Methodist scored 10 Dunn of BSU had 9½; Odom of Senior Hall 9, Chivers of BSU 8 Griffin of Penthouse 7 and Elliott of Senior Hall 6

At the halfway point of the meet Senior Hall had on a 25-22 lead over BSU, but Woodruff's discus victory put Senior Hall in the clear. Penthouse and Methodists passed BSU by scoring in the broad jump and discus.

Comparison of the dorm and frat division shows a meet between the two would be mighty close, as each division had the best performance in 5 events. The dorm group were high in the hurdles, 100, 220, relay and shot. The frat men outperformed in the 880 yd. Sub jump discus and broad jump.

Volleyball

The men's intramural volleyball tournament is now in progress in the north women's gym Matches begin at 5:30 p.m.

Today at 11:30 the drawings and schedule will be made at the intramural office.

The Flambeau of March 6 will carry the schedule.

Golf

Entry blanks will be out this week for the men's intramural golf tournament. Organizations wishing to make entry may get blanks at the intramural office, WC 42.

SPEAKS AT COFFEE HOUR
Dr. Lee Rigsby

Music Expression Is 'Hour' Topic

"Expressionism in music" will be the topic at the weekly "Coffee Hour" held by the English Department in Westminster House from 4 in 5 p.m., today.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Lee Rigsby of the School of Music. He will discuss expressionism in twentieth-century music, and why it has not become a potent movement in America.

Dr. Rigsby will also give the history of the expressionistic movement, which began in Europe.

Illustrations of this style will be given in selected recordings from Schonberg, Webern, and the American Contemporary School of Hapsichordists.

Expressionism in other arts will also be discussed briefly by Dr. Rigsby.

Dr. Rigsby has a Masters degree in Organ and Music theory from the University of Texas and PhD in Musicology from Michigan.

He has studied at the University of New Mexico, at the Vatican library in Rome, and the Hofbibliothek Library in Vienna.

He has taught at the University of Texas, the University of Michigan and Hasilma College in Nebraska.

Dr. Rigsb.. a well-known concert organist throughout the United States, has taught here since 1948. He is also serving as choir master at St. Johns Episcopal Church in Tallahassee.

Committee Rules Against Statewide Campaigners

State-wide political campaigns must shift into low gear before coming on campus, the Committee on Elections ruled recently.

As in past years, the only handbills and posters permitted on campus will be those of candidates for student government.

(See "Assistants Cannot Campaign: Ervin", p. 2.)

Mass meetings will be restricted to the music amphitheater in good weather and Longmire Auditorium in bad weather, except for student government elections.

Political advertising may not be sent through the University Post Office unless it is placed in addressed envelopes, the committee ruled.

Publicity will not be available to state-wide campaigns.

The committee, according to the minutes, agreed that stickers may be placed on automobile bumpers and windshields of the owners' permissions are obtained.

Sound trucks may operate only between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m., the committee ruled. Ads must be run in the Florida Flambeau if the candidates, or their supporters, are willing to pay for them.

Attending the Committee's meeting were Katherine Warig, dean of women; Dr. Sam Nelson, dean of men; Rod Shaw, business manager; Coyle Moore Jr., student body president; Ben Willmen, student secretary of elections; and Dr. R. R. Oglesby, dean of students, chairman.

TeheranSchool Offers Grants

The University of Teheran is offering American students graduate fellowships for graduate study or research in Iran during 1956-57. Closing date for application is April 1.

The awards cover maintenance, tuition and round-trip transportation between the United States and Iran. Men receive room and board in a dormitory.

The grants are for study or research in the sciences or humanities, with special opportunities for concentration on Persian language and literature. A working knowledge of the Persian language is required.

Candidates under 35 years of age will act preference for these awards. Dependents may not accompany the grantees. Eligibility requirements are:

1- U.S. citizenship.

2- A bachelor's degree by the time the award is to be taken up.

3- A good academic record and demonstrated capacity for independent study or research.

4- Good character, personality, and adaptability; and

5- Good health.

Applications may be secured from the United States Student Department of the Institute of International Education.

DAMES MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

FSU Dames will hold a fashion show Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Longmire.

Clothes will be furnished by the French Shop and hair styles by the Powder Puff Salon. Door prizes will be given.

FSU Dames Club is for wives of college men enrolled here

YWCA Seeking Interviews Here

Graduating senior women, or graduate students interested in YWCA work will be interviewed by Miss Kathaleen L. Carpenter in room 203 Westcott Building, Monday and Tuesday.

The recruiting program stems in part from the increasing demand for the establishment of new Associations and for expansion of the existing program, Miss Carpenter explains.

"Strengthening and expanding the YWCA services in this country was the purpose of our recent Centennial Fund Campaign," she said. "And now we are beginning to realize that purpose. The purpose of the fund was to raise $5,000,000 for expansion.

1,000 Needed

Miss Carpenter says that 1,000 new professional staff members are necessary to meet the needs of the organization. These include health and physical education directors, young adult and teen-age program directors and some administrative posts an executive directors for women with experience in this social work field.

Describing the reasons for expansion, Miss Carpenter said, "Population increase, the growth of suburbs and mobility have all placed a strain on the YWCA for the organization of new Associations and extension of present programs.

Many Advantages

Among the advantages of a career in the YWCA are advancement, job security, a 40 hour week, a month's paid summer vacation, plus a week each winter, sick leave and a worthwhile retirement program.

The age range for these women goes to 45, for candidates who have the ability to work with people of different ages, races and faiths, as well as imagination, resourcefulness, and conviction for Christian and democratic principles.

Appointments for an interview with Miss Carpenter may be made by calling Extension 3281.

FLORIDA
TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

Vol. XLI, No. 35 [illegible] 36

The Florida Flambeau

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

MUSIC EVENTS
Coming Up
(See Stories, Page 1)

Tuesday, March 6, 1956

Politicians Start Seeking Office On March 20th

Declaration Filing Begins Then, Says Elections Secretary

Aspiring campus politicians are beein filing declarations of candidacy Tuesday, March 20 for the spring elections

The date was announced yesterday by Betty Willmon, secretary of elections, who said the rules for announcing candidacy are available at the director's office in Longmire Building.

Deadline for filing will be 5 p.m. March 27.

Primary elections will be held April 10, a Tuesday. If any runoffs are necessary they will be held the following Friday, Mac Lemon said.

Campaigning Starts

Active campaigning — the mailing of printed material — can begin at 5 p.m., April 3, at which time will also be the deadline for filing preliminary campaign expense estimates.

Offices at stake will be the student body presidency, and vice-presidency, vice-presidencies of men's and women's affairs, secretary of Student Senate, chief justice of Honor Court, chairman of University Court, chairman of Men's Council, and ten seats on the Board of Publications.

Not On Ballot

Two offices formerly filled by the — Sandspur chairman and University Recreation Association president—are no longer in the ballot. The Board of Publications will experience its first regular election.

The campaign's hottest race is expected to be that for the presidency. Students Senators Jim Rose and Dave Bachman have declared they are candidates. Rose said he will seek State Senate nomination and Bachman is seeking Student Party's support.

Art Students Attend '56 Ringling Event

For the ninth year in a row, Florida State University's Art Department will travel to Sarasota for the annual Ringling Art Museum symposium.

Today's America," will be the theme of this year's symposium, which runs April 3 through 7.

Speakers participating in the forum will be Charles Burchfield, of Clarence Oberlin College, who will discuss contemporary sculpture; and P. Kornila, who will give illustrated lecture on Frank Lloyd Wright; and R. B. Lahaie, the design firm of Latham, Smith and Jensen of Chicago. A jazz concert combined with a discussion of "Jazz in America's Culture" by Dr. Barrett Deems will be presented Thursday at the American Theatre. Area authorities on the control of jazz, Dr. Souchon comes to New Orleans.

Culminating the symposium will be a program by university students directed by Dr. Wilbert Carvahl.

The FSU art major is urged to attend says Dr. Frank McDonough, head of the department. Special permission to be away from the campus will be arranged through the Registrar's office. Non-art majors are welcome to attend the symposium but will need the approval of the head of his or her department.

FSU Rifle Team Defeats U. Of F.

The Florida State University Air Force ROTC Rifle Team won second shoulder to shoulder match fro mthe University of Florida AFROTC Rifle Team Saturday by a margin of 61 [illegible].

The previous match was fired in Gainesville last January with the victor by 11 points.

High man for the FSU team was Reginald B. Chastain Jr. of Ft. Pierce with a score of 372 and Cadet Humphrey of Daytona Beach led the Florida riflemen with a 347 score.

Other members o fthe FSU team include John J. Hill Jr., Richard L. Kelly and Audie E. Sutton all Tallahassee; James John Jr., Boyd and Vernon C. Dye Jr., Tampa.

The Florida University visitors included Richard Glawin and Jack Humphrey, Daytona; with Richard Hardie, Coral Gables; James King, St. Petersburg; Ronald Lightfoot, West Palm Beach and John Sommers, Gainesville.

New Pledges—Were recently announced by Alpha Phi Omega, national men's service fraternity. Above, foreground, are John Myers, Robert Campbell, James Sellers, Charles Schwenk and Gordon Speed. In background are David Mikell, Byron Smith, Ronald Sommer, Bill Donaldson, Bill Wright and Bob Karnsky.

SpeechProduction Begins On Friday

Tickets go on sale tomorrow for "Ah, Wilderness", the third Speech Department presentation of the year.

The Eugene O'Neill comedy will run Friday through next Sunday in the Augusta Conrad theatre every evening at 8:15.

Tickets can be obtained at the Westcott Ticket Office after 9 tomorrow morning. The ticket office will also be open on Saturday morning.

FSU students may obtain reserved seats with their Student Activity Book ticket number 2 and 40 cents. Admission for non-students is 75 cents.

The story of a typical American family in 1906, "Ah Wilderness" centers around Richard Miller, a young rebel against the straightlaced traditions of his era.

Don Johnson plays the lead role of Richard with Marjorie Tindell and Ed Thomas as his parents. Carol Sue Owen plays the neighbor's daughter whom Richard is in love with.

David Wade and Ruth Harvard give a note of pathos to the play as the couple who have been "courting" for years without the courage to marry.

The supporting cast includes Nancy Cubbon, John Schuessler, John Paul Davis, Walter Saric, Alan Kase and Fay Pierce, Bill King, Lou Friedman and John Estes.

First Corrections Conference Set

Florida State University is holding the First Annual Southern Conference on Corrections here under the direction of the School of Social Welfare, March 14 and 15.

Registration will be held in the main lobby of Longmire, Wednesday, March 14 at 9:30 a.m. The meetings are open to all FSU students. No registration fee is being charged.

Invitations have been sent to prison administrators, probation and parol officers, juvenile judges and juvenile court counselors in seventeen southern states. A substantial pre-registration has already been received by the School of Social Welfare announced.

Some topics to be discussed are the criminally insane, legal aspects of custody trends in corrections, and emotional and behavior patterns, pre-disposing to penal-correctional problems.

A visit and tour of the facilities of the Federal Correctional Institution is planned also.

Ballinger Quits Cabinet Post

Margaret Ann Ballinger has resigned as Secretary of Student Events, announced Coyle Moore, President of the Student Body.

Miss Ballinger's resignation has been accepted by the Cabinet.

Moore said he would appoint to fill the position soon.

Miss Ballinger resigned her position because of a lack of time.

Secretary of Student Events is in charge of the campus blood drive and coordinator of various students events on campus.

To Appear—In Fashion Show sponsored by Home Economics Club in Sarah Jane Griffin. Event will be staged during meeting of the group Thursday at 7 p.m. in Longmire Lounge. Program will include fashions from a local dress shop and a $5 door prize.

Phi Mu Alpha Sets Program

"A Program in American Music" will be presented by Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia today in Opperman at 3 p.m.

Selections from Randall Thompson's "Testament of Freedom" and Ceil Kohl's "Oliver Delaney" will be performed by a 26 member mixed chorus directed by Sheiden Tors.

Ryan Edwards and David Ward-Steinman are to play selections from the music of Wallingford Riegger on two pianos.

"Clarinet Rhapsody" by David Bennett will be performed by a clarinet quartette composed of Dixon Reddit, Bill Pharris, Tony Swain and Roy McCance.

George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" will be interpreted by John Zilas.

A modern composer, Jean Keoton, will be represented by "Opus in Pastels" as played by a saxophone quintette with piano accompaniment by David Ward Steinman and arranged by Thomas Gresham's.

A brass choir will interpret "Concert Piece" by Samuel Adler to conclude the program.

Phi Mu Alpha is a national professional and honorary music fraternity former dedicated to advancing the cause of music in America.

Music Recitals Held Tuesdays

BY MARTY REEVES

Although evening recitals in the School of Music are fairly well publicized, many students may not be aware of the student recitals held every Tuesday afternoon and open to the public.

Taking place in Opperman Music Hall from 3 to 4 p.m., the programs usually include 8 to 10 students, singing or playing a variety of instruments.

The center section is reserved for music majors who are required to attend the recitals, but the side sections are available to other students.

An added feature planned for the future is the serving of refreshments following the recitals sponsored by MENC and Louise McClure, president of that organization.

Forum Set For High Schools

The Department of Modern Languages will sponsor a Modern Literature Forum on campus this weekend. Approximately 100 high school French and Spanish students.

After arriving here on Friday the students will participate in group and individual competitive creations in French and Spanish with prizes to be awarded to the outstanding students at a banquet Friday night.

The Friday evening program and the morning meeting session will be held in the Geology Building auditorium.

Students will be treated to a luncheon and tour of Tallahassee Saturday followed by a semi-formal dance that night as guests of Los Picaros, the Spanish honorary.

Dr. Dorothy Hoffman, Professor of Spanish and French, is general chairman of the forum.

VETERANS' CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

There will be a meeting of the Veterans' Club tonight at 7 in room 406, Longmire.

On the agenda will be a talk by Coyle Moore, Student Government President, and the nomination of officers.

Blackstock Honored At U. Of Georgia

Dr. Walter Blackstock, assistant professor of history at Florida State University, was honored recently by the University of Georgia's Press, the department of English, and by John E. Drewry, Dean of the Henry Grady School of Journalism.

INTERNS MUST SEND ADDRESS

Interns who want to get the Florida Flambeau while they are away from campus must send their names and mailing address with 50 cents to cover mailing cost to Bob Crenshaw, Box 2174, before leaving campus.

Dohnanyi–Kilenyi; Band To Perform On Campus

Pianists Team Up On Friday, Saturday Here

Dr. Ernst von Dohnanyi and Edward Kilenyi, professors of music, will play their annual two-piano concert this weekend.

There will be two evenings of the same all-Brahms program, beginning at 8:15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall.

Admission will be by ticket only, the School of Music announced. There will be no charge, but only as many tickets for each night as there are seats will be dispensed from the central ticket office at Westcott.

The music office did not know yesterday what will be done if some empty seats still remain after 8 p.m., representing tickets given out but not used.

Open With Brahms

The concerts will open with Brahms' "Sonata in F Minor," using the earlier of two piano versions which is said to "reveal more of his power."

The second will be "Variations on a Theme of Haydn." The Haydn selection is among the composer's most popular compositions.

The program will conclude with 14 short "Love Song" waltzes, played by the two artists on one piano.

Members of a vocal quartet that will assist in this section will be Mrs. Edith Kaup ssh Walter Cassidy members; Miss Phyllis DeKalb, FSU graduate, and Robert Parrish. They are, respectively, soprano, tenor, contralto, and baritone.

Joint Concert

A joint concert has been played each year by the two widely known musicians since Kilenyi joined Dr. Dohnanyi here three years ago. The formal dedication of Westcott Auditorium last winter was the occasion of the piano concert.

Their first association was in 1928 on a concert tour of Hungary.

The Brahms program will have more than usual significance for Dr. Dohnanyi. When he was 17 years old Brahms helped him produce his first Quintet in Vienna. There he also died the next year. Dohnanyi was next in Vienna to represent Hungary at the funeral.

Seniors Must Make Deposit

Graduating Seniors must make a five dollar deposit on their diplomas in the Student Accounts Office as soon as possible.

Graduation invitations are also available in order at the Student Center. Three varieties are available: Plain Dutch Fold-er at 65 cents; plain card-board at 35 cents; and leather bind at 60 cents.

Invitations must be paid for in advance and ordered before 5 p.m. today. Those on March 10 Seniors who have not ordered caps and gowns should also do this at the same time a $10 deposit is required.

Started Thursday

Annual Bridge Tourney Underway

The annual Interfraternity Bridge Tournament, sponsored by Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Sigma Alpha, got underway last Thursday night.

Approximately 14 fraternities and sororities were represented, according to Dr. Claude Flory, faculty advisor and director of intercollegiate bridge play.

Any fraternity or sorority not yet entered may enter by sending a team to the Student Lounge of Longmire Thursday evening at 7. The tournament will meet every Thursday at 7 for the rest of the semester.

The winners are presented with a rotating trophy. Last year's winners were Alpha Delta Pi and Phi Delta Theta.

NUGENT SPEAKS THIS THURSDAY

Coach Tom Nugent will be the special speaker at a graduate class luncheon Thursday in the Trophy Room of the Student Center.

Nugent has promised to give a "confidential report" on FSU football, according to Marvin Reynolds, program chairman and vice-president of the class. Luncheon will be served at 12 noon, from 12 noon to 1 p.m.

A Slight Mishap—After last Minneapolis Symphony performance, a backdrop curtain was inadvertently raised, revealing musicians changing clothes backstage. Enterprising photographer recorded the scene in the above photo.

Says Vernon Turnout Small At Symphony Event

Considerably less than half the student body attended any of the three Minneapolis Symphony concerts given last week in Westcott Auditorium.

1,991 student coupons were taken in altogether, out of the approximately 4,500 Activity Books issued this semester, said Mrs Kathryn Vernon, Artist Series chairman.

"I'm very disappointed in the student attendance," she said. "I think when the symphony that's probably rated as number six in the country comes and it's the first symphony here in five years, it's a reflection on the students" when more people don't attend, she added.

In addition to activity coupons, 127 season tickets issued to faculty and staff were in for the performances, 60 complimentary tickets, and 581 tickets were bought by townspeople.

Two-Thirds Empty

Almost two-thirds of the auditorium was left empty at the matinee, over one-third Tuesday night, and one-fourth Wednesday night.

We had hoped that more children from Tallahassee schools would take advantage of the matinee for them did," said Mrs. Vernon, adding "My own personal feeling is that it is not worthwhile to have matinees."

When asked whether or not she felt it would be advisable to have symphonies on future Artists Series, in the light of these attendance figures she said she thought it would be. "The percentage of student attendance was no worse than for other events on the same level," she pointed out.

One Per Year

The director explained that one big event a schedulet each year, moving in a cycle and including such things as symphonies, ballets and operettas. In this way a student gets a chance at each type of concert during his four years.

If student response is especially good, she said, a similar concert may be slated sooner, as in the case of last year's Ballet Theatre. Because attendance was so good, tentative plans are being made to have a ballet next year.

CAMPBELL LECTURES IN EGYPT

Dr. Laurence R. Campbell, dean of the School of Journalism, has begun a series of lectures on Journalism at Cairo University and American University in Cairo, Egypt.

Dr. Campbell is working for the International Educational Exchange Service He returns to the United States late in March. after Teague.

Musical Group States Concert Tomorrow

The Symphonic Band's annual formal Spring Concert is slated for tomorrow night at 8:15 in Westcott Auditorium.

Conducted by Manley Whitcomb, band director, the program will begin with two rarely performed band selections—Paul Hindemith's "Symphony in B flat" and Percy Grainger's "Lincolnshire Posy"

The former contemporary selection is a reflection of the composer's interest in freeing melody from its dependence on on harmony while the latter work is based on folk-song material which the composer gained first-hand on a visit to the British Isles.

"Dublin Bay Sailor's Song," "The Song of the Drunk Young Sailor," and "The Lost Lady Found," sung for Grainger by an old family nurse who learned the song as a child at an Irish village dance are prime examples of the preservation of the folklore.

Hanson Selection

After the intermission the band will play "Chorale and Alleluia" by Howard Hanson, a composer who has contributed greatly to American music as director of the Eastman School of Music. Hanson has written especially for concert band, is characteristically modern, but with roots firmly planted in the classics.

The next selection, "Modern Sound for Band," presented in three numbers, involves a variety of experience.

Firm will come Ossee's "The Bruising for Band" with a simple, plaintive melody, followed by Yoder's "Relax Rhumba" with a South American flavor, and finally "Medley," as arranged by FSU's Charlie Carter, of "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," "Hey, a Tramp" and "Take the A Train."

Three Marches

As a climax to the program three American marches. "Hassaurian's March" by Chambers, "Glory of the Gridiron" by Alford, and "Pairest of the Fair" by Sousa, are presented.

The Symphonic band, consisting of eighty members, will give concerts a year—one at Christmas, the formal concert, and two will-ata concerts in the spring.

To contribute to the audience's enjoyment of the concert, Bill Pharris, an FSU band student of John Spratt, has made detailed program notes.

PHI MU' ALPHA PLEDGES EIGHTEEN

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia has completed pledging for this semester and has secured 18 new prospective members.

They are Billy Alton, Allen Crowell, Tony Britton, Bob Brunson, Calvin Coats, Ryan Edwards, Scott Harpe, Mike Hipps, Dale Jensen, Raymond Lebsu, Jerry McCullough, Jack Meader, Phillip Posey, Vince Tate, Willis Tuten, Dixon Reddit and Webster Teague.

Bridge Tournament—Gene Turano and Meredith Payne present awards to representatives of last year's winners, Thomas Overstreet, Phi Delta Theta, and Margaret Ann Young, Alpha Delta Pi.

Help Name The Buildings

The students are not to be slighted in the request for suggestions of names for new buildings on this campus, as current rumors have it. The President's Office yesterday refuted the rumor that alumni were the only ones eligible to submit suggestions.

In the next issue of the Florida Flambeau, we will print a list of the buildings to receive permanent names and provide a blank to be filled in by the students. We urge those interested to return the forms to the Flambeau offices where they will be tabulated and transmitted to the President's office.

Final authority for naming buildings rests with the Board of Control, who will receive recommendations from President Doak S. Campbell.

We understand that students living in the temporarily-named dormitories, West and Florida Halls, do not wish to have the names of their dorms changed. We therefore recommend that they take advantage of this opportunity to express their desires.

If the suggested names for the buildings are those of persons, the Board of Control has stated that the individual must be deceased before a building can bear the name of a living person. However, the suggestions are not confined to this category, making the temporary names of Florida and West valid suggestions for permanency.

Separate Wiring Needed

It's getting considerably harder and harder to tell the time of day on this campus, as electricians try to keep Father Time from floundering. But the problem of keeping clocks and chimes in harmony is not the only one created by the generators' spasmodic fits of temperament. Just about the fire alarms during these periods?

It is not infrequent for electricity to fail for a few hours at a time on this campus, most any time during the day or night. While students may not mind having an excuse to be late to class, we recognize that no one wants a fireman to be late getting to a fire.

Perhaps we're not the first to think of this, but a separate wiring system for fire alarms in dormitories and classroom buildings is a safety measure that cannot be overlooked much longer.

True it is that fires on this campus have fortunately been few and far between, and have ignited themselves at the right times. But there's always a first time for one to occur at the wrong time, i.e., in the middle of a night in a darkened dormitory without electricity.

The Logical Conclusion

The United States Supreme Court yesterday carried out its famous ruling against segregation in public education to a logical conclusion.

It upheld a lower court ruling that Negroes should be admitted to tax-supported colleges and universities as well as primary and high schools.

The petitioner in the case was the University of North Carolina, which was contesting a District Court order that was handed down some time earlier.

(Significant, however, is the fact that the three Negroes whom the lower court ordered admitted to Chapel Hill have been there since the fall . . . with no apparent ill result. White schoolmarshal has not been degraded. Riots have not occurred. The race has not been tainted. As a matter of fact, there has been no word at all concerning the matter until yesterday.)

* * *

One could wonder why so much significance is attached to this decision. Those who are opposed to segregation regard it as a logical continuation of the policy expressed May 17, 1954, in the unanimous Brown v. Bd. of Education case. In constitutional law the term is stare decisis—prior rulings. The Court had no other way to rule unless it were to repudiate its earlier decision—which it was actually asked to do.

Here is how the Supreme Court operates. A decision is actually applicable in the one case only. Almost invariably it consists in the affirmation or reversal of a lower court decision.

In making its decision, however, the Court establishes dicta—or, a principle. In ruling that Brown should be admitted to the white schools of Topeka, Kansas, the Court said he could not be kept out because of his race.

Presumably, any Negro who wanted to be admitted to a white school or college might have to bring suit—but it would not get as high as the Supreme Court. The lower courts, acting on the basis of the Supreme Court's dicta, or policy, would rule in favor of admission.

Passive Resistance

Nearly every time man has taken forward steps they have involved sacrifices.

The one that proved to be most important in the chronology of mankind was the death of a Galilean teacher whose doctrines of love and decency terrorized the ruling class. Two thousand years after the whole world knows him and much of it preaches His philosophy.

Within this century Gandhi led millions of Indians in passive resistance, for which he was jailed often, but eventually India won a freed by the British. Gandhi was assassinated, but not before he earned a niche in humanity's gallery of the greatest.

We now refer readers to the Herblock cartoon on this page "Somebody From Outside Must Have Influenced Them."

In Montgomery, Alabama, the same principle in which Christianity began—the same tactic that freed s Nation—is being re-enacted.

Montgomery Negroes do not like to move to the back of the bus. They are tired of always going to the back, of always being singled out for the poorer accommodations and the sub-standard treatment. They are through with it.

They are not rioting. Instead, they are

Versus

Things Must Be Dull

By CON HORN

Last week I decided to take a chance and venture a second glance at modern dance.
It's something I wanted to see again
Well, buddy, believe me, if you've ever blessed with a temporary hard-earned condition of euphoria, don't go for a modern dance recital 'cause there's one thing it will deuphoria,
and that's leave you depressed.
I've never seen so many people on the stage get so distressed over nothing in particular. Maybe it's supposed to be expressive,
but don't you think a little bit excessive?
Admittedly the world is a vale of tears,
as anyone will confess, usually over a few beers, but certainly not as dismal or abysmal
or even as dramatic as the Theater Dancers make it, and I suspect that half the time they fake it.
so . . . no Kudos
to the pseudos.

* * *

In answer to the letters of my letters
let me say I see the light!
These southerners are right!
In fact, three cheers for Emmett Till, he did not die in vain—he died
to satisfy the southern pride, and proved the time-honored axiom that in the south, while makes right.
And Autherine Lucy should have known it just ain't right to mind alone a Code of the Common Will. Actions speak louder than words,
and The People can best logic if they use the power of herds.
Let's shout it loudly then,
Shout like never before!
"THE SOUTH WILL RISE AGAIN!"
I can't go any lower.

Letters To The Editor

The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic, and provides this space for student opinion. The editors do not have to coincide with the views of the paper, but must be in good taste. Unsigned letters will not be printed, and names will not be withheld except in cases where the reasons are deemed adequate by the editor. Letters should not exceed 250 words, or 25 typewritten lines.

Student Upset

TO THE EDITOR:

I have just read the article entitled, "Scoop On UF's Proposed Car Ban." The Author, Oscar Johnson, believes this will make good propaganda to pull future students to FSU; well I am sure this will not, for traffic on campus during the 10-minute class change period has been banned since the Spring of 1954 and it did not cause the enrollment to drop, so why should this.

FSU must not have much to offer future students if all they can brag about is that a proposed car ban for the cars of Freshmen and Sophomores is under way down at Gainsville and that all care are welcome at FSU. If you check the records of the 1953 session of the Legislature you will see that they thought of banning the cars of Freshmen and Sophomores on both campuses. It is my opinion that the Legislature in its next session will do as if the students have not already done so voluntarily as they are planning down at the University of Florida.

Florida State should look for something of a more academic nature to brag about than cars on the campus, maybe FSU can be proud of having an effective honor system, such as down at Gainesville where the accused gets to see the accuser and his own trial. Florida State still has a long way to go to catch up with the University of Florida.

SINCERELY,
JAMES R. SMITH.

P. S. I am sending a copy to the editor of the Florida Alligator.

The Dissenter

Evening Of Dance Is 'Memorable'

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

THAT THERE IS a great wealth of artistic and musical talent at Florida State University was again proved last weekend.

Those who did so were the Theatre Dance Group, and their production was "An Evening of Dance." It was a memorable occasion.

The Theatre Dance Group avoided the error to which amateurs are most prone. They did not adopt other people's complicated and stereotyped routines, nor did they clutter their stage with unnecessary properties, nor did they attempt executions that were too difficult. Instead, they had a highly original, very impressive, work of art.

THE REVIEWER trained in the dance could undoubtedly cite numbers that were not good, comment upon dancers who at times slipped or failed in the execution of a step, bring to light instances of unimaginative choreography and of poor coordination.

It would, however, be pointless to apply the technical scalpel to "An Evening of Dance." Numbers that were not good were clearly the exception.

Mention should be made first of all of the composers: students Dave Ward-Steinman and Fran Edwards, and professors Lester Bruch and Carlisle Floyd, who contributed the scores for all but two of the 11 dances. Their music was impressive and expressionate, and if at times a bit too dramatic, it was fully the integral part of the dance that this music should be. (Television students take note.) One wonders why the composers were not called upon to take bows as were the choreographers.

Lighting effects were superb. One hardly noticed the almost-complete absence of props, because the lighting took its place. Properties are, as a matter of fact, less essential to the dance than to any other stage medium.

Among those numbers that were worthy of special mention were the regular favorite, "Lost Eden," danced and acted with skill by Jim Padigan and Nancy Smith; "Man Alone," even featuring Padigan, choreographed by Katherine Hartley, and "Class Picture," the whimsical portrayal of a prim schoolmistress trying to photograph her unruly flock. This is not to say that the other numbers were not, as a rule, very good.

IN A CLASS BY ITSELF was "Be Still, My Soul." Somewhere the idea was advanced that the dance is totally repugnant to religion. "Be Still, My Soul" proved the contrary. It had a religious theme—man's uncertainty of himself and of his relationship with God. A Biblical reading was done well by Franklin Adams.

The terrible frustration of mankind was portrayed well by the dancers. Carlisle Floyd wrote the music, and played it, assisted by Jim Staples. Valda Mock did the choreography.

It would question what I infer to be the sceptical philosophical point—that man should fear God, but that is hardly the subject for this page.

The various art forms, including the dance, can and should be used for religious meaning. "Be Still, My Soul," did this so well that I hardly felt like applauding, so much was it in the nature of a sermon.

Of All Things

Symphony Played Here In 1929

By OSCAR JOHNSON

THOSE WHO were interested in the appearance of the Minneapolis Symphony here last week may be slightly surprised to learn that it wasn't the first time the famed musical group played on this campus.

It has played here at least once before. Files of the Florida Flambeau for the year 1929 show that the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra performed as the second artist series event of the school year. The orchestra's fee was a mere 25 years old.

A news story published January 11 called the Minneapolis group "one of the leading American symphony orchestras". Under the direction of Henri Verbrugghen, the 81 members presented a classical program of selections from Weber, Beethoven, Wagner and others.

By the way, the first artist series event of 1929 was a concert by Mieczyslaw Munz, Polish pianist. It was heard by "over 1,500 people" according to the Flambeau.

THE ARTIST SERIES events were, of course, only a portion of the affairs that occupied the lives of students at Florida State Colleges for Women. The series had to share front page space with such things as the great Bryan Hall Fire of '29.

This outburst, caused by a defective chimney, damaged the dormitory to the tune of about $10,000. Excited Flambeau reporters overcame their usual reticence to shout that:

"While making his rounds at one-thirty this morning of December 27, Night-watchman Frank Tryon noticed the flicker of flames in the upper part of Bryan Hall. Thinking it to be the reflection from the fireplace he continued on his rounds. A short time later he returned to find the building on fire."

BUT FSCW recovered from this sort of thing. In fact, the school was making great progress, especially scholastically. A story in the Flambeau reported that Dean of Instruction Edward Conradi to the effect that FSCW was the first state women's college in the South a member of the Association of colleges and secondary schools of the southern states, and also was accepted on the list of colleges and universities approved by the Association of American Universities.

To maintain its leadership in academic excellence, it was decided such speakers as the late Dr. John Dewey to speak on its campus. (Dr. Dewey by the way, has achieved some note in philosophy, education and other fields.) He spoke to the FSCW women on "Learning."

Yes, there were great traditions for FSU to live up to when it was founded in 1947. Judging from the recent artist series performance, it seems to have met the tradition pretty well in that category. How it has lived up otherwise is a story for another time.

In The Wings

Dance Production Of High Calibre

(Editor's Note: Lowell Roddenberry, another outstanding student in School of Music, is using Ward-Steinman's outside space this issue. Ward-Steinman, out of town for a week-end, asked Roddenberry to take the spot in the wings for the dance production.)

By LOWELL RODDENBERRY

"AN EVENING OF Dance" presented by the Theatre Dance Group last Thursday and Friday evenings concluded a week of outstanding cultural events. This program encompassed virtually every element of artistic endeavor "Adam". Perfect choreography complemented of necessity by music, to dramatic readings.

Dance, unlike other arts, is at best an esoteric one in that communication is achieved only through a sympathetic, highly subjective response on the part of the audience. With the basic assumption that the aim of all art is communication, dance is fundamentally one of emotional basis for an appreciation of modern dance entails a recognition of movement in terms of a portrayal by another movement.

Nelle-Bond Dickinson in her dual role of director-choreographer may well be capable of having maintained consistently high artistic standards in a program of such immense proportions.

The traditional performance of "Lost Eden" highlighted the performances. Choreographed by Miss Dickinson and set to music by Carlisle Floyd, this dance has remained a perennial favorite as a portrayal of man's fall. It is of professional caliber. Judged as a cohesive complete unit, modernistic music and dance complement the other to the extent that each seems interdependent. Floyd's musical setting, however, can and has achieved success as an absolute, solo entity.

THE INTERPRETER of "Lost Eden" as well as of her own dances was Nancy Smith, assistant director of the dance group. Miss Smith's qualities as a dancer are so well known as to preview devoted solely to her and her art. Suffice it to say that she possesses a vibrant intensity that virtually mesmerizes the viewer. Jim Padigan whose growth as a dancer was evident was frankly capable by her choreographic restrictions. Supporting Miss Smith was readily apparent since his last portrayal of "Adam". Bruch's accompaniment complemented the program further demonstrated this development.

The comedy "Love Unrequited." was a hilarious characterization of a silent movie with a theme of the unrequited love. Valda Mock with Alex May as her more than able partner. It was essentially a real field for satire, both interpretively and choreographically.

Of the student choreographers, particularly notable was Katherine Hartley whose carefully integrated dance with music Miss Hartley fulfilled the requirements of formal coherency by the use of the seemingly simple device of cumulative effect. If this dance reaches monotonia of intensity and dramatics, then by virtue of the very existence of this hyperintensity, the dance raises itself.

A dance illustrating the use of one sustained idea was Maxine Fletcher's charming vignette entitled "Class Picture."

THE MOTIVATION of a dance is the music behind it. An audience's lack of awareness of it is no test of its musical worth. The visual aspect of the dance partially deadens the aural sense and the accompanying music plays a secondary role. Music for this dance program

(Continued On Page 4)

Wandering With Wiljohn

Composers' Convention Disheartening

By WILJOHN

THIS WEEK-END I attended the Florida Composers League Convention in Gainesville. While there, it seems to me that I saw the most flagrant middle-of-the-road bit of judging that has ever passed before my eyes.

There were three pieces entered for judging: a piano piece by Jerry Bilik from here, a Mr. Barrick; a choral work by David Ward-Steinman, the David Ward "Sing-Watcher"; and an original overture by Jack Jarrett, a former student here and now at Gainesville. They were judged by Kent Kennan, an eminent composer of the day.

Mr. Kennan took the easy way out and gave all three a first prize. He combined first and second place money and divided it among the three ways. His explanation was that each was so fine in its own right and, since they were all in a different form of writing it would be impossible to pick a single winner.

THAT'S JUST FINE on the surface, but think about it for a minute. They all got first place but they all got last place, too. While each was just as good as the other, we are forced to conclude that each was as bad as the other; also. This because there were obviously no distinguishing marks on which to rate a higher judgement. It was the feeling of two of the contestants that they would have rather gotten an honorable second or the fatal third, than be win a first of this type. They really don't know any more about the worth of their music than when they started out. The same may have been accomplished by not entering.

The quality of the music entered in the contest this year was fairly high. Whether the standard will stay or drop with decisions of this sort being made is a moot point. To me everything off, I don't believe it was the choral work that David had entered in the contest. It was my belief that he was entering two French Songs; which were, by the way, sung very beautifully by Mrs. Ellen Snow Frank. However, Mr. Kennan said that he was awarding the prize for the choral work, "Clip of Ships."

TO GROW PHILOSOPHICAL about this whole thing, it seems to point out how prone we are to taking the easy way out of everything that confronts us these days. What's the motto? "No problem too great or worry too oppressing that we can't pass the buck." That's about it. To look around for the path of least resistance, just like a stream of water, and when we find it, to plunge headlong in our way with no regard for the effect of our going.

There must be a reason for it. Maybe it is the A-bomb fear that is blamed for everything else. Or, maybe, it could be subversiveness in government. That gets the brunt of everything that gets by the A-bomb. Or maybe we're just cowards. Hmm?

The Florida Flambeau

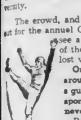
JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ——— Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ——— Jack Bredfeld
Wanda Sue Owen, Marty Reeves
Photographers: Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Steve Kidd, Adrian Allen.
Campus Editor ——— Eleanor Kirby
Columnists ——— Wiljohn, Dave Wood, Jr.
Steinman, Clyde Ward, Martin Dyckman, Oscar Johnson, Georgie Seminole.

Pat Marston, News Editor
Feature Editor ——— Arlleda Ries
Sports Editor ——— Larry Block
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ——— Ben Baker, Dave Evans, Joe Greene, Tom Hale, Steve Lehnbeck
Junior Staff ——— Bob Dollison, Bob Moren
Greek Editor ——— Charlet Poitevint

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager
Assistant Business Manager, Jean Halford
Exchange Editor ——— Sandra Colley
Exchange Staff ——— Joy Wilkins
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.
Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown,
Circulation ——— Mike Brady
Morgue ——— George Goldstein
Business ——— Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith, Enid Pearlman, Jane Andrews, Les Mayers
Telephone 2,800, extension 6821, 3621
211, 213 Longmire Building
Intercollegiate Press

The Press Table



By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

THE OLD AND THE NEW

Some seventy football players take the big step Friday night.

And it's the step which may vault eleven of them into a starting lineup September 22 against Ohio University.

The crowd, and it should be a big one, which turns out for the annual Garnet-Gold contest Friday night will see a lot of new faces, but they'll see most of the old ones too, for Coech Tom Nugent lost very little talent from his 1955 eleven.

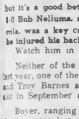
One of the newcomers who's sure to arouse some speculation is Bobby Renn, a guy who managed to grab a share of the sports copy last season, even though he never played a minute.

Renn is a transfer from Davidson, Indelighis last year, who made Nugent and his aides take notice more then once with his gallops through scrimmage as a member of the "red shirts".

He's eligible next fall, though, and has already served notice that he's ready. Switched from halfback to quarterback, he's grabbed off a starting slot at that post Friday night, on the Garnet squad.

A bright newcomer, but there are others.

One of them probably will not see action Friday, but it's a good bet he'll make up for it come the fall. Bob Nelluma, a Junior college graduate from Pensacola, was a key candidate for a starting end slot until he injured his back recently.



Watch him in the fall.

Neither of the two starting centers saw much action last year, one of them wasn't even here, but George Bover and Troy Barnes are in as close a battle for a starting slot in September as you could want.

Bover, ranging at about 6-1 and 235 lbs., was an all-Army center last year, but he's got a tremendous fight on his hands to take the opening position away from Barnes.

Troy was switched from a tackle slot to second-string center towards the end of last season, and has come on this spring like a whirlwind.

Nugent names him "one of our most improved linemen", and as the tussle gets underway Friday night gives him a slight edge over Bover.

It might not end that way.

Speaking of switches, a Sophomore jet plane named Pat Versprille seems to have made one of the most successful this spring. Originally a quarterback, Versprille has bolted into the picture as one of the top left halfbacks on the squad this spring.

However, Nugent finds himself more than well stocked with left halfbacks at this point. After apparently successfully shaking off a series of injuries, Bill Weaver is back in top shape and also a number one candidate for the slot.

However, still there's confront both of these boys is Lee Corso, probably the team's most consistent performer last year, and the leading ground gainer.

Take your choice.

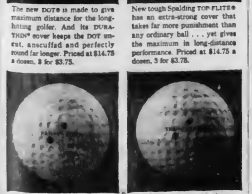
There are two other newcomers in the starting lineup Friday, and both have given a solid indication they intend to stay there next September.

One is Bill Brown, a service returnee, who has nailed down the starting berth at left guard on the Gold squad.

The other is a junior college graduate, a chunky fullback named Frank Scheible. Scheible will start for the Garnets Friday, and is a cinch to give incumbent Joe Holt a battle for the starting slot next fall.

There's one other switch worth mentioning here, and that's Bud Leonard from fullback to guard.

Leonard has moved from the line to the backfield and back again and at last seems to have settled down to stay. He started out as an end in his Freshman year then moved to fullback last season.



However, Nugent thinks that he has at last found himself in this new position and he'll start there for the Garnets Friday night.

PLAY THE RIGHT SPALDING BALL!

The new DOT8 is made to give maximum distance for the long-hitting golfer. And its DYNA-TRON® cover keeps the DOT smooth, unscuffed and perfectly round far longer. Priced at $14.75 a dozen, 3 for $3.75.

New tough Spalding TOP-FLITE® has an extra-strong cover that takes far more punishment than any ordinary ball . . . yet gives the maximum in long-distance performance. Priced at $14.75 a dozen, 3 for $3.75.

The popular-priced PAR-FLITE® gives an unbeatable combination of playability and durability. Its tough, resilient cover makes it an outstanding long-service ball. Priced at $11.40 a dozen. 3 for $2.85.

Spalding's economy-priced TRU-FLITE®, like all other popular Spalding golf balls, is made with True-Tension winding for a longer, more active game. TRU-FLITES are priced at $9.00 a dozen or 3 for $2.25.

®Trade-mark

Sold only through golf professionals.

SPALDING SETS THE PACE IN SPORTS

Basketball Season Bows Out

Hoopsters Lose 9th To Loyola

By LARRY BLOCK
Flambeau Sports Editor

Georgia's Bulldogs stood in the way of Florida State's state's increasing their home streak to 23 games in the final basketball game of the season.

The Tribe was in quest of its 16th triumph of the year as against nine losses.

It was the same old story in New Orleans Saturday night as Loyola of the South rallied in the last minutes to edge out the Seminoles 75-72.

It was the eighth defeat for FSU against only two wins since the series began back in 1950

Sparked by forward Pete Gaudin and Charles Gallmann, Loyola overcame a nine-point deficit to end their season with a win.

Scoring honors for the evening went to FSU's all-America candidate Jimmy Oler, who poured in 28, on eight baskets and 12 free-throws.

Tribe Hits

Center Gary Wold contributed 16, and Dick Atzmon had 12. Hugh man for Loyola was Gaudin with 20. Five men hit in double figures for the Pack. Guard Crit Lorio had 14, Dick Vorvick, 13, Bill Schreiberg, 14 and Gallmann, 10.

Loyola led 38-34 halftime lead and opened up the lead to nine in the closing minutes on a basket by Bob Williams, to make the score 76-61. The Seminoles scored only two points the rest of the way, and a pair of free throws by Gaudin put Loyola ahead for the final, 73-72.

The loss gave the Tribe an even split with Loyola this year, as FSU trimmed the Pack 85-75 here at Tallahassee earlier in the season.

Jim Oler cracked the 782 mark in scoring in the game as the 5-16 senior upped his total to 769 for the season. Prior to last night's game he needed only three free-throws to make 200. Oler has started 786 field goals, and his average is 29.5 per game.

Center Gary Wold is second to Oler in all departments. Wold has 199 field goals, 127 free-throws and a total of 345 for a 14.4 average. Forward Dick Atzmon is third in individual scoring with 266.

FSU's big three in scoring played their final game last night. In addition Wayne Patton and Ed Wurzbach ended their basketball career for Florida State.

Lettermen Meet

The second meeting of the Men's "F" club will be held tonight at the women's gym starting at 8 p.m.

At the last meeting the following officers were elected: Carlos Fraundorfer, President, Lee Corso, Vice President, Bud Leonard, Secretary, Bill Cullom, Treasurer, Bob Barber, Warden, and Jim Atwood, temporary Chaplain.

Also under discussion are plans to create more interest in the club. Anyone who has earned a varsity letter is eligible for membership.

Whitey Ford of the Yankees has a 41-32 lifetime American League record but shows only four wins against five defeats in games against Boston.

PLAY BALL! Some nine men will answer the call to the baseball diamond March 16, and the two above may be among them. In any case, veteran hurler Tommy Garcia and outfielder Gale Tuggle are certain to see a lot of action in the coming season. Garcia had a 5-1 mark last year, and Tuggle hit .344.

Baseballers 'Just As Good', Says Litwhiler

"We'll be just as good, if not better than last year." These are the words of head baseball coach Dan Litwhiler, speaking of the 1956 Seminole baseball squad.

The Tribe's first scheduled game is March 16 against Furman here. Coach Litwhiler has not chosen a first team yet as there are some players such as Lee Corso, Tom Garcia, and Fred Twomey, who are still taking part in basketball and spring football.

According to Litwhiler these three boys will be counted on heavily this season.

He is not sure they will be on the starting team because "we may have some boys who are better than them. I can't say yet."

Owen McCarron and Dick Houser are being groomed to take the place of last year's star second baseman Bill Campbell.

The Seminoles have an 11-man pitching staff and according to Litwhiler "because of the tight schedule all of them will get a chance to start and pitch regularly."

Coach Litwhiler asserted "Except for a few arm aches and other minor injuries, the team is rounding into top condition and will be in good shape for the opening game."

Highlight of the season breaks early with the big FSU Invitational tournament March 29-April 4 in Tallahassee.

Last years' diamond men rang up a 17-4 mark, including second in the FIAC, and only three key men are missing this season.

Second baseman Billy Campbell, outfielder Bob Hudson and Ham Wernke are gone, but there's adequate replacements including a possible switch of Fred Twomey to the outfield.

Intramural News

The fraternity volleyball championship get underway today at 6 p.m. in the women's gym.

The defending champions, Phi Delta Theta, an ex-1955 section until Thursday when they meet PKP at 7:45 p.m.

Today's schedules:

6:00 SN vs. KS.
7:00 KA vs. TC.
7:45 DTD vs PKP.
8:45 LCA vs. SAE.

Thursday's schedules:

6:00 ATO vs. TEP.
7:00 PBT vs. SC.
7:45 PBT vs. PKP.
8:45 SN vs. TC.

All matches will be best 3 out of 5 games, with 15 point games. Bill Odenell's varsity volleyball team will officiate the matches.

The fraternity division is split in two leagues. The National League includes: SN, SPE, KS, LCA, TC, KA, SAE. The American League includes: PDT, DTD, PKP, TEP, ATO, SC, PBT.

Each team in each league will play all teams in their with every other team, with the high two teams in each league meeting April 9-12 in a round robin tourney for the title.

The Dorm league is composed of Magnolia Hall, Senior Hall, Tomoka House and Pensacola. That league got under way last night.

The Independent League includes Methodists, Feds, Air Force and Baptists. At 6 tomorrow the Feds play Methodists.

Trainer Phil Berber has a thoroughbred named Bicarb. He feeds him dandelions.

CAGERS WIN

Jimmy Oler closed out a brilliant career with 34 points here last night, and Florida State's basketballers ended their season with an 80-75 triumph over Georgia. It was the 23rd straight home win for the Tribe

The Tribe's first scheduled game is March 16 against Furman here. Coach Litwhiler has not chosen a first team yet as there are some players such as Lee Corso, Tom Garcia, and Fred Twomey, who are still taking part in basketball and spring football.

According to Litwhiler these

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
ENDS WEDNESDAY "Picnic" William Holden Kim Novak THURSDAY - SATURDAY "Red Sundown" Rory Calhoun Martha Hyde Dean Jagger	ENDS TODAY "World In My Corner" Audie Murphy Barbara Rush STARTS WEDNESDAY "All That Heaven Allows" Jane Wyman Rock Hudson
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY "Blackboard Jungle" Glenn Ford, Anne Francis —also— "Yellow Mountain" Lex Barker, Marla Powers	TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY "Timberjack" Sterling Hayden Vera Ralston THURSDAY - SATUSDAY "Kentucky Rifle" Chill Wills —also— "Jungle Man-Eaters" Johnny Weissmuller
RITZ Tues.-Wed. Thurs.-Sat	"HUNDRED HOUR HUNT" Anthony Steel "INTIMATE RELATIONS" Harold Warrender, Marian Spencer

FSU Gym Team Preps For SIGC

The South's biggest gymnastic meet will be held at Florida State University Saturday at the East campus gym, at 8 p.m.

Outstanding gymnasts from throughout the South will be on hand to compete in the Seventh Annual Southern Intercollegiate Gymnastics Championships.

Five outstanding universities from throughout Dixie, which include North Carolina and Georgia Tech, will be out to halt the Seminoles six year domination of the meet.

According to Coach Hartley Price, it will be an interesting meet with plenty of competition.

Looking for first places in their respective events will be the defending champion in the parallel bars, Joe Taylor and Joe Guzic, Don Priaeer on the trampoline, Rafael Lecunoa on the Side Horse.

Jamie Ashmore in Free Exercise, Ronny Amster on the Horizontal Bar, Laird Anderson and Jim Hanks in the Rope Climb. However, Anderson will be bothered considerably by a sore finger.

The judges for the meet will be Jack Miles, Don Holder, Chick Cico, Jim Tanaka and Mirasiov Ceska.

Tonight there will be an intrasquad gymnastic meet between the N. C. A. A. team, and a team composed of the graduate students and Freshmen, featuring Jack Miles, Don Holder and Chick Cico.

Seminole —Shorts—

Coach Keith Pitchford is having a round-robin tourney amongst his frosh. Right now Lex Hester is top man, Shurrett, number two, and Charles Norris, Linser, third. Fourth spot is still open.

Florida State is fast making a name for itself in minor sports. In the last seven years, the Seminoles have posted 287 wins against 141 losses in so-called "minor sports."

Seminole baseball teams have one of the most enviable records of any of the school's athletic squads. The Tribe diamond men have never had a losing season.

Miss Long's tracksters will host Mississippi Southern on March 24 in the first track meet in Tallahassee.

Co-Ed Corner

by Juanita Jacob

Sports Day, held Saturday, proved to be a huge success, even though some of the activities could not be carried out, because of rain.

All schools scheduled to attend were present except Webber College. Some of the schools started arriving Friday afternoon. They stayed in the dormitories and at the Reservation.

Friday night, a special performance of the Tarpon Show was put on for the women from the colleges.

Saturday morning was begun by registration followed by basketball, volleyball and table tennis. Then at 12:30, luncheon was served in the Suwannee Room.

Each college put on a skit of some kind.

After lunch, everyone returned to the gym to continue with the rest of the activities.

The Sports Day ended at about 4 and some of the college started back home. A few waited until late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

Intramural basketball found Alpha Gams beating Alpha Chi Omega, Chi Omega defeating Kappa Delta and Sigma Kappa victorious over Zeta Tau Alpha.

Also, Alpha Xi Delta beat Delta, Delta, Delta Thursday, Delta Zeta beat Gamma Phi Beta, BSU defeated Jennie Murphree, and Florida was victorious over Broward.

Golfers Debut; Blank Stetson

The Seminole linksmen opened the golf season here Saturday, showing the same form that netted them a classy 10-1 record last year, as they shut out Stetson, 27-0.

Jack Veghte, who had the lowest over all average last year, finished his nine holes true to form with a one under par 71 to lead the Seminole scoring.

FSU Sophomore Billy Shalton rapped on the 18 to post a par 72, while John "Bunk" Berry, a Tallahassee boy, came in with a 73, Bobby Dunn posted a 74, and Harry Shoemaker a 79.

Thursday the team leaves for Ocala to compete in the State Intercollegiate Tournament, meeting the state's top teams.

The host University of Florida is the defending champion, and last year the Seminoles entered two teams and finished fifth and sixth.

The baseball glove FSU's head baseball coach Danny Litwhiler used while setting the National and Major League record of 187 consecutive games without an error is in baseball's "Hall of Fame" at Cooperstown, N. Y.

In Grecian Times

Davis Wins $250 Prize Of Delta Zeta Scholarship

Harriet Davis, former Panhellenic president, has been elected to receive a $250 scholarship from the National Delta Zeta sorority.

The senior chemistry major was awarded the yearly scholarship for her outstanding leadership, scholarship and participation in activities.

Newly elected officers of Delta Zeta are Martha Mizell, president; Betty Ann Pool, first vice-president; Kate Ramsey, second vice-president; June Hamilton, recording secretary; Reba Reinwinkel, corresponding secretary; Jane Rogers, panhellenic delegate; Carol Lee Johnson, treasurer, and Evelyn Nettles, chaplain.

At the Initiation Banquet Rosemary Stamback was presented the Scholarship award. Marty Bunker, "Most Devoted," and Jean Thompson, "Best All Round."

Another banquet was held at the Floridan Hotel in honor of new pledges Carol Rule, Patsy Lemons, Ann Duncan, Willa Shmidt, Sara Hobbs and June Rodgers.

The Alpha Gams initiated 18 in services held last Thursday. Dot Job and Sally Lou Carlson. Initiated first semester were honored with the new members at the annual Rose Banquet.

Evelyn Moll, past holder of the chapter scholarship plaque, awarded it to Sylvia Pearson who made the highest average of the pledge class. June Grant was presented the Most Outstanding Pledge Award by Sue Brunson.

Alpha Gam honorees are Dot Job, finalist in the Miss FSU contest ... Nell Davis, new president of the Recreation Club and dance chairman of Cotillion ... Carmine Rauseri, just tapped by Kappa Delta Pi ... Evelyn Moll, president of the Wesley Foundation, elected president of the Interfaith Student Council.

Alums of Phi Mu planted two dogwood trees this week in remembrance of Founders Ann Tucker and Mrs Arma Patterson. There was a short dedication service and a breakfast held to celebrate the Phi Mu founding on March 4, 1852.

Sigma Kappas have among their fold "Miss Junior Chamber of Commerce," Nancy Singleton, who was given the honor this week.

36 officers of the Sigma Kaps are Sara Atkinson, president, Chat-line Weeks, first vice-president, Nancy Buchan, second vice-president; Betty Benton, treasurer; Barbara Phelps, recording secretary, Marjorie Morland, corresponding secretary, and Ann Markham, panhellenic representative.

Dr. Kilman of the Sociology Department was guest speaker at a banquet Tuesday night honoring Zeta Tau Alpha pledges.

Pledges have elected Dean OO'Sullivan as president; Mary Skinner Harris, vice-president; Linda Bean, are-treasurer, and Rubye Combs, junior panhellenic representative.

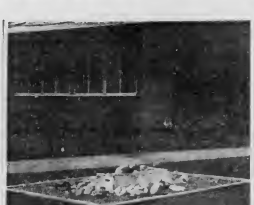
Kappa Delta Pi lists ZTAs Kitty Dede, Lucy Counell and Mary Prim Carithers among its new members.

The Kappa Alpha Thetas and the Theta Chis toured Tallahassee the other night—on a scavenger hunt. The excursion ended at the Theta house where refreshments were served. KAT initiated 18 recently. Featured in the Tarpon production were Perry Dunn and Jane Walker, Nellie Manda and Carolyn Brown appeared in the Theater Dance production.

The Fi Phis lone new pledge, Nancy Person, was honored at a banquet after the pledging service. Twenty-one have exchanged their arrowheads for the Fi Phi arrow. Cynthia Lawrence was named the Outstanding Pledge of the Year at initiation services.

Mermaids in the Fi Phi chapter are Glenda Sherrill, Nan Chamberlain, Eleanor Sweatt, Marion Davis, and Ramelle Ellis. They appeared in the Tarpon Show.

Ruth Ann Whittle, Adrian Ann Whittle, Betty Lou Whittle, Katy Lindley, Charlotte and Phyllis Paines and Gail Handshaw are taking part in Circus activities. Faye Anthony and Jean Hayden were named finalists in the Miss FSU contest.



Gamma Phi Betas Scholarship Trophy award was given to Barbara Nesselrod. The Outstanding Pledge award was given to Sylvia Smith and Kathryn Sanches.

Phi Kappa Tau, Paul Bishop was given the Cyd P. Deed Scholarship award as the Outstanding Pledge of the Year. New members are Charlie Savage, Phil Kemblowski, Joe Assad, Ira Wilson, Buddy Vause, Paul Bishop and Doo Sebree.

Ray Hemann will serve his second term as Phi Tau prexy. Buddy Vause, is vice-president; Phil Kenblowski, secretary, Joe Masci, treasurer; and Paul Bishop, pledgemaster.

Pledge Class Officers are Tom Woods, president; Stup Mourer, vice-president; Chuck Babcock, sec-treasurer; George Young, sgt-at-arms, and Sonny Shaw, social chairman.

Leaving to intern are Boe Sharpless ,Pensacola ; Derwyn McElroy ,Panama City;, and Jim Hogan ,Daytona Beach.

A Low Blow—Shattered remains pictured above are all that remains of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Lion after it lost an encounter Saturday night with a low-flying jeep driven by a high-flying driver. Jeep hit the lion at 30 M.P.H.

Fox Named Editor Of Science Journal

Dr. Sidney W. Fox, director of the Florida State University's Oceanographic Institute, has recently been named associate editor of the bimonthly acteottic journal, Chemical Reviews.

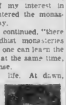
The appointment follows extensive editorial referee experience of Dr. Fox, and was approved by the board of directors of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Fox will be responsible for reviews of chemistry in the biological area. He is in correspondence with possible authors from the field of oceanography, in which research is increasingly chemical.

Was Buddhist Monk

Student Explains Monastery Days

By BOB DOLLISON



Today, Maung Htay Aung is a meteorology graduate student at FSU, but for 6 years during the last war he was a monk in a Buddhist monastery in Mandalay, Burma.

Describing this change of events, he explained:

"In 1942, when I was 16, the Japanese invaded Burma and took over all the schools in the country. To avoid these schools, and because of my interest in philosophy, I entered the monastery at Mandalay.

"You are," he continued, "there are many Buddhist monasteries in Burma where one can learn the philosophy and, at the same time, live at no expense.

It is a good life. At dawn, every morning, the monks walk into town and are given food by the people. The townspeople are glad to feed them since they feel that the monks are studying ways for them to live better lives, which is true.

Htay

These holy men have high esteem in the Burmese society. They are continually sought after by the people for advice and help on all subjects. Their visits are always welcomed by the people."

Explains Position

Explaining the student monk's position, Htay said, "During the morning, classes in the various levels of Buddhism are attended by the students. They also must study Palee, the classic language of Burma, in which most of the philosophy books are written.

There is plenty of time during the afternoon, though, for a student to study in other fields than philosophy. I was interested in mathematics and physics, so after leaving the monastery in 1948, I obtained a degree in physics at Rangoon University."

Gets Scholarship

After graduation Htay was awarded a four-year scholarship by the Burmese government to study meteorology in the United States.

Last summer he motored through Northern and Western United States with two other foreign students. He commented that the "United States sure has some beautiful scenery!" And then added, "It's nearly as nice as Burma."

FSU Job Opportunities

For further information, see office of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 303 Westcott.

Today:

ATLAS AUTO FINANCE
Wanted, any business major or liberal arts.

Today

KOLIN AIR FORCE BASE
Wanted, Math, Physics.

Thursday

TRAVELERS INSURANCE CO.
Wanted: any major.

Thursday

SPERRY GYROSCOPE
Wahted: Physicist, Math, Chemistry.

In The Wings

(Continued From Page 3)

was for the most part functional—the word "functional" implying that it is interdependent with the dance and not intended as sole material. The music with a "function" which is totally lacking in thematic ideas, has no distinguishing characteristic other than being a justification for a series of dance movements.

"The Female Approach" music was four miniatures by Leon Bruch which more than adequately fulfilled such a capacity. His "Early to Bedlam" was overstamped three bounds and of itself gave a fitting finale to the dance program. David Wardell Steinman remained his usual competent self in his pseudo-functional ears and Roan Edwards, "Man Alone" Prometheus himself with a very promising work of much melodic beauty.

And lastly this reviewer gives a very short but effusive recognition to Dr. Lynn Orr's sensitive handling of Ialhtra Abe and Hay's highly original presence and to Carolyn Brown and Franklin Adams, the readers.

garnet & gold
NOW OPEN
UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT
Free Delivery 5 - 10 p.m.
Phone 2-2892

FOR STUDY AIDS---
GO TO BILL'S BOOK STORE
We Have
- Accounting, Science, and Language Verb Wheels
- Vis-Ed Cards
- Data Guides
- Anchor and Vintage Series
- Mentor and Pocket Fiction
- Penguin and Pelican Books
- Complete Stock of College Outlines and Modern Library Books

—At Prices You Can Afford—
BILL'S BOOK STORE

SENIORS!
May 28
Graduates
(Especially the interns who leave campus March 12)
Order
Graduation Announcements
Caps and Gowns
NOW!
UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
"In the Student Center"

GENUINE ENGRAVED Wedding Announcements
SAMPLES MAILED UPON REQUEST
FREE
FINEST QUALITY
$7.95 FOR 50 TO EACH
FREE Embossed Address on Envelopes in Gold or Silver
FREE Tailored Sample Book of Styles, Sizes & Wordings
FR 3-3166
Midmi Engraving Co.
417 N. 17th ST. ● MIAMI, FLORIDA

RECORDS
Jass, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S
MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

The Department of Speech announces
"Ah, Wilderness"
by
Eugene O'Neill
March 9, 10, 12, 13
Conradi Theater
8:15 p.m.
Tickets:
Students: 40c and activity stub No. 2
General Admission: 75c
Box Office opens Wednesday, March 7 in Westcott Ticket Booth
ALL SEATS RESERVED

Tasty FOODS
The Mecca
COME OVER NOW—
LUNCH AT THE MECCA

PACKS MORE PLEASURE
because it's More Perfectly Packed!
Satisfy Yourself with a Milder, Better-Tasting smoke—packed for more pleasure by exclusive Accu-Ray
The more perfectly packed your cigarette, the more pleasure it gives . . . and Accu-Ray packs Chesterfield far more perfectly.
To the touch . . . to the taste, an Accu-Ray Chesterfield satisfies the more . . . burns more evenly, smokes much smoother.
Firm and pleasing to the lips . . . mild yet deeply satisfying to the taste—Chesterfield alone is pleasure-packed by Accu-Ray.
CHESTERFIELD
MILD, YET THEY Satisfy!

add Spice to your life!
Old Spice
SMOOTH SHAVE
Shaving at its best! OLD SPICE SMOOTH SHAVE in the pressurized container . . . gives a rich, velvety lather . . . remains firm and moist throughout your shave. And a unique, lubricating formula soothes your skin. For top performance and speed—make your next shave OLD SPICE SMOOTH SHAVE.
SHULTON New York ● Toronto

"Coca-Cola does something for you, doesn't it."
You feel so new and fresh and good—all over—when you pause for Coca-Cola. It's sparkling with quick refreshment . . . and it's so pure and wholesome —naturally friendly to your figure. Let it do things—good things—for you.
DRINK Coca-Cola
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
THE TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.
"Coke" is a registered trade mark
© 1956 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
TALLAHASSEE, FLA.

Surprised Writer Describes Passage Of Reapportionment Bill

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

Just before 6 p.m. Wednesday I witnessed what I thought would be more unattainable than a miracle. Student Senate passed a bill changing its entire nature—its own entire composition. Hereafter, Senators will be elected from dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses, other living areas, and the day students, as well as from classes.

Remember Shock

As the Florida Flambeau's regular Senate reporter, I can remember the shocked outcries that first greeted this suggestion. They were heard well over a year ago. The objections were too numerous to remember. Among them: "Too large a Senate", "Impossible for Senators to work together within a precinct", "things are fine as they are now," "you'd have to have too many elections", "why bother?" and others of that ilk.

I can remember Senate's hopeless frustration as a majority voted for reapportionment last year but was unable to get the necessary two-thirds majority in favor of a change.

All last year's Senate did was to pass a constitutional amendment, which the student body rubber-stamped, giving itself the power to reapportion itself by the same two-thirds vote.

Nobody thought that would ever happen, or that Senate, without having to submit reapportionmeln to the Student Body, would ever reach a good system.

We Were Wrong

But we were wrong. They did.

Even until two months ago Senators were about as much in agreement with each other as Webster and Havne were before the Civil War, as Ike and Adlai are today, and as William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow were at the Scopes trial.

Then a few Senators who had been pushing for a system of reapportionment that would instill some student interest into student government, that would plant the system at the "grass roots," realized just what the problem was.

Nobody could understand what his fellow senators meant when they discussed "reapportionment." Nobody could comprehend what the other fellow's objections were.

Proposed Procedure

So Senator Art Moore proposed a parliamentary procedure known as "committee of the whole," in which the discussion was informal but to the point. Each time an issue of controversy arose, it was "settled" by a vote of indication. These votes of indication were not to be binding.

But in removing the misunderstandings they proved themselves to be binding. For the bill that was passed Wednesday incorporated most of those "votes of indication" just as they were taken.

This reapportionment issue has been somewhat of a personal one for me, as a Flambeau columnist. I've pushed it for two years, but I also had to cover the Senate,

(Continued on Page 6)

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

'AH, WILDERNESS'
Opens Tonight
(see page 3)

Vol. XLI, No. 36 #37

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

Friday, March 9, 1956

Travel Service Established For Easter Holiday

Student Bureau Begins Operating Next Week; Will Furnish Facts

A Student Travel Service will begin operation next week for the Easter holidays, according to Bob Elling, Secretary of Student Welfare.

A student assistant, Ruth Johnson, has been appointed to staff the service from 2 to 5 p. m. Mondays through Fridays beginning next Wednesday, he said.

Its purpose, organized by a committee under Pat Hilton who actually serve as a specific travel information exchange," Elling announced.

Students wishing rides and those seeking rides may call extension 2191. Geographical posa will be placed on maps of Florida, Georgia, Alabama, and the United States, representing index cards of those students using the service, indicating for what destinations rides are sought and where they are available.

Elling said the service will be in operation at first only for the Easter holidays within some the end of this month. Later on it may be extended to conventions and weekends.

"The benefits of such a service should certainly outweigh the cost," student assistant will bring, Elling declared. "The big benefit will come from the fact that students are receiving an actual service for their money."

Carothers Asks Band Requests For Homecoming

Organizations in next year's Homecoming Dance band announcements have prompted a request for suggestions.

A question has been raised as to what band students would like to be signed for next year's Homecoming, according to Gold Key President Graham Carothers.

He said the Gold Key president is always in charge of securing a band.

Since the Gold Key president will not be responsible for the dance will not be elected until the end of the year, work cannot be on the dance until September, said Carothers.

Consequently, he explained, the president will have difficulty in making a name band in the year time before the dance. Carothers said the case in the past, he explained.

Carothers continued that if such a jurgon now, and students were contacting big name bands, they will have a better chance of getting who we want." He said he will take charge of this arrangement if the students make their wishes known.

Carothers asked for letters stating dance band preference and general policy of the dance. They should be addressed to him in Secretary of Finance, Student Government, Campus Mail, he stated.

Another question which has come up said Carothers, is whether students want one large centralized dance or several smaller ones. These would be individual fraternity and sorority affairs he said.

One large dance will be possible next year, according to Bob Elling of Student Welfare. He said the Men's Gymnasium will be completed by next fall, giving plenty of room for a large dance.

Carothers requested that students who write about what band to obtain also state which arrangement they prefer.

Millner Named New President Of Democrats

Guy Millner has been elected President of the Young Democratic Club succeeding Dorothy Cooper.

Millner served as secretary last year.

According to the new executive the group has set its goal high for the year.

This, he announced recently, will include a survey of student preference for president and Florida governor.

Millner said the local group will cooperate with others to form national and state-wide candidates to the campus for speeches. A membership drive is planned, he added.

"Participation in the Young Democrats will be very beneficial to persons interested in politics and in meeting people," he asserted.

Smoke Signals May Be Out Next Tuesday

Smoke Signals, campus humor magazine, should be issued next Tuesday, if it can be done now, said editor Don Heidel.

He said the magazine will feature Smoke Signals Queen Linda Jones and will use color inside pages for the first time.

Smoke Signals, whose last issue is around the Board of Publications into putting the magazine on probation for the year, is in a turmoil in a variety of materials to suit the tastes and sensibilities of most of the students," Heidel said.

Only two issues will be printed this semester because of high printing costs. Heidel revealed. The last issue, to come late in April, will feature short story and student poetry contest winners.

Through March 25

Gallery Shows 'New Talent'

"New Talent USA" is the new art exhibit that is now being shown in the University Art Gallery through March 25.

The exhibition is the work of promising young American painters and sculptors selected by museum directors and critics throughout the United States and sent on a national tour by the American Federation of Art.

Thirty paintings are featured varying from realistic to abstract types of art. One charcoal work is being shown with the rest being oils.

There are almost as many techniques of painting as there are painters. Many of the works show the influences older painters have had upon the newer ones in the same field.

Four pieces of sculpture are also on exhibition. Two of these are of welded steel while brass and copper are the components of the others.

The museum and gallery are open daily from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Saturdays from 8 to 12 a.m. and on Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

DID YOU KNOW—The Florida Headquarters of the American Legion was notified Tuesday that an "subversive" flag was flying over Westcott? Turned out to be Confederate . . .

Senate Passes Bill To Redistrict Unanimous Vote Settles Old Issue

Student Senate, by a unanimous vote, re-apportioned itself Wednesday.

The action provides for representatives to be elected from living areas as well as from classes.

Wednesday's action was the culmination of prolonged discussion that has been going on since the semester began. Alteration of the student government election system was first proposed a little less than two years ago.

In essence, the bill will provide for:

Two men and two women, elected from each class in the spring.

Two men and two women, elected from the freshman class at large, in the fall.

Two representatives of day students carrying the minimum regular academic load.

Representatives elected from the following dormitories: Jennie Murphree, Reynolds, Brown and Bryan combined, Gilchrist, Landis, Cawthon, Florida, two from West Hall, Semor, and Magnolia.

One representative will be elected from married students living on West Campus.

Other Areas

Other areas will be grouped as follows:

1. Delta Sigma Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Lambda Chi Alpha, Theta Chi, Phi Delta Theta, and Phi Kappa Tau.

2. Kappa Sigma, Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Kappa Psi, Pi Mu, Delta Zeta, Chi Omega, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, and Sigma Chi.

3. Kappa Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, Co-operative Living House, Pi Kappa Phi, Pi Beta Phi, Zeta Tau Alpha, Gamma Phi Beta, Tau Epsilon Phi and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

4. Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Alpha, Prince Murat, and Mabry Heights.

5. Sigma Kappa, Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta and Alpha Gamma Delta.

Treasurer Set

The time of the fall elections for the living area representatives is tentatively set for the 3rd and 4th Tuesdays after Orientation Week.

They would be held at the same time as Freshmen elections. Because freshmen elections are without dissenting votes in both the bill and the subsequent constitutional amendment, however.

The latter must be voted upon by the student body in the spring elections. Traditionally, amendments issuing from the Senate are almost invariably passed.

A minor change in the campus

(Continued On Page 8)

Elections To Fill Class Vacancies

★ ★ ★ ★

Demands that vacant class senatorial seats be filled by elections rather than appointment came up again in Senate Wednesday.

This time, unlike previous occasions, debate was short and the proposal received Senate approval.

The sudden action came during debate on reapportionment.

Senator Jim E Monre proposed the alteration as part of the reapportionment bill. It was included in that bill.

Jimmy Jeanes, vice-president who presides over the Senate, asserted the provision would make the bill unconstitutional. The Constitution provides for the Student Body President to appoint replacement senators with the consent of the Senate.

Will Submit Amendment

Moore replied that he would introduce the required amendment.

Senator Greta Sims and others fought the proposal at first. She asserted it would "encroach on the voting power of students."

They would be held at the same time as Freshmen elections. Because freshmen elections are without dissenting votes in both the bill and the subsequent constitutional amendment, however.

The latter must be voted upon by the student body in the spring elections. Traditionally, amendments issuing from the Senate are almost invariably passed.

A minor change in the campus

(Continued On Page 8)

Flambeau photo Charlie Rose

Hitting The Drink—Fraternity members are caught in action during one of the many "fishing expeditions" to Westcott Fountain. Note artful pose of one as he begins slow descension into water.

Ragunas Dropped From Grid Staff

Backfield coach Vince Ragunas has been dropped from the football coaching staff as of this week, head gridiron coach Tom Nugent told the Florida Flambeau Wednesday night.

Nugent said that Coach Ragunas has been re-assigned to another department of physical education by the directors and would be retained on the physical education staff.

The Red head football coach declined to comment further on Ragunas' dismissal. He was reported "dropped like a load of lead" by many concerning an incident in the school cafeteria line.

Students May File Requests For Positions

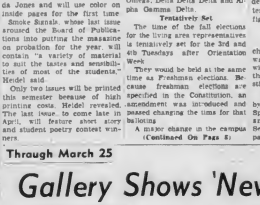
Men interested in applying for housefellow positions during the summer and Fall semesters may do so now, said Dean of Men James Carr said yesterday.

Applicants may be filled out at the office of Vincent Bullock, Jr. both graduate and undergraduate students, he said. Only qualifications are a "C" average and Sophomore or above standing. Requests must be turned in by March 30.

Housefellows receive their dormitory room free of charge and get a small monthly salary, Carr stated. "Those who are familiar with the work a housefellow does feel it is one of the most desirable student assistant positions on campus," he said.

Directly Responsible

Housefellows act as direct representatives of the Dean of Men within their dormitories, Carr continued. "The training and experience they get in their positions are very helpful after graduation from college."



Carr said his office does not know at this time exactly how many positions will be open, "but there will be a few because some of the present ones are graduating." The total number of house fellows is 18, he noted, ten in West Hall and four each in Magnolia and Senior Halls.

Duties Listed

He added that wide participation in extra-curricular activities is not necessary to become a housefellow, but "one who has such may have better qualifications."

DID YOU KNOW—Scattered rumors drifted around campus this week that the Phi Delts and the Oasis are not off-limits to women students . . . no confirmation has been offered. . . .

DID YOU KNOW — President Campbell told a Tallahassee group yesterday that FSU students have been and will probably continue to be, turned away for lack of housing.

Flambeau photo Charlie Rose

Hang It All—Pamela Duke and Frankie Adams are shown hanging a picture for current exhibition in Art Gallery, "New Talent, U.S.A."

Talent Night To Replace Sandspur

No Suitable Script

Plans for an original talent night to replace the annual Sandspur production are underway.

Jack Rogers, chairman of the Sandspur group, announced that because no suitable script had been turned in for the student production, the talent night would be substituted.

Entries would be sponsored in five categories: fraternities, sororities, men's residence halls, women's residence hall, and student organizations.

Included in the last category are church groups, honoraries, professional fraternities, etc.

The winning entrant in each category would bea warded one $100 scholarship.

One-act skit plays, musical selections, poetry, dance numbers and short stories may be submitted but all work must be original, emphasized Rogers.

Preliminary try-outs for the material will be held on April 3 with the finals April 5 and 7 in Westcott. The finals are open to everyone, with preliminaries closed.

No Sandspur dance will be held this year, revealed Rogers due to an inability to get a name band and a lack of funds.

Entries must be sent to Jack Rogers, box 3062, before March 26.

He explained that each group may enter only one category.

If a group wins one of the scholarships the sponsor will determine the despostion of the scholarship.

Entrants must supply scenery, props and music for their own numbers, he said.

Segregation Poll Deadline Is Extended

The deadline for returning the Board of Control's segregation opinion questionnaire has been postponed to March 15.

This, said Paul Skelton, assistant business manager of the Board, is the "absolute deadline" He said the changes from the original date of March 5 was made because University of Florida students had had their questionnaires only a week.

As of Tuesday, 30 and 40 of the 57,322 forms mailed to students, parents, alumni, and faculty members of the three state university systems had been returned.

FSU said a total of 8 faculty members have compiled the best average so far, with an 85 percent return. Skelton said.

FSU students have returned 25 percent of theirs with U of F students running about 19 percent.

White parents have compiled a 48 percent return; alumni, 40 percent. The overall Negro return only 20 percent, students in the leading group with a 50 percent reply, Skelton said.

"We think the return has been exceptional and the Board of Control appreciates the cooperation it has received," Skelton said.

A response of over 60 percent in a direct-mail survey of this type ha termed "very unusual."

Frosh Women Favor Policy Requiring 1.8

By BETTY OTEY
and GINGER CONNOR

Freshman women seem to be definitely in favor of a new University regulation requiring a 1.8 average for two semesters, to be put in effect next year.

A cross-section poll taken in the four freshmen women's dorms revealed as 87 out of 45 expressed favor of a new rule which works as follows: If a freshman does not have a 1.8 average under the present system by the end of his second semester, he will have only one more semester to compile an overall 1.8. If he does not succeed, suspension will follow.

In Favor

Five students were in favor of a definite requirement but felt that the 1.8 should be lowered to 1.5. Two students were completely against the idea of any regulation and one student thought that the requirement should be higher.

Those consenting in favor of the plan speculated that it would get a goal for students who tend to be "study-lazy" and that the academic rating of FSU would be raised considerably. The general opinion is that freshmen are ignorant by the end of their first semester and the system would be a definite means of elimination of those who weren't making an effort.

Benefit Of Doubt

Those against the regulation and those who felt that the 1.8 requirement should be lowered said that the student should be given the benefit of the doubt because of the adjustment period necessary during th freshmen year. A straight D average should be sufficient, they explained

The new regulation will replace present rules which state that any student other than a first semester freshman who fails more than half his work, will be liable for suspension.

Bill To Tighten Laws On Traffic Read In Senate

A bill that would stiffen campus traffic regulations was among new legislation introduced in Student Senate Wednesday.

A measure drawn up by Karl Edwards would impose a $5 fine on any faculty, staff, or student vehicle not showing a registration sticker within a week after being brought on campus.

A sixth traffic violation in one year would cause the loss of campus driving privileges until midpoint of the following semester at which time they could be recovered only after consultations with the Dean of Men or Dean of Women.

Other provisions would increase the maximum and minimum fines to be charged an offender who does not pay the statutory fine for a traffic offense within 48 hours.

Set Money Aside

Edwards introduced a bill to set aside $500 yearly for the construction of a swimming pool at The Reservation. University Camp on Lake Bradford, which is dry at present.

The bill suggests that the state Legislature should be approached for additional funds.

Senate postponed action pending investigation of posting and button campaign posters and manners.

Refers Appointments

Vice-president Jimmy Jeanes presided during Senate meeting following appointments made by Student Body President Corlie Moore Jr., to the elections and appointments committee:

Russell Allen Walsh to the Board of Publications, replacing Sam Ray Miller who is graduating. Liz Skinner junior member of

(Continued On Page 8)

Two Debaters Represent FSU At Pittsburgh

Tom Woods and Arnold Greenfield will represent Florida State in a series of audience debates with the University of Pittsburgh.

The debates will be presented on a week long basis with each club, and television audiences in Pittsburgh and Pittsburgh.

Monday afternoon, the first day of debating, they will debate Pittsburgh's college of Pittsburgh on the Outmoded Annual Appropriation. The negative debaters will be on the question "Should the Federal Government cease all military and economic aid to Foreign Nations?"

The series is sponsored by the Kennamertal Foundation and the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette. One debate will be televised on the metropolitan Pittsburgh Educational Television Station. The men will debate both sides of the question.

Woods, a senior majoring in Public Administration, has debated for Florida State for four years and has an outstanding record in debating throughout the southeast, and is the 1955 Alpha National Debate Fraternity Tournaments. Woods also serves as Student Body Attorney General.

Arnold Greenfield, a sophomore in Political Science and Philosophy, has debated for Florida State for two years. He won first place in the All-Southern Debate Tournament in 1955, and is an associate Attorney General.

This is the fourth of the audience series held this year by Pittsburgh. Pravios teams who have debated in this series have been Princeton, Fordham, and Southern California. Florida State is the first Florida School to be invited to participate in the series 25 year history.

Pittsburgh plans to visit 35 schools in this series with Florida State Professor Robert Newman, Pittsburgh Debate Coach has estimated that a total of 28 000 people will hear the debates.

Sandspur Disappointment

The announcement of a forthcoming Talent Night by the Sandspur committee in this issue is definitely a disappointment. Too, it indicates complete failure of the original purposes of the annual production—that of encouraging originality and productive efforts on the part of the student body.

While the number of scripts entered in past Sandspur competition have been very few, only one (in entirety and with music) was submitted this year. We do not want to go on record as saying this script was a masterpiece, but we do want to suggest that it represented considerable time and effort on the part of its authors. It was completed in the same atmosphere in which others, only begun, were not — that is, the authors faced the same lack of time, extracurricular activities and class studies.

It was not the first time a contest of its kind had received little response. This was not the committee's fault. But we dislike hearing criticisms of the one show from persons who failed to complete their own, or objected to it on the grounds of a previous indiscretion by one of the authors.

"Sex" and "lack of content" were the main objections. We should like to point out first that Kismet, Guys and Dolls and South Pacific were not without "sex". Second, Zo-Im-Ba, last year's production, is indicative of good content, we give up. True, it was a fair production, not outstanding, but then we don't expect Broadway calibre to be born here.

We refer the readers to the author's defense of the script in his column on this page as regards its alleged vulgarity. Had his efforts to revise the few lines which might be termed "too risque" for a college audience, by some, were rejected.

The most noteworthy portion of any Sandspur production thus far has been its implementation of student talent in all resins of show production—the use of it, good, bad, or mediocre. The value of Sandspur should not necessarily lie in the box office receipts, but in the training it affords the students who participate. We do not say that just anything should be produced for this purpose, but we think a talent night will prove to be nothing more than a series of songsters and revised Pow-wow skits.

The committee is be commended for its efforts, the time and work they've put into keeping the Sandspur weekend on the calendar. The response of only one submitted script is undeniably disheartening, but we'd rather see no Sandspur this year at all, than to see the name and its significance applied to another vaudeville-type preview.

Guest Editorial

(Editor's Note: We couldn't resist reprinting the following from the New York Post.)

TIME AS KNOWS OLD TEACHERS

NOTHING LIKE IT — Anachilyus

We have just caught up with this entertaining season of Time Magazine's usual standard in viewing life in the time of Dwight Eisenhower as against comparable events in the age of Harry Truman. The analysis was prepared by Milton S. Gwirtzman, a former editor of the Harvard Crimson, and one who has appeared in the Guild Reporter and St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

To the continuing argument about the "one-party press," this seems a lively footnote.

Time, Apr. 2, 1951: "Never in U. S. history had the cost of living been so high. Between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15 the consumers' price index jumped 1.3 percent to 183.8."

Time: July 4, 1955: "After a considerable shift in domestic economy policy the U. S. is more prosperous than ever before." (The consumer price index was 192.3).

Time, Jan. 28, 1946: "Last week . . . the President was in his cronies' control. George E. Allen into the Board of Directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation."

And on Aug. 12, 1946: "George is all the more remarkable because, to the naked eye, he is a clown."

Time, Dec. 14, 1953: "Last week . . . the President charged quietly with . . . his companion George E. Allen, Washington lawyer and friend of Presidents."

Time, Jan. 21, 1952: "Pres. Truman flapped open his leather notebook and began in his usual flat tone to read his message to Congress on the State of the Union. When he finished 45 minutes later, he had made little news."

Time, Jan. 17, 1955: "Pres. Eisenhower's 1955 State of the Union speech had sweep and depth and although it was long, it elaborated the obvious, perhaps that was precisely what the nation needed."

Time, Mar. 14, 1952: "This week once again, the American taxpayer . . . was working over his income-tax return. He did not do the job happily . . . The blow, in full and crushing measure, lands each Mar. 15 on the chin of a fellow named John Q."

Time, Apr. 18, 1953: ". . . . 60 million Americans have by this week signed their 1954 income-tax forms . . . They did this, wonderful to tell, without riots or protest . . . It has become more and more unfashionable to criticize the income tax level."

Time, Mar. 20, 1950: "About Mar. 1, after a month back at his desk in the White House, President Truman will begin a slow trip westward . . . Officially, the trip will be billed as non-political, an ancient device whereby a President can pay his expenses with his $40,000-a-year allowance instead of from the party treasury."

Time, June 13, 1955: "From time to time, the President of the United States must travel around the country . . . Last week Pres. Eisenhower announced one of the most intensive tours since he assumed office . . . Destination: Paris, Pa. . . . Washington . . . San Francisco . . . and a speaking tour of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont."

Time, May 22, 1950: "In this best of all Democratic worlds he (Truman) had something for everybody. For the businessman, he had his new program of low-cost loan insurance and other aids to small business. For the farmer and consumer, he had the Brannan Plan." And on Jan. 18, 1954: "For everyone else, there was a whole grab-bag of social and economic promises."

Time, Jan. 31, 1954. "Through the departmentalized details of his (Eisenhower's) proposals runs a clear, consistent thread, joining each fact and each measure with the others. The thread is the general good. He has not thrown together a hodge-podge of group interests. Every proposal seems to be tested by the standards of the whole nation's interest."

Time, July 23, 1951: "The subject of Harry Truman's 1952 intentions came up again in his press conference last week. His President wasn't saying, just acting deliberately mysterious. It has become an unprofitable inquiry and a joke."

Time, Jan. 24, 1955: ". . . he (Eisenhower) has skillfully refused to commit himself on 1956." March 14, 1955: "At the President's news conference last week, his 1956 intentions seemed to be on the mind of almost every one of 188 reporters present . . . Even the questioners and the answerer were obviously enjoying the banter."

Letters To The Editor

(The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic, and provides this space for the expression of student opinion. In keeping with the policy of the paper, all letters must be in good taste. Unsigned letters will not be printed, and names will not be withheld except in cases where the reasons are deemed adequate by the editor. Letters should dont exceed 250 words, or 25 typewritten lines.)

Problem Extends Beyond South

TO THE EDITOR:

"The South Will Rise Again" ascribed Con Hunley in his latest epoem. It has to! "It can't go any lower!"

As a resident of Florida I object. By what claim does Mr. Horn make his statement? Because some people have taken a stand for segregation is no reason to condemn a whole region.

If the facts were checked and not just the headlines it would be found that the south as a whole is not against the negro, but is recognizing a situation, which has been with the union since its conception, as morally and legally wrong, and is going through a process of rectifying it. Time is not to say that the problem is a southern one alone.

In some cases, like a sick person receiving medicine, violent convulsions have resulted, like the riot which at the University of Alabama. In other cases most expressions have come about, for example the Rights of Interposition. However, what responsible southerner has condoned mob violence? And what backer of Interposition has said they believe in its validity?

I would like to suggest that before Mr. Horn writes further on the subject he read the Canons of Journalism and learn what the responsibility of a writer is to his reader.

JEROME BERNSTEIN

"One Vote Wins Elections"

TO THE STUDENTS:

Two of our most famous Presidents, Thomas Jefferson and John Quincy Adams were each elected by a single vote in the Electoral College over other Presidents. Rutherford Hayes was elected by a single vote. When his election was contested the matter was referred to an international commission.

Again Hayes was the winner by a single vote. The man who cast the deciding vote for him was a Democrat named Wormley, a lawyer who had been elected by the people. That one vote had been cast for him by a client who thought seriously ill insisted that he be taken to the polls for the balloting.

Friends, ONE VOTE DOES MAKE A DIFFERENCE. Be responsible for your preference —CAST YOUR BALLOT.

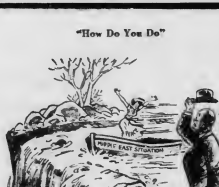
CURTIS "COOT" JACKSON
STATE PARTY

State Party Explains Self

TO FRESHMEN AND INTERESTED STUDENTS:

With the oncoming of elections the question is raised more and more often: "What is a campus political party and how does it operate?" Very briefly, this is the functioning of the campuses' newest party —the State Party: (1) The party was organized on the effort that more students might find a channel by which they may actively participate in Student Government.

(2) The party draws up a platform of matters that effect the entire Student Body which the Party sincerely believes is in the best interest of a majority involved.



(3) Because we are a positive party we vote against the completion of our platform so that the Students will benefit.

(4) The party out our functions the party holds conventions for nominating candidates, canvasses a handpicked campaign committee to run the campaign, establishs many many people working so that they influences of the Party. Student Government and in turn the Students will be as a whole, benefit.

If you are interested, let us urge you either as a potential candidate or a student concerned about the welfare of our campus, come to our caucus in the Senate Room, 210 Longmire, Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. All are welcome to come. The best way to learn about a party is from the inside.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE STATE PARTY

"How Do You Do"

Dear Mama Seminole

DEAR MAMA:

STUDENT GOVERNMENT in Friendly Village change shape fast. Clerk of Supreme Court graduate now one appointed. Two junior women elected to court last year. Now both replaced by other women appointed to positions. One man on court replaced too. Con Judiciary three men appointed to fill vacancies, some women replaced there too.

President's Cabinet also greatly reorganized. New Secretary of Student Welfare, new undersecretary of Honor, new undersecretary of Labor, new undersecretary of Organizations, and new Secretary of Events. Is bad time for cabinet members to resign, leave President Underpaid. Underpaid President, but one man never able to do whole job of this nature. Is too bad that people who accept job and responsibilities wait until almost end of year to resign. Too late now for new officials to really accomplish jobs, but one thing good. All new appointments excellent choices.

BIG COUNCIL finally pass bill on re-appointment. Is complex bill in some ways, but is better than present system. Too many senators under new bill, in one year or two years council will want to make self smaller again, they find it hard to do then. Failure of Council to give graduate class at least one senator big mistake. Maturity not much; council ought not even have graduate class senator . . . too much.

Two members of Debate team travel to Pittsburgh for week. Is heap compliment to members, to Team, and Friendly Village that them asked. Team members spend many hours work on preparation, many days from classes in order to be on team, and to make it one of best. Friendly Village should recognize team for prestige it brings to village.

Two maidens from their council picked to attend convention of women college students. My guess they chosen because them both run in big time for social events. Race should be vigorous one.

SISTER VILLAGE to south of us should proceed with caution. So far it seems they unable to compete effectively in minor athletic events. Them not heap careful, same thing be true in Big Sport. Gotta be better for their side if they do so soon; now they just give time for preparation. Them wise, them play soon as possible . . . but then no one ever accuse them of being wise.

As battle start to name dorms and buildings one man's name stand head and shoulders above all others for consideration. Me hope someone else nominate him, otherwise me write you so you can. Him serve state and university well for over decade.

LOVE ALL,
GEORGIE II

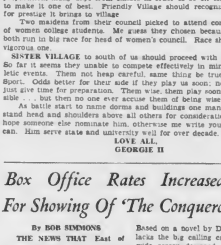
Box Office Rates Increased For Showing Of 'The Conqueror'

By BOB SIMMONS

THE NEWS THAT East of Eden is returning to Tallahassee at the Perry Highway Outdrive-In Sunday night will no doubt bring cries of delight from those who missed its first appearance here. East of Eden, based on the John Steinbeck novel and filmed in Cinemascope and color, is the story of a boy, played by the late James Dean, seeking his place in life.

This movie ranks among the most memorable of 1955. If you have not seen East of Eden—or even if you have—it is well worth the more fare.

The Conqueror which begins a special engagement at the Florida Theatre on Wednesday promises to be interesting. It must be something different to merit the increase in box office rates. Starring John Wayne and Susan Hayward, the movie is filmed in CinemaScope and color and involved a cost of six million dollars. This savage tale of barbaric people is said to be one of the most elaborate movies since Quo Vadis, the standard for grandeur productions in the last few years.



Something of interest, too, is the movie Camille scheduled Wednesday at the State Theatre. Based on a novel by Dumas, it tells of a big calling card of a wide screen designed to cover an area of 198 degrees of vision, so to make way for it. There is Greta Garbo, the legendary movie idol of the late 30's.

LIGHT AND COLORFUL are the words to describe My Sister Eileen. The happy tale of the girl who the fellows can't resist, is filled with laughs, quite a few of them supplied by Jack Lemmon, fast rising comedy star. The story center around part of a foreign service fellows Eileen hense is one of the most beautiful bits of choreography that I have seen in quite a while. The musical comedy shows Tuesday and Wednesday at the Perry Highway Outdoor Theatre.

Not to be overlooked is Lucy Gallant, showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capital Drive-In. Co-starring Jane Wyman and Charlton Heston, and filmed in Technicolor, this promises to be good entertainment, if you are interested in how a big working girl makes good in the clothing business.

All That Heaven Allows features the Jane Wyman-Rock Hudson combo of Magnificent

(Continued On Page 8)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

The Dissenter

Soda-Shoppers Get Air-'Conditioned'

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

WHEN AN AIR-CONDITIONER was installed in the Longmire Soda Shop students thought it a good thing. Time proved otherwise.

Wednesday, a student whom I will not identify because he still wants to eat there, won his battle with the Soda Shop air-conditioner.

The air-conditioner is a monster, a brute. When it is going full blast it can change even a Tallahassee summer day into winter. Half the tables in the room are placed so that they are within the breeze emitted by the monster. And anyone who sits down in the line must—or passes through it.

Even when it is not warm—often at times when it is rather cool—the Soda Shop management likes to have the air-conditioner turned on. They do not pass the pleasure on to students who see no necessity to carry overcoats on a balmy spring day. They are hired to the goose-pimples they create. Why?

"IT GETS HOT behind the counter."

This statement proves the point of philosophy of the University Food Services: The customer is incapable of being right.

Back to the story: The aforementioned student found out some time ago how to turn off the monster.

Unfortunately, the management also knew how to turn it back on—which they would do each time he committed his noble but vain act of protest.

Wednesday he not only turned it off—but changed another control.

So when the Soda Shop management turned the machine back on all it did was blow. It didn't blow cold.

And the management didn't seem to care.

I'VE BEEN HOLDING OFF for two years from writing about the Soda Shop because I like to eat there. If they were to throw me out I could no longer pursue my favorite pastime, the psychological and environmental study of the FSU music major. But patience is a human quality, of which there is only so much.

No one needs to be told of the service in neither rain nor snow nor flood nor fire . . . human pressuzon can motivate to greater speed. I've been up on it. I just get there at 7:18 a.m. before others are aware.

Actually, except for a few failings to which the regular clientele has become accustomed, the Soda Shop is a nice place to eat. The pastry—the cake, particularly, is the most generous measure to be gotten on campus, and don't stint on ice cream.

Music makes commute the largest part of the clientele, and because of this, modern music greatest cuture—the juke box—is an unnecessary presence. Any time a juke box is put in a Soda Shop's antiquated box—the risk of being lynched by the regulars is too great.

But I do think something could be done about the tables. At noontime when patronage is heaviest, no tables seem ever to be clear. Yet during the afternoon if a person looks away from the half-empty cup on his table he's apt to find it gone when his alances return from her to it.

It's a heck of a way to run a restaurant. But then, it isn't really a restaurant. It's the Soda Shop.

Of All Things

Flag Commemorates Rebel Victory

By OSCAR JOHNSON

FLORIDA STATE University was ruled over by a Confederate flag Tuesday.

The flag was flown over Westcott Building in place of the yankee banner which usually flies there. The Rebel flag was ceremonially placed there to commemorate a glorious event in the history of the Civil War.

In other words some years ago a bunch of Tallahassee boys withstood the northern aggression and kept the capital of the Florida capital—the only state capital not to fall to Union forces.

All in all, about all it amounted to was that some people fought out in the middle of the woods at a place named Natural Bridge and Tallahassee still set Tallahassee. The Rebels won—but nobody mentions the possibility that the Confederacy didn't even win the war.

Anyhow, it seems that the battle has become a small social event, and a delegation went out flying a flag over Westcott. Nobody's complaining about the Rebel flag, of course. It didn't block the view of anything and it didn't cause traffic. It didn't hit anybody. It didn't even look bad — the color scheme is actually quite pleasing to the eye, and goes well with the red brick Westcott Building. In fact, it probably went unnoticed by the majority of student here.

ANOTHER THING which caused considerably more controversy on campus than the above matter was an unassuming article published in the February Alumni Bulletin.

In The Wings

Symphonic Band Sets High Standards

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S Spring Concert by the Symphonic Band set high standards of performance for succeeding concerts. It was gratifying to note that everything on the program was played beautifully. The band has overcome the down transcriptions of orchestral pieces form the bulk of most band programs, since the literature is so limited.

The program opened with Hindesmith's Symphony for Band, a work that requires marvelous skill from the band. Under the baton of Hindesmith, the scoring throughout is thick and heavy—almost like a percussion ensemble. Conductor, Hindemith apparently did not approach this task with his usual care.

Competition-wise, a solo theme from the first movement which reappears strategically in the last movement is lifted part-and-parcel from the second movement of his own Clarinet Sonata. The contrapuntal devices with which he has surrounded this theme only add to the symphony—unless you happen to have a score to follow. However, there are some interesting brass sonorities in the second movement. In any rate, I was glad to have an opportunity of hearing the work again, and the band certainly played with spirit.

PERCY GRAINGER'S Lincolnshire Posy — a suite of folk tunes—was the second major work on the program. If one were to judge on the basis of consistency in writing and the effectiveness with which the ideas are sent forth, one would have to concede that Grainger's work is the best one on the program. In spite of formidable competition provided by Paul Hindemith and Ferdinand Grofe, Grainger knows his band inside out, and this is a boast which neither Hindemith nor Hanson can make yet.

Hanson's Chorale and Alleluia — beautiful — effective, for the most part, but the ending overdone. He should have stopped while he was ahead. The band, however, responded beautifully to Wittcomb's sensitive direction, as it thoroughout the concert.

I MUST BE indulged one bit of investigation. I did not know that Clair Wm. Yoder — "commercial" composer, whose "composition" Relax, was the only piece on the entire program of absolutely no musical value, I, as he had named it "Relax." I could not.

Chalmer Carter, the arranger for the Marching Chiefs, was represented by an expertly done medley of popular tunes. His treatment was fresh and inventive. Anne Verran sang the second song. He's a Tramp.

The concert ended with a traditional group of marches, well-played and evidently well-rehearsed. There was a wide range of dynamics, carefully controlled and used with effectiveness.

Columnist Defends Rejected Script

By WILJOHN.

THERE WILL BE a few who will read this column today and walk away laughing and saying something about "sour grapes." They will, in part, be right. However, the primary reason for this is to point out to the students that we will also be forced to read my column, that things are not quite right on yr olde campil.

Probably most of you know that every year we have a Sandspur Week-end, during which a show that was written and directed and produced entirely by students will be showing. The script contest is open to everyone on campus. Any student may send going to the student whose script is chosen.

This year, despite several fervent pleas for scripts on the part of the Sandspur committee and myself, there was but one script turned in. It was a very good one, according to the book and lyrics written by myself and the music composed by Bill Hamilton.

Under the rules of the organization, this was enough to assure the campus of having both a play and a week-end this year. However, Wiljohn had made an indiscretion in his writings earlier this year in connection with the Smoke Signals. The play was banned, almost before it was written and submitted.

We'd like to state that we composed some of the best music I have ever heard him turn out, and believe me we have heard lots of his music, for this show. Some of the best known musical and dramatic figures on campus had already expressed interest in taking part in the show. The script itself, would have been sufficient to lift Sandspur out of the doldrums it has always been relegated to. However, we've been told the script is too "raunchy," despite the fact that we will take a bow, hold hands, or even kiss each other, they get married before the play is over. And I'm not fooling myself in the least in saying really off-color after all that has happened in this country, I should be trying to call the name, not cloud it further.

SO HERE IS the lovely week-end planned for you, Sandspur Week-end and the SHOW. There will be five winners chosen and each will be awarded one $100.00 scholarship. This sounds very lovely on the surface but let's look at it this way. If West Hall wants to enter all two men's wing, or one dorm at it, there's it out, twelve make the props and scouting. They also, if the dorm wants to enter as a part, who gets the scholarship? Besides why they have to pay for their own scenery, props, costumes, etc., and they get no monetary return at all. Just a similar scholarship for that which Mob. Of course that's enough to supply with a textbook for a semester.

What do you think? Do you want to have your Sandspur Week-end cancelled? Do you other freshman talent mite? Would you ask your girl back home or your folks to come up to see that?

Speech Department's 'Ah, Wilderness' Opens Tonight

Amounts To Little

Controversy On Renaming Follows 'Bulletin' Article

By OSCAR JOHNSON

Controversy over re-naming West Hall and other buildings here has developed following publication of an article in the February issue of Bulletin dealing with the subject.

The article, entitled "WANT-Suggested Names For Buildings," printed pictures of the figures to be permanently named and asked for suggestions from the alumni.

Many were unmoved off by questions in the article that no building can bear the name of a living person; each be named for an individual is deceased." This was intended to mean that the name of West Hall, Florida new classroom building, library building, men's physical education building and home economics building must now be used for deceased persons.

Such things turned out, the result of Control's policy definitely does not require that buildings can be named only for individuals—for example, the History Building, Science Building, etc.

Students Criticize

West Hall, students criticize the re-naming move in seniority government meeting held shortly after distribution of the February Bulletin. Some seem said that the hall should not be allowed change the buildings by themselves and that they didn't see the name of West Hall could be changed as all.

The Florida Flambeau entered picture by printing an editorial in the March 6 issue stating students could participate in the naming process and asking for suggestions either of names or present ones.

Center of Dispute

The whole controversy over choosing seems to be centered around naming buildings individuals. But the official policy to be followed in Control "Policy and Procedure Manual of the Board of Control as follows:

The heads of the institutions shall recommend names for any new buildings constructed on the respective campuses to the Committee on Buildings and Grounds. The Committee will present the recommendations to the Board for final approval.

"For approval of the Board, no buildings should be dedicated to appropriate ceremony."

Must Compete

This it would appear that names submitted by the alumni must compete with suggestions by students with President Graves making the final decision of which should be submitted to the board committee.

The Alumni Bulletin's statement on naming could conceivably stem from a policy established by the University of above statement, even if it did not by the Board of Control apply also to Florida State University. Article 14 1954, that a previous policy adopted in 1948 "be adhered to by only naming buildings for individuals who were deceased or definitely retired."

The Board's policy manual, however, is dated October 19, 1955, taking precedence over the above statement, even if it did not by the Board of Control apply also to Florida State University. Article 14 1954, that a previous policy

Ed. Note: This boxed farm was first printed in the Alumni Bulletin. It is provided here for the use of students who wish to submit suggestions for permanent names of present and planned buildings. The permanent names may be the same as the temporary names now being used in some cases—such as West Hall, Geology Building, etc.

Please return the form to "THE FLORIDA FLAMBEAU, CAMPUS MAIL, FSU".)

COMPLETED BUILDINGS—May Be Dedicated Now.

(1) Classroom Building, the academic building north of Call Street and visible from the Highway.
Suggested Name: _____

(2) Geological Building, designed as a Geological Center to house University, State, and United States geological departments, across from Student Center. A second wing is to be added.
Suggested Name: _____

(3) Temporarily called West Hall, 10-story dormitory for men, west of Student Center, visible from Highway
Suggested Name: _____

(4) Temporarily called Florida Hall, 8-story dormitory for women, west of Landis Hall.
Suggested Name: _____

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

(1) Men's Physical Education Building to be among the most used buildings on campus because of its gymnasium capable of seating 4,000 for athletic events and 3,000 as an auditorium, right of Pensacola Street, near West Hall.
Suggested Name: _____

(2) Library Building, 4-floors, to provide for 800,000 volumes and the Library School, on Landis Green.
Suggested Name: _____

(3) Home Economics Building, to house the School of Home Economics and the State Home Demonstration offices, on Call Street, back of Jennie Murphree.
Suggested Name: _____

BEING PLANNED

(1) School of Education Building to be located between Geology Building and West Hall.
Suggested Name: _____

(2) School of Business Building to be located on Call Street east of Student Center about where the frame house used for the Nursery School now stands.
Suggested Name: _____

(3) Dormitory for Men, to be built next to the present Wet Hall.
Suggested Name: _____

(4) Dormitory for Women, to be built next to the present Florida Hall.
Suggested Name: _____

(Name) _____

(Class) _____

(Address) _____

A Friendly Pat—Marjorie Lindell and Eb Thomas during rehearsals for "Ah, Wilderness."

Seven Make Debut

Seven students will make their debuts with the Florida State University speech department tonight in Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness." Curtain time is 8:15.

Starring will be Don Johnson as Richard Miller, a 16-year-old boy who represents the young O'Neill.

The other newcomers to the Conrads stage are Carol Owen, and John Zilles, well known to music audiences, Lois Friedman, a transfer from Georgia Tech, Alan Klas; Faye Pierce, and John Schuessler.

Johnson plays a youth whose anarchistic leanings disturb his parents, who are not comforted by his reading preferences: Swinburne, Shaw, Wilde, and Omar Khayyam.

Carol Owen plays the girl next door, with whom the young rebel Miller falls in love.

Cast As Bartender

Zilles is cast as a bartender, Miss Friedman as the worldly Belle in Miller's life. Klas as a traveling salesman, Miss Pierce as a servant in the Miller household, and Schuessler as Miller's young brother.

Miller, a nine-year-old, is the only non-FSU person in the cast.

Familiar to Conrad theatergoers will be Eb Thomas and Marjorie Tindell, in the roles of Miller's parents. Klas as Paul Davis, as an elder brother, and Bill King, as a friend, who get in youth a date with the sophisticated woman played by Carol Owen. Ruth Harvard and David Wade, as a couple who have been "going steady" for 17 years; Walter Baric, as the father of the girl next door, and Nancy Cubbon, as the hero's kid sister.

Faculty Directs

Dr. Paul W. Daves directs the production, which will run tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday nights.

Tickets are on sale in the Westcott booth for activity stub number two and 60 cents, 75 cents to non-students.

Charles Reimer is set designer; Bill King, stage manager; George Goldstein and Carol Davis, lighting technicians. Members of the prop crew are Ethel Gifford, Jamie Conner, Lenny Dupee, and Vince Tata. Sue Polsomer, Gerald Curry, Sue Mahorner, Gerald Bernard, and Phil Johnson, assisted by the cast, are the stage crew.

Costumes have been designed by Mrs. June Berry.

Audiences Surprised

Premier audiences were surprised by "Ah, Wilderness," which, in showing an adolescent's encounter with the common problem, love, and in humorously depicting a small-town, ordinary family situation, revealed a little-unknown Eugene O'Neill.

Oh You Kid—Lois Friedman and Don Johnson get together during rehearsals for Speech Department play beginning tonight.

Dohnanyi, Kilenyi Perform Tonight

The first performance of the annual Dohnanyi-Kilenyi two-piano concert will take place tonight in Opperman Music Hall at 8:15.

To be repeated tomorrow night at the same time, the all-Brahms program will be played by Dr. Ernst von Dohnanyi and Edward Kilenyi, internationally known pianists and professors of music here.

Admission will be by ticket only, it was announced. There will be no charge, but only as many tickets for each night as there are seats will be issued at the Westcott Ticket Booth.

"Sonata in F Minor" will begin the concert, using the earlier of two piano versions of it as said to "reveal more of its power."

The ever-popular "Variations on a Theme of Haydn" is the main work on the program, which will conclude with "14 short 'Love Song' waltzes, played by the two artists on one piano.

Assisting on the waltzes will be a vocal quartet, made up of Mrs. Edith Kaup, soprano and Walter James, tenor, faculty members; Miss Phyllis DeKalb, graduate student, contralto and Robert Farrall, baritone.

The two pianists first met in 1926 on a concert our of Hungary, after which Kilenyi studied under Dohnanyi, who is best known as a composer. They have given a joint concert each year since Kilenyi joined his former teacher here three years ago.

Methodists To Attend Meet At Leesburg

Seventy-six students will leave for Leesburg this afternoon to attend the annual State Conference of the Methodist Student Movement.

Faculty advisors accompanying the students will be Dr. William Tait, Dr. Ralph Dreger and Dr. Lewis Killian. Evelyn Moll, president of the Wesley Foundation, who is also state president of the Methodist Student Movement, will preside at the conference.

Dr. Glenn Olds, Director of Religious Work at Cornell University, will be the platform speaker at the conference which ends Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Anne Liddell will speak at Fellowship this Sunday night at 8:15. Her topic will be "Christ, the Philosopher Teacher."

New committee chairmen appointed by the executive council include. Jan Kaminis, Visitation Committee; Mary Lou Cambell, Affiliations; Jimmy McIntyre, Fourth Torch Editor; Nancy Peacock, Publicity; Nancy Worrall, Public Relations; Evelyn Neitlich, Church and Campus; Phyllis and Charlotte Patten, Freshmen Committee, and Betty Hatton, Alumni Chairman.

Dot Walling will head the Sunday School Committee, Marion Benson the Fellowship Committee, Love Scarborough, Meditations; and Barbara Kinsey, Matins.

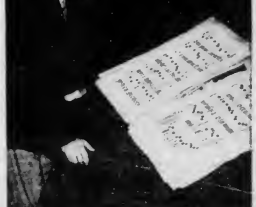
Study Group plans will be led by Jim Soles, World Christian Community Committee by Jane Soper and Publications by Polly Swain.

Mary Leigh Liston is the new Social Chairman, Elsie Abbott, Recreation; and Betty Spencer, Supper Committee.

Allen Crowell is Music Committee Chairman, Pierre Killeen, House Committee and John Craig, Ushers. Jane Morris is the new President of the Wesley Players.

Books Subject Of 'Hour'

"Books and Manuscripts" is the subject of today's Coffee Hour program at 4 p.m. in Westminster House.



Using slides, Norman Kilpatrick, Director of Libraries at Florida State University, will demonstrate the development of printed books from ancient manuscripts.

Examples of early printing, beginning with the Gutenberg Bible, are to be compared with modern day reproductions. Such characteristics of fine manuscripts as the tremendous amount of footnotes, lack of punctuation, and different types of print will be pointed out.

Kilpatrick, who has been Director of Libraries here for three years, was Associate Director of University of Iowa and Chief of Acquisition for the Department of Agriculture.

Kilpatrick obtained an MA from Brown University in Providence, R. I. while he earned a Library Science Degree from Columbia.

The English Department sponsored Coffee Hour is a weekly event on campus open to faculty members, students, and townspeople.

Flambeau photo: Charlie Wood

Looking It Over—Norman Kilpatrick, director of libraries, examines one of older music books in library. He will speak at today's English Coffee Hour.

All Dirt Removed Perspiration Out
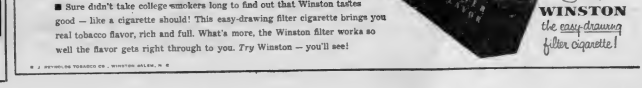
Like-New Look and Finish Restored
Spots Gone
No Odors
Better, Longer-Lasting Press
Costs No More Than Ordinary Dry Cleaning

If you are unhappy with your present dry cleaner let us clean just one garment for you and prove to you the amazing difference our Super Sanitone Service makes. Call today!

SUPERIOR CLEANERS
308 S. MONROE
PHONE 2-0652

Buy Your Films have them developed at the most convenient store
CHEVET'S
Corner of College and Adams
the best assortment of Cameras and Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

Classified



LOST—A cream-colored billfold, in the vicinity of the Seminole Club Finder may keep the money, but papers are important. Please return to Rita Nelms, Reynolds Hall, or Box 1343

LOST: Red wallet—please return to Lost and Found in Longmire or to Meta Vioni, Florida Hall. Reward

CAN YOU sail expertly? Staff now being developed at Camp Sea Gull, the seafaring camp of the South on North Carolina Coast. 36 sailboats including 19 "Lightnings" Applicants must be a minimum of 19 years of age and able to furnish finest character and ability reference. Good pay. 8-11 weeks. Write Wyatt Taylor, 7 East Edenton St., Raegh, N. C.

ROOM for male student. Near Stadium. 410 Dunwoody St. Mr. Paul Modges. 5-3675.

YOU'LL BOTH GO FOR THIS CIGARETTE!
WINSTON wins on flavor!

■ Sure didn't take college smokers long to find out that Winston tastes good — like a cigarette should! This easy-drawing filter cigarette brings you real tobacco flavor, rich and full. What's more, the Winston filter works so well the flavor gets right through to you. Try Winston — you'll see!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO. - WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

Entire Dean's List For Fall Semester Is Published

The Dean's List for the first semester is printed below, arranged alphabetically. The Florida Flambeau believes that printing the names of above-average students helps stimulate scholarship.

Undergraduates who make a 3.00, or B, average, are placed on the Dean's List. A graduate student must make at least a 3.5 average.

A—B

Aase, George; Abney, Charlotte, Abrams, Judith; Adair, Gwendolyn; Adams, Bill; Adams, Richard, Adkinson, Eleanor; Agey, Edward; Ahrano, Liska.

Albert, Mary; Albonetti, Eugene, Albrecht, Anita, Albrecht, Arthur; Albrecht, Mary; Alderman, Tex; Alexander, Laura, Allen, Adrian, Allen, Jane, Allen, Karl.

Allen, Katherine, Allen, Mary; Allen, Selby; Alleo, Thomas, Allea, Jeanne; Allou, Irma, Alman, Winifred, Almyda, Joseph; Altman, Jacqueline Alton, William; Ambrnsini, Angela; Amy, Cora; Anderson, Charles Anderson, June; Anderson, Virginia; Andre, Evelyn; Appleby, Penelope, Armes, Liz; Armistead, Mary.

Armstrong, Patti; Arnow, Margaret; Artmeier, Richard, Ash, Anthony, Ashby, Florence; Ashley, Barbara, Ashmore, Doris; Atkinson James Atkinson Marjorie; Aulick, Frances, Auten, Joy; Ayaly, Barbara

Babsk; Carl, Bachmann, Ann, Baggett Freeman; Baggett, Martha, Bailey, Frances, Bailey, Rita; Baker, Raymond; Baldy, Anderson, Ball, Robert; Banks, Valdeen; Barber Peggy;

B—Bea

Barge, Marguerite; Barge Robert, Barker, Ruby, Barnes Ada; Barnes, Mary, Barnette, Mary, Bartkus Dagmar, Bartlett, Nancy, Basila, Richard; Baskin, Cynthia Baas, Mary, Bassett, Agnes; Bassett, Richard, Bataller, Bruce, Baumer, Eloise; Baymiller Susan, Beal, Billie; Bean, Donald, Bean, Frank, Bean, Linda.

Bea—Bir

Beaver, John, Beckwith, John; Bedell, Caroline, Bell, Carolyn; Benda, William; Benecke, Betty; Bennett Adrian Bennett, George, Bennett, Patricia; Bennett, Rex, Bennett, Thomas; Benson Marian; Benzing, Betty;

Beranek, Mary, Berkshire, Judith, Berry, Evelyn; Berry, Martha; Bethune, Martha; Betzer, Miriam, Bevis, Maurice; Bird, Jacqueline Bird, Willa;

Bis—Bowers

Bisbee Beatrice; Bischoff, Gustav, Bishop, Betty, Bishop, Kay, Biship, Rodney, Biven, Janet; Black, Nettie, Blackburn, Martha; Blakeslee, Zola, Bleichner, Genevieve.

Bliss, Leora, Blumen, William Bogaa, Drew; Bogaus, James; Bolt, Carolyn; Bouder, Jacqueline Bowdoin, Mildred; Bowen, Georgia, Bowen, June, Bowen, Mary

Bowers—Britt

Bowers, Nancy, Bowaer, Geraldine, Boyd, John; Boyle, Mary, Bracewell, John, Bradbury, Frank Braden, Joan; Bradford, Barbara, Bradley, Marion, Brand, Germaine.

Branham, Jhoseph, Brannon, William, Breed Joan; Brenneman, Lionel, Brevelle, Mary; Brewton, Eunice Bridges, Florence Brindle, Mary; Brinkley, Linda; Briscoe, Glenda.

Britt—Burns

Britt Sylvia; Broadway, Cammie, Brock, Jorita, Brooks, James, Brown, John; Brown, Louis Brown, Melinda, Brown, Susan, Bruckner Thomas; Brunson, Frances, Bryan, Benjamin.

Bryan Charles; Buck Emma; Buckels, Barbara; Budd, Joann; Burch, Judy; Burdine, Martha; Burkhardt, Barbara Burner, William, Burns, Bettie; Burns, Charles

Burns—Corltan

Burns Mary, Burnsed, Minnie, Burr Doris; Burrell, Shirley, Bush, Betty, Busaey, Wayne, Butler, Arthur, Butler, Jean; Butler, Robert; Byrd, William Byrnes, Jerome

Cadenhead, Jean Caldwell, Barbara; Caldwell, Betty, Cale, Patricia; Calhoun, Ethel, Camas, Eladio; Camp, Nancy; Campbell, Billy, Campbell, Esther; Campbell, Jean, Campbell, Mary; Canon, Bradley; Carlson, Sally; Carlton, Dora, Carlton, Mildred.

Carothers, Charles, Carothers, Helen, Carpenter, Carol, Carpenter, Janeth; Carter, Charles; Carter, Sandra, Castellino, Loretta; Casto, Mark;

Caton—Clark

Caton, Hilda, Cavin, Lynnie, Cawthon, Mary Fenn; Cayard, Joyce, Cellon, Dorothy; Cerny, Liz; Chambers, Barbara, Champion, Charles Champlin, Sandra; Chandler, Richard;

Chapman, Laura Chapman, Martha, Charlesworth, Lois; Cisneros, Julie Clark, Eva, Clark, Felie Clark Elaine Clark, James, Clark Julia.

Clawson—Cope

Clawson, Sterling, Clay, Robetta, Close, Carolyn; Clyde Raymond, Coachman, Hugh, Coburn, Deas, Cofer, Mary; Coleman, Bertie; Coleman, Frances; Coleman, Mary Ann; Collins, Carol, Collins, Russell; Combs, Ruby.

Comer, Sara; Conkling, Julia; Conley Francis; Connell John; Connell Sara, Cook, Reginald; Cook, Virginia; Cooper, Barbara; Cooper, Gwyneth Cope, Elna.

Cor—Cren

Corso, Lee, Corson, Richard; Cosby, Norma Costo, Dolores; Cothran, George, Council, Lucy; Counts, Nancy; Coupland, Mary; Courter, Patricia.

Cousson Emily, Cox, Betty; Cox, Shirley, Cozart, Bennie, Crabb, John; Craig, Shirley, Crane, Anne, Crane, Joseph; Crawford, Homer; Creagh, Shelby; Crenshaw, Robert.

Crews—Dit

Crews, Irene, Crossland, Lucie; Crouch, Biely, Crouse, Nancy; Crowell, Allen, Cruce, Sarah; Cubbon, Nancy, Cude, Beverly; Cullinson, Bessie; Cunningham, Dorothy;

Curry, Charlotte, Curry, Joseph, Curtis, Marjorie, Dalrymple, William, Damerow, Joan, Dansby, Gerald; Dauaustine, Charles, Davidson, Shirley; Dawson, Jean, Dawson, Meredith; DeBats, Charles; Dee, Mary; Deguzman, Raul.

Dekle, Patricia; Dentremont, Euaene; Derting, Shirley; Deuel, Carol; Devane, Theresa, Dexter; Emma, Diaz, Geraldine Dickinson, Ann, Dilmore, Hazel; Dittman, Nancy

Dix—Eas

Dixon, Karen, Dixon, Oliver; Donaldson, Charles, Dooley, Monroe, Doran, Michael; Dorsey, James, Dorsey, Mamie; Dotson, Mary.

Dougherty, Mary; Douglas, Nancy; Douglass, Astrid, Dowell, Ann; Dowling Jasper; Dreyfus, Ariel; Driskell, Charles, Duck, Betty; Dumas, Virginia; Duncan, Harryette

Duncan, Hubert; Duncan, Lavinia, Dunn, Helen; Durack, Evelyn; Duval Yvonne; Dvorak, Nancy, Dyal, Edward, Dyckman, Martin; Dye, Lucy; Easter, Donald; Easter, Shirley.

Eby—Fer

Eby, Dolores; Eckhart, Mary; Ecklund, James, Edenfield, Lawrence, Edgar, Vernon; Edmunds, John, Edwards, Elizabeth; Edwards, Franklin; Edwards, Glenn, Edwards, Mary.

Eissey, Barbara, Ejercito, Patrocinio; Elliott, Janice; Elliott, Robert; El Sayed, Mostafa; Elvery, Elizabeth; Emmett, Barbara, Endres, Dorothy; Erickson, Nancy, Ervin, Jim.

Ervin, Richard, Evans, Betty; Pagen, Wilma; Faggioni, Francis Falconer, William; Fancher, James, Farr, Quenton, Farrell, William, Faulkner, Eugenia; Ferguson, Elizabeth; Ferguson, James.

Fer—Fut

Ferguson, Robert; Pernald, Edward, Fernald, Peggy; Fernandez, Gilbert, Fernandez, Robert, File, Robert, Fixel, Carolyn; Fleenor, Sara Fletcher, Maaine

Flohe, Audrey; Flynn, Patricia, Folsom, Billie; Ford, Earlece, Ford, Susana, Forsee, Suzanne Fortune, Shirley; Francescon, Regina, Francis; Richard, Frank Elke; Frank, Ellen.

Fraundorfer, Jose, Freedman, Frank Freeman, Aaron, Freeman, Mary, Freeman, Patricia; Frick, Ann; Friedheim, Catherine, Friedheim, Esther, Fritchie, Ruth, Fulford, Kenneth.

Fut—Gra

Futch, Anne; Futch, Laura, Gallion, Cynthia; Ganey, Sallye, Gant, Richard Garner, Betty; Cato, Eleanor; Gauger, Marie; Geddie, Laura;

Geoghagan, James, Gessler, Marlies; Gibson, Charles; Gibson, Sarah; Giffin, Donald; Gifford, Celestina, Gilbert, Mildred; Gillespie, Louise, Githens, Mary; Glass, James

Glenn, Sara, Goddard, Jacqueline, Goode, Mary; Gooding, Shirley; Goolsrirojana, Suntri; Gosnell, James; Gould, Josiah; Graff, Janet, Graham, Nancy; Grant, Hoke

Gra—Ham

Grant, June, Grant, Leatrice; Graves, Mary, Gray, Betty; Gray, Horace Graybill, Bruce; Green, Lawton; Green, Mallory; Greene, Barbara Greene, Margaret, Greene, Wade

Greenfield, Arnold, Greenhaw, Thomas, Greenlee, Herbert; Greer, Hepsey, Gregory, Doris; Grice, Joan; Griffin, Lucea; Griffin, Sarah; Griffith, Mary, Grizzard, Martha, Grubbs, Hilda.

Guthrie, Adella; Gutting, Robert, Gwin, Margaret Haavind, Lillian; Hagadorn, Leslie Halbwachs, Joan; Haley, Patrick; Halford, Joan; Hall Jack, Hambley, Sarah

Hamb—Hart

Hamblin, Shirley, Hamilton, Barbara; Hamilton, June, Hamilton, Kathleen; Hammer, Barbara; Hammer, Ruth; Hampton, Donald, Hampton, Edith; Hand, Sally; Hanna, Enoch.

Hannum, Mary, Hanaen, John; Hanshaw, Mary; Harbeson, Marion, Hardenburgh, Judith, Hardin, William, Harless, Barbara, Harmon, Joan, Harmon, Kathryn, Harmon, Loran, Harmon, William; Harp, Rollie.

Harpe Winfield Harrell, Edward, Harrell, Robert, Harris, David; Harris, John; Harrison, Frederick, Harrison, James; Harrison, Max, Hart, Lura; Hartley, Katherine

Hart—Hen

Hartness Rachel, Hartsfield, Carol; Rastings, Barbara; Hatton, Lon, Hawkins, Wilbur; Hawley, Harold, Ray, Alexander, Hay, Sara, Haya, Charles, Hayes, Marlene, Hayman, Sylvia.

Head, Dorothy; Hearn, Frances; Heath, Robert; Hecht, Pauline, Heidel, Donald; Heinemann, Robert; Heintz, Mary; Henderson, Constance, Henderson, Richard; Hendricks, Liz.

Hen—Hans

Henley, Elton, Henshaw, Ruth, Hermanson, Tenho; Herndon, Sue; Herron, Charles; Hershfelt, Helen; Hester, Lewis; Hewes, Dorothy, Hicks, Joan; Hickson, Donald, Hill, Gale; Hill Patricia.

Hipps, Merrimon; Hirt, Patsy; Hitt, Anne, Hodae, Rose, Hodges, Richard Hoffman, Anne; Roffman, Helen, Hoaan, Jimmie, Holderbach Alfred Hollander, Rosemary, Holler, Janet, Holt, Doris, Hott, John; Homer, Jacquelin; Rooks, James; Hopkins, Barbara, Hopkins, Lucia; Hoppman, Dorothy; Hordusky, Dorothy; Horn, Conrad; Horn, Mary; Houston, Barbara

How—Jef

Howard, Charles, Howard, James, Howard, Jo, Howes, Mary; Hoyal, Craig Hoyer, Louise Hudgins, Nancy; Hudson, Emilie, Hudson, Naocy; Hughes Barbara; Hughes, Gilbert, Hughes, Martha.

Hukle, Sarab; Rull, Dalma; Hume, Maria, Humphreys, Sally; Hunter, Virginia, Iler, Mary; Ingram, Sandra, Ireland, George, Ireland, Helten; Irwin, Carol, Ishie, Doris;

Jackson, Agnes, Jackson, Betty; Jackson, Florence; Jackson, James, Jackson, Mary, Jacob, Bruce, Jacobs, Jane, Jacobs, John, James, Caryl, Janak, Peter; Jarrett, Janice; Jarrett, Kenneth; Jefferis, Joyce.

Jef—Kap

Jeffries, Barbara; Jankins, Carole, Jennings, Mary, Jennings, Rufus; Jensen, Dale; Joanos, James; Johansen, Joan, John, Susan, Johns, Gordon; Johnson, Barbara; Johnson, Betty; Johnson, Donald, Johnson, Ellen

Johnson, Elmer; Johnson, Madeline, Johnson, Ray; Jones, Bette, Jones, Bobby, Jones, Candace, Jones, Asa; Jones, Frank; Jones, Jane, Jones Joan, Jones, Laura, Jones, Okle; Jones, Pa., Josephs, Herbert; Justice, Edna, Kaminis, Janice; Kanski, Robert; Kaprelian, Michael.

Kas—Kie

Kasch, Ruth; Kearson, Mary; Keck, Carolyn; Keen, Phyllis; Keene Lorenie, Keils, Walter, Keller, Joseph, Keller, Nancy; Kelley, William, Kelloag, Shirley; Kelly, Ano; Kelly, Daniel; Kemic, Chester, Kendrick, Sandra Kent, Jenny.

Kent Karlin; Kenyon, Edward; Kern, Diane; Kerr, Gretchen; Kessler, Frank, Key, Nancy; Kieper, Dolores Kimpel, Karen King, Aleyne, King, Betty; King, Martha, Kinney, Gordon, Kirby, Eleanor Kircher, Frank, Kiuru, Ellen, Kleid, Steve

Klei—Lee

Kleinhandler, Audrey, Knight, Robert; Kouba, Helen, Kraeer, Helen; Kral Robert, Kreager, Betti, Kreimeyer John; Kroalund, Barbara, Kulken, Beverly; Kukura, Ruth.

Labar, Neil, Lamb, Goram; Lamb, Janice; Landrum, Nev; Lapinski, Norma, Lapinski, William, Lapinski, Wyiene, Larsen, Alfred, Larson, Nancy, Larson, Shirley; Lassen, Lloyd; Lasseter, June Lassiter, Mary; Lastinger, James; Lawrence, Cynthia; Lay, Myra, Lazear, Lyle, Leary, Josephine, Leatherman, Edward; Leddy, Doris, Leduc, Albert; Lee Carol; Lee, Earl.

Lee—Lon

Lee, Joan, Lee, Richard; Lee Sandra; Learton, Edward, Leis, Robert, Lentz, Alice; Leonard Mary; Lesko, Helen; Leslie, Robert; Lett, Suanne, Levy, Larry; Levy, Lenore.

Lewis, Barbara, Lewis David; Lewis, Donald, Lewis, George; Lewis, Joan; Lexow, Sally; Liebau, Raymond; Lilly, Douglas; Liming, Lee, Linder, Judith; Linder, Larry

Lindley, Katherine, Lindsey John, Linebaugh, Mary; Lines, Sally; Lisle Leslie, Litschauer, Patricia; Lockard, James, Locker, Marie, Lombardy, Bennie; Loncrini, Donald.

Long—Mal

Long, Constance, Long, William, Lord, Patricia; Lorrier, Evelyn, Lovern, Henry, Lowe, Florence; Luce, Harold, Lukas, Richard, Luttrell, Charles

Lynch, Patricia; Lynes, Tenilla, Lynn, Harrison; Lynn, Robert, Love, Carrie; MacDonald, Thomas, MacDougall Margaret; MacIntyre, Jane Maddox, Martha; Magill, Jeanne; Mains, Anne

Mal—Mayo

Malloy, Margaret, Malone Jo, Manda, Nellie, Manning, Charles; Manning, Shirley; Manuel, Ruth, Mareelino, Sonya, Marjenhoff, Marie; Marriott, Mary, Marsh, Margaret; Marshall, Donald, Marshall, Robert; Martin, Robert;

Martin, William; Maaaey, Dorothy, Massie, Norman; Mathera, Dewitt Matthews, Charles, Matty, Henry, Maawell, Elizabeth, Mayfield, Ann; Mayo, Marvin.

May—McKen

Mayo, William, McAteer, Cary; McCall, John; McCawley, Erin; McClain, Ernest, McClellan, Glenn; McClellan, John; McClellan, Joseph; McClenny, Alfred; McCollum, Jerrald

McCord, Mary, McCoy, Allie; McCoy, Raymond; McFee, Billie; McGinley, Forrest McGinnes, Martha, McGonigal, Theodore; McGough Edwin McIntosh, Joe, McKelvey, Mona; McKenzie, Walter

McKeo—Mil

McKeown, Mary, McKnight, Robert McKorkle, Dorothy; McLain, Helen; McLaughlin, Loretta; McLendon, Mary, McLeod, Laura, McLeod Mary; McManus, June; McMillin, Sara; McNab, Donna.

McNab, Esme, McNutt, Sara; McRae, Crystal; McRae, Elon; McRae, Joyce; Mead, Hansel; Meador, James, Meador, Paul; Meadows, Mary, Medford, David; Meeks, Earl; Meeks, Johnnie, Meigs, Robert; Mercher, Arnold; Metzer, Gloria.

Membert, Carol, Mengason, Anita Mercer, Charles, Messer, Maria, Milam, Julie Miller, Barbara; Miller, Charles, Miller, Margaret, Miller, Miriam; Miller, Patricia; Miller Richard

Miller—Mora

Miller, Thomas Milstead, Mary; Mindoro, Melton Mitchell, Nancy; Mizell, Martha; Moates, Vivian; Mock, Valda, Mohr, Karl, Moll, Evelyn, Moltzan, Ronald; Monies, Iva.

Monsen, Sverre; Moody, Thomas, Moore, Clarence; Moore, Coyle; Moore, Lawrence, Moran, Mary; Moreland, Marjorie, Moraan, Jean; Morgan, Sally; Morgan, Shirley.

Morr—Mem

Morris, Diana; Morris, Margaret, Morris, Martha; Morrow, Jan; Munford, Walter; Murphy, Arthur; Murphy, Catherine; Murphy, Patrick; Murray, Bobbie; Murray, Robert; Myers, Darol, Naftulin, Judith; Nahrstedt, Gary; Neblett, William.

Needles, Eleanor; Neet, William; Neggera, Joe; Neiditch, Samuel; Neill, Claire, Neller, Margaret; Nelson, Catherine; Nelson, Kenneth; Nelson, Richard; Nelson, Vanda, Nemeth, Helen.

Nes—Of

Nesmith, Virginia; Nesselrod, Barbara; Nettles, Evelyn; Newberry, Elise; Newberry, John; Nichols, Betty; Nichols, Sherry; Nichols, Shirley; Nicholson, Brian; Nichy, Fred; Niemeyer, Helen; Noland, Alice, Nolan, Ralph.

Nordlinger, Percy; Norman, Donald; Norman, Meade, Nunes, Emily, Nunez, George, Nydegger, Carole, O'Brien, James; O'Connell Edward; Odom, Beverly; Officer, Upton;

Og—Pea

Oglesby, Ralph; Oler, James; Olsen, James, O'Neil, Dorothy; Osborn, Charles, O Sullivan, Catherine; Otey, Betty, Overstreet, Troy, Owen, Wanda, Paffoon, Patricia, Page, Mary, Palmer, Duggar.

Pardue, Elaine; Pariglan, William, Parker, Elwood Parker, Kathryn; Parmer, Barbara, Parrish, Sylvia, Pate, Florence, Pater, Gail, Patten, Charlotte, Patten, Phyllis.

Patterson, Nancy; Patton, Jon; Patton, Wayne; Payne, Frances, Peacock, James; Peacock, Mary; Peaden, Ruby, Peak, Theodocia; Pearce, James, Pearce, Priscilla

Peck—Pla

Peck, Virginia, Peeples, Jane; Peel, Naomi, Pennington, Charles; Perez, Deana, Perez, Mary, Perry, Ione, Perry Norma Peters, Patricia; Petersen, Arlene; Petrussell, Frank; Pharris, William

Phillips Ronald, Pichard, Barbara; Pichard, David, Pickard, Ralph; Piper, Jonathan; Piryakich, Sompong; Pittman, Richard; Pitts, Roxie, Pitzen, Joan; Platte Nancy

Plu—Reed

Plumb, William, Poe, Turza, Polizzano, Rnaaria Porter, Mary, Porter, Marion; Porter, Myra, Posey, Phillip; Prather, Sarah; Prayoon, Jatasanon; Preisser, Donald; Prewitt, Benjamin.

Prichard, Joan; Prokopl, William, Pruitt, Inia, Psaras, Kathleen; Palmer, Christine Pursell, Ronald, Putnam, Jane; Quarterman, Susan; Rachels, Shirley; Ramsden, Donald

Ramsey, Harriet, Ramaey, Jimmy, Ramsey, Thomas; Raney, David, Ranieri, Carmine; Rao, Kreshna, Rathbun, Donald; Rayner, Frank Readlina, Sara; Redditt, Dixon, Redfearn, Paul; Redfern, Carolyn; Reed, Janet

Rees—Ries

Reese, Clyde, Reese, William; Reeves, Martha, Reeves, Troy, Regele, Gael, Register, Patricia; Rehkop Carol, Reilly, Louise; Reinhard, Nancy, Renfroe, Laquita, Revell, Steve Rhodes, Eunice, Rhoton, Richard, Riberdy, Walter, Rice, Jayne, Rich, Leonard; Richardson, Marietta Richmire Annette, Ridae Donna, Riecken, Ellnora, Ries, Arlieda.

Ril—Sal

Rilea, Rose, Riley, Dorothy; Rimm, David, Rismiller, Nancy, Roads, Spencer, Robbins, Joanne, Roberds, Doris; Robinson, Frances, Rockwood, Nancy; Rodabaugh, Constance Roddenberry, Mary, Rodgers, Alice, Rogers, Sue Rolfs, Herman; Rooney, Patricia; Rose Patricia, Rosenbera, Sandra; Rosenblatt, Marvin, Rosenbush, Carl; Rosenthal, Stanley Ross, Alice, Rowe, Dianne, Ruda, Alvin Runnels Edna, Ruas, James, Russell, Allan; Ryals, Cubye; Salgado, Maria, Salley, Jane; Salmon, David.

Sals—Sher

Salsman, Garrett; Sanchez Robert; Sanders, Bandia; Sandoval, Lester, Sapp, Caol; Sappington, Mary; Sasser, Shirleen; Saunders, Clara; Scales, Edith; Scarborough, Ruth; Scarritt, Jean, Scheidell, John; Scherer, Betty; Schill, John; Schmit, Willa, Schuler, Robert; Scott, Carolyn; Scott, Joan, Scoville, Marjorie.

Secord, Marie Self, Lovanne, Sellers, Bobby, Sellers, Lonnie, Selvaggi, Albert; Semans, Thomas; Sessions, Carla; Shackleford, Barbara; Shampine, Russell, Shannon, Autumn, Shannon, Marthg; Sharitz, Dorothy; Sharp, Dawn; Shaw, Ellen; Shaw, Mary, Shearn, Donald, Shenkel, Jeanne, Sherman, Carolyn; Sherman, David.

Sherr—Sparks

Sherill, Glenda, Shields, Sue; Shipley, Norman, Shirley, Margaret; Shoenberger, R. W.; Shortt, Georgina; Shroper, Wayne; Sica, Louis, Simmons, Corrie; Sommons, Gloria, Simmons, Larry; Simmons, Ramona; Sims, Greta; Sisson, Carol; Slaton, Phillip; Slayden, Martha; Smith, Charles; Smith, Charles; Smith, Clarence.

Smith, Donald; Smith, Donald; Smith, Jane; Smith, Josephine, Smith, Mack, Smith, Martha E Smith, Martha Jo; Smith, Maxine, Smith, Milford; Smith, Patricia; Smith, Shirley; Smith, Virginia; Smothers, Martha; Snook, Mary; Soles, James; Solomon, Nell; Soper, Jane, Space, Nancy; Sparks, Helen.

Spar—Step

Sparkling, Helen, Sparling, Joan; Speed, David; Speed, Gordon, Spence, Mary; Spires, Jaqualin; Sproul, Charles, Squier, Marilyn; Stabler, Laura; Stafford, James; Stafford, Regina.

Stahl, Kristina; Stainback, Rosemary; Stainer, Elisabeth; Stall, Peggy; Standish, Carol; Stanley, William; Stansfield, Mary; Staples, James; Starnes, Patricia; Stecker, Joan; Steele, Pansey; Stein, Lois; Steiner, Harold; Stephens, Carolyn;

Step—Ted

Stephens, Earl, Stephenson, Marion; Stephenson, Rosemary; Stevenback, Dorothy; Stevens, Sally; Stevens, William; Stewart, Sandra; Stickler, Ann; Stitt, Ticia, Stokes, Ross, Stone, Elizabeth; Scott, Naomi; Strammer, Doris; Strandhagan, Harry.

Strasburg, Richard; Straub, Charles; Strauss, Richard; Strickland, Joan; Stuke, Robert; Suhrer, Mary; Sutton, Julie, Swain, Peter; Swain, Priscilla; Swift, Robert; Taylor, Enid; Taylor, Judith; Taylor, Kay; Taylor, Ralph, Taylor, William, Tedder, Norma.

Terp—Ty

Terpening, Carol; Terwilliger, John; Teschke, Graham, Tew, Raymond; Thatcher, Carol; Theobald, Betty; Thomas, James; Thomas, Joseph, Thomas, Marlene; Thomas, Sarab; Thorburo, Richard; Thornton, Helen; Tidwell, Rex, Tiernan, Leo.

Tindall, Astrid; Tippin, John; Torn, Sheldon; Tornay, Sara; Treffinger, Constance, Tribble, Barbara; Turano, Eugene; Turk, Barbara; Turpin, Mary; Tyler, Sandra.

Ul—Wadk

Ullrich, Barbara; Upton, Charlene; Upton, Ralph; Valent, Joseph; Vance, Cynthia, Vann, Marjorie, Vaughan, Edward, Vaughn, Avery; Vaughn, Nancy; Vause, Joel.

Vazquez, Delma, Verran, Anne; Vester, Jerry; Victoria, Joseph; Villate, Dolores; Vinson, Penelope, Vinson, Riehard, Vinzant, Evelyn, Waddel, Ruby; Wade, Ida, Wadkins, James.

Wads—Wat

Wadsworth, Joan, Wadsworth, Marie; Wadsworth, Ning; Wagner, Hildegard, Wainright, Ethel; Walden, Dorothy, Walker, Clark, Walker, Claudia; Walker, Dorothy; Walker, Florence.

Wall, Ada; Wall, Ann; Wallace, Joyce, Walling, Dorothy; Walter, Fred; Walters, Mary; Ward, Clyde; Wardlaw, Doris; Ward-Steinman, David; Watkins, Nancy; Watson, June, Watson, Norman.

Wea—Whit

Weatherly, James; Weatherup, Joyce, Weaver Webb, Anise; Weoner Weeks, Charlotte, W. Ellen, Weimer, France bes, Elinor, Weich, Bev

Welch, Ruth; Wells, Wernke, Paul, Werts, Weston, Geneva; Wetmo Wheat Anthony, W ward; White, Margaret hurst, Clinton; Whittier ert.

Whit—Wil

Whittle, Betty Wicks jory; Wiggin, Jacquelin burn, Joan; Wilcox, Wilf, Barbara; Wilcoxan Williams, Alma, W Charles, Williams, E Williams, Faith; Williams old, Williams, Imogene liams, James.

Williams, Janice, W.

(Continued on Page 6

Cavalier-Cotillion

Opportunity Awaits Poor Dancers

By Arlieda Ries

Opportunity is knocking for those FSU students whose dancing ability is not the best, or for those who would like to further their potentialities.

Cavalier, national men's dancing fraternity, in conjunction with Cotillion, local women's dancing fraternity, is now sponsoring a six weeks series of dancing lessons on Tuesday and Thursday nights in the Student Center.

From 7:30 to 9 p.m. these dance organizations, whose primary purpose is further dancing ability of students, have the exclusive use of the Center for individual and group instruction. Slow, jitterbug, bop, and Latin American types of dancing are taught.

While lessons for the less proficient dancer are now in progress, more advanced group lessons are being arranged.

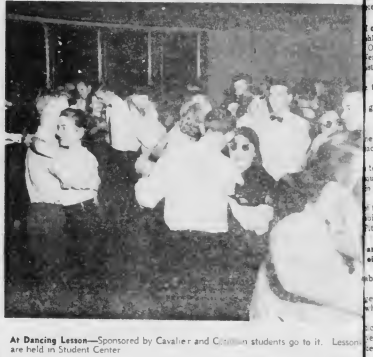
At Completion

At the completion of the lesson series each semester, tryouts for the two organizations take place. Selections are based on appearance and poise on the floor, social reputation personality, apparent interest in the group, but mostly on actual dancing ability.

According to newly elected Cavalier president Jim Julian the main goal of the dancing fraternity, established here in 1948, is "not to necessarily have a social time, but to learn to dance. Lack of time and space though, makes lessons strictly limited to FSU students."

Bop Contest

Cavalier, which plans a bop contest for the near future, now numbers about thirty members, while Cotillion, which was organized on a similar basis for girls, has more active members



Traditionally, the groups, which may also act as host and hostess for any campus organization party, sponsor a dance at the Student Center, a semi-formal at the beginning of the year, and a talent-stunt night at the Center.

Other newly elected Cavalier officers include Hank McCann, vice-president; Bill Pelham, secretary Tom Ramsey, dance chairman; and Mike Guerra, publicity chairman Meanwhile Cotillion officers are Janice Grosser, president, Sylvia White, vice-president Shirley Jackson, secretary Gail Cres, treasurer, Nell Davis, dance chairman

Cavalier Members

Cavalier members are as follows, Curtiss Jackson, Dick Bittner Buddy Jordan, Phil Bach B[...] Nebl[...] Rafael Lecuona Bob C[...]ver, Jerry Hipps, Bill Durham, Charlie Mixon, George Boye, B[...] Stevens, John Hodge and Jim Fadigan.

Cotillion members include Bancker, Jor[...]a Brock, W[...] Cannon, Connie C[...]ldra, C[...]hn, Gail Crews, Clara D[...] Jane Davis, Nell Davis, [...] Dopko, Barbara Driver [...] Duke, Janice Grosser Donna [...]ns Shirley Jackson, K[...] Elaine Mikel Sibl[...] Barbara Potter Carol R[...] Sandra Sear[...] Sid Smith [...]n Spiranza, Joan S[...] [...] White and Peggy Wright

At Dancing Lesson—Sponsored by Cavalier and C[otillion] students go to it. Lessons are held in Student Center

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer works on new ways to remove heat from atomic reactors

An atomic reactor running at full efficiency creates a tremendous amount of heat in its core. By removing this heat and putting it to work boiling water to make steam, atom-made electricity is produced.

One of the men responsible for designing new, more efficient ways to remove heat from atomic reactors is 29-year-old Doctor Salomon Levy — Design Analysis supervisor in the Atomic Power Equipment Department's Reactor Engineering Unit.

Levy's Work Interesting, Vital

To study this problem of heat transfer, G.E. recently constructed a heat-transfer system. By electrically simulating the heat produced in a reactor, it is possible to determine the maximum rate at which heat can be removed from a reactor to make steam.

Dr. Levy conceived the idea of building this complex system, designed it and supervised its construction. At present, Levy works with this system to study new problems of heat transfer and fluid flow encountered in atomic power plants.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Salomon Levy came to General Electric in 1953, he already knew the kind of work he wanted to do. Like each of our 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given his chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: Whenever fresh young minds are given the freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

The Press Table

By LARRY BLOCK
Flambeau Sports Editor

AN ERA ENDS

The man who holds every scoring record for Florida has played his last game and it's going to seem odd next season not to see number "21" out on the floor.

Jim Oler's collegiate basketball days are over, but the marks he set for others to try and break. It will a long time before anyone tops the mighty mite's cords.

Jim ended the season with 743 points, broke his own ree-throw record, broke the field goal mark, most points a season and in a career, most points in a single ame and best average per game.

That's something to be proud of. And everyone at U is proud, too.

With about four minutes remaining in the Georgia me, Dick Artmeyer fouled out of the game and left to e tune of a 30-second round of applause.

At that time Jimmy had amassed four fouls and l kind of hoping a fifth would be called against him, e would leave the game with the cheers and applause at he so rightly deserved. But he didn't' draw that foul.

Coach Kennedy tells a story of the first time Jim rked out with the team when he was a freshman. "If n can make my team this year, Jim, I'll see that you eived a scholarship for basketball," said Kennedy.

Oler's reply went something like this. "Coach, if can't make your starting five, I don't want a scholar-

Oler did make the team, and combining with Ham ernke gave FSU its greatest pair of guards in its short story of basketball.

Who's to say that they were not the best duo of guards the South?

It also means that the little man can still score in game being more and more dominated by the big man.

BACKS TO THE WALL

Due to unforeseen Injuries to two of his varsity en, coach Keith Brichford's tennis team may have their acks to the wall in the forthcoming season.

He was shorthanded to start with, and injuries are tough break to swallow. The only upperclassmen on the uad are Hal Schaus and Shelby Creagh. They can't it alone.

"It takes two things for any athlete to be at the top f the list, and that goes for any sport. The first is natural bility, and the other is determination," explained Coach itchford.

Most athletes posess one of these. a small minority are fortunate to have both. And that's what makes one either great or just good.

An unusual thing about it is that the guys with the bility don't seem to have the determination.

"I really like to see the guy with just determination get out on the court and beat the player with ability, which he shouldn't," continued the tennis mentor.

The tennis team has been having round-robin practice to find the top four Frosh who will compete in this ear's schedule. And it seems that the player that should be numbered one isn't.

In fact, he isn't even one of the top three among the reshmen.

What's the reason? Maybe he is not trying hard enough. He certainly has the ability. He should be beating everyone that steps out onto the court, and instead he is the one being beaten.

That's one of the reasons coaches get grey hair.

LET'S WATCH OUR MANNERS

Spectator response differs according to the sport being played. At a baseball game the fan has a perfect right to yell and holler as he pleases. In football, cheering is usually done with organized cheers, and basketball is a combination of the two.

But some sports require a different response from the sports fan. Let's take tennis for example.

In tennis, everything is up to the individual, in contrast to a sport which fields five or more players.

And the individual must have the utmost in concentration to win.

Last year during the tennis matches there was a continual barrage of shouts and spectator response while the players were engaged in actual competition. There should be no response from the crowd during this time.

The time for fans to cheer is after the ball is dead, and the outbursts should be in the form of applause only.

If we are going to be big-time in sports, let's be big-time in sportsmanship.

ALL-AMERICA?

Maybe we're prejudiced, but we were kind of disappointed when the Associated Press all-America showed up last week without a mention of Jimmy Oler.

We realize, of course, it's a rugged job to select forty or fifty basketball players from the thousands in the country and call them the nation's best, but we still feel a little cheated.

Oler had 708 points before last Monday's game with Georgia, and almost every school or state record worth having in the cage sport.

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
ENDS SATURDAY
"RED SUNDOWN"
Rory Calhoun
STARTS SUNDAY
"THERE'S ALWAYS TOMORROW"
Barbar Stanwyck
Fred MacMurray
Joan Bennett

STATE
THROUGH TUESDAY
"ALL THAT HEAVEN ALLOWS"
Jane Wyman
Rock Hudson
Agnes Moorehead
—TECHNICOLOR—

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
ENDS SATURDAY
"STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND"
James Stewart
Jane Allyson
—Also—
"Yellow Mountain"
Lee Barker, Marie Powers
SUNDAY—MONDAY
"EAST OF EDEN"
James Dean, Julie Harris,
Raymond Massey

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
ENDS SATURDAY
"KENTUCKY RIFLE"
Chill Wills
—Also—
"Jungle Man-Eaters"
Johnny Weismueller
SUNDAY—MONDAY
"PEARL OF THE SOUTH PACIFIC"
Virginia Mayo
Dennis Morgan

RITZ—ENDS SAT.—"INTIMATE RELATIONS"
Harold Warrender, Marian Spencer
SUN. - MON.—"ROME, 11 O'CLOCK"—Eva Vanicak

Footballers Clash Tonight

Newcomers, Vets Vie In Garnet-Gold Game

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

Florida State's footballers split forces tonight, for the annual Garnet-Gold contest, the annual climax to the spring football season, at 8 p. m. in Campbell Stadium.

Some 66 gridders go before the watchful eye of head coach Tom Nugent tonight, but only eleven of them will be left when the season opens some fifteen or six months from now.

Nugent has sprinkled both squads healthy with seasoned veterans, but there are only 11 of these on the two starting elevens.

There are only two exsuities from the 20-day workouts, both ends: Bob Nelson, a 6-1 205 pound junior college transfer, and Henry Wetherington, a 6-0 185 pound sophomore who not dress tonight.

Also missing from the starting arrays are tackle Bob Barber and end Herb Taylor, both dropped from the team for violation of training rules this week.

Nugent called them "top prospects", but said "We have no room on the squad for the boys who can't keep the rules."

Barber had been a starting tackle for three years now, and Taylor was up from the freshman squad and a leading candidate for fall's top eleven.

Captains are the two centers, Troy Barnes and George Boyer and Nugent looks for plenty of action at that slot all night.

Barnes is a converted tackle and Boyer is back from a service hitch, and they're currently 1-2 in that order for the starting center slot.

In addition to Boyer, there are three notable newcomers in the opening arrays.

Flambeau photo: Adrian Allen

Garnet first row, left to right. Bisbee, re, Graham, rt, Pacifico, rg, Barnes, c, Leonard, lg, Staab, rt, Ganser le. Back row. Metts, rhb, Schreible, fb, Renn, qb, Corso, lhb.

GARNET

Heading the Garnet backfield is Bobby Graham, a 5-11, 170 lb. Sophomore transfer who was ineligible for competition last season.

Garnet fullback is Frank Schreible, a 187-lb. junior college transfer who is in close competition with veteran Joe Holt for a starting fullback assignment.

The two Garnet halfbacks are well known to area fans. Lee Graham starred in 1932 as both of whom were consistent ground gainers last season.

The Garnets will give away on the averages 10 pounds per man up front and they'll start a freshman freshmen in their line.

The frosh hoping for a starting slot this fall are end Pat Ganser and right tackle Jerry Graham at 195 and 202 respectively.

To assist with Ganser is Ham Bisbee, the lanky end from Sanford who earned a starting berth of last year.

Paired with Graham, a Chicago boy, at the tackles is Bob Graham, a 215 lb. veteran who has held down a starting slot much of the last three years.

At one of the guards is Bud Leonard, a converted fullback and end hopeful to find himself in a new position.

The other guard is a veteran starter, Al Pacifico, a 222 lb. Senior from Altoona, Pa.

The Garnet center is also a veteran, but Barnes saw a lot of action last year at tackle, in addition to center duties currently the number one center on the squad.

The Garnet bench is also well stalled with veterans including Les Swatzie, Billy Weaver, both of whom saw plenty of action in the last two years.

GOLD

Veteran quarterback Vic Primi will be calling signals for the Gold, at least at the outset, and the 190-lb. junior is a prime candidate for the starting slot in the fall.

The fullback is a veteran of the gridiron wars, 185-lb. Joe Holt from Lakeland, S. C. and certainly the outstanding candidate for the starting position at the moment.

Biggest surprise is Pat Verapelle, a quarterback turned halfback who will start tonight, but the other halfback is a veteran pre-doler, Billy Odom from Mt. Dora.

Odom packs a big front wall, with five boys tipping the scales at better than 200, headed by 221-lb. Boyer.

Boyer is back after two years in the army which included selection for the all-Army team, and is a cinch to see plenty of action tonight.

The only newcomer besides Boyer in the Gold line is ex-letter service returnee, Bill Brown, a 215 lb. Sophomore guard from Orlando.

Paired with him at guard is Jimmy Bagwell, well known for his game-saving touchdown in the Villanova game last year.

Neither the tackles, Junior Bill Musselman and either Willie Gardner or John Metzland (both Sophomores) saw much action last year.

McLelland was in the infirmary at press time, but Nugent thought he would be out by game time tonight. If not, Gardner will get the starting role.

One of the ends up from the frosh, Lefty Bob Fountain, but the other is a vet, Ronnie Schomburger, a 182-pounder from Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Gold bench, also is well stocked with veterans, including Jerry Henderson, Ted Rodrigus and Hobo Ackerman.

Golfers Defeat U of Florida; Compete In All-Florida Meet

The Florida State golf team left yesterday for Ocala to compete in the Florida Intercollegiate Tournament.

The tournament will run through tomorrow and most major colleges in Florida are taking part.

On Monday March 5, the Seminoles trounced the Florida Gators 22½ to 4½. It marked the second defeat of a Gator team at the hands of FSU.

The Gators, recent SEC champs are regarded as having one of the strongest link teams in the south.

Not one FSU player went over 74 strokes. Bob Dunn, who played in the number one post had a 71 to defeat the Gator's Dave Ragan. FSU's Edwin Jenkins, the number two man had a 73 to sink Jim McCoy.

Bob Shelton, in the Seminole number five position was a bell of fire as he smashed out a five-under-par 67.

The University of Florida came close in only one match. That was when Florida's Al Kelly tied FSU's Bunk Berry in individual play, 1¼ to 1¼.

Dunn (FSU) defeated Regan, 3-0; Jenkins (FSU) defeated McCoy, 2½-½; Best ball: FSU, 2½-½.

Wynne (FSU) defeated Gleason, 2½-½; Berry (FSU) and Kelly tied, 1½-1½; Best ball: FSU, 2½-½. Shoemaker (FSU) defeated Garin, 3-0; Best ball: FSU, 2½-½

For the second straight year, FSU's basketball team scored over 2000 points, this year, finishing up 2013 while establishing a 16-9 mark.

Oler's Records, Tourneys Feature 16-9 Cage Mark

With an 80-75 win over Georgia that increased their home victory string to 22, Florida State's basketball team ended the season with a 16-9 record.

It was nip and tuck all the way, and a pair of foul shots by Jim Oler with eight minutes remaining put the Tribe ahead for good.

Top scorer for FSU was Jimmy Oler with 34, and a total of 743 for the year. Gary Wold hit for 16, and Dick Artmeyer had nine.

Oler, Wold, Artmeier, Wayne Patton and Ed Wurzbach played their last collegiate basketball game for Florida State.

Coach Malmisha: The only team to stop Oler all year was East Tennessee State, 34 and 13

Two holiday tournaments highlighted the exams' schedule, the Charlotte Invitational, and the Orange Bowl. . . The cagers stomped Boston U in the former, and defeated NYU in Miami. . . Two big wins at home were over the U of Miami, 75-76, and Loyola of the South, 85-75.

Then Artmeier making Hot-Rod Hundley look like just another ballplayer. . . Gary Wold holding North Carolina State's Ron Shavik to 10, and Wold scoring 11. . . Wayne Patton coming through in the clutch against NTU's Violets . . Another first place finish in the Florida Intercollegiate Basketball Conference. . . Miami's hailing the Tribe's 19 game streak in the FIBC. . . Coach Kennedy starring his five seniors in the last games of the year . . . And of course Jimmy Oler. His 42 points against Morningside College . . leading the team in every scoring department . . breaking school records left and right. . . And the homs win skein is still intact.

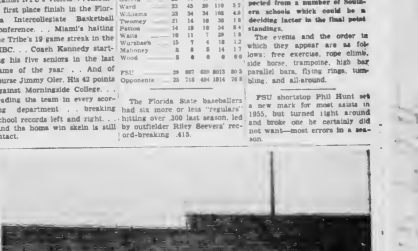
	G	FG	FT	TP	Ave
Oler	25	318	317	743	29.7
Wold	25	96	79	278	11.1
Gregory	25	64	29	157	6.3
Garvin	25	66	41	173	6.9
Ward	25	45	20	110	5.3
Williams	25	34	34	102	4.1
Twomey	21	14	10	38	1.8
Patton	14	19	10	54	3.9
Watts	10	11	7	29	1.9
Wurzbach	15	3	4	10	1.2
Maloney	8	8	8	14	1.7
Wood	2	0	0	0	0.0
FSU	29	687	420	8013	80.3
Opponents	25	718	484	1914	76.6

The Florida State baseballers had six more or less "regulars" hitting over .300 last season, led by outfielder Riley Seavers' record-breaking .415.

Swimmers Go Gator Hunting

The Seminole swimming team travels to the University of Florida tomorrow to try to re-wash a Gator team which recently won the Southeast Conference championship meet.

Tribe coach Bum Stulls warns his boys that this is not the same Florida team "that so easily buckled under when his spirited tankers dunked them earlier this season to a tune of 66 to 12.



Florida's performance in the SEC meet is a good indication of their improvement," Stulls said.

The Gator sprint freestylers registered impressive victories in the conference meet and their times now put them in a position to take our own sprinters, Jim Julian and Mike Tachtiret.

The Seminole duo set a record in the 60 yard relay, churning up the pool with 2:26 6 timing. Statt has only managed a 2:38 in this event.

R. B. Rhodes and Carwel Ponder, FSU's fancy divers, will have the hardest task of all when they compete against all American and Olympic captain Craig Wilson, teammate Ken Abbott and Breaststroker Joel "Flop" Johns should have no need to worry about their events against Florida, so Stulls might swim Abbott in the 100.

FSU baseball coach Danny Litwhiler hit a homa run in every baseball League park while playing for the Phillies in 1941.

Flambeau photo: Adrian Allen

Gold reading from left to right. Fountain, re, Gardner, rt, Baggett, rg, Boyer, c, Brown, lg, Musselman, lt, Schomberger, le. Backfield Odom, rhb, Holf, fb, Prinzi, qb, Versprille, lhb.

Gymnasts Seek 6th SIGC Title

By TOM HALE
Flambeau Sports Writer

The Seventh Annual Southern Intercollegiate Gymnastic Championships will be held at Florida State University in the women's gym tomorrow night at 8:00 p. m.

Florida State, winner of five straight Southern Intercollegiate titles, will again be classed as the heavy favorites.

North Carolina University, second placer in last year's meet, along with Georgia Tech, will be the Seminole's big opposition in the meet.

They will be out to halt Florida State's five-year domination of the South and its quest for a 20th team championship.

One of Florida State's champions in last year's meet, Al Rada, in free exercise, Jim Tanaka in the flying rings, high bar, and all-around, Joe Taylor on the parallel bars, and Dick Ireland on the trampoline, only Joe Taylor is back to defend his title.

Taylor's biggest competition in this meet is expected to come from one of his own teammates, Joe Guile, a sophomore, who did outstanding this year in competition, and a North Carolina boy, Bill Howard.

In the other events the favorites are expected to be, Ronny Amster, FSU, in the horizontal bar, Jamils Ashmore and Don Prettner, FSU, in free exercise and the trampoline respectively.

Land Anderson, another Sophomore prospect and Jim Hankla, FSU, in the rope climb, Dan Hilland, N. C on the flying rings, Jerry Bakel Lenoma, Jamils Ashmore, Ronny Amster, all FSU, in all-around.

Last minute entries are expected from a number of South and Southeast schools to be a deciding factor in the final point standings.

The events and the order in which they appear are as follow, free exercise, rope climb, side horse, trampoine, high bar parallel bars, flying rings, tumbling, and all-around.

FSU shortstop Phil Hunt set a new mark for most assists in 1935, but turned right around and broke one he certainly did not want—most errors in a season.

GENUINE ENGRAVED Wedding Announcements $7.95
SAMPLES MAILED UPON REQUEST
FINEST QUALITY
FR 3-7146
FREE with your order 100 Gummed Address or Calling Cards
Mail Orders Accepted
Address or Calling Cards 100 each
Total Cost $10.00
Miami Engraving Co.

RECORDS
Jazz, Classical & Pop
PHONOGRAPHS
BAKER'S
MUSIC CENTER
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

REAL GOOD FOOD and FOUNTAIN TREATS at
THE MECCA

FAIVER'S
1312 WEST TENNESSEE
Friday's Special
SHRIMP CREOLE—85c
Saturday's Special
SPAGHETTI and MEAT SAUCE
En Casserole—85c
Both Served With Two Vegetables Salad Rolls Coffee or Tea

The Department of Speech announces

"Ah, Wilderness"

by
Eugene O'Neill

March 9, 10, 12, 13
Conradi Theater
8:15 p.m.

Tickets:
Students: 40c and activity stub No. 2
General Admission: 75c

Box Office opens Wednesday, March 7 In Westcott Ticket Booth
ALL SEATS RESERVED

In Grecian Times

Fraternity To Celebrate Its 100th Birthday Today

The SAEs celebrate their 100th birthday today.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity is holding national festivities at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa, site of SAEs founding in 1856.

Florida State's chapter, Beta, sent Ronnie Bise, Bill Crow, Tom Turpin, Bob Bennett and David Hulse to Alabama as representatives. David, who was named the "Most Outstanding Pledge of the Year," will be initiated by the national fraternity.

The chapter will celebrate here with initiation services, a founder's day banquet tonight, and a semi-formal dance at the house tomorrow night.

New SAE pledge officers are Bobby Nelums, president; Jay Bell, vice-president; Ken Jacquot, secretary; Don Joiner, treasurer and sgt-at-arms; Don Allen Reynolds, social chairman; and Al Fenton, reporter.

For the third straight time, the Alpha Gamma Deltas won the Panhellenic Scholarship Tray.

To celebrate the event, Mother Rose gave the Alpha Gams a party Thursday night. On February 28, a birthday party was given the house mother by the girls.

Alpha Gams Doris Gregory and Carolyn Bolt were in the Theater Dance program and Doris Roberds was in the Tarpon show.

Sigma Phi Epsilon was honored this week by the arrival of their national field secretary Don Kindle, who will be a house guest until tomorrow.

Norman Burth, chapter president, conducted the official pledging ceremony last Monday night in which 15 pledges participated.

Pledge class officers elected are Dick Smith, president; Bill Stephens, vice-president; Roger Calao, secretary; Gino Calao, treasurer; Norman Sheffield, chaplain; Jack Fitzpatrick, assistant chapter historian, and Jim Cameroon, pledge athletic chairman.

Bob Bennett, SAE, and Hoke Grant, SN, are the new Chi Omega Cwi Men. They were chosen at the sorority's weekend which was held last weekend.

Chi O Martha Slayden is slated to sing one of the title roles in alternate performances of "Carmen." Martha will give her senior recital March 13.

Active Chi O members are Gail Moody, Tarpon performer; Diane Kraus and Jane Lawrence, theater dancers; Beverly Laurient and Alison Tennyson, Smoke Signals Court members . . . Nancy Johnson new chairman of off-campus court . . . and Jane Bisson, Mayemonde college board contest finalist.

New initiates are Jane Trimble, Jonda Williams, Ann Key, Patsy Walker, Alison Templeman, Bonnie Tapley, Jan Hinson, Mary Jane Johnson, Pat Sullivan, Verno Lee Robertson, Rodney Bishop, Ginny Pepper, Sandra Rhodes, Mary Margaret Andrews, Betsy Rose Robertson, Lolly Yaeger, Nancy Fowler, and Ann Lazosby.

Delta Zeta's new members are Patty Brasil, Martha Bunker, Betty Jo Bush, Janie Conner, Katherine Davis, Mary Bridge Howard, Susan Kelsey, Judith Linder, Martha McLeod, Rosemary Stanback, Jean Thompson, Sylvia Ann Warren, Ann Welsh, and Janet Wiseman.

Pledge officers are Janet McMullen, president; Alice Terry, vice-president; Cynthia Sapp, secretary, Susan Helms, social chairman, Georgine Lee, project chairman, and Berta Lambe, scholarship chairman.

DZ Harriet Ramsey will play Mercedes in "Carmen" . . . Carole Ann Cooper was tapped for Kappa Delta Pi . . . DZ initiates are Cathy Peak (Miamitown), Ruby Ryals (Jacksonville), Cathy Hamilton (Tampa), and Margaret Miller (Nassau).

Alpha Gamma Delta initiates are Jackie Carolyn Bell, Polly Chance, June Grant Elinor Hager, Pat Harness, Sylvia Hommer, Kay Jordan, Sylvia Kearson, Mary Ann Lassiter, Beverly McKenzie, Kitty Palmer, Emily Phillips, Arlene Sargent, Rae Sheldon, Doris Gregory, and Sara Mann.

Kappa Alpha Theta recently initiated Joe Ann Bennett, Anne Bigadon, Touchy Briscoe, Suzanne Lally, Dana Francescon, Barbara Huckabee, Pat Murphy, Barbara Hendrix, Sue Gunderson, Sally Mendenhall, Nancy Jo Bowers, Mary Beth Roberts, Denise Pinckard, Laura Cheek, Julie Nelson, Barbara Hollins, Nellie Mands, and Sandra Sears.

Phi Mu initiates are in addition to those previously published Charlotte Ann Avery, Nancy Carol Honeywell, Sandra Lynette Ingram, Barbara Ann Robertson, and Louise Travis.

Sigma Kappas took 11 new members into the fold. They are Kathy Berthier, Linda Blanton, Nancy Denham, Nancy Singleton, Sharon Stoker, Joanne Thompson, Lynn Markham, Sue Ford, Susie Hay, Joan Dorely, and Susan Petrie.

Gamma Phi Betas initiated Connie Smart, Margie Elier, Joan Thomas, Carol Wesley, Phyllis Shaddock, Pat Wilson, Sarah Dell Gibson, Judy Coulter, Betty Cantrell, Janice Cobb, Barbara Neserod, Dorothy Bankor, Caroline Emory, Irene Rodriguez, Kathy Sanchez, Dianne Johnson, Marlene Wadsworth, and Nancy Hescock.

Campus Cutie Of The Week

MISS KAY DAVIS
Freshman from Jacksonville, majoring in Arts and Sciences

Minstrel Show In Production

"When Cork Was King", an original minstrel show, is now in final stages of rehearsal for its March 31 opening.

The production, sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha, is written and produced by Florida State student Minstrelaires.

Proceeds from the two performances to be given at 4 and 8:15 p.m. will go to the Choral Union Opera Fund.

The cast includes both student and faculty members. Raymond Austin serves as the Interlocutor with Gene Rowell, Bryan Nichols, Danny Whipple, Jim Dawson, Lonnie Keene and Karl Mohr as endmen.

Gay Gillies, Ethel Donaldson, Ann Morse, Mary Turnbull, Nellie Black and Shirley Nichols make up the Hitch Yellow Gals, a dancing chorus.

Faculty members in the production include Herman Gunter as Uncle Remus; Betty Jane Grimm and France Pemberton.

Dean's List

(Continued from Page 4)

Lynn; Williams, Mary M.; Williams, Mary P.; Williams, Vivian; Wilson, Martha; Wilson, Mary; Wilson, Sylvia; Wollmon, Betty; Wilson, Margot; Wilson, Albert; Wilson, Frances.

Wilson—Zeek

Wilson, James; Wilson, Margaret; Wilson, Rodney; Windham, Diana; Winkelpleie, Esther; Winter, Aaron; Winterling, George; Wise, Myra; Wiesner, Patti; Wissman, James; Wisly, Edith; Wolcan, Mary; Wolfenbarger, Robert.

Wood, Sheila; Woodman, Ruth; Woods, Thomas; Woodward, Bertie; Woodward, Frances; Workman, Margaret; Worrall, Nancy; Wright, Paul; Wrirht, Robert; Wright, Theresa; Wily, Theodore; Wymon, Gerald; Wynn, Charles Wilson; Fred; Yarborough, Lyle; Yarborough, Louise; Yates, Shirley; Yee, Ann; Yeates, Margaret; Yeoman, Maiorie; Young, James; Young, Lela; Young, Margaret; Young, William; Youngblood, James; Zeppolo, Kathryn; Zavada, Adam, and Zech, Patsy.

SAE Lion 'Leo' Succumbs After Hard Fight

By OSCAR JOHNSON

After years of strife and struggle, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon lion, "Leo", has succumbed.

It came out loser Saturday night in a bout with a low-flying jeep driven by a high-flying driver. Scattered bits are all that remain.

Accounts of the incident are also scattered. About all that can be ascertained positively is that sometime after midnight Saturday members of all three fraternities in the vicinity were milling around in the SAE front yard after a "planning expedition" when the jeep came roaring in from the highway.

20 MPH

Some observers and the jeep hit "Leo" at 30 m.p.h. This estimate must be somewhere near correct since rumor has it that cars have lost their axles trying to pull out the statue.

SAE president Norm Shipley says the low blow was not done in malice, since the perpetrator later apologized formally to the chapter. He also said that the fraternity will not be without its symbol since TWO lions have already been set up to replace Leo.

Previously Planned

In fact, says Shipley, the new lions were planned even before the Saturday night hit-and-run. Installation will be completed by this weekend, he said.

Asked to comment on the new location of the lions (which in fact may be named "Leo II and III"), he declined they were put closer to the house because "they look better there."

"It was the best place to put them," he continued. Since there are two of them, they look better on each side of the sidewalk than they would out in the yard together."

Pledge Project

The Pledge class, said Shipley, took it on as their project last semester to obtain new lions. "The old one was cracking up and getting delapidated from being burned.

"Also, the pledges thought that these were better looking lions."

Shipley said the pledge class sold him the new lions were donated by a museum. As for Leo" his demise was "sort of premature.

"We were planning to put him on the brick patio but things sort of altered our plans."

Senate Passes

From Page 1

Honor Court replacing Polly Swain, who realigned to become court clerk; Martha Grant, undersecretary of organizations; and Powell Brenton and Linda Rollins to the election committee.

Laws Bill

From Page 1

political structure would be made in that same amendment, which stipulates that special elections will be held to fill vacancies in the class senatorships as well as in those from the living areas. The amendment must be ratified fied in the spring elections, but student body approval has in the past been only a formality. Few amendments have ever been rejected.

From Page 1

Forieta Privilege

The reapportionment bill provides that any living unit which fails to elect a senator will forfeit its privileges to do so for the year.

During the comparatively lackadaisical debate—in relation to previous arguments—which preceded the bill's adoption shortly before 6 p.m. moves to limit the number of freshman women senators were rejected.

A major amendment did take place when Senator Fred Mansfield suggested reducing the day student representation from one for every 320 students to a flat figure of two.

Mansfield blamed lack of political interest among day students in general for his suggestion.

"The whole problem ever since I've been on campus," the senior senator charged, "has been the day student organization."

The reapportionment bill requires that a senator maintain residence in the area that elects him. He loses it if he moves. A special election would be held within two weeks to select a replacement.

Box Office

(Continued from Page 2)

Obsession. The widow falls in love with the gardener but is inhibited in taking action because of what her children and the town think. The movie which could have easily been converted into a 99 installment radio soap opera, shows through Tuesday at the State Theatre.

ANOTHER EPIC of the guided love is There's Always Tomorrow which shows Sunday through Tuesday at the Florida Theatre.

To fill out the rest of the week, Sunday and Monday you can catch the Same Eleven O'Clock at the Ritz, or Pearl of the South Pacific at the Cuban Drive-In. Forbidden Games, a showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz, and toward the end of the week you can see One Summer of Happiness, Three Artists and Models and Two Gun Lady at the Ritz, or the Perry Highway Drive-In with Bamboo Prison and Marshal is Coming show at the Capitol Drive-In.

Writer Describes

From Page 1

as a reporter.

Her reporter, according to the rules of the game, is impartial. Well, nearly.

At nearly every meeting some friendly senator would notice his agitation and reply that the Chief that I might speak my thoughts. Then I'd have to write the story.

Senate became used to this. So accustomed, in fact, that only two weeks ago a Senator referred to me as "Senator Dockman" during an address he himself was delivering, not at all impassionately.

Should Be Record'd

Wednesday's session, when ought to be recorded for posterity in some more impressive form than the duplicating numbers, was notable. There was less excitement among the Senators than at any prior time, even as the crucial vote approached. In true Senatorial fashion, they wandered in and out the door and it hardly seemed that a quorum was present at the end.

It will seem anti-climatic to Senate after this. About the only thing that could happen would be for Student Body President Connie Moore Jr. to veto the bill—and if he does, student senators are grumbling, something drastic will follow from their part.

EMORY UNIVERSITY, Ga. (ACP)—The Emory Wheel ran across this short-short in its "Humor Past" column:

"Yes, I'll give you a penny for your thoughts."

"No! I'm a college graduate."

"Okay. I'll show you how."

Youth Conference Set On Campus

Theme of the Intercollegiate Rural Youth Conference which here today and tomorrow will be "What Do You Think?".

Attending the conference will be Florida State University and University of Florida 4-H Club members. State 4-H Club officials here for the events are — Woodrow Brown, state boys' 4-H Club agent; Grant Godwin, assistant state boys' 4-H Club agent; Miss Emily Kina, state girls' 4-H Club; and Miss Alma Mae Sikes, state home demonstration agent.

The conference begins tonight at 7 as Dr. Mode L. Stone, assistant dean of the School of Education, lectures on the topic, "Do You Think."

Immediately following the lecture, a banquet, sponsored by the Florida Chain Store Council, the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce, and Florida State Fair, will be given.

Presiding at the banquet will be Miss Virginia Nesmith, president of the FSU 4-H Club.

The second phase of the conference will break tomorrow morning at 9, with co-ordinator Dr. Ruth J. Dales, associate professor of the health and Family Living Department, speaking on the topic "How Does an Effective Member Think." This phase of the conference will last all day and ends with a summarization by James Gorman of the Florida Chain Store Council.

4-H committee chairman for the conference are June Stoutamire, publicity; Jackie Bauder, program; Gail Burdsell, registration; and Earlene Ford and Norma Perry, banquet.

DID YOU KNOW—Reports that Sumter Lowry was going to speak on the FSU campus turned out to be groundless.

DID YOU KNOW — Requests have been made for student suggestions on next year's homecoming dance band . . . send to Student Government.

Rural Youth Conference—Engaging in pre-conference planning are, l to r , James Lee, UF; Margie MacDonald and Carol DeVore, FSU, and Jimmy Cummings, UF.

FOR ALL YOUR DAILY NEEDS---GO TO

BILL S BOOK STORE

Scottish Massage for Tense Nerves and Muscular Aches & Pains

MARCH SPECIALS
Gyps, Niagara, Mechano
Spot Reducing—
5 Treatments $10.00
FOR HOT WEATHER $1.00
Alcohol, Witchhazel Rub
Relax Before Cocktail
Refreshers and Invigorators
CHARLES MASSAGE CENTER
109 W. College
Phones 222-M 22082

You get a lot to like
-filter
-flavor
flip-top box

NEW FLIP-TOP BOX
Firm to keep cigarettes from crushing. No tobacco in your pocket.

Marlboro
THE NEW FILTER CIGARETTE FROM PHILIP MORRIS

Thank a new recipe for the man-size flavor.
It comes full through the filter with an easy draw.
Thank the Flip-Top Box for the neatest cigarette package you ever put in your pocket or purse. Popular filter price.

(MADE IN RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, FROM A NEW PHILIP MORRIS RECIPE)

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

SIGMA CHI DERBY
Set Saturday
(See Story, Page 1)

Vol. XLI, No. 37 ☆35

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

Tuesday, March 13, 1956

Sigma Chi Derby Set For Saturday On Hockey Field

Annual Event Will Spoof Kentucky Derby; Proceeds Go To 'Chest'

The annual Sigma Chi Derby is slated for Saturday afternoon on the Women's Hockey field.

Run in the form of a comic track meet, it is a take-off on the Kentucky Derby with sororities competing.

Representatives from the 18 sororities on campus are meeting this week with Sigma Chi coaches as assigned to work with them in developing short exits for the races.

Scheduled events are key hunt, change clothes race, broom hockey, obstacle race, egg smash, trireyor race and a special secret event.

A collection will be taken up during the Derby for the Campus Chest.

Giant Motorcade

A giant motorcade is scheduled to begin the event which sorority has been asked to compete in decorating three cars for the parade, reports Jess Graham Carruthers, chairman of the Derby.

The motorcade will wind through town and campus until it arrives at the field around 2 p.m. when the Derby will start.

A dance at the Student Center will conclude the Derby Day activities. The Derby queen will be crowned and trophies for the events presented at that time.

Candidates Entered

Each sorority has entered one candidate for queen. She will be presented at the Derby in the afternoon and at the Derby dance.

Last year 1400 spectators watched the Derby as Kappa Alpha Theta took first place for the sixth straight time. Trophies will be awarded to each sorority taking first place in individual events and to the five, second, and third place winners for the entire Derby.

The idea of a Derby was founded by Jay Shapiro at the University of Georgia, twenty-one years ago.

Constitution Is Drawn Up, May Be Put To Vote

A new university constitution has been drafted by a faculty committee and may soon be put to a faculty vote the Florida Flambeau has learned.

A member of a committee which has been working two years on the new document said it will concern mainly faculty-administration relationships and will not affect student government.

The tentative constitution was to be debated last night at a meeting of the local American Association of University Professors chapter.

Official action must be taken, in order, by the entire Faculty Senate, the whole faculty, President Doak S. Campbell, and finally by the Board of Control, which is the governing authority of the university.

The president's office said yesterday no Faculty Senate meeting has been called yet but that one is anticipated.

Members of the Senate committee have been Dr. Rogers D. Mize, chairman; Dr. Marian Irish, Dean Laurence N. Campbell, Dean Charles Rowells, Dr. Ben Weil, Dr. William Randel on leave this year), and Dr. Kelly Nunn.

Speaking Of Speakers

Ogburn Lecture Slated Tomorrow

Dr. William Ogburn will speak on "The Doctrine of Cultural Lag" tomorrow morning.

Dr. Ogburn, visiting professor of sociology, will speak at 11 a.m. in 194 History. Formerly with the University of Chicago, he is the author of several books on sociology.

Judicial Talk Set Thursday

An opportunity to learn about judicial duties and responsibilities at all levels of government will be given Thursday.

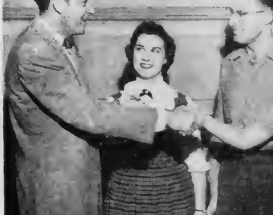
A panel of five judges will be presented in the Supreme Court building at 8 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall by the business law department of the School of Business. K. M. Shaver of the faculty will serve as moderator.

Panelists will be Judge Doster Dwane of the federal district court, Justice B. K. Roberts of the state supreme court, Judge May Walker of the circuit court, Judge Lawrence Renfroe of the Leon County court and Judge John Rodd of the Tallahassee City court.

Shaver said each judge will be allowed about 12 minutes to explain the functions and proceedings of his court, and then there will be a period for questions from the audience.

Liddell Addresses Philosophy Club

Dr. Anne Forbes Liddell will address the Philosophy Club tonight on the topic of "Aesthetic Judgement."



The meeting will start at 8 p.m. in room 313 of the Old Democratic Row School.

Dr. Liddell has been a Professor of Philosophy at Florida State for the past 30 years, teaching in the field of aesthetics. She received her Bachelor's degree and her Doctor's degree at Chapel Hill, University of North Carolina, and her Master's degree at Cornell University.

Thornal Addresses Politics Group

Justice Campbell Thornal of the Florida Supreme Court will address the Politics Club, tomorrow night.

The address will be given in the Trophy Room of the Student Center at 7:30 p.m. An Orlando attorney, Justice Thornal has been on the court a year.

Soloists—For the University Symphony Concert to be given Friday night at 8:15 in Westcott Auditorium are congratulated by conductor Robert Sedore, left. Soloists are, from r., Dolores Cosio, James Staples and Ellen Snow Frank.

Students Perform Friday

Traffic Group Revises Campus Auto Regulation

The student body traffic committee, at a recent meeting, revised and restated certain regulations and infringements, announced Carolyn Redfern, chief campus traffic cop.

No parking will be permitted near fire hydrants or street entrances to sidewalks and building ramps or along painted yellow curbs.

Vehicles parked on University streets are to be parked parallel to the curb within ten inches of the curb, and within the white lines, unless angle parking is provided and outlined in white lines.

Also, "loading zones" must be observed between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. except on Sundays or University designated holidays.

The maximum speed limit on all campus streets is 20 miles unless otherwise posted. All "stop" and "slow" signs are to be observed. Reckless and careless driving are forbidden on the campus.

Movement of traffic along the campus streets is not to be delayed by stopping in the streets for any other purpose than for parking.

Parking on the lawn or driving on campus where University streets are not provided, is forbidden.

Pedestrians may be held responsible for failure to observe traffic safety regulations on the campus.

Only authorizing individuals will be permitted to park in areas reserved for handicapped students.

Specific traffic infringements are marking in a special sticker some without the proper sticker; and paying no attention between 8:30 and 8 a.m., Sunday through Thursday.

Student Traffic Court meets at 2:30 p.m. on Tuesdays in Room 208 Longmire to hear appeals of students who were issued traffic tickets during the preceding week.

Fines may be paid Monday through Friday between the hours of 8 and 5 p.m. in 208 Longmire or 104 Westcott Building if no appeal is to be made, said Miss Redfern.

Symphony Event Features Soloists

Three student soloists have been chosen for the forthcoming Florida State University Symphony concert.

Featured in this third concert of the season, scheduled for Friday at 8:15 p.m. in Westcott, are Ellen Snow Frank, soprano; Dolores Cosio, pianist; and James Staples, pianist.

To begin the all-classical program the orchestra will render Mozart's Overture to Il Seraglio; after which, Ellen Snow Frank, senior music education major in voice, will sing "Queen of the Night" from the Magic Flute by Mozart, and "Caro Nome" from Rigoletto by Verdi. She is a student of Ruth Krug.

Cosio Plays

Senior piano major Dolores Cosio will then play the Adagio and Rondo movements from Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 5. Miss Cosio, who is from the studio of Edward Kilenyi, has played as soloist for the Tampa Philharmonic Orchestra.

After intermission the orchestra has chosen as its second selection Chopin's Nocturnes by Debussy. To conclude the concert James Staples, senior piano major, will play "Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini" by Rachmaninoff.

Staples, who is from the studio of Carlisle Floyd, has been successful in southern musical competitions as well as appeared with the Fort Lauderdale Symphony.

No Charge

Robert Sedore, symphony conductor, explains that these concerts, which are open to the public without charge, feature several of the school's students. This season some six young artists have been given the opportunity to perform, which, in itself, implies a certain measure of honor and recognition of unusual talent and proficiency, he stated.

To qualify the student must be a senior or master's candidate in the school of music, and be sponsored by his teacher. A jury committee of the school of music finally then hears the student perform and recommends with their approval the young musician to the Executive Committee and conductor of the University Symphony. The final selection then lies with the director of the Symphony, conductor Sedore.

Coeds: Should They Compete?

Did you know that FSU women athletes are not allowed to compete on an intercollegiate basis? Is it wrong—or right?

For the entire story and an analysis see "From the Press Table" on page 3.

Story Deadline Is Extended

The deadline for the annual Smoke Signals' short story contest has been extended from this Friday to Wednesday, March 21 said Don Heidel, Smoke Signals editor.

At least a dozen scripts have been submitted so far and two or three more are expected, said Heidel.

John D. McDonald, contemporary author, will judge the prose, second and third place entries of the short story. First place award will be $10 and the second and third place winners will also have their works printed in the April issue of Smoke Signals. The judge for the poetry has not yet been selected.

The short stories should be approximately 1500 words and both short stories and "poems must be typewritten, said Heidel.

21 Eligible For Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman scholastic honorary has announced that approximately 21 men are eligible for membership.

Maintaining at least a 3.5 average for fall semester were Arthur Abercrott, Tex Alderman, Thomas Bennett, John Braswell, Bradley Canon and Allen Crowell.

Oliver Dixon, Rufus Jennings, Robert Kelso, Lemmie Kerce, Raymond Liebau, Paul Meador, Joe Neggers, James Peacock, David Rimm, Allen Russell and Robert Sanchez.

Also William Stevens, Robert Swift, Joseph Valent, and James Watkins.

Initiation will be held in early April, explained Joseph Crane, president of the honorary.

Supreme Court Tells UF To Admit Negro

Hawkins Wins 7-Year Battle For Admittance

The United States Supreme Court yesterday ordered Virgil Hawkins, 46-year-old Negro, admitted immediately to the University of Florida law school.

He has sought admission for almost seven years.

In effect, the Court ruled he could not be kept out pending a study now being made by the Board of Control for a decision sooner appointed by the Florida Supreme Court.

As the case involves the admission of a Negro to a Florida professional school, there is not reason for delay" the opinion stated.

Reference was made to earlier cases in which admission of Negroes to graduate schools had been ordered. These included the Universities of Texas and Oklahoma.

"He is entitled to prompt admission under the rules and regulations applicable to other qualified candidates," the Court said of Hawkins.

Was Direct Result

The current questionnaire survey familiar to students was undertaken as a direct result of the Hawkins case. The state Supreme Court was ordered to reconsider an earlier decision against Hawkins after the desegregation ruling of 1954 and 1955.

Last fall the State Court voted five to two to postpone Hawkins' admission until a study could be made whether "public interest" would be created by his admission.

The two in the minority said he should be admitted immediately.

Buses Segregated

The Attorney General's office issued a statement late yesterday afternoon, stating the decree as "an unprecedented departure from the [illegible] Court's established methods of equitable procedure."

It added that the actions of the Board of Control and of the Florida Supreme Court have been in good faith.

"In filing a brief in opposition

(Continued on Page 4)

'Ah, Wilderness' Ends Run Tonight

Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness" will play for the last time tonight in Conrad Theatre as the curtain rises at 8:15.

Good crowds have attended in the past nights but good seats are still available for tonight's performance it was announced yesterday Mrs. Katheryn Vernon, administrative assistant of speech and drama, said tickets were still left at her office in Westcott Building.

Don Johnson stars as Richard Miller, a 16-year-old boy who represents the young O'Neill. Carol Owen plays his gal next door.

John Estes is cast as a bartender while Lois Friedman plays the worldly woman in Miller's life. Alan Kase is a traveling salesman

Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness" will play for the last time tonight in Conrad Theatre as the curtain rises at 8:15.

Good crowds have attended in the past nights but good seats are still available for tonight's performance it was announced yesterday Mrs. Katheryn Vernon, administrative assistant of speech and drama, said tickets were still left at her office in Westcott Building.

Don Johnson stars as Richard Miller, a 16-year-old boy who represents the young O'Neill. Carol Owen plays his gal next door.

John Estes is cast as a bartender while Lois Friedman plays the worldly woman in Miller's life. Alan Kase is a traveling salesman or 75 cents for non-students.

Familiar to Conrad theatergoers will be Bo Thomas and Marjorie Tindell, in the roles of Miller's parents, John Paul Davis, as an older brother, and Bill King, as a friend who set the youth a date with the sophisticated older woman played by Lou Friedman; Ruth Harvard and David Wade, as a couple who have been going steady for 17 years. Walter Bass, as the father of the girl next door, and Nancy Cubeas as the hero's kid sister.

Dr. Paul W. Dewey directs the production. Tickets are on sale in Westcott ticket booth for active FSU students' free and 40 cents

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Calculated Risk Pays Off Well

By DAVID WARD-STEINMAN

It is very daring for a director to cast a complete novice in a leading role, but it is even more daring for no matter how good he may be in rehearsal, there is no way of telling what he will do before the footlights. But with Don Johnson, the "novice," in Ah, Wilderness!, the risk paid off.

Johnson performed like an old trouper, and he was completely convincing and consistent. He played the part of a seventeen-year-old adolescent in Eugene O'Neill's semi-autobiographical play, presented by the Speech Department this weekend. In the role, a complex one, demands versatility in handling a variety of emotional problems, yet Johnson proved himself more than equal to the task.

Stabilizing Force

The stabilizing force in the play was undoubtedly Eb Thomas who played Nat Miller, the father. While this role is not necessarily a central one, it became so in Eb's gifted hands. It was evident from the occasionally ecstatic actions of the other players that Eb Thomas was the mainstay who kept things going. His portrayal was, in a word, flawless.

David Wade, making his debut, played a role that was perfectly suited to him—that of Nat Miller's easy-going brother-in-law. At first, Wade's mumbled lines were inaudible, but he soon warmed into the part. He has a natural flair for comedy, but he had not completely solved the difficult problem of getting his lines across while portraying a convincing drunk.

Other Lead

Marjorie Tindell had the other leading role as Miss Thomas' mother. Some of her lines at first were rather weak and spoken but the characterization was believable.

Carol Sue Owen, also making her debut, gave an unusually sensitive performance as Don Johnson's girl friend. She had only one scene late in the third act, but it was perhaps the most difficult one in the play. It is hard to portray adolescent love without being maudlin or gushy, while still being believably sincere, yet both Johnson and Miss Owen stood the test.

Good Performances

There were three other playing which gave noteworthy performances though their roles were of a minor nature. They were Bill King Alan Kase,

(Continued on Page 4)

Minstrel Show Is 'Something New'

Something new in entertainment on FSU's campus is planned for March 21. "When Cork Was King", an original minstrel show will open then.

The event, sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha, professional and honorary music fraternity, is for the benefit of the Choral Union opera fund.

Written and directed by Raymond Austin and Gene Rowell, the production includes a cast of students performing in more than 20 specialty acts explained Austin.

Frances Pemberton, of the School of Music faculty, will perform with the Ruth Telfer Girls, a dancing chorus. They will present "Charleston."

Peter Peek, recently seen in "New Moon," will be a guest star in the performance. He is soon to play at Eastern in the Union's presentation of Bizet's Carmen.

Tickets for the performance go on sale tomorrow in the Westcott ticket booth and the School of Music office. Admission is 50 cents.

There are two scheduled performances, a matinee at 4 p.m. and an evening performance at 8:15.

Campus Cutie Of The Week

Photo by Jerry Mock, Mike Smith

MISS PATTY MORLEY
Sophomore English Major, Kappa Delta Sorority

Dance Issue Response Lags

No response has been received yet on student preference for a Homecoming dance, Bill Hall announced Graham Carothers, Gold Key president.

Carothers who asked students last week to let him know who they wanted to play at the Homecoming dance and yesterday that letters were being sent to all sorority presidents for a decision on the problem.

The Gold Key president is traditionally in charge of the dance, he said, and has the responsibility for contracting a band.

We want to get started early on these arrangements," he added Carothers, "so we will have a wider choice of orchestras.

Another problem before the student body is whether to have one big dance or several small ones sponsored by individual organizations. The new Men's Gymnasium will solve the problem that has confronted the University for years.

Students have been asked to send their views on this problem to Graham Carothers in care of the Lonaimre Building by Campus Mail.

Oxford Economist Lectures On 'Retreat From Socialism'

In Longmire

By BOB DOLLISON

Professor John Jewkes, English economist from Oxford University lectured here Thursday on "The Retreat From Socialism In Great Britain."

In his talk, Professor Jewkes attempted to present a picture of the economic situation in his country today.

"The present situation," he stated, "has its origin in the fact that the incoming governing body, after the end of the last war, found it necessary to reduced the government powers."

Prof. Jewkes listed these new government powers as the establishment of free national health service the nationalization of such as coal mining and transportation, and greatly supported housing projects.

During the war it was necessary for the British government to control industry, but after the war this trend was continued by choice, to experiment with the effectiveness of these socialistic policies during peace-time.

Dismantle Projects

However, he explained, when the Conservative Party came in to power in 1951, they dismantled many of these projects, specifically de-nationalizing freight and transport industries, iron and steel industries.

The reason for this, he explained, was government stopped, to a large extent, the importing of raw materials, and also ended the financial control, encouraged private interprise to take over the housing projects, and cut government expenditures on free medical aid to $400 millions.

Increase

Jewkes pointed out that the government is now threatening that the expected increase efficiency from workers working for their country" under a nationalized set-up was not forthcoming. In fact, it decreased. In other words, less production at higher expense resulted from the nationalization of industry.

The reason for this paradox was primarily the fact that salaries, for the most part, were established. Simply, the English worker knew that he wouldn't get any more money for working harder; so his incentive was destroyed.

The Situation

Here is the situation in England today according to Jewkes: All personal incomes are now taxed at a rate of 40%, with a progressively higher income tax for correspondingly higher incomes. The sales tax on all commodities ranges from 6-100% as with a future outlook of increases in this last field.

The reason for these high taxes is that, at present, England is suffering from a hyperinflation. Theoretically, to alleviate this situation, the prices will go down if the people have less money to spend

Unemployment Too Low

Prevention, Jewkes said, though, is the fact that national unemployment is quite low. Consequently, when jobs are plentiful, salaries will naturally rise, thus placing more money in circulation to increase inflation.

Also, Professor Jewkes said that the conservative governments have found that when prices of everyday commodities are increased by taxes, the labor unions demand salary increases for their members. Thus, the cycle continues, with the English worker knowing that he wouldn't get ahead.

Prof. Jewkes predicted that the Labor Party would employ the following "planks" in their platform for the next elections: (1) No nationalization of industry, (2) emphasis on nationalization distribution of income, and (3) an attempt to establish economic equality by raising inheritance taxes, and capital gains taxes.

Caught In Their Own Trap

The efforts of zealous Louisianians to prevent Negroes from voting have backfired in at least one instance.

One supervisor of registration in Louisiana has interpreted literally a law that voters must be able to read and interpret any sections of the United States Constitution.

She has applied it to whites as well as Negroes, with the result that more whites have been disqualified than Negroes.

Undoubtedly, more whites have attempted to vote have Negroes. But the interests who would profit by denying some citizens their rights have lost more than they realized.

Louisiana is one of the states where, historically, it has been fairly easy to get elected by "dugger-baiting." The more hate a politician can demonstrate toward Negroes, the more popular he is with the white element that feels this way.

Well, look what's happened. The segregationists are depriving themselves of their own support. There isn't any justice.

This one instance is undoubtedly the product of one official's integrity and intelligence. There is no telling how she intends to enforce it with malice toward none. This has engendered no little malice toward her from some of her fellow officials, but at last reports she was still holding firm.

Progressive Cowboys Vs. Indians

Americans never have been proud of the duplicity, treachery, and avarice employed in crushing the native Indian tribes whom white settlers found on this continent.

They, however, seem to be an evil of the past, and what is done is done. Or so we say. According to two nationally respectable and forthright magazines, the crime against the Indians is still being committed.

The magazines are Harper's, whose article on the question is "The Raid on the Reservations" and Atlantic, which discusses "Uprooting the Indians." It is very unusual when two magazines seize the same issue concurrently.

In both articles the Relocation program of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, part of the Interior Department, is singled out for some pointed and searching criticism.

Indians are being coaxed and cajoled into move from the wretched reservations that were once guaranteed them (as had been larger areas before) to cities, where the amenities of civilization await them.

From their underdeveloped rural homes they are thrust, often without a good knowledge of English, into grimy factories, slum dwellings, and sordid condition.

The Indian Bureau pays their fare, sustains them until the first paycheck is in, and then forgets them. The job of protecting them from a raucous and impersonal city culture is undertaken, if it all, by private organizations who are financially and numerically unequal to the task.

This is as far as Atlantic goes. But the Harper's article is even more damning.

Atlantic notes that the Indian reservations are slowly disappearing, but Harper's pulls no punches: The Indians are deliberately being swift-talked out of their homelands, robbed of them through Congressional legislation, and denied the chance to develop them through the caprices and designs of the Interior Department.

Harper's maintains this is but a continuation of the traditional policy of getting the Indian's land from him, by fair means or foul. Usually foul.

Ira Hayes, one of the six Marines who raised the flag on Iwo Jima, was one of the notable victims of this policy. He was coaxed from the reservation. In Chicago he fell prey to the Indian's peculiar nemesis, Alcohol, and returned, a broken man, to the reservation, he died there not so long ago of America's shame.

Land promoters made the victim of a policy that has ignored integrity and agreement for expediency and "progress."

Letters To The Editor

(The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic, and provides this space for student opinion. The letters do not have to coincide with the views of the paper, but must be in good taste. Unsigned letters will not be published, but names will be withheld upon request in cases where the reasons are deemed adequate by the editor. Letters about most exceed 250 words, or 25 typewritten lines.)

Gives "Real" Story On Natural Bridge

TO THE EDITOR:

In last Friday's Flambeau reporter Oscar Johnson presented in an ordinary, very sloppy, sketchy and unimaginative account of FSU being "called over" by the Confederate Flag on the previous Tuesday.

His explanation as to what commemorated a "glorious event in the history of the Civil War."

Perhaps reported Johnson is best either made it a practice to get all the facts and write a complete story, or not write a column at all.

I'm not attempting to give a complete account of the Battle of Natural Bridge here and now, but perhaps the student body would like to know why the Confederate flag was flown from Westcott that week end and what it commemorates.

Back in January, 1851, that university had its beginning as the Florida Institute, and after January 1, 1857 became known as the West Florida Seminary. It offered primary as well as secondary instruction, and by 1865 the enrollment was limited to boys under military age, perhaps from 8 to 17 years inclusive.

By February, 1865, the Confederacy was in its death throes but Tallahassee was the only Confederate capital unoccupied by Federal forces, and the railroad between Tallahassee and St. Marks the last vital link. On March 4, 1865, Federal troops landed at St. Marks and marched eastward, presumably to destroy the railroad and take Tallahassee. There were no regular Confederate Army troops here to defend the city, so Governor Milton ordered out the Militia, or Home Guard, and the West Florida Seminary Cadets to fight the Federals.

A bunch of ill-equipped prisons; old men, cripples, a few regular troops recovering from previous battles, and some high school kids, (they left those under 6 years old at home) made a stand for the Confederacy at Natural Bridge.

It was no "glorious event" as reporter Johnson described it, it wasn't even a full scale battle. The militia's ranks already broken by miles of swamps, thirsty, and many quitos. Probably the last thing they wanted was a battle, and they didn't get one. They fled.

Likewise I'm sure the defenders of Natural Bridge looked on a sigh of relief when the Yankees retreated after a brief skirmish. Hardly a glorious event in the history of the Civil War."

Perhaps reported Johnson is best either made it a practice to get all the facts and write a complete story, or not write a column at all.

I'm not attempting to give a complete account of the Battle of Natural Bridge here and now, but perhaps the student body would like to know why the Confederate flag was flown from Westcott that week end and what it commemorates.

Back in January, 1851, that university had its beginning as the Florida Institute, and after January 1, 1857 became known as the West Florida Seminary. It offered primary as well as secondary instruction, and by 1865 the enrollment was limited to boys under military age, perhaps from 8 to 17 years inclusive.

By February, 1865, the Confederacy was in its death throes but Tallahassee was the only Confederate capital unoccupied by Federal forces, and the railroad between Tallahassee and St. Marks the last vital link. On March 4, 1865, Federal troops landed at St. Marks and marched eastward, presumably to destroy the railroad and take Tallahassee. There were no regular Confederate Army troops here to defend the city, so Governor Milton ordered out the Militia, or Home Guard, and the West Florida Seminary Cadets to fight the Federals.

A bunch of ill-equipped prisons; old men, cripples, a few regular troops recovering from previous battles, and some high school kids, (they left those

SINCERELY
JIM BRODERICK

DefendsCommittee On Sandspur

TO THE EDITORIAL STAFF:

It is extremely unfair to examine the editorial page of the Flambeau has been surrounded to such an extent that the whole group sat Horn, Dyckman, and Schiffermuller. Our page (editorial page) is supposed to bring us unbiased news and present both sides of a question where a controversy exists. Instead this board has repeatedly violated journalistic ethics by using these valuable columns to air their own personal opinions and dislikes. Even if this could be condoned, the recent article by writer Wolkin in which he used over 15 average column inches of space in the school paper to brood about the fact that his script was turned down. What made matters worse is that the Flambeau crowded out 56 more inches of other news, deprived of much greater interest, to devote this space to column 1 an one-hundred per cent for "freedom of the press" but I cannot mention "abuse of the press" for personal desires.

Wilshoe's article was slanted in such a way as to strongly discredit Jack Rogers and the Sandspur committee. In the first place I have been in the university, we have never had a more responsible, dedicated and interested group in charge of this event as the present Sandspur committee.

I was on the Sandspur committee for a short period and read a part of Wilshoe's comedy (?) at that time, although I do not remember my way or the other for accepting or rejecting the script. Personally, I think it was one of the most unliterary and definitely writings I had ever read. There was no central plot. It was slow and drawn out, and it would have been meaningless and impractical to produce with the numerous color changes required. Sex and off-color jokes were woven throughout, and coming from one who claims Asbury, Rugger, and Orange Peel are conservative this is a lot.

No Wilshoe, the committee didn't hold your previous Smoke Signal article against you. They were desperate for any reasonably adaptable script, but yours was far too much.

AL HOLDERBACH.

(Editor's Note. The staff allowed Wilshoe to present his side of the controversy. A news story verified the other side.)

It Could Be Verse

(Editor's Note: The following version of Tennessee Ernie's top Hit, "Sixteen Tons" was printed in the Western Herald—also forwarded in the man himself.)

OF MICE
By STEVE McALEID
Funny world—
The cobbler
Celebrate
At times
Most unpropriate,
While the say
Unpublished,
Exhibited,
Profess
To be inviolate.

SIXTEEN HOURS
'Some people say a man is made outa mud—
A college graduate made with coffee for blood;
Coffee for blood and a fact funned brad,
Sleepless eyes and the sitter's spread.

Chorus
Ya carry sixteen hours,
An what the heck for?
A bound dog's smarter and a plumber makes more
Saint Peter, I'm sorry but I can't report
I've dragged my soul through the sheep skim mill
Had a hell of a hard since
I was a pup.
Gotta get a diploma to stuff it up.
Every sixteen hours that I get through
The administration says 'Bully for you'.

Chorus
When you see me comin', well I have a big frown
All the muscle I got is between my ears
A few more hours and I'll have my fill
If the Devil don't get me then the draft board will!"

"We Wouldn't Want To See You Get Into An Arms Race"

ACP Notes

Capers On The Campai

A MOVING EXPERIENCE

ACP — Those come via the Over the Ivy Leaf column in the Kansas State Collegian.

It just had to happen some day . . . and now it has! A Texas coed finally had to resort to a moving van to transfer her wardrobe from one college residence to another. Total cost — only six dollars! Sounds like an idea that might catch on.

One student's curses got the better of him at the University of Illinois. An employee of the student union, he became fascinated by a new-fangled dishwasher, recently installed . . . a conveyor belt affair that sends dishes through 24 feet of soaping and rinsing.

He figured, quite sagately, that if dishes could be washed in it, why not humans?

Since the waiter was turned off, he began a dry run, climbing on and stretching out on one end of the conveyor belt.

He rode along the belt through the various compartments and as he sailed out the other end, he "was greeted" by a supervisor who happened to be passing by. Result of his curiosity . . . he's no longer an employee of the student union.

THINGS ARE ROUGH

MANHATTAN, KANSAS (ACP)—It's known that beef prices were down, but who knew they were as low as that? Even the Kansas State College Collegian indicates

A new depth was reached this week on the cattle market. A farmer down in Missouri sent a 2-week-old farmer calf to market. It sold for $1.25. The sales barn charges 80 cents for commission, 25 cents for yard fees and 5 cents for insurance.

Prior to arrival, the farmer thought he had a neat 33-cent profit. Then the trucker handed him a $1 statement for hauling. So, in the end, he lost 63 cents.

TROY, NEW YORK — (ACP)

—In a recent issue, the Rensselaer Polytechnic carried these chuckles, which were originally printed in the Illinois Technology News.

"You can't beat the system." moaned a student, looking over his grades for the past semester. "I decided to take basket weaving for a snap course, but two Navajos enrolled, raised the curve, and I flunked."

All right, so it isn't the funniest you've read. How about this one?

A college freshman was being severely criticized by his professor.

"Your last paper was very difficult to read," said the professor. "Your work should be written so that even the most ignorant will be able to understand it."

"Yes, sir," said the student. "What part didn't you get?"

NEW COURSE AT SMU

DALLAS, TEXAS — ACP — The United States' first privately supported graduate program exclusively devoted to teaching foreign attorneys about the American system of law and government has been initiated at the Southern Methodist University. It is called the Academy of American law and has a $50,000 budget underwritten by the Hobbitzelle Foundation of Dallas.

The first class is made up of 15 students from 12 nations. All have degrees in law and were judges, public prosecutors, legal advisors or practicing attorneys in their own countries. Upon completion of their studies at the Academy the foreign lawyers will receive Master's degrees.

Alabaster II

MacLeish Penetrates The Progress

BY JAY ROBERTSON

THIS MONTH'S Atlantic carries a powerful denunciation of the contemporary trend away from art in favor of "scientific" explorations. Archibald MacLeish, the author and nationally recognized poet of our day, argues against the idea of man's ability to derive anything in relation to himself.

He says, "It is through abstraction alone that we are to find what a real in our experience of our lives—and so conceivably, what is real in ourselves." Or, as we need another way of knowing . . . by bringing us ourselves to contact with them—and to contact with each other—man and tree face to face in the shock of recognition, man and love face to face?"

While the argument is an excellent defense of poetry, his words take on even more significance when read as a warning sign for collegiate youth's obsession with science, logic, and the so-called abstraction of reality.

We can live on abstraction, as MacLeish points out, but we become "men whose days are a web of statistics, and names, and business deals, held together by the parentheses of a pair of commuting trains with three Martinis at the close."

The article brought the following lines from a college student:

STEREOTYPE him as you may—a college youth with no ambition.

Most likely to succeed, you say? By his own volution?

A noble lad of Freudian stock—The well-implanted "iama"

Mark his forehead high — And many are the prisms

Through which he sees himself. But what is this labyrinth?

Of a man whom Science has conditioned? Does he see infrection

The Dissenter

Comics Defining The Social Sciences

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

THE FIRST FRIEND one arrives in college, he has learned a little about concerning his Sunday reading habits.

He buys a newspaper, and in true intellectual fashion peruses the front page—swiftly, but in that grabs the comic section, which is the real reason he bought the paper.

But despite his preliminary attentions to the front page, someone is sure to comment, in passing, "Getting your education for the day, eh?"

This remark, usually made by someone who has just finished his own comic section, is intended to make the victim feel very small and unlettered.

It shouldn't.

The comic pages of our daily and Sunday newspapers have become the poor man's reader in contemporary literature. And in many cases, they are all the more powerful as media of propaganda.

This was recently discussed in a Harper's magazine article, but since then, several developments illustrative of this point have arisen.

AL CAPP, WHOSE Li'l Abner strip is a social satire in a popular vein, has just preached a lesson in tolerance that can not possibly have failed to make itself clear to all who pause at the comic page.

Capp, it is said, has moved to Dogpatch but has immediately aroused hatred from the local yokels. They resent that they have square eyes.

As mobs are formed to run them out of town—or worse—Mammy Yokum finds one of her children has square eyes, and she is horrified. She frees the child and takes him home, making

Of All Things

Suggests New Feature For Paper

By OSCAR JOHNSON

THIS COLUMNIST is thinking of establishing a new feature for the benefit (dubious though it may be) of the Florida Flambeau.

This new feature would be the outgrowth of a seeming desire on the part of students to let their pet ideas, peeves, etc., expressed in writing. The desire is often expressed by students between conversations in the cafeteria. "Why don't you write something about ——— ?"

One difficulty in fulfilling many requests is that the columnists are not well-enough versed in the subjects suggested. Also, in many cases one pet peeve is the pride of many others important enough to write an article on.

But this new feature, tentatively tandieaps may be to start a feature such as the one this writer has in mind—a "Did You Know" column. Editor Jim Broderick has given approval to the Did You Know idea was first created two years ago by Jerry Pierce and Phil Hall, two of the Flambeau wheel-horses. He was confronted late one deadline day with the necessity of filling several small spaces in the paper, but had nothing to fill them with. So he wrote several interesting and somewhat useless factual newsitems and filled the holes with them.

THIS WEEK THE same situation—holes to fill—came again and was met in the same manner. Perhaps the Did You Knows were established to be filled in this same manner. Perhaps the Did You Knows were established to be filled in this same manner. They led to the idea of a regular feature.

In The Wings

Dohnanyi—Kilenyi Draw Crowds

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

The annual Dohnanyi-Kilenyi duo-piano recital was presented in Opperman last week-end. Instead of one, we were treated to two performances had to be given on successive nights.

It was a pleasure to see the recitals in Opperman rather than Westcott. There was more of a feeling of intimacy and empathy with the performers than would be even possible in the larger auditorium, besides the fact that the pianos in Westcott practically unstring, though still new. Somebody really sold the Administration a bill of goods when they talked them into the Steinway and Baldwin grands.

The program was an all-Brahms one, and enlisted the aid of the members of the concluding Love-Seng Waltzes ("Liebeslieder").

The recital spotted with the Sonata in F minor, Opus 34bis in the four-piano arrangement done by Brahms' of what finally became the famous F minor Quintet, for piano and strings. The writing is very idiomatic; in only a few places did I "hear string." The performance was spirited and brilliant. This sonata (in either version) is one of Brahms' noblest conceptions, and the artists performed it with devotion and insight—which was to be expected, considering the stature of the musicians.

The second half of the program began with the Variations on a theme by Haydn, a work which is also known in another version (for orchestra). The theme on which these variations are based is the Chorale to St. Antoni, notable for its five-and-ten-measure phrases, instead of the usual eight-and-eight.

Edith Kaup, Phyllis DeKalb, Walter James, and Robert Farrall formed the mixed quartet for the concluding Liebeslieder waltzes. The performance the songs were sung in English, a questions which there are many pros and cons. The original German is bright and idiomatic, but I have yet to see a vocal translation that equals the original's personality. I think the best solution is to sing them in German, but with translations into Mimetic Kinglish printed on the programs. This solves the aesthetic problem and leaves the singers free to worry about their pronunciation.

The blend of the four voices, unfortunately, was not a happy one. The sound was that of four soloists, rather than an ensemble. I would like to single out for praise Edith Kaup and Walter James, who were the only ones who constantly tried to express visually the meaning of the words they were singing. I am a firm believer that singers should express facially what they are trying to convey vocally.

The balance between piano and quartet was well-night perfect. It was obvious that Kilenyi and Dohnanyi were not hands at this game. The entire evening was a memorable one, and the audience responded enthusiastically.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ——— Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ——— Jeri Bradfield
Wanda Sue Owen, Martin Dyckman
Photographers Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Steve Hall, Adrian Allen
Campus Editor ——— Eleanor Kirby
Columnists ——— Wilshoe, Dave Ward-Steinman, Clyde Ward, Martin Dyckman, Oscar Johnson, Georgie Seminole.

Pat Marston, News Editor
Feature Editor ——— Arlieda Rice
Sports Editors ——— Larry Block
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ——— Ben Baker, Dave Evans, Joe Greene, Tom Hall, Pierce Lubsmbeck
Junior Staff ——— Bob Dollison, Bob Morin
Cross Editor ——— Charles Poitevint

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ——— Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown,
Circulation ——— Mike Brady
Exchange Staff ——— Joy Wilkins
Morgue ——— George Coldstein
Business ——— Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith,
Enid Pearlman, Jane Anderson, Les Meyers
Telephone 2.800, extension 6821, 5521
311, 313 Longmire Building
Intercollegiate Press

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, Inc., Madison Ave., New York 17.
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

The Press Table

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
SPORTS SPECIALIST

It's a wonderful experience to watch a top athlete perform, especially, when that athlete is a gymnast and a lady, the audience is an unparalleled one.

Once each year, Florida State University students witness a so-called "Gymkana." They witness it, they voice their approval, and it's forgotten for another year.

And no one queries the meaning of "Gymkana."

National Titles

To FSU's National Champion gym team, it's a term signifying success. Indirectly, it might be labeled their key to that next peak of aspiration.

To Dr Hartley Price goes the credit for Gymkana. It was his belief that when an athlete combined his athletic grace and prowess with the color and vitality of showmanship, you had supremely wonderful result.

Certainly, that result is witnessed with a great deal of pride on the FSU student body each year. But they must, for the part the basic reasoning behind the efforts of the athletes. It is a simple reasoning, really. But, psychologically, it's a hell one.

When an athlete is doing something he enjoys, it's rather easy to fulfill his success. And when that athlete is combining long hours of practice with the color and bright lights of an event as Gymkana, then he enjoys his work.

The many national titles of the FSU male gymnasts stand as literal representatives of the success of Gymkana.

But—and herein lies our theme—Gymkana's resounding success may be equally attributed to the female athletes who put such a dominating role in its performance.

You'll note we said "female athletes." That's going to annoy some people. But relatively few. And the ladies we're going to speak about like to be referred to that way.

We have on this campus some of the top women gymnasts in the part of the world. And here's the thing that hurts.

The University will not allow them to compete on an intercollegiate basis.

Note this. It sounds like an honor roll of champions.

Beverly Cude

Miss Beverly Cude. Though she's been in competition for no longer than a little over two years, she's come to be regarded as one of Canada's finest products—she comes from Noranda, Quebec. She won the Canadian Bobsl All-Around title, she placed third in the Canadian Dominion All-Around and she swept everything she entered at Naples recently to win the Florida AAU All-Around title.

Barbara Nemelrod

Miss Barbara Nesselrod, perhaps one of the most outstanding gymnasts in the nation. She finished second in the Mid-North AAU in 1953, first in the Central AAU in 1954, second in the Mid-eastern AAU in 1954, second in the Midwestern AAU in 1955, second in the Central AAU in 1955 and first in the Florida AAU in 1955.

Some of the other girls—who haven't won titles because they have been able to compete—include Judy McCoy, Barbara Murphy, Janet Snell, Jan Eberly and Jan Clark.

As to whether a female athlete might be considered a "lady" in the general sense of the word, please note that most of those who make up the particular group come from the school of home economics—and they'll tell you that there's very little difference between their darning and gymnastics routines.

Are ladylike can one be?

Naples Meet

Recall that Florida AAU meet at Naples. Many of you might have read—or seen the article in the "All Florida" magazine—the FSU women athletes paced a Tallahassee Gymnastics Club to an almost every honor the state had to offer at that meet and did they do it without the University's consent? They did it on their own—finances and all.

And despite the fact that the meet took place over the Thanksgiving holidays and the ladies were free from class obligations, they received a bit of reprimanding when they returned.

Pardon the comparison, but you might say they were like the "naughty" kid who came home from school with a shiner in his parent's lament with but one consolation—the pride of being a winner.

Barbara Vickers

But the quality of the FSU lady athletes was known to the state even before the Naples meet. In 1952 Miss Barbara Vickers won not one, but one of the schools finest dancers—led a team to the National AAU meet in Chicago. And without ever having heard of before, that team won the National Drill Team title.

Where, too, they paid their own expenses—and the trophy was brought home and given to the University.

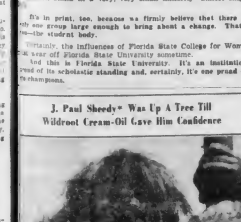
This year, the National AAU meet is to be held at Pennsylvania State University, April 26-29. The male gymnasts will be there defending their national title.

And when those nationals come up, three sams "naughty" girls of the Naples meet insist they're going to be there, too—representing FSU, or as independents.

Represent FSU

We'd like to see them representing FSU.

We realize that this is a touchy situation we're handling here. We can be sure that we've weighed every angle before putting it in print.



But it is in print. And we've made the move because we believe that those who would deny these ladies intercollegiate competition stand in a very, very small minority—almost singularly.

It's in print, too, because we firmly believe that there is only one group large enough to bring about a change. That's the—the student body.

Certainly, the influences of Florida State College for Women and those of Florida State University sometime.

And this is Florida State University. It's an institution proud of its scholastic standing and, certainly, it's one proud of its champions.

J. Paul Sheedy* Was Up A Tree Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

*Sheedy is a Harris Hall Rd., Williamsville, N.Y.

"Sadie my dreams, I love you," said Sheedy outside his sweetie's window. Let her was playing it eager. "Get lost Gargoulon," she said. "I've seen better heads on icecream." Then Sheedy got wise to Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he has confidence in his appearance because Wildroot keeps his hair handsome and healthy looking. Use Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's largest selling hair tonic. Contains no animal fats or mineral oils. No greasy, gummy film. Instead of lanolin, Nature's finest hair and scalp conditioner. So don't monkey around with messy hair. Get Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's largest selling hair tonic. Contains no animal fats or mineral oils. No greasy, gummy film. Instead of lanolin, Nature's finest hair and scalp conditioner. So don't monkey around with messy hair. Get Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's largest selling hair tonic. Contains no animal fats or mineral oils. It gives you confidence in any situation. Use Wildroot Cream-Oil every day and you Congo wrong.

Wildroot Cream-Oil
Gives you confidence

Golds Dull Garnets

Odom, Versprille Pace 19-15 Win

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

A pair of breakaway halfbacks and a stubborn line brought a five-up Gold team from behind in the second half to topple the Garnet, 19-15, in the annual climax to the spring football season in Campbell Stadium Friday night.

Speedsters Billy Odom and Pat Versprille turned on the gas in the second half to jet the Golds into victory and offset a Bud Leonard field goal which had broken a 6-all halftime tie.

Odom galloped 57 yards for the score that gave the Golds the lead for the first time early in the fourth period, shortly after Versprille had a 48-yard TD jaunt taken away from him.

Immediately thereafter, a Garnet fumble put the Golds within range again, and quarterback Vic Prinzi smoked in on the sixth play to nail down the Garnet coffin.

Very Satisfying

Head gridiron coach Tom Nugent, called the contest a "very satisfying" end to the spring season, but stressed that the Seminoles still need work on their passing attack.

Nugent strutted out end Ronnie Schomburger, center Troy Barnes, and backs Lee Corso Burk Mertz, Bobby Renn and Billy Weaver as the men who "promise the most."

He praised particularly the defensive efforts of Barnes, a Junior who may be converted a starting center position with his work Friday night.

The head mentor also pointed to the running of the option play directed by quarterback Bobby Renn, but added that Renn needs "more work on passing."

"Everybody played, of course, and I was particularly impressed with the hard hustle of both teams," he added.

The Garnets broke the scoring ice with less than a minute gone in the second period with a Len Swantic pass to reserve fullback Larry Cummings carrying 11 yards for the damage.

The Golds could not more after the kickoff, and Jerry Henderson made a beautiful punt dead on the Garnet 3, setting off a weird series of exchanges which finally resulted in a Gold touchdown.

Quarterback Len Swantic fumbled on the first play, but opposing tackler Jerry Henderson lost the pushin on the next play, and the Garnets got it back at their own 12.

A Mertz kick went dead at the Gold 49, and they proceeded to bring it back 51 yards to knot the count, the rally produced by a Swantic to Joe Holt pass good for 16 yards.

The hole was blocked and neither team threatened in the remainder six minutes of the opening half, bringing a 8-8 intermission tie.

The Garnets began to drive as soon as they got their hands on the ball after the kickoff, and mainly on the strength of 21 and 14 yard-gallops by Renn and Mertz moved to a first at the Gold 16.

Field Goal

The attack bogged at this point, and Leonard put a new offensive weapon into use with a field goal from the 26 to give the Garnets a 6-5 advantage.

After a pass interception by Freshman Paul Pasquale, the Garnets drove back to a first down at the Gold 17, but a stubborn line halted them cold and the combination of Versprille-Odom went back to work.

A 15 yard pass by Odom set them up at their own 39, and one play later Versprille broke through the line, cut back and danced 48 yards to a score—
(Continued on Page 4)

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA

ENDS TODAY
"THERE'S ALWAYS TOMORROW"
Barbara Stanwyck
Fred MacMurray
Joan Bennett

STARTS WEDNESDAY
"THE CONQUEROR"
Jane Wyman
Susan Hayward
Pedro Armendariz

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

TUESDAY Y. WEDNESDAY
"MY SISTER EILEEN"
Janet Leigh
Jack Lemmon

THURSDA Y. SATURDAY
"ARTISTS AND MODELS"
Dean Martin
Jerry Lewis
—also—
"TWO-GUN LADY"
Peggie Castle
William Talman

STATE

ENDS TODAY
"ALL THAT HEAVEN ALLOWS"
Jane Wyman
Rock Hudson

WEDNESDAY--THURSDAY
"CAMILLE"
Greta Garbo
Robert Taylor

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.

TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY
"LUCY GALLANT"
Jane Fynes
Charlton Heston

THURSDAY - SATURDAY
"MARSHAL IN DISGUISE"
Guy Madison
Andy Devine
—plus—
"BAMBOO PRISON"
Robert Franers
Dianne Foster

RITZ—TUES. - WED.—"FORBIDDEN GAMES"
THURS. - SAT.—"ONE SUMMER OF HAPPINESS"
Ulla Jacobsson, Folke Sudquist

TOUCH DOWN
Fullback Larry Cummings hauls in a pass from Len Swantic for the first Garnet touchdown in the second period of Friday's spring-closed grid [illegible]

Mermen Caught In Undertow; Gators Edge Out Tribe, 43-41

Doug Creighton, outlasted FSU's Jim Jordan in the last lap of the 400 yard relay, to [illegible] a [illegible] Seminole swimming team 43-41 Saturday at the [illegible] of Florida pool.

The Gators trailed 41-36 going into the final event but took all seven points as the capacity crowd broke into cheers.

Although the victory was not as impressive as FSU's 46-18 win at Tallahassee, it was a face-saving performance for Florida.

Ken Abbott was the big gun for a host cause as he won the 200 yard backstroke and the 440-yard freestyle and swam a leg in the losing 400-yard relay team.

Florida's Don Reed and Bill Fisher were the men of the hour for the Gators effort. Reed took individual scoring honors as Fisher came up with a record effort to win the 200-yard breast relay.

Florida took an early lead with wins the 150-yard medley relay with a new pool record of 1:36.1.

Teschke touched in first for the Seminoles in the 220-yard freestyle, but Florida still held nine to five.

Florida took the 50-yard freestyle, but the Tribe lankers went into the lead in the first event when Dick Bittner and Joel Jacobs finished first and second respectively in the 220-yard freestyle meeting.

All-American Craig White took the fancy dive, but got little competition from FSU's B. B. Hinds and Bill Ponder who showed their best form this season.

Tribe tanker Jim Adam summed up the team's feelings when he remarked, "They beat us fair and square, they were up for it we were not."

Seminole Nine Faces Furman

Florida State will open its 1956 diamond slate this coming Friday afternoon when it meets Furman at 3:30 p.m. on East Campus.

The Seminoles return to combat this year with an almost all-veteran team.

Gone from the 1955 squad which compiled a 17-6 record are outfielder Bob Hudson and infielder Billy Campbell.

All of the Tribe's pitchers will get a chance to perform this year because of the lightness of the Seminole schedule according to Danny Litchfiler FSU coach.

Litwhiler's 1955 staff will return intact.

Facing the hurlers will be veterans Max Long and Tom Garcia, both redhanders. Long and Garcia were 4-2 and 3-1 last year.

Bolstering the Seminole pitchin staff this season will be five sophomore who rung up a combined 4-1 record in freshman play last year.

Moving to left filed for the Seminoles will be Fred Twomey, a veteran who has been the Tribe's first baseman for the past two years, and batted .318 last season and blasted six round trippers.

Lee Corso, Florida State halfback, is expected to return to baseball after a years lay-off. Corso who batted .400 in his freshman year had to sit out his sophomore season because of a leg injury. He will be in the lineup as an outfielder.

Saturday, a second encounter with Furman is slated at 1:30 p.m. on East Campus.

Golfers, Gymnasts Roll To Victories

Linksmen Capture First State Title

Florida State's golf team ended the University of Florida's three-year domination of the State Intercollegiate tourney at Ocala last weekend.

FSU's squad won easily with a score of 1:158 The Gators pulled up in second with 1 171, while Miami followed in third with 1,176. Rollins trailed with 1 184.

In the individual play Rollins' Frank Bavasso edged the Tribe's Ed Jenkins in a playoff match that went six holes beyond the regulation 72.

Both men made good shots although the last round Jenkins weighed a shot off the water at the edge of a lake and almost gave it gone. Bavasso sank a beautiful 10-foot putt when he needed it most.

Florida's Dave Regan finished third with 382 and Bob Dunn, FSU sophomore, and Tom Aaron of Florida for fourth place. They both shot a 384.

Jerry Wilkes' wire on the winning FSU squad besides Jenkins and Dunn were Buck Berry and Jack Waylin.

Gym Team Gains Sixth SIGC Crown

Florida State University's champion gymnastics team established over North Carolina and Georgia Tech last Saturday night to win their sixth straight Southern Intercollegiate title.

The final standings showed Florida State on top with 166 points, North Carolina, 35½ points, and Georgia Tech, 27½. The Tribe swept five events and four place in eight out of nine events

The only one to take a first place away from the Seminoles was Bob Waddill from North Carolina who won the rope climb in 7.6 seconds.

The only double winner of the meet was Jamile Ashmore, who swept the tumbling and free exercise events. The high point man of the meet was Rafael Lezama of Florida State, who got a first place in the side horse, second place in the parallel bars, and third places in the horizontal bar and free exercise.

Ronny Amster got a first place in the horizontal bar and second place in the side horse. Lezama also won the all-around title with 1 068 points.

Intramural News

The lid was pried off the intramural volleyball championships last week with all teams in action. Play continues every night, Monday through Thursday, from 6-10:30 p.m., in the Women's North Gym.

Sigma Nu took a lead in the National League with 4 games won, while Phi Kappa Tau and PDT lead the American League with 2 Wins.

Results of last week's fraternity leagues:

SN beat KA 15-4, 15-7
PKT beat KA 16-6, 16-14
PKT beat LTD 11-15, 15-7, 15-13
PAE beat LCA 15-4, 15-7 (forf.)
TEP upset ATO 15-11, 9-15, 6-4
PDT beat SAE 15-12
PDT defeated TEP 15-13
ATO defeated TC 15-13, 15-7
This week's schedule:
Tuesday, March 13—
6:00 PKT vs. TEP
6:45 LCA vs. KA
7:30 LCA vs. RPE (1 game)
7:45 RPE vs. SAE
8:45 DTD vs. ATO
Thursday, March 15—
6:00 SC vs. TEP
7:00 SPE vs. KA
7:45 KS vs. TC
8:45 PDT vs. ATO

1. SUPERIOR TASTE
So good to your taste because of L&M's superior tobaccos. Richer, tastier—especially selected for filter smoking. For the flavor you want, here's the filter you need.

2. SUPERIOR FILTER
So quick on the draw! Yes, the flavor comes clean—through L&M's all white Miracle Tip. Pure white inside, pure white outside for cleaner, better smoking.

RELAX WITH L&M MAKE TODAY YOUR BIG RED LETTER DAY!

Sigma Chi's Sweetheart Chosen At Formal Dance

Betty Lou Whittle has been chosen Sweetheart of Sigma Chi for the a member of Pi Beta Phi, Gainet Key and Village Vamps. Betty Lou was crowned at the AX Sweetheart Formal Saturday night, concluding their annual weekend.

"Zeta Week" a series of ritualistic activities, was observed by ZTAs before initiation last week. Initiated were Pat Finlay, Julia Conkling, Sylvia Leybourne, Janet Corley, Barbara Burkhart, Shirley Gooding, Sherry Nichols, Betty Otey, Penny Buchanan, Beth Bowen, Nelia Chapman, Ginger Conner, Barbara Neely, Sandy Seaver, Emily Register, and Dawn Davis.

New initiates of Kappa Delta are Hope Davis, Kay Davis, Caroline Conkling, Sylvia Gilbert, Diane Kern, Nancy Key, Ann Monroe Kay Neilson, Sandra Stewart, Mary Margaret Stokes, Mary Lou Palmer, Frances Townley, Susie Tyler and Ann Whiddon.

Transfers Mary Wells from Duke and Hope Greer from Queens have recently affiliated with the Kds.

Kappa Alpha Theta pledge class officers are Polly Swann, president; Evie Morris, vice-president; Donna Huggins, secretary; Rosemary McKeen, panhellenic representative; and Barbara Brown, scholarship chairman; and Sandra Rosenberg, chaplain.

Alpha Xi Delta elected Nancy Cubbon as its new president. Other officers are Barbara Hughes Moore, vice-president; Mary Elizabeth King, recording sec., Peter Wyatt, corresponding sec., Eleanor Irving, general corresponding sec., Carol Keels, treasurer and Myra Ann Lay, historian.

New initiates of the Alpha Xis are Chris Bevis, Wilda Byrd, Vee Bynum, Sandra Colley, Charlene Eady, Joy Wilkins, Paula Staples, Doreen Thomas, Mickey McMillen, Barbara Read, Judy Simms, Dot Emmett, Virginia Ritchie, Barbara Evans, Janice Keese and Lynette Lindsey.

Charlotte Curry was awarded the ΔΞ Pat Outstanding Pledge Trophy, as a result partly of the home of Mrs. Royal Ray, an alumnae.

Sandra Ingram was named the pledge with the highest point average, and Shirley Burrell was awarded the Panhellenic Scholarship Award as the active with the most improved scholarship.

Alpha Delta Pi initiated Pat Bastine, Pat Bredt, Linda Sisson, Jimmie Vee Patsy, Gay Eloise, Betty Lou King, Mary Mildred, Joan Alexander, Serena Shad, Mary Dupree, Ann Fairchild, Ruth Hanmer, Beth Hooks, Patsy Houser, Sally Lines, Bobby Plumer, Pat Rogers and Beverly Smith.

Serena Shad was presented with the best pledge trophy and Sally Lines was given an award for scholarship. Pat Bastine had the most pledge points.

Alpha Chi Omega initiated Frances Bailey, Lois Baker, Nettie Bird, Susan Bowden, Mary Lane Johnson, Fran Kovan, Anita Mandrow, Nora Ann Melton, Gretchen Oelzen, Kathryn Parker, Dora Pulliam, Faith Sappington, Kay Taylor, and Ada Lee Wall.

The Scholarship cup for the highest pledge average was awarded Ada Lee Wall. Faith Sappington received the Active Hers Cup Pat Peters received a silver bracelet for the most improved grades.

Pledge class officers are Gertrude Knight, president; Ann McDonald, vice-president, Evelyn Leitch, secretary, and Carol Cooper, AX panhellenic representative.

Barbara Lynch received the Outstanding Alpha Omicron Pledge left award at the Alpha Omicron Alumnae Party, planned to Lynn Bailey, was named as AO's Sweetheart of the year. Sweetheart attendants have been sisters to the AO's for they are Florida Shelton, Linda Stinsley, Liz Dee, Pat Flury, Annette Fountain, Nancy Hudgens, Robbie Jones, Barbara Kahler, Ida Lehman, Rita Nelms, Hope Rachels, Sue Rogers, Pat Wagner, B. J. Woodman, Dixie Weeks, Charlotte Wilson and Barbara Toney.

Recently initiated into the Kappa Alpha Order, were Billy Pat Atkins, Mike Copps, Ronnie Fell, Walter Edwards, Bill Spencer, Cliff Gwynn, Bill Bunker, Ken Abbott, John Belitz, Dick Bates, Rodd Andress and Wayne Stone.

Mike Copps was presented the Best Pledge" award.

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity initiated 13 new members this past weekend. Those who are new wearers of the crescent are Guy Fountain, Rock Parker, Ralph Sharp, Carl Lofstrom, Tom Martain, Robert Brown, James Cochran, Sonny Strickale, Don Bee, Jim Tiller, Bill Fagley, Bill Brennan, Cecil Jones.

Rock Payne was awarded the Outstanding Pledge plaque based on scholarship, attitude, personality, and fraternal interest.

Newly elected officers of the pledge class are Buck Rogers, president, Jerry Keene, vice-president; John Bryan, secretary, Tom Fussell, treasurer; and Wendall Gunn, sgt. at arms. The pledges also recently presented the active chapter with two electric toasters for their pledge class project.

This past Wednesday night, the Lambda Chis entertained the Sigma Kappas with an informal dance at the fraternity house.

Eighteen Delta Gammas recently donned the golden anchor. They are Connie Gibson, June Summerlin, Ann Stanley, Gail Byrd, Cora Ann Mannino, Barbara Mentzer, Deiane Vincent, Bobbie Stacy, Jayne Rice, Joy Freeman, Betty Jane Cook, Pat Hill, Doxie O'Neil, Helen Deville, Emily Barnard, Day Sue Deucbells, Jackie Lopez, and DeAnn Guntle.

The DG Best Pledge award went to Connie Gibson president of the class and the Scholarship award went to Doxie O'Neil The bracelet for Active of the Month went to Sandy Smith.

The DGs were recently honored with the visit of Mrs. John L. Shives alumnae from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Court Orders

(Continued from Page 1)

to Hawkins' petition for a writ of certiorari, we pointed out to the Court that the study would in no way prejudice Hawkins' rights since he could not enter law school in the middle of a term or at summer school and could not start under any circumstances until next September under a long standing regulation of the University which applies to all students," it continued.

Avoid Danger

Attorney General Ervin said he hopes to avoid "the extremely dangerous situation which has occured at the University of Alabama.

"We have every reason to believe that problems do exist in Florida just as they have been demonstrated to exist in Alabama," he charged.

Ervin said he intends to ask the Court for permission to continue the survey relating to "public mischief."

First Corrections Conference Slated Tomorrow-Thursday

The First Annual Southern Conference on Corrections is being held here under the direction of the School of Social Welfare tomorrow and Thursday.

Registration for this event will be held in the main lobby of the Longmire at 9:30 tomorrow morning. The conference meetings are open to all Florida State students and no registration fee is required.

A few of the questions that will be discussed during the conference are:

How can prisons handle their increasing loads of psychotics and who are sent to prison instead of to the overflowing mental hospitals?

How can prison wardens protect themselves against civil rights suits and still perform their duty of holding prisoners in safe custody?

Have some public attitudes caused improvement of correctional services?

How can clinical psychiatric services help juveniles after they have gotten into trouble?

These and other questions will be discussed extensively by various speakers at the conference.

The conference begins with a welcome to visitors and participants by Dr. Vernon Fox, Chairman, Program in Corrections, FSU's School of Social Welfare.

The first phase of the program begins with a lecture on The Criminal Insane by Dr. Arnold Eichert, Superintendent South Florida Mental Hospital, Hollywood.

After the lecture and hospital tour of the Federal Correctional Institution in Tallahassee will be conducted by Warden Walter Jacquot.

At a lecture on Local Aspects of Custody will take place at 2 p.m. the same day. The Hon. Reeves Bowen, assistant attorney General of the State of Florida, will speak.

At 8 p.m., Dr. Robert H. Gerry, Director-in-Chief of the Institute of Criminal Law, Criminology and Police Science gives a lecture on "Trends in Corrections."

The second phase of the program begins at 9:30 tomorrow morning in Longmire with Charles Newman, program of corrections, FSU's School of Social Welfare, giving a lecture on "Corrections—A Challenge to All."

Emotional and Behavior Patterns Predisposing to Prison Correctional Problems will be discussed by Dr. E. N. Pinsky, Psychiatrist, Florida State Hospital, Chattahoochee, at 1 p.m. in Longmire. The afternoon session will begin at 4 p.m. ends the conference.

Garnet-Gold

(Continued from Page 1)

only to find it sailed back.

A slupping penalty left them at the 45, but Price threw 7 yards on a keeper play to Ed Odom, with a key block by Versprille which Nugent judged called the "play of the night" raised to for the clincher.

After Bill Brown added the extra point, Cowse bobbled the kickoff, but Pasquale saved for a Garnet first down on the 17.

At this point, Cowse took over at quarterback, but promptly fumbled on the first play and the Gold took over to drive to the clincher.

Undaunted, the Garnets drove 70 yards to add a last touchdown just 22 seconds before the final horn, with halfback Wayne Phillips carrying 25 of the last 31 in four tries, and two Dexter passes gobbling up 17 more.

Students For Collins Called

A call has been issued for students interested in supporting Gov. LeRoy Collins' campaign for re-election.

Cody Moore Jr., student body president, asked all those interested in a Collins movement to contact him at telephone number 2-8696.

Moore said an organizational meeting has been set for next Tuesday night, with details to be announced.

He noted the group would assist in Collins' state campaign headquarters here in Tallahassee.

"It looks like we'll have a very active Collins organization here on campus this year," he commented.

(Attorney General Richard W. Ervin has held that students no state payrolls, including student assistants, are forbidden by law to participate in state politics.)

Future Teachers To Hold Meeting

As a part of Career Emphasis Week for Education Future Teachers will hold a business meeting tomorrow at 7 pm in Longmire where they will make plans to attend a national convention in Miami in April.

Men's 'F' Club Forms Tonight

There will be a Men's "F" Club meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's Gym for all male athletes who have earned a letter in any college sport.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss a project for a coming trip to Campus Chest. Also on the agenda is the planning of the Club's first social function, a coast party.

All those attending tonight will be considered charter members in the newly revived organization said Chris Papandrieu, president, while those coming after the initial meeting will be considered a pledge and must go through a pledge period.

FSU Job Opportunities

The Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement has announced several interviews for job opportunities.

Sears Roebuck is looking for students today There are no qualifications announced.

Pan American World Airways needs station managers, traffic, sales and accounting people. Spanish is required for all but accountants They will also interview today.

Tomorrow, Cox Chemical company will interview students interested in sales advertising merchandising, production, accounting, finance and research.

Price Waterhouse is looking for accountants, while Remington Rand and Procter & Gamble need people interested in sales work tomorrow.

Further information and appointments can be gotten from the Vocational Guidance office in 203 Westcott.

WFSU F M SCHEDULE

Tuesday
A M
7:00	FM in AM	3:30	Miss U Want
7:30	Breakfast Salute	3:45	Faculty Forum
8:00	Hats and Gowns	4:00	Masterworks
8:30	Guest	5:00	To Be Announced
9:00	Masterworks	6:00	Student Forum
2:30	Masterworks	6:30	Guest
3:30	Chuck A Day	7:00	Masterworks
4:00	At Ease	8:00	Kaleidoscope
4:30	Hi-Fi Corner
5:00	Bedtime Story
5:30	Rhythm Parade
6:00	Supper Serenade
6:30	Argot Chase
7:00	Fed Mon
8:00	Masterworks
8:45	News
9:00	Sign Off
2:00	Bugle Echoes
2:15	Ballad Ring
2:30	Bedtime Story
2:45	Hi-Fi Corner
3:00	Rhythm Parade
3:30	Supper Serenade
4:00	Argot Chase
4:30	Fed Mon
5:00	Masterworks
5:45	News
6:00	Sign Off
2:00	Bugle Echoes
2:15	Ballad Ring

Wednesday
A M
7:00	FM in AM	3:30	Miss U Want
7:30	Breakfast Salute	3:45	Faculty Forum
8:00	Masterworks	4:00	Masterworks
8:30	Guest	5:00	To Be Announced
9:00	Masterworks	6:00	Student Forum
2:30	Masterworks	6:30	Guest
3:30	Chuck A Day	7:00	Masterworks
4:00	At Ease	8:00	Kaleidoscope
4:30	Hi-Fi Corner
5:00	Bedtime Story
5:30	Rhythm Parade
6:00	Supper Serenade
6:30	Argot Chase
7:00	Fed Mon
8:00	Masterworks
8:45	News
9:00	Sign Off
2:00	Bugle Echoes
2:15	Ballad Ring

Thursday
A M
7:00	FM in AM	3:30	Miss U Want
7:30	Breakfast Salute	3:45	Faculty Forum
8:00	Masterworks	4:00	Masterworks
8:30	Guest	5:00	To Be Announced
9:00	Masterworks	6:00	Student Forum
2:30	Masterworks	6:30	Guest
3:30	Chuck A Day	7:00	Masterworks
4:00	At Ease	8:00	Kaleidoscope
4:30	Hi-Fi Corner
5:00	Bedtime Story
5:30	Rhythm Parade
6:00	Supper Serenade
6:30	Argot Chase
7:00	Fed Mon
8:00	Masterworks
8:45	News
9:00	Sign Off
2:00	Bugle Echoes
2:15	Ballad Ring

Friday
A M
7:00	FM in AM	3:30	Miss U Want
7:30	Breakfast Salute	3:45	Faculty Forum
8:00	Masterworks	4:00	Masterworks
8:30	Guest	5:00	To Be Announced
9:00	Masterworks	6:00	Student Forum
2:30	Masterworks	6:30	Guest
3:30	Chuck A Day	7:00	Masterworks
4:00	At Ease	8:00	Kaleidoscope
4:30	Hi-Fi Corner
5:00	Bedtime Story
5:30	Rhythm Parade
6:00	Supper Serenade
6:30	Argot Chase
7:00	Fed Mon
8:00	Masterworks
8:45	News
9:00	Sign Off
2:00	Bugle Echoes
2:15	Ballad Ring

I can make a new man out of YOU...

Give me your skinny, pepless, run-down body. Let me put it on. After Six has. Eight weeks, you'll begin to feel different, look different, LIVE a little!

Before I discovered After Six Formfull Wear, I was a spindly weakling. Fellows threw me out the window when parties got dull. Girls snickered at me behind my back. I was a real zombie.

Then, I bought an After Six tux. I most immediately, my scrawny chest, my pipe-stem legs and arms began to ripple with newfound strength and energy. My deaf-tenor, my do do were had returned. At proms and dances, girls elbowed each other to get my favor. I was it all to the flattering fit of my After Six Dinner Jacket. Don't let life pass you by. Enjoy new-found joy and ge... in an After Six.

After Six by BROOKS

at finest dealers everywhere

Records Phonographs

FREE LP RECORD WITH EACH PHONOGRAPH

Baker's Music Center

107 E. Jefferson

Phone 3-0161

GENUINE ENGRAVED Wedding Announcements

SAMPLES MAILED UPON REQUEST

FINEST QUALITY

$7.95 FOR 25 SETS Complete As Sketched

FR 3-3166

FREE WHILE THEY LAST Tasteful Gift Folder Tasteful Size Of Name

PROF. Embossed Address on Envelope Flap Optional Extra $20.00 or More

Miami Engraving Co. 1206 N.W. 1st. ST. • MIAMI, FLORIDA

"I feel like a Coca-Cola, Do you?"

DRINK Coca-Cola

Of course. Most everyone does—often. Because a few moments over ice-cold Coca-Cola refresh you so. It's sparkling with natural goodness, pure and wholesome—and naturally friendly to your figure. Feel like having a Coke?

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY THE TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1956, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

add Spice to your life!

Old Spice SMOOTH SHAVE

Shaving at its best! Old Spice Smooth Shave in the pressurized container... gives a rich, velvety lather... remains firm and moist throughout your shave. And a unique, lubricating formula soothes your skin. For top performance and speed—make your next shave Old Spice Smooth Shave. 1.00

SHULTON New York • Toronto

WHY NOT JOIN THE CROWD AT THE MECCA BILL'S BOOK STORE

On the University Campus— IF YOU NEED IT, YOU CAN FIND IT AT

LUCKY DROODLES! PURR-FECTLY HILARIOUS!

WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below.

YOU'RE ON THE RIGHT TRACK when you light up a Lucky, because Luckies taste better. Only fine tobacco—naturally good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better—can give you taste like this. All of which goes to explain the Droodle above. Light-up time in caboose, as seen by halted motorist. Switch to Luckies yourself. You'll say they're the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked.

DROODLES, Copyright 1953 by Roger Price

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES!

● Luckies lead all other brands, regular or king size, among 36,075 college students questioned coast to coast. The number-one reason: Lucky's taste better.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER - Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

©A.T.Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company "AMERICA'S FINEST MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES"

BAKE RIGHT, WELL-LIT TURNER. Robert Burns' U. of San Francisco

WATCH BAND ON PENCILED WRIST. David Hurd N.Y.U.

HOOFPRINTS OF ROCKING HORSE. Charles Thornton Northwestern State (La.)

Garnet-Gold

Publications Editors Named; Broderick Criticizes Policies

Editors of the three student publications were appointed Wednesday by the Board of Publications.

They are Barbara Ayala, Tally-Ho. Marcello Truzzi, Smoke Signals, and Oscar Johnson, Florida Flambeau.

To Take Office

They will take office late this spring or in the fall. None was opposed.

Larry Meredith was appointed Flambeau business manager. Neither the application of Ray Hemann nor that of Donald H. Ramsey for Tally-Ho business manager was approved. The board said neither had served the necessary minimum experience on the yearbook, though their applications are still being considered.

Additional applications will be accepted until Tuesday for the post, as well as for Smoke Signals business manager, which has not been sought by anyone so far.

Broderick Critical

Present Tally-Ho editor Jim Broderick criticized current policies affecting the Tally-Ho during other action brought before the board. He presented a list of seven recommendations which he said ought to be adopted for future yearbooks, or he would tell anyone seeking the post, to "forget it."

His suggestions included one that a professional photographer be contracted to take individual portraits for the yearbook. The photographic situation this year he labeled as "completely inadequate."

Broderick claimed that surplus Tally-Ho funds are being put back into the general student activity fund and urged that future budgets, when made up, be kept. He said the shifting of funds took sales initiative away from the Tally-Ho staff.

Wants Two Photographers

He asked for the appointment of two paid staff photographers. Telly-Ho contractors should not be allowed to sub-contract the yearbook covers, he declared, and the book should be permitted to seek bids from out of the state. He emphatically insisted that the present printer could not furnish the best facilities necessary for the production of the FSU yearbook.

Broderick said picture processing facilities for Tally-Ho should be separate from those of the Public Relations Office. He declared that the present system has led to considerable confusion, plus neglect of Tally-Ho deadlines when Public Relations materials were being produced.

Increase Salaries

He suggested editors' salaries be increased "substantially" and asked for a bigger appropriation in consideration of an increase in student enrollment. "Our present budget is based on enrollment figures for sometime back around 1947," he said.

The Tally-Ho editor added that this year book probably won't be published until some time in July. He said that this was because of the deficiencies he had listed.

The board was told only 3000 yearbooks will be printed. These will be reserved. Broderick said, first for those who had their pictures taken and those who registered for copies at a time announced last fall.

FLORIDA'S ONLY Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

PARKING METER System Planned (See Story, Page 1)

Vol. XLI, No. 38 #39 — Published By The Students Of Florida State University — Friday, March 16, 1956

FSU Symphony Concert Slated Tonight At 8:15

Program Includes Symphonic Music

By MARTY REEVES

Concert-goers will be treated to another program of symphonic music tonight when the University Symphony gives its third concert of the season in Westcott at 8:15.

Conducted by Robert Sedore, the performance will feature student soloists: Ellen Snow Funk, soprano; Dolores Concilman, and James Staples, piano.

Also on the program is Mozart's Overture to Il Seraglio "The story of the opera is concerned with the love of Constanze and Belmont. Of the inspiration, the composer wrote 'the alternates between forte and piano . . . modulated by degrees of key, and I do not think anyone can go to sleep or keep still if they have lain awake all the night before'."

This French will then sing "Queen of the Night" from the Magic Flute by Mozart, and "Ah, Fors' e lui" from Verdi's La Traviata.

Magic Flute

The Magic Flute, which after many performances in Germany, Vienna, by a Viennese writer became so popular that it was translated into the languages and presented throughout Europe and America.

La Traviata, or "The Misled One" was first presented in Venice in 1853. "Ah forse lui" Declarance ha he's e numb of rare beauty and expression, is greatly beloved by connoisseurs as well as operatic soprano's best number.

The next number is Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 5 in the Allegro and Rondo movements. Will Mac Coco at the solo instrument. The end of this work is characterized by a sharp contrast. A dramatic passage slowly dies out ends into a muted adagio. Slowly the orchestra bursts into the exuberant Rondo of intermission, the orchestra will play "Fete" from Debussy's Nocturnes. Perhaps the most difficult number on the program, musically speaking, it features his intricate rhythmic changes in which triplets are played simultaneously with a duple rhythm.

Rimsimonoff's "Reposde on a Rock" by Pagnini, conducted by James Staples, will conclude the concert. First performed in 1924 by the composer himself, the Rapsodie is based on the theme on Brahms based his Variations For Piano.

No admission will be charged for the concert.

Opera Plans Are Underway

Arrangements are being made for students to attend Metropolitan Opera performances in Atlanta during May.

Dodd Owen, official of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's music honorary, said she will take orders for tickets until Wednesday.

The operas are Tales of Hoffman Wednesday, May 2; Boris Godunow, May 3; Boris Godunow May 4; Sunrise and Don Pasquale matinee of May 5; and Tosca May 5.

A total of three evening performances and the matinee costs $19.50 students. Miss Owen emphasized. An extra $2.50 may be added for a fourth evening performance but it is not guaranteed she said.

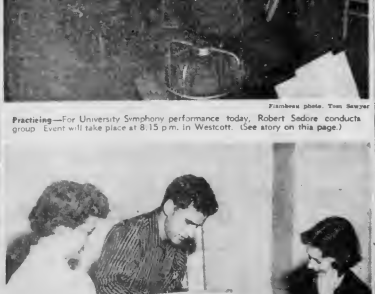
Orders for tickets will be taken between 4 and 5 p.m. today, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday by the bulletin board in the music building.

FACULTY CONSTITUTION MEETING PLANNED

A faculty meeting on a proposed new university constitution will be held Monday night, officials have revealed.

The session will begin at 8 p.m. in Geology Building auditorium.

On The FSU Scene



Flambeau photo. Adrian Allen

"High Yellow Girls"—To appear in Phi Mu Alpha-sponsored Minstrel Show, "When Cork Was King" will be, l. r., Jack Berkshire, Gay Sulley, Ann Morse, Shirley Nichols, Ethel Donaldson and Mary Turnbull. Event is slated March 21 at 4 and 8:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale in Westcott at 50 cents.

Flambeau photo. Tom Sawyer

Practicing—For University Symphony performance today, Robert Sadore conducts group. Event will take place at 8:15 p.m. in Westcott. (See story on this page.)

Flambeau photo. Tom Sawyer

Pointing Out—Spots on map as part of Student Travel Service are, l. to r., Pat Hilton, Bob Elting and Ruth Johnson. Service is now in operation—see story on this page.

ALPHA GAM, SIG CHI LEAD IN AVERAGES

Alpha Gamma Delta with a 2.8053 and Sigma Chi with a 2.3331 led sororities and fraternities the past fall semester.

After the Alpha Gam's were the following averages: Delta Gamma, 2.7603, P. Beta Phi, 2.7242; Delta Delta Delta, 2.7040; Zeta Tau Alpha, 2.7024; Kappa Delta, 2.7013; Kappa Alpha Theta, 2.6886; Alpha Chi Omega, 2.6540; Alpha Xi Delta, 2.6256; Alpha Delta Pi, 2.5570; Chi Omega, 2.5279; Phi Mu, 2.5265; Gamma Phi Beta, 2.4548; Alpha Omicron Pi, 2.4433; Delta Zeta, 2.4218; Sigma Kappa, 2.3426.

Fraternity averages were Tau Epsilon Phi, 2.3157; Phi Delta Theta, 2.2962; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 2.1482; Sigma Nu, 2.1069; Delta Tau Delta, 2.1416; Kappa Alpha, 2.1351; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 2.0692; Theta Chi, 2.0384; Lambda Chi Alpha, 2.0166; Pi Kappa Phi, 1.9787; Phi Kappa Tau, 1.9632; Kappa Sigma, 1.9630; Alpha Tau Omega, 1.9559; Pi Kappa Alpha, 1.7479.

Party To Hold Meet In House

A State Party convention Tuesday night will be held in somewhat unusual surroundings — the Chamber of the State House of Representatives.

In making this announcement, party chairman A. Art Moore said Millard Caldwell, former governor, will address the convention on the importance of political parties.

The meeting will get underway at 7:30 at the Capitol Building, with nomination of candidates for state offices to be decided in next month's primary election the principal business.

Selection of a presidential nominee is anticipated on opening-shot disaster: Jim E. Moore, now serving his third year in Buchanan Bay. The only person to publicly seek the State nomination so far.

Art Moore said cars will leave Westcott gate periodically beginning at 7 p.m. Visitors and delegates will meet in Westcott building in case of rain.

Moore was formerly sanatorial sergeant-at-arms in the House and said he arranged for the use of the chamber through contacts made in that job.

Alpha Council Taps 8 Men

Eight men were tapped Wednesday night from among the Freshman Class by Alpha Council, Freshman and Sophomore Leadership honorary.

They were Art Moore, Cliff Gwynn, Bob Moren, Phil Knight, Gerry Gordon, Dale Koch, Bill Clendinen and Charlie Siser. They will be initiated Tuesday.

Alpha Council's purposes are to recognize leadership and initiative, promote the Honor System and encourage religious activity and school spirit.

Minstrel Show Slated Wednesday

An original minstrel, "When Cork Was King," will be presented Wednesday in Opperman Music Hall. The show is sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha for benefit of Choral Union's opera chorus, will be presented at 4 and 8:15 p.m.

A total of 35 songs are to be used in the show, directed by Jack Austin, who is in charge of staging, individual and production numbers.

Tickets are now on sale for 50 cents in the Westcott ticket office and the School of Music office.

Featured in the minstrel are a plantation fantasy based on Walt Disney creations, and a take on circus the Hub Yellow Gals Circus. Betty Garrett from the School of Music will also be featured, but her number is being kept secret until the performance, Austin said.

Annual Derby Event Set Tomorrow At 2

Comic Meet To Be Held

The annual Sigma Chi Derby will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 on the Women's Hockey Field.

Run in the form of a comic track meet, it is a take-off on the Kentucky Derby with all sororities competing.

Representatives from the 16 sororities on campus have been meeting this week with Sigma Chi coaches assigned to work with them in developing short cuts for the races.

Scheduled events the sororities will compete in are the obstacle course, broom hockey, shenanse clothes, key hunt, egg scramble, tricycle run, and a secret event.

Obstacle Course

The obstacle course, the first race, will have two girls from each sorority competing in a relay. The first girl will start by climbing over bales of hay, after which she will sit down and put on a pair of shoes. She will then continue by crawling under netting, jumping over coke crates, and pranncing through tires.

Each sorority will enter one girl in the broom hockey event.

Two girls will represent their respective sororities in the third race—cheque clothes.

In the key hunt, every sorority will enter one girl. At the sound of an every commotion will run to a cement trough filled with flour. The first girl to find a key from the group filled of her sorority will be the winner.

In the egg smash all participants will be blindfolded simultaneously and an egg will be tied to the top of their heads. They will then take newspapers and try to break each others' egg.

Tricycle run, the sixth race will feature two girls from each sorority. The first girl will be sitting down on her tricycle around a small track. When she has completed her lap, she will get off and her partner will mount for the second and deciding lap.

Secret Event

The last race on the program will be a secret event that is one of the surprises of the Derby. In case of a tie in the first standings, a tire rolling contest will take place.

A collection will be taken up during the Derby for the Campus Chest.

A motorcade is scheduled to begin the event. Each sorority has been asked to decorate three cars for the parade, explained Graham Carothers, chairman of the Derby. Any other people

Flambeau Photos: Bob Simmons

What Do I Do Now—Jeani Kitchens, standing, gets directions for Broom Hockey Race, one of Derby events. Showing her how are Jon Kaufman and Tom Mann, coaches. Nancy Jo Bowers, kneeling, holds volleyball.

with cars are invited to meet at the Sigma Chi house at 1:30 to form up in the parade.

Through Town

The motorcade will wind through town and campus until it arrives at the field around 2 p.m., when the Derby will start.

A dance at the Student Center will conclude the Derby Day activities. The Derby queen will be crowned and trophies for the events presented at this time.

Each sorority has entered one candidate for queen. They will be presented at the Derby in the afternoon and again at the dance.

Candidates and their sororities follow: Alpha Gamma Delta, Stephanie Gunderson; Alpha Delta Pi, Dale Lucas; Alpha Xi Delta, June Watson; Alpha Omicron Pi, Joan Wood; Alpha Chi Omega, Grethen Oetjen, Gamma Phi Beta, Joan Grantham; Delta Gamma, Jackie Lopez; Delta Delta Delta, Ann Frick; Delta Zeta, Rosemary Siechbick; Zeta Tau Alpha, Barbara Nedley; Kappa Alpha Theta, Linda Rilling; Kappa Delta, Sandy Stuart; Pi Beta Phi, Dorothy Goodwin; Sigma Kappa, Nancy Singleton; Phi Mu, Nancy Ferguson; Chi Omega, Jan Bonomo.

Last year 1400 spectators watched the Derby as Kappa Alpha Theta took first place for the second year in a row. Trophies will be awarded in each sorority taking first place in individual events and to the first, second, and third place winners for the entire Derby.

Chairman for the entire affair are Graham Carothers, chairman; Bill Phillips, assistant chairman; Bobby Byron; Bob Moren, publicity; and Bob Murrey, bewitty contest.

Juniors Hold Clothes Drive

The Junior Class will sponsor a clothes drive next week to benefit needy families in the Tallahassee area.

Boxes will be placed in all dormitory, sorority and dormitory during the week of March 19-26 announced Barney Morgan, vice-president of the class.

"We are working through the Tallahassee Social Welfare Agency", explained Miss Morgan.

This is the class's annual Good-Will project, revealed Bobby Temple, class president.

"We need any kind of clothes in fairly good condition. Shoes, hats, socks and clothing of any sort will be very welcome" concluded Miss Morgan.

Says Committee

Parking Meters To Be Installed

A resolution for the installation of ten parking meters to be located on the street running east and west beside Westcott was approved at a session of the traffic committee last Monday.

The purpose of this resolution is to provide limited parking outside of Westcott for people who have to transact business within the buildings, explained committee members.

It is intentionally set up on a 24 hour basis by police and does not mean attending classes from parking there.

Attached to the parking meters will be boxes used in the payment of fines. Within the boxes will be envelopes in which to place the money for the fine incurred. This is to eliminate going to traffic court to make the payment.

A group of administrative personnel from the University of Florida spoke to the committee on Wednesday to exchange ideas on parking.

Divorce Up Ban

At the meeting, Dean R R Oglesby discussed a proposal to ban freshmen and sophomores from having cars on the campus during lecture days. It was agreed by FSU and the UF that if the proposed ban were approved by the two universities it would be enforced at the same time at both universities.

Officials of the traffic committee stressed the fact that the various traffic problems confronting the university.

Special Session

A special session of the traffic committee is slated for Monday, to make a decision on the proposed ban.

Officials of the traffic committee state that the proposed ban is a possible solution to the traffic problem students now face and the increasing problem they will have to face in the future. However, the proposal will require very careful consideration, and the forthcoming decision will not take place only after long deliberation, concluded committee members.

SANDSPUR GROUP MEETS TODAY

There will be a meeting of the Sandspur Organization this afternoon at 4:30 in Longmire. The meeting will be open to all interested students announced Jack Rogers chairman.

Students Slow In Travel Aid

Only one student had taken advantage of the newly established travel service yesterday afternoon.

Designed to aid students in getting rides and offering the trip home for Easter the service was started Wednesday.

Set up under the jurisdiction of Bob Elting a Student Welfare committee, the service is slated to act as a specific travel information exchange.

Students desiring rides or riders may call Ruth Johnson, a student assistant, at extension 2191 to register. Calls are accepted Monday through Friday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Colored pins will be placed on maps of Florida, Georgia, Alabama and the United States, representing the home states of those students using the service. Information for what destination rides are sought and where they are available.

Women In Sports?--Yes!

TO THE ADMINISTRATION:

We should like to call the administration's attention to the letters to the editor on this page giving strong student support to inter-collegiate sport competition by women of the University.

The question, brought up several times in the past, has either been negated or ignored by those who could change the ruling. Because of this regulation which prevented FSU women from representing their university in athletic circles of competition, FSU has lost many chances for further prestige throughout the nation. This not to imply that FSU should ever seek recognition purely for the sake of athletic prestige, but rather that it should encourage and develop through collegiate competition, all talents, whether male or female, which are present in its student body.

The days of FSCW are long past. Florida State University is no longer a college, but a university; is no longer a "girls' school", but a coeducational one. And a progressive university such as our is, should be the first to recognize, develop, and encourage all factors which will aid its progress.

Townspersons, having read the column by sportswriter Pierce Lehmbeck, in the last issue of the Florida Flambeau, have brought to our attention the idea was further supported in local news broadcasts this week.

The Florida Flambeau asks the administration for an affirmative answer on the question.

Poster Legislation Impractical

The hurried exit of two members of Student Senate Wednesday in order to avert a quorum may be labeled unethical in some quarters, but it at least prevented the passage of an impractical and derogatory piece of legislation.

The legislation, a bill restricting the use of elections posters, would likely have otherwise been passed.

Its supporters have listed the main reason for passing the bill as the assumption that if the students don't do something to eliminate the "un-secret" mass of campaign material that floods the campus during elections, the administration will.

Thus, it is argued, the students should do it first. The theory behind this seems to be that cordial relations be maintained. Any counter-assertions that the restriction would severely limit the means of student expression are forgotten in this zeal to appease the administration.

Now, we have no way of knowing whether the "administration" intends to clamp down on the amount of campaign material. We don't know how strenuous their objections are, if any, to this sort of thing. But we do know that we have heard little comment from the student body about the time of eliminating the annual splurges. We cannot honestly believe that efforts to do away with the politicking have originated with students.

In the first place, campaign literature does no permanent damage; it is there a short time and then removed. Some of it may be left up by disinterested candidates, but the new proposal offers no improvement toward eliminating this other than near-repetition of the present rule which itself is not enforced.

Secondly, the bill is in essence derogatory. It is restrictive; it offers nothing positive. We suggest that if the Senate can come up with some better suggestion on how to acquaint the student body with candidates, it should do so--but it should not cut off one of the few means of expression now open to campaigners.

Finally, we should like to point out that when restrictions are in effect, it should mean a lessening of the amount of general propaganda put out. This in itself will help alleviate any troubles resulting from too much campaign material.

For these reasons we fail to see how the Student Senate can benefit the student body by passing this legislation.

Let's shear the issue of its camouflage. If the affair boils down to students versus students, then the Senate is the logical domain for it to be settled, but if it is administration versus students, then the Student Senate should not become the spokesman for the students' opponent.

In other words, the argument that the "administration" wants this legislation is no argument at all. It should not be considered by the senators. They should consider the bill's merit--which we believe to be lacking.

And if the "University" wishes to clamp the restriction upon students, let them do so. But let them do it out in the open, so that the student body will know what has happened, and where the attack came from.

Letters To Editor Advocate Women In FSU Sports

Women Deserving Women Comepte

TO THE EDITOR:

I was astounded when I read the very informative column written by Pierce Lehmbeck in last Thursday's issue of the Flambeau. I never realised that women on this campus were not allowed to compete in sports on an intercollegiate level. Is there a logical reason behind such a stand? It has proven very successful on the other campuses in the state, attracting publicity for the girls, the universities, as well as the state itself.

These girls are proven champions, enrolled at Florida State, and yet, because of the adverse and obsolete ruling of the old administration, cannot bring to their university the honor rightly deserved. If it will not be corrected by the administration then perhaps the students can take it into their own hands and eliminate this miscarriage of justice which is definitely affecting us all.

Yours very sincerely,
GUY W. MILLNER

SPORTS EDITOR:

I agree with Pierce Lehmbeck that our lady gymnasts should be allowed to compete in the coming Nationals at Penn State.

FSU is supposed to be a progressive University, let's do it.

I'm all for the girls competing.

SINCERELY
ROGER BURNHAM

Provide Funds

TO THE EDITOR:

We read Pierce Lehmbeck's article in the Flambeau of last Thursday and we heartily agree with his convictions concerning the sending of our women gymnasts to the National AAU meets. We feel that an athletic program, as women, should also be allotted sufficient funds to participate in national competition if he, or she, is good enough. These funds should be the amount which is necessary to assure the individuals of a reasonable comfortable trip. It is apparent that the women mentioned are of championship caliber in their particular fields of athletic endeavor.

KEN SHIRLEY JACK RILEY
I. L. STRIEGEL
J. P. STRIEGEL
R. T. JAMISON
R. J. TRUDEAU
ROGER BICKEL
CHARLES RICKETTS
GRANT HIBBARD
W. R. CRAWFORD
JOHN GOODMAN
JACK CURTISS
H. R. DREYER
HERB LACAYO
TRAVIS H. ROSS

Women Are Able

TO THE SPORTS EDITOR:

We are indeed fortunate to have on our campus a large number of female athletes. These athletes FSU is, without a doubt, blessed with the largest and widest athletic program of any school in the South. Also, we have one of the outstanding women performers, who are champions.

What other campus is fortunate enough to have such outstanding performers? And the shame of it all is that we do not let these talents be wasted. They spend untiring hours increasing their proficiency and ability, but they are never given a chance to display their abilities.

I recall an incident in a Miami-Univ of Florida swimming meet this year when the University of Miami was very shorthanded of swimmers and was unable to supply an adequate number of male swimmers to complete the meet. At that time Caroline Green, member of the 1952 United States Olympic swimming team, was enrolled at Miami. The Miami coach, seeing that he was about to be beaten pretty heavily due to this lack of manpower, decided to call upon Miss Green to help him out.

As a result, the Florida officials did not think it a desirable thing since the lady would have been several of the the University of Miami's swimmers.

They would not let her compete.

On the high school level, they have a much more well-rounded athletic program for the girls. As it is, there are few universities which have decent athletic programs for girls.

Noting Pierce Lehmbeck's column about the girl gymnasts, may I add that there are an equal number of fine women swimmers on this campus. Some of them should be a great asset to the varsity swimming team.

It's an injustice that they can't even compete on their own level with women from other schools

SINCERELY,
JIM JULIAN,
(Ed. note: Jim Julian is one of the finest freestylers in Florida. State University has ever had. He is one of the most consistent dash men in the south.)

Absent For Reason

TO THE EDITOR:

I would like to bring two matters to the attention of the student body.

First, the story concerning the establishment of the Student Travel Service failed to mention who authored the bill. Barbara Moore and I were co-authors of the plan and, since this was one of my campaigning promises which won elections, I would like for the students to know that I have carried it out.

Secondly, I should like to explain my absence from the senate Wednesday when the absence of a quorum made it impossible for the senate to complete its work. I was present at the early part of the session, but had to leave to attend a meeting of the Hall of Fame Committee.

Our deadline for the committee is Monday and it was extremely important that I attend the meeting. An explanation of my record for the past three years will reveal that I have never been absent from a regular senate meeting.

SINCERELY,
JIM SOLES
JUNIOR SENATOR

Answers Letter

TO THE EDITOR:

I have no idea of having to beat my own drum again, but I should like to take a moment or else up a few of Mr. Hodenbach's well-meant but slightly off-color views.

(Continued on Page 4)

Dear Mama Seminole

DEAR MAMA:

JUST WHEN Georgia get discouraged and wonder if students at university were dead than alive, something always comes up to reassure me. This week me read where student senate at University of Texas pass resolution calling for peaceful carrying out of integration in their state. That called for courage in Texas where there are those people who are just as opposed to integration as one Florida candidate for governor. Me a little disappointed that not one man of stature at least endorse values higher than a political office.

Me be glad to see too where movement a-foot in Georgia to organize great Students-for-George group to help fight for aged senator in coming campaign. Senator George has given long and capable service to his state and to the nation. For him to be defeated would hurt Georgia and country. Many predict him not stand a chance, maybe them should look to recent Texas Senator once defeat the father of present Talmadge, and candidate that President Roosevelt personally campaigned for. In good that students have interest in keeping George in service. Their first meeting attended by representatives of every school in Georgia, me hope movement grow by leaps and bounds.

BRYANT DECISION to stay in governor's race is poor one for man who would put welfare of state before self. Me have long and respect for Bryant, and can understand his desire to be governor. But me find it hard to discover what purpose limited campaign can serve. It hurt chance of other good candidate. "Farris Bryant in 56" sound better than "Farris Bryant in 56."

Honor Emphasis Week being planned. Is good idea. Me suggest that study of Honor System should reach deeper than few sentences. If it worthwhile there must be basic reasons why this is so. Me think committee that plan week should emphasize these basic reasons rather than simply say "no cheating, it bad."

Spring Festival coming back. It almost back to big concrete dock built in lake. Maybe it rush things a bit here in time to keep from finishing swimming pool. More likely it come back day after pool finish. Me wonder which candidate take credit for getting lake back?? Me sure someone will.

Watch for bold political battles to come up with some novelty. If useless ideas . . . concerning platforms and campaigning. One word advice: Platforms no good less candidate stand on it.

GEORGIA II

The Dissenter

Preserve West Hall's Tradition

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

NO ONE WHO HAS lived in West Hall could make or sanction the suggestion that the building's name be changed.

One could as soon change a tradition. Brooklyn would rather forget the Dodgers, the South would scatter statues in memory of Robert E. Lee, and university presidents would sooner cease smiling at freshmen.

The name West Hall, carelessly applied when the powers-that-be sought some other designation than "11-story dorm"--it has ten--is more than a name. It is a symbol.

Just try walking out there some time.

Preparing a defense of the present name brings to mind much that has happened in the two and a half short years since I and hundreds other veterans stepped through the lobby. Those were the days. We actually thought the elevators would always work.

For one brief administration, the building was considered as divided into three units. They were floors one, two, three, and four, now known as the Rebels; five, six and seven, the Pirates; and eight, nine, and ten, the Penthouse.

The Pirates and Rebels have worn out three assistant counselors between them, but the Penthouse still has Don Spille.

It also sweeps most intramural matches. Spilla has been accused of injecting subedition into intramurals.

* * *

THE FIRST YEAR was the best. West Hall became the only dormitory to carry a case to Honor Council concerning the classification of a freshman to hold the dorm's presidency. The Court said he couldn't.

The Penthouse Globe, sporadic newspaper was begun that year. One five-page mimeographed issue had over 300 mistakes. The volume ended when it began popping up in women's dormitories. The editors were worried.

Last year's editor, Jim Carver, set a record. He's now in prison--but not for his journalistic efforts.

* * *

West Hall will always pride itself that Ralf Sasser's no-kissing-rumor--for at last spring was conceived and organized there.

* * *

THE DORMITORY has provided an example of power politics hardly equalled even in Big Government. When Governor Collins, president and lieutenant-governor didn't return the vote, the secretary-treasurer, Wilson Schifferm[illegible] just moved in and took over. Nothing in the constitution adopted by a 50 to 1 vote to [illegible] Hall's absence--but nothing said any indication who should do what.

* * *

"If as first you don't succeed, try . . . etc." has been the motto of Fred Roberts, who's running for everything from student body president to governor. He's always lost. This past democratic election he was in the infirmary.

Come unit IM major elections rescuing, and he didn't want to run. Said he'd just get beaten. He was nominated, agreed for--and he won.

* * *

There are hundreds of other tales and traditions that West Hall's already built up over the past. Surely, Dan McCarty deserves recognition. But West Hall will always be West Hall, no matter what its nameplate says.

Of All Things

'Alligator' Falls For Hoax

By OSCAR JOHNSON

THE UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA school newspaper, "Alligator," seems to be having troubles.

It fell for that bane of all newspaperdom--the hoax.

The affair started off innocently enough. Judging by the Alligator's account, one of their reporters recently handed in a story telling about a cities match that was scheduled between UF and Louisiana authorities. The Alligator printed the story, which quickly became some of the top news on the campus.

Not to be outdone, the Alligator made elaborate plans to cover this chess match. It would send a team of its ace "eager" reporters, plus photographers to record the event on film.

So at the appointed time and place, nearly 100 students showed up at the Alligator office, ready to board buses for the gallery and opposite four UF students across a table. The "International Chess Match" was on.

Of course, two of the "Russian" students had never even played chess before. But that didn't make any difference. The UF audience swallowed every illegal move they made. The audience even fell victim to such inaccuracies as a "double" match and a running game score.

FOR OVER AN hour, the masquerade went on. The wily Russians, speaking little, made their moves as the brave UF spectators watched.

The only incident occurred midway during the game, when one team player got up and stalked out. "One can imagine the zealous Alligator reporters frantically scratching notes et

At The Movies

Oscar Possibilities In . . . 'Golden Arm'

By BOB SIMMONS

IT IS SELDOM that enough can be said in praise of a good movie. The Otto Preminger production The Man With The Golden Arm, which begins at the Florida Theatre on Wednesday, is one

This film, which has been banned in larger cities than Tallahassee, is a powerful picture. It will no doubt put Frank Sinatra in an excellent position for an Academy "Oscar."

There is nothing dainty about The Man With The Golden Arm. It is the story, well told, of a little man who tries to buck fate, only to be put back into the waiting web of Louie, a dope fiend. This is not a story for the faint of heart. It is outstanding cinema, even though the ending is unconvincingly contrived.

A note of interest to some will be the closing of the Rita Art Theatre this Saturday. It is a fine theatre, but can only claim a few successful films dissolved, but it takes customers to keep a theatre open. Perhaps if they had better movies the people might have had them.

IT SEEMS THAT some movie makers have realized that a movie must have good scenes to make a good movie. The Paramount release of Testament Beverly Tea Rose Tattoo may be part of a new trend in motion picture entertainment. It doesn't hurt to hope.

The Rose Tattoo is a worthy pilot, which is made most enjoyable by the acting efforts of Burt Lancaster and Anna Magnani. The startlingly frank story of one of the most unusual courtships a woman ever knew; a tale that runs the gamut from farcical drama to warm, human comedy.

In The Wings

Explains Policy Of Reviewing

Calling as possible. I recall that last year's critic, Dave Dreis, was nearly "run out of town" several times because of his antagonistically condescending manner. I prefer to start out.

There is a simple solution to the problem. If you read my reviews regularly you can find out almost exactly what happened by doing a little reading between the lines. If I generally praise one part of the program, then talk about the music instead of the performance for the rest, you may be sure that certain that he wasn't up to snuff. But when I do praise something I mean it.

In someera or plays in which many people are involved I can be fairly open in my criticism. As for solo or one-person recitals, I try never the better ones, since I do not wish to waste either the reader or the performer's time if there is nothing good to report. So please bear with me in the future

* * *

ATTENDED Martha Slayden's Senior Recital in voice Monday night and was glad I did. Perhaps it was the night, or the combination of pretty voice and pretty girl, or maybe it was just Martha herself; but I was in one of those rare moods in which the sheer physical sound was so enticing that I didn't give a hang about listening critically. I seem to remember that two Schumann group and Debussy aria were particularly good, though.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ECKERTSON—Editor

Owner Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Senior Reporters ..... Jim Bradfield
Marty Reeves, Bob Dollison, Bob Moore.
Photographers Laird Anderson, Tom Sawyer
Steve Adrian Allen.
Columnists ..... Wilhelm, Dave Ward-Steinman, Clyde Ward, Martin Dyckman, Oscar Johnson, Georgie Seminole

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, Joan Halford
Exchange Editor ..... Sandra Colley
Exchange Staff ..... Joy Wilkins

Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave. New York 17
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Pat Marston, News Editor

Feature Editor ..... Arlinda Ries
Sports Editors ..... Larry Block
Alan Whitehall
Sports Staff ..... Ben Baker, Dave Evans, Joe Greene, Tom Hale, Pierce Lehmbeck
Junior Staff ..... Ginny Conner, Betty Grey, Percy Dubois, Bob Duke, Cayne Bernina
Grees Editor ..... Charlet Pulsevist

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brewn,
Circulation ..... Mike Brady
Morgue ..... George Goldstein
Business ..... Gail Surdsall, Larry Meredith, Enid Pearlman, Jane Anderson, Les Meyers

Telephone 2.500, extension 6821, 3421
211, 213 Longmire Building

Intercollegiate Press

The Press Table

By PIERCE LEMBRECK
Sports Specialist

In Tuesday's edition, this columnist voiced a plea in behalf of certain lady athletes who have been refused the right of competition by the University—or at least a department within the University.

For the most part, reactions to thet plea were favorable. We were happy.

But as with as many other incidents, those who owe in agreement were content to do no more than agree. And a tradition—whether wrong or right—still stands.

Edger Agrees Too

Certainly, there were e few who ware quick to express their feelings about the situation. WTNT's Sports Director Jack Edger went out of his way to do what he could for us.

Jack read our column over his Tuesday evening show almost completely word-for-word—and he expressed a few opinions of his own.

Said he:

"I firmly believe that it's wrong to keep any champion—whether male or female—from competition. And, certainly, if the girl desires to compete, she should be allowed to do so."

Jack had some other things to say, too. And among them was the comment that this effort, as so many others, was probably doomed to fell a "victim of (he used that word, too) tradition."

Our thanks to Jeck Edger.

Perhaps the most disheartening reaction we got was a mistaken idea that there had been someone behind our efforts Tuesday. Especially, certain individuals directly related to the male gymnastic team were labeled.

May we clarify that fallacy.

We consider it perfectly ridiculous that there should be anyone pulling the strings and thus directing our efforts. We have been independent in the past and we shall continue to be.

Certainly there were some with whom we were in sympathy. We told you about them Tuesday. There were no others.

We only regret that some individuals should suffer from the mistaken ideas of a few.

RIFLE TEAM TROUBLES—

Actually, this business of not allowing the ladies to compete was even more ridiculous than we labeled it in the Tuesday column.

Remember the talk of forming a lady's rifle team by the AFROTC Detachment, recently?

Here's what happened along those lines.

The team was formed alright—and from our latest information, its still in existence. But you might call it a weak existence.

Our best estimates say about 40 ladies were out for the team. It was formed and, reportedly, the women were developing into pretty good sharpshooters. So good, in fact, that a shoulder-to-shoulder match was scheduled with a women's team from the University of Florida. The Gator team was to make the trip up here.

At the last minute that match was cancelled by this University. And we don't think it was the AFROTC Detachment that did the canceling.

Nuff said along those lines.

WE CAN DO NO MORE—

At this point, we intend to leave the issue.

We can voice an opinion, but we don't intend to play politics. Anything that can, or will, be done is now in the hands of those who are in positions to accomplish something.

We can only hope they have the desire.

Needless to say, we were impressed by the number of letters the editor received in regard to our Tuesday column. It seems the interest is there.

It would seem the next move is up to the Athletic Committee.

THE REAL STORY?

There's been quite a bit of talk going around lately about the recent Florida triumph over the FSU swimmers. You'll remember the Gators edged the FSU squad in Gainesville recently, 43-41, after the Tribe had swomped them here, 46-18.

Many stories came out of Gainesville as to the reason the Gators were able to edge the FSU squad after being beaten so badly up here. We have reason to believe that the story we'll tell you now is the correct one.

There was one particular event in question—the 100-yard freestyle. According to onlookers, and more recently from the Gator swimmers themselves, there was a two-way tie for first place between FSU's Jim Jullan and the Gators' Don Reed. Somehow, Reed was given first place and Jullan, third.

It isn't so much that Jullan was not given the first place position, but had he been given at least second place, it would have meent that FSU would have eventually won this meet—you guessed it, by 2 points.

Comfort has always been a college requirement

Aced, Arrow underwear offers pure comfort in any position. The Arrow Tee has a neckband that won't enlarge, keeps its good fit always. $1.25. Boxer shorts, with contour seat, in novelty patterns or solid colors give you style with no-bind wear. $1.50. Arrow Guards (knitted briefs), offer the same complete comfort as all Arrow underwear. $1.20.

ARROW
—first in fashion
SHIRTS • TIES
HANDKERCHIEFS • UNDERWEAR

Behind Open Today

Tribe Tackles Furman Here

By JOE GREENE
Flambeau Sports Writer

"We're ready to go," says baseball coach Danny Litwhiler, as his 1950 Seminole squad opens against Furman at 3:30 p.m. on East Campus today.

To better last year's record of 17-6 will be a hard job for the Indians, but they have the potentiality to do it.

Litwhiler give's Tony Aviable, a 21-year old southpaw from Lindhurst, N.Y., the nod to start on the mound for the Tribe.

Behind the plate for FSU will be either Bob Vaughn who had a .366 batting average last year or Gary Ashley.

"It's going to take us a couple of weeks to really get into top shape because of the boys just out from Basketball and football," said Litwhiler as he watched the Seminoles from the dugout.

First Base

Holding down the first sack for the Tribe in today's encounter will be either Harvey Sweeney who hit .400 last year or Nam Bisbee.

On the keystone bag will be Owen McCarron. His job will be to fill the shoes of Billy Campbell, last year second baseman.

Forming the other half of the keystone combination at shortstop is Philip Hunt who was a consistent man at the plate last year.

In the hot corner for the Tribe we find Carlee Hendrix who was a thorn in the side of opposing pitchers. He led the team in bases on balls last year with 18.

Moving out into leftfield for the Indians in last years heavy and most consistent hitter Fred Twomey. Twomey led the Tribe in regular season hitting last year and compiled a .393 batting average.

Patrolling the pasture in centerfield will be either Dick Spicer or Lee Corso who has only been in uniform a few days because of spring football.

Either Bob Rossell or Riley Reeves will blanket rightfield for the Tribe. Last year Reeves copped out a 415 batting average.

The Seminoles are backed by a capable mentor in Litwhiler, who is in his second season as the Indians' skipper.

Last year, besides the topflight won-lost record, the Seminoles finished second in the FIBC behind Rollins.

Tom Garcia, one of the top hurlers on the club, hasn't rounded his arm into top shape yet. He just finished basketball and hasn't had enough time, reports Litwhiler.

Tennis Team Opens Season

Florida State's tennis team opened their 1858 season yesterday afternoon with the University of Georgia.

Coach Keith Pitchford's netmen were somewhat weakened this year as there are only two returning letterman on the squad. They are Hal Scheus and Shelby Cresap.

On Monday the Seminoles take the court again with Ohio State University as their foe.

The only other Big Ten team on this year's schedule is Indiana University which plays here later this month.

Last year the tennis team had a very good and six lost record, including a 8-0 victory over the Bulldogs of Georgia.

The tennis matches are played on the varsity courts next to the ROTC building, there is no admission charge.

Last week FSU's Pyrahnas downed a stubborn Florida Frosh team, 5-4, with a win in the last doubles match of the day.

OUT OR SAFE?—It really doesn't matter, because it's just practice, but the combination of shortstop Phil Hunt and second baseman Owen McCarron is sure to be instrumente! in Seminole baseball fortunes this year.

'It Looked Like Fun,' Says Gymnastic Star Beverly Cude

By CHARLEY POTTEVINT

Around four years ago, a small dark-haired girl wandered into her high school gym in Noranda, Quebec.

Gymnastic practice was going on and Beverly Cude thought she would try it because "it looked like fun."

She didn't take a real interest in gymnastics, however, until two years later when she discovered a program in the local Recreation Center. It was under the direction of a former McGill University physical education professor, E. M. Orlick.

Orlick had set up a series of tests for potential gymnasts to pass in order to become members of the Noranda Gym Club.

"Trying to pass the tests gave us the real incentive to improve," said Beverly.

Assembled Gymkena

"The Gym Club resembled the Gymkana show here. We traveled around the Gymkana show here. We traveled around quite a lot putting on shows, only we didn't have as much scenery and props as Gymkana, she went on to explain."

The 19-year-old freshman became interested in attending Florida State after meeting Coach Hartley Price at a gymnastics meet and learning about the gymnastic training offered here.

"Maybe it's because I'm so far from home, but I like it here," she remarked.

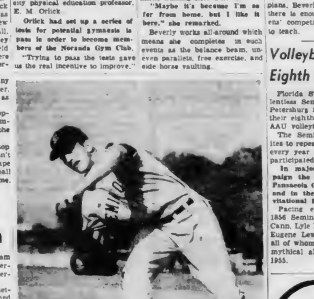
Beverly sorta all around which means she completes in each events as the balance beam, uneven parallels, free exercise, and side horse vaulting.

Last summer she became the Canadian Senior Women Schoolall-around champion and placed third in the Canadian Dominion Championship all-around.

In November she won the title of all-around champion at the Semin Florida AAU Senior Women' Competition.

Events in the future for the girl gymnast, are the Florida AAU in St. Petersburg April 14, and the National AAU Olympic Try-outs at State College, Penn. April 28, 29

As for her future gymnastic plans, Beverly is not sure, but if there is enough interest in women' competition, she would like to teach.



Volleyballers Seek Eighth AAU Title

Florida State University's relentless Seminoles travel to St. Petersburg Saturday in quest of their eighth consecutive Florida AAU volleyball crown.

The Seminoles, strong favorites to repeat, have won the title every year in which they have participated.

In major action this campaign the Tribe has won the Pensacola Open and placed second in the St. Petersburg Invitational Dec. 3.

Pacing coach Bill Odenal's 1856 Seminoles are Bernie McCann, Lyle Lasser, Ray Johnson, Eugene Lewis, and Phil Slaton. All of whom were selected to the mythical all-American team in 1955.

STARTING PITCHER—Tony Aviable, a southpaw from Lindhurst, N.Y. will probably get the starting nod as the Tribe baseballers open ageist Furman this afternoon.

In Frat Volleyball

TEPS Grab American League Lead With Victory Over PKT

TEP stepped out in front of the "American" league in frat volleyball last Tuesday by beating PKT 15-13, 15-2. Kappa Alpha took 2 games to beat LCA 15-13, 10-15, 18-6.

BAS won from SPE 15-1, 15-4.
DTD took ATO 15-4, F-15, 15-12.

Tors. Mar. 11th
6.00—SN vs LCA
7:00—SPE vs KA
7:45—KS vs TC
8:45 PDT vs ATO.

Games will be played Thursday March 23 as scheduled, but the scheduled March 29 series will be moved up a week from today, Friday March 23rd, because of the Easter Holiday.

Dorm schedule March 18
7:00 B.S.U. vs Feds
7:00 Methodist vs Air Force
8:00 Tomoka House vs Penthouse

Intramural Boarg Meets

The men's Intramural Board meets next Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the lobby room of the Student Center.

Plans for golf, softball and swimming will be made.

WHY NOT JOIN THE CROWD NOW at THE MECCA

Mermen, Gators In Deciding Tilt

The Seminole swimming team travels to Gainesville this weekend to defend their state AAU title et the annual meet.

Florida State will be able to enter the freshmen as part of the varsity in that meet and Coach Bim Stubbs is starting at least three men in each event.

Stubbs is confident his men can successfully defend the title despite the hard opposition expected.

The Seminoles and the University of Florida will be the only colleges teams entered. Several amateur clubs and high schools have filed entries also.

The Gators will have to swim their freshmen as a separate team since they forbid the use of freshmen in combination year with the varsity

The Tribe will face many individual standouts including Florida's Phil Drake, a transfer from the University of North Carolina, who holds the world's record in the 220 yard breaststroke, and who is expected to oppose Seminole star Joe Jacobs in this event and also in the 100 yard butterfly.

Florida's diving star Craig White will defend his 1858 AAU title when he takes to the board against the Tribe's Bill Boehm and Bill Ponder, both who pushed him hard in last week's dual meet.

Ken Abbott, State's backstroker, is expected to give Florida speedy opposition from Gator's George Duganne and UF freshman Bill Riggio Freestylers Jim Jullan and Mike Pechiney will not be forgotten themselves after last week's defeat by Florida's Don Reed in the sprints.

Points will be given to the first six places in each event. A trophy will be presented to the team scoring leader and medals awarded to the first, second and third place entrants.

Joe Westhafer, possible varsity basketball player next season, is following in his brother's footsteps. Jerry was a standout performer for Bud Kennedy's cagers a few seasons ago.

Golfers Meet Auburn Today

The Florida State golf squad will be aiming for their fourth straight victory today when they play host to Auburn at 1:30.

Dr. Don Veller, golf coach, expects it to be a very close match, but thinks the Seminoles will win out.

FSU defeated Auburn twice last year, and the Tigers have essentially the same team this year.

Veller praised the team's showing last week in the state wide tourney. Veller stated, "I am satisfied with the boys' progress so far this season, but I expect them to improve."

Bob Dunn should start in the number one men today. Although Bo Jenkins made a terrific showing at Ocala, Dunn has a better overall average

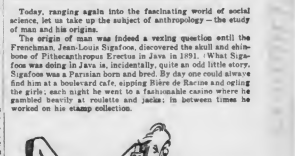
Probably the biggest battle that is taking place in the line for the number two spot.

Bill Shelton, Harry Shoemaker, Dick Huff, and Bob Shafer are the three fighting it out for this position.

Gymnasts Prepare For NCAA Meet

On Tuesday, Florida State University's national championship gymnastics team leaves for Chapel Hill, N. C., to compete in the Red in the sprints.

Eleven men, headed by Coach Hartley Price, will try to bring the first championship title home to the first time since the 1931 and 1932 teams did it.



The men making the trip in addition to Coach Price are Ralph Johnson and Ernest Hunter, co-captains, Lloyd Anderson, Jamie Ashburn, Harry Beaman, Joe Gantz, Jim Hanks, Bob Murray, Don Preisser, Joe Taylor, Tom MacDonald and Don Holder.

On Campus with Max Shulman
(Author of "Barefoot Boy With Cheek," etc.)

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 3

Today, ranging again into the fascinating world of social science, let us take up the subject of anthropology — the study of man and his origins.

The origin of man was indeed a vexing question until the Frenchman, Jean-Louis Sigafoos, discovered the skull and shinbone of Pithecanthropus Erectus in Java in 1891. What Sigafoos was doing in Java is, incidentally, quite an odd little story. Sigafoos was a Parisian born and bred. By day one could always find him at a boulevard cafe, sipping Bière de Garcine and ogling the girls; each night he went to a fashionable casino where he gambled heavily at roulette and jacks; in between times he worked on his stamp collection.

...the study of man and his Origins...

(Well sir, one summer Sigafoos lost his entire fortune gambling at the casino, and he was feriously contemplating suicide when a ray of hope appeared in an unexpected quarter. It seems that Sigafoos, through the interational stamp collectors journal, had long been in correspondence with a girl in Java, a mission-educated savage named Lotus Petal McGinnis, herself an enthusiastic stamp collector. The nature of their correspondence, though friendly, had been entirely philatelic. Now, suddenly, a new kind of letter came from Lotus Petal. She declared that although she had never laid eyes on Sigafoos, she loved him and wanted to marry him. She said she was eighteen years old, beautiful, and her father, the richest man in his tribe, would give half his fortune to the husband of her choice. Sigafoos, in his reduced circumstances, had no alternative; he sold his last few belongings and booked passage for Java.

The first sight of his prospective bride failed to delight Sigafoos. She was, as she said, beautiful — but only by local standards. Sigafoos had serious doubts that her bright red pointed teeth and the chicken bones hanging from her ear lobes would be considered chic along the Champs Elysées.

But sobering though was the sight of Lotus Petal, Sigafoos had an even greater disappointment coming when he met her father. The old gentleman was, as Lotus Petal had represented, the richest man in his tribe, but, unfortunately, the medium of exchange in his tribe was prune pits.

Sigafoos took one look at the mound of prune pits which was his dowry, gnashed his teeth, end stomped off into the jungle, sweering viely and kicking at sticks and stones and whatever else lay in his path. Stomping thus, swearing thus, kicking thus, Sigefoos kicked over a heap of old bones which — what do you know? — turned out to be the skull and shin of Pithecanthropus Erectus.

But I digress... From the brutish Pithecanthropus, man evolved slowly upward, growing more intelligent and resourceful. By the Middle Paleolithic period man had invented the lesch, which was a remarkable technical achievement, but frankly not terribly useful until the Mesolithic period when map invented the dog.

In the Neolithic period came far and away the most important development in the history of mankind — the discovery of agriculture. Why is this so important, you ask? Because, good friends, without agriculture there would be no tobacco, and without tobacco there would be no Philip Morris, and without Philip Morris you would be without the genibeni, mildest, sunnest, pleasantest, happiest smoke that money can buy, and I would be without a job.

That's why.

©Max Shulman, 1950

To cheer breathless ancestors, the makers of Philip Morris extend a grateful salute. And as will you when you try today's new gentle Philip Morris in today's new pack of red, white and gold.

Jobs WITH A FUTURE
Special Course for College Women
10-wk College Start for April Girls 21 or over
KATHARINE GIBBS
SECRETARIAL
New York 17, 230 Park Ave. Chicago 11, 720 N. Michigan Boston 16, 90 Marlborough St. Providence 6, 155 Angell St.

Buy Your Films have them developed at the most convenient store
CHEVET'S
Corner of College and Adams
the best assortment of Cameras end Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

Letters To The Editor

(Continued from Page 3)

In the first place, I recognize the sovereign right of Mr. Holdenbach to "nix" paper. I regret that that must be his decision and myself to be "an irresponsible group" but, since he has not resigned forward to lend his talents to the editorial page, someone must do the job.

It has evidently escaped Mr. Holdenbach's notice, but a column is a place where an opinion is given on the news stories which cannot be opinionated. That is our job and, of our opinions differ from yours, at least we have had the effect of stirring your thinking and interest in the subject.

I would never, in any way, attempt to discredit Jack Rogers for anything. I hope Jack doesn't think as you do. Jack is a close personal friend and has done a fine job on Sandspur.

I can lay the blame at no one's door but the fact remains that Sandspur is down the drain for this year. I'm sorry that it had to happen in connection with my script, but that was the reason for the column you object to. The play has been sold elsewhere. I do object very violently to not having the dance or the big week-end looked forward to by everyone. I think a lot of others are disappointed, also.

Lastly, I should like to thank you for your constructive criticism on the "Diplomat". I'm sorry that you found it objectionable but, thank heavens, there are very few that agree with you. I don't think that you can fairly say that the "Diplomat" had as much objectionable content or language as "Ah, Wilderness." The incident has been forgotten by this writer, sir, but should you care to pick up the page again, I suggest you endeavor to obtain all the facts beforehand.

VERY SINCERELY YOURS WILJOHN.

Chance Is Better?

TO THE EDITOR:

Faithful reader Al Holderbach has caused me some concern. What if he is correct? Am I indeed in error by making my column a medium for my own personal views?

That this shall not happen again, precaution will be taken. Henceforth, I shall submit a carton-full of alphabet blocks to the editor and let her compose my column by chance. I do hope this does not result in anything controversial.

MARTIN DYCKMAN

Pirates Slate Shamrock Dance

West Hall's Pirates will sponsor a "Shamrock Shuffle" tomorrow night in the main lounge of the dorm.

The dance which will last from 9 to 12 p.m. will have music furnished by the Devilaires.

The couple's best dress most closely approaches the judges' idea of the spirit of St. Patrick's Day will be admitted to the dance free of charge although regular admission is 50 cents per couple.

Refreshments will be served and a floor show is scheduled, according to Pirate spokesmen.

Flambeau photo: Laura Anderson

Cadet of the Month — Pictured above are Cadet Regimental Commander Percy Steel, Dean Charles Davis of the College of Arts and Sciences, Col. Phillip Green, PMS&T of the Army ROTC, Col. Atwood of the Florida Military District and new Cadet of the Month Corporal Bob Fernandez. The above cadet corps who are practicing for the annual Federal Inspection. Fernandez, a Freshman from Tampa, was chosen for his general appearance and leadership potential. He was selected by Dean Davis from a field of five representing their respective companies.

Term At Oxford' Coffee Hour Topic

"A Term at Oxford" is the title of today's Coffee Hour discussion to be held at 4 p.m. in the Westminster House.

Miss Miriam Wilson, director of the Westminster House, will speak of her experiences in a England during the 1955 trinity term at Oxford, where she attended St. Anne's College.

Miss Wilson went on a fellowship from the Presbyterian Board of Education to work in Wordsworth under Dr. Hexen at Dardisher, who is noted for her recent completion of the Oxford Sixth Edition of Wordsworth.

While in Europe Miss Wilson, who will lecture on college and student life using different illustrations, attended the World Students Christian Federation as a delegate representing the United Student Christian Councils of Great Britain, Switzerland and Bievre, France.

A native of Virginia she earned her AB at Williams and Mary and her MA in Bible in Richmond at the Presbyterian Assembles Training School. Miss Wilson has had experience as a teacher and student worker.

The Coffee Hour is a weekly presentation of the English department open to everyone.

GENUINE ENGRAVED Wedding Announcements $7.95 FOR 50 PERSONAL As Illustrated

SAMPLES MAILED UPON REQUEST PRINTY BEAUTY

FR 3-2166

FREE Same Day Delivery Service Starting $15 or more

FREE Engraved Bridal Invitations with Orders Totaling $30 or More

Miami Engraving Co.
NE 1st ST., 25th ST. & BISCAYNE, FLORIDA

Records Phonographs
FREE LP RECORD WITH EACH PHONOGRAPH
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

SALE
Men's Argyle Socks
. . . 100% Wool
. . . Wool & Nylon
. . . Nylon & Angora
$1 A PAIR
Reg. $1.95 to $2.95
Sizes 10½ to 13
Nic's Toggery

No More Half-Clean Clothes
I INSIST ON SANITONE SERVICE... IT GETS OUT EVEN INGRAINED GRIME!
• Stubborn Spots Gone!
• No Cleaning Odors!
• Better, Longer-lasting Press!
Why put up with old-fashioned dry cleaning when sensational Sanitone costs no more! Clothes look and feel like new . . . days fresh, soft, spotless! Come in or phone today!
SANITONE
Superior Cleaners
308 S. Monroe St.
Phone 2-0652

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES
FLORIDA
NOW SHOWING
"THE CONQUEROR"
John Wayne
Susan Hayward
Pedro Armendariz
In CINEMASCOPE
and
TECHNICOLOR
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
ENDS SATURDAY
"ARTISTS and MODELS"
Dean Martin
Jerry Lewis
—plus—
"TWO-GUN LADY"
Peggy Castle
William Talman
SUNDAY - MONDAY
"BRIGADOON"
Gene Kelly
Van Johnson
STATE
FRIDAY - SATUEDAY
"SHACK OUT ON 101"
Terry Moore
Frank Lovejoy
SUNDAY - MONDAY
"THE KILLER IS LOOSE"
Joseph Cotten
Rhonda Fleming
Wendell Corey
CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
ENDS SATURDAY
"MARSHALS IN DISUISE"
Guy Madison
Andy Devine
—plus—
"BAMBOO PRISON"
Robert Francis
SUNDAY - MONDAY
"ONE DESIRE"
Anne Baxter
Rock Hudson
Julio Adams
RITZ—ENDS SAT.—"ONE SUMMER OF HAPPINESS"
Ulla Jacobsson, Palke Sudoist
SUCH GOOD FOOD FOR SO LITTLE!
Meet You At Holland's
Hundreds of people who lunch on a budget, eat here because GOOD food at Holland's costs so little! And just as many folks who don't count the pennies eat here because they WANT TO! So we're bound to please you, too! No matter what you want to spend, you'll find food appetizing and delicious here.
SPECIALS THROUGH SUNDAY
½ Fried Spring Chicken, F. F. Pot, Hot Rolls & Butter 1.00
Holland's Special! K. C. Steak, F. F. Pot, Salad & Rolls & Butter $1.35
HOLLAND'S RESTAURANT
106 E. Pensacola Facing the Capital

Poster Bill Put Off

Student Senate's Quorum Lack Prevents Vote To Cut Posters

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

A bill restricting the use of election posters was kept from almost certain passage in Student Senate Wednesday when two members hurried from the room, reducing the attendance to less than a quorum.

The bill would have provided for at least 20 billboards on campus to be used for election placards and would have forbidden their being posted elsewhere, except in designated residence hall areas.

Senator Gordon Gaster and Hana Tewa, men's vice-president, leaped from their chairs and left the building after several efforts to defeat or forestall the bill failed. Their absence reduced the attendance to less than two-thirds, the legal minimum for conducting official business.

Runs After Them

Senator Karl Edwards ran after the pair but returned without them.

Jim Moore, senate president pro tem presiding in the absence of Jimmy Joanos, vice-president, snatched angry comments about the pair's actions.

He said other senate senators were as much to blame for the complication.

Absent when the quorum count was taken were Ed Mann, Hank McCrun, and Jimmy Soles women's vice-presidents Jo Jones, Tews, Gaster, Pat Pinlay, Art Moore, and Dick Rhodes.

Stimulate Candidates

Sponsors of the bill, cut by Senators Carolyn Close, Greta Sims, and Fred Mansfield, argued the measure would stimulate candidates to "meet the people," thus restricting their dependence on posters.

Beautifying the campus was also mentioned in support.

Gaster and others attacked the measure as being against the "freedom of the press to express himself." He argued also that election posters and banners create an interest in the campaign.

Moves to kill the bill by laying it indefinitely on the table failed, as did plans to re-open discussion, which had been closed over the objections of Gaster, Tews, and several others.

As a final vote was about to be taken they dashed from the chamber and Senator Bill Sweeney noted the absence of a quorum.

Action 'Unethical'

While some senators denounced the action as unethical, Senator Close complained that it prevented the group from appropriating money to cover a planned appearance of the Harvard Glee Club.

The bill, which has been under discussion since November will be on the floor at Senate's next meeting. Several legislators speculated on the possibility of a special session to resolve the issue before the election campaign begins. Declarations of candidacy for student body offices may be filed beginning Tuesday.

Limit Size

Specifically, the bill would limit election posters to 11 by 17 inches, one to each board for each candidate. The elections committee would be empowered to disqualify a candidate who placed matter elsewhere than on the bulletin boards or on bulletin in residence halls.

Men's dormitories would be covered by the bill.

The bulletin board legislation was not the only matter that wasn't resolved Wednesday.

A bill stiffening traffic and parking regulations and fines was tabled for a week.

The Senate warmed up for its lengthy poster debate with a battle over a Karl Edwards bill to establish one bulletin board for candidates in the Student Body elections His bill would not have limited where it would, he said, provide one place where students could familiarize themselves with the entire list of candidates at one glance

His proposal was tabled indefinitely.

Honor Court Convicts Two

Faking a permission letter from home has gotten two freshmen co-eds convicted by Honor Court, according to Chief Justice Barbara Graham.

She said one girl drew a week's hall restriction and an additional week of campusment for falsifying a letter from her mother in order to spend a weekend away from campus.

The second girl was campused one week for assisting the first, Miss Graham added.

The two presented themselves to Honor Court after their mothers questioned them, she revealed.

$500 For Pool Is Set Aside

Student Senate voted Wednesday to set aside an annual $500 for a swimming pool, hoping to get assistance from the State Legislature.

The bill, as first introduced by Karl Edwards, specified the pool would be located at the Reservation, university camp whose lake is dry.

At the suggestion of Hana Tews, men's vice-president, who protested a ramp use could not be heated and would therefore be limited to seasonal use, the bill was amended to provide for a pool "where feasible."

Senators objected the pool in the Women's Gym is used too much by classes and varsity teams to serve a student body purpose They feared this will be the case with a pool in the new men's gymnasium.

The bill provides that accumulated funds will revert to the general student government budget if the Legislature does not assist in a pool project before September, 1958.

This limit was made by the recreational and social committee.

Edwards said Dr. A B Mann, university vice-pres dent advised him that support would probably come from the administration for a legislative appropriation if the student government were to take an initial step.

★ ★ ★ ★

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE SLATED

E Howard Hooper will deliver a lecture on "Christian Science: The Revelation of God's Everpresence with Man" tonight at 8 in Longmire Auditorium.

LAMBERT HEADS POLITICS CLUB

Harold Lambert will serve as president of the Politics Club for the coming year.

Jim Soles was elected as vice-president with Jan Kaminia as secretary-treasurer. Henry Lovern, program chairman, Stephanie Powell, publicity chairman, and Karl Edwards, membership chairman.

Groups May Keep Funds

Campus organizations may now keep all of what they raise in fund drives and money-making projects.

Student Senate, with hardly a dissenting murmur, passed a bill to that effect Wednesday. It provides that the money will serve a local purpose. Sponsors said, however, this could include any bill or debt, including that of a fraternity chapter in the local organization.

Heretofore, organizations have been required to spend half of what they collect on some project of value to the whole community."

If the bill is approved by Charles E. Moore Jr., student body president, and by the faculty committee on Student Affairs, it will be no anticlimactic end to a question that has stymied past Senates.

The previous requirement for a half was but a compromise reached Nov. 3, 1954, between a bill that would have given any money collected to Student Government and factions fighting to retain a two-thirds cut.

Traditionally, the "unified community" provision has been viewed as a restriction on the number of fund drives and worthy projects that might interest the academic life.

The new measure was introduced Wednesday by Senator Dave Bachman.

Another change was made in the funds committee regulations, providing a 30-day advance deadline on requests for permission to conduct money projects.

The forms must now be turned in to the Funds Committee's office of the executive branch of Student Government, at least 30 days before the project is to begin.

GET FREE 5x7 ENLARGEMENT WITH ORDER FOR CROWN JUMBO PRINTS
Send the ad and your roll to be developed at prices shown below, and your favorite negative. You will receive your Crown Jumbo prints in a few days, plus a free 5x7 enlargement made from the negative. Your negatives returned with prints. This offer good for limited time only.
8 Pos. Ref. ..... 40c 16 Pos. Ref. 80c
12 Exp. Ref. ..... 60c Extra Prints ..... 5c ea
Write for Free Mailers
CROWN PHOTO SERVICE
Box 272 ● AUGUSTA, GEORGIA

All the pleasure comes thru...
THE TASTE IS GREAT!
THE ACTIVATED CHARCOAL FILTER
All the pleasure comes thru...the taste is great! Filter Tip Tareyton smokes milder, smokes smoother, draws easier, and it's the only filter cigarette that gives you Activated Charcoal filtration.
THE BEST IN FILTERED SMOKING
FILTER TIP TAREYTON
PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company
AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES
FILTER TIP TAREYTON CIGARETTES
MODERN SIZE

SUMMER TRAVEL AND STUDY IN MEXICO

THE INSTITUTO TECNOLOGICO DE MONTERREY

Member Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools
Member Association of Texas Colleges.

July 14 to August 25—1956
Join F.S.U. GROUP under the leadership of HERSETO LACAYO
Six full credits may be earned toward your degree or toward your teachers certificate, in the charming surroundings of Old Mexico. Undergraduate and graduate courses given in Spanish and English in many subjects.

$230.00

Includes fare, tuition, room and board, activities, but not transportation.

For complete details contact Dr. Lacayo

Department of Modern Languages
FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA

Sportswriter Defends Idea Of Coed 'Intercollegiate Competition'

By PIERCE LEHMBECK

Seven days ago this columnist struck out in favor of sending a women's gymnastics' team to the National AAU meet at Penn State April 28-29. Three days ago Flambeau News Editor received a letter from Miss Catherine Montgomery.

Many Facts

In her letter—which you'll find printed in 'Letters to the Editor' on page two—she listed many facts about athletics for women at this University.

And, for the most part, what she says was true.

But it's also somewhat irrelevant to the opinion we voiced last week. And if Miss Montgomery's letter is to be taken as an expression of policy, there would seem to be absolutely no reason why the girls' gymnastics team should not compete on an intercollegiate—or as she says, "tournament competition"—basis.

In her letter, Miss Montgomery says,

"The University Executive (Athletic) Council approves of intercollegiate athletics when conducted by women for women participants and in programs in which the goal of all participants is the satisfaction and joy that comes from playing one's best in evenly matched contests with other girls, testing our skills against those of other schools. Of course, they play to win, but win or lose, they enjoy the activities . . ."

Quite A Pair

That's quite a pair of sentences. What they say is that the women's PE department arranges athletic competition for ladies that they might enjoy it. Obviously, some of the ladies are not enjoying the present set-up—or we would not have had reason to have written that first column last Tuesday.

If we may quote one of the girls anonymously, "it's just peache-dandy that we have a sports-day one whole day a year . . ."

In her letter, too, Miss Montgomery refers to a "gymnastics meet" scheduled for that sports-day. That meet, said she, was switched to a demonstration because the girls "chose that it should be a demonstration."

The girls have their own answer to that statement.

Not Told

"It was switched because we were not told that we were to have a meet until the last minute. We did not have time to make substantial arrangements for a meet. Besides that, they were going to allow us but 45 minutes between halves of a game—and no gymnastics meet can be held in 45 minutes . . ."

There was another little controversy about that particular incident. It had to do with where the judging was to come from.

That's a minor point.

May we state our position again

We said that a women's gymnastics team at this University should be allowed to take part in the National AAU meet at Penn State April 28-29. We still hold to that proposition.

And today, we'll go one more step.

It would be possible, today, for a girls' gymnastic team to arrange a four-meet schedule in this immediate area each year. They could state competition with the Naples Gymnastics Club; Florida Southern College; the St. Petersburg Youth Center team; and a team from Gulfport, Miss.

Doesn It Irrelevant

With all due respect we recognize the validity of Miss Montgomery's letter. But, we deem it irrelevant.

The girls still say they're going to the Nationals. We think it would like to see them representing Florida State University.

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

SEGREGATION
Flares In Florida
(See Story, Page 1)

Vol. XLI, No. 39 UAO

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

Tuesday, March 20, 1956

Nominating Meets Set This Week By Both Parties

State Party Convenes Tonight In House Chamber; Student Prepares

Both campus political parties will hold nominating conventions this week in their contests are expected for the presidential spots on the tickets.

Rule Party will meet tonight 7:30 in the House of Representatives chamber of the State Capitol Building. Jim Moore, student senator, has announced he will accept the party's nomination and no opposition has developed.

The Student Party will convene Thursday in 124 Science Building to nominate Dave Bachelor for the student body presidency. Party chairman Karl Edwards said he expected a full slate of other nominations, however.

Caldwell Speaks

Wilford Caldwell, former Florida governor, will discuss the two-party system in the United States tonight at the State Party convention. Party chairman Art Moore said cars will leave Westcott promptly after 7 p.m. and return students to the campus. Visitors as well as delegates are invited, he said.

The Student Party convention Thursday will hear Coyle E. Moore Jr., student body president, Moore the keynote address.

Experts Pull State

Edwards said he expects a full slate of candidates will be nominated and forecast a hitter fight between Polly Atwater and Chrotis Brown for women's vice-president spot on the Student Body.

Edwards, like State chairman Moore, invited anyone to drop in at the convention. Rudd's Pig Auditorium will be in store for those who do.

Students May Begin Filing

Candidates may begin today filing declarations of candidacy in the student body elections. Primary day is April 10.

Betty Williston, secretary of elections, warned that the qualifying deadline is 5 p.m. next Tuesday.

Registration blanks may be obtained and turned in at the division's desk in Longmire Building, she said.

Expense estimate blanks, which must be submitted by April 3, can also be picked up now, she added.

Offices at stake in the first election will include the student body presidency, vice-presidency, chief justiceship, and others.

Segregation Fire Blazing Higher

The fires of segregation debate have burned higher than ever before in the last eight days—but conditions have not changed.

Virgil Hawkins is not attending the University of Florida law school and no action to amend the Legislature has been called.

Gov. LeRoy Collins declined Tuesday to call a special session to deal with segregation. Much more could come in our state from a session held during the heat of the gubernatorial and legislative campaigns," he said.

Report Prepared

He thereby rejected a proposal by Leon County Representative Kenneth Ballinger that the governor be empowered, by Constitutional amendment, to be sole authority over admittance of students to state universities.

Moore said the club plans to carry out an extensive drive to make sure that all students who are eligible to vote are registered by the deadline of April 1.

(Continued on Page 4)

Required Tests Are Scheduled For Last Time

Delinquent students who have yet taken the tests and are not yet classified as delinquent are eligible to take the tests without paying the fee.

The schedule is as follows:

ACE Psychological—4 p.m. Tomorrow, 306 Science. Personality—5 15 p.m.—tomorrow, 306 Science. General Culture (for Others and Seniors)—1 p.m.—April 16—Opperman.

Exemption tests for courses in General Education will be given on Wednesday, April 11, and Thursday, April 12, at 4 p.m. in room 202 Education Bldg. A student may take one test each day.

Recommendation cards for exemption tests may be obtained from the office of the Coordinator of Counseling, Room 301 Westcott Academic Deans, Department Heads or the Test Service Room, 210 Education Bldg.

A recommendation card must be exchanged at the Test Service Room for an Examption Test Admission Card by 4 p.m. on Wednesday, April 4.

Courses in which exemption examinations are offered and the heads of each particular department are:

Humanities 101, 102, 103 (Dr. Sarah Herndon).

Social Science 101, 102 (Dr. V. Thursby

History 101, 102 (Dr. B. Rogers)

Physical Science 101, 102 (Dr. F. B. Johnson).

Biological Science 101, 102 (Dr. C. A. Nelson).

Mathematics Developmental 105, 106 (Dr. F. R. Allen).

Photoplay photo, Tom Sawyer

Sigma Chi Derby—Contestants take the first hurdle in the opening event of the Derby held Saturday afternoon. Yes, those are eggs in the shoes which the girls must put on before they can continue in the race.

Tri-Delts Second

1600 See SKs Triumph In Derby

Sigma Kappa sorority won the seventh annual Sigma Chi Derby before a crowd of 1600 Saturday afternoon.

Capitalizing heavily on the broom hockey, change clothes, and obstacle races, the girls from Sigma Kappa built up a slim margin of victory over Delta Delta Delta and Alpha Chi Omega, who finished second and third respectively.

Sigma Chi coaches for the winners were Bob Moren and Tom Pendry.

Obstacle Courses

The obstacle course, first race on the program, was taken by Gamma Phi Beta who overtook Kappa Alpha by Kappa Alpha Theta's victory in the change clothes.

In what might be termed the "messiest" race of the day Joy Aiken of Delta Delta Delta left the rest of the field far behind as she won the key hunt.

Sigma Nu finished running a circle for the egg smash Barbara Burkhardt of Zeta Tau Alpha "awaited" the egg's victory.

Teaming together in the third relay race of the day were girls from Delta Gamma rode to victory in the initial running of the bicycle race.

Greased Pig

As tensions mounted and the screaming of the sororities reached a peak, Chi Omega's Martha Grimard came out on top in the greased pig catch—the secret event.

As has been the tradition in the past, after the last event, Kappy Alpha formed a line and chased the Sirma Chis to captain their stock derby.

At the Derby Dance the same night Beverly Laurent of Chi Omega was crowned Miss Sigma Chi Derby of 1956 Runners-up in the field of 13 were Ellen Lindh of Alpha Delta Pi and P. Beta Phi's Dorothy Goodwin.

Spring Training For New JC's Begins April 5

Spring training will start April 5 for next year's Junior Counselors.

Chosen by committees from women's senate and the dean of women's offices, the JC's help advise newcomers to the campus. These include incoming freshmen, day students, and transfers.

The volunteer jobs require the same hour of work a day. Duties approved by Senate for the honorary position are Judy Abrams, Patricia Arrasis, Polly Atwater, Ella Jo Blinski, Janet Bradfield, and Glenda Briscoe.

Linda Broderick, Gail Byrd, Mitzie Carroll, Barbara Chambers, Bettye Corcoran, Polly Cox, Barbara Crews, Peggy Dodell, Kay Dubellis, Catherine Dunn, Marjory Dunn, Sue Fred, Regina Fraccaro, and Ruth Fritchie.

Jean Fussett, Gayle Gardner, Janet Gilsenbilt, Sara Jane Griffin, Betty Faye Horner, Nancy Jackson, Carolyn Jones, Jan Kamsler, Ann Kelly, Ellen Kay, Nyra Ann Lay, Ann Leopard, and Barbara Jean Little.

Charlotte Lucy, Shirley McLendon, Mary Joyce Morgan, Sally Morgan, Barrisette Morrill, Jane Morris, Priscilla Moss, Audrey Napier, Agnes Nearing, Lillian Olson, Mary Louise ePacock, Jeanne Pitts, Sandra Reed, Ann Schmitt.

Willa Schmidt, Phyllis Shaddick, Elizabeth Sheppard, Sue Ann Spires, Sylvia Smith, Mary Lou Snoos, Helen Sparling, Jackie Spires, Ann Stanley, Ellen Starbuck, Gretta Steeley, Elizabeth, Ba'ane Stokes, Jean Thompson and Astrid Tindall.

Joyce Weatherup, Mary Lon Whitcomb, Nina Williams, Sylvia Willis, Frances Wilson, Barbara Wyatt, Pat Zech, and Winona Ziel.

Day Student JCs are Jinx Brunson, Carolyn Canova, Nancy Jean Dvorak, Anne Elliott, Jane Lewis, Sandra Mixer, Beverly Perkins, Stephanie M. Powell, Ann Riley, Ruth Ryan, and Sherry Whitley.

Hostle Transfers

Assigned to transfer students are Velma Ackerman, Gwen Adair, Anna Arrupe, Dagmar Bartlett, Jacqueline Booker, Martha Bradley, Ann Brown, Barbara Brown, Emily Cousson, Dorothy Drag, Frydna Haas and Barbara Johnson.

Delores Joseph, Carol Landry, Mary McKeown, Sue McMillan, Annette Peel, Evelyn Rooks, Marie Tree, Barbara Ulrich, Grace Von Tongeln, and Edith Witherspoon.

UNITARIAN TALK SET TOMORROW

"Unitarianism, Religion for Liberal Minds" is the subject of a talk to be given tomorrow by the Unitarian Youth Group.

Dr. Jackson Ice of the department of philosophy will make the talk followed by a discussion at 8 p.m. in room 111 of the social welfare building.

Collins Club Sets Meeting Tomorrow

An organizational meeting of the "Collins for Governor" Club will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in 210 Longmire Building, according to Coyle Moore, temporary chairman.

"Our purposes are first, to promote the candidacy of Governor Collins on the campus and throughout the state," said Moore. "Also, we want to provide volunteer help for the state headquarters which are located in downtown Tallahassee.

Moore said the club plans to carry out an extensive drive to make sure that all students who are eligible to vote are registered by the deadline of April 1.

'Hands-Off Policy' Veterans Steering Clear Of Politics

The Veteran's Club executive council has advocated a "hands off policy in Student Government politics" stated Jerome Bernstein, acting president.

In an executive meeting held last week Bernstein added, it was decided by a unanimous vote that the Veteran's Club would not get involved in campus politics as a whole since "the club is primarily interested in veteran affairs on campus and not politics".

Bernstein also said that at a general meeting held last week, the first since the constitution was passed by the Student Organization Committee, the following acting-officers were elected: Jerome Bernstein, president; Percy Steele, vice president; Georgina Shortt, recording secretary; Margia Wells, corresponding secretary; and Gene Rasbin, treasurer.

Two Semesters

Bernstein explained that under the constitution officers are allowed to hold office for only two semesters and since the Sirma Semester is half over it was decided by a majority vote to elect acting-officers. This would thus make said officers eligible to run for two full terms if they so desired.

Student Body President Coyle Moore gave a short introductory speech of welcome to the thirty-four charter members, stressing the importance of Student Government. He said that many students fail to realize the influence Student Government has on different phases of campus life.

Clubs Example

He cited the traffic committee for an example and how under the chairmanship of a student, the current blue-white zone parking came into effect. He concluded that he hoped the veterans, as students, would take an interested part in Student Government and other activities.

Acting - president Bernstein announced that a general meeting of the Veteran's Club would be held tonight, at 9:30 p.m. in 120 Geology Building.

Foshian Institute To Have Speaker

Alice of Alice's Beauty Center will speak on "Hair and Its Goings and Comings to You" at today's Student Fashion Institute meeting at 5 p.m. in 222 Music Building.

Margaret Donaldson is the newly elected president with Barbara Bennett serving as vice-president.

Other officers elected are: program chairman Gerry Lehner; secretary, Lisbeth Rainer; Sara Jo Gibson, treasurer; and Mickey Ohe, social chairman.

Vacancies Bill Killed By President's Veto

Moore Says 'Not Feasible'

Coyle E. Moore Jr., student body president, has vetoed a measure that would provide for special elections to fill vacancies in Student Senate.

Moore announced his veto yesterday. The proposal was a constitutional amendment passed at the same time as the living unit re-apportionment bill.

"It is not feasible to have a special election every time there is a vacancy in the Senate," Moore explained. "It is hard to get people out to vote when we have too many elections during the year."

Moore said time would be a prohibitive factor.

He also defended the responsibility of the student body president to nominate people for vacant Senate seats.

Unprecedented

"To my knowledge, no person has ever been appointed by a president to fill a vacancy without the president first consulting with the rest of the Senate and members of the class in which the vacancy occurred with regard to new appointment.

"These appointments have generally always been good appointments. The students of this University elect a president and trust him with many clear and obvious responsibilities, and there is no reason why they can't keep on trusting him to adequately perform the simple task of appointing replacements for vacancies in the Senate."

Could Override

Senate could override his veto by a two-thirds vote, which would merely equal the vote necessary to pass a Constitutional amendment the first time.

The measure passed without opposition two weeks ago but may not necessarily receive such approval again. The question as to how much Senate seats will be filled was a bitter controversy in the 1954-55 Senate and no amendment ever got to the president's desk.

The vetoed amendment also provides for earlier freshman class elections. They would be moved up to early October and held at the same time as living unit elections, according to the measure.

Women's Glee Club Sets Concert Friday

Women's Glee Club will present its second annual spring concert Friday night at 8:15 in Westcott.

Under the direction of Miss Betty Jane Grimm, Associate Professor of Voice, the program will include Parrish's "Magnificant", a cantata; Randall Thompson's "Habacorum"; of the piano accompaniment, with Lowell Roddenberry and Lachlan Murdoch serving as duo-accompanists on the Louis Sound. During intervals, Miss Tornay was assisted by Martha Bassett.

Although Women's Glee Club is the oldest organization on campus, that is only the second year for its concerts to be scheduled for Westcott Auditorium. No admission will be charged.

Minstrel Show Slated Tomorrow

"When Cork Was King", an original minstrel show, will be presented tomorrow at 4 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall.

Written and directed by two students, Gene Rowell and Raymond Austin, the show is sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha, men's national music honorary. The proceeds from the tickets, which are $1.25 in advance, go to the FSU Choral Union fund.

Gives Version

Karl Gaines, president of Phi Mu Alpha, will give his interpretation of minstrel skits. Eddie Cantor and Nettie Black will present a tap dance number.

Dorothy Wingle of the Memory Four Quartet will step into the spotlight to sing snatchy Al Jolson favorite, "Swananee", and Ramon Austin will sing the Bobby Darin favorite "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain".

The show is not only campus-wide, but city-wide," said Rowell. "The music school speech department, and Tallahassee musicians have contributed much to our show."

Tickets are on sale today and tomorrow in Westcott ticket office and the School of Music office. They will also be on sale at the box office tomorrow night.

Photo by Jones, Adrian Allen

Drive Progresses—Shirley Morgan and Dottie Sue Thompson look over coat donated to Junior Class Clothes Drive at West Hall. Drive aims at getting clothes in good condition for needy Tallahassee families, will end March 26. Clothes boxes for donations are in all dorms and frat houses.

Over The Coffee Cups

Students on this campus may not know the price of eggs in China, but we'll bet they can tell you the price of coffee at two well-known eating establishments nearby.

Senators who failed in their efforts to regain the 5-cent soda pop of international fame, might do well to tackle the sudden doubling of the price of a cup of coffee. We have heard of no appreciable rise in the cost of coffee beans recently, and are inclined to feel that the boost in price is more or less a product of standardization. This is in view of the fact that most cafes did not reduce their coffee prices with the advent of reductions in the wholesale price.

No longer will students be able to have a coffee and doughnut date on a quarter. And such minor problems could lead to drastic social consequences. For instance, will coffee come between a man and his girl—will the women move on to more golden pastures? Will lovers resort to drinking tea? (Flash: tea is now 10 cents—anyone for ice water?)

This problem is not confined to the student body however. How will professors meet the problem on their 50-cent per week luxury allowances?

But then, the campus beauty queen was once heard to remark, "Let them drink strawberry sodas."

Staff vs. Reader Contest

Although the number of typographical errors in recent issues of this newspaper has been decidedly reduced in each issuance, we feel that some reader vs. staff competition is in order.

Perhaps we'll reach the milennium—an issue with no mistakes typographically whatsoever—if the following idea works. For the next four issues, the Florida Flambeau will give a movie pass (which ordinarily will be the proof-reading staff) to the reader who can find the most typographical errors in each issue.

Rules for the contest require that all mistakes be circled in pencil on the reader's copy, and submitted to the Flambeau office before 8 p.m. on the day it comes out. The student's name and box number should be written at the top of the paper, and the number of mistakes circled next to the name.

The contest should prove worthwhile as the proofing staff will be out to keep their movie passes. Winners of the contest will be announced in each succeeding issue. Get out your pencils, the contest begins todgy.

Clouding The Issue

Fred Kent, chairman of the State Board of Control, struck a blow against academic freedom last week in advocating that courses and textbooks at our state universities be investigated for socialistic leanings.

Analyzing the remarks he made, quoted from wire reports, several propagandist techniques are evident. He mentioned socialism in the same breath with Communism, intimating that one is the other or just as bad: "Communists would overthrow our government by force—socialists by politics, economy and educational reform." This would have a strong emotional speel to those already afraid of the dark.

Next, he obviously made no reference to the fact that various types of socialism are already operating competently in several ally nations. Nor did he mention that our own public education via state funds is in essence and fact a "socialistic" enterprise. Such would have clouded his point. Evidently he is in favor of preserving the quo—which remains undefined, except that it must exclude "political, economic, and educational reform." By means of this illogic we might conclude that all candidates for public office, urging reform of one kind or another, through legislative and public action, could be called "socialists" by his definition.

Further, we cannot believe that a member of the Board of Control would advocate censorship and indoctrination rather than academic freedom to study all issues, which his declaration would seem to imply. We are not in the study of any issue, for study does not mean endorsement.

We further submit that the government of the United States can sand on is own merns in comparison with any system of government. Crutches such as censorship and regulation of subject material imply an infirmity in their owner.

When any group of men arbitrarily decide what people may study and analyze, they are assuming unwarranted and dangerous powers, an action we do not wish to herald in this nation at any time. There is no clear and present danger involved in the "free and open encounter" of truth. Ethet en std. q

Curtain Can Lift Quietly

From Associated Collegiate Press comes the report that the Michigan State News recently observed editorially that the Luce case is only one incident and suggests that the South's so-called "Magnolia Curtain" is lifting.

"Witness these 'quiet' news stories by a correspondent for one of the Detroit papers," . . . while the angry youngsters in Tuscaloosa were demonstrating against a Negro coed, two more districts in West Virginia integrated their schools for the current semester.

"There had been dire predictions of race riots in Greenbriar and Raleigh counties in the state. But in both a few weeks ago Negro children were transferred to white schools without incident. In Mercer county, West Virginia, another supposed tension area, the school authorities announced they would integrate their facilities next September.

"In Big Springs, Texas, the schools were integrated. In Kentucky, where there are already forty school districts in the process of desegregation, it was announced that every district in the state will have started on a desegregation plan by next September. In Nashville, Tennessee, school officials last month began quiet discussions on the desegrtion problem with parents on a school by school basis.'

"Reports like these in the country are the biggest headlines, but ultimately . . . if not already . . . they will be of greater importance than one spectacular, isolated case of prejudice."

Letters Continue On Women-In-Sports Issue

Says FSU Women Have 16-Year Record In Sports

TO THE EDITOR:

In the column "The Press Table" of the March 3rd Flambeau an article appears concerning intercollegiate athletics for women at F.S.U. The author either uses the wrong term "Intercollegiate" instead of "Tournament competition" or else he is unaware of what is actually taking place on our campus. He states that our University does not allow women to compete in intercollegiate athletics.

The fact is that our women have been playing against the women from all colleges and universities in Florida annually since the early thirties and with colleges in South Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia for the last sixteen years. This month (March, 1956) they played these institutions in the following sports: archery, tennis, basketball, swimming, badminton, table tennis, croquet, bowling.

A contest in gymnastics was scheduled for March 3rd with the University of Florida and Pensacola Junior College. All participants were here but the leader of our F.S.U. women's gymnastics came to the Director and requested that the contest be changed to a demonstration. She was told that with three schools present competition could take place; however, that the decision would be left to the gymnasts present from these three colleges. They chose to put on a demonstration.

The other colleges presently all of whom participated in the sports listed above include University of Miami, Florida Southern, University of Tampa, Stetson, Rollins, Barry College and St. Petersburg Junior College. I think it not need be said that the rain softball would have also been included in the program. F.S.U. played Mississippi Southern in many sports this year.

Competition between F.S.U. girls and other colleges is conducted on a sports day plan in which on one day all Florida colleges send their girls on a different day F.S.U. plays with each of them in the corresponding state's institutions. Many different games are included in each sports day. Only two tournaments are scheduled.

Sincerely yours,
Your Flambeau;
article should have said that our girls in F.S.U. do not participate in intramurals and competition. The University of Florida approves of intercollegiate athletics when conducted by women for women. Intramural sports programs in which the goal of all participants is the satisfaction and joy that comes from playing come best in evenly matched contests with other girls, testing our skills against those of girls from other schools. Of course, they play to win, but win or lose they enjoy the activities.

Dr. Katherine W. Montgomery
Women's Physical Education

Ought To Compete

TO THE EDITOR:

I'm so very glad that someone has finally realized that girls deserve recognition in sports also. I have never understood why women were not allowed to participate in Inter-Collegiate and National Competition, if they so desire.

After all, if a girl is willing to spend her time working out and practicing she deserves the joy and satisfaction of competition.

I'm not an athlete myself but I enjoy watching sports and I think that we the student body should get behind our teams and back them 100 per cent.

NANCY DENHAM

No Question

TO THE EDITOR:

I am really in favor of competition for those women who enjoy it. When we have athletes, whether men or women who are capable of national competition we should be proud to support them. Those should, in my opinion, be no question as to whether our lady gymnasts should be at the national meet, supported financially by FSU.

LILLEY MURPHREE
TILLEY MURPHREE

Tradition Is Thin

TO THE EDITOR:

We were, to say the least, extremely pleased with Pierce Lehmbeck's lucid explanation of a problem by which our lady athletes have been so unfortunately pressed. We think the tradition of so many years has worn thin enough by now, and the time has come to discontinue this tradition. After much serious thought and discussion we see no plausible reason why women's gymnastics should not be whole-heartedly supported by the administration.

YOURS VERY SINCERELY,
SIGNED BY THIRTY-SIX WOMEN STUDENTS

Supports Writer

TO THE EDITOR:

I agree with Pierce Lehmbeck and the other students who voiced their opinions in Friday's Flambeau. I definitely think the administration should support a women's gymnastics team in National and Intercollegiate competition.

SARA EWING.

Split Is There

SPORTS EDITOR:

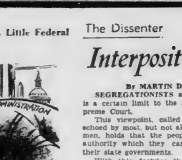
Congratulations on your life saw so many pleased and excited girls talking about the possibilities of intercholastic competition not only in gymnastics but in other girls sports. Needless to say, our disappointment was great when our rifle match was called off. And I know certain swimmers and gymnasts who also know the keen disappointment of carefully planned events. But the spirit is there still, even after severe oppression. We are ready and willing to do our part. Now we think is wholesome and right; Intercholastic and national competition for our women athletes supported by the school.

SINCERELY YOURS
DORIS CASBON

Offers Support

SPORTS EDITOR:

Congratulations on a fine article by Pierce Lehmbeck in last week's Flambeau. I am glad to see that this problem which concerns so many of our girls, is finally being brought to the public's attention. The students are behind Pierce and his plea for revision as proved by the letters now printed on Friday. You have my support.



SINCERELY,
CLANCY TINKER

Now Recognized

SPORTS EDITOR:

Congratulations on FSU—But there are many talented people not yet recognized by the school. There are our female athletes of whom we also are very proud. In my opinion they should be a part of FSU tradition; for we are still in the process of building tradition, and such a wholesome one as the certainly should not be overlooked.

ANITA F. ANDERSON.

An Open Letter
Broderick Presents Explanation For Delay Of 1956 Tally-Ho

TO THE STUDENTS:

For the second consecutive year, the yearbook is going to be late. The 1956 Tally-Ho won't be published until some time this summer.

Last Friday's Flambeau gave a summary of the recommendations I presented to the Board of Publications for future editions of the Tally-Ho. These are just mechanical reasons why the book couldn't meet its deadlines. They are the most outstanding faults, but a portion of the delay can be accredited directly to the student body itself.

It's a difficult thing to edit! failure after having promised my election. The best yearbook this campus has ever seen." And it's even more heartening after spending an entire summer here planning that book. I'm sorry I'll be a good yearbook, of that I'm sure, but this will be overshadowed by its deliberancy.

Perhaps anything I say in defense of the Tally-Ho will be labeled "excuses," but nevertheless I would like to present the students with these reasons and let them draw their conclusions.

Biggest Program

The biggest problem lay with the photographer setup with which the university added the Tally-Ho last year. Students who waited in long lines to have a picture taken, and then saw the results, ean sympathize. Annatures tried to do a professional job with inadequate equipment and facilities. Result: poor quality, many pictures lost and ruined, and so much time lost that it was impossible to make it up.

Student photographers made a supervisum effort to keep the Public Relations Office, PSU News Bureau, and the student publications supplied with pictures; take them, develop them, and print them in a poorly equipped, hole-in-the-wall darkroom; meet deadlines, over deadlines, and in between times go to classes and try to get a little fun out of college.

Budget Too Small

The photography situation was the biggest setback and contributed to the delinquency of the Tally Ho. But in addition there is another problem too small a budget with which to publish a yearbook in keeping with the scrollment. The book was severely limited in the number of pages and extra features that should have been covered. Many things had to be omitted or severely cramped in order to conserve space. It would have been adequate for the PSU of 1946, but not for our present university.

These aren't all the mechanical difficulties by a long shot, but they constituted most directly to making the book late.

Appointments Unkept

A large percentage of the students also added to the delay. People who didn't show up for appointments; organizations who either ignored completely, or took their time returning information blanks or scheduling appointments; fraternities and sororities ignored requests for group pictures; information blanks; house mothers flatly refused to have their pictures taken. These are just a few of the situations which frustrate publication.

On the other hand the Tally-Ho staff caused inconvenience and agitation in many people in many ways too.

But put all these things together and you come up with the biggest headache, frustration, and delay in publication. It takes 100 percent cooperation from both the editor and the students body to publish a successful book, and both were lacking a year.

1957 will see a hard-working and capable girl at the helm of the Tally-Ho. Barbara Ayala has been the backbone of the '56 book and with another good staff such as this year's, will produce a book of which school can be proud.

But unless these changes I've mentioned are made, or at least most of them, I would tell her and anyone else editorship of the Tally-Ho to leave it alone—it's just not worth it.

I'm sorry that I won't be at all like the 1956 Tally-Ho when it finally does come out—I won't be the book I'd planned it to be, not the kind of year-book I'd intended to present to the student body, but if a chance is given I hope it will be as a result of this year; of trial-and-error. I'll feel I've accomplished something

JIM BRODERICK
EDITOR, 1956 TALLY-HO

The Dissenter

InterpositionHasNoNaturalAuthority

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

SEGREGATIONISTS are saying that there is a certain limit to the authority of the Supreme Court.

This viewpoint, called "interposition," and echoed by most, but not all, Southern congressmen, holds that some people have a "natural" authority which they can interpose through their state governments.

With this doctrine the segregationists are attempting to disguise a moral conservatism with a legal fraud.

The Supreme Court has rendered during its history decisions of far, far greater moment than the segregation rulings, important as they are.

For instance, nowhere in the constitution is it expressly stated that the Court can hold acts of Congress and the states unconstitutional. But in two great decisions the Court, under third Chief Justice John Marshall, proved that this power was inherent in the court. They would be no government without it, and the Constitution would be but a scrap of paper with no authority to interpret it.

THESE RULINGS were not greeted with rioting and manifestos, because they were legal in scope. They had no moral implications to the average man. He has never heard of Marbury v Madison and McCullough v. Maryland, although Brown v. Board of Education, the allimportant segregation case, is quite likely to be in his repertoire of swear words, assuming he is a southerner.

Now, because they do not like this particular application of the Court's power, the segregationists assume that the Court is not in it.

We are actually face-to-face with a crisis as great as that of the Civil War. We can only hope that the Court's decision will eventually be observed everywhere. If the Court were to lose its power the United States would become an anarchy, with no law save that of mob rule and thousands of politicians big and little trying to take advantage of it.

We've got a taste of this here in Florida. How much statesmanship does it take to turn a moral question into defiance of one's nation?

IT IS, OF COURSE, easier for me to say these things because I do not believe in segregation. It has not been proven to me that God created different races, or that any democratic system of government can long continue any difference. It has not been proven to me that people need to be segregated one from another.

In a sense, I am as dogmatic as the segregationist. He has been brought up to believe the contrary, and it has not been proven to him that people can be integrated.

THIS IS A WIDE issue but equally important. A lot of people don't remember why southern Negroes can't be content with what they have—with little that is due—and try to convince themselves without causing a lot of hard feelings.

Put yourself in the position of a Negro. Never forget you are a human being. Do you like to be told there's something about you that means you must stay away from other humans, something that means you must play the servant by saying "sir" to kids forty years younger and fearing to call a white man by a "boy."?

I shall never forget the class at the university in which we were asked how we would advise a Negro parent to explain segregation to her child. Nobody came up with an answer.

In The Wings

Staples Receives Ovation At Concert

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

THE UNIVERSITY Symphony, under the direction of Robert Sedore, presented its third concert of the season in Westcott Friday night. The program was the second to feature student soloists.

Overture Overture toll Be earlo opened the program. The performances was spirited enough, but woodwind balance and intonation in the slow section was not as good as it should have been, and the percussion section tended to overbalance the rest of the orchestra.

Miss Elaine Staples was the first soloist to appear She sang two difficult arias—Mozart's "Der Hölle Rache" from the Magic Flute and "Ah fors'e lui" from Verdi's La Traviata. The Mozart aria 'eun by the Queen of the Night' is full of coloratura passages and was well controlled range up to F above high C. Miss Frank sang with an innate sense of musicianship, always seeming to do just the right thing. Her intonation was excellent and her technique seemed to be more than adequate for the difficulties involved

CONCERTO No. 2 in D minor closed the first half of the program with the last two movements of Beethoven's "Emperor" Concerto. Miss Cosso was at her best in the last movement, where she demonstrated an unusual feeling for line and proportion. Her interpretation was authentic and rewarding. The bow which passes for a piano in Westcott seemed to give her trouble in the last movement, but anyone with more than steel- like fingers is going to have difficulty with that instrument. It is hard to play fast contrapuntal passages fortissimo, and especially so when Beethoven's wide spacing and unorthodox modulations complicate the problem.

THE ORCHESTRA opened the second half of the program with Debussy's Fetes, the second of the three Nocturnes. Here the orchestra had some of its best moments of the night. Its vocal accompaniments some of the attacks had been sloppy earlier in the concert, the musicians didn't watch the conductor carefully, but in the Fetes everyone was on his toes.

LYNN Staples was the last of the serving and rewarding performance of the night was that by Jim Staples, who played the extremely difficult piano part in Rachmaninoff's Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini. His playing was full of virtuoso tradition, and every note exuded confidence Staples is one of the two or three really big talents on the campus. His musical maturity increases with every performance The audience was understandably captivated and gave him a standing ovation, calling him back repeatedly for bows.

Of All Things

Tally-Ho Obstacles 'Insurmountable'

By OSCAR JOHNSON

WE HOPE THAT students will look over the following article especially in this issue concerning the Tally-Ho for 1956.

The subject is one that is of some note to the campus. It is also a very probable likeness of that publication. To many, the success or failure of a yearbook depends entirely upon the editor and his staff.

Well, the next issue of Tally-Ho probably will. Editor Jim Broderick has been working out sometime in June, after everybody has left campus.

Much theres a deeper issue underlying the Tally-Ho's "failure" for not coming out on time. And that is the campus publication itself. The obstacles to its coming out on schedule were insurmountable.

Each year the campus could have done the job, it would have been Jim. It was a task he had set himself to accomplish.

For instance, when he lost the election for the Tally-Ho editorship as a Sophomore in 1954 the committee asked him what his future plans were.

Unhesitatingly, he replied he was going to run again in his Junior year.

When that time came, he was—and he made it. Almost at once he set out to make this year's Tally-Ho the best ever published. He brought to the office technical know-how; skill. He had new make-up ideas, experience in management, and photography. Everything, it seemed, necessary to put out a superior yearbook.

BUT THEN THINGS began coming up. Jim was forced to resign. He returned only to be a work of frustration. A new, untried, photographic setup was put into effect, to name one example. In the long run, that probably but another black anything else. But there were other more spots.

Jim made a good effort, but it was not to be. It was like running into a stone wall. To others, watching the progress of the annual the reason was simple: it takes more than ability to put out a yearbook.

Just what it takes, Jim describes better than we could do in his article on this page. We urge all to read it. It presents a case that will be remedied if we are to expect anything from a future Tally-Ho other than what happened this year.

At this writing, it appears that some of the items troubling areas will be eliminated next year. But that's next year—and another annual.

TIME FOR another subject.

The incredible mind of the FSU student has some things to say about it. Or we have a notebook of Did You Knows. Further does can be sent to the columnists in the Flambeau if campus mail.

DID YOU KNOW—The U. S. Geological Survey has classified the entrance to the Westhall parking lot as an "un-naviagable stream . . . "

DID YOU KNOW—The auto speed trials will be held at FSU next year instead of Daytona Beach . . . word has reached us that one of the fastest driving in Florida is done on the campus . . .

DID YOU KNOW—The Campus Police will join the concession stands during these races . . . .

Wandering With Wiljohn

Chooses Most Influential In Jazz

By WILJOHN

TODAY LET'S try to wander around the musical jazz scene for a moment and just see what we can. A while back, I mentioned that I would pick a group of men that I thought to be among the most influential on the jazz scene. I hadn't even get started on that today.

I think it would be easier to go through and just pick men by the instruments they played, rather than the particular style of jazz that they were playing.

The backbone of the jazz group has always been the drums. (Of course, we've said that earlier). The acknowledged king of this instrument has to be Bix Beiderbecke. Unfortunately, he didn't record very much and there is no excepi for the great job done by George Wettling and Gene Krupa. But the good stuff that Bix ever recorded and lanuing is wonderful; three volume series on the Columbia label.

Along with Bix, you can't overlook the men who started Jazz trumpet : Joe "King" Oliver, Bunk Johnson, Freddy Keppard: or the men who brought it to the world and made them love it :Louis Armstrong, early Harry James, and others too numerous to mention.

THERE USED to be only one great trombone player and he was Jack Teagarden. Perhaps when it came to discussions of Jazz Kid Ory, the wisened little negro man that some of you might remember from the "Benny Goodman Story." That little old guy used to make a slide trombone talk and really howl and spin. He's in his seventies now and still blowing too much horn. Along with him rate early jazz greats Everette Tommy Dorsey, J. C. Johnson (who has been around for a much longer time than most people think) and many of the newer kids (Orbie Green, Kai Winding). I know many of you will be saying, "Oh, he forgot Jack Teagarden." Jack Teagarden rates along at the top and so, in my book, does Bobby Hackett and Jack Murphy.

The clarinet scene has been dominated by the work of Goodman and DePrance for so long that it's hard to name anyone else. Lately Tony Scott has been making a name for himself and deservedly so. You've been a long time name on the stick. Probably you could add Pearnie Nuncio to the group too. And Jimmy Hamilton, who is with Ellington.

FOR SAXES, let's think. We've got to take Johnny Hodges and Charlie Parker also. It would be foolishness to omit Coleman Hawkins, Stan Getz and Lee Konitz. I'll throw in the following and you can take what you like: Lester Young, Al Cohn, Paul Desmond, Jimmy Dorsey, Woody Herman, Gerry Mulligan, Serge Chaloff.

Done run out of space here. I'll pick out the rest of the Tuesday Bix or Friday Bit. Don't look for it. It's hardly worth it.

The Press Table

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

Forgetting the integration issue and their numerous other troubles for the moment, the Board of Control once more delved into the world of athletics Friday.

And until the whole thing was retracted via the AP, the statements of a few of the members raised quite a stir in newspaper circles over the weekend.

Board chairman Fred Kent was quoted to the effect that he wished both of the football players recently dropped by Coach Tom Nugent reinstated if possible.

FSU president Doak Campbell pointed out that both men were dropped for breaking athlete and university regulations, but Kent retorted that "you could forgive me, couldn't you?"

The Board's executive secretary Dr. J. B. Culpepper voiced the opinion that the Board should support the university in actions in regard to the sports programs, and commented thusly,

"It should be emphasized that these young men—the football players—must obey the rules and meet the standards, academic and otherwise."

Kent then observed that "this was a good way to put a football team."

From his Jacksonville home, Kent assured writers that it was all in general jushing and the Board would support Nugent one hundred per cent.

We hope so, but we wonder why the opinions were voiced, if it was all "jushing" why they came out in print, and why a certain reporter or reporters, felt it worthy of print.

The Board chairman's remark that "this is a good way to ruin a football team" is particularly disturbing to this writer because we wonder whether the Board is interested in producting a university or a gridiron power.

FSU's football team has progressed by leaps and bounds in the past three or four years, and certainly it is a vital cog in the university setup, but not so important that it should be placed above other values.

One of the most important part of any group organization is, and by nature has to be, restrictions of some type. Rules are not made to be broken, contrary to some fantasen opinions.

Training is a vital part of any athletic team, and the football players fall under several types of training restrictions during the season.

Undoubtedly it hurts to lose two halfplayers of the caliber of Bob Barber and Herb Taylor, but it seems to be an injustice to keep players, no matter their skill, on the ground who have broken the rules.

So we ask Chairmen Kent one question: "Is it a football team you want or a great university?"

Or were you "just joshing"?

WHO'S ON FIRST?

Sixteen major league baseball teams began their spring training work in Florida and Arizona last week and a month or so hence they begin firing for keeps, but already the speculation has begun as to who will meet in the magic series next October.

As we have done in the past, we'd like to present our views on the eventual outcome, but this year we want to do something different and get the readers in on it.

So, we'd like to have your predictions for the coming baseball races. If you're interested, send your predictions through the mail to us in Longmire or drop them by the Flambeau office in our box.

Undoubtedly you've disagreed with us and the rest of the erstwhile prognosticators in the past, so let us know your opinions.

How about it, baseball fans? "Who's on first?"

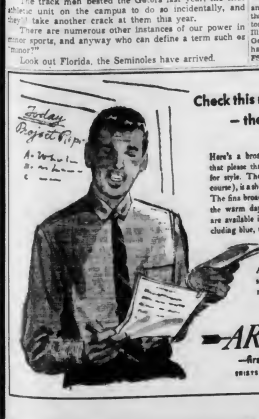
SPLASH HOME

Notwithstanding some of the claims to the contrary by our "big brothers" to the South, Florida State appears to be emerging as a dominant force in minor sports in the state.

The Seminole swimmers swept to a second straight SAC title Saturday, dominating the University of Florida natators with ridiculous ease, 116-19.

The golfers made things look equally silly by drubbing the Gators, 22½-4½, then sweeping their first state intercollegiate crown, also hailing the aGtors who finished a slightly distant second.

The baseball squad appears set for their greatest campaign ever after limiting Furman to two hits in 16 innings while blasting the Purple Hurricanes, 6-1 and 20-0 in openers.



Our volleyball team has dominated the state for eight straight years (adding another AAU title the past month and in gymnastics we are without a stiff opponent in the South.

The tennis squadders have one of the top Freshman crops in the state, though the varsity is admittedly handicapped by a lack of manpower, and we may have to wait another year to handle the Gators.

The track men bested the Gators last year, the first athletic unit on the campus to do so incidentally, and they'll take another crack at them this year.

There are numerous other instances of our power in minor sports, and anyway who can define a term such as "minor"?

Look out Florida, the Seminoles have arrived.

Check this new collar style
— the ARROW Glen

Here's a broadcloth shirt with features that please the college man with an eye for style. The collar, (button-down, of course), is a shorter, nester-looking model. The fine broadcloth cools you throughout the warm days ahead. The trim checks are available in 7 color combinations, including blue, tan and grey. $5.00.

And, an Arrow rep always sees off an Arrow shirt just right. Tie, $2.50.

SHIRTS • TIES • SLACKS

Swimmers, Baseballers Triumph

Tankers Blast Gators To Win Florida AAU

By DAVE EVANS
Flambeau Sports Writer

A revenge seeking Seminole swimming team turned the state AAU championship meet into a personal grudge match as they sank a determined group from Gatorland to take the state title Saturday in Gainesville.

The final score read, Florida State 116½, Florida 69.

Just one week ago the bared pressing Gators edged out the Tribe for an upset victory in a dual meet. As FSU's sophomore breast-stroker Joel Jacobs said about the meet, "we had to prove that our defeat last week was just due to an off day and did not represent the true quality of the team."

The spirited Seminoles grabbed the first event and held the lead through most of the meet although Florida up until the last three events.

Abbott Wins

FSU's Ken Abbott gave the Tribe a winning send-off when he won the 100 yard backstroke beating out the Gator's star George Dugatte.

Florida State tallied to win the 100 yard butterfly but bounced back in the 440 yard freestyle when Graham Treichle beat out UF's Jim Hannagan.

The 400 yard medley relay team of Abbott, Jacobs, Rhoten, and Julian Lewis pushed by the Metro Miami relay team but another man Jim Julian managed to hold the slim lead.

The best the Tribe could do in the diving was 5th with Byron B. Rhodes chalked up against rugged opposition which included All-America diver who only took second.

FSU's Ken Abbott won the National AAU Junior 220 yard backstroke which was a special event while Seminole Jerry Glancy took second.

Phil Drake, who did not swim for a team, counted out first in the 200 yard individual medley beating out FSU's Charlie Gentry and second Jim Rhoton who was swimming in his last college event.

Treichle Takes First

The Tribe's Graham Treichle took another first this time in the 220 yard freestyle beating out Florida's Hannagan and Rimer.

Florida State took the first four places in the 220 yard backstroke, the event that made Florida "back," said Tribe's Don Smith. Jerry Glancy won the event followed by Jimmie Wentworth, Ken Abbott, and Rube Waddell.

Although Jim Jacobs took a third in the 220 yard stroke his time was only a second and a half slower than first.

Hammond, Julian, Treichrer, and Lewis won the final race of the day when they took the 400 yard relay for FSU.

Netters Beaten By Georgia, 6-3

Georgia's tennis team proved too much for coach Kevin Pitchford's FSU squad as they dropped their opening match 6-3, here last week.

As was expected, veterans Hal Richman and Bradley Cowan won their singles and combined to win a doubles match to account for all of the FSU netters' triumphs.

Tennis matches come thick and fast this week Yesterday the netmen opposed Otto Blake, tomorrow they tackle Southern Illinois University and Saturday Georgia Tech moves into Tallahassee to take the court against FSU.

Florida Photos—Mike Smith

THE WINNANS!—The triumphant members of the FSU swimming team pose with their trophy after convincingly winning the Florida AAU crown by a substantial margin of 116½ to their closest rival, Florida with 69.

Gym Team Vies For NCAA Title

Tomorrow morning at 8 a. m. Coach Hartley Price and his gymnasts leave for Chapel Hill, N. C. to compete in the N. C. A. A. Championships.

About thirty teams representing every section of the United States will be competing for the title won by Illinois last year.

Representing Florida State will be gymnasts Tom MacDonald Joe Taylor, Don Prosser, Bob Murray, Jim Hanna, Joe Gantz, Larry Bestman, Jamie Ashmore, Laird Anderson, and co-captains Ronnie Amster and Rafael Lezcano.

In last year's meet at Los Angeles, the Seminoles placed a slow seventh, and according to Coach Price his gymnasts will have to be at their top form to better that this year.

Dr. Price has the Tribe 4th seeded in the meet following Illinois, Penn St. Michigan, Army, Navy, and UCLA

But Coach Price also said. "If a few of our top boys come through, we should do much better."

The key men for the Tribe will be co-captains Lezcano and Amster in all around and high bar respectively, Bob Murray in the flying rings and Jamie Ashmore in free exercise.

Last years high scorer, Don Holder, will be ineligible to compete this year because he has used up his four years of eligibility.

In last year's meet, Holder took a tie for second place in the parallel bar with teammate Rafeal Lezcano a third place in all around and had eighth place on the horizontal bar.

Volleyballers Win

Florida State's national champion volleyball team won their eighth straight Florida AAU championship at the state meet last weekend in St. Petersburg.

FSU's netmen have had only one losing season since it fielded a varsity team. That was in 1951 when they had a 7-8 mark.

Intramural Intrigue

Tomoka House, the married students on West Campus, upset the dope last week when they beat Magnolia Hall 15-10, 13-13, in dorm volleyball.

Baptists also upset the dope by beating the favored Methodist team 15-11, 8-15, 15-13 The Peds broke into the win column with a 15-12, 15-7 win over the Air Force

The Freshouse beat Senior Hall 15-5, 15-10.

Frat

The ATO-PDT match turned up plenty of excitement and action with PDT winning 17-15, 13-4. The first game was a real comeback battle by ATO, but seven bad serves killed their chances.

They folded in the second game, again with bad serves contributing. PDT showed a good passing and hard hitting game.

TC after losing 15-13 to Kappa came back to win 16-13, 15-6. KA took SPE 15-8, 15-8. Sigma Nu remained unbeaten by taking ZCA 15-10, 15-11.

The Intramural Board meets tomorrow afternoon at 4 at the Trophy Room of the Student Center.

Lowest round of golf played last year was turned in by Jack Veghte with a six-under-par 66 against Davidson. That was two strokes better than anyone else shot all year.

Coach Denny Litwhiler had himself a bunch of hitting pitchers last season. No less than five of them batted over the .300 mark.

Florida Photos—Mike Smith

HE'S SAFE! Outspread arms of the umpire indicate that the Florida State Seminoles have scored a run in their opening game against Furman. The Tribe won 6-1.

Linksters Blank Auburn, 27-0; Oppose Bulldogs Here Today

The Florida State golfers rolled over Auburn 27-0, last Friday, March 16, and are prepared to meet Georgia today and Alabama Thursday.

According to golf coach Dr. Don Veller, Alabama always has a touch team and this year is no exception.

Only one player broke par as the Seminoles beat the Tigers to gain their fourth straight win.

Jack Veghte, playing in the number three spot, fired a two under par 70 to lead FSU to victory.

Bob Dunn had a 74 for the Indians while Edwin Jenkins, Bob Shave and Bill Shelton shot a 75. Bunk Barry, also for the Seminoles, had a 79.

The Auburn team did not show much as only two members of the team were able to break 80.

SUMMARY

Dunn (FSU) defeated Kenning-ton (A), Jenkins (FS), Fisher (A), Shave (FSU) defeated Wilson (A), Barry (FSU) defeated Church (A), Shelton (FSU) defeated Williams (A), Veghte (FS), FSU, defeated Fulford (A).

Rosell's Single Gives Tribe 6-5 Win Over Profs

A dramatic ninth inning single by outfielder Bob Rosell gave Florida State a baseball team a 6-5 victory over Georgia Treadwells here yesterday.

With the bases loaded, two out and Rosell at or bat on a three-two pitch, Rosell spiked a liner barely fair down the third base line so give the Tribe their third straight win

The Seminoles had a 5-3 lead until the top of the ninth when Ralph Berryhill singled across two runs for Georgia Teachers also with two out, to knot the score.

Jim Atwood went all the way for the winners, striking out 13 men, and Jim White went the distance for the losers.

The Tribe broke the ice in the first frame, scoring once on a walk and three errors

A home run by third baseman Carlee Hendrix, a walk to Fred Twomey, a wild pitch and a single by Lee Croso added two more in the third.

The Profs came roaring back to tie the score in the fifth, on three singles, two walks and two errors.

However the winners regained the lead on a single, an error and a two-run triple by Twomey, and held it until the turbulent ninth.

Beat Furman

Last Friday and Saturday Florida State's ace hurlers Tony Avitable and Max Long combined efforts and tamed Furman's Hurricanes 6-1 and 20-0.

In Friday's encounter, Avitable turned in the better pitching performance ever staged on FSU's mound. Of the 28 men to face the 21 year old junior, 24 went down on strikes.

The 6'4" Miamian entered the old strikeout record of 12 set by Hessle Cathcart in 1946.

Avitable loaded the bases in the first inning as he gave up three free outs to Furman before retiring the side via the third strike route.

Until the sixth inning Avitable had a no-hitter in the making. Furman's catcher, John Popson caught hold of a pitch and drove it off the right field fence for a double to score Billy Gaines from first for Furman's only tally of the game.

Florida State led the game in the fourth inning with four runs, all unearned. Ham Huber's single and Dick Houser's double plus four Furman errors and a walk accounted for the runs.

In the eighth inning the Seminoles added two more runs to make the final tally read 6-1.

In Saturday's battle Max Long turned in another sterling performance as he held Furman to only one hit in blanking the Hurricanes 20-0

Seminole bats wound up the assault in the fifth inning as the 26 runs. The Indians jumped to a six run lead in the first and scored 14 more never in danger.

The third inning saw the Seminoles push eight more runs across the plate This fourth and sixth innings accounted for six more runs and the final 20-0 score

The game went only 7 innings through an agreement between Litwhiler and Furman coach Billy Kerr reached at the end of the fifth inning when FSU led 17-0.

When the songs are light
And the fire's bright
For real delight—have a CAMEL!

—Man, that's pure pleasure!

It's a psychological fact
Pleasure helps your disposition.
If you're a smoker, remember
— more people get more pure pleasure from Camels than from any other cigarette!
No other cigarette is so rich-tasting, yet so mild!

Camel

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

In Grecian Times

Frats In Midst Of Planning For Annual Big Weekends

Sororities and fraternities are in the midst of plannina and staging their biggest event—the annual weekend

This past Friday, Saturday, and Sundsy the Sigma Kappas, Alpha Delta Pis, and Kappa Alpha Thetas celebrated with the usual siate of parties and dances

A Coronation Mask Ball was given by the Sigma Kappas. Best Pledge Sa'zane Stokes was presented with ther court. Other events on the aaenda were a luncheon Saturday, and a pirate's party with a treasure hunt at Silver Lake that night. After church services Sunday, the SKs set out for the coast.

Charl-iaine Weeks is the new president of Siama Alpha Iota . . . Dawn Sharp joined Kappa Delta Pi . . . The SKs proudly display their Sigma Chi Derby trophy which they won

Alpha Delta Pi sorority held its formal dance at the Woman's Club Friday night

Buzzy Strandhagen, a Phi Delta Theta, was crowned "Diamond King" by A D Pi president Janie Pasquarello The "Hillsiders" furnished the music for the evening.

A coast party whe held Saturday, followed by a Hawaiian party at the house that night. Supper was served Hawiian style with all guests eating on the floor amidst palmetto leaves and flowers. After dinner a skit was presented completing the Hawaiian theme.

The weekend was culminated with a buffet dinner at the house Sunday afternoon.

Sally Lines, A D. Pi's representative to the Sigma Chi's Derby Beauty Contest, was runnerup

The Alpha Chis were in full force at the Sigma Chi Derby Saturday tieing the Tri Delts for second place in the "rolling the tire" race They won third place all round. By selling cake at the Derby the Alpba Chis raised over $20 fo rthe Campus Chest fund

Keppa Delta pledges elected Toots Jones as their president; Betty Bolton, vice president; Elise Newberry, secretary; Jean McCloud, treasurer; and Delores Lafferty, Jr., Panhellenic representative.

KDs Hepsy Greer and Pat Flynn are GAX pledges . the KD "Hick Band" which won the Sigma Kappa Variety Show performed for the Delts at a party

The ATO "Peldge of the Year" award was presented to Toby Lovern at the annual Founder's day banquet last week

Justice Stephen C. O'Connell, former U. of Florida Student Body president and ATO president, spoke on "The Founding Father."

News from the Alpha Xi house . . . Claudette Carley was elected president of Gamma Alpha Chi and Home Economics Club . . New GAX members are Madge Strain, Virginia Ritchie, Stephanie Powell, and Nancy Cubbon . . . Pledge Charlotte Abney electe dpresident of Tao Beta Sigma . . . Alpha Xis took first place in the sorority basketball league.

Partyin' Sigma Nus recently gave a "Western Party" complete with charcoal broiled steak, an informal party for the Gamma Phis, and another for the Thetas.

New members of Sigma Nu ara Darryl Mahoney, Hugh Coachman, Harvey Loften, Charles Pschirrer, Marvin Ingram Jr., Maurice Kennedy and Dale Croy New pledges are J. C. Pike, Tony Ohledal, Byron Smith and Jim Eubanks.

Installment of new officers will take place at the SN annual White Star formal April 8. They are Jim Parkhurst, commander, Ralph Atwell, lt. commander; Beaver Ray, recorder; and Earl Meeks, treasurer.

Nell Davis was crowned Kappa Sig Sweetheart at the annual Black and White Ball and presente dtwo dozen red roses and a loving cup.

Festivities for the weekend included a "Back to the Fgrm" party featuring country games, corn bread, farm costumes, and square daneing

Alpha Gams pledge class elected Marie Locker, president; Barbara Watson, vice-president; Mary Bowln, secretary; Pat Thornton, treasurer; Martha Frazier, Panhellenic representative and chaplain.

Zeta Tau Alpha, Peggy Buchanan received the "Best Pledge" award and Sherry Nichols won the Scholarship Trophy at a banquet honorina new intiates last week ZTAs Mary Margaret Williams and Peggy Buchanan were members of the Kappa Sig Queen's Court.

Sue Rogers was recently named the "Oustanding Pledge" of Alpha Omieron Pi . . . Linda Brinkley received the Scholarship award.

AOPis new initiates are Sue Rogers, Linda Brinkley, Priscilla Barns, Pat Lieman, Nancy Hudgins, Elizabeth Dell, Charlotte Wilson, Lois Kuster, Pat Warner, Dixie Works, Pat Fury, Roberta Kiezer, Annette Fountain, Hope Rachels, Betty Jean Woodham and Rita Nelms.

Pledge officers are Nancy White, president; Gloria Harris, viee-president; Sue Gilford, secretary; Yaney Murry, treasurer; Sandra Chaplin, charm chairman and Gloria Meltzer, song leader. Ella Jo Bilinski was elected and installed president of the Newman Club

Sigma Alpha Epsilon recently initiated Wayne Bussey, Jim Davis, Oliver Dixon, Walt Godwin, Doug Hulse, Sherril Johnson, Bill Kimber, Dale Koch, Roy McCullom, Gerald McArthur, Winston Parsons, Bill Roche, Zack Shelly, John Stewart, Pat Turner, Charles Ward, Hubert Williams and Jim Peacock.

FILM CLUB SHOWS "ETERNAL MASK"

The Eternal Mask will be shown Thursday in the Demonstration School Auditorium by the FSU Film Club.

Showings will take place at 8:30 and 8:40 p.m. of the film, which concerns a young doctor's fight with insanity.

Records Phonographs
FREE LP RECORD WITH EACH PHONOGRAPH
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phona 3-0161

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA	STATE
ENDS TODAY "The Conquaror" John Weyne Susaa Hayward — WEDNESDAY-SATURDAY "The Man With Tha Golden Arm" Frank Sinatra Eleenor Perker Kim Novek	TUESDAY-SATURDAY Tennessee Williams' "Tha Rose Tattoo" Burt Lancaster Anna Magnani Marisa Paven Ben Cooper Vista Vision
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR	CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY "We're No Angels" Humphrey Bogart Aldo Rey — THURSDAY-SATURDAY "Thay Roda West" Robert Francis Donne Reed —also— "Tarzan's Hiddan Jungla" Gordon Scott Vera Miles	TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY "Pate Kally's Blues" Jack Webb Peggy Lee Janet Leigh — THURSDAY-SATURDAY "Blood Allay" John Weyne, Lauren Becell —also— "The Big Knife" Jeck Pelence, Ide Lupino Shelley Winters

Shaving at its best! OLD SPICE SMOOTH SHAVE in the pressurized container... gives a rich, velvety lather... remains firm and moist throughout your shave. And a unique, lubricating formula soothes your skin. For top performance and speed—make your next shave OLD SPICE SMOOTH SHAVE. 1.00
SHULTON New York • Toronto

Campus Cutie Of The Week

Flambeau photo, Bob Simmons

MISS PAT FURY
Freshman from Perry, member of AOPi sorority

Segregation Fires

(Continued from Page 1)

saying that the governor is the only state authority who could not be put in federal prison for defying the Supreme Court.

"I don't think it is consistent with our form of governmeot to vest that much power in soy single individual," Collins responded.

Only Governor

Only the governor can call a special legislative aession, from the suggested amendment could come.

Ballinger's proposal followed a United States Supreme Court order that Virgil Hawkins, Daytona Beach Negro, be admitted without delay to the University of Florida law school.

The State Supreme Court, by a 5 to 2 vote, had put off his admission this year pending a study of probable effects. In last Monday's decision the U. S Supreme Court invoked prior decisions involving graduate schools to order Hawkins' admission regardless of a survey.

Will Enroll

Hawkins responded be would enroll in September, the only time at which new classes are admitted to the U of F law school.

Fuller Warreo, candidate for the governorship ba beid four years ago, issued a statement last week calling Hawkins unfit to attend the law school because of ao instance of cruelty Hawkins is said to have inflicted upon Negro pupils in his charge.

(Two school officials of Lake County, where the beating allegd ly took place, denied that it ever occurred.)

The State Cabinet has called a conference for tomorrow, in which educators and governmeot leaders will discuss possible results of the latest Hawkins ruling.

The University of Florida law studeots themselves expressed a majority disapproval of his admissioo but said they didn't expect any violence would result.

Dr. J. Wayne Reitz, president of the university at Gainesville, said he did not think there will be any rioting wheo Hawkins is admitted.

Paul Skeltoo, assistant Busioess Manager for the Board of Control said yesterday that the ruling would not affect the survey now being taken.

Summer Vacation?
Leern to speek SPANISH, fulfill languege requirement, increese your EARNING power,, io AIR-CONDITIONED comfort. 11 weeks course $435.00. Folder free: Latin Americen Institute Stetion A, Hattiesburg, Miss.

Kent Lashes At 'Socialist' Books, Courses

Chairman Fred Kent of the Board of Control was reported Friday as saying he favored a study of courses and textbooks at Florida's three state universities to combat socialist teaching.

A denial of any implications that the University of Florida is teaching any socialistic courses was promptly stated by Dr J. Wayne Reitz, president, in answer to newsmen's questioning.

Dr Reitz said the university does not have courses advocating overthrow of government by "political, economic and educational reform," courses which Kent hinted existed at Florida's universities.

"The fight for the minds of the students in our universities seems to me to be based on socialism," Kent stated

FSU President Doak S. Campbell issued no statement regarding Kent's comments, which were made at a recent meeting of the Board of Control.

Dancing Lessons Times Changed

Cavalier and Cotillion dance lessons have been changed to meet from 8 to 10 Tuesday and Thursday nights, announced Jim Julian, Cavalier president.

Reason for the time ehange is the amount of students participating, said Julian. Lessons have been held from 7:30 to 9 p m.

The dancing honoraries are sponsoring a series of dancing lessons at the Student Center. Last Tuesday night, an impromptu bop contest was held.

VOLUME PUBLISHED IN FSU SERIES

"Verdict On Schacht, a Study in the problem of Political Guilt" by Dr. Earl R Beck of the Department of History, has been published as the 22nd Volume of Florida State University Studies.

Annual Carnival Will Last 2 Days

The Freshman Carnival will last two days for the f[...] time in its history, according to class officials.

The increased time is due to the addition of a bicycle race, Florida State University's "Little 500", explained Bill Wright, race chcairman. It will be patterned after an annual event staged at the University of Indiana.

Students interested in working on the carnival will meet in 303 Westcott tonight at 9, class president Bill Clendinene has announced. He said that chairmen have been working on some new ideas for the carnival, which will be discussed at the meeting.

The race, to be held April 26 on the Dem School track, will be run in the form of a relay with every team racing a total of 30 miles. Each team, consisting of five men and an alternate, will be sponsored by a fraternity, sorority, or independent group.

Organizations will not be limited on the number of teams they can enter but only the top twenty teams will participate in the finals. This number will be determined one week before the finals through qualifying heats consisting of from three to five miles.

Supply Bicycle

Entering groups must supply their own bicycle along with an entry fee of $10. These entry blanks will be placed in the mail tomorrow morning and must be returned by April 12th.

Wright revealed that the winner will receive a traveling trophy worth $70.

On Saturday, April 28th from 6:30 p.m to 12.00 p.m. the second half of the Carnival will take place. Located on Landis Green, this portion will consist of booths, a talent show, and the crowning of the king and queen.

Already Entered

Booths already entered, and their sponsors are as follows: Sigma Chi, coin toss; Delta Delta, garter toss; Theta Chi, escort; Delta Tau Delta bingo and black jack; Pi Kappa P[...] drop in the drink, Sigma Kap[...] spook house; Alpha Chi Ome[...] artists.

Kappa Sigma, telegra[...] Gamma Phi Beta, dance, Alp[...] Omicron Pi, kissing; Phi De[...] Theta, basketball toss; Zeta T[...] Alpha, love rating, Sigma N[...] rat in the hole; Pi Beta Phi [...] Phi pies

Alpha Xi Delta sponge thro[...] Kappa Delta, mystic; Kap[...] Alpha, baseball throw; Tau E[...]silon Phi, darts and balloon[...] Alpha Delta Pi, side show, Ka[...]pa Alpha Theta, mock weddi[...] Alpha Gamma Delta, girlie [...]lie show; Phi Kappa Tau, kn[...] your name.

On Agenda

Also on the agenda for t[...] 28th is a talent show to [...] given twice during the even[...] Class social chairman, Cle[...] Green, has announced the [...]lowing entertainment: Cla[...] Tinker, pantomine; Beve[...] Smith, singer; Delta Zeta [...] Lamba Chi Alpha, campus [...] winners; Harvey Ross, pia[...] Pete Holemtoller, drums Ne[...] Black, accordian; Tallahass[...] singers; Jackie Hage, ba[...] twirling; June Rodgers, sing[...] John Taylor, guitar.

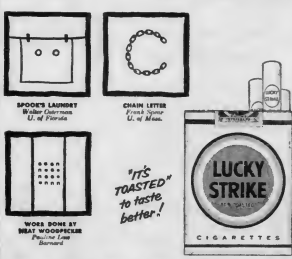
As has been the custom i[...] past, a king and queen w[...] elected from the freshman c[...] to rule over the Carnival [...] two elected will be crowned [...] a coronation at 9 p.m. the nig[...] of the 28th.

GENUINE ENGRAVED
Wedding Announcements
$7.95 FOR 50 EXTRAS 7c EACH
SAMPLES MAILED UPON REQUEST
FINEST QUALITY
FR 3-3166
FREE BRIDE BOOK with Orders Totaling $20 or More
FREE Embossed Address on Envelopes & Orders Totaling $10 or More
Miami Engraving Co.

IT'S
BILL'S BOOK STORE
for
- Books
- Classroom Supplies
- Greeting Cards
- All Your Daily Needs

WE BUY USED BOOKS

HI!
SEE YOU
LATER
AT THE
MECCA



You feel so new and fresh and good—all over—when you pause for Coca-Cola. It's sparkling with quick refreshment . . . and it's so pure and wholesome—naturally friendly to your figure. Let it do things—good things—for you.
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
THE TALLAHASSEE COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.
"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1956, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

LUCKY DROODLES! DO 'EM YOURSELF!

LET THIS ONE SINK IN. It's titled: Lucky-smoking golfer lining up putt. He may miss the putt, but he's not missing out on better taste. Luckies give you better taste every time. That's because they're made of fine tobacco—light, mild, naturally good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better. So follow through—join the swing to Luckies. Nothing beats better taste—and you'll say Luckies are the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

DROODLES, Copyright 1953 by Roger Price

Students!
EARN $25!
Cut yourself in on the Lucky Droodle gold mine. We pay $25 for all we use—and for a whole raft we don't use! Send your Droodles with descriptive titles. Include your name, address, college and class and the name and address of the dealer in your college town from whom you buy cigarettes most often. Address: Lucky Droodle, Box 87A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER - Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!
©A. T. Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

FLORIDA'S ONLY Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

EASTER VESPERS Set Sunday (See Story, Page 1)

Vol. XLI, No. 40

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

Friday, March 23, 1956

Flambeau photo: Bob Simmons

Yankee Go Home—Former U. S. Congressman Lex Green, left, speaks at meeting of Tallahassee Citizens Council behind courthouse Wednesday night. Affair was attended by about 50, including a group of FSU students who responded to literature distributed on campus. (They went there for the entertainment.) Seated at right are council members. Students could not determine whether white sheet wrapped around microphone had any significance, but for one columnist's views on event, see p. 2.

No Candidates Have Declared

No declarations of candidacy have been filed yet for the student elections, with only one class days left till qualifying deadline.

Jerry Willmon, secretary of elections, warned yesterday that petitions must be submitted by 5 pm Tuesday.

Declaration blanks may be picked and turned in at the elections desk in Longmire Building she said.

Bonnie estimate blanks, which must be submitted by April 1, can also be picked up at she added.

Primary day is set for April 10.

Crowd Attends First Collins Club Meeting

An overflow crowd at the first meeting "Collins For Governor" club meeting Wednesday night caused the event to be held in the Auditorium instead of scheduled smaller room.

Nearly 100 attended, according Bob Moore, who was elected chairman. This was the most successful meeting of the campaign ever seen on this campus he said.

Indicates Support

"That the students who at came from all parts of the is a an indication of tremendous support Collins from all areas of the state," Moore said.

Also as the Florida Flambeau has been able to determine, no has been formed on campus in support of any candidates other than Collins.

Speakers

Speakers at the Wednesday meeting were Judd Chapman and Moore, assistant state campaign directors for Collins. They spoke on Collins' campaign to and gave a rundown of his Several club projects were discussed at the meeting, according to Chairman Moore. He said the first one as an effort get all eligible students registered to vote.

Moore said the club plans to distribute literature on campus in connection of Collins' candidacy and in other parts of the state where students supporting Collins reside.

Bumper Strips

So said bumper strips are being placed on "a large number" cars on campus and the club providing students to assist state campaign headquarters Dennis downtown.

Also elected Wednesday be Moore were committee chairmen as follows: Gerald Publicity; Jim Moore, finance; Curtis Jackson, meetings; Gaulter, state campaign headquarters assistants; and Bellamy, vote registration.

42 MISTAKES

We chose a good issue your eyes to begin a contest for students for locating the most ridiculous errors in the paper. There were lots of them. The printers even contributed to the total by reversing two photographs on the front page.

Winning student was Jim Roderick, who found 42 misspreading errors. He has received one movie pass to the State Theatre for his discovery.

Despite all, we aren't dissatisfied. We even forgive the printers. And we're continuing the contest. Any entries for this issue?

Frosh Planning 'Traditional' Race

The Freshman Class will begin what it hopes will be a new campus tradition when it sponsors the First Annual Bicycle Race Thursday, April 26.

The race, to be held on the Florida High track, will be a competition between twenty teams.

An organization on campus may enter one or more teams, explained Bill Wright, of the Rules and Regulations committee. A team will consist of four riders and two alternates. In addition there will be two pit crew members for each team.

Any male student carrying 12 hours is eligible to be a rider, explained Wright.

Preliminaries Set

Preliminary races will be held a week before the actual finals. Twenty finalist teams will be selected to run in the main event.

Entry fees are $10 per team with half refunded to the twenty finalists, explained Wright.

Class Funds

All money collected will be used to carry the Freshmen class through the next years. The Sophomore Hop, Orientation Week and, other class functions all need financial backing," said class president Bill Clendinen.

Prizes for the race include a first place trophy worth $70, a second place trophy and a plaque for third place. The best decorated pit will also win an award.

Pit Locations

Pits will be located along the outside of the track. Pit crews will help riders alternate and help the bicycles in good condition.

The 30 mile race will be run in 120 laps. A team will have the only one rider on the track at a time, however, alternating riders.

A team needs only one bicycle, continued Wright. Teams must

(Continued on Page 6)

Police Authority Came From City

Tallahassee Police and Tuesday they got their authority from the City Manager for hauling FSU student cars. Car from now on reserved for the Florida Association of Garden Clubs.

City Manager Arvah Hopkins, they said, followed a request by the garden clubs and reserved parking spaces along Copeland Street, which runs in front of Westcott Building from Westcott Gate north to the front of the Education Building.

Bezaa Monday

They got this Monday, they added, by putting up signs at 5 p.m. saying the spaces had been reserved. They said that cars parked there then were not hauled away.

Police said they returned the next day at 8 a.m. and hauled away eight cars. Four more cars which bag been parked there after the signs went up. The police wrecker took the cars to a parking lot at Call and Copeland.

"Within Rights"

The police and the reason the cars were not taken to the city jail across town was that they did not want to inconvenience university students.

"The act was done in line with the authority of the police to reserve any spaces within the city limits when such is done by the city manager," they said.

Spaces reserved were used by business hired by the garden clubs during their three-day stay here, which ended yesterday.

Play To Be Introduced

Coffee Hour Program Friday Is 'Unusual Pace Change'

By ARLIEDA RIES

Patrons of the English Coffee Hour have an unusual change of pace in store for them today at 4 p.m.

In the Augusta Conrad: Theatre, Bernard Benstock, graduate assistant teaching freshman English, will introduce the first performance of a play written by himself with the able assistance of several immortal authors, a four colleges or scores.

The Orestein OR Finnegans Wake, described by Benstock as an experimental dramatic play written in poetic form, is based on Greek literature and myth.

Use is also made of four more ern contemporary plays in a series of climaxes. Much of the play's structure is taken from James Joyce's circular design of individual and racial development found in Finnegans Wake.

Cast Described

The cast consists of four male speaking parts, two speaking female parts, and three male non-speaking parts. Throughout the drama's different scenes the same individuals are to be found, in order to symbolize the circular movement of the play.

Directing the poetic drama is Ed Thomas, graduate assistant in speech, who plays four parts. Allan Thomson, English and humanities teacher, takes three parts; Sally Lines, two parts; while John Paul Davis, acts as a solo chorus. Three assistns are portrayed by Ronald Webb, Don Johnson, and Neon McDill.

Illustrate Theory

Each of the four scenes or collages of the play, done in modern dress, draws significance from four modern dramas of the stage to illustrate the theories circular movement of life.

The first scene is derived from Murder in the Cathedral by T. S.

(Continued on Page 6)

Photo by Bernie Adams, Adrian Allen

SLATED 'HOUR' ENGAGEMENT
Bernie Benstock

Women's Glee Club Schedules Concert Tonight

Westcott Auditorium will be the scene of another concert tonight, this one given by the Women's Glee Club, at 8:15.

Directed by Miss Betty Jane Grimm, Associate Professor of Voice, the group will sing two modern sacred works, Carl Parrish's cantata, "Magnificat" and "Puer Hebraeorum" by Randall Thompson.

Barbara Schaller Peck and Harriet Ramsey will be soloists for the "Magnificat". The hymn of the Virgin Mary ("My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord") as given in the gospel of St. Luke, the cantata is contained in services of both the Catholic and Anglican churches.

Double Chorus

The Thompson work, with a Latin text, calls for a double chorus of women's voices. It was dedicated to the Wellesley College Choir.

Also modern, but in a different vein, is Gershwin's "Summertime", from the Negro "folk-opera" "Porgy and Bess" Soloist will be Martha Slayden, Gershwin, a jazz pianist as well as popular composer, is perhaps better known for his "Rhapsody in Blue", which caused the public to hail him as a link between jazz and "intellectual music."

Giving the singers a rest, Sara Yerkes, piano accompanist, will play Liszt's "Liebestraume" or "Dreams of Love". Liszt's music is well-known for its technical difficulties which are probably due to the composer's own virtuosity on the piano.

Oldest Number

The oldest number on the program is the "Echo Song", composed by Orlando di Lasso

(Continued on Page 6)

70 Million To Witness 'Flying High' Performance

To Be Given On CBS-TV

FSU's all-student circus "Flying High", will perform before its largest single audience, an anticipated 70 million, on Saturday, March 31 over the CBS national TV network.

The circus will be featured on the Realistic Big Top Show in a special Easter performance, revealed Coach Jack Haskin. It will be presented from noon until 1 p.m. (EST), with the FSU students performing 45 minutes.

25 In Troupe

Twenty-nine students will participate in the eleven acts. There will be aerialists on Spanish webs, double trapeze, triple break-away, and balancing and swinging trapeze. The Flying De Comos will also perform. Ground acts will be a bicycle for five, adagio teams, hand balancing, skating, and triple biah bar.

Another act for the TV show will be a rendition of "Flying High", the circus theme song, by the Realtest Band Wows and Realtest of the song were written by Thomas Wright, FSU music professor.

Will Accompany

Coach Haskin, Jim DeCosmo, assistant, Jim Martin, photographer; Bill Townsend, electrician; and other FSU personnel, will accompany the circus troupe on the trip to Philadelphia. Studios for the show will originate. They will travel in the FSU circus bus, taking two days going and one returning.

Some of the students have never been outside of Florida except on shorter circus road trips, noted Haskin. They will have time to sightsee in Philadelphia between rehearsals.

Visit New York

After the program they will be served lunch at the TV studios, and then travel to New York City where they will see the Radio City Music Hall Easter Show and the Easter Parade on Fifth Avenue.

A majority of the 29 chosen for the television performance are juniors or seniors and have been with the circus for more than a circus. All maintain at least a C average in scholastic work.

Extra Curricular Work

Circus is mainly an extracurricular activity at FSU, allowing only one quarter of credit in physical education, explained Haskin.

The fifteen coeds and fourteen men to be on the show are Sue Herndon, Judy Baker, Betty Ann Whittle, Ralph Atwell, Jackie Fortune, Charlie Matthews, Wilma Wilson, Joyce Hixon, Tommy Waits, Dave Blanky, Patricia Weeks, Laura Eiler.

Gale Porter, Ruth Ann Whittle, Arlene Schmitt, Carl Hanson, Eddie Wycoff, William Martin, Pete Wooten, Faye Money, Paula Hall.

Katie Lindley, Frank Smith, Janet Graff, Nancy Marchman, Jack Gardner, Charlotte and Phyllis Patten, and Kent Hearn.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Circus Cards Are Available

Twenty thousand printed post cards are available if students want to inform friends and relatives of a television appearance to be made soon by "Flying Fire. High," student circus.

Edward Whitlesey, director of public relations, said the cards will be placed at various places, including the Westcott information booth, Westcott ticket booth, and Longmire Building.

The cards call attention to the national television debut "Flying High" will make Saturday, March 31, on the Realtest circus program over the Columbia Broadcasting System. The program, to last 45 minutes beginning at 12 noon, will be produced live in Philadelphia.

Whitlesey said a total of 40,000 cards have been donated by various Florida tourist attractions.

The alumnal office alone is mailing out 13,000. Two-cent stamps may be used.

LIBRARY HOURS
EASTER WEEK END

March 28, Thursday — 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

March 30, Friday—8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

March 31, Saturday — 8:30 a.m.—12:30 p.m.

April 1, Easter Sunday—Closed.

April 2, Monday—8:30 a.m.—5:00 p.m.

April 3, Tuesday—Open regular hours.

Getting Ready—"Flying High" members of the Wrambling Wreck squad prepare for television engagement. L. to r. are John Mabee, Jackie Fortune, Floyd Jordan and Tommy Waits.

King Named To Tally-Ho Post

The Board of Student Publications Wednesday appointed Mary Elizabeth King Business Manager for next year's Tally-Ho.

Applications of Ray Hermann and Donald H. Ramsey were rejected.

Miss King has been business manager of the Florida Flambeau this year.

Appointment of James Olsen as Smoke Signals business manager was also made by the board. Olsen said in his letter of application he is a first semester junior majoring in advertising.

Serving for the first time as members of the Publications Board was Russell Alderman, who was appointed recently by Student Body President Clovie Meeks with confirmation of Student Senate. He replaced his brother, Sam Alderman, an elected member, who graduated.

In other business, the Board requested Arnold Air Society to pay a $25 bill for a picture of that organization printed in the 1955 Tally-Ho. Russell Johnson, spokesman for the group, maintained it should not have to pay on the grounds they told the photographer, after seeing the picture, they did not want it in the annual.

Senate Troubled With Billboards

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

For years American motorists have complained of roadside billboards.

Now Florida State University's Student Senate is troubled with billboards.

They don't exist, yet—but Senate is trying to change that.

The specific proposal is that provisions be made for a number of removable billboards to be erected at election periods for the purpose of displaying campaign literature. Such material could not be posted elsewhere.

Passed Once

The bill passed by a 10-9 vote Wednesday but the majority agreed to reconsider their action so that a student body referendum can be held on the measure.

At the end of an hour, however, the bill experienced the same treatment meted out to most Senate measures—it was sent back to a committee for further study.

Number Debated

What caused Senate to send the bill back to committee was a disagreement as to how many billboards should be constructed, and how big they should be—assuming the referendum vote is favorable.

A week earlier impending passage was forestalled when Senator Gordon Gautier and Men's Vice-President Nina Tew ran from the Senate chamber, reducing attendance to less than a quorum and making the conduct of official business illegal.

Opposition

Wednesday they joined with Senators Jim E. Moore, Hank McCann, Bill Bygett, Liz Gerry, Ari Moore, Cliff Gwynn, and Willie Mae Douglas in voting against the bill.

In the majority were women's Vice-President Nina Tew, and Senators Fred Mansfield, Mary Louise Dee, Carolyn Cloer, Greta Sims, Karl Edwards, Polly Atwater, Pat Finlay, Nancy Space, and Dick Rhodes. Jimmy Soles abstained from voting.

New Vote Sought

Tew's immediate move for reconsideration.

Amid shuting back-and-forth concerning Senator Hank McCann, who had come in late and requested a chance to be heard on the bill, Mansfield suggested the referendum.

"A ten to nine passage like this is not sufficient," he asserted.

McCann charged putting the question up to the student body would be "passing the buck."

Reasons Cited

Senators supporting the bill reiterated their contentions that it would give the candidate to meet the voters individually rather than only on poster campaigns.

The bill was re-considered and the amendment providing it should take effect only upon approval of a majority of those voting on the student body election was added.

Other Amendments

Several other amendments kept it from coming to a final vote, however Tew asked a minimum of 35 billboards.—the bill original-

(Continued on Page 6)

Easter Vespers Slated Sunday

Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha will give their annual Easter Vespers program Sunday beginning at 5 p.m. in the amphitheater.

The half-hour program will include three Bach chorales sung by members of the two professional music honoraries. "Break Forth O Beautiful Light," from the Christmas Oratorio, "Now Let All The Heavens Adore Thee" from "Sleepers, Awake", and "Ist Es carnatus Est" from the Mass in B minor are the chorales scheduled for the program.

Martha Slayden and Wendell Barnhill will sing solos in the third annual program.

Senate Earmarks $2,000 For Series

Student Senate appropriated $2,000 Wednesday to cover contracts made by its new Student Artist Series committee.

Committee member Carolyn Close said the action will make possible an appearance here April 3 of the Harvard Glee Club.

Senate amended the original bill to provide that any profits realized by the committee's fund in over $6,000 will revert to the student activity budget.

The committee may spend as much as $100 per event on advertising and publicity.

Outstanding Residents—Dr. Sam Neel, Dean of Men, presents plaques to residents of Magnolia Hall who have been cited for activies and scholarship. Louis Sica, left, received his plaque for maintaining a 3.913 scholastic average. On right is Gordon Speed, honored as the dorm's outstanding resident for scholastics and other activities.

Resume On Sports Issue

The simple request that our women gymnasts be allowed to represent our University in the forthcoming national competition has been mushroomed out of all proportion.

We have received detailed accounts of a 16-year record of intercollegiate "Sports-Days" held on this campus, and a similar volume of material on what happened at the last sports-day, but none have remotely touched the question originally asked.

In contrast, the correspondence on this paper has repeated our question again and again; the State Party adopted the issue as a platform plank this week, and we understand that petitions are now circulating in every fraternity and sorority on this campus. But the students remain unanswered.

We regret the misunderstanding that has resulted in correspondence with Dr. Katharine Montgomery of the Women's Physical Education Department. We appreciate her tactful resume of the situation involving alleged mistakes on the part of our sports writer, Pierce Lehmbeck. But even these letters completely circumvented the original question and misrepresented the point the columnist was trying to bring out.

We should like to point out that Lehmbeck is a conscientious reporter, well-known throughout the press circles for his ability and his discretion. That circumstances have made him the intermediary between the women students and the Women's Physical Education Department is regrettable, but the outcome is not surprising, for "third persons" usually take the brunt of any dissention between the other two parties.

The purpose of any campus press is to make the wishes of the students known, to give their causes publication, and to aid in the achievement of these requests. The Florida Flambeau will continue to do just now. But we do want everyone involved to take cognizance of the original question—May our young women compete with those of other colleges throughout the country in the coming national contests, as representatives of this University?

Conventions Create Problems

Tempers flared in all corners of the campus this week as drivers attempted to park their cars minus more than 200 parking spaces, which were reserved overnight for members of the Garden Club convention.

When the campus only accommodates one-third of the number of automobiles requesting to park here, it seems a bit ridiculous to reserve 20 per cent of the existing spaces without notifying the regular populace well in advance. The ensuing traffic jams and irate owners of cars dragged away the first day (see story P. 1) could well have been anticipated.

Now that spring has allegedly arrived, the prospect of annual conventions of all kinds meeting here stares us in the face. The parking problem is not the only one involved when an attractive convening University must accommodate the needs of other groups as well. Prior notification of their arrival should be made in full detail services on this campus so students with 30 minutes for lunch will not have to go without it.

We are not suggesting that the University treat its guests inhospitably, but request that they outline the problems to prospective visitors-en-masse, a measure which would considerably reduce the hard feelings which arise when they do not understand the situation.

Perhaps conventioneers would arrange to have all transportation, where possible, by chartered bus. Another suggestion would be to put a University bus at their disposal while here. Future growth of the University will make such conventions on this campus prohibitive unless steps are taken to make their stay enjoyable, and will allow the students to do so without having them here at the same time.

Letters To The Editor

The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic, and provides this space for student opinion. The letters do not have to coincide with the views of the paper, but they must be in good taste. I enlarged letters will not be published except in cases where the reasons are deemed adequate by the editor. Letters should not exceed 250 words.

(Editor's Note: The editor thanks Dick Roemheld for bringing the matter of a misused press card to her attention. We regret we cannot print the letter itself, but will take steps to insure the incident is not repeated.)

Reminds Press To Uphold High Standards

TO MISS ROBERTSON:

Mr. Pierce Lehmbeck, in his printed statement of March 20 referring to a letter from Miss Katherine Montgomery, stated the following

"In the letter—which you'll find printed in 'Letters to the Editor' on page two—she listed many basketball athletics for women at this University. And for the most part, what she says was true."

Perhaps I misunderstand the meaning of the last sentence. If so, I would be delighted to have my impression corrected. The other parts of her statement were not true. I would like to suggest that no matter what the merits of the case for highly competitive athletic activities for women students, to attack the integrity of Miss Montgomery is absolutely unwarranted. It has been my privilege to know Miss Montgomery for fifteen years. She is a person who thoroughly, for years has consistently maintained and practiced the highest moral and professional standards. Her reputation, she has dedicated herself to achieving the best for the young men and women of this University and of this state. By virtue of her exceedingly high standards of personal and professional conduct, she has been honored with the highest awards that the State Educational and National units of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation have to their power to confer. She has achieved national recognition as an outstanding educator.

I feel certain that both the faculty and student body have admitted Mr. Lehmbeck's statement to be printed, and Mr. Lehmbeck himself would agree with me that freedom of the press is one of our most precious possessions. May I respectfully remind both of them that if a truly free press is to be preserved, it must always be the privilege to uphold the highest standards of their profession.

Sincerely yours,
JUANITA GIBSON,
Graduate Secretary, Assistant

(Ed. note: The sentence you questioned was not intended to reflect disfavorably on Miss Montgomery's athletics. It referred rather to the irrelevance, in the context, of statistics, to the original question. We too, have the highest of Miss Montgomery, and as we stated editorially in this issue, we sincerely regret the misunderstanding has occurred.)

Reitz Defends U. of Florida

TO THE EDITOR:

I note that U. of Fla. President J. Wayne Reitz rightly and courageously asserted that the university was not teaching communism, advocating radical, economic or educational overthrow" of the U S government, and that Fred Kirchwey's study of courses and textbooks at Florida state universities to combat Socialistic teaching. As the university's spokesman Dr. Reitz defended the university from the proposal, and upheld the traditional freedom that universities.

I have yet to see any statement on the part of Russell Rea of the FSU edmonistration.

(Continued on Page 4)

Poet Sings On Parking

TO THE EDITOR:

In this institution, there's a constant race
To see who can get, a nearby parking place—
To classes, where one is thought lewd,
If he isn't on time with the rest of the brood
Now this poet's sentiments, with due respect to gardens,
Is inspired to request, to the Garden Club's pardons.
Last Tuesday I thought I was while we were omitted,
The flowery crowd, all were admitted
We love our first lady, and we all like a poor,
But routines like that just ain't too rosy!
Far be it from me, to fail out of grace,
But I humbly request, our limited parking space.
This poem is accompanied with apologies to Con Horn and Paul Hammond: inspiration, without talent is regrettable but the message is with the best of intentions.

SINCERELY,
PAUL ORT

Ritz Failure Not Surprising

TO THE EDITOR:

The Ritz Theatre has closed. No one is surprised I'm certain. We all realized it was only a matter of time. Tallahassee, the home of Florida State University and the state capital is obviously not a place to sustain an "art" theatre, even a very small one such as the Ritz.

At least 99.9% of Tallahassee's population will probably be unaffected by the failure of this small motion picture house —will, like spring after the war,

(Continued on Page 4)

Miss Montgomery Clarifies Stand; Takes Columnist To Task For "Factual Errors"

The faculty of FSU are sincerely concerned for the welfare of all of our students, whether these be majors in our particular Department or not. Your Flambeau is an excellent laboratory in which our journalism majors may develop the techniques that will bring them success. Mr. Pierce Lehmbeck, inexperienced as he indicates that he is at present, should, with your help, be able to profit greatly from the mistakes he has made in his present reporting, if he is able to impartially study the causes of his present errors, and develop more scientific procedures for gathering facts in the future.

The inaccuracies that appeared in his report heading the Tuesday's Flambeau were as follows:

1. When he inserted the word "ATHLETIC" before the words "Executive" and "Council" he revealed his ignorance of our University organization. A glance at our Catalogue would have told him that the Executive Council and the Athletic Committee are two distinct groups. The Council makes the policies that are carried out by the Athletic Committee.

2. When he reported ideas (said by the girl quoted) to be inaccurately reported, he should have known that such information, coming from one emotionally and personally concerned with the conflict needed to be double checked for accuracy. This is human nature failing, to not see ALL the facts in such a situation, and to allow emotion to blind one to truth.

4. If a check had been made with other college competitors from Gainesville and from Pensacola, he would have learned that they had no plan of anything but a contest until that morning after the warming-up of the competitors. Also he would have learned that this idea of substituting a demonstration came from our gymnasts.

5. If he had wished to get the facts about the Sports Day he could have come to the Chairman of the Woman's Division of the University Recreation Association who was responsible for conducting

(Continued on Page 4)

Majors In Department Are Upset

"Ardent Judges Should Stop To Realize..."

After playing the part of the observer during the recent game of "catch" concerning Constitutional amendments, I feel that the time has come when those who are involved should defend their actions, their convictions, and the voices of their chosen professors.

"We are a group of the most outstanding education majors, and being members of that department, we felt it needed time of painful assault when Pierce Lehmbeck, completely and shamefully, made absolute bash of Dr. Katherine Montgomery's explanatory letter to the editor.

Up until Tuesday's edition of the Florida Flambeau the debate rose mainly from a constant dissatisfaction expressed by a specific group. This feeling was picked up by Pierce Lehmbeck and formulated into a knock-down, drag-out mass of confused misinterpretations. Let us say here, that we are not immune to the same feelings they experience. All true athletes, regardless of sex, have a natural desire to pit talents and skills against others in organized competition. We experience these selfsame natural desires; the only difference is we hope we are showing maturity in attempting to channel them toward more effective means, more profitable outlets than mere competition and the administrators.

As a result of the mud-slinging Tuesday, we are somewhat disturbed—to put it bluntly, we really have been exposed on; and we intend to protect our standards.

Perhaps we would have left the bottle to those immediately involved in tournament competition and the administrators in the battle itself had been left as neutral observers. The picture no longer involves only a select group. Those persons who have so "enthusiastically" come to the support of the women athletes apparently have a very limited conception of the term, "women-athletes." To be sure, the University has a very outstanding group of women performers, and their pride is justified. But so who are faculty with these talented girls know full well their ability and their potentiality, and are probably just as proud of them as anyone else. But, in reality, we are only a minority in the

(Continued on Page 4)

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor — Pat Marsten, News Editor
Associate Editor — Martin Dyckman — Feature Editor — Arleda Ries
Senior Reporter — Jerri Bradfield — Sports Editors — Larry Block, Alan Whitmarsh
Marty Reeves, Bob Dollison, Bob Moren, Photographer Editor — Tom Sawyer — Sports Staff — Ben Baker, Dave Evans, Joe Greene, Tom Hair, Pierce Lehmbeck
Photographers — Laird Anderson, Jerry Kind, Junior Staff — Carol Compton, Betty Oler, Adrian Allen, Mike Charlie Bizer — Peggy DeBoli, Bob Duke, Cyane Berns, Delores Lafferty, Julie Cisneros, Bob Simmons.
Columnists — Wiljohn, Dave Ward-Steinman, Clyde Ward, Martin Dyckman, Oscar Johnson, George Seminole — Greek Editor — Charlet Polievint

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager — Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown, Marguerite Kalsch
Circulation — Mike Brady
Exchange Editor — Sandra Colley — Business — Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith, Exchange Staff — Joy Wilkins
Enid Pearlman, Jane Anderson, Les Meyers
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave. New York 17
Telephone 2-800, extension 6821, 3421
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University. — 211, 213 Longmire Building
Intercollegiate Press and Associated Collegiate Press

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"THE HOUSEMOTHER THINKS IT'S NICE OF YOU BOYS TO TAKE AN INTEREST IN OUR YARD"

The Dissenter

Citizen's Council Meeting 'Tragic

BY MARTIN DYCKMAN

HAVE YOU EVER attended a Citizens Council meeting? There is no way of realizing how much segregation has become a religion for certain people unless one attends one of their mass gatherings.

"Mass gathering" is not quite the proper word to describe the meeting that some other students and I attended Wednesday night. In spite of the wide publicity it had received, and although it was not very cold, there were hardly a hundred people assembled behind the County Courthouse.

The several speakers looked lost on the bare stage and some men who had driven cars rigged with sound apparatus conversed in disgruntled tones. Helping the meeting along was attended by heckle or study, and discount those citizens who came out of curiosity and there were hardly fifty hard-core members left.

Our little group sat mostly together on the wooden benches, intimidating sacred monuments throughout the several harangues. Most of the time we were laughing, but I realized we should not be so amused. What we were seeing and hearing was human tragedy, not comedy.

It was 11 of seven when we took a closer crossroads. Gone were Tallahassee a more than 40,000 people. Gone was the university. There was only a group of frustrated little people, faithfully absorbing the unbelievable things said to them.

WE HEARD IT all. Segregation is what the Negroes want—they don't want to be "forced" into the company of white people . . . God created Negroes as a servant class—here it is right in the Bible! . . . white men were made in Europe, those two in Asia, Negroes in Africa, and the red man in America and they should not mix . . . the Republicans contrived the Su-

Of All Things

Theme To End All English Themes

BY OSCAR JOHNSON

TRUE TO THE fine traditions of this column, we are publishing today one of the classics of English literature. Appropriately enough, it was written at FSU. So read on—this is an English theme to end all English themes.

It is entitled, "The Influence of Smirnoff on the Works of Tolstoy and Dostoyevsky."

IN ANY EVALUATION of the works of literary geniuses, one should be taken of the various influences which shaped their efforts. The purpose of this study is to demonstrate the extent to which one of the world-famed Russian authors' writing careers affected the great Russian novelists, Leo Tolstoy and Fyodor Dostoyevsky.

SMIRNOFF'S influence on the two has been noted in both the histories of their works; however, the general conclusion among those familiar with their writing is that they could hardly have withstood the temptations of Smirnoff's properties.

Critics have claimed that Tolstoy and Dostoyevsky, with their daily first-hand contact with Smirnoff, were not affected. An analysis of their works will reveal many substantiations to the effect that they were

For example in Tolstoy's brilliant and imaginative "War and Peace," the vitality, brashness and slow reaction fostered by Smirnoff are at once discovered.

Again, Dostoyevsky's "The Idiot" which some critics later claimed was an autobiography displays similar telling effects of Smirnoff.

All in all, it is safe to say that these two

In The Wings

Graduate Recital Features Melvin

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

THE FIRST GRADUATE Recital of the season was given on Monday night by pianist Sophia Melvin. The program chosen was an unusually difficult one in that it required consummate concentration throughout. There was no piece that "played itself" or allowed the pianist to relax for a moment.

The recital opened with the Bach Prelude and Fugue in B minor from the second volume of the Well-Tempered Clavichord. This prelude is not one of Bach's hardest to play, but it is long and tiring. The fugue, though, is as difficult as any.

Beethoven's Opus 101 Sonata, which was next on the program, is one of the most satisfying of the late sonatas from the standpoint of the audience. It is both lyric and lively, and the slow movement is also contrasted sufficiently to some of the later sonatas. The first movement is lyric, and serves as an introduction. The second movement is a march, and the scherzo is one of the typically-best Beethoven writing. The third movement is the slow one, and it is only a page long.

IN THE TRANSITION into the last movement material from the very beginning of the sonata is utilized—a practice exceedingly rare with Beethoven. The last movements is the hardest to play, partly because of the long fugue that

Wandering With Wiljohn

Continues Choice Of Jazz Greats

BY WILJOHN.

IN THE LAST issue I started to pick the men I thought to be most influential on their several instruments in conjunction with the world of jazz music, past and, or present. I'll try to finish that up today.

I believe that I'd game through trumpet, trombone, sax, and clarinet. I'll continue with the piano where, without a doubt, my first choice is Art Tatum, followed closely by Errol Garner. Over the years the piano has accumulated a great many fine musicians including Count Basie, Earl Hines, Oscar Peterson, Dave Brubeck, Teddy Wilson, Lennie Tristano. All of these men have been or are the tops in their field on the 88.

Gene Oscar Pettiford is probably the best playing today. Mill Hinton does an ace's job, as do Red Mitchell and Ray Brown. Aaron Bell is bringing the instrument into new prominence with his trio.

Guitar is more difficult because there is less heard from it than almost any of the other instrumenta. Tal Farlow is a big name now, Sal Salvador has long been a favorite. Barney Kessel has been one of the better sounds on the guitar for a long time.

VIBES ARE MY favorites and the people on them include Terry Gibbs, Red Norvo, Lionel Hampton and Cal Tjader. I've heard a lot about the music of Milt Jackson but I haven't had a chance to listen to enough of the actual music closes the work. The first three movements were unusually well-played and understood. The fugue was not. Monday's performance was not clearly set forth as the Bach fugue had been, and that Mrs. Melvin lacked convincing power in some of the climaxes. These are the musical criteria in interpreting late-Beethoven.

The second half of the program was of the Variations and Fugue on a Theme by Handel by Brahms. "This isn't as confusing as it looks" Herr Mrs. Melvin at the piano. This prelude is and spirit, and the music came to life in the Handel theme. The theme is a very simple one, but the overall excitement of the performance minimized the minor flaws. She seemed understand Brahms' style and technique, and the evening but the fugue is the most difficult of the literature. It is more tiring musically than physically.

JEALLA, BY ALAN Hovhaness, was the only contemporary offering on the program. Hovhaness is an American of Armenian descent and he is determined to capitalize on the fact. Many of his compositions bear exotic and colorful titles. I have yet to hear one that offers anything more than novelty.

Dohnanyi's Concert Etude in Bb minor concluded the program. Mrs. Melvin started off brilliantly, but she lacked the power and strength to hold the ending together and made it convincing.

Camper Tells Of Harrowing Experience

All About FSU's Unusual Course

A Foto-Feature By Tom Sawyer

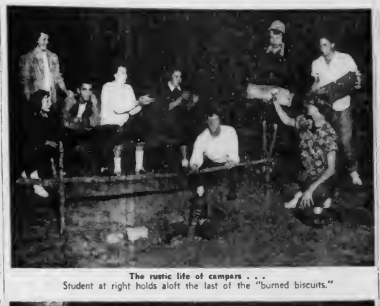
Every school has its unusual course.

For example, the University of Miami has water skiing in the physical education department. So, not to be outdone FSU comes into its own with one called Camp Counseling. Its purpose is to teach students methods of camp administration.

However, there's another side to the story I'd like to talk about. I also teaches students how to live effectively in the out-of-doors with "Mother Nature's available utensils." To do this an overnight camping trip is required. Hereby the class took its first hike and was it a drip! If Davy Crockett could have seen it, in probability he would have turned over in his grave.

* * *



The descendants of the pioneers turned at the school camp at about 12:30 p.m., to begin setting up the campsite; that was accomplished with a minor resign of chaos. My tent buddy and I very politely told the others about to see away from the campsite and some people this may seem strange as I had better explain—my class is made up of about three women and four men—no questions?

Making a camp contains parts of using sticks together with one is a series of lashings and knots. This is supposed to make your chairs, etc . . . but I still have doubts. Some of the ideas brought up would make Frank Lloyd Wright look like a piker, but was the cooking table through this engineering genius took considerable time in getting. I still question its reliability.

To top it off some sweet soul thing asked me to put a pail-load of mortar over 11:00 to cool off any rain. When finished I stored like a misplaced bear cub in the Foreign Legion.

* * *

Bedtime! There is something heavenly sad for sleeping on the nice hard ground . . . but I won't mention it here that disturbers have also great pains to design you with the camper's animal nature in consideration. One of these little tricks is mosquito netting, however, it keeps them in as well as out.

The rustic life of campers . . .
Student at right holds aloft the last of the "burned biscuits."

. . . Anyone for Sterno?
Confusion reigns as meal is prepared on log table.

Every good woodsman will tell you to change clothes before going to bed to keep the sheet and woodsmoke from the day's work from clinging to you. Question: Have you ever tried to change clothes in a two-man pup-tent while somebody else is trying to get into a sleeping bag with a stuck zipper? Some fun — I've had got to do it again at ALL costs.

I don't mind going to bed at 10 o'clock but getting up at 5 a.m. to fix a breakfast fire is another ordeal.

Cooking . . . there could be an essay written on that, but space prevents it here. It was done over an open fire, which was a mistake from the start.

One of the cooking utensils was a reflector stove. This little contraption is designed to such a way as to reflect heat on the food to be cooked. Of course the only thing it reflected was sand and ashes where they weren't wanted.

* *

I like eggs, especially for breakfast; however, somebody left grease in the bottom of the frying pan after cooking sausages. The cook unconcernedly put the scrambled eggs in the skillet and about a quart of the foul stuff floated to the top. I had coffee and sausages.

After breakfast came the chore of cleaning up, including the tearing down of that silly tarpaulin that it didn't even rain on.

Re-packing the cars was accomplished without too much trouble, except I fell asleep in the while doing it.

Arriving at home, I immediately dragged myself to bed for some much-needed rest.

Now here's the funny part—the class has to go on another trip and I'm ready, willing, and able (?).

NEEL LECTURES IN MISSOURI

Dr. Sam Neel, Dean of Men, recently spoke at Central College in Missouri as part of their Religious Emphasis Week program.

Dr. Neel delivered a series of lectures and held personal conferences with the students

Frosh Planning

(Continued from Page 1)

furnish bicycles for themselves this year, but it is hoped that race officials can supply them in the future.

To Pick Royalty

A king and queen of the class will be elected and crowned at the race. A talent show is also being planned for that night, revealed Clendinen.

The idea of the race was conceived at Indiana University. An annual event there it is called the "Little 500." In 1934 the University received more than 100 $100 scholarships as a result of the race.

Mr. John Blackburn, West Hall counselor, suggested the idea to Freshman Class officers here.

"We hope to make this an annual affair that will be of interest and enjoyment to the University ," commented Clendinen.

Material concerning entries and rules will be sent to all sororities, fraternities and dormitories tomorrow, they revealed

Speaker States Freedom Necessary In Truth Quest

Irish Speaks To Freshmen

Professors and students fail in their purpose "unless we are free to seek the truth . . . to stand up for it in the face of all dissent or disapproval."

This was among the closing remarks of Dr. Marian Irish, head of the political science department, in her address Tuesday to the Freshman Honors Night audience. Dr. Irish discussed the purposes and functions of higher education.

Replying all basic specifically to recent demands that "social latte", teachings at the state universities be investigated, Dr. Irish declared:

"Every university, dedicated to the search for truth, must prize its academic freedom. In these troubled times, many groups from the outside bring pressure to bear upon the university, alumni, parents, taxpayers, politicians, the press, even the board of governors, are wont to tell us what we should teach, what we can not teach, what policies should govern the choice of textbooks, what books should not intake from the library, what issues ought not be discussed in student publications or professors' public speeches.

'Well-Meant'

"No doubt all such interference is well meaning, intended to support the mores of the community, to prevent subversion and the propagation of dangerous doctrines," she continued.

"But a university can not function as an institution of higher education if we are compelled to avoid and evade all that is controversial or unsettled, to teach only what is popular or tuned to prevailing opinion. The whole company of scholars must have freedom to inquire and explore, to discuss, and to communicate without fear of surveillance or censorship.

Cites Jackson

"Justice Jackson, in a famous Supreme Court decision involving liberty of conscience and freedom of the mind, made this significant statement:

"Freedom to differ is not limited to things that do not matter much. That would be a mere shadow of freedom. The test of its substance is the right to differ as to things that touch the heart of our existing order:

"And so it must be in the university." Dr. Irish asserted. "We can not meet our high calling as professors or students unless we are free to seek the truth; to find it where we can, to stand up for it in the face of all dissent or disapproval."

Thirty-two women were tapped this week for membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's scholastic honorary. Left to right, seated, first row: Barbara Kroeland, Carol Tersenar, Ada Lee Wall Nellie Church Manda, Nancy Jo Bowers and Marjorie Jean Wicks. Seated, second row: Nancy Kay Key, Catherine O'Sullivan, Judith Anne Taylor, Sherry Lynn Nichols, Patricia Cale, and Maria Salgado. Standing, left to right: Josephine Smith, Penelope Comia, Genevieve Birchmer, Dorothy Jo Flora, Janet Edith Holler, Ellen C. Shaw, Lynnie Kate Cavin, Linda Lee Brinkley, Betty Jo Benning, Jeanne E. Magill, Nancy J. Worrall, Julia E. Conkling, Marie Locker, Adelia Annette Guthrie, Barbara Joan Houston, and Mary B. Armistead.

Defining 'Freedom'

Earlier in her address she remarked that whatever a student's vocational interest, there is a specific program at Florida State University for him.

Yet I do not know of any profession in which the positions of influence and leadership are held by mere practitioners," Dr. Irish maintained. "Ideas and ideals always motivate and dominate our society. The student who participates in liberal education in the university comes into contact with the great ideas that have bestirred the world from time immemorial."

Knowledge, Understanding

After becoming possessed of the highest thinkings of the race," Dr. Irish said, a student learns where to find knowledge, and beyond that, understanding—"to discipline his mind, to analyze data, to realize relationships, to search for principles, to discover significances."

She specified a third character —"a social conscience."

"Thus higher learning in the professional implies not only critical thinking but good judgment, right reason, ethical decision. This kind of professional preparation is so important, that taxpayers are willing to support ivory tower institutions where professors may teach and students may learn apart from the world of affairs where too often immediate practice chances the goals which are ultimate."

Honorary Taps 32 Women

Thirty-two freshman women were tapped Thursday night for Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary.

Freshman women with a "B" average, their junior counselors who have maintained a "B" average, members of Alpha Lambda Delta, members of Mortar Board, President, and Mrs. Doak S. Campbell, and deans received invitations to the event.

Mortar Board presented an award to Judy Abrams, who maintained the highest average in her freshman year and to Evelyn Moll who has maintained the highest average in both her freshman and sophomore years.

New Opportunities

As she was speaking to an audience almost entirely composed of women, most of them freshmen, Dr. Irish remarked that women now can combine professions with marriage and counseled them to obtain "the very best education that is available."

She criticized the extent and amount of extra-curricular and social activities stating "It can, of course, be pointed out that all work and no play make Jack and Jill rather dull: but university all play and no work doesn't make them much at all.

Defines 'University'

"A university is not primarily a matrimonial agency, a combination of trade schools, a recreational center, a delightful place to get away from home.

"A university is a whole company of scholars, of teachers and students who are engaged in higher learning. A university if it is to be a great one, must remain essentially an academic community whose main business is the communication and advancement of knowledge.

"The real role of the university is entirely serious, to train, not the culture of the people, to conserve the common understanding, to develop the public philosophy, to continue the search for all that can be known about man and his destiny."

'Studio, Not Stadium'

"There is nothing trivial about the task of a university; that which is frivolous is entirely peripheral. The center of the University is the studio, not the stadium. Perhaps, it would be fairer to our prospective students if, at the outset instead of making life at FSU seem to be glamorous and gay, we reminded them in the words of the Old Testament, He that increaseth knowledge increaseth sorrow."

Higher education, Dr. Irish

(Continued on Page 6)

Summer Vacation?

Learn to speak SPANISH, fulfill language requirement, increase your EARNING power, at AIR-CONDITIONED comfort. 13 weeks course $45.00. Folder free. Latin American Institute, Station A, Hattiesburg, Miss.

let me PROVE what I can do for YOU!

Have you ever wondered why other college men have so much fun at dances, proms, parties—while you end up with Miss Frump of 1912? Do you blame your plight on skin blemishes, or unsightly dandruff?

Well, you're wrong! I had the very same problem. Then, I bought an After Six Tux. Look me now! I've got money, fame, big muscles, and girls aplenty.

Here's all you do to become appealing. Try on a light-weight After Six Dinner Jacket. Buy it. Then, in the privacy of your own home, spend 15 minutes a day in the casual elegance of your After Six. Right away, you're handsomer, healthier, inches taller. Women stand in line to see you.

Do it now, while there's still hope!

After Six AT RESORTS

at good dealers everywhere

DAILY DOUBLE . . . the suit with two skirts!

Mimi Modes

for the young in heart . . .

Double versatility and double value, too . . . because you really get two changes of scene for the price of one. Here's what you get: chic long jacket and skirt of fine crease-resistant linen . . . and a checked skirt of rayon and acetate suiting. Navy, brown or red and black. Size 5-15 . . . $24.95.

Turner's

ALL THE PLEASURE COMES THRU...

the taste is great!

Here you have the best in filtered smoking—Filter Tip Tareyton, the filter cigarette that smokes milder, smokes smoother, draws easier . . . the only one that gives you Activated Charcoal filtration. All the pleasure comes thru . . . the taste is great!

FILTER TIP TAREYTON

PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Letters To The Editor

(Continued from Page 2)

hardly realize that it is gone. But for some of us, a poor demented few, our summer of happiness has come to a tragic end, a materialistic hand has restrained our forbidden games. We shall have to cross the sea for our draught of Guiness Now for us all that heaven allows is the conqueror, the Florida, the State. Hail Florida State, you have aided in the defeat of a truely undermining foreign influence: the Red Art Theatre.

RICHARD STEVENS

Notification In Advance?

TO THE EDITOR:

Parking on the campus of F.S.U. presents a problem without the addition of unnecessary confusion.

Tuesday morning, March 20, I arrived on campus as many other students did, only to find that the parking lots located adjacent to the Music Building and the Old Demonstration School Building were reserved.

Traffic was so congested that there was a continuous double line of cars from the north-east gate to the Library. This situation' number of cars created a hazzle-pack at the Western Gate which is inadequate for the normal amount of traffic.

This mad scramble of cars was a hazard to pedestrians, and a menace to vehicular traffic.

To my knowledge, no warning or notice was issued concerning this change in parking. If the students had been informed that this problem would arise, this traffic hazard would have been prevented.

I am not opposed to these "Blue Slucker" parking lots being used occasionally for part of our University, but sufficient planning to give students cognizance should precede such gestures of hospitality.

JIM MATSON

Takes Columnist

(Continued from Page 1)

these Sports Day competitions. He would have learned that there was more than one sports day this year. He could have seen a copy of the Razzy Day Schedule and the time scheduled for the gymnastic competition.

6 The Rainy Day Schedule gave 11:45 a.m. as the time for gymnastic competition, scheduled in the Main Gymnasium. No other athletic event was scheduled for that room until 2:00 p.m. that afternoon. One realized schedule. The time for lunch was 12:30. No athletic event of any sports day is terminated before being completed, even if participants, thereby, become late for lunch. In this gymnastic contest, as I recall, there were only four events planned, with a possibility of five or a maximum of six in each event. This could have finished within the allotted time or with very few extra minutes needed.

7. Our F.S.U. gymnast says she had secured one official for F.S.U. who was present and expected to serve. The other five officials were also present, having come from visiting colleges and were planning to judge as requested.

We trust that our reporter will profit from his present mistakes and practice more effective leadership when next gathering facts for an article. We are truly interested in his development toward a successful journalist.

SINCERELY,
KATHERINE W. MONTGOMERY

Senate Troubled

(Continued from Page 1)

to set a minimum of 20 and then Senate began to debate how big the boards should be.

The bill was finally referred to he elections and appointments committee, which was told to report next week.

Veto Heard

In other Senate business Student Body President Corie Moore Jr. a veto of a constitutional amendment did not come to a test.

The amendment would provide for special elections to fill vacancies senator seats. It also contains provisions without which the recently passed reapportionment bill cannot operate.

Moore's veto was aimed at the provision by filling class senatorial vacancies, which are currently appointed by the president with confirmation by the Senate.

Seni Ta Committee

The amendment was referred to a committee.

Senate could have overridden Moore's veto by a two-thirds vote but opposition to the new system for filling vacancies had developed.

Barbara Ann Tribble was confirmed to a senior woman's senate seat, replacing Germaine Murray.

Minstrel Seen 'Great Step' In Right Direction

By WILJOHN

Wednesday's minstrel a great step in the right direction toward bringing back one of the grand old traditions of the stage, the minstrel.

My hat's off to the talent and initiative of both Gene Rowell and Raymond Austin. A minstrel is a thing that no one has wanted to tackle here for many a year. To try one is a downright daring. To attempt an original one took a command of ability, ingenuity and dedication that is all too seldom seen.

Raymond Austin, interlocutor, showed more ready wit and finesse than his past performances gave evidence of. Karl Mohr's interpretation of Eddie Cantor was a fine comedy point. Herman Gunter (Uncle Remus) inspired what a professional can do when his fellow actors just don't want to cooperate. The audience fell in love with it.

Higher Points

Among the highest points of the evening were the vocal offerings of both Peter and Barbara Peck. Peter sang his number, "Mighty Lak' A Rose", with a casualness that showed the kind of the inate difficulty of such an item had been long mastered. Chat-anooga Choo Choo" with a lively style, displaying, toward the end, a humorous quality for the style of the olden "Red Hot Mama." The audience was as completely captivated by her sweetness and charm as they were by her beautiful polished manner.

No review would be complete without a mention of Frances Pemberton, evidently the youngest and highest member of the cast. Hats off to her. She was great.

A Tradition

One of the outstanding traditions and triumphs of the old time minstrels was their informality. During the afternoon performance, the cast seemed to miss this, substituting instead an air of "What-are-we-supposed-to-be-doing-now?" During the evening, however, the entire cast relaxed and enjoyed themselves and so did their audience.

It is usually a mistake to try to patch together a collection of old gags with some of your own material and call it a show. It would have been better to get one of the better of the old Coburn or Neil Circus scripts and presented that. However, this flaw was not too apparent except in the lulls of some more obscure mocero expressions that were out of place in a show of this type.

Lack Of Rehearsal

The chorus displayed a marked lack of rehearsal and synchronization in most of the places where they should be quite adept. They showed some talent, little volume, precision or interest but they obviously enjoyed themselves and the audience enjoyed them for it.

Gene did the first dance number well enough that his partners were not those of the sing, giving the dance as a solo showed his theory. The second dance was done by Nettie Black, who showed a more inventive use and good rhythm.

Breeding comments are not to be interpreted in any way as a slam or criticism of what was done but, rather, points out which to base future improvement in the minstrels which we hope will follow. The show done by an amateur group and as such, had a high degree of proficiency. The lack was in sufficient rehearsal time and the roughness inherent there-in.

A DAY AT THE MINSTREL

Flambeau photo Mike Smith

Preparing—For Phi Mu Alpha Minstrel Show, Danny Whipple smears grease paint on face of Karl Mohr. Two performances were held Wednesday.

Flambeau photo Mike Smith

Showing Off—Minstrel performers recline on prop. Members of the "When Cork Was King" cast are, l to r, Ethel Donaldson, Byron Nichols, Shirly Nichols, Mary Turnbull, Karl Mohr, Lonnie Keene, and Gay Gilles.

At The Movies

Mediocre Screen Fare Is Predicted

If mediocrity is the standard, then the Tallahassee screen fare for this week is well in fashion. Considering last week's offerings, the movies are hardly up to par.

Most worthy of note, perhaps, is

The Man Who Never Was, showing for four days starting Thursday at the State Theatre. This film is supposedly based on an actual incident during World War II when a corpse was given the rank of Major and then the job of making the Allied invasion of Sicily a success.

Stately Clifton Webb and curvaceous Gloria Grahame star in this is the hands of Danor Kaye a medieval buffoon and his misadventures come to life in The Court Jester showing Wednesday through Saturday at the Florida Theatre. Aside from the lavish treatment of sets and costumes, Kaye, virtually a one man-showman in himself, is assisted by Glynis Johns, a Britisher.

The Court Jester, in summary is humor in a jugular vein.

Out at the Capital Drive-In is a semi-drama with a real star preferending The Last Time I Saw Paris. Elenor Parker knocking out what is the closest thing to acting that she has done recently. The scenery is colorful as Paris usually is, and there are a few latti-hearted moments to enjoy as the movie shows Sunday through Monday evenings.

It seems as though the 1950s people who made The Postmas Always Rings Twice are making another go for the favor of the audience with Slightly Scarlet. This lurid tale of the world of political corruption shows Sunday through Tuesday at the Florida Theatre. The possibilities of graft and sex as a movie theme are pretty well explored in this film, especially the sex angle, which including Arlene Dahl and Rhonda Fleming.

Those who follow "Our Miss Brooks", the off-best English teacher of radio fame, should en-

(Continued on Page 6)

Ardent Judges

(Continued from Page 2)

group of women athletes on this campus?! Many of the authors of the letters printed in this column have spoken in terms of women athletes when their apparent sympathies supported only a select group.

If these same judges would stop to realize that the present policy of allowing women students jo compete with other colleges on a sports day basis, is based on sound, well-planned, actually educational reasoning, they would surely arrive at the conclusion that the administration and faculty would know most often what is best for for the students. It appears that neither Mr. Hollahead nor many of the student body have looked at the whole situation. Certainly they have not considered or either they have not taken the time and effort to investigate, the reasons behind such a policy.

We would like to venture the conviction that no more than one or two, possibly none, of the supporters of tournament competition are aware of the fact that there is a very good intramural program in operation on this campus. If so, it is certainly not evident in their participation, attendance, or even observation of said program. How many of these persons have ever been at the basketball finals between Florida Hall and Alpha X; Delta on Thursday of last week? Or many will even attempt to participate or watch any of the softball, swimming, or tennis events in which sports season? From the first game Thursday in the fall through the last one in the spring, the spectator attendance is extremely poor, which is not very complimentary of the student body! The sororities have the largest spectator crowds, but, for the most part, this is made compulsory. An observer at the final game on Thursday could plainly see the high pitch of interest on the part of some of the sorority rooters by their indulgence in various activities such as reading, studying, or knitting

A large percentage of the participants in the women's athletic program on campus are physical education majors. As a result, they carry this so to speak. They certainly carry the responsibility of conducting, administering, and directing the entire group. For the most part, the present policy is in agreement with the feelings of the majority of women in this department. These students are being trained and educated to conduct a sound, healthful plan of physical activities are learning of the dangers in highly developed competition for girls. It would seem, therefore, that faculty and students who have spent various degrees of time and effort in the study would be in a position to know WHY our policy is better one for our women students.

In closing, we would like to extend a sincere invitation to Pierre Lehmbeck and any other student who still wishes to be done, to discuss the latter further. Even though we are a part of the Physical Education Department, including the current policy, we also part of Florida State University. Consequently, we feel as we hope all of the student body feels, that this matter can be discussed and settled in a mature manner, satisfactorin to all groups involved.

SINCERELY,
AUDREY HIERS
TONY MOORE

(Ed Note: To our knowledge Pierce Lehmbeck never unsolicited expressed his views on sports program for women. In this campus, nor did he have mind in attempts to clarify original stand which was evidently misinterpreted.)

Buddy System Gets Underway

A new Buddy System started yesterday with a together between American foreign students.

More than 100 students received invitations to a party announced Nancy Vaughn, secretary of State, who is in charge of the system.

Dr. R. R. Oglesby, dean students, opened the picnic.

On Campus with Max Shulman,

(Author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek," etc.)

MONEY ISN'T EVERYTHING

I have asked the makers of Philip Morris — an enterprising and aggressive group of men; yet at the same time warm and lovable; clean-cut but without acumen, perspicacity, and drive which does not, however, mask their essential greatheartedness — a quality evident to all who have ever enjoyed the beneficence and gentleness of their wares; I refer, of course, to Philip Morris Cigarettes, a smoke fashioned with such loving care and tendered with such kind regard that these old eyes grow misty when I think upon it — I have asked, I say, the makers of Philip Morris — that aggregate of shrewd but kindly tobacconists, that coven of Merry Andrews, that cluster of good souls bonded together by the profit motive and an unflagging determination to provide all America with a cigarette forever gentle and eternally galumphing — I have asked, I say, the makers of Philip Morris whether I might use today's column to take up the controversial question: Should a coed share expenses on a date?

Poseidon Nebenzal, a student at Oklahoma A and M, majoring in hides and tallow, fell wildly in love with Mary Ellen Fiango, a flax weed major at the same institution. His love, he had reason to believe from Mary Ellen's sidelong glances and maidenly blushes, was not entirely unrequited, and by and by he summoned up enough courage to ask her the all-important question: "Will you wear my 4-H pin?"

"Yes," she said simply. They embraced then and squeezed each other and exchanged brave smiles, and if their eyes were a trifle moist, who can blame them?

For a time things went swimmingly. Then a cloud appeared. Mary Ellen, it seems, was a rich girl and accustomed to costly pleasures. Poseidon was bone-poor and he quickly ran out of money. Unable to take Mary Ellen to the posh places she fancied and too proud to tell her the reason, he turned surly and full of melancholy. Senseless, violent quarrels developed. Soon it appeared that the romance, so promising at the beginning, was headed for a breakup, but at the last moment, Poseidon managed to blurt out the truth.

"Oh, beloved agrarian!" cried Mary Ellen, grappling him close. "Oh, proud husbandman! Oh, foolish reaper! Why have you not told me before? I have plenty of money, and I will contribute according to my ability."

Poseidon, of course, protested, but she finally persuaded him of the wisdom of her course. From then on they split all expenses according to their incomes. Rather than embarrass Poseidon by handing him money in public, a joint bank account was set up to allow him to write checks. Into this account each week they faithfully deposited their respective allowances — 35 cents from Poseidon; $2,000 from Mary Ellen.

And it worked fine! Gone was all the arguing and bickering! They were happy — truly happy! And what's more, when they graduated they had a nice little nest egg — eight million dollars — with which to furnish a lovely apartment in Lubbock, Texas, where today they operate the local laundromat.

So you see? You too can salvage your failing romance if you will only adopt a healthy, sensible attitude toward money.

©1956 Max Shulman

Learn to an obstacle when it comes to Philip Morris. Popular prices still prevail for this, America's gentle cigarette, whose makers bring you this column every week.

Frosh Car Ban Is Discussed

The possibility of banning freshman cars was discussed at a Student-Faculty Traffic Committee meeting Monday.

No conclusions was reached on the matter, however, revealed Dr. R. R. Oglesby, Dean of Students.

The committee, set up to relieve the parking situation on campus, recently passed a measure providing for parking meters on both sides of Westcott.

The meters, which will allow only 40 minutes of parking time are intended to relieve the cramped situation for those conducting business in Westcott.

Buy Your Films have them developed at the most convenient store

CHEVET'S

Corner of College and Adams

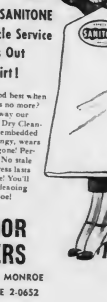
the best assortment of Cameras and Equipment

You Are Welcome at

CHEVET'S

200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

BONNIE CAP $1.95



BONNIEWOOD SHIRT $3.95

ENJOY LEISURE IN

Tartans BY puritan

From ISLANDER NORTH Puritan brings you clansmen tartan sportswear that belongs in a casual atmosphere. Their colors are traditional favorites, always in good taste. The shirt is enhanced by single-needle tailoring and lustrous ocean-pearl buttons. Fully WASHABLE. The cap in matching tartan.

Kiss Old-Fashioned Halfway Dry Cleaning GOOD-BYE!

Discover SANITONE the Miracle Service that Gets Out All the Dirt!

Why take second best when the finest costs no more? You'll love the way our amazing Sanitone Dry Cleaning gets out even the embedded grime that makes clothes dingy, wears out fabrics faster. Spots are gone! Perspiration soiling vanishes! No stale cleaning odors! Better press lasts longer! Minor mending free! You'll never go back to ordinary cleaning once you've tried Sanitone!

SUPERIOR CLEANERS
302 S. MONROE
PHONE 2-0652

GENUINE ENGRAVED Wedding Announcements $7.95 FOR 75 EXTRAS

SAMPLES MAILED UPON REQUEST
FINEST QUALITY

P.R. 3-3166

FREE Embossed Envelopes with all Wedding Announcements

FREE initial chart Featuring 500 Styles

Miami Engraving Co.
1410 N.E. 79TH ST. • MIAMI, FLORIDA

Records Phonographs

FREE LP RECORD WITH EACH PHONOGRAPH

Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

EASTER CARDS

YOU'LL FIND THEM AT BILL'S BOOK STORE

We Buy Used Books

The Press Table

AN OPEN LETTER—

Miss Katherine Montgomery

You'll find on the editorial page the full text of the letter which you sent to the Flambeau editor recently regarding the "women in college athletics" controversy. In that letter you specifically cite certain "innaccuracies" of facts which appeared in my Tuesday story. To you they were disturbing.

They were to me also.

I cannot, rightfully, defend my capabilities as a Journalist. I can, however, attempt to offer a rebuttal for the seven "inaccuracies" which you enumerated in the letter regarding that Tuesday story.

Each of those facts—regardless of how wrong or right they might have been—I can attribute to one of your lady gymnasts.

Certainly in not disclosing my source for those facts, I tossed away what you refer to, in so many words, as journalistic ethics.

But in failing to identify that particular source, I bargained for an ethic which I considered more important than those to which you refer. You might call it a 'confidence'. It arises out of respect for the position of the lady in question.

Her identity is available to anyone who wishes to contact this office.

It would seem, Miss Montgomery, that through all those clouds of dissent that have arisen as a result of that first article which appeared almost two weeks ago, the basic question is still unanswered.

I asked simply that the women's gymnastics team be allowed to compete as representatives—and please note that word 'representatives'—of Florida State University at the National AAU Meet at Penn State April 27-28.

There have been those who, since that first article, have queried me as to why I made such a suggestion. Today, I'm a little bewildered as to the reasons myself.

Certainly, the suggestion was not an unprecedented one. It was an idea which had been brewing for some years around the campus.

I think perhaps the first inspiration towards an attempt at materializing that idea came when the Swedish Women's Gymnastics team visited this campus last year. Theirs was a wonderful performance, and certainly, they were perfect ladies.

There were visible tears in the eyes of one of the FSU lady gymnasts as she watched from the audience last night. It wasn't hard to understand why she wept.

I felt a little ashamed, too, knowing that the FSU girls could not compete.

That was a beginning—and my answer to those who have asked, "why?"

That idea has materialized now. Perhaps, too much so. The State Party unanimously adopted "intercollegiate competition for women" as one of its party platforms Tuesday night. There are many pattilos along the same lines floating around campus today.

Again may I remind you that my original proposition was that a women's gymnastics team should be sent to the nationals. Anything that has been added since comes from other sources.

You were not the only one who wrote a letter this week, Miss Montgomery. One of the lady gymnasts, Beverly Cude, sent this statement in which she stated "once and for all" the position of that women's gym team.

Said she in part,

". . . Now I would like to state what we girls are striving for in the way of national competition. We would like to represent FSU; otherwise, we shall represent the Tallahassee Gymnastics Club, or enter independently.

"Because gymnastics competition usually falls on a Friday or Saturday, we shall have to miss classes to allow for traveling time, and we would like to be officially excused from these classes.

"Another factor involved is that of funds. It costs money to travel to and from these meets and for room and board while we are there. We are willing to pay these expenses ourselves.

"Tuesday afternoon I discussed the issue with Dr. Montgomery. She explained to me her reasons why FSU should not be represented by women's competition; however, she did say, 'representing Tallahassee is an individual matter for each woman to decide—with the approval of Tallahassee. None of the best universities in the U.S.A. send women to this type of competition and FSU adheres to those same nationally accepted policies'.

"We have decided to compete. . . April 14th will see us going to St. Petersburg for the Florida AAU, and on April 27th and 28th we will be competing in the National AAU at Penn State . . ."

If, in supporting these ladies, Miss Montgomery, I have thrown away any "journalistic ethics" and thrown myself to be "inexperienced," then I can offer no apology.

She does not apologize for believing in the enjoyment of others.

PIERCE LEHMBECK.

at yours TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
ENDS SATURDAY
"THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN ARM"
Frank Sinatra
Eleanor Parker
Kim Novak
SUNDAY — TUESDAY
'SLIGHTLY SCARLET'
John Payne
Arlene Dahl
Rhonda Fleming
PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
ENDS SATURDAY
"BLOOD ALLEY"
John Wayne
Lauren Bacall
—
"THE BIG KNIFE"
Jack Palance - Ida Lupino
Shelley Winters
SUNDAY — MONDAY
'TENNESSEE'S PARTNER'
John Payne, Ronald Reagan
Rhonda Fleming

STATE
ENDS SATURDAY
'THE ROSE TATTOO'
Burt Lancaster
Anna Magnani
—
SUNDAY — MONDAY
'OUR MISS BROOKS'
Eve Arden
Gale Gordon
Robert Rockwell
CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
ENDS SATUROAY
"THEY RODE WEST"
Robert Francis
Donna Reed
—
"TARZAN'S HIDDEN JUNGLE"
Gordon Scott, Vera Miles
SUNDAY — MONDAY
'THE LAST TIME I SAW PARIS'
Elizabeth Taylor
Van Johnson

Baseball Nine Seeks 5th Straight Against Southern Tough

Seminoles Top Teachers, 10-5

Danny Litwhiler's unbeaten 1956 baseball team will go after its fifth win of the year this afternoon when it goes up against Florida Southern College.

On the mound today for the Seminoles is going to be Jim Attwood, a senior from Miami.

Out of today's lineup because of minor injuries will be Carlee Hendrix regular third baseman, and Fred Twomey who picked up a charley horse in last Tuesday's encounter.

"The boys are coming along fair, but we're not in the best of shape yet. We're making too many mistakes and need a few more games under our belt," stated Litwhiler.

According to the head mentor, the Seminoles will spend their spare moments on the diamond this week. The Tribe coach believes that playing the team into shape is the best way to have a top notch ball club.

Litwhiler went on to say, "our mistakes haven't hurt us yet, but we can't afford to make them when we play a really good club."

Tuesday

In last Tuesday's game with Georgia Teachers, the Seminoles behind 4-1, going into the bottom of the fifth inning made loose for 5 runs on four hits, four walks, and one error. The Tribe then made a clean sweep of the two games series with the Georgians.

This was picked up as the end win of the season and constituted two singles and a pair of runs in the wild fifth inning.

The Teachers want ahead for a short time in the top of the fifth when they collected two hits, two walks, and two errors for three runs.

Litwhiler said, "I had to pull Harold Nelson when he developed a blister on his pitching hand in the fifth inning and he won't be able to see action today."

The Tribe picked up another trio of runs in the bottom of the sixth inning. The big hit of the inning was a double by Riley Sievers.

Florida State bats rapped out nine hits in seven frames off Georgia pitchers to the shower.

Centerfielder Dick Houser, and Catcher Bob Swain each collected two hits in the Seminole victory with two singles apiece.

ON THE HOT CORNER. Carlee Hendrix, veteran Tribe third baseman who injured an ankle in Tuesday's game with Georgia Teachers.

Netmen Face Georgia Tech

Florida State's tennis team takes to the court again today when it meets Georgia Tech in nine days for coach Pitchford's netters. Yesterday they faced Illinois.

FSU bounced back after its initial defeat by Georgia to swamp an Ohio State team, 9-0, and even-up their record.

Jack Wheeler combined his two top men, Hal Schoen and Shelby Cragin, with his top freshman, to give the Tribe added depth and scoring punch.

It was a lack of Freshmen which hurt the Tribe badly in their loss to the University of Georgia earlier, and it is fast becoming apparent that the Frosh will play a big part in Coach Keith Pitchford's tennis hopes this year.

Summary:

Singles—Hal Schoen beat Pete Hatcher, 6-2, 6-2; Shelby Cragin beat Ben Williams, 6-0, 6-1; Les Hunter defeated Hans Polze, 7-5, 8-1; Charles Nottinger beat Bill Wadsworth, 6-2, 6-0; Hal Sherrett beat Chuck Clarke, 6-4, 6-4; Frank Bryan beat Ron Hirsch 6-1, 6-3.

Doubles—Schoen and Cragin beat Hatcher and Williams, 8-3, 8-6; Jim Madden's and Nottinger beat Polze and Clarke, 8-6, 8-6; Hunter and Bryan and Sonny Bolles beat Wadsworth and Hirsch 8-3, 7-5.

Seminole —Shorts—

We're still looking for predictions on the major league baseball outcome, so if you're interested drop them in the athletic office in our box or send them to us through the mail.

Basketball coach Bucky Kennedy has been out of town for the last couple of weeks attending the NCAA basketball coaches convention in Chicago. This may have a direct bearing on FSU's echo-ball for the coming season.

When FSU's football team travels to Philadelphia to meet V. Lanova next year, it will be the longest trip ever made by a Tribe gridiron squad.

When Tribe hurler Max Long picked up his second win of the season against Georgia Teachers it was the 14th win of his college baseball career, tying the all-time Seminole mark for most wins in a career by one pitcher.

FSU's Seminoles are fortunate enough to play in one of the best, well-proportioned ball parks in the state, one that in fact has better dimensions and more outfield space than a number of big league parks. It's 340 to left, 321 to right and a booming 411 to center.

The only FSU baseball player to bang out more than one home run all last year was first baseman Fred Twomey. Fred lost the ball over the fence six times.

FOR A TREAT - - A SNACK OR A MEAL AT The Mecca

Golfers Tangle With Maxwell Air Base Today; Streak At 4

Maxwell Air Force Base Invades Tallahassee today to meet the Florida State golf team.

Yesterday saw Florida State's linksters square off against the University of Alabama.

On March 20, the Seminoles ran their win streak to four by defeating Georgia 14½ to 12½.

Bill Shelton, FSU sophomore ace, shot the Indians out of a hole on the last foursome by sinking a long birdie.

Jack Veeble in the number three spot for FSU was the only member of the team to break par. He shot a two under par 70.

This was by far the worst match of the year for the Seminoles and they happened to meet a fired up Georgia squad.

Summary: Lumpkin (Georgia) defeated Bill Shelton, 2-1; Jack Veeble defeated Bruce Burt, 3-1; Phil Dell defeated Howard, 2-1; Bruden Greene, Jr., defeated Bob Sutton (FSU), won over Bridwell, Jones and Schumacher (FSU) defeated Rumsey, 3-0.

Annie Oaklies Plugging Away

By SUE SHIELDS

FSU is now sporting a girls' rifle team. Even though a university regulation keeps them at present from competing with other schools, the girls spend at least one evening each week sharpening up their aims.

It all began only a few weeks ago when the young team at the University of Florida challenged FSU coeds to a match. Interest ran high from the beginning and over 30 turned out for the first meeting. Capt. Fred Cannon, Air Force ROTC instructor who organized the girls, was well pleased with the early results and progress.

Things were all set for the match, when some of the powers-that-be dusted off an old 1906 regulation banning FSCW young ladies from intercollegiate competition.

That didn't daunt the enthusiasm of the girls, who elected Margaret Young their captain, and went right ahead plugging at their targets.

Capt. Cannon, who is also a coach for the boys' ROTC team, started the girls off shooting in prone position. Gradually they will advance to sitting, kneeling, and finally standing position. Their rifles are nine pound .22's, and target distance is 50 feet.

They wear special shooting jackets and gloves which were left over from the days when FSCW boasted a rifle club, and a good one, too, from reports.

The 30-odd Annie Oaklies have been divided into two groups, one each being coached by the Army and Air Force ROTC. If and when real live competition becomes a reality, they will use official six-man, per, six-woman teams.

ODFA NAMED HEAD OF EDUCATION GROUP

Dr. J. David O'Dea, associate professor of education, has been elected to the Executive Committee of the Southern Personnel Association for Teacher Education. He was one of three elected on a nationwide ballot.

FAIVER'S
OUR SPECIALS:
★ CURRIED SHRIMP & RICE ... 85c and TARTAR SAUCE
★ ONE DEVILED CRAB ... 75c
Both Served With 2 Vegetables, Salad, Rolls, Coffee or Tea
DINE OUT Tonight!
FAIVER'S RESTAURANT
1312 West Tennessee

UP AND OVER! Hurdler Charley Watson will again be a vital cog as the Seminole trackmen open here next week.

Lettermen Terwilliger, Weaver Track Stars

By BOB WOLFENBARGER
Flambeau Sports Writer

"A strong desire to compete and excel," aptly describes the two key men of the track team according to track coach Mike Long.

These special words of praise from Coach Long were directed to Jack Terwilliger, who last year as a freshman scored the second highest point total for the entire squad, and Ron Weaver, last year's co-captain.

Terwilliger, while finishing second high scorer for the squad last year, turned in six first places in the various sprint events during the dual meet season.

At the Mississippi Southern meet last spring, Terwilliger ran the 220-yard sprint in :21.3, but narrowly lost the 100-yard dash with a time of :09.9 He closed the season with a total of 36½ points, a mere ½ of a point behind high scorer Carlos Fraundorfer.

This year, however, with Fraundorfer unable to compete, Terwilliger emerges as the potential star. Coach Long added a word of praise for Terwilliger, "Jack doesn't settle for a second-rate job he has a desire to improve."

Coach Long points with pride to the big horse in his stable, last year's co-captain, Ron Weaver. The two-sprint track mentor rates Weaver as one of the best three or four javelin throwers in the South.

Despite the fact that he is a one-event man, Weaver more than redeems himself by producing results when the chips are down. Last year, during the Mississippi Southern meet, Weaver barely surpassed one of the finest hurlers in the South with a mighty heave of 205 11".

According to Coach Long, this throw was typical of Weaver, for he is an inspiration to his teammates with his ability to pull through in the clutch.

Last year also, Weaver participated in the Javelin record bettered by all of the men who placed. In this met Weaver finished in fifteenth place—an excellent showing against the top hurlers in the nation.

FEDS ADD THREE MEMBERS

FEDS, the Yankee social club, has added three new members to its ranks, bringing membership to 21.

The new additions are Mike Flynn, Bill Blumen, and Chick Chahanovich.

Tournament Ducats Sold For Students

Student tickets for the Florida State Invitational Baseball tournament are now on sale at the athletic ticket office, and are priced at $2.50 for the entire tournament.

Individual prices for the students per game will be .50, and with 21 games to be played during the tournament, the student season ticket price rates as a bargain.

Though the tournament will run through most of the Easter Holidays, it will still be going on when students return to campus April 2.

Student activity books will not admit any students to the tournament games, as the only way such a tournament can be financed is through actual gate receipts and season ticket sales.

Assistant Baseball Coach Ron Mellon stressed that since this is the first big baseball event ever held here that student support is highly vital to its success.

We feel that we have gathered some of the best college baseball teams in the country here, and if we're going to have another big tourney next year, student support is very important," Mellon commented.

Intramural News

The fraternity volleyball competition is nearing the last with the skull-level getting better and the rivalry setting better.

Tonight at 6 at the Women's Gym. TEP and DTD two of the leading teams in the American League meet. Next Tuesday at 7 TEP clashes with PDT, the only other team contending for a spot in the playoffs.

Tuesday night SAE kept out front in the National League by beating a good KA team 15-12, 15-8 TEP sunk SC 15-4, 15-3, DTD won from PKT 15-5, 15-3. SN stayed in the running with a 15-9, 15-3 win over SPE.

This leaves SAE, SN and KA still in the running for first place. SAE and SN meet next Tuesday at 6:45 in the intramural match in the National League.

Tonights play:

6—TEP vs DTD. 7—SC vs. PDT. 7:45—TC vs. SPE. 8:45—SAE vs. KS.

Monday, March 26:

6—TEP vs. PKP. 7—ATO vs. CS.

In the Dorm - Independent leagues the Air Force dropped the first game to Methodists 15-9 then won a thrilling 16-14 uphill victory, then lost 15-6.

The Baptists assured themselves of a place in the playoffs by almost sewing up the Independent league. The only other first game to the Feds 15-7, then won 15-5, 15-1.

The Peninsula Gang beat Tomoka House 15-8 then 16-14 15-4, but won the third game 15-5.

Senior Hall after losing to Tomoka 15-5, won 16-14, 15-12.

The Dorm-Independent championships round-robin playoffs begin today with at 6 p.m. The second match will be played Wednesday at 6.

The Methodists and Baptists have qualified in the Independent League and Peninsula has qualified in the Dorm League.

Last night a match between Magnolia and Senior Hall was won by Magnolia Hall.

DESIGNED FOR SCORING!
These 1956 Registered Spalding TOP-FLITES® are the sweetest-playing clubs in the book. Plenty of golfers are lowering their handicaps with them.
The secret? They're SYNCHRO-DYNED® Clubs — scientifically and exactly coordinated to swing and feel alike.
What's more, these beauties will stay handsome and new looking. The non-fade lustre of Spalding's new tough alloy steel heads with high-polish finish. Like the true-flights, they're sold through Golf Professionals only.
SPALDING sets the pace in sports

In Grecian Times

Phi Delta Theta Slates Founder's Day Banquet

The Phi Delta Thetas celebrated their fifth anniversary on the campus with a Founder's Day banquet held at their house this past week.

The banquet marked the 108th anniversary of the national fraternity. Guest of honor was Sam McGee of Atlanta, province president.

Jack Montgomery, Phi Delt pledge, was awarded the "Best Phikea of the Year" award.

New pledges are Buddy Weekly and John Bullock.

Mrs. Leland Chubb, Phi Mu district president from Orlando, is the guest of the FSU chapter for the purpose of national inspection.

The Phi Mus entertained the Kappa Alphas with an informal party at their house last week. A short skit was presented in the form of a take-off on "Gone With the Wind". Dancing and refreshments followed.

New initiates of Sigma Phi Epsilon are Neal Robinson, Wayland Elam, George Maxoth, Rudy Signorelli, and Dennis Nickol. A dinner was held for them after initiation ceremonies.

The annual pledge-activity softball game will take place tomorrow on the campus diamond.

New actives of Pi Beta Phi are: Dian Hoskins, Nancy Camp, Betty Prather, Ivy Carver, Mary Ellen Pinley, Sally Copeland, Betty Jo Benzine, Dian Head, Nancy Spence, Sally Coulter, Carol Uhlich, Jeanne Magill, Nancy Mann, Ramelle Ellis, Jeanette Garrett, Jean May, Dorothy Goodwin, Nancy Ann Brown, Carol Traylor, Cynthia Lawrence, and Eleanor Sweatt.

The Tri Delts recently held an initiation banquet at their house. Miss Agnes Gregory, alumnae advisor, presented awards to the two outstanding pledges. June Lassiter received recognition for scholarship and Pat Starnes was presented the scrubbies award.

Last week the Tri Delts played hostess to the Sigma Nus for an informal "turn about" party, which followed a leap year theme.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilons and the Sigma Chis are giving a joint picnic tomorrow afternoon and a joint "Spring Fling" at the American Legion Home tomorrow night from 8:30 to 12 p.m.

The male element sets the breaks this time as the attire for them will be dress bermudas for the dance.

Steve Dunning and Associates are furnishing the music for the evening.

The Sigma Kappas will hold their annual Easter egg hunt for underprivileged children with the Kappa Alphas this Sunday. The hunt will begin at 2 p.m. at "Rolling Acres", the home of President Sara Atkinson. There will be games, refreshments, Easter baskets and even an Easter Bunny to entertain the children.

Tomorrow the Sigma Nus will journey to Gainesville to initiate an annual basketball game with the Gainesville chapter at the University of Florida. The game, to be played in the afternoon, will be followed by a dance at the Sigma Nu house that night.

A dinner was held at the Sigma Nu house last Saturday night to the accompaniment of Danny Cunningham and his organization.

The new Delta Gamma pledge officers are Suzanne Slappey, president; Letitia Tamburino, secretary; Diana Holroyd, Panhellenic representative; Barbara Joy Mueller, treasurer; and Caryl Beal, social chairman.

The Delta Gammas had Dr. Neal, Dean of Men, as their guest speaker Monday night for a culture meeting. Dr. Neal talked on the Lenten season and its meaning.

The Kappa Alpha Thetas recently entertained the Sigma Alpha Epsilons at a jungle party for which everyone wore "animal" costumes.

(Continued from Page 1)

Coffee Hour

Elliot, illustrating the division between church and state, Death of a Salesman by Arthur Miller signifies the usurping of parental power by the oldest son, while Maxwell Anderson's Winterset demonstrates the revenge taken by the younger son for the father. The concluding collage, based on Stevens' Named Desire by Tennesee Williams, is demonstrative of the eternal love triangle resulting in chaos.

Edwards Composes

Original music was especially composed and recorded on pipe organ by Ryan Edwards. Another recording was made by singer Barbara Schaller Peck. The musical themes work in a circular fashion to keep with the pattern of the play.

The setting is modern with the minimum of color and lighting, handled by Sue Powell. Due to conflicting activities the play, whose significant colors are black and white, had to be blocked on four different occasions.

Explains Naive

To explain his reason for creating the drama, written two years ago, Benstock relates that he did it "to get out of writing an English assignment. As it turned out, it didn't work since a theme-length explanation was needed to clarify the play to his instructor.

At the present, Benstock, who has had experience writing poetry, is working on his doctorate in English literature here. He has written a novel, Diablo the Dreamer, which is a modern Faust story about an adolescent growing up in New York.

Was Correspondent

Benstock has also worked as an Army correspondent in Korea, and a radio script writer in New York. His latest contribution to the literary world is a short extension entitled Naked Sand.

In connection with his play Benstock commented that he hopes that this first performance will be instructive as well as entertaining."

The Coffee Hour is a weekly presentation of the English department open to faculty, students and townspeople.

Flambeau photo: Charlie Rice

Climbing Aboard—Bicycle in preparation for race slated April 26, Bob Moren limbers up. For story on race, see p. 1.

(Continued from Page 3)

Irish Speaks

said, begins with "an inquiring mind. The student must want to know: whatever he learns must be a matter of personal discovery."

The teacher, she said, must likewise want to teach.

"The most and the best that the teacher can do," she said, "is to torment the student, unsettle his mind, provoke him into finding out for himself what a man can reasonably believe in a turbulent world."

Higher education must be a careful study of facts although it really becomes rationalization,

Matsuda Slates Recital Tomorrow

Ruth Matsuda, Hawaiian-born music student, will give her senior piano recital tomorrow night in Conradi Music Hall, beginning at 8:15.

Director of a coneidence, the teacher with whom she studied in Honolulu will be in the audience.

Mrs. Ruth Orcutt-Bacon and her husband have been touring Europe and the continental United States and came to Florida especially to see her former pupil, unaware of the planned recital.

Miss Matsuda will play Bach's Italian Concerto, Beethoven's Sonata in A Major, opus 110, and Mozart's Concerto in A flat major, K 488

(Continued from Page 4)

Movie News

joy the movie by the same name. Our Miss Brooks should provide ample reason for laughter as Eve Arden carries on her monkey business as Miss Brooks of Madison High at the State Theatre, Monday and Monday.

The McConnel Story returns to Tallahassee at the Perry Highway Outdoor Theatre on Tuesday to Superscope and color. Co-starring Alan Ladd and June Allyson, the story is a bi-lo for those who prefer human interest mixed well with a misty eyed ending.

she warned.

'What Is Good'

Questions such as "What is good? What is evil? What is right? What is just?" must be asked by himself by the student, Dr. Irish declared.

No one can really teach you; you yourself must become aware of what is rooted in the concrence of mankind, in the consona of civilization," she told the attentive audience.

Higher education can also aid the student in developing a personal taste and aesthetic appreciation for the arts and literature, although such should not lead one into the category of "professional highbrow" dominated by "intellectual fashion," she said.

Faith Said Real

Faith has a very real role in education and life, the professor of political science said.

"It is in the very nature of man to believe absolutely in what he can not know for certain. Though he spends a lifetime in higher education, all his knowledge acquired will never quite substantiate his faith. This should not be too disturbing to the scholar."

God-Given Rights

"It is of course unreasonable to believe what can be scientifically disproved. But it is not inconsistent with reason to 'hold fast that which is good' even if it can not be proved.

"Mankind is blessed with profound insights, with intuitive knowledge with magnificent imagination, which from time immemorial have given us the courage for our irrational convictions . . . Man is endowed by his Creator with certain unalienable rights; deny the existence of the Creator and gone is the God-given freedom of the individual.

"Faith," she averred, "can only return when people seek and believe in truth."

Caldwell's Speech To State 'Pertinent'

Concerned System Of Two Parties

A speech before the State Party by former governor Millard Caldwell in the state House of Representatives chamber Tuesday night was described as "very pertinent to our campus" by party chairman Art Moore.

Caldwell's speech emphasized that a strong two-party system should exist for best government, said Moore. "This was very applicable to our situation at FSU," he continued.

"Caldwell said that independence is not good since everybody should take part in party politics," Moore stated. "He said that good government does not result from unorganized election movements."

Caldwell also pointed out that there is no reason why an organized party cannot win an election. "Losing is namely the fault of the party," he said.

Main business at the convention was nomination of candidates for the Student Body elections and the addition of a plank advocating women's intercollegiate competition. Endorsed by Phi Delta Theta, the plank states that "the State Party will do everything in its power of influence to bring about permission for the women's gymnastic team to represent FSU in the National AAU meet."

The Slate

The slate selected was as follows: "JEM" Moore, Student Body President; Bill Swigert, Student Body Vice-President; James Davis, men's rep; Faye Anthony, secretary of Senate; Patty Pascale, Traffic Court chief justice; Harvey Hall, chief justice of University Court; Pat Rooney, president of University Recreation Association; and Priscilla Most, Dave Evans, and Lucie Crossland for Board of Publications.

Moore said the party endorsed, but is not sponsoring Ed Hinson for Chief Justice of Honor Court. "The thought we had in mind to endorsing him," he said "was to set a precedent by divorcing politics and the judiciary."

Jan Kaminis was nominated for women's vice-president.

150 Attend

Moore said that over 150 students attended the address by Caldwell and that the atmosphere created by the unusual location was "very effective."

"Some of the old party members made statements about the great progress of the State Party, called it 'tremendous', and complimented the caliber of our candidates," Moore stated "Personally, I think the convention proved that we may have the bulk to go with our spirits."

Flambeau photo: Adrian Allen

Good Speech, Sir—State Party chairman Art Moore, left, shakes hand of former Governor Millard Caldwell following his speech at convention in House of Representatives chamber.

SUMMER TRAVEL AND STUDY IN MEXICO

THE INSTITUTO TECNOLOGICO DE MONTERREY

Member Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools
Member Association of Texas Colleges

July 14 to August 25—1956
Join FSU GROUP under the leadership of DR. HEEBERTO LACAYO

Six full credits may be earned toward your degree or toward your teachers certificate, in the charming surroundings of Old Mexico.
Undergraduate and graduate courses given in Spanish and English in many subjects.

$230.00

Includes fees, tuition, room and board, activities, but not transportation.

For complete details contact Dr. Lecuyo:

Department of Modern Languages
FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA

CAPITAL TRUCK CENTER
ON THE NEW QUINCY HIGHWAY

SUNDAY SPECIALS
FOR ALL FSU STUDENTS:
½ FRIED CHICKEN 95c
With All the Trimmings
AND SIRLOIN STRIP STEAK
with
FRENCH FRIES, SALAD, HOT ROLLS AND BUTTER, COFFEE OR TEA
$1.25
COME BY TO SEE US SOON

Nobody "spared the horses" in the '56 Chevrolet!

It's the new "Two-Ten" 4-Door Sedan, one of 20 frisky new Chevrolets.

This beauty's got power that's panther-quick and silk-smooth. Power that puts new kick in your driving and makes passing far safer.

A flick of your toe is all it takes to unleash a hoodful of Chevrolet power! Power that makes passing far safer by saving seconds when they really count! Power that's smooth as silk—and as full of action as a string of firecrackers! Big, deep-breathing power that now ranges clear up to 225 h.p.!

But power's just one of the things that make for safer, happier driving in a Chevy. For instance, there's the solid construction of Body by Fisher—and Chevrolet's nailed-down stability. Come in and give it a try.

CHEVROLET

Air conditioning—temperatures made to order—at new low cost. Let us demonstrate!

$2 GLAMOROUS PRIZES IN THE "SEE THE U. S. A. IN YOUR CHEVROLET" CONTEST. ENTER NOW—AT YOUR CHEVROLET DEALER'S.

See Your Chevrolet Dealer

To the Touch . . . To the Taste . . .
CHESTERFIELD PACKS MORE PLEASURE

Satisfy Yourself with a Milder, Better-Tasting smoke—packed for more pleasure by exclusive Accu-Ray

A touch will tell you . . . an Accu-Ray Chesterfield is more perfectly packed . . . and that means Chesterfield satisfies the most . . . burns more evenly, smokes much smoother.

To the taste, too . . . Chesterfield packs more pleasure. Firm and pleasing to the lips . . . mild yet deeply satisfying to the taste . . . Chesterfield alone is pleasure-packed by Accu-Ray.

MILD, YET THEY Satisfy . . . THE MOST!

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

FROSH CARNIVAL
Called Off
(See Story, Page 1)

Vol. XLI, No. 41

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

March 27, 1956

12 Have Declared As Candidates In Election To Date

Today Last Day For Declarations;

Moore, Bachman Vie For Top Spot

Twelve candidates filed yesterday for student body elections, announced Betty Willmon, Secretary of Elections.

Jim Moore and Dave Bachman have filed for Student Body President with Carolyn Close and Jan Kaminka vieing for Women's Vice President.

In the race for Men's Vice President, Jim Soles and James Davis have turned in declarations.

Bill Swigert filed for Student Body Vice President with Pat Sweet and Mollie Carroll running for President of the Recreation Association.

Don Heidel, Pat Brady and Ann Whitmarsh have declared for the Board of Student Publications.

Won't Be Accepted

All declarations turned in after 3 p.m. today will not be accepted by the elections committee, stated Miss Willmon.

Active campaigning begins at 1 p.m. April 2. All candidates will then turn in an expense estimate to the elections committee before this time or their name will not appear on the official ballot. However only those candidates elected to office must file a final expense statement.

The total cash expenditures and gifts of candidates running for a major office must not exceed the following amounts as follows: President of student body, $50; vice-president of student body, $40; men's vice-president, $35, women's vice-president, $35; secretary of student senate, $25; chief justice of honor court, $25; attorney general, $25; chairman of university court, $20; chairman of traffic court, $25, and student board of publication members, $20.

815 Limit

Those running for the minor office of president of University recreational association will not be allowed to exceed $15 for total cash expenditures and gifts.

All candidates for a major office shall be required to have attained a 2.300 scholastic average for the semester preceding their election, or to have maintained an overall 2.300 scholastic average.

Election placards may be posted on any available space in buildings and on the outside of buildings but must be taken down after the election is over. Candidates eliminated in the primary must remove their placards within 48 hours.

No Nails, Tacks

No nails or tacks may be driven in trees or in building walls. No placards may be posted or plastered walls with scotch tape or other adhesives.

If the individual who posts a sign which damages University property cannot be identified, the candidate whose name is on the placard will be held responsible for the damage and will be required to pay the costs, explained Miss Willmon.

Election posters may be distributed in women's residence halls on all bulletin boards other than official bulletin boards.

They may also be placed on all dining furnished each meal, but at the time of elections for the specific purpose of displaying election posters. Location of screens will be determined by residence counselors in consultation with the House president and vice-president.

Posters in women's dorms are not to exceed 12" X 16" in size.

Members of the election committee are Mitzi McCullough under secretary; John Smith, A.P. James, Powell Breyer, Shirley Derting, Linda Rollins, and Rufus Jennings.

Student Party Names Bachman Prexy Nominee

Dave Bachman was nominated for the office of Student Body President by the Student Party at its convocation last Thursday night.

Clyde Moore, Student Body President and Student Party member, gave the keynote address at the convention. He attacked the slogan of the State Party, the Party That Stands For Something", declaring that "Anyone can stand for something but it takes an outstanding party to DO something."

Moore further outlined what can be considered "rightest of the rightest" concerning accomplishments made this year" through Student Party efforts. He cited as examples a statement made at a recent State party convention.

The Student Party was accused of "actively working for years to keep the students in a position of status quo."

He declared true anyone who has examined the records of the accomplishments made this year by the Student Party and Government can see the fallacy in these statements.

Held Majority

Since the Party's inception, Student Party members in 38 of a majority of the Student Government offices. These officers have upheld the ideals of the Party and Student Government and have progressed to a point where we are now one of the outstanding student governments in the country and have a great deal of power," emphasized the president.

The main business at the convention was the nomination of candidates for Student body offices and an addition to the platform that seemed to be allowed to participate in intercollegiate sports competition.

Others Nominated

Others nominated at the convention were: Bill Cullom, vice-president of student body; Carolyn Close, women's vice-president; Jimmy Soles, men's vice-president; Bill Mercer, Chief Justice of Honor Court; Polly Swain recorded secretary of Honor Court; Joe McMahon, attorney general of University Court; Arlene Sargent, Secretary of Senate; Bob Peiffer, chairman of traffic court; Molly Carroll, URA president; and Pat Sweet, vice-president of URA; and Ann Whitmarsh, board of publications

Travel Plan Is Still Open

The Student Travel Service still has rides available for the holiday weekend.

Destinations of seeking rides to Winston Salem, North Carolina; Columbus, Georgia; Chattanooga, Tennessee and Melbourne, Hollywood, Lake Placid, and Sarasota Fla.

Rides are available to New Orleans, Memphis, Dallas, Pete, Jr., through Louisville, Ky., Daytona Beach, and Jacksonville.

The Student Travel Service is located on the 2nd floor of Longmire or by calling 219!

Phi Eta Sigma, Frosh Honorary, To Initiate

Phi Eta Sigma, national freshmen men's honorary, will initiate new members April 8 in Longmire Lounge at 5:15.

A dinner in the trophy room will be held immediately following the initiation.

Students now attending Florida State who were members of other universities are invited to attend the meeting, announced Elsie P. Bixby.

LIBRARY HOURS
EASTER WEEK END

March 26, Thursday — 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

March 30, Friday—8:30 a.m., 5:00 p.m.

March 31, Saturday — 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

April 1, Easter Sunday — Closed

April 2, Monday—8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

April 3, Tuesday—Open regular hours.

SANDSPUR COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY AT 5

Sandspur committee members and any interested students will meet today at 5 in the Longmire Student Lounge, announced Jack Rogero, chairman of the group.

Abney To Head Tau Beta Sigma

Charlotte Abney has been elected to serve as president of FSU's chapter of Tau Beta Sigma, national band sorority for women.

Other newly elected officers are Alice Lucas, vice-president; Myra Ann Ley, secretary; Pranden Wilson, treasurer; and Jean Thompson, chaplain.

The chapter recently initiated 16 first pledge class sisters. Names established on this campus last May. New actives include Anne Verran, Tina Gifford, Jean Thompson, Peggy Wilson, Lil Olsen, Charlotte Abney, Anita Brunson.

Also Frances Wilson, Ellen Warbuck, Myra Ann Ley, Willa Bird, Shirley Hamblin, Janice Jacques, Carol Renkop, and Shirley Wallace.

Flambeau photo—Charlie Stone

Leading Away — Students cut loose at Wilby Lodge dance held over the weekend at the Floridan Hotel. Music was by the Commodores.

Intramural Speech Contests Slated

Intramural speech contests in after-dinner speaking, original oratory and public speaking are set for April 17 through May 8.

Any regularly enrolled undergraduate may participate unless he has previously won first place in the contest, the speech department announced.

Preliminaries in after-dinner speaking will be held Tuesday evening, April 17, in 222 History, with finals being held before the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce the following Monday noon.

Oratory Preliminaries

Original oratory preliminaries will be held Tuesday evening, April 24, with finals before the Optimist Club one week later. Both ADS and oratory have no special limitations on subject matter.

Topics for the public speaking contest will come from the area of State and Federal Elections," the department said. They are to be chosen from a special list prepared by the public address area of the Department of Speech.

Preliminaries in public speaking will be on Tuesday evening, May 1, with the finals before the Toastmaster's Club on May 8.

No Entry Fee

There is no entry fee for these contests. Awards include revolving trophies for oratory and public speaking, medals in after-dinner speaking, and suitably-inscribed certificates for finalists in all three contests.

Winners in 1955 were Fred Robertson, West Hall, after-dinner speaking, Earl Carroll, West Hall, oratory, and Betty Struth, Delta Zeta, public speaking. All intramural persons should see or call Dr. Gregg Phifer, Dr. Wayne Minnick, or Elizabeth Fiery in 104 or 105 History. Instructors in the Department of Speech will help in preparations for any contest, they announced.

Fuller Warren Club To Meet

A meeting of a "Students For Fuller Warren" group has been scheduled tonight at 7:30 at 121 E. Jefferson.

Posters on campus announcing the meeting state the meeting place is located directly across from the Leon County Court House.

8 ROTC Cadets Get Promotions

Eight cadets in the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps detachment at Florida State University have received promotions.

They are John R. Tomberlin, and Joseph P. Westhafer, cadet sergeants first class; Marvin Ballard, Albert Griffin Jr., Robert D Johnson, Carlos Lundt, Joseph B. Mazur, and James C. Pike, cadets corporals.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS MEET TOMORROW

There will be a business meeting of the Young Democrats Club in room 408 Longmire tomorrow night at 8 p.m.

In Sarasota

Art Meet Spots US Architecture

Special emphasis will be on contemporary American architecture, design and music at the Ninth Annual Art Symposium on "Today's America" to be held April 3-7 at Sarasota.

Over 60 students are listed to attend.

Sponsored annually by Florida State University and the Ringling Art Museum, the symposium is planned especially for art students in the contemporary period theme this year makes a wide appeal, end all programs are free and open to the public, the FSU Art Department said.

Painting, Sculpture

Painting and sculpture will come in for full attention, and lectures and gallery lectures on preservation and restoration of masterpieces and on color and light in art, and on American jazz —followed by an illustrative concert.

Programs are scheduled daily beginning at 9 a.m., 10:30 a.m., and 8:15 p.m. There will be no afternoon lecture, April 5.

Florida buildings and houses will be discussed by the architectural historian, Talbot Hamlin, at the opening meeting on "The Place of Tradition in Modern Architectural Design," said department sponsorees. Former director of the Avery Library at Columbia University, Hamlin is now retired and spends most of his time in Florida.

Photo Exhibition

A photographic exhibition in one of the galleries will feature Florida buildings and homes.

"Frank Lloyd Wright and the Modern Controversy" will be the subject of a 10:30 morning lecture Wednesday, April 4, when John P. Keelik of the University of Wisconsin considers architectural trends.

"What American Culture" will be the subject of Dr. Edmund Suchon of New Orleans, a surgeon by profession, who is recognized as a top authority on origins and growth of art. He will speak the night of Thursday, April 5.

Revealed Soeksmore

Curtis Davidson's Dixieland Band and the G-Bach Quintet will both give half-hour demonstrations during the Saturday session.

The Florida State University Singers, directed by Wiley Housewright, will present a concert featuring Bach and Mozart Friday, April 6.

"Art Industry Experts of a Designer" and "A New Purpose for the Designer" will be discussed by Richard S. Latham, Chicago design consultant, at Saturday, April 7, morning and afternoon lectures.

Other lecturers for the symposium will be Milton Brown of the Brooklyn College, Karl Zerbe and Adolph Karl of the FSU art faculty, Kenneth Donahue of the Rudins Museum, Charles P. Parkhurst of Oberlin College and Doris Ashton, as art critic for the New York Times.

Board Sets Up Criteria

The state-wide tests given on high school seniors will be the main criterion for admission to the state universities, the Board of Control decided recently.

To be used as a standard by each of the three universities will be the scores attained by the lowest eight per cent of freshmen admitted last September. Those applicants who rank better will be admitted, provided that "the admission of students shall be a matter lying within the jurisdiction of the institutions."

Each university may re-test applicants if it considers their high school test results incorrect.

Discusses Integration

At the same special meeting of March 21 at which it adopted the entrance policy, the Board also threatened to do away with FAMU as a Negro school if integration of the finally ordered by "a court of competent jurisdiction."

The "same academic admission requirements will be established for all state institutions," the motion declared.

The entrance policy, not to be effective until 1959, is aimed at dealing with integration, makes graduation from high school graduates who do not measure up to the test impossible.

Individual Basis

"In each case the application will be considered on an individual basis, and any, or all, or any combination of the following types of evidence may be used in appraising the eligibility of the student for admission to the universities: a personal interview, grades and rank in class, reference to the student's cumulative high school files, psychological tests, and other educational principal and/or review by the committee of the college given or requested by the university admissions committee concerned.

The Board thus abandoned an earlier decision to require Florida applicants to rank in the upper 50 percent of their classes

Non-Florida Rules

Non-Florida freshmen must take the statewide Florida tests and must rank in the upper half of of the graduating class of an accredited high school, and must submit recommendations of principal or school superintendent.

Non-transfer students from out-of-state will be required to make a satisfactory score on a general ability test.

Graduate Students who have not taken a test may be exempted from the university to which they have applied, but that the Graduate Record Examinations be an entrance qualification. This requirement, the Board decided, will affect all applicants and candidates for graduate degrees. Exemption may be made as follows:

May Be Waived

"However, upon recommendation by the graduate faculty of the university, the Board of Control may in exceptional cases waive these requirements for any graduate assistants and fellows who have been appointed prior to appointment on the basis of academic achievement and for such graduate students who are certified by the university superintendent."

Further provisions include:

"The Board of Control reserves the right to make exception to any applicant whose health record indicates a condition which may be harmful to the students of the universities.

"The Board may make exception to an applicant whose record of citizenship indicates that he is not in the best interest of citizens in the university community.

"Anticipated heavy enrollments may require the establishment of more stringent admission requirements at any time by the Board of Control.

The Board did not adopt a proposal that it be given veto power, according to Executive Secretary J. J. Broward Culpepper, but unanimously "instructed the press, to the effect that out-of-state graduate students would henceforth be admitted only by special Board approval.

Griffin Is Elected Village Vamps Head

Sarah Jane Griffin has been elected new president of the Village Vamps.

Other officers are Elaine Brenton, vice president; Sarah Monroe, secretary; Deborah Griffin, treasurer; Jeanne Mckenzie, project chairman; and Joan Harmon, publicity chairman.

For FSU Admission Tests To Be Basis

Frosh Carnival Is Cancelled, Officials Say

Due to "past failures" the Freshman Carnival has definitely been cancelled, revealed Bill Clendinen, Freshman class president.

Instead, the "Little 500," the first annual Parker race, will be instituted in its place. Also, on the night of the race, a king and queen of the Freshman class will be crowned, with a talent night to follow.

The race, to be held April 26 on the Florida High track, will be a competition between twenty teams, which may be formed by any recognized orgaization on campus.

$10 Per Team

Entry fees are $10 per team, which consists of four riders, two alternates, and ten pit crew members, with half refunded to the twenty finalists, explained Bill Wright, chairman of the Rules and Regulations Committee.

Prizes for the race include a first place trophy worth $70, a second place trophy, and a plaque for third place, with the last two receiving pit crew ribbons an award.

Wrtight urges aspiring entrants organizations to turn entry blanks into Director's Office in Longmire before the deadline, April 12.

Petition Deadline

Petitions for the race and queen of the Freshman class for the "Little 500" must be turned in between April 3 and 12 at the main desk in Longmire.

The primary election, to determine the top five candidates for each queen, will be held April 20 with the final election coming on the 23rd.

No limit has been set as to the number of petitions, which must be signed by 35 freshmen; any frosh may sign.

Egg Hunt Set By APO Today

Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity, is sponsoring an Easter egg hunt for the exceptional children from the handicapped children of the West Campus school today, from 2:30 to 3:30.

The egg hunt is going to be held for coordinates with the school officials.

APO members will meet 7:30 p.m. Saturday to color the eggs.

Theatre Dancers Take In Seven

Seven students were recently chosen to participate in the Theatre Dance group.

After spring tryouts Mary Ann Hall, Nancy Fleming, Wendy Case, Carol Merriman, Georgia Wilcox, Barbara Cook and Dave Harris were invited to join.

Students interested in fall try-outs should clear Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 3:30 to 5:30 on their schedules, announced group officials.

Science Foundation Awards $3400 Grant

The National Science Foundation has awarded a grant of $3,400 to Dr. Gordon Tullis to carry out research in biochemistry.

Dr Tullis came to FSU in September as a graduate assistant in the biological institute, doing research on body chemicals (enzymes) and in the distribution of protein foods

Presently working with Dr Michael Kash of the FSU Chemistry Department Dr Tullis received his B.S. degree at Iowa State University.

The Foundation also awarded an honorable mention in the national competition for fellowships in marketing research to a graduate student of psychology.

Philosophers Slate Meeting Tonight

The Philosophy Club will meet tonight at 8 in room 313 of the Old Dem School.

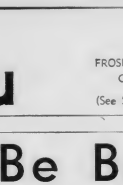
Dr. Edgar Henderson, professor or religion and philosophy, will speak on "Philosophic Method and Socrates."

Dr. Henderson received his AB degree at Furman University and his PhD at Harvard.

Harvard Singing Club Program Here Cancelled

A scheduled engagement of the Harvard Glee Club after the Easter holidays has been cancelled due to its having one Negro member.

Spokesmen for the Student Senate Artist Series Committee, which had been sponsoring the event, revealed yesterday that the cancellation had been made.



The committee and members of the Men's School faculty had been working toward the appearance of the Harvard Group on the FSU campus for three weeks or a month, according to the music school.

But at the last minute, Harvard University contacted FSU to express concern about the treatment of Negroes at Florida universities, spokesmen stated.

They said that Harvard wanted to be assured that the Negro member would be afforded all the privileges of the other members, including a reception that had been planned for after the concert.

As far as could be determined by the Florida Flambeau, Harvard's concern was that the Negro's presence would not arouse ill-will or embarrassment on the committee here decided to cancel the concert.

(See editorial, page two.)

McCall

Speakers Slate Religious Talks

Florida State, in co-operation with the Faculty Christian Fellowship, will present two widely known religious leaders at Dutch treat luncheons April 5 and 6 in the Suwannee Room.

On Thursday, April 5 Dr Duke McCall, president of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, will speak and on Monday, April 9, the speaker will be Dr. Homer Blaker, executive secretary of the Board of Higher Education of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

Dr McCall, head of the Baptist seminary since 1951, was executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention's Executive Committee before that.

Dr Blakely is a student of Christian Education faculty groups in Southern colleges.

Dr. Mode L. Stone, chairman of the committee on promotions and publicity, said each luncheon will start at 13 noon. The cost will be $1.25.

Housewright Is Awarded Grant For 1956-57

Dr Wiley Housewright, professor of music, has been awarded a Fulbright Grant for the 1956-57 academic year to lecture in Koke Jogakuin College in Kobe, Japan.

The popular professor, director of the University Singers will continue his teaching at FSU through the summer session, and then begin a year's leave of absence.

Accompanied by his wife, Dr. Housewright expects to begin teaching Oct. 1 in Japan. He will lecture in choral literature and choral music.

A native of Texas, Dr. Housewright joined the FSU faculty in 1947. He received his degrees at the University of Pittsburgh and his University and New York University.

For the past years Dr. Housewright has directed the work of graduate students and taught courses in music education, conducting, choral literature and music in American life.

He conducted the All-Southern Chorus at the Florida Music Educators National Conference in 1951, and has conducted choral festivals and clinics in many southern states

The University Singers have participated in two southern MEC programs and made a number of Florida concert tours.

Dr Housewright was one of the original members of the Robert Shaw Chorale and the assistant conductor of the organization.

He served in the United States Army, 1943-46, as first lieutenant in the administrative corps and executive officer of a base medical section at Leyte, Philippines.

Debaters Take Six Of Ten At Pittsburgh

Tom Woods and Arnold Greenfield of the Florida State debating team won six of the ten debates in a recent series of audience debates with students from the University of Pittsburgh.

The series, viewed by air to seven thousand high school students and teachers in the Pittsburgh metropolitan area, was based on the topic of foreign aid. The national debate resolution dealing with the guaranteed annual wage was the topic for an extra debate with Mount Mercy College of Pittsburgh.

The FSU debaters appeared with Pennsylvania's state senator, Lawrence H. Schmidt, on a television discussion of issues pertaining to Pennsylvania and Florida.

Woods and Greenfield also made a radio appearance on station KDKA, one of the nation's oldest, where they discussed foreign aid over the Allegheny Round Table program.

Broderick Selected As FSU Delegate

Jim Broderick, senior advertising major, has been selected by Dr Royal H Ray, head of the Department of Advertising, to represent Florida State University at the sixth annual Inter-City Advertising Week, April 1-6 in New York city.

The Association of Advertising Men and Women of New York sponsor of IAW, extends invitations to 75 of the country's leading colleges and universities to select one of its top advertising students to travel at their cost to NYC for the purpose of showing him the glimpse of the advertising business.

Broderick is editor of the 1956 Tally Ho, and president of Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising fraternity. He is also a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity, and Gold Key, FSU leadership honorary.

WATER SAFETY COURSE SLATED

An American Red Cross Water Safety Instructors course begins Tuesday, April 3, at 8 in the Women's Gym.

The course will meet every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evening from 8 to 11 p.m.

Only persons holding valid senior life saving certificates may enroll, however.

Dancers Schedule Lessons Tonight, 8

Latin-American dance lessons are on tap in the Student Center ballroom at 8 tonight upon sponsorship of Cavalier.

Fred Arcuna of the dancing fraternity will direct the lessons to be taught in a series of sessions.

At the present a band is needed for the Cavalier-Cotillion sponsored dance at the Student Center, April 7 from 9-12 p.m. Any group interested is asked to contact Jim Julian at the KA house, 2-9096.

Gambill Receives $2250 Study Grant

Dorcas Gambill, a graduate student in Adult Education, has been awarded a Leadership Training Grant.

The $2,250 award will be used in writing her dissertation on a study of 300 ministers' wives in Florida. The title of her paper is "The Felt Needs of Ministers' Wives for In-Service Training." She was one of 40 students chosen throughout the United States to receive such a grant.

Finally, An Answer

The Florida Flambeau received a detailed explanation yesterday as to why our women students are not allowed to participate in sports on the varsity level of competition. We list the reasons here for the benefit of all who have expressed an interest.

The reasons appear to be educationally sound from one viewpoint, and again outdated from another in that these regulations have been in effect since 1904, having been renewed in 1948. Then again, 72 per cent of all the nations' institutions of higher learning adhere to these policies.

While we cannot conceive it feasible to convert the entire women's sports activities to the level of the men's varsity program, neither can we condone penalizing those women who put time, effort and money into making the trip to nationals on their own. At least the University could excuse them from classes and give them a hearty send-off with the best wishes of the student body for success, even if it cannot sponsor or finance the trip for reasons of an impartial code.

The following factors were listed by Dr. Katherine Montgomery, Director of the Women's Physical Education Department, in a resume of that Department's policies on the question.

"B. Some evils of Varsity Type Competion:

(1) Autocratic practices in which a few receive the lion's share of interest, facilities, uniforms, coaching, college and public interest.

(2) The making of money and the entertaining of the public becoming the chief objective of the athletic program.

(3) Winning becomes the most important goal.

(4) The Press assuming a dominant roll with capacity to make or break the program.

(5) Individual players having their ego inflated detrimentally.

(6) Coaches losing independence and self direction in the conduct of their programs due to public pressures, capable of removing them from their positions. (This point has even affected some college presidents.)

(7) Gambling with its attendant bribing and unethical behavior of coaches and players entering into the picture.

(Antagonistic feelings between competing institutions instead of more friendly relationships becoming progressively worse as competition becomes keener.

(8) To insure victory the college must recruit those girls having a capacity for the highest level of achievements in athletics and these are known to be girls of the maximum type.

(10) The financial support of the program becoming dependent upon gate receipts with its attendant evils.

(11) The coaching and officiating of the girls' games being taken over by men whose philosophy is not in line with that of the leading women in this field. As a result these evils above listed soon begin to appear."

The Lions' Den

Since it is politically expedient to say little which might throw one's sympathy to the lions of segregationist platforms, we make our comments short and to the point.

We thank the Harvard Glee Club for understanding the situation in this state at the present time and recognize the high character of any concert seeks to save any of its members from embarrassment. But at the same time, it is a deplorable situation where political forces and intimidation hysteria are so vicious within a state, that they warrant the exclusion of a fine evening's entertainment for its collegiate youth.

While we feel the anticipation of public mischief unwarranted, we recognize that the possibility cannot be ignored. We are satisfied that FSU students would not have raised protest to a Negro's singing with his Glee Club, but are sorry we cannot be as proud of other groups within the state.

Taxes For Intolerance

Mississippians have come up with one of the most startling proposals to attack integration yet.

A bill has been introduced in the state Legislature appropriating $50,000 for a vast advertising campaign to let the people of the north know the case for segregation. Evidently the plan was fostered under the theory that all the evils of mass information published in the north are hostile to the wishes of the south and are not devoting ample coverage to their arguments.

Not wishing to dwell on that point, which is a subjective argument at best, we would like to express our concern over the remarkable similarity of some of the items in the bill to the federal act which in effect outlawed the Communist Party. The federal bill made it against the law for to belong to an organization seeking to "overthrow" the government by force.

Mississippi's bill, according to press reports, would establish a "State Sovereignty Commission" which "could meet as a standing investigating committee to expose persons and organizations working to overthrow the state's pattern of racial segregation."

The exact meaning of the word "expose" in that context is not clear. But the bill's similarity to the federal law against Communism is an implication that it is but a step from "exposure" to outlawing.

We hold that it is a dangerous trend to attempt to throttle voices which are opposed to interests supported by those in power. It is not our intention here to dispute the law against communists, but merely to emphasize that the suppression of freedom of speech is something that can be carried too far.

We do not want censorship of discussion to become a speeding locomotive that may leap its tracks and damage the pillars of American justice.

So we look with alarm at this new effort from Mississippi toward cutting off the voice of integration. We hope they do not go too far.

Letters To The Editor

(The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic, and provides this space for student opinion. The letters do not have to coincide with the views of the paper, but must be in keeping with good taste. They must be typed and signed, and names will not be withheld except in cases where the reasons are deemed adequate by the editor. Letters should not exceed 250 words. or 25 typewritten lines.)

Parents Send Commendation

DEAR MR. LEHMBECK:

Our daughter has forwarded to us anonymous have been presented in favor of competition by the Florida State University Women both on an inter-collegiate and on a national basis, and we would like to commend you for backing such a controversial issue.

We have given our daughter permission to enter the Florida A A U meet in St. Petersburg on April 14 and to enter the National A. A. U. meet in College Park Pennsylvania, during the latter part of April although we regret the fact that she will miss some of her classes in order to attend the National meet, we feel that the experience such a trip will give her will justify their absence. It is unfortunate that these advances might have to be excused by the university, and I hope that as a result of the recent data put out by the committee since your articles have been appearing, Judy and the other girls interested in gymnastics will be allowed to represent Florida State University and to be able to feel that they "belong" and have something to win for besides themselves.

SINCERELY,
MR. JOHN G. McCOY
MRS. ALMENA McCOY

Patiently Awaits "Vicious Attack"

TO THE EDITOR:

I have been waiting patiently for one of your vicious attacks to be focused on our state government, in my opinion the greatest we have yet had.

What's the matter? Have you found some one who has a little above reprocoon to be questioned. According to the ethics, you should be dragging him through the mire of hate and disorder that you and the rest of your anti-Southern, hail-fered fawning, antagonists are creating. From here it looks like you have found something too great and good to stick your necks out even farther and say that Governor LeRoy Collins is "all washed up when it come to the segregation problem."

I invite any editorial comment if you can find anyone on our state government.

(Continued on Page 4)

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ——— Marilin Drukman
Campus Editor ——— Patricia Brady
Senior Reporters ——— Bradford Lay
Marty Reeves, Bob Dollison, Bob Moren.
Photographic Editor ——— Tom Sawyer
Photographers: David Anderson, Steve Sharp
Adrain Allen, Mike Smith, Charlie Sizer.
Columnists ——— Wiljohn, Wilson Steinman, Clyde Ward, Martin Dyckman, Oscar Johnson, George Seminole.

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager,
Marguerite Kasch
Exchange Editor ——— Sandra Coley
Exchange Staff ——— Joy Wilkins
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave. New York 17. The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.

Pat Marston, News Editor
Feature Editor ——— Arlinda Rice
Sports Editors ——— Larry Block
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff —— Ben Baker, Dave Evans, Joe Greene, Tom Hale, Pierce Lehmbeck
Junior Staff —— Ginger Connor, Betty Gray, Peggy DeBolt, Bob Duke, Crane Barron, Deiores Lafferty, Julie Cameros, Bob Simmons.
Oreek Editor ——— Charlet Polsevint

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown.
Circulation ——— Mike Brady
Business ——— Gail Burdsall, Larry Mereitin,
Enid Prariman, Jane Anderson, Les Meyers
Telephone 2-800, extension 6821, 6821
211, 212 Administration Building
Intercollegiate Press and
Associated Collegiate Press

An Open Letter

Student From India Elaborates Hopes And Plans Of 'Buddy System'

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE STUDENTS:

Last Friday, "Flambeau" carried a short news item under the heading "Buddy System Gets Underway" describing a get-together between American and Foreign Students. This move by the student body has a much deeper significance and may prove to be instrumental in creating better understanding and fruitful contacts among us all.

At present FSU has about 125 foreign students from more than twenty nations, and these unascertained nationals and their countries work through unofficial channels by informal and personal approach for mutual good will. For the American students Nancy Vaughn, Secretary of State, extended the invitation to the Americans "We genuinely hope to be more than just 'fair' friends with you and believe such a get-together can be the beginning of many new and lasting friendships—Only by making this a two-way exchange, complete in all aspects, can we develop genuine friendships and better understand one another."

No discussion group, conference or convention could have stirred this feeling of free, frank, and intimate personal participation, but the picnic in the lap of Nature did the job "Although a large number inhabiting the picnic area couldn't take as many inviters. The first visible result is that some of the foreign students will get a chance to stay in an American family for a weekend home during Easter. What an experience it will be for both the parties!

Quite a number of foreign students happen to be graduate students and as such don't get much opportunity to know many people out of their circle. One place for them to develop social relations is International Students Club, which is sometimes mis-understood to be limited to foreign students. Its membership is open to all. Unless American our present secretary is an American student and she is as conscientious and interested in the Club as any of us. The club can be said to work for cultural interpretation and understanding, and experts all students to join in its deliberating and activities. The Indian group organized an all-Indi "Indian Night" before Christmas and now the plans are well underway to present an all-Indi "Indian Musical Tea" entertainment Show towards the end of this semester.

Another one ionovation of the Club is "International Student" —a monthly bulletin. The first issue appeared this February and included articles on "Valentine's Day", "Bruma and Burnese" a "Role and Duties of a German Housewife", "Indian Music" etc. President Campbell, in a message to the bulletin, expressed "sincere hope that you (foreign students) will be able to take the best of American back to your own people". The present move of Nancy Vaughn and the students body will help realize this aim with support from all the American students. And they will find the foreign students not only reciprocating these feelings but coming forward to join them.

PRAKASH SOOD
(India)

Capers On The Campai

Writes Lyrics For FSU Song

(Editor's Note: The following lyrics were submitted to the editor with a request that they be published and that campus composers could perhaps set it to music.)

FLORIDA STATE—ALL HAIL

By ADRIAN C. ALLEN

In a deep Southern land, where palm trees stand,
Is a beautiful School so fair;
Always sun kissed with an ocean breeze mist,
Her Gold and her Garnet are rare.

She ever will stay the same lovely way.
Throughout the long years and the days;
We sing of her fame, and toast her great name . . .
To our FLORIDA STATE—
ALL PRAISE!

New-Type Salary Inaugrated

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. —(ACP)—The Daily Trojan needed some girls to do secretarial work so the papers city editor, Rich Reid, dreamed up a unique and enjoyable stunt to lure the ladies into the office He agreed to hand ladies no fist fist ten cents who volunteered for the work.

"It's the least I could do," Reid said. "But ten is my absolute limit."

So far, there's been no report on the number of volunteers.

"Toe Dat Barge! Lift Dat Boycot!
Ride Dat Bus!"

Beauty Judging Can Be Difficult

By OSCAR JOHNSON

A SHORT TIME AGO we had the pleasure of helping to judge a beauty contest. It was the "Miss FSU" contest, to be specific, and there were about 68 choice coeds entered.

Now although there are large numbers of women on this campus who know all about beauty contests such as this one, few of the men do; because (for some reason) the number of judges is always smaller than the number of contestants.

To begin with, you've got a number of cute coeds parading one by singly or in groups to face a trenchant line of men looking at them over a table littered with scraps of paper and stubs of pencils. The women see a strange admixture of judges ranging from wild-eyed Bohemian type dogsbody to staid faculty members. The judges, in turn, see a bunch of women decked out in whatever attire was deemed desirable by the sponsors, with expressions on their faces all the way from "come hither" to "Quick, Katie, hand me a raincoat."

AT THE RIGHT we also have (if you happen to be a judge) immediately have to make a quick decision as to whether you should:

(A) Single out those with "come hither" expressions, learn their names, and call them up after the contest.

(B) Attempt to evaluate them all fairly on the basis of a complicated system of body-facephoto graph ratios.

(C) Close your eyes and murmur incantations for guidance.

(D) Leave the room and call up mother.

Dispensing with A, C and D on face value, we still have troubles. Following B, you must

The Dissenter

Palm Sunday Sermon On Segregation

By MARTIN BUCKMAN

PALM SUNDAY, 1934

As I sat in the Flambeau office typing these words Christians throughout the world were commemorating the entrance of Jesus into Jerusalem.

Far away from today they will celebrate Easter, the most sacred Christian holiday. Hosannas to the glad Jesus, who through the death and resurrection symbolized by the Easter season, became the greatest single influence upon the world.

The Easter season is observed in the southern states of the United States of America.

Here, where we boast of such virtues as honesty and humility, brotherhood and forgiveness, there stands the abominable hypocrisy, those that acknowledge the Trinity or those that say Jesus was a mortal man in the same sense all men are, only better, will be fought bigger, harder as hard as He could.

SOMEHOW I DO not think it consistent with the teachings of Jesus that men who practice segregation, who prattle of white supremacy, who insist upon separate churches for Negro and white should honor Him as Savior—at any other time.

They violate not only the incidental teachings of Jesus but abuse His mission—which was to teach men how they could be just with each other, with themselves, and with God.

It is inconsistent with Christianity to speak of one God—and believe in the concept of "Separate but equal."

Jesus lived in the Middle East, an area where more races and ethnic groups have come in contact with each other than any place else in history except in the United States. Jesus

In The Wings

Coffee Hour Tries 'Play In Poetry'

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

THE ENGLISH COFFEE Hour, which usually presents lectures and readings to its aficionados, broke from its routine and presented an experimental play by Bernie Benstock. The play, entitled "Ballad of Mike and the Hill" as it appeared on the program, and for the edification of the audience it was subtitled "an experimental play in poetry."

It consisted of four scenes or "collages," each one bearing the title of a well-known contemporary play, but, paradoxically, the names of the characters and the situations were taken from older plays in the style of the situations bore marked resemblance to the modern plays cited. The difference is, however, there is nothing new under the sun, and that basic situations and plot material recur throughout history.

Though I must admit that the juxtapositions were striking, they were also ludicrous, and I can't help but suspect that our collective sides were being pulled. Picture Chronse, who in real life is known as the son of Kardy and Mo and hence the first Man cast as a wall-street broker.

THE DIALOGUE consisted of metaphor upon metaphor, mixed and unmixed, with a dash of simile and a sprinkle dose of alliteration thrown in for good measure. If one were forced to pin a label on the play I suppose Experimental Expressionism would come closest to it. The dialogue and situations were symbolic and allegoric, but such distracting expressions as "mesmerized mice" and "tense torso" cannot help but add humor to the situation.

Bernie Benstock, author of the experimental play, the work is designed to "Illustrate with a background of Mike and the Hill the ways with changing forms of government." Neither of these themes, I thought, came across with any particular clarity. Part of some actors was the universality and timelessness of basic symbols and ideas were obvious.

THE SPEAKING ROLES were handled by Eb Thomas (who also directed), Bill King, Lee Benstock, Bernie Benstock and Bill Spare. Each of them played multiple roles, appearing as as many as four times in four scenes. It is probably no accident that the same person played successively a victorious chieftain, vanquished broker, and finally a ghost. Hamlet's or the other actor played first a murdered president, then a successful usurper, and finally a tyrant. Again I must emphasize the universality of the movement of life," through it was not immediately obvious.

One happy thought was the addition of John Paul De Vita as a Greek Chorus of one. From one of the author's most successful devices The continuity between the disparate scenes was supplied by Ryan Edwards' effective bridging music.

All things considered, I enjoyed the play, but probably not for the reasons the author intended.

Wandering With Wiljohn

Reviews Movies Of The Week

"Marty's" biggest selling point was the complete naturalness and authenticity of every character. Ernest Borgnine, who played the part gave the outstanding acting of almost every person to wander across the stage. Perhaps it was the subject and content which varied the interest of after the censors had tried to stop the production of "The Man."

Sinatra grows to be the actor's actor with every film he makes. It is a source of wonder how this little entertainer found the know-how to emerge, in the span of four years, as one of the Golden Cities' most talented and respected actors.

PEOPLE AROUND the casting lots at Hollywood seem to be becoming more and more aware of the acting ability of Kim Novak with every picture, too. At first, they traded on the fact that she is an extremely beautiful young woman. Then one day, on a chance, they took her aboard and cast her in a role where she had to act. Since then, she has been on her way.

As for "The Bus Knife," anyone who has seen it knows why I rate it among the best. There wasn't a single mistake made in that actual from any standpoint. Casting, acting, screenplay and scenario, interpretation, setups, everything was perfect. That is a rare thing to come by in the present day cinematic efforts. If you haven't seen the picture, it is well worth the ride to Quincy, where I hear it will be playing next week. This story should have turned a lot of Hollywood heads white.

The Press Table

By ALAN WHITMARSH
TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONS*

Florida State's first annual invitational baseball tourney swings underway Thursday with some of the biggest names in sports on hand, many performing for the first time in southern athletic circles.

With such names as Notre Dame, West Virginia, Brown, Illinois, Wisconsin, and North Carolina entered, it comes as a surprise to many that Tribe coach Danny Litwhiler picks his own Seminoles to come out on top.

"We think we can win," says Litwhiler. "If our pitchers keep going the way they have been and a few of the boys begin to hit like we know they can."

Litwhiler names Illinois and Wisconsin, two of the southern threats in the Big Ten Conference race this year, as prime threats to a Tribe victory.

"Wisconsin won their last six or seven games at the end of last season, and they've got most of their big guns returning again this year."

Returning to his own Seminoles, Litwhiler pointed out that while some of the boys aren't hitting up to par, that many of them have just come from spring football and have been out only a little more than a week and a half.

Going down the line on the team:

Behind the plate, both Bob Vaughn and Gary Ashley are holding their own, but neither "are hitting what they can" in Litwhiler's estimation.

Vaughn hit .366 last year, but hasn't got started this season while Ashley, who hit only .260 last season has had a slight hitting edge thus far.

The pitching staff is definitely the "bright spot" according to the Seminole mentor, as a 6-0 mark aptly testifies.

Litwhiler attributes a lot of the credit to trainer Don Fauls who he says has put the hurlers "into good shape and is doing a great job."

Mainstay of the staff appears to be steady Max Long, though Tommy Garcia has just come from basketball and thus far hasn't seen a game role. Garcia posted a 5-1 mark last year and is a sure bet to be a starter this season.

Two of the wins belong to southpaw Tony Avitable who set a school mark with 24 strikeouts in the opening game but looked less impressive in a second 8-5 triumph for Florida State.

Senior Jim Atwood has the other two Seminole wins, and veterans George Hehemann, John Ash and newcomers John Bristol and Jerry Boxer will add to a strong staff.

At first base again the problem appears to be hitting as neither Ham Bisbee or Harvey Sweeney have been connecting, but both are good fielders, Litwhiler points out.

At second base, Owen McCarron is doing a "wonderful job" according to the Seminole coach, and "hitting better than we thought he would."

Though only a Sophomore, Pflip Hunt is a veteran at shortstop. "He's not hitting too good right now, but we know he's going to," Litwhiler says and we're counting on him.

It was pointed out that Hunt makes quite a few errors, but Litwhiler replied that "Pfil goes after a lot of balls other shortstops don't because of his strong arm, and he gets a lot of outs on those balls. That kind of a shortstop is naturally going to make a few errors."

At third, Carlee Hendrix is a mainstay and "Really going great," Litwhiler enthusiastically comments. Hendrick is a junior from Panama City.

"The outfielders are doing work," he adds, "because they've been hitting and fielding better than average."

Litwhiler was particularly talkative about Sophomore Bob Rosnell from Chicago. "As long as I've got him on the bench I'm never worried, because I know I can replace any injured man in the outfield with a strong man.

The major leaguer also praised Lee Corso, who he pointed out is just free from spring football and "doing a wonderful job for such a short time."

There's plenty of other outfield strength in Gale Tingle, Riley Sievers, Fred Twomey and Dick Houser, all Seminoles except Houser who has been a consistent starter of late.

At least three times this year the Seminoles have come from behind to keep their streak intact, and that may be one of the prime reasons why they'll be a big threat in the coming tournament.

Notre Dame, Brown, Illinois, Wisconsin, North Carolina and West Virginia—a formidable lineup of big names.

GET FREE 5x7 ENLARGEMENT
WITH ORDER FOR
CROWN JUMBO PRINTS

Send this ad and your roll to be developed at your nearest below, and your favorite negative will receive your Crown Jumbo prints in a beautiful Album, PLUS one 5x7 Enlargement made from your favorite negative—absolutely free of charge. This offer good for limited time only.

8 Exp. Roll ..... 40c 16 Exp. Roll 80c
12 Exp. Roll ..... 60c Extra Prints ..... 3c ea

Write for Free Mailers

CROWN PHOTO SERVICE
Box 207 ● AUGUSTA, GEORGIA

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA
ENDS TUESDAY
"Slightly Scarlet"
John Payne
Arlene Dahl
Rhonda Fleming

WEDNESDAY-SATURDAY
"The Court Jester"
Danny Kaye
Glynis Johns
Angela Lansbury
Basil Rathbone

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
TUESDAY-SATURDAY
"The McConnell Story"
Alan Ladd
June Allyson

TUESDAY-SATURDAY
"A Man Alone"
Ray Milland
—also—
"The Human Jungle"
Gary Merrill
Jane Sterling

STATE
ENDS TUESDAY
"Our Miss Brooks"
Eve Arden
Robert Rockwell

WEDNESDAY-SATURDAY
"The Man Who Never Was"
Clifton Webb
Gloria Grahame

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN ON WOODVILLE HWY.
TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY
"Francis In The Navy"
Donald O'Connor
Martha Hyer

THURSDAY-SATURDAY
"Dig That Uranium"
Sawnny Sayo
—also—
"Seminole Uprising"
George Montgomery
Karin Booth

Baseballers Outslug Indiana, 11-6

Seminoles Hit Southern Twice

Florida State's baseballers took advantage of Indiana's generosity to win their seventh straight baseball game from on the Hoosiers, 11-6, here yesterday.

Mainly on the strength of 14 walks by Indiana pitchers and a two-run homer by Ham Bisbee the Seminoles broke the contest wide open early.

A 5-run fifth came oo three baseloaded walks by Hoosier Albin Hayes and a two-run double by Tribe catcher Gary Ashley.

Indiana came back with three runs in the seventh after the Tribe had assumed a 10-3 margin, but by this time the contest was out of their hands.

First baseman Carl Kirkpatrick hit a two-run homer in the Hoosier run rally, and also had two other hits to pace the losers.

Max Long went eight innings to gain his third straight win for FSU.

Top Southern

In Friday and Saturday games the Seminoles caught a two game series from under Florida Southern, 8-4 and 8-5.

Saturday saw the Tribe relying on the bottom of the eighth inning for their runs and the 8-5 win over the Moccasins from Florida Southern.

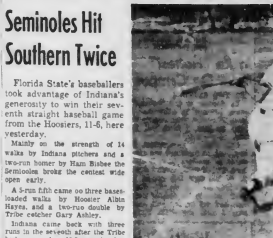
The Seminoles trailed 5-4 going into the bottom of the eighth. A single, two walks, a one base error and two cracked batters provided the winning runs for the Seminoles.

The only time the losers saw daylight in the two game series came in the top of the eighth when they moved into the lead 5-4.

Norm Cliften singled with two men an via an error and a walk in the top of the eighth to provide the one run margin that set the stage for the Seminole rally.

Tony Avitable who struck out 24 men in his opening game against Furman was the winner of his second game Saturday as he went eight innings and gave up only six hits.

In the game against Florida Southern, Avitable was in trouble almost every inning, but when the chips were down the 21 years old southpaw came through. He left nine men stranded on the baepaths.



Don Brennan, Southern second baseman, was the big gun bat-wise in Saturday's game. He collected three hits in five trips to the plate.

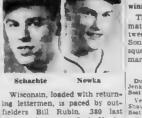
In Fridays game Lee Corso's bases loaded triple in the bottom of the first inning proved to be the clincher as the Seminoles were never in danger after that.

Owen a Junior from Miami, Florida had a field day in blasting out three hits, two of them triples and one a double.

Dick Houser end Carlee Hendrix left fielder and third baseman respectively contributed a duo of singles each in the 9-2 win for the Seminoles.

In Fridays game Jim Atwood went the distance for the Seminoles as he picked up his second victory of the season.

THERE IT GOES. Florida State's Bob "Whitey" Rossell gets a hold of one served up by a Florida Southern hurler and lines it for a sharp hit, as FSU won as it pleased 9-2.



Irish, Mountaineers Vie In Tourney's Opener

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame and West Virginia's Southern Conference champs open the first annual Florida State Baseball Tournament Thursday afternoon at 3 p. m.

The Mountaineers, wearers of the Southern Conference crown last year with a 20-6 record, are led by pitcher Jim Heise, who compiled a 10-4 mark last season. In addition, Heiss led the nation in strikeouts with 111, and an ERA of 2.10

The top slugger for West Virginia is outfielder Jack Rabbits who hit .382 without home runs.

Notre Dame, after a losing season last year, is expected to enter the tourney with more experience. Don Bielgowski, Fighting Irish's third baseman led the team in hitting with .371.

Schachte Newks

Wisconsin, loaded with returning lettermen, is paced by outfielders Bill Rubin, .380 last year, and captain Jack Novka with a .308 batting average, and backed by Ron Nowka made the all-Big 10 second team.

The mound corps has southpaw John Wall with a 3-2 record, and Norb Schachte a right-hander who posted three victories as against one loss.

Illinois

The Illini, fourth in the Big 10 puts its faith on pitchers Dick Vorreyer, and Jerry McKinney. Vorreyer, a lefthander, posted a 4-2 record with 44 strikeouts.

Em Lindbeck lefthand hitting outfielder, leads the Illinois offensive. He batted .270 last season. Number one catcher for Illinois is Phil Judson.

Brown, runners-up in the Ivy League has a pair of top infielders in shortstop Vic O'Bryan and first baseman Paul Tempesta and pitcher Scott Garrett.

North Carolina third in the Atlantic Coast Conference, has second baseman Chuck Hartman back again. Heading a strong pitching staff are righthanders Jim Raugh and Billy Johnson who combined to pick up seven wins.

Golf Squad Rolls Over Crimson Tide

Florida State's golf team increased its win streak to five games as it breezed by Alabama 24½ to 2½, last Tuesday.

Before this win FSU had beaten Stetson, Auburn, Florida Southern and Georgia besides winning the State Tourney.

The highlight of Thursday's match was the tight duel between FSU's Jack Veghte and Sonny Holt of Alabama. Veghte squeezed by Holt with the slim margin of one stroke.

SUMMARY

Dunn, FSU, def Manderson, 3-0; Jenkins (FSU) def Madrone, 2½-½; Best ball, FSU 3-0.

Veghte (FSU) def Holt, 2½-½; Stace (FSU) def Woodlin, 2½-½; Best ball, FSU 2-1.

Stallings (FSU) def Goodwin, 3-0; Hull (FSU) def Hydinger, 3-0; Best ball, FSU 3-0

Intramural News

Fraternity volleyball reached the mid-season stage last week, with only the matches tonight on the docket before the Easter break.

LCA won their first match of the year by beating a scrappy KS team 15-10, 11-15, 15-6.

DTD kept in the running for the playoffs by beating SC 15-12, 15-6. PDT remained unbeaten by winning 15-2, 15-13 from PKT. PDT also beat SC, and TC best SPE.

The Dorm-Independent volleyball league wound up last week and the round-robin playoffs between the two top teams of each league began last night.

Senior Hall won their way into the playoffs, along with the Penthouse, by beating Magnolia Hall 15-14, 15-9. Magnolia rallied in the first game from 10 points behind to come close to winning. The final standings:

Dorm Final Standing

Team	Matches	Games
Penthouse	2 1	5 3
Senior Hall	2 1	4 3
Tomoka House	1 2	4 4
Magnolia Hall	1 2	2 5

Independent Leagues

Team	Matches	Games
Baptists	3 0	6 3
Methodists	2 1	5 3
Frds	1 2	3 4
Air Force	0 3	2 6

No matches are scheduled until after Easter vacation.

Tracksters Open Slate Tomorrow

The Florida State Seminole track team raises the curtain on its 1956 season as they tackle Mississippi Southern tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 at the new track field by Florida High.

The Seminoles are in search of their second straight conquest of the Southern squad in the recently renewed series in Hattiesburg last spring, the Seminoles topped the hometown cindermen by a 68-58 margin.

Eight new meet records were set in this contest, five of these were by Mississippi Southern. It was in the meet, also, that Florida State sprinter Jack Terwilliger ran his fastest 220 yd. sprint, 21.3.

Head track coach Mike Long, cautious Seminole track fans not to expect any real stars to emerge from the meet. Coach Long feels, however, that his team's morale is very high in readiness for the forthcoming meet.

In lieu of a prediction, Coach Long stated, "One of the important focal points will be how our long distance runs through. If we get our times down, we'll be tough."

The Seminole track mentor tentatively announced the lineup for the Seminoles against the Southern squad. Entrants are as follows:

MILE: Mike Conley, Bruce Jacob, Gobby Elliott.
2 MILE: Jerry Ruff, Ken Segner, Mike Hilgar.
100: Jack Terwilliger, Wes Mosbell, Bobby Brown.
HIGH HURDLES: Wes Minton, Bill Cooper, Jack Terwilliger.
220: Charles Wilson, Pete Fraschetti, Danny Thomas.
880: Jack Terwilliger, D. Ruff, Marshall Conley.
2 MILE: Ken Segner, 0 Jacob, B. Wilson.
LOW HURDLES: Minton, Latchworth, Tommy Clark.
MILE RELAY: Terwilliger, Conley, Wilson, Ruff.
POLE VAULT: Warren Bickleland, Ken Hearn, Ken Allen.
HIGH JUMP: Tanney Brown, Lloyd Lenard, Dick Martin.
BROAD JUMP: Bryson, T. Brown, Thomas.
SHOT PUT: Jacobs, Mike Smith, Rodney Letsworth.
DISCUS: Sonny Thus, Ray Stash, R. Letsworth.
JAVELIN: Ken Weaver, Jimmy Harrel, Mike Guerra

Gymnasts Grab 3rd In NCAA

By TOM HALE
Flambeau Sports Writer

Florida State became the proud possessors of two national champions as a result of the N.C.A.A. meet held last weekend.

Jamile Ashmore became the national champion in free exercise Friday night and Ronnie Amster turned the same feat on the high bar Saturday night. They represents the first FSU gymnasts to win an N.C.A.A. title since 1952.

The Seminoles, who were given only an outside chance to place in the top ten in the N.C.A.A. meet, surprised everyone by coming in third with 64½ points only two points behind second place Penn. St. Illinois took the championship.

High point man for the Seminoles, was co-captain Ronnie Amster with 25 points. Amster took first in the high bar, 4th in the parallel bars and all-around, and 5th on the side horse. The Tumbling Texan, Jamile Ashmore, was second high man with 18 points. Along with his first in free exercise he was 4th in tumbling.

Rafael Lecuona was leading in all-around until he fell off the parallel bars, losing a chance for another FSU first place, but he did well enough in other events to place 9th in his all-around.

Dr. Hartley Price, coach of the Florida State gymnasts commented "I'm very proud of my boys they did wonderful. The meet was tremendous and very well run."

Others

Other Seminoles who placed in top ten were Don Preisner, 8th in the trampoline; Rafael Lecoona, 10th in free exercise and 9th as the side horse; Joe Taylor, 7th in the flying rings and 6th on the parallel bars; Joe Gosie, 9th as the parallel bars; and Jim Hanks, 8th in the rope climb.

The N.C.A.A. meet will be held next year at the University of Pittsburgh.

Netters, Miami Tangle Today

Florida State's tennis team faces its toughest competition starting today when the University of Miami takes the court against the Tribe Miami's win streak is now at 53 straight.

Tomorrow the netmen face the U of Florida and Indiana the following day.

The Tribe's record now stands at 3-1, with victories coming at the expense of Georgia Tech and Southern Illinois.

EASTER CARDS
YOU'LL FIND THEM AT BILL'S
BOOK STORE

We Buy Used Books

Spring!
'THE FANCY TURNS TO
GOOD FOOD
at
The Mecca

All the pleasure comes thru...
THE TASTE IS GREAT!

THE BEST IN FILTERED SMOKING
FILTER TIP TAREYTON
PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Here you have the best in filtered smoking—Filter Tip Tareyton, the filter cigarette that smokes milder, smokes smoother, draws easier . . . the only one that gives you Activated Charcoal Filtration. All the pleasure comes thru . . . the taste is great!

Sororities Planning Easter Parties

To celebrate the coming Easter holidays, sororities have planned several parties for children.

Alpha Gamma Delta will be hiding Easter eggs for 30 kiddies today. After games and the hunt, an outdoor supper will be served.

The Kappa Deltas entertained kids, and Julie Conkling were their alumnae's children Sunday afternoon at their house. The main event was the Easter egg hunt, with other games and refreshments given for the young guests.

The Alpha Gams are proud of Jackie Bird. Women's badminton champion, Marie Lower, Alpha Lambs, Delta tapee, and Evelyn Moll, Mortar Board Scholarship Cup recipient.

Zeta Tau Alpha's Dean O'Sullivan, Ruby Combs, Sherry Nicholson and Arthur Anderson & Co. is looking for accountants today.

Thursday, J. C. Penney Co and Davidson Paxon Department store will interview students of any major for jobs.

Appointments may be made for interviews through the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 203 Westcott.

Tuesday, A. C. Nielsen Co. will interview students of any major for jobs.

Appointments may be made for interviews through the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 203 Westcott.

playing basketball. After winning the sorority league, the Alpha Xis defeated the dorm league winner, Florida Hall.

Last night the Phi Delta Theta fraternity initiated nineteen men into active membership. The initiation culminated a pledge period of six months. Those initiated were: Jack Montgomery, Scott Harper, Frank Bryan, Leonard Skinner, Hugh Durham, Ann Wall by Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-med honorary. ZTAs Chris Ginocchio and Ruth Shuman will be JC's next year. Sue Herndon appears on TV with the FSU Circus.

Two new trophies have been added to the Chi Omega collection from the Sigma Chi Derby. They were won by Beverly Clement, Derby Queen, and Martha Grizzard, winner of the Secret Event Race.

Chi Os in the news—Wynn Wester, new prexy of Junior Panhellenic, Elaine Brenton — vice-president of Village Vamps—Diane Kapsh, new secretary of Theater Dance—Patty Molhenrich and Beverly Laurent, TV models on Tuesday night.

Alpha Xi Deltas are proudly displaying the trophy they won

FSU Job Opportunities

Arthur Andersen & Co. is looking for accountants today.

Thursday, J. C. Penney Co and Davidson Paxon Department store will interview students of any major for jobs.

Appointments may be made for interviews through the Office of Vocational Guidance and Placement, 203 Westcott.

Classified

LOST—White-rimmed glasses in brown leather case Sunday morning. Please return to Lonmire desk.

LOST—A green wallet—if found please contact PO Box 750.

Stetson Offers Grad Scholarships

Stetson University Law School is offering scholarships to outstanding graduates.

They pay $90 a year for three years, revealed Harold Sebring, dean of the school.

The scholarships are open to students on the basis of academic promise, capacity for meritorious leadership in the field of law, and financial need.

Students awarded scholarships must agree to remain in the private practice of law, or a directly related field, for a period of five years after graduation or to pay back the money.

Letters To The Editor

(Continued from Page 2)
your staff that can make one.
YOURS, TRULY
JIM DAWSON

In Re "Hottest" Issue On Campus

TO THE EDITOR:

In regards to the "hottest" issue women in athletics I have witnessed since coming to FSU in 1953, I have this to say.

The student government is supposed to represent the students in matters of this nature, and if they haven't done so by the time this article is printed, then I suggest they take notice of the situation and get on the ball. And may I add, the State Party has recently adopted into their platform the advancement of women athletic relationships.

I have recently participated in a round table discussion on this matter with the reliable sources involved, and as I see it there are two problems that exist:

First, is that of financial aid, which is really a minor one. You see, recruiting is forbidden the university backs them financially, they still plan to attend this national meet at their own expense, which I think expresses their desire and determination. However, I feel that if they represent the school, then they should be financially backed by the university. Do you think it is being unreasonable to make possibilities would finance himself to a national meet and represent his school? Not on your life would he do that.

I feel that if the administration allows this Women Intramurals Team to represent Florida State University in this meet, without provisions for financial aid, there are enough organizations behind this project of that they would take it upon themselves to organize projects in a large enough proportion of the money required. However, like I said, this is a minor problem to them.

The major problem is that of representation. Naturally they are in favor of their university and want to do their part to further its name as well as everyone else. To these girls this is their only way of displaying their part; for they have spent their leisure time working on the tennis courts and the gym rather than singing or debating or participating in sewing circles. Now they want the opportunity to exhibit what they have learned through many years of hard and difficult work. All university campuses have their beauties and singers, debators and dancers, but the opportunity to use and be fortunate enough to have women who excell in athletic ability.

SINCERELY,
JIM JULIAN

WFSU F M SCHEDULE

TUESDAY		WEDNESDAY
A.M.		A.M.
7:00 FM in AM	8:00 News	7:00 FM in AM	8:00 News
7:30 Hi-Fi Salute	8:15 Melody-Time	7:30 Hi-Fi Salute	8:30 Don't Gould
8:00 Symphonette	8:30 Mario Lanza	8:00 Variations	8:45 Piano
P.M.	9:00 Symphonette	P.M.	9:00 Serenade
2:00 Masterworks	10:30 Masterworks	2:00 Masterworks	10:30 Masterworks
2:30 Chap a Day	11:15 Fr. Press	2:30 Chap a Day	11:15 Drama
2:45 Hi-Fi Conc	11:30 Music U	2:45 Hi-Fi Conc	11:30 Music U Wnt
3:30 La Traviata	12:30 Night Radio	3:30 Angel Corp	12:30 Serenade
3:30 Masterworks	4:00 Adventure	3:30 Masterworks	4:00 Adventure
3:30 Nicholby	4:00 Drama	3:30 Nicholby	4:45 Drama
Nicholby	Nicholby	Nicholby	Nicholby
4:00 Nicholby	4:30 Showcase	4:00 Angel Corp	4:00 Showcase
4:30 Angel Corp	5:45 Herald of the	4:30 Angel Corp	5:45 Herald of the
4:30 Angel Corp	Disciples	4:30 Revert #9	6:45 Disciples
4:30 Mozart 13th		There will be no broadcasting during the Easter holidays.

Records Phonographs

FREE LP RECORD WITH EACH PHONOGRAPH

Baker's Music Center
106 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

Fairbanks Elected President Of FAS

Dr. Charles R. Fairbanks, Assistant Professor of Anthropology and Archaeology, has been elected president of the Florida Anthropological Society.

The election took place at the annual meeting of the Society last weekend at Rainbow Springs.

Three students and two faculty members from FSU presented scholastic papers before the society. Dr. Fairbanks discussed "Florida Prehistory." Dr. Hale G. Smith, Head of the Department of Anthropology and Archaeology, spoke on "Probable Spanish Armor Found at Grayton Beach, Florida."

Student papers were: "Report on the Ranger Station Site, Jefferson County, Florida" by Cyril Irwin, "Some Fundamental Concepts of Amerindian Archaeology" by Jerome Jennings, Jr. Defense Department Research Contract in Anthropology at Florida State University," Theron Nunez

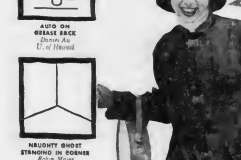
BONNIE LEE SHIRT $5.00

LADDIE SHORTS $5.00

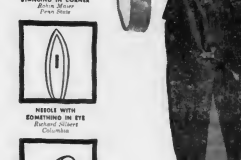
From $3.99

IVY INSPIRED
Tartans BY puritan

The Ivy spirit of neatness is this season's best fashion, Puritan dresses you to perfection in the button-down tartan shirt with center back pleat. The cotton poplin shorts have matching tartan gingham trimmed waistband and pocket flap. Adjustable back strap. Shirt sizes small, medium, large, X-large. Shorts 30-44 in an array of co-ordinated colors!



Summer Vacation?
Learn to speak SPANISH, fulfill language requirement, increase your EARNING power, in AIR-CONDITIONED comfort, 11 weeks course $425.00. Folder free: Latin American Institute Stanton A. Hattersburg, Miss.



CAPITAL TRUCK CENTER
Located on the New Quincy Highway
COME TO SEE US SOON!
Real treats of moderate price. Many FSU students are discovering the delicious food, and the friendly service — why don't you, too?

Nic's Joggery
CAPITAL TRUCK CENTER

AUTO ON GREASE RACE
Denise Ann
U. of Hawaii

IT'S RAINING LUCKY DROODLES!
WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below.

NAUGHTY GHOST STANDING IN CORNER
Anita Mazzei
Penn State

NESSIE WITH SOMETHING ON ITS MIND
Richard Nisbett
Columbia

COMET WITH PISTAIL
Amina Rachapon
Washington U.

CARELESS WINDOW WASHER
Walter A. Cohen's
California State Teachers

SOMEBODY'S OFF HER ROCKER in the Droodle above—and for a darned good reason. The Droodle'e titled: Whittier's Mother out shopping for Luckies. From where she sits, Luckies always taste better. That's because they're made of fine tobacco—mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. Rise to the occasion yourself—light up a Lucky. You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

DROODLES, Copyright 1953 by Roger Price

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

LUCKY STRIKE
"IT'S TOASTED"
CIGARETTES

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES!
Luckies lead all other brands, regular or king size, among 36,075 college students questioned coast to coast. The number-one reason: Luckies taste better.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER—Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!
©A.T.Co. PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

FREE...Advance copies of Reader's Digest articles!

Reader's Digest

HERE'S HOW TO GET THEM: To acquaint you with the interesting articles in The Reader's Digest, we make this special offer:

From the descriptions below of some of the articles to appear in the May issue of The Reader's Digest, pick the three articles you would most like to read. Circle with pencil the numbers of these three articles on the coupon below. Then mail coupon to us with your name and address. We'll send you free copies of the three articles you choose.

This offer is good for only a few days, so send us the coupon TODAY.

1 I saw an historic blood transfusion. It was like a scene from the Iliad when we placed alongside his brother and a blood vessel of each joined. Gripping eyewitness account of Dr. Gerrish Milton's audacious operation—an operation that electrified the medical world and ushered in this lifesaving technique.

2 What women don't know about being female. "The belief that any woman can easily halt love-making at some point before the whole process is completed," says Dr. Marion Hilliard. Here's why she doubts that there can be a platonic relationship between a man and woman who are alone together a good deal.

3 Do we want the second-best Air Force? One-third of our planes are grounded for lack of skilled men to keep them flying. In a report on the shocking condition of our Air Force, Frederick and Katharine Drake tell what we should do to stem the mass exodus of airmen on whom we depend for America's safety.

4 A mistake doesn't have to be final. After Truls Halvorsen agreed to smuggle opium into the U.S., the young sailor began to think of the many lives he might be ruining. Actual story of how young Truls revealed what he had done, then worked with the FBI to trap a leader of a huge dope ring.

5 Man's best friend. As we sat watching Movietone on TV, our dog, Spot, curled up on the floor. Then Lady Macbeth launched into her sleepwalking soliloquy—"Out, out, damned spot!" whereupon our Dalmatian obediently rose and slunk out of the room. A collection of true dog stories.

6 They go shopping for courtesy. The assistants didn't know it, but the customer she had snubbed was an undercover "shopper." Here's how the Merit Protective Service makes checks on the sales ability and courtesy of workers in stores, hotels, restaurants, and how it helps employees do a better job.

7 Russia's latest wagon—economic aggression. Last year the Reds bought half of Egypt's cotton crop. Now they are selling steel to India, offering Afghanistan a hundred-million-dollar aid program. Report on how Russia is seeking to win through an industrial war what it has failed to win by the cold war.

8 The kind at preaching that matters. "I struggled over my first sermon, wanting it to be a gem of eloquence. Then my father offered me some counsel I've never forgotten." Dr. Norman Vincent Peale tells how "experience has taught me just tell the people that Jesus Christ can change their lives."

9 Case of the Chinese kidnaping. Incredible: a Chinese student kidnaped in London, whisked to his embassy, told he'd be sent home for brainwashing. So incredible, Scotland Yard wouldn't believe it. Then newspapers took up the case. True story of how Sun Yat-sen, China's first president, was saved.

10 A Southerner's warning to the North. "I was against compulsory segregation. I am just as strongly against compulsory integration—I do not believe it will work." Nobel prize winner John William Faulkner tells why he believes the worst path to integration is not through force, but in going slow.

11 Tried short-wave. Listening? "Bored with the evening programs, I turned to short-wave—and found myself in the midst of an actual rescue at sea. No million-dollar TV show ever held such uncontrived suspense." Karl Detzer describes true-to-life comedy, tragedy, adventure that short-wave brings.

12 Mrs. Whittier's son. Whittier's famous portrait of his mother was once rejected by England's Royal Academy as rude bunging. And when it was published, people laughed at its "inartistic" look. Story of the American artist whose early genius drew only derision, yet whose life ended in fame.

13 How to LIVE 365 days a year "500's of those seeking medical aid can blame badly handled emotions," says Dr. Jack Schindler. In a condensation from his best seller, he shows the damage done by flare-ups, worry, and the healing power of good emotions — gives rules for cultivating a happier disposition.

14 Let's save our Presidents for the big jobs. Why, for instance, must Ike play tours of the Marine Band, or the rules on ballroom dancing, or the best spot of a little country in Hawaii? Here's how archaic customs heavy the Presidency with petty chores . . . and how they could be passed to others.

15 Wonderland of ants. We pay little attention to them, but the tiny ants actually possess organizations strikingly like mankind's. There are soldier ants, slave ants, ants that are acrobats or farmers—yes, and even ants that are thieves. Story of a fascinating and mysterious world beneath our feet.

16 The strange custom of going steady. Today, kids as young as 12 go together — under a rigid code that governs their dating procedure. Cameron Shipp describes some of the elaborate customs and taboos of modern teen-age social life . . . details of the things our youngsters miss as a consequence.

17 Sudan—new nation in Africa. After decades of Britain and Egyptian rule, this huge country (4 times the size of Texas) has won independence. In excerpts from "Inside Africa," John Gunther describes the Sudan's romantic, turbulent past, and the confidence the young nation has in its future.

18 Dr. Ross opens the doors. As medical supt. of a British mental hospital, he has removed all locks, permitted patients to go out visiting; helped inmates cure themselves by getting them responsibilities toward sicker patients. Revolutionary techniques Dr. Ross uses to rehabilitate mental patients.

19 Best advice I ever had. "You gave rotten boxing matches, Bill, and you . . . and spoke 9 words I'll never forget." Explorer Roy Chapman Andrews tells how these words spurred him to monumental decisions such as the one that led him to the discovery of the famed dinosaur eggs in the Gobi Desert.

20 NATO chief Alfred Gruenther. He's a great soldier-statesman to begin with, and he knows more about some European countries than their own politicians. All this helps in his difficult, delicate job. Portrait of the general who must keep 15 nations ready for instant defense of the free world.

21 Now your nervous system works. Day and night millions of messages pour thru the nervous system, telling your heart when to beat, your limbs when to move, your lungs when to suck in air —telling you if a steak is tasty, more pleasing. Facts on the incredibly complex system we daily take for granted.

22 Monaco: gem of the Mediterranean. Tiny, less than 1 mile square, it has a language, a gaily dressed army (60 strong), an international jail, the world's most notorious gambling spot, Prince Rainier—oh, and Grace Kelly! Trip to fabulous Monaco, which has more visitors than any place on earth.

23 The art of understanding other people. No habit is so common or malicious as that of judging others. Before we condemn, we might better ask: "Would I not be as bad or worse if faced with his troubles?" Clarence Hall tells how searching out the best in others expands our own souls, sorrows our lives.

24 One year is live. When she learned that she had incurable cancer, one thought haunted Lucile Fray: what would become of her two children? True story of a courageous young mother who, facing up to her imminent death, spent the last few months of her life carefully giving her children a way.

25 It pays to increase your word power. Does "wean" mean to detach the affections, strengthen, deserve, or weaken? Adding new words to your vocabulary increases your self-confidence, your prestige—and even your earning power. Here's a word quiz that's fun to do, and will pay you dividends.

26 Protocol—It's strange. Should a lady remove her glove before shaking hands with a queen? If a Moslem diplomat has two wives, where do you seat them at a table? When a potentate's plane arrives, who greets it? Intriguing story of the Office of Protocol—important to our diplomatic life.

27 "I trade you tomatoes for presidents." Crippled, embittered by war, Jim Falkel set helpless to tend his garden. Next door was Mrs. Varga, a Hungarian proud to be in America. Story of Mrs. Varga's bargain by which she showed Jim even a one-armed man could farm ...while he taught her American history.

28 They carry our top secrets. On the screen, diplomatic messengers lead glamorous lives involving blonde spies. Actually, these men often work under unimaginable hardships, risking their necks to protect our confidential papers. Harrowing cloak-and-dagger experiences of our government couriers.

29 Book condensation: "The Little Professor of Piney Woods." He started with nothing, nothing but a Bible and an abandoned sheep shed. Even his own race distrusted him. But Laurence Jones saw their ignorance, poverty and want to work. Story of how the founder of Piney Woods School has devoted his life to backwoods Negro children.

30 Lower taxes—greater prosperity. Our present tax laws penalize a man for working hard and becoming successful. (A man who makes a million dollars pays 91% of it in taxes.) Graham Patterson shows how lowering tax rates would actually bring in more revenue by stimulating the whole economy.

CIRCLE NUMBERS OF 3 ARTICLES YOU WANT*
Cut out coupon and mail today!
*Note: only one set to a reader

Tear Dept. "F," Reader's Digest Association, Pleasantville, New York
Gentlemen: Please send me FREE the 3 articles I have circled below by number.

1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ (Hey!)

FIFTH OF UF STUDENTS READY TO ADMIT NEGROES

Twenty-two percent of University of Florida students who favored Board of Control segregation questionnaires are willing to admit Negroes immediately, Attorney General Richard Ervin revealed this week.

The figure was contained in a petition presented by Ervin to United States Supreme Court requesting a re-hearing of the Virgil Hawkins case in which the court said Hawkins, a Negro, should be admitted immediately to the UF Law School.

Other figures released by Ervin after being compiled by the Board of Control were as follows:

Reasonable Period; 41 Percent

UF students stating they thought Negroes should not be admitted until after a reasonable period of preparation for integration: 41.45 percent;

UF students wanting to delay admission as long as legally possible: 14.01 percent;

UF students not willing to admit Negroes to the school under any circumstances: 21.04 percent.

These percentages were tabulated from a total of 7343 questionnaires returned by UF students, according to Paul Skelton, who is managing the survey for the Board of Control.

He said that 9750 had been sent to students there, so the return, which he labelled "very good for a project of this type," was slightly over 75 percent.

75 Percent Comment

One of the more unexpected results of the segregation poll listed by Skelton lies in the number of additional comments which have been written.

He estimates that of those sent to students at the three state universities, professors and parents, along with other forms sent out, "over 75 percent" of the ones returned have additional comments.

He said the majority of the extra replies reflect stands of one extreme or the other. "About the only generalized statement you could make," he told the Flambeau, "is that the comments do tend to be either all for or all against."

Opinions of parents of university students regarding integration stacked up as one of the more vital factors presented in Ervin's petition. He said a little over 50 percent of parents favorable immediate integration, stating that "the indication that large numbers of parents would 'cause their sons or daughters to leave the university if integration takes place at this time' is of great significance in administrative planning for the university."

Would Transfer

"32.26 percent of the parents indicated that they would transfer their sons or daughters to another institution which does not admit Negroes if integration is required as the University of Florida at that time."

Skelton said that it will be up to Ervin whether he releases the full figures on the board's poll. These would include the reaction of Florida State University students to the prospect of integration.

Waiting For Parents

Right now the board is waiting to get back replies of parents of high school students he said. As of yesterday, which was the deadline, the board had sent out 25,000 and received 6,000 back, Skelton noted.

"We hope to have a complete report ready for Attorney General Ervin by May 1," he said.

FLORIDA'S ONLY Semi-Weekly College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

POLITICAL RALLY Set Monday

(See Story, Page One)

Vol. XLI, No. 42 #43

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

Friday, April 6, 1956

Weeping Over Victim—This is the photograph that won praise for FSU student Tom Castiglia in college contest.

Shows Funeral Grief

Student's Picture Wins In Contest

Entering contests sometimes pays off.

At the recommendation of his journalism professor here, Tom Castiglia recently submitted a funeral picture of a weeping over a rattlesnake victim. He made the award months earlier on a newspaper assignment.

The incident occurred in Alachua, Fla. when the snake call leader, George Went Hensley was killed.

Castiglia sent off the picture to the 11th annual International Collegiate Photograph Competition, and forgot about it until notified he had won third prize.

He received a Britannica World Language Dictionary in two volumes with word definitions in seven languages.

Sponsored by the Encyclopedia Britannica, National Press Photographers Association and Kappa Alpha Mu, national journalism photography honorary, the contest is open to all regular students in colleges or universities.

Fifty photographs judged best in the contest will be displayed in April at the national convention of Kappa Alpha Mu held at the University of Oklahoma. Afterwards the 50 will make a national exhibition tour. FSU is asking to be included on the tour.

Sandspur Talent Show Cancelled

Sandspur has cancelled plans for its annual Talent Night report Chairman Jack Rogero, due to too many conflicting social functions and activities already scheduled on that date, he explained.

The purpose of the group to sponsor an all original musical show, not a talent show, as continued, "and we hope to be done in the future."

Plans for the Talent Night were cancelled at a meeting held by the Sandspur committee when the group voted to end operations.

Plans have been sent to the organizations that had their dates before this decision and Rogero. He added he hoped the group will understand.

It will be started for next year's production so that a repeat of this year's problems can be avoided. "We hope that a number of scripts will be submitted in next year and that more interest will be shown in student's part", Rogero said.

Examination will continue next for the remainder of the year to make plans for next year Rogero said he hopes any interested students will attend the meetings.

Three Students Win Science Fellowships

Three students have been awarded National Science Foundation predoctoral fellowships for the 1956-57 academic year, it was announced by Merrell Jr., will be in the field of zoology and John D. Reese will be a fellow in the field of botany. Both were enrolled in the graduate school here.

Miss Ann Irwin, a senior, will follow next year at the University of Michigan. Her field is sociology.

They has also been notified by the Foundation that J. Steward Cole, now attending the College of Wooster in Ohio, has received a National Science Foundation predoctoral fellowship to continue his work in chemistry next year at Florida State.

Honor Week Is Scheduled During April

Honor Court and Honor Committee are sponsoring an "Honor Emphasis Week" April 16-21, announced Barbara Graham, chief justice.

The main purpose is to promote the honor system in the hope people will understand it more fully and become interested enough to back it, explained Miss Graham.

Joint meetings will be held at sorority and fraternity houses, Monday night of that week beginning at 7 p.m. Various campus leaders will speak on the system.

Dormitory meetings will be held together with the house meetings at 10 p.m. Thursday night of the same week.

Students will also speak to the faculty at various times throughout the week at department meetings.

Literature in the form of hand bills, posters, and a pamphlet written by Con Horn, an FSU student, will be distributed throughout the week.

Monday In Parlor

Dance, Singing Night Slated At Reservation

An evening of square dancing, folk dancing and group singing, sponsored by Music Educators National Convention, has been arranged for tomorrow night, open to the public.

Free of charge the affair will take place at the University Camp on top of the boat house from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Professor William Tait, of the Recreation Department will direct the program.

Buses and cars leaving the front of the Music Building at 8 p.m. and returning at 11:30 will provide free transportation.

Although everyone is invited, a special invitation is extended to members of the Music School or music organizations, said Judy Nafnulin, president of MENC.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bright will serve as chaperons at the party. For further details, students are asked to contact Pat Gregory, Ann Duncko, Judy Nafnulin, or Louise McClure.

ORNITHOLOGY SEMINAR SET

An ornithology seminar will be held in the second floor auditorium of the General Classroom Building, Monday at 7:45 p.m.

The program will include bird films by Karl Zerbe.

Elections Slated Tuesday As Clamp Put On Posters

Battle Of Bachman, Moore Shapes Up For Presidency

Students will vote Tuesday on top Student Government officers for next year.

Most prominent is the battle between Dave Bachman, Student Party, and Jim E "Jem" Moore, State Party, for the presidency.

Other candidates are Bill Collins and Bill Swann, vice-president; Carolyn Close and Janice Kaminski, women's vice - president; Bill Manning, unopposed for chief justice of Honor Court; Polly Swain, unopposed for Honor Court clerk, June McManus, unopposed for University Court chairman;

Others

Also Patty Pasciak and Bob Porter, for Traffic Court chairman; Sylvia Kearson and Faye Anthony for Senate secretary; Pat Rooney and Mollie Carroll for University Recreation Association president; Laird Anderson, Pat Brady, Priscilla Moss, Russ Parrish, Don Heidel, and Alan Whitmarsh for three seats on the Board of Publications.

Betty Willmon, secretary of elections, said polls will open at 9 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

They will be located, she said, at the Student Center, in Westcott Building, at the Seminole Club, at the bus stop in front of Bryan Hall, and on the Diamond. Only Blue Green ballot box will close at 3 p.m., she noted.

Special Forms

Ballots will be special forms consisting of IBM machines. Voters must bring their ID cards.

Miss Willmon said results of the election will be announced 9 p.m. in 323 Education Building.

The only offices that could be involved in run-offs are the Board of Publications seats.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

ODK Slates Political Rally Monday Night

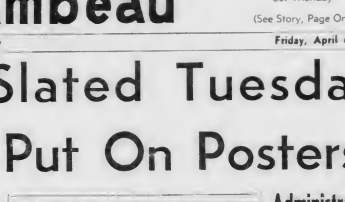
An election-eve political rally has been scheduled Monday night in the Music Building Amphitheatre starting at 7:15.

Omicron Delta Kappa, men's scholastic and leadership honorary, is sponsoring the annual event. It is designed to wind up pre-elections day politicking in the Student Body elections, giving aspiring candidates a chance to appeal to the student body and students an opportunity to see the campaigners first-hand.

Meeting Ground

The rally has traditionally been the major meeting ground of candidates and voters on an organized basis, and this year's event holds promise of turning into a hot affair if things go as foreseen by political observers.

Speakers, however, will be limited to two minutes for their campaign discussions with the exception of vice-presidential candidates, who will receive three, and the president's address, which will take five minutes each.



Rally chairman Tom Woods said that ODK feels it is important to the future interest of student government that "the Student Body know and hear the candidates for whom they vote."

Woods said that in case of bad weather the rally will be held in Opperman Music Hall.

Should Register

He said that candidates within to speak should register with the secretary of the Student Body President in Lonnmire Building by 5 p.m. today.

Speaking preference at the event will follow candidates in lower offices first, and presidential candidates last.

Flambeau photo, Tom Bryan

Brushing Up — Painter Franklin Adams prepares his "Musician" for exhibition in the Art Gallery.

Gallery Displays Advertising's Role

Graphic evidence of advertising's advancing role today is offered in a display of advertisements now on exhibit in the University Art Gallery.

Included in the display, made possible by Elco Boosen chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, are the award winners in the annual Saturday Review selections of outstanding advertising campaigns in the public service. The showing closes tomorrow.

Three major themes are featured in the campaigns being shown. Specific public-interest messages are included in some, while others dramatize company viewpoint on social and economic systems, and the remainder offer the basic philosophy of the company.

The 22 advertisements were chosen on the basis of such factors as text, layout, originality, typography, and impact. The theme was most important, however.

They illustrate how advertising can foster the American social, cultural, and economic institutions and traditions, emphasized Richard Joel, professor of advertising and faculty advisor of Alpha Delta Sigma.

The display, which has its permanent home at the University of Oregon where a Court of Honor has been established for the award winners, is on a nationwide tour of university campuses under the sponsorship of Alpha Delta Sigma chapter.

Administration Rules Against Using Posters

A rule against putting election posters on academic buildings was announced Tuesday by the University administration.

The administration has provided twelve four-by-eight foot billboards for the displaced material.

The action took student senators, who had been considering such a proposal, by surprise. Belatedly, they passed their own bill Wednesday. It must, however be subject to student vote Tuesday, according to its own provisions.

Dr. R. R. Oglesby, Dean of Students, said the presidents council ruled out posters Tuesday morning, then later modified its action to permit them on non-academic buildings such as Lonemire and the Student Center.

Student Senate had been debating their restriction, which would have substituted a minimum of twenty billboards for fourteen, will space, subject to student referendum

Although several loudly protested the administration action, Senate adopted no resolution in answer.

Dean Oglesby said the billboards were constructed in advance of Tuesday's administrative action, "on the assumption" Senate would approve the projects.

Students are reminded by the Traffic Office Department that it is against the law to place any type literature on mail boxes. This ruling includes campaign notices.

'Suppression' Hit By FSU Student

An attack on "suppression" of undergraduate publications at FSU has been printed in the April issue of New Republic magazine.

Entitled "An End to Quiescence," the article was written by Ira Flamberg Editor Bob Folsom.

New Republic, a small, monthly whose bills itself as a "journal of opinion", published Folsom's article as the first of a series of eight written by southern student editors under the heading, "How Free is College Journalism?".

'Cold War Waged'

The article said that "a cold war has been waged for some time at Florida State University between undergraduates and the administration over control over undergraduate publications."

But, it said, recently the administration attempted to seize control outright," by establishing a Board of Publications "with full power to control the publications."

The Board, Folsom wrote was brought about by hiring Flamberg staffers with the purpose of having the paper printed on campus

He said that the "sleeper" was that lacking any first-hand knowledge of the publications, the students members of the board who would change from year to year, "could be expected to be dominated by the administration appointees who remain permanently on the board."

Fiasco Claimed

Folsom noted the offer of cash prizes for the best editorials became a fiasco" after the request for equipment "went before the State Board of Control" in September 1955. Since then, industry spokesmen protested the purchase, and "nothing further has been heard of it."

Folsom did not cite any specific examples of suppression since the board has been established, but said that "The administration has often been sponsored by the liberal stand taken by the Flambeau's editors . . ."

He said the "full force" of what the Board's creation means becomes obvious only "in the light of the long reactionary history of the FSU administration." He hinted an investigation of professors at another college which Folsom attempted to write about "got outright," by establishing a Board of Publications "with full power to control the publications."

'Editor Forced Out'

Folsom said that one recent undergraduate Flambeau editor had been forced out, declaring that the dismissal of a faculty member last year who had been on an American Association of University Professors committee investigating the FSU athletic policy was "notorious."

The publications board is the final culmination of Dr. Campbell's long effort to put an end to any criticism of his administration, but what it most disheartening about it is that it invoked not a murmur of protest from the FSU student body," the '56 graduate concluded in his article.

For editorial opinion on the article, see page 2.)

Bryan Sets Fashion Show

Bryan Hall will sponsor its annual fashion show, "Spring's Pageant", Monday at 4:30 p.m. in the dorm parlor.

The theme will emphasize four main categories of spring fashions—formal, dressy, sports, and class-room attire, revealed Jane Salley, chairman of the show.

Following a short program approximately thirty women and two men will model at the affair. Refreshments will be served afterwards, Miss Salley said.

Fashion show committee chairmen are Audrey Cline, decorations; Marianne Kenasson and Ginger Kiser, publicity; Betsy Robertson and Nellie Mundy, refreshments; Judy Minter, invitations; and Margaret Ann White, head, cleanup.

Modeling will be Nita Jacobs, Nellie Mundy, Betty Sparks, Maggie Whitehead, Nancy Negus, Judy Minter, Carol Kirby, Barbara Barnes, Rosemary Burkback, Margaret Johnson, Betty Anne Earl, Cresilla Fleming and Deanne Guthrie.

Ginger Kiser, Judy Deale, Joan Wells, Pat Harris, Pat Finlay, Betsy Robertson, Ann Finch, Diana Johnson, Sue Lowell, Sandy Dell, Julia Conkling, Joe Nell Demilly, Ellen Hicks, Jackie Stockton, Betsy Bender, and Nell Lee Lanaille.

Serving as guest models will be Jeannie Turpin and Phillip Knight.

Flambeau photo Charlie Sims

How To Pose—Jane Salley, left, chairman of Bryan Hall's fashion show, poses model Pat Starnes. Event will take place Monday at 4:30 p.m. in dorm parlor.

Greenfield 1st In Speech At National Meet

Arnold Greenfield recently took first place in public speaking at the national conference of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic society.

Florida State students also won places in debate and captured other honors in the nationwide competition in New York City.

About 65 colleges and universities and nearly 200 individual debaters participated in the conference.

Norma Trippodo and Greenfield won third place in debate, announced Dr. Grear Pfuhr, associate professor of speech.

In addition, he continued, Greenfield ranked sixth among individual debaters.

Other honors were captured by Beverly Duperroueil who ranked among the top 10 individuals in discussion, for the second year. She took seventh place.

Flambeau Situation Misrepresented

An unwarranted attack on administrative-publications relations at this University appears in the current issue of the New Republic, written by an ex-editor of ours, "Florida Flambeau, Bob Collins. The article is both misleading and unfounded, and the present staff of the Flambeau feels compelled to refute its contentions.

The main points of his letter upon which the magazine based its article, "How Free Is College Journalism," may be found on page one of this paper. The primary contention—that your newspaper is currently being eaten by a two-headed monster of censorship—the Board of Student Publications, and the University administration. We take issue with seven misrepresentations of the facts that appear in his article.

1. He suggests that the failure of the Board to obtain a printing plant for student publications was for the primary purpose of instituting a Board of Publications to "control" the publications. Let us remember that publication finances were in dire condition at the time; that a Board was imminent for this purpose; and, that students were encouraged to be on the Board of Student Publications on their own—when they did.

2. The author has seen to assert that the five student members of the Board of Student Publications "must not come from the staffs of publications." This is not true, because three of the present candidates for this office are current staff members. Further, the constitution of the Board requires that three of the five student members have at least a certain number of credited hours in journalism courses or a year's experience on one of the publications.

3. "In one year, the request for the printing equipment went before the State Board of Control . . ." This statement is entirely un founded. for the printing equipment before the State Board was under consideration, let alone requisitioned. The author is apparently confused with the controversy that once confronted the Board and the State Board of Control regarding policies of job-contracting and competition between private and State enterprise.

4. While we may not stand to be censors inherent in any policy governing publication content, we assert that human interpretation makes the decisions, and it is the function of personalities on the members of governing Boards rather than the written words of guidance. Let us point out that the present editor was under fire from prominent people in the State for printing pro-integration literature and that the editor's freedom to print it was upheld unanimously by the Board of Student Publications. The article in question at the time was postie satire of a "white" person's prejudice on segregation, certainly the most controversial subject in the South today, and the one for which most southern collegiate editors have lost their heads.

4. The author of the article quotes the principles governing publications only in part, and deliberately does not inter that the principles are a declaration of the conscience of any responsible journalist in collegiate capacity. That they might be used as weapons of censorship in the future is possible, but a future board could accomplish their wishes without the written principles as easily as they do those.

The final paragraph of the statement of principles was omitted from his article:

"The Board of Student Publications believes, however, that the widest degree of possible publication should be granted to student editors for the free discussion of current issues and problems subject to reasonable considerations." (This is underscored, as well.)

5. Folsom speaks of a "recent" editor being forced out. The only incident of this kind at Florida State occurred five years ago, and was due to a lack of mature editorial approach on the part of that editor.

6. In reference to his comments concerning "the long reactionary history of the FSU administration," we were chagrined to note an obvious effort to generalize from a few isolated incidents to a broad picture, and only serve to fan suspicions on the character of present administration. Such his contention of press censorship at FSU.

7. The publications board is the final culmination of Dr. Carpenter's long effort to put an end to any exclusion of his administration. Any such charges against subjects are in pro-ess, they are not in evidence to this editor. Quite to the contrary, the members which President Campbell appointed to Board of Student Publications supported this student publication, never asked to see an editorial before it was published, and never censored what was to get print anything. The final decision on what goes into this paper rests with this editor, and solong as this policy continues, we are satisfied that censorship does not exist here.

We regret that our position has been misrepresented in a magazine of national circulation, and that it should be done without our knowledge. The Florida Flambeau, this year, has been acclaimed as one of the best newspapers in collegiate publications in the South, as a reputation of which we are proud and one which we hope will be preserved for future editors and governing Boards. We feel we have used our freedom wisely and do not wish to see it removed due to an article whose lack of comprehension of the publications and misinterpretation of the facts. A copy of this editorial will be forwarded to the New Republic.

Draft Women To Teach?

In the current issue of Harper's, editor John Fischer advocates the drafting of young women to teach in the public schools.

There is a precedent in Selective Service, by which young men are drafted to answer the military emergency, Fischer writes. As to education, "The emergency is plain enough and nobody else seems to come up with a feasible idea for meeting it," he argues.

"It should not be impossible to work out a practical scheme for drafting women college graduates for a six-month course in basic training for teaching, plus eighteen months' service in the schools. Such a system would not, of course, produce first-rate teachers—but second-rate teachers are better than none at all. And, like the Army, the Teaching Draft Boards presumably would select the best fitted girls and take only enough to fill a given quota.

Is some education indeed better than none? We wonder. What could be the effects upon young people exposed to unwilling, resentful, and frustrated drafted? Would the morale of the entire system were made as rigid and arbitrary as the military.

But we submit that the answer to the drastic shortage of teachers lies not in force or persuasion, but in the elevation of the teacher to the dignity he should possess.

Teachers' salaries may have risen, but not in comparison to those paid to other walks of life. The teacher, according to recent and exhaustive reports, occupies a less favorable economic position than he did over a decade ago. Yet many wealthy does he or she suffer. We treat our teachers like glorified babysitters. And this type of treatment this neglegence in matters of salary, is hardly calculated to draw into the profession those with genius.

To quote one of our professors, "A teacher must want to teach."

From the first lemon-tinting of each day's sun,
To its rose-purple sewing of flames,
Promising Tomorrow . . .

With the rhythmic recurring of dogwood-snow,
The red-pink blooming of wild-plum and peach—
To the bleeding of sun at home.
Coloring their blood and mine:
Our eternity.

—WALTER BLACKSTOCK

On Poster Prohibition

The administration has foro oden the posting of electric material on University buildings. To do this, of course, is within its power.

We can only deplore, however, the manner in which this was done. The fact that billboards have been provided for the displaced posters, placards, and banners it beside the point.

A bill to pass a similar restriction had been before Student Senate for some time. Although its sponsors argued they intended only to "clean up" the election campaigns, and to discourage candidates' reliance on posters, it was clear they were in agreement with the administration on the matter of campus decorum and beauty.

Senate passed the bill once, but by a majority of only one. The majority then agreed to reconsider the bill so that a referendum provision could be added.

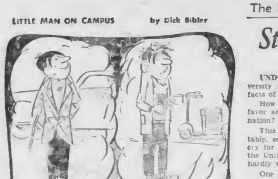
This bill did not pass the Senate, efforts upon those people exposed to unwilling, resentful, and frustrated drafted? Would the morale of the entire system were made as rigid and arbitrary as the military.

But we submit that the answer to the drastic shortage of teachers lies not in force or persuasion, but in the elevation of the teacher to the dignity he should possess.

Teachers' salaries may have risen, but not in comparison to those paid to other walks of life. The teacher, according to recent and exhaustive reports, occupies a less favorable economic position than he did over a decade ago. Yet many wealthy does he or she suffer. We treat our teachers like glorified babysitters. And this type of treatment this neglegence in matters of salary, is hardly calculated to draw into the profession those with genius.

To quote one of our professors, "A teacher must want to teach."

The Florida Flambeau



JAY ROBERTSON WOODS—Editor

Associate Editor ——— Martin Dyckman
Campus Editor ——— Patricia Beary
Senior Reporters ——— Jeri Bradfield
Marty Reeves, Bob Dollison, Bob Morris
Photographic Editor ——— Tom Sawyer
Photographers ——— Lonnie Anderson, Steve Kleid, Adrain Allen, Mike Smith, Charlie Starr,
Columnists ——— Willohn, Dave Ward-
Sherman, Clyde Ward, Martin Dyckman,
Oscar Johnson, George Seminole

Pat Marston, News Editor

Feature Editor ——— Arlieda Ries
Sports Editor ——— Larry Block
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ——— Ben Bahey, Dave Evans,
Joe Greene, Tom Hale, Pierce Murdock
Junior Staff ——— Ginger Conner, Betty Otey,
Peggy Hedrick, Bob Dolce, Cyane Bering,
Delores Lafferty, Julie Clemens, Bob
Simmons
Circ Editor ——— Charlet Pottevint

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

Dear Mama Seminole

DEAR MAMA:
EASTER VACATION make me want throw up work, not law in sun. Professors have other idea on subject. Six papers assigned right and left, them be sorry when I have to read them all. Big trouble with paper is that you can't pick interesting subjects to write about, me would like to do original research in several areas . . . could really enjoy writing on some topics. Guess trouble is that teachers not aware Spring is in air and that young Seminoles find many things more interesting than books.

Campus is undergoing renewal of elections, or as Flambeau writer used to say . . . "Hi-Actions". Me hope students realize this student government does effect them . . . could in many ways . . . and that they will take part in the elections. Each person has but one vote, but each vote is important, for it goes to help choose the individuals who will lead Seminoles through coming year. Many good candidates offer selves for office, students have unusual opportunity to make wise selections for office. Me have watched student body for past year, and have developed faith in their ability to pick outstanding people to serve them.

Food in cafeteria get worse and worse . . . me understand need of "economy dishes", but fail to understand why sometimes we have choice of fried ground meat, baked ground meat, and barbecued ground meat. Seems like a case of more normal, eatable choice would be had at each meal. Hope something can be done to help. Me resort to steady diet of dry cereals . . . they can't bother that. Me have often heard the comment, "The trouble with the cafeteria is that it has too many dietitians and no cooks". Me like eat better than fine, but willing to stake life that statement about cooks is so.

Debate team continues to heap honors upon self. Practically walk off with all honors at National Tournament . . . maybe next year me just team, me think me enjoy week in New York, too.

New Junior Counselors for next year were chosen recently. Maidens named have great opportunities for service to Friendly Village. It time Administration show appreciation of great job JC's do and name house they pulled to help Freshmen. Tree grown would be help in return for service rendered . . . University not fair hing up considering other things it can afford. Too bad JC problem of name on house not solved. Not used in Men's Dorms, housefather system leaves lot to be desired in many ways. Little more democracy in administration of men's dorms, courts, and punishments would do much to help morale.

LOVE ALL.
GEORGIE II

Prof Is Poet Too

(Editor's Note: The following poem is by Dr. Walter Blackstock, assistant professor of English at Florida State. Dr. Blackstock has had several volumes of poetry published, one of which is The Deeper Bond. Due to the spacing of issues of this publication because of holidays, we were unable to print the poem at the proper time; but we do not think the time ruins the thought.)

AT EASTER
(for three small children)

In their names,
To Fatherhood soon.

"Pardon Me, But I Think That's My Hat"

The Dissenter

Students Begin Integration Decisions

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

UNDOUBTEDLY, most Florida State University students favor segregation. The mere facts of life are that FSU is in the South.

How far, I wonder, do the students actually favor segregation? Does it come before their education?

This is not begging the question. Regretfully, segregation has been made the rallying cry for a wave of fanatism who would reduce the United States to a pitifully disunited state hardly worthy of the noun nation.

One group calls itself the "Federation for Constitutional Government," which seems unable to understand that courts are established to be respected; that the Supreme Court of the nation rulings are not the most drastic in point of political theory that the tribunal has written; that only a constitutional amendment could preserve segregation.

The Federation solemnly warns violence will result if its demands are not heeded. I think violence is what they want.

Demagogues throughout the South are screaming defiance of the Court, of the "Judas" politicians in the South who respect the rights of Communists and the NAACP whom they declare are working together to ruin the nation.

I wonder what could be more dangerous to the nation than the doctrine they preach: that governments are made to be broken when a federal authority dictates.

People need not take orders from Moscow to be subversive of the United States Constitution.

* * *

YES, STUDENTS must make a decision. I have talked with many who declare they favor segregation but, because they are patriotic, will accept whatever decisions take effect without opposition.

That's patriotism?

Segregation is no longer the issue. The question now is whether our ship of state is to founder in this unfortunate storm—and with those who favor segregation, the southern "moderates", of whom we have so much, must turn to if the wreck is to be avoided.

The demagogues ignore the fact that integration is neither here now nor coming soon as the court has set no time limit. It has asked merely for good faith and an honest effort. Any exhortations to violence or evasion do, however, show contempt for this nation's judicial procedure.

* * *

Many of the southern "moderates" among our student body harbor notions there is a point in the so-called white race which will be dissipated through intermarriage if integration occurs. They will, they say, send their children to private schools, frankly admitting that they are unprejudiced and might like each other while or black.

THIS ARGUMENT consists of several fallacies.

First, the only "pure" races are the Australian aborigines and a few other primitive people who have been so isolated throughout history that have not been subjected to mixture. It may be coincidental, but such people are the most backward.

Secondly, the social pressures against interracial marriage are now and will be so strong that such hardly seems likely to occur.

I'm sick of hearing that stock example: "Would you want your sister to marry a Negroes?" To all who have asked me and all who want to do so, I could have no possible objection other than a painful solicitude for their happiness, because of what an ignorant society would do to them.

Of All Things

Steffens Tried To Understand Art

By OSCAR JOHNSON

THE RECENT WIN of a man who side up painting with an upside down signature at a Chicago art exhibition underscores the mental agony that "modern" artists must endure in pursuing their work.

I have often reads of paintings entered by practical jokers in abstract art exhibits ending up as winners. Each time one of these occurs a reaction among the general public ranging from mild amusement to ridicule.

In the Chicago incident, the painter maintained after the seeming discrepancy was discovered that students that he had intended it to be that way. She said: "When I finished painting it I stood it the second day. I painted on it for days, hoping it would be accepted. I guess it looked better the other way around."

Like a character in Sinclair Lewis's "Freeport Fling," was nonetheless good enough to enjoy the show's $1,500 top prize. But it might furnish a lesson to art students. Never hang your paintings before you are through with them.

WITH THE MOST interesting account we have read, though, of someone's attempt to understand modern art was written by the famed American critic and journalist Lincoln Steffens in his autobiography. This writer, recounting his college days in the 1890's, said he entering the field of art in an effort to discover a personal philosophy of ethics.

After graduating from an American college, he went to Europe to study ethics but "wasted a world of good years" in studying science and philosophy to try and find the roots of ethics. Turning to art, he decided to attend school at the Academie Julian in Paris "in art circles" in return for service rendered . . . University not fair hing up considering other things it can afford. Too bad JC problem of name on house not used in Men's Dorms, housefather system leaves lot to be desired in many ways. Little more democracy in administration of men's dorms, courts, and punishments would do much to help morale.

At The Movies

'55 Academy Award Film Returns

By BOB SIMMONS

ERNEST BORGNINE won an "Oscar" for his portrayal of a lovelorn butcher in the picture Marty. Those who have seen this movie will agree that the award was well deserved. Those who, for some reason or another, missed Marty would do well to see it at the Ritz Theatre. It is playing Thursday through Saturday.

It seems that the Ritz Art Theatre will be the only place in town where you can see Marty from here on out. This showing does not indicate that the Ritz will open permanently.

Montalban isn't what I'd call a hero. The movie that sports the same name as the Cole Porter musical is a strong production of Jack Goes bears little other resemblance. Some of the old standards such as "I Get A Kick Out Of You" and "It's Delovely" result, but one may wonder after watching this musical if this is what Cole Porter had in mind when he wrote this music.

The choreography has the touch of mad genius, or perhaps just madness, but it is in best traditional Hollywood style, and gives Donald O'Connor and Jeanmaire a chance to display their talents. Anything Goes shows through Tuesday at the Florida Theatre.

I'll Cry Tomorrow features the story of a great entertainer who took to the bottle, a sixteen year history in fact, and managed to make a comeback. Adapted from a best-selling autobiography by Lillian Roth, I'll Cry Tomorrow is a powerful material and with a cast listing including Susan Hayward and Richard Conte and Van Fleet, it could hardly avoid being an excellent movie. It shows at the State Theatre for an entire week.

THE WALT DISNEY presentation The Lady and the Tramp shows through Saturday at the Perry Highway Outdoor Theatre. As a full length cartoon feature this movie has an excellent chance to win the Academy award for best While. Adults as well as the kiddies will get a kick out of this movie. It is the seven story of a dog's life.

The Private War Of Major Benson opens at the Perry Highway Outdoor Theatre for three days starting Tuesday. This varied tale of a professional soldier who takes over a children's military school is filled with laughs, and stars Charlton Heston.

Carousel by Rodgers and Hammerstein is coming to Tallahassee soon. This is a movie to see.

Dig out the Captain Video space helmet and the Buck Rogers ray gun—another science fiction is coming to town. Forbidden Planet chock full of flying saucers and robots, not mention War Of The Worlds. Some Pictures of space fans should blast off between Sunday and Tuesday when the Florida Theatre as destination and see Forbidden Planet.

Letters To The Editor

(The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic, and provides this space for student opinion. The editor do not have to coincide with the views of the paper, but all letters must be signed. Unsigned letters will not be published, and names will be withheld in cases where the reasons are deemed adequate by the editor. Letters should not exceed 250 words or 25 typewritten lines.)

TO THE EDITOR:

It is rare indeed to find a man like Dave Bachman. He has not only the experience, knowledge and ability to carry out the duties of the office of presidency, but also the advantage of a well rounded and many sided background of campus life.

Dave has taken advantage of the opportunity to develop himself broadly through participation in the many activities available to students who like himself have lived and are living on campus. Because of his varied background of campus life he has developed a personality which would well represent FSU to any coming in contact with him—and through him with us.

The President represents our university everywhere he goes, many times giving the only first impression of FSU. We feel that Dave's experience, contacts, and associations over the past three years of campus life will enable him to develop a broad understanding of the problems which concern the students on this campus.

It is our feeling that Dave's qualifications and personality will lead to fair and intelligent consideration, conscientious weighing of all aspects of any situation being considered, and perhaps most important to an extremely good impression of our school to anyone with whom he comes in contact. For these reasons we shall support Dave Bachman for President of our student body.

ARNOLD GREENFIELD
STEW BOLTON
MARY LOUISE DEE
POLLY ATWATER
GRETA SIMS
BUDDY BISHOP
PETIE DUNN
JANE CHAPMAN
GRETCHEN KERR
EVELYN MOLL

RONNIE BLUE
BETE ROACH
NANCY VAUGHN
JANE CHAPMAN
BILL STRICKLAND
JIM McINTYRE
BOB FLTING
BOB CRENSHAW
HANS TEWS
CARMINE RANIERI

CAVALIER, COTILLION RESUME LESSONS

Cavalier-Cotillion Dance Organizations will resume dancing lessons Tuesday and Thursday nights at 8 p.m.

The organizations are sponsoring an informal "coming dance tomorrow night at the Student Center from 9-12, with music furnished by the "Five Sharps".

Members will be on hand at this in the capacity of both and hostesses and will help anyone in furthering their dancing ability, announced Jim Julian, Cavalier president.

The Campaigners Promise

President

...E STUDENTS.

...then you go to the polls on ...esday (and I strongly urge ...ch of you to vote) you will be ...owing classmates that will ...de your student government ...ough the next school year. ...ur choice, in all fairness to ...rself, should be the candidates ...o most closely have your in...ests at heart.

...ur interests are my main ...ncern and have been during my ...o years of service to Florida ...ow University. From this ex...rience, I have learned that ...re is much that our student ...vernment can do for you and ...r University.

...o wish to serve you next year ...the capacity of Student Body ...sident. I hope that by your ...d judgment and consideration ...u polls Tuesday, I may again ...e my part to make you proud to ...e a student of FSU.

Sincerely,
DAVE BACHMAN

...DENT STUDENTS.

...During my campaign for the ...dent Body Presidency, I have ...en an honest effort to talk ...personally with as many of you ...possible. For those who I have ...issed, however, I would like to ...ize in a very few words why I ...ould appreciate your consideration ...and your support.

...For the past three years I have ...erved the Student Body as a ...mber of the Student Senate, al...ays with one heartfelt purpose ...mind: to make this campus a ...ch better for the students than ...it was when I entered as a Fresh...an.

...Now, with one year left, I am ...ven an opportunity to serve ...s an executive—to make a year...ng drive toward building the ...iversity.

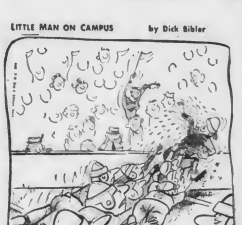
...My record shows I have ...orked hard and have given ...e the ability to continue work...g if you will elect me your ...xt student.

Sincerely,
JEAN MOORE

Vice-President

...MBERS OF THE ...UDENT BODY:

...It is election time again and ...m sure it is the wish of all ...andidates to have the largest ...umber of students voting than ...ver before.



...As a candidate for Vice Presi...ent of the Student Body, I find ...y primary reason for seeking ...is office is my personal inter...st in Student Government. The ...ore important job of the Vice ...resident is to preside over Sen...te meetings. Although I have ...ever served in Senate before ...believe the other experience ...ve had would enable me to ...reside over a senate meeting ...ell enough to keep it progressing ...in orderly manner.

...To state my qualifications, two ...ears in the Youth Legislature ...f the State of Alabama, two ...ears with the FBI in Wash...gton with the fingerprint de...rtment, two years in the para...hoppers as a chaplain's assist...t, Governor of Senior Hall, ...ouncil member and I am now ...erving as President of the ...thodontic class.

...I would like very much to be ...e person of your choice to rep...esent Florida State University ...s Vice President of the Student ...ody.

SINCERELY YOURS,
BILL CULLOM

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"THERE HE GOES— GRANDSTANDING AGAIN."

MEMBERS OF THE STUDENT BODY.

I am a candidate for Student Body Vice-President. I have served for two years in the Student Senate as well as other campus organizations. With my Senate experience I feel that I am qualified to perform the duties of the office. As you probably know, the main duty of the Vice-President is to preside over the Student Senate.

I believe that my experience in this body should be helpful to me in conducting an efficient and well coordinated Senate if I am elected.

I am making this letter purely brief so as to insure that you, the Students, will read it and find that I have a sincere desire to serve you to the best of my ability so as to continue to keep Florida State University's Student Government one of the best student governments in the nation.

SINCERELY,
BILL SWIGART

Men's Veep

DEAR FELLOW STUDENTS:

Due to the fact that I have been unable to contact many of you personally in the course of my campaign, I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself as a candidate in the forthcoming student body elections. I am James Davis, a sophomore, from Sanford, Florida, and I am seeking the office of Vice-President of Men's Affairs on the State Party ticket.

If elected, I shall devote myself to this office and will work diligently for the advancement of student government and student welfare. I feel that although my experience in student government here at Florida State has been limited, it is my firm conviction that this can be overcome by a willingness to work hard and conscientiously to the best of my ability.

I deem myself qualified for this office since I have had four years of student government experience in high school and I am acquainted with the operation and functioning of student government here at Florida State.

I hope that I will be able to meet many more of you before the election, Tuesday, April 10, 1956. I earnestly solicit your vote and will appreciate your support for James Davis, candidate for Vice-President of Men's Affairs.

SINCERELY,
JAMES DAVIS

DEAR STUDENTS.

You have three times placed your faith and trust in me and elected me to serve you in the Senate. I am now asking that you once again place your trust in me and elect me to serve you as Men's Vice-President.

I have fought as hard as I know how for the things I believe you want, and I have opposed with equal vigor those things which I considered wrong, unfair, or worthless. I have cast my vote in the Senate according to the way I felt best represented your opinions. I have never been dictated to by any person, party, or group, and I will not be dictated to in the future.

I have not in the past, and I will not in the future remain quiet on any issue, nor hesitate with my vote, nor will I listen to those people who "threaten" me politically.

Elect me Men's Vice-President and you may be assured that I will continue to devote my time, energy and ability to serving our student body.

SINCERELY,
JIM SOLES

Women's Veep

DEAR STUDENTS

Tuesday you will go to the polls to elect the most important officers in your student body. It is important that you select the candidates who are qualified and experienced to lead your student government next year.

I am a candidate for Women's Vice President. The Women's Vice President presides over Women's Senate, so previous experience as a Senator and a thorough knowledge and understanding of our student government are necessary to fulfill the duties of this office. Because I have had two years of service as a Senator as a freshman, Sophomore, and Junior Senator, I feel that I am well qualified. I have served as the chairman of various Senate committees, and my record of service in the Senate speaks for itself. I have always had one thought in mind, to serve and represent you the students in every way, and to work for the welfare and improvement of our student body. In addition to my Senate responsibilities, I have served in Sophomore Council and as a Junior Counselor.

It has been a real privilege for me to serve you in Senate for 3 years, and I hope that you will now give me the opportunity to serve you in a greater capacity. Remember when you go to the polls on Tuesday to elect the qualified and experienced candidate to be Women's Vice President.

SINCERELY,
CAROLYN CLOSE

DEAR STUDENTS,

What we need at FSU is more action and less talk. There are numerous problems that face each of us and it is the job of student government to try to solve them. Tuesday you will be given the opportunity to elect the officers of our school for the coming year. It will be up to each of you to determine through your vote what type of student government we will have. I realize that there are many areas that confront us students and here are a few of the things that I feel should definitely be done:

I. A good-will team should be established to better relations with near - by campuses to bring back to FSU new ideas.

II More inter - dorm social functions should be encouraged so that we may grow socially as well as academically.

III Better transportation facilities should be made available for local FSU sports events.

IV Campus activities should be more widely distributed in order that not so many events occurring at any one time.

V Serving, dances, and recreational facilities need to be improved in many of the dorms.

These are immediate needs here on our campus and I will do everything within my power to see that something is done about them.

For progress and action, elect JAN KAMINIS Women's Vice President.

SINCERELY,
JAN KAMINIS

Publications Board

DEAR STUDENTS,

I am writing to you as a candidate for the Board of Student Publications.

I feel that this position should be of important interest to you, the students, since it directly involves the apportionment of your money, the election of your editors, and the policies of your publications.

My work on the Flambeau as Greek Editor, News Editor, and currently as Campus Editor, has given me experience which I feel would definitely be an aid in making wise decisions and voicing your views to the Board.

In view of this I am asking you to consider me for one of your three votes for board members.

SINCERELY,
PAT BRADY

DEAR STUDENTS:

As a candidate for the Board of Publications, I believe that you, the students should know the significance of this Board and the effect of its decision on your publications.

The Board of Publications makes decisions concerning financial issues on any of the three publications, the Florida Flambeau, Tally-Ho and Smoke Signals. It is responsible for the appointment of the editors of these three publications also.

I believe that the members of this board should be those who have had actual experience on publications here at the university, preferably in some type of directing position.

I have been on the senior staff of the Flambeau for five months now, and on the paper for two years altogether plus a year as sports editor of Tally-Ho.

If you vote for experience, vote for Alan Whitmarsh for the Board of Publications.

SINCERELY YOURS,
ALAN WHITMARSH

University Recreation

DEAR STUDENTS,

The University Recreation function is one that is very important to each of you, but one with which many of you are not familiar. It consists of the various canoe trips, day trips to the Marianna Caverns, tournament games in golf, bowling, tennis and other sports that are available to the majority of the students through the intramural program. It is a University organization for you, the students of Florida State University.

Three things that I would like to see advanced in the U.R.A. for next year are.

(1) Coeducational activities that will serve more of the students; ones that will meet more of the students' desires.

(2) Enlarging the administration of the activities in order that more students may take an active part in them.

(3) Providing regular tournament play with trophies given to the winning teams or individuals.

If you share these interests for yourself and your fellow students, vote for PAT ROONEY, President of U.R.A.

SINCERELY,
PAT ROONEY

Honor Clerk

TO THE STUDENTS:

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to you. I am POLLY SWAIN, seeking the office of Clerk of Honor Court.

Since I am unopposed for this office, it has been unnecessary for me to campaign. However, I would like to assure you that I am well qualified for this position. This year I have served on Honor Court and have recently been appointed Clerk, the position I am now seeking.

I believe wholeheartedly in FSU's Honor System and will work faithfully for its advancement.

Sincerely,
POLLY SWAIN

Traffic Court

DEAR STUDENTS,

In four days a new Chief Justice of Traffic Court will be named by your votes.

I, Patty Pasciak, am seeking this office. your consideration, your support. I feel that I am qualified for this position on your court having served two this year as Justice Pasciak each Tuesday evening when Traffic Court convenes.

I pledge myself to work in the student's interest, when it is known and let it be known, on all traffic problems.

Sincerely yours,
PATTY PASCIAK

Senate Secretary

DEAR FELLOW STUDENTS:

On Tuesday you will go to the polls and cast your ballot for candidates who will represent you in the various major student governments. I am running for Secretary of the Senate, one of these major offices.

Although I have not held an office in student government on the campus before, I am extremely interested and fully aware of the tedious and time consuming work which this office involves. The duties of this office require a dependable and responsible individual and due to my past experience as a secretary for various organizations, I feel that I am fully qualified to hold this office.

I would like to stress, however, that no matter who your choice of candidate may be, that you be sure to go to the polls on next Tuesday for this alone is a step toward better student government.

When you do vote, I sincerely wish that you would consider my qualifications and interests and vote for me. SYLVIA KEARSON, SECRETARY OF THE SENATE.

Sincerely,
SYLVIA KEARSON

Baptist Union Is Sponsoring Hobo Project

Baptist Student Union is holding a "Hobo Project" to raise money to send student missionaries to foreign countries this summer.

Members of the project will baby sit, rake yards, wash windows, tie boxwood, shine shoes, type or wash cars, explained June Roers, promotional director for the group.

The BSU needs $500 to send one student to Japan, workers from Florida this summer. One FSU student, Barbara Baudean, is scheduled to work in Hawaii.

Baptist Student Unions from the University of Florida, University of Miami, Stetson, University of Tampa, Pensacola Junior College, Florida Southern College and St. Petersburg Junior College are also working on the project.

Students may be obtained for various jobs by contacting Miss Rogers at Ex. 361.

35 FEET UNDERWATER

Geology Students Skin-Dive In Gulf To Examine Bottom

Four geology students at Florida State are skin-diving to learn what the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico may tell about the presence of oil and of heavy minerals.

To gather material for their master's theses they go out in a 14-foot boat every Thursday and Saturday for a series of dives in the Gulf floor 35 feet below.

What they find or bring to the surface for further examination in the laboratory may be significant in two very practical fields, according to Dr. William F. Tanner, visiting lecturer in geology who is their faculty adviser.

One question their contribution to research may help investigate is the Gulf's source. Is whether any of the heavy minerals found on the upper Gulf coast of Florida in some abundance can also be found offshore in this Gulf region.

Old Hypothesis

The question goes back to an old hypothesis that the Chattahoochee River in Florida the Apalachicola may have carried these minerals to the Gulf region just as the Tugaloo and Savannah rivers are known to have carried the same kind of minerals to the area around Jacksonville. Titanium is obtained from such a heavy mineral.

The Tuscaloo and the Chattahoochee orientate within about 10 miles of each other he pointed out, in the lower Appalachian region.

The research and hard work in learning more about "the key to oil-finding." The samples brought to the surface, for instance, may build up a pattern on the floor similar to rock patterns inland where oil has been found.

The principal search for new oil reserves is likely to be off-shore in the years ahead, Dr. Tanner commented.

In addition it is hoped generally to find out more about the sediments of the ocean floor, Dr. Tanner said.

New Project

"The project is a new one," he explained, "in that this is the first time geologists have studied the bottom of the sea in such detail on the bottom. Heretofore is has been by core samples taken from the bottom which have been available.

Planning for the project began a year ago, along with experimental diving. The State Board of Conservation furnished a boat which the students use and the Florida Geological Survey furnished the skin diving suits.

Three of the graduate students are expert divers with experience in skin-diving some of them 100 feet or more below the surface.

One of them, Jim Vause, has taken as his thesis subject a study of quartz grains in part of the area and a study of the arrangement of the grains on the ocean floor such as in ripple marks. Such arrangements are duplicated in rock formations inland and parallels may be drawn.

Three-Part Thesis

Richard Lapp has three parts to his thesis: a study of quartz grains in another part of the area; color photography of under water the part it can play in ecological work; and a study of the shells of large organisms.

George Asse is probing into the sand on the bottom to a depth of one and two or more feet to determine the presence or absence of heavy minerals.

Bill Lazenby has taken as his subject a study of microforms on the ocean floor. He is not a diver but is learning.

Two other graduate students who are expert skin divers are helping out in the project. One must always go down since the divers work in pairs for safety's sake.

The two are James Bryant, a swimming partner for Asse and Richard Derby.

The students start out from Tallahassee at 5:30 in the morning after a last-minute call to the weather bureau to determine whether conditions will be right for the diving.

They drive to Carrabelle, 60 miles away on the Gulf, and then board their boat for a cruise to the area where the day's dives will be made.

Working away from shore, the divers will go down at half-mile or mile intervals up to a distance of about six miles off-shore from the barrier islands where the water is usually between 30 and 40 feet deep.

Canned Samples

With pork and beans cans some of the men scoop up samples from the bottom. Others may take a handful of plastic material with a grease pencil to make underwater notes.

It is frequently so dark far underneath the surface said Dr Tanner, "that it's like doing geological work in the hills at night with no moon and a heavy thunderhead. You sometimes can't see another man 15 feet away."

The samples brought to the surface are placed in plastic cans and carefully labeled for later laboratory examination.

The boat is tied down usually about 20 minutes at a time and because of the physical exertion involved in simply staying where you are underneath the surface, two hours of diving is enough for a day. They do not get back home, however, until suppertime

A cold water suit made of rubber with many tiny air pockets is put on over bathing trunks to keep the men warm. Elements of the same material are worn.

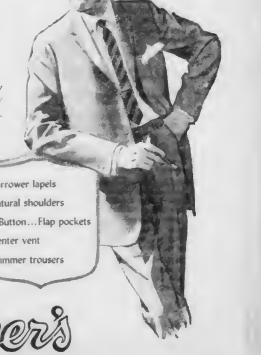
In addition to this equipment the men have aqngles and an aqualung which feeds them air to breathe through the mouth. Weighted belts help keep them in balance.

YOU'LL BOTH GO FOR THIS CIGARETTE!

WINSTON tastes good as has the flavor you want!

■ As the most popular new brand in cigarette history, Winston gives college smokers something special. It's flavor — the full, rich, tobacco flavor you want in a cigarette. Along with finer flavor, Winston also brings you a finer filter that works so well the flavor really gets through. Try Winston!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.



Smoke WINSTON the easy-drawing filter cigarette!

Fellas! . . . . . .
TURNER'S is headquarters for . . .

IVY LEAGUE SUITS!

Yes, we have the popular baby cords in cotton and cotton/dacron, and the new poplin fabric in Sun-Khaki and Olive!

And . . .
They're Made By HASPEL!
From 26.95
Need We Say More!?

Narrower lapels
Natural shoulders
3 Button...Flap pockets
Center vent
Trimmer trousers

Turner's
"doorway to fashions . . ."

Base Car Ownership On Grades: Senate

Senate Places New Limit On Vacancy Time

Student Senate voted Wednesday to put a time limit on the Student Body President's power to fill vacant Senate seats.

According to a Constitutional Amendment passed after lengthy discussion, the executive must make an appointment within two weeks after the vacancy occurs or a special election must then be called.

The amendment is largely the same as one recently vetoed by President Corie E. Moore Jr., which would have completely removed his appointive power over Senate.

Its similarities lie in provisions fixing the time for freshman class elections and dormitory elections, to be held in the fall under the reapportionment bill passed some time ago.

Sponsors said they didn't think President Moore will veto the new amendment.

Vice-President Jimmy Joonas declared the reapportionment bill, in his opinion, is constitutional even without the amendment providing for filling of vacancies.

If Moore approves the amendment, it must then go to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, and then to the Student Body at the class elections slated several weeks away.

GENUINE ENGRAVED Wedding Announcements
SAMPLES MAILED UPON REQUEST
FINEST QUALITY
$7.95 FOR 25 ACCAL. By EACH
FREE with Order Fraternity Seal or Name
ADD Embossed Address on Envelope Flap Only $10.00 more
Miami Engraving Co.
2424 W. 17TH ST. • MIAMI, FLORIDA

Students Reject Frosh Ban Idea

The right to drive cars on campus should depend on grades rather than class standing, Student Senate resolved Wednesday.

The measure was introduced by Senator Fred Mansfield. Directed to the university administration, it recommended grades be considered for driving privileges and said freshmen and sophomores should not arbitrarily be denied the use of cars.

The Senate also went on record for reducing room rent fees of junior counselors and advocating the establishment of a parking area near the East Campus athletic fields.

Land Ju's

Senators Art Moore, Pat Finlay and Nancy Spicer introduced the resolution calling junior counselors, who work with freshmen and transfer women, PSU's "unsung heroes" and urging lower room fees for them.

Several women senators responded that such reward has been deemed financially impossible by the administration. "Don't get your hopes up," Senator Donna Close.

Senators Dave Bachman and Gordon Gaster authored the resolution calling for a picnic and barbecue area in the wooded section near Deak Campbell Stadium and the baseball diamond.

Rejected Twice

Gaster said President Doak S. Campbell has turned thumbs down on such a project twice once when it was suggested the university pay for the project, and again when Gold Key sought to construct barbecue pits as a pledge project. In the latter case Gaster said, preservation of the area's forested state was the issue.

Gaster said the resolution would give the weight of student opinion to the suggestion.

All resolutions passed unanimously, according to rulings of vice-president Jimmy Joonas.

Forecasts Told By Educators At Third JCC

A report on the third annual Junior College Conference, held on the campus of Florida State University, reveals several forecasts by prominent educators.

Dr. Ralph L. Ermas, dean of the FSU School of Education pointed out that if senior colleges restrict enrollments, there will be a greater need for junior colleges.

Dr. Lamar Johnson of the University of California at Los Angeles felt that the changing of junior colleges into four year senior colleges was a development, for the most part, in the distant future — some 25 years away.

Not Difficult

According to Dr. Ermas, it is not difficult to pick the best students and educate them only as is done in the case of the Dean's list rather in a democracy teachers should develop their talent in seeing how many can go on for students who wish to be educated.

Dr. Johnson said that some junior colleges have an excellent counseling program whereby a student's high school and junior college record is reviewed and then the student is advised as to whether he should attempt to go on to a senior college or whether his scholastic record and aptitude tests show he might better enter a trade, business, or some other vocation.

Big Increase

He also pointed out that there were only 200 000 students enrolled in 600 junior colleges in America, while today there are approximately 800 000 students enrolled in America's some 600 junior colleges.

There is a great variety of courses offered in junior colleges, varying with the local community need. In one community, food freezing courses may be taught, while in others there may be such courses offered as ranching, dairy raising, fashion designing, teacher training, business banking, carpentry, auto mechanics and commercial art.

Community advisory committees work closely with junior college administrators to set up courses which are needed in that particular community, Dr. Johnson explained.

Dr. Hugh Stickler, director of Educational Research and Service at FSU compared the junior college movement in Florida and California. He noted that three are five public junior colleges in Florida with an enrollment of about 5 000, while California has 78 junior colleges with an enrollment of some 300 000 students.

Alpha Delta Sigma—Recent initiates and new officers are, seated, l. to r., James Soles, secty.-treas., Ted Rybicki, president; Ronald Kosemund, vice-pres. Standing, l. to r. are Duncan Osborn, James Ollsen, Gene Moore and Tony Avitable.

$53,000 Granted To FSU's Frieden For Chemistry Study

A total of $53 000 has been granted to Dr. Earl Frieden, Associate Professor of Chemistry, for a five year research program on the biochemistry of amphibian metamorphosis.

The grant, which is a continuation of research initiated in 1956, is supported by the National Cancer Institute and the National Science Foundation.

The transformation of the tadpole to the frog has interested the scientist as well as the curious youngster. Biochemists have long suspected that metamorphosis might be closely related to the rapid alterations which occur in cells during other types of cell changes such as cancer, maturation and aging, explained Dr. Frieden.

Germans Study

Many years ago, in 1913, the famous German biologist F. Gudernatsch found that metamorphosis of the tadpole was stimulated by the thyroid hormone. This is the same thyroid hormone which controls the metabolic rate and other important features in the human.

Gudernatsch's research gives the biochemist an excellent experimental situation, since metamorphosis can be induced with thyroid hormone. While the anatomical changes during metamorphosis have been well studied the biochemistry of the process is still relatively unknown, he continued.

Another possible outcome of Dr. Frieden's research is the increase in our knowledge of the action of the thyroid hormone not only in tadpoles but also in higher animals such as man. The action of this hormone still remains somewhat of a mystery despite many research efforts.

Helpers

The research program will not only include a Post-Doctoral Research Associate, and at least one graduate student, but also will help several undergraduates continue their college training in science.

Dr. Frieden explains that Tallahassee and its environs are an unusually good place to perform this research because of the ready availability of a variety of tadpoles from local lakes, ponds and swamps.

He said that the research program will be greatly aided if his laboratory could be sold where to find good sources of tadpoles for collection He says that anyone having information on this call FSU extension 4471, or write to Dr. Earl Frieden, Department of Chemistry, Florida State University.

Faculty Says No To Senate Finance Bill

The Faculty Committee on Student Affairs has killed Student Senate legislation which would have removed the financial brakes on money-raising projects.

The act would have allowed campus organizations to keep all funds received from projects. They are now permitted to keep only one-half, and must spend the rest on something "of service to the university community."

Warren Letter

In a letter read to Student Senate Wednesday explaining the faculty's group's action, Dean of Women Katherine Warren said:

"After careful consideration the Faculty Committee voted not to approve this recommendation, as they felt that the new provision would encourage more and more money making projects to the disadvantages of the student body at large."

Her committee, whose action she said was unanimous, thus did an end to an issue which has been one of the most debated in past years.

Never Agree

Student Senate had never been able to agree on removing the financial restrictions from campus organizations until this year, when the proposal was accepted with scarcely any dissent.

Before a lengthy debate ended in a compromise on the present requirement—two years ago only a third could be kept for a group's own use.

Speaker States Americans Must Admit Aid Help

America must admit foreign aid helps us and not humiliate recipients of assistance with demands for gratitude, a Florida state history professor declared Wednesday night.

Dr. Earl R. Beck, associate professor of history, said: "If we admit that our aid is oblivation and helps us as well as those who receive it, the attitude of those who profit it will be far better than it be if we search for gratitude for our unselfishness."

He noted that military fosters the "containment of Communism," by making nations strong enough to resist invasion; and that economic assistance stabilizes and materially secure those nations who would succumb to Communism by other than violent means.

"Trouble Spots"

"We cannot," he said, "afford to let ourselves become active in the question of Cyprus, Morocco, of Algeria, of the many other trouble spots in the world. We can, of course, lend the weight of our influence to seeking a solution of these problems through the instrumentalities of the United Nations.

"For us to go beyond our original sphere in these questions is to convert our position of mutual leadership into one of semi-imperialism, accompanied by paternalist attitude toward a separate European power with

(Continued on Page 8)

Television Seminar Slated For Summer

A seminar on educational and public service television will be held at Florida State University July 26-Aug. 13.

Dr. Harold Warren, director of audio-visual education for Houston schools, will direct the two-week course.

Roy Flynn, director of radio and television for PSU, said applications for admission should be made by June 15.

Personnel available for the seminar, which is principally but not only for teachers, will include Dr. Otis McBride, Harold Moreland, and Dr. Myles Ritchie of the PSU Audio-Visual Center; Ray Cheyfour William Ragsdale and Robert Middleton of the Department of Radio and Television; Mrs. Dora Skipper PSU director of off-campus instruction; Joe Hosford and other members of the production and directing staff of Tallahassee Station WCTV; and personnel from television stations at Panama City, Orlando and Jacksonville.

SENIORS!
Don't Forget—
April 16 is the deadline for ordering
May 28 graduation announcements
at
UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE
"IN THE STUDENT CENTER"

Spring!
THE FANCY TURNS TO
GOOD FOOD
at
The Mecca

Records
Phonographs
FREE LP RECORD
With Each Phonograph
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

More Room To Eat
The Quaker House has expanded . . . larger paved parking lot — all new booths — two hold up to 10 people each — larger curb service area. Pleasing dinner music, national pipe in with overhead speaker system. It's free.
Steaks—Fresh Sea Food—Complete Meals
QUAKER HOUSE
2 Blocks from campus on W. Tennessee

Why the Prime Minister of Japan reads The Reader's Digest

"In this age of unrest, the work of The Reader's Digest, of which I am an avid reader, is of great significance. The Digest publishes the same articles simultaneously in all parts of the civilized world, and, by so doing, it deepens the mutual feelings of concern and good-will among different peoples. I earnestly wish for us further development in this difficult world."
Ichiro Hatoyama, Prime Minister of Japan

Summer Vacation?
Learn to speak SPANISH, fulfill language requirement, increase your EARNING power, in AIR-CONDITIONED comfort. 11 weeks course $433.00. Folder free. Latin American Institute Station A, Hattiesburg, Miss.

INSIST ON OUR BETTER SANITONE DRY CLEANING

It's Best for the Finest Garments... Best for All Your Family's Clothes!
Nothing we could possibly say about our dry cleaning would tell half as much as the first suit or dress we clean for you. Try us . . . and you'll see, feel and smell the difference in our Sanitone Service! All dirt out. Spots gone. Perspiration removed! Butter press lasts longer. And it costs no more than ordinary dry cleaning! For special garments . . . for all your family's clothes there's nothing like our Sanitone Dry Cleaning. Call us today and see for yourself!
SANITONE
SUPERIOR CLEANERS
308 SOUTH MONROE
Phone 2-0652

In April Reader's Digest don't miss:
CONDENSATION FROM $3.50 BOOK: "DELIVER US FROM EVIL." Fleeing the Reds, the Vietnamese came; old women with collarbones shattered by rifle butts, children with sticks driven into their ears. Courageous exploits of a young Navy doctor who won the love and admiration of people who expected only death at the hands of an American.
WHAT ABOUT THE DEAD SEA SCROLLS? How the discovery of these now-famous documents (fragments of the earliest known version of the Bible) throws new light on the origins of Christianity.
AN EASTER SERMON. Here, in a condensation from Peter Marshall's sermon "Because He Rose," is Easter's stirring message of hope, as interpreted by the beloved chaplain.
APPROVED KILLING IN MISSISSIPPI. A Negro boy, Emmett Till, was abducted by two white men and shot—yet the jury found them not guilty. Facts the jury never heard in the "Wolf-Whistle Murder."
Get April Reader's Digest at your newsstand today—only 25¢
40 articles of lasting interest, including the best from leading magazines and current books condensed to save your time.

THE ACTIVATED CHARCOAL FILTER
FILTER TIP TAREYTON CIGARETTES
MODERN SIZE
All the pleasure comes thru...
the taste is great!
Here's the best in filtered smoking—Filter Tip Tareyton, the filter cigarette that gives you rare tobacco taste and Activated Charcoal filtration. And Filter Tip Tareyton smokes milder, smokes smoother, draws easier. All the pleasure comes thru... the taste is great!
THE BEST IN FILTERED SMOKING
FILTER TIP TAREYTON
PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES
©A.T.CO.

The Press Table

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

WE BEG TO DIFFER—

Not too long ago, one of our staff members, Pierce Dombeck, had a short note in one of his columns concerning the FSU-Florida swimming meet which the Gators won by a count of 45-43 in Gainesville.

He hinted that perhaps all was not clear on one particular race in the meet, and this brought a rise from Lynch, sports editor of the Florida, paper, the Alligator.

Lynch commented on the "great amount of publicity" FSU was getting, then finished by saying that "For your information, Mr. Lehmbeck, we're (Florida) going to win five out of the last six events between the two schools."

In reply, we might say this, Mr. Lynch. Possibly the reason that Florida State is getting their deserved publicity these days might be because our Seminoles are building a minor sports power here, eclipsing your own Gators.

After all, a team makes a good share of its own publicity, and FSU's teams this year have done just that in plenty of wins, and big ones.

As for this "five out of six", that means that you'll have to win the other tennis match, the golf match, both baseball games and the track meet, with only one loss.

Since Florida won the first tennis skirmish, that leaves the aforementioned five. We doubt that the Gators can win four of five, and believe that the shoe will be on the other foot.

We point out, that the Seminole golfers thoroughly trashed your Gators, 22½-4½ here earlier this season, then went on to duplicate the match with a win in the state tournament.

We have reason to believe that we have the best baseball team around, and a 13-1 mark to date bears out that. If you have your doubts.

Even conceding the other tennis match and the track meet, and believe me we're not, that leaves the score 3-2.

Counting our state victories in golf and swimming, the score stands 7-2 (including Frosh matches) right now.

We make our publicity with victories, Mr. Lynch, and we suggest that you do some of the same before making any rash predictions.

We look forward to one of the hottests ports rivalries in the south between our two schools and I'm sure you'll do too.

Unfortunately, words don't make victories.

ON THE TOURNAMENT—

Florida State's first annual invitational baseball tournament here for the past seven days has been given cool reception by both fans and baseball officials alike. Sports publicity director Elgin White points out that one has been a good crowd for almost every game, estimating about 400-500 fans for the afternoon games, and over 900 for one night game, the FSU-Wisconsin clash.

Over 50 major-league scouts were on hand at the start of the tourney and there were still about 10 or 15 left as the tourney swung into the final day.

Overall, the baseball wasn't too bad, but as was expected this early in the season, there were very few well-pitched games.

Somebody commented that games like 18-8, 13-12, 15-10, 15-4, 12-5 and so on Indicated that the hitters had the jump on the moundsmen, but another reporter commented that it was the infielders not the hitters who were making the pitchers.

The Seminoles alone made 23 errors in their first five games, but the Brown Bruins eclipsed this with 10 in only two, 10 in a contest with West Virginia Tuesday night.

However, there's a story behind Brown's particular difficulties which could also be said of many of the other schools competing—no practice.

With the majority of the schools coming from the north or the mildest, many of them came with no workouts whatsoever beforehand. Baseball is difficult in two feet of snow.

Russ Graves, covering the games for the Providence Journal, points out that the Saturday game with Wisconsin was the first time that any of the Brown team had touched gloves and bats this year.

On top of that, the Tuesday night contest with West Virginia was the first night game any of the Bruins had ever played in their baseball careers.

With the lack of practice added to the difficulty of seeing the ball when playing under the lights for the first time, it's not hard to understand why the Bruins made the errors.

Despite three staggering losses of 18-8, 15-4, and 18-8, their pitchers giving up 31 runs in three games, Graves says that the Brown coach was happy that the Bruins were getting well enough to score 20 themselves.

Tribe Rally Tops Wisconsin, 4-3

Barton's Single Beats Badgers

Florida State's baseballers played in the finals of their own tournament here last night, but if coach Danny Litwhiler had one less right-handed batter It might have been different.

Litwhiler brought his last right-handed batter, unknown Poy Barton, off the bench Wednesday night to pinch-hit against Wisconsin southpaw Joan Aehl with two out in the ninth inning and the winning run on base.

Barton tagged the first pitch for a single which—coupled with Wisconsin center fielder Bill Rubin's error—gave the Seminoles a thrilling 4-3 victory.

Earlier in the day, the University of Illinois scored the winning run in a similar two-out situation and edged West Virginia, 7-6 in 10 innings, to join FSU in the finals.

The Tribe trailed 3-1 going into the ninth, but with one down shortstop Pfil Hunt poled a tremendous home run clearing everything, including the bleachers, in left field.

Pitcher Max Long walked and with two down Hamp Bisbee was sent in to run for him. Carlee Hendrix slapped a first pitch single sending Bisbee to third and Litwhiler brought in Barton

Barton's first single dropped in right center, scaring Bisbee with the tying run, but Navy centerfielder Rubin fumbled the ball and Hendrix raced home with the winning score.

Wisconsin broke the ice, tallying in the fifth on a walk and two hits and then in the sixth, John Demerith hit his fourth home run of the tournament with a man on to give the Badgers a 3-0 margin.

The Seminoles' first run came in the bottom of the eighth on a hit and two more Wisconsin errors, of which the losers made five altogether.

It was Long's second win of the tournament and his fourth of the year against no losses. It was also the second time the Tribe had beaten Aehl in the tourney.

Hendrix, Long and outfielder Bob Board also contributed two hits to the winners' cause.

Pictorial photo: Adrian Allen

SAFE BY A HAIR. Seminole first baseman Fred Twomey reaches for the ball, but Wisconsin's Bunk Holt beats it for an infield hit in the top of the fifth inning. FSU won 4-3.

Medley Relay Team Seeks National Title

By DAVE EVANS
Flambeau Sports Writer

The Seminoles' state AAU 400-yard medley relay champions will splash-off against some of America's greatest teams when they compete in the National AAU swimming meet held at New Haven today and Saturday.

The team of Ken Abbott, Joel Jacobs, Dick Rhoton, and Jim Julian who set the state AAU record at Gainesville last week, is outing have been training hard for this meet.

Although the opposition will be rough, Coach Jim Rulla believes his team can place high if they put out and swim.

Their opponents read like a "Who's Who" in American Swimming with such top teams as Yale, Johns Hopkins and the New Haven Swim Club joined against them.

Ken Abbott, a Sophomore from Birmingham, Alabama, is the AAU junior national 220 yard backstroke record holder. A former Prep All-America, Ken has been a consistent point winner for coach Rulla in all strokes.

Breast stroker Joel Jacobs, a former Ft.ta Schorl All-America from Fort Lauderdale has been a regular winner this year.

He only lost twice in dual competition both times to Hal Stolz of Georgia, the NCAA record holder.

Senior Co-Captain Dick Rhoton has won his letter all four years, swimming in almost all events.

His big challenge this year is fellow Ernie Stolz's place in the relay team.

Jim Julian, a Junior from Jacksonville holds the school record in the 50 yard freestyle and is considered one of the best sprinters in the South.

Coach Rulla is entering each of his men in the individual events along with the relay.

Linksters Seek 7th Dual Win

The undefeated Florida State University golf team will play host to Stetson University tomorrow afternoon.

The Seminoles held an early season 27-0 victory over the Hatters, but Stetson should be improved at this point in the season and may give FSU a rough time.

On Monday, April 9, the FSU golfers will journey to Atlanta, Georgia to meet the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets. Tech was the only team to defeat the Seminole linksmen in 1955 by the close margin of 13½-12½.

Dr. Don Veller, FSU golf coach, revealed that the match slated for today at Jacksonville Navy has been cancelled by request of the Navy team.

Thus far this season the smooth swinging Seminoles have amassed an overall 6-0 record. Not included in this was first place in the State Intercollegiate Tourney at Ocala.

The six wins include victories over Navy, Florida Southern, University of Florida, Auburn, Georgia and Alabama.

Bob Dunn, Ed Jenkins, Harry Shoemaker, Bunk Berry, Bill Shelton, Jack Veghte and Bob Bove have been the main pointgetters for FSU this season.

Thinclads Tackle Davidson, Mercer

After battering Mississippi Southern in an opening meet, the Seminole tracksters go after their second win of the year in meets with Davidson and Mercer in Macon, Ga. tomorrow.

Jack Terwilliger won the 100 and 220 yd sprints and anchored a winning mile relay team as the Seminoles battered Mississippi Southern, 80-42 in the opening meet here.

Terwilliger and Javelin man Ron Weaver were the only men to place on the Florida Relays March 31 despite some of the top competition in the South.

Terwilliger finished fourth in the hundred as Duke's Dave Sime won in a meet and time of 9.5 only 2 off ice all-time national record.

Weaver finished fourth in the javelin, where a meet record throw was also set by the winner, with a toss of over 191 feet.

FSU Gymnasts In Georgia AAU

Tomorrow the Florida State gymnasts leave for Atlanta, Ga. to compete in the Georgia A.A.U. gymnastic championships. This will be the last meet before they travel to Penn St. April 26-27 for the National A.A.U. championships and Olympic trouts.

Southeastern title Seminole attack Saturday will be Jack Wynn and Don Holder. Mike is the 1955 national co-champion in the all-around event and Holder is a former olympic and Pan-American games star in all-round and side horse.

Other Tribesmen participating in the meet will be Marsico Cesta, Roger Webb, Jim Tassaka, Freshman Chuck Cleio, and the whole NCAA team led by co-captains Rafael Lecuona and Ronnie Amster.

In an exhibition with Cuba and Mexico, over the Easter holidays the Florida State team won practically every honor and were given an outstanding ovation for the splendid performances.

Don Holder, FSU's prime Olympic candidate, was the toast of the town after a sterling performance that saw him win four events, including the title of best all-around performer. Holder won the side-horse, the horizontal bar, and the parallel bar exhibitions in addition to his all-around title.

Jamie Ashmore, FSU's NCAA free exercise champion, took the calisthenics title, while Chick Cleio won the lone-horse event.

"SCIENCE - EASY"

"IF YOU ARE HAVING TROUBLE WITH THAT SCIENCE COURSE, YOU NEED A SCIENCE WHEEL. COME IN AND SEE ONE. MAKE THAT MIDTERM EASY . . . !"

"WE HAVE ALL YOUR DAILY NEEDS. DROP IN AND BROWSE. IF YOU DON'T SEE IT, ASK FOR IT. WE PAY CASH FOR YOUR USED TEXT BOOKS AT . . .

BILL'S BOOK STORE

Mountaineers Halt Streak . . .

Ken Abbott and Jim Julian (foreground) and Dick Rhoton and Joel Jacobs will represent Florida State at the National AAU meet in New Haven, Conn. today.

A 13-12 defeat by West Virginia marred what would have been an unblemished record for Florida State's baseball team.

The Seminoles seemed well on their way to victory number 14, but three hits and a costly error ended FSU's supremacy on the diamond. With two men on base in the eighth inning Ed Lenart blasted a triple to cut the score at 12 all.

Then an error by first baseman Ham Bisbee let Lenart romp home with the winning run.

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame were no puzzle to Seminole bats as the Tribe jumped off to a six run first inning and coasted in the rest of the way. The big bit of the inning was a triple by Pfil Hunt with the bases loaded.

Max Long was credited with the win He pitched for relief before being relieved by Jerry Boner and Ronald Fraser.

Wisconsin

FSU's second tournament game saw them edge out Wisconsin's Badgers 3-2 The Seminoles had to come from behind a 3-2 score in the bottom of the seventh inning for the win. Jim Atwood started for Jeff and went six frames before giving way to southpaw John Ash who was credited with the win.

In the opener for the Tribe, southpaw Tony Aviable rapped up his third victory of the year as he pitched the Seminoles to a 3-2 victory over North Carolina.

Aviable struck out 12 men while giving up six hits and seven walks.

The Tarheels loaded the bases in the first but Aviable retired up and struck out the last man in each of the innings

FSU struck early, in the first inning two walks, an error, and Fred Twomey's single produced two runs.

SAE, PDT Hold Top Spot In Frat Intramural Volleyball

The vacation lay-off showed up in the play of volleyball leagues when they resumed play Tuesday night. The games were wild and erratic, with winners being arrived at mostly by opponents errors.

In the Fraternity round - robin playoffs between the two high teams in each league begin next Tuesday night in the women's gym at 5:30, 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30 p.m.

In the National League SN has won a place, and SAE must beat LCA and TC to get in. SAE has lost none to date, but at press time last night they were playing LCA and TC.

In the American League PDT is undefeated, but DTD, TEP, and PKP all have a chance to place 1-2.

Monday night the dorm championships continue: at 7 Baptists play Senor Rail and at 7:45 Penthouse meets Methodists. At 6 TEP plays DTD in the final frat league match of the year.

Softball

Tonight pries the lid off the softball season with 4 games on the schedule:

4:15 SL—KS vs PKT
5:15 No. 3—SAE vs TC
5:30 No. 1—LCA vs TEP
7:30 No. 2—PDT vs SPE

Mon. April 9

4:15 No. 3—ATO vs SC
5:15 No. 3—PKP vs DTD
5:30 No. 1—PKT vs SN
7:00 No. 1—TEP vs KA

Netmen, Emory Play Tomorrow

Florida State's tennis team will attempt to get back to winning ways when they tackle Emory University tomorrow afternoon.

The netmen dropped three matches last week to Miami, Florida and Indiana to put them below the .500 mark for the season's play. They now have a 4-5 record.

Miami one of the top tennis teams in the country year after year blanked the Seminoles, 9-0, which was their 53 consecutive victory on the courts.

Providing additional strength will be Lex Hester, Fred Shirreff, Charles Nordhimer, and Frank Bryan who will backup lettermen Hal Schaus and Shelton Ashmore.

The Tribe holds decisions over Southern Illinois, Ohio State and Georgia Tech.

YES!
You're in for a treat! We're ready and anxious to serve the University students— and you'll like what you find out at Capital Truck Center. The food's delicious —come out soon and see for yourself!

CAPITAL TRUCK CENTER
Located on the New Quincy Highway

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

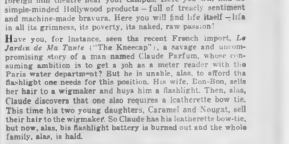
FLORIDA
ENDS TUESDAY
"Anything Goes"
—also—
BING CROSBY
JEANMAIRE
DONALD O'CONNOR
MITZI GAYNOR

STATE
ENDS SATURDAY
"BACKLASH"
RICHARD WIDMARK
DONNA REED

SUNDAY - TUESDAY
"THE HIDDEN PLANET"
Anne Francis
Walter Pidgeon

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR
ENDS SATURDAY
"DRAGNET"
JACK WEBB
—also—
"OUTLAWS OF THE PANHANDLE"
CHARLES STARRETT
SUNDAY - MONDAY
"BETRAYED"
Clark Gable
Lana Turner

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN on WOODVILLE HWY.
ENDS SATURDAY
Walt Disney's
"LADY & THE TRAMP"
—also—
"Cry of Vengeance"
Mark Stevens
SUNDAY - MONDAY
"ROAD TO DENVER"
John Payne



On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Barefoot Boy with Cheek," etc.)

VIVE LE POPCORN!

The other day as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil (Philip Morris, incidentally, has no premium) and not surprising when you consider that they have the best cigarettes, which is not surprising when you consider that they buy the best tobacco and the best paper and put them together with skill and loving care and rush them to your tobacco counter, fresh and firm and loaded with gentle smoking pleasure to lull the palate and beguile the senses and shoo the blues the other day, I say, as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil (I have, incidentally, the second largest ball of tinfoil in our family. My brother Eleazar's is the largest—it is a foot and a half in diameter—but, of course, he is taller than I), the other day, as I was saying, while walking down the street picking up tinfoil, I passed a campus and right there on the campus was a booth specialized in showing foreign films. "Hmmmm," I said to myself, "I wonder how come so many theaters which specialize in showing foreign films are located near campuses?"

And the answer came right back to me: "Because foreign films are full of culture, art, and esoterica, and where is culture more rife, art more rampant, and esoterica more endemic than on a campus? Nowhere, that's where!"

I hope that all of you have been taking advantage of the foreign film theatre near your campus. Here you will find no simple-minded Hollywood products — full of frenzy, excitement and machine-made suspense. Here you will find life itself — life in all its grimness, its poverty, its naked, raw passion!

Have you, for instance, seen the recent French import, La Jardin de Ma Tante ("The Grandstand"), a savage look at uncompromising story of a man named Claude Parfum, whose consuming ambition is to get a job in the grandstand with the Paris water department? But he is unable, alas, to afford the flashlight one needs for this position. His wife, Bon-Bon, sells her hair to a wigmaker and buys him a flashlight. Then, alas, Claude discovers that one also requires a leatherette bow tie. This time his two young daughters, Caramel and Nougat, sell their hair to the wigmaker. So Claude has his leatherette bow-tie, but now, alas, his flashlight battery is burned out and the whole family, alas, is bald.

Or have you seen the latest Italian masterpiece, La Donna E Mobile ("I Ache All Over"), a heart shattering tale of a boy and his dog? Malvolio, a Venetian lad of nine, loves his little dog with every fibre of his being. He has one great dream: to enter the dog in the annual dog show at the Doge's palace. But that, alas, requires an entrance fee, and Malvolio, alas, is penniless. However, he saves and saves and steals and finally gets enough together to enter the dog in the show. The dog, alas, comes in twenty-third. Malvolio sells him to a vivisectionist.

Or have you seen the new Japanese triumph, Kibutai-Sen ("The Radish"), a pulse-stirring historical romance about Yamoto, a poor farmer, and his daughter Ichiel who are accosted by a warlord on their way to market one morning? The warlord cuts Yamoto in half with his samurai sword and runs off with Ichiel. When Yamoto recovers, he seeks out Ichiel's fiance, Chutzpah, and together they find the warlord and kill him. But, alas, the warlord was also a sorcerer and he has whimsically turned Ichiel into a whooping crane. But loyal Chutzpah takes her home where he feeds her fish heads for twenty years and keeps hoping she'll turn back into a woman. She never does. Alas.

©1956 Max Shulman, 10-4

The makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column, hope that if there's smoking in the balcony of your campus theatre, it will be today's new, gentle Philip Morris you'll be smoking.

In Grecian Times

Theta Chi Celebrates 100th Anniversary This Weekend

Theta Chi will celebrate its 100th anniversary this weekend.

The fraternity was founded April 10, 1856 at Norwich University in Norwich, Vermont. Since then, the organization has formed 117 chapters.

The FSU Theta Chi chapter will join three others in the Florida District at the University of Florida this weekend. The Florida Festival, a centennial celebration and business meeting will be held there at the recently constructed home of the Tau chapter.

National Fete

A national centennial celebration will take place Sept. 5 through 9, at Norwich University, where a five-day program has been planned.

Delegates from all 117 chapters of the fraternity will be in attendance. Bob Tetzlaff will be the FSU Gamma Rho delegate and Ed Hinson is alternate.

New DZ House

The Delta Zetas are now living in their new house on West Jefferson St. An Open House is being planned for May 11 and 12.

The DZs, winners of the campus Sing, are tuning their voices again for a concert with the Chi Omegas April 12. They will sing selections from "Carousel."

Bean King?

Know what's a Bean Party? Well, the DZs sure had one recently with the Kappa Sigs and the highlight of the evening was the crowning of a "Bean King and Queen."

Pledge class officers of the Delta Zetas are Ann Duncan, president; Patsy Lemons, vice president; Willa Schmit, secretary, treasurer; Sara Hobbs, Junior Panhellenic representative; June Rodgers, song leader; and Carol Rule, social chairman.

Casanetan Host

Alpha Omega and Alpha Xi Delta will have its national convention here this weekend.

Representatives are expected from nine southern universities and colleges.

The schedule includes a banquet beginning at 8 p.m. tonight at the Duval Hotel where an initiation and pledging ceremony will be held.

After workshops tomorrow, a formal banquet will be held in the Suwannee Room starting at 8 p.m. Mrs. Lydia Michaels will be the speaker. The closing meeting is Sunday at 8 a.m.

Hobo Party

Social life of the Chi Omegas wasn't exactly tidy — bros Wednesday night. Dressed like tramps, they attended a "Hobo" party at the Kappa Alpha house. This weekend the Chi Os will retreat to the coast.

New Chi O pledge officers are Virginia Tillman, president; Jackie Douglas, vice president; Jane Anderson, secretary-treasurer; and Tilly Murphree, activities.

For an Easter project, the girls made an Easter basket for children in Tallahassee Memorial Hospital.

KD's Entertain

Kappa Alphas were entertained before the holidays by the Kappa Deltas. At an Easter party, candy was given away with prizes going to those who found the most and least.

The Delta Gammas also entertained before Easter. The pursuits were underprivileged children and the party was held at Jane Chapman's home.

Judy Abrams was given the Alpha Lambda Delta award for having and maintaining the highest average in the freshman class.

Sarah Gipson, DG golfer, was the youngest player in the semi-finals in the Tallahassee Women's Annual Spring Tournament.

Pan-American Day Scheduled Friday

Pan-American Day is to be celebrated on campus next Friday according to an announcement made yesterday by the four sponsoring organizations.

Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, Los Picaros, Spanish club; Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary, and the International Club are correlating their efforts on the program.

Climaxing the celebration will be a program in Longmire Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. next Friday.

Juniors Set Class Picnic

The annual Junior Class Picnic will be held on Sunday, April 15th from 3 to 6 p.m. at the University's picnic ground, "James Woods", across from Campbell Stadium.

Tickets are being sold next week for 75 cents announced Bobby Temple, Junior Class President. The menu includes fried chicken, cole slaw, baked beans, rolls, a dessert, and iced tea.

Roger Berry, general chairman, has arranged for a few traditional attractions, including a pie eating contest, a sack race, and a band. All this is in keeping with a typical old-fashioned picnic.

Knights Play IFC Weekend; Hold Concert

The Auburn nights will provide the music for the annual IFC Weekend Dance Friday night in the Suwannee Room next Friday night.

The "Capers" will feature a concert by the Knights at 3:30 Friday afternoon in the Ampitheater. A beauty contest will be held during the concert with contestants sponsored by the fraternities entered.

Last Fall's queen, Jean Hayden, will be on hand for the ceremonies. The candidates will be judged in shorts and bathing shirts, and evening gowns.

Queen Announced

Winner of the afternoon IFC beauty contest and her court will be announced at the formal dance.

Another feature planned for the dance by the Greeks is the presentation of the "Hostess Sorority of the Year." The award is given to the sorority voted by the fraternities as the best party givers, according to Jimmy Jonson, IFC president.

Individual fraternity parties will be held Saturday night to wind up the IFC "Capers."

IFC Chairman

General chairman for the event is Frank Beckham. Pi Kappa Alpha president.

Vernon Edgar, ATO president heads the Beauty Contest committee; Ray Hennann, Phi Kappa Tau, the decorations and arrangements; Norman Burth, Sigma Phi Epsilon, chaperons and refreshments; Gale Porter, Phi Delta Theta, publicity; Jim Rahenson, Pi Kappa Phi, tickets; and Bill Nebken, Theta Chi, band and invitations.

Speaker States

(Continued from Page 4)

will be bitterly resented."

During his lecture, presented by Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary, Dr. Beck traced the development of democracy after the stimulus provided by the American republic.

"The American ideal of freedom has been followed in Europe in the past, not because Americans tried to spread democracy there, but because the Europeans were attracted by the ideal," he reasoned.

He said Europe is "grateful for American aid, but disturbed by its own sense of weakness and no longer willing to initiate for fear that be a confession of debility."

Campus Cutie Of The Week

MISS DOT JOB

Flambeau photo. Dick Parks

Junior from Ft. Lauderdale majoring in Home Economics

Ten Seniors Are Named To Hall Of Fame

Names of the ten seniors chosen this year for the Hall of Fame have been revealed.

Men chosen were Graham Caruthers, organizations; Bob Crenshaw, athletics; Jim Jonson, organizations; Clyde Moore, politics; and Tom Woods, dramatic and speech arts.

Women chosen were Barbara Cooper, organizations, Ellen Snow Frank, publications, Barbara Graham, dramatic and speech arts and politics; Jayleen Robertson Woods, publications, and Nancy Vaughn, organizations.

Committee Selects

The awards, determined by a committee representing different phases of university life, are considered the highest that can be given a senior.

In order to qualify, a student must graduate with a bachelor's degree in the year honored, and must have attended FSU for at least four semesters.

In addition, he must have at least a 2.3 over-all average, and have rendered outstanding leadership in politics, organizations, publications, athletics, the dramatic and speech arts, university functions, music, or scholarship.

He must also have gained recognition in at least two major fields with a minor in one other field.

Final Approval

A committee of nine juniors, presided over by the president of the junior class, makes the selections. Five other students of junior standing, appointed by the Student Body President, make up the committee, as well as the Dean of Men, Dean of Women, and Dean of Student Welfare. Final approval is made by the President of the University.

Members of the Hall of Fame will receive a certificate during a special program, and their names will be listed in the Tally-Ho.

Than FSU Men

Survey Proves Coeds Brighter

If grades are the standard, Florida State coeds prove to be brighter than their male classmates.

This was revealed recently after all FSU men compiled a 2.2565 average under the four point system last semester, women topping them with a 2.3509.

Sororities, with a 2.6136 overall average, came out better than the rating for all women.

Independent men, however, outranked their Greek-letter classmates. Fraternities compiled a 2.1109 against the 2.2565 for the entire male student body.

Freshmen men copped the unenviable low rating with a 1.8318.

Highest average came from graduate women with a 3.3594.

Other figures in detail follow:

Freshmen, 2.0146; Freshmen women, 2.1936; Sophomores, 2.4579; Sophomore men, 2.2471; Sophomore women, 2.6625.

Juniors, 2.7154; Junior men, 2.5943; Junior women, 2.9286; Seniors, 2.9232; Senior men, 2.7951; Senior women, 3.2117; Special students, 2.4736; Special men students, 2.7826; Special women students, 2.7325.

Graduates, 3.2385; graduate men, 3.1750; undergraduates, 2.3572, undergraduate women, 2.1622 and undergraduate women, 2.5360.

Eyman Retires As Education Dean

Dr. Ralph L. Eyman, a former teacher in a one-room schoolhouse who has helped train 5,600 prospective teachers, retired Sunday as dean of the School of Education.

Dr. Eyman has been dean of the school since 1937. Since he joined the education faculty here in 1928 FSU has turned out more teachers than any other institution in the South.

The educator grew up on an Illinois farm where from 1904 to 1907 he taught in a one-teacher school. Later, after a degree from the University of Illinois, he taught chemistry and physics at Kent State College and agriculture at Illinois State Normal. From 1929 to 1936 he was a county agent.

Recalled Trip

At a dinner honoring him on the eve of his last day of service Dr. Dean S. Campbell, PSU president, recalled a fishing expedition at St. Marks 25 years ago in which the two along with several other educators, discussed plans out of which grew The Florida Program of Curriculum Development.

This, Dr. Campbell declared, was "the first of a series of statewide programs of teacher improvement which have served every great part of our country."

Dr Mode L. Stone takes over as acting dean. He told the editors his predecessor "redeemed the concept of a college professor. He helped to strike away the garments of abstraction and solitude, raiments so characteristic of academic man, and grab him in the warm cloak of humanity and friendliness."

From 1936 to 1942 Dr. Eyman took leave to serve as a specialist in vocational education in Thailand as a representative of the Mutual Security Agency.

10 Enrolled

As a result of his Thailand visit 30 students now are enrolled at PSU from the country.

Six of them, at the dinner

DEAN EYMAN

honoring Dr. Eyman, gave dance the "Ram Wow." Of the students, Sudhri Goojana, said:

"He seems to us as our fa His office seems to be our So it is not unreasonable of us to call him 'Dad'."

Delta Sigma Pi Launches Aid Drive

Delta Sigma Pi, professional fraternity of business stu is launching a drive to a Salvation Army.

They will collect old from next Monday Wednesday.

According to Bob Sc public relations director fraternity, anyone desiri contribute to this project deliver clothing to 402 S. W ward Street or call 2-3209 pickup.

Buy Your Films have them developed at the most convenient store

CHEVET'S
Corner of College and Adams
the best assortment of Cameras and Equipment
You Are Welcome at
CHEVET'S
200 S. Adams
Phone 3-3785

Make your pick the "pick of the pros"—SPALDING

You'll stop a lot of horsehide with either of these fine Spalding gloves. These are the very same gloves used by two great names in baseball—Alvin Dark, short-stop captain of the New York Giants and Phil Rizzuto, veteran shortstop of the New York Yankees.

Both these gloves are made with the finest leather, deep grease pocket and solid web in trap. You don't have to break them in; Spalding does that for you. You can see the complete Spalding line of fine gloves at your Spalding dealer's, now.

Members of Spalding's Advertising Staff

SPALDING SETS THE PACE IN SPORTS

WFSU F M SCHEDULE

FRIDAY	SATURDAY	SUNDAY
A M	8:30 Nat. Hootnnf	9:00 FM in AM
2:00 FM in AM	8:45 N.B.C. Music	9:30 U. of Fl. Salute
3:00 Kodiakasts	9:00 FM	2:00 Victory
3:30 Kodiakasts	2:00 Matinee	2:30 Sunshine
P M	3:00 Music U Wi	3:00 Mail Wa
2:00 Matinee	3:30 Kodiakasts	3:30 Let's Day
2:45 Sp. A Day	4:00 Ki. Fi. Concrt	4:00 Ki. Concrt
3:00 Concert	5:00 A Masked B	5:00 Recitotown B
3:30 Verdi	5:30 Concertones	5:30 Concertones
4:30 Verdi	6:00 Sp. Gu.	6:00 Student
5:00 Verona Orch	6:30 Carousel	6:30 Angel Clas
5:30 Mendelssonn	7:00 Angel Clas	7:00 Dentis Tease
6:00 Rec. Concrt	7:30 Caruthers	7:30 Melachrino
6:30 Rec. Concrt	8:00 Symphony	8:00 Strauss
8:00 News	8:15 Duval Stud	8:15 Elver. Concrt
8:15 Dentis Tease	8:30 Mount. Air	8:30 Concrt Hall
8:30 Dentis Tease	9:00 Classic	9:00 Concrt
9:00 Perry Farth	9:15 Riff Orch	9:15 British Press
9:15 PBT Prof	9:30 Ki. Fi. Concrt	9:30 Music U Wi
9:30 Music U Wi	10:30 Strauss	10:00 Liszt
10:00 Butterfly	11:30 Concert Hall	10:30 Tchaikovsky
10:30 Concert Hall	1:45 Outlook	11:00 Italian Stud
11:45 Outlook	1:00 Showcase	11:30 Showcase
1:00 Showcase	1:30 Late Music	12:00 Encore
1:30 Late Music	1:45 Kodiakasts	12:30 Encore
1:45 Kodiakasts	SUNDAY	12:45 Perry Farth
2:00 Encl. of Jade	8:45 Perry Farth

J. Paul Sheedy* Was Always A Scapegoat Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

It got Sheedy's goat the way everyone kidded him about his messy hair. Even his girl hovered in; "Sheedy, you shaggy stinker, you lack confidence — you're pasture prone." Well J. Paul felt pretty sheepish about this, so he tried Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he has confidence in many situations because he knows his hair looks healthy and handsome, the way Nature intended . . . neat but not greasy. Wildroot Cream-Oil contains the *agent af Lanolin, the very best part of Nature's finest hair and scalp conditioner. Try it yourself. Butter get a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil today. With Wildroot on your hair, the girls will goat to say laughs for a date with you.

*af 131 Sa. Harris Hall Rd., Williamsville, N.Y.

Wildroot Cream-Oil gives you confidence

Texas Museum Features FSU Faculty Exhibit

The first juant exhibit by the art and arts education faculties of Florida State University opened Friday in Corpus Christi, Tex.

Forty-six works of 19 artists on the faculties are on exhibit at the Centennial Museum under sponsorship of the Corpus Christi Art Foundation. The show will last until April 14.

Ralph Hurst, instructor in the Arts Education Department who has arranged the exhibition said the works exhibited will include oil and encaustic painting, Polymer tempera, water colors, graphic arts, jewelry, sculpture, ceramics, weaving, lamp construction, and wood turning.

Exhibitors are Florence Kaws, John Kirk, Donn Steward, Ivan Johnson, Howard W. Jones, Karl Zerbe, Mary Lou Kuhn, Laura Lee, Paul Edmonston, Fred W. Meitzler, Jr., Arthur Newcomb, Jr., George P. Bluestein, Rudolph Jegart, Harold E. Sutton, William Watson, Nancy Douglas, Mary Mosely, W. H. Hively, and Hiral.

Dr. Smith Named Health Executive

Dr. Sara Louise Smith, head of the Health Education Department has been named vice-president-elect of the Health Education Division of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

As vice-president she will head this division of the national organization which held its biennial convention in Chicago last week.

Dr. Smith joined the faculty in 1951 after serving four years with the Florida Department of Education as consultant in health and safety education. She also has served as consultant to the National Education Association's Commission on Safety Education.

A graduate of Georgia State College for Women she taught there for several years before coming to Florida in 1946 as director of the Florida school—community health education project.

On Every Campus... College Men and Women are discovering what

VICEROYS are Smoother

Here is the reason: Only VICEROY has 20,000 filters in every tip—twice as many filters as the other two largest-selling filter brands—to give that smoother taste—that VICEROY taste!

VICEROYS are Smoother than any other cigarette. Because Viceroys have twice as many filters as the other two leading filter brands!

The exclusive Viceroy filter is made from pure cellulose—soft, snow-white, natural!

Old Spice SMOOTH SHAVE

Shaving at its best! OLD SPICE SMOOTH SHAVE in the pressurized container . . . gives a rich, velvety lather . . . remains firm and moist throughout your shave. And a unique, lubricating formula soothes your skin. For top performance and speed—make your next shave OLD SPICE SMOOTH SHAVE.

1.00

SHULTON New York • Toronto

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
TALLAHASSEE, FLA. C1

FLORIDA'S ONLY
Semi-Weekly
College Newspaper

The Florida Flambeau

RALLY TOMORROW
For Bicycle Race
(See Story, Page One)

Vol. XLI, No. 43

Published By The Students Of Florida State University

Tuesday, April 10, 1956

Board To Get Negro's Request For Admission

Body May Decide About Application At Coming Meet

The Board of Control said yesterday it has received from University President Doak S. Campbell the preliminary application of William C. Jones, Tallahassee Negro, for admission to Florida State University.

Jones, now finishing his undergraduate work at Hampton Institute in Virginia, applied last week for admission to the graduate School of Business.

Dr. J. Broward Culpepper, executive secretary to the board, said Jones yesterday that his application "will be brought to the attention of the State Board of Control in order that it may be taken under advisement."

The matter will probably be presented to the board by Culpepper at its next meeting scheduled for tomorrow and Thursday in Ft. Lauderdale.

The application was originally brought before President Campbell who said he sent it to the board "in accordance with general policy."

Jones is a graduate of Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University high school and his father is an employee of Florida A & M University.

Jones' application is the first ever reported by President Campbell since the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that a Negro, Virgil Hawkins, must be admitted to the law school of the University of Florida.

Seven Students Tried By Court

Seven cases have been tried recently by Honor Court Chief Justice Barbara Graham revealed last weekend.

Miss Graham released the results of the trials with comments on each "in line with a policy of giving out as much information about them as possible."

The first case, she said, dealt with a student who refused to return books after being confronted with evidence The student was suspended from school for one year.

Good Attitude

But, "the Chief Justice added, because of a good attitude, suspension will probably be only until the end of the semester."

Two women were convicted of lying to a residence counselor and have been sentenced to Honor Court probation for the rest of the school year. Miss Graham said "Because the two women turned themselves in, they were given a lighter penalty."

Another student received a suspended sentence for lying to a residence counselor when the latter found that nobody had requested her of a deception slip. She felt that the individual suffered enough from her own conscience." Miss Graham stated "This case is a true example of a working Honor System."

Student Suspended

Suspension from school was the penalty given in another Court case. "This person was already on administrative probation for deception earlier in the year," said the court official.

In another case involving cheating on an examination, Miss Graham said that the professor turned in papers as evidence, after which the student confessed. He received an "F" in the course, administrative probation and Honor Court probation.

Since he seemed unaware of the seriousness of the action, probation was added to the minimum penalty of an "F in the course," she continued.

Acquitted

A "not guilty" decision was handed down by the court in a case in which a student was charged with assisting and before an act of cheating without knowing it. Miss Graham stated.

"The individual was charged with being aware of cheating but upon investigation the court felt the person was unaware cheating was taking place and did not knowingly assist" she said.

In the final case, a student pleaded on Honor Court probation for deception and perjury was suspended from school for stealing several items, the official said.

"The individual later confessed to guilt, and counseling is being done through the home," Miss Graham concluded.

Flambeau photo, Charlie Rose

Going Around—Students square dancing at event held at Reservation Saturday night. Sponsors were Music Educators' National Convention. "Yipee!" says student at left foreground.

Class Elections Plans Underway

With the campaigns for major Student Government offices practically ended preparations for the class elections May 1 are beginning.

Betty Willmon, secretary of elections, said candidates for class offices and Senate seats may begin filing declarations of candidacy today.

The deadline, she announced, will be April 21 at 10 p.m. Registration blanks may be secured and submitted at the main desk in Longmire Building.

An estimate of expenses must be filed by April 24, a week before the election, at 5 p.m., Miss Willmon warned.

"If for any reason the candidate foresees that his expense estimate will be late, he must notify the secretary of elections immediately or his name will not appear on the official ballot" she declared.

One candidate was disqualified from today's Student Body elections after failing to turn in an expense estimate. Even though no expenses may be contemplated a form must be submitted.

Expense limits are $30 for class presidencies, $15 for other class offices, $20 for members of the courts, and $25 for student senators.

Campaigning will begin Tuesday, April 24, at 5 p.m.

Circus To Be Re-Televised

The recent nationwide television performance of "Flying High" student circus will be re-televised locally Sunday.

The program will go on the air at 6 p.m. over station WCTV, channel 6 announced Herschel Graves, manager of WCTV.

Twenty-nine students presented 11 acts during the hour-long Sealtest Big Top show March 31 over a national network.

Lowry Group Forming Here, Support Asked

Preparations for forming a Rumsey L. Lowry for Governor Club at Florida State University have been begun, temporary chairman Dick Roemheld announced yesterday.

Roemheld asked students interested in supporting Lowry to contact him at West Hall or call 384.

A Sophomore at FSU Roemheld said the club will "promote the election of a governor dedicated to the restoration of orderly government, the preservation of states' rights, the protection of the constitutional rights and liberties of all citizens, and who vigorously resists integration by every possible legal means."

Roemheld said that the recent application of a Negro to attend FSU did not influence his action but plans to start a club "I do feel however the application should cause students to take a more active interest in General Lowry's campaign."

Singers Slate Concert Tonite In Wescott

The University Singers will give a concert tonight at 8:15 in Westcott Auditorium.

With a few changes, it is the same program for which they were highly praised when they performed in Sarasota Saturday night.

Appearing as the climax of the FSU - Modern symposium, they were described by the Sarasota Herald-Tribune as a group which "could stand against many from larger Eastern institutions". The review went on to add that the "Singers . . . proved their unusually fine training and spirited interpretations" and that "there were many soloists who highlighted the skill of the ensemble which had unusual ease and harmony as well as versatility."

Under the direction of Dr Wiley L. Housewright, and accompanied by David Ward-Steinman, the soloists are Arthur Carter, Harriette Morrill, Beverly Brown, Mary Jane Morrison, Wendell Barthloff, Sam Jordan, Barbara Schaller Peck and Jerry Connell

Russian Selections

Three Russian selections begin the program: "Agnus Dei" by Kalinnikof, "Holy Radiant Light" by Gretchaninoff, and "Yonder! Yonder!" a folksong arranged by Gaines.

Southern and Negro spirituals are also included consisting of "Fair Ye Well My Darlin'" by a Southern folk-barker "Gentle Lena Clare" by Foster-Fitzgerald, "Campdown Races" by Foster-Buttolph, "He Ain't Comin' Here to Die No More" a Negro spiritual arranged by Ryder and "City Called Heaven" and "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" two Negro spirituals arranged by Page

(Continued on Page 4)

Two Are Named For College Book Board

Graham Carothers, and Greta Sims have been named to the College Board of the year volume of the "Going On College Handbook."

The book, published annually in Virginia, is designed to offer practical helps for students in looking forward to college, according to its publishers.

Nominated by college and national youth officials, members of the College Board serve as advisors to the editors in planning and developing the book.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

All juniors and seniors who have not taken the required general culture test may take it tonight at 7 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall.

Major Battle Being Fought For President

Student Body elections will be history tonight unless a run-off is necessary Friday in the six-candidate Board of Publications race.

Dave Bachman, Student Party candidate, and Jim E. "Jem" Moore, State Party standard-bearer, are fighting toe major campaign, that for president of the Student Body.

Bill Culleen, Student Party, and Bill Swigert, State Party, are seeking the vice-presidency. Men's and women's vice-presidencies respectively are sought by Charleen Close, Student, and Jan Kamitsis, State, and by James Davis, State, and Jim Soles, Student.

Faye Anthony, State Party, is running for secretary of Student Senate against Sylvia Kearson.

Patty Pascual, State, and Bob Porter, Student, are seeking the chairmanship of Traffic Court.

Mollie A. Carroll, Student, and Pat Rooney, State are running for president of University Recreation Association.

State Party BOP candidates are three seats on the Board of Publications is Priscilla Moss.

Student Party BOP candidates are Laird Anderson, Pat Brady and Max Whitmarsh. Russ Parrish and Don Heidel are running independently.

Students seeking to vote at any of five polling places, four of which will be open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., must bring their ID cards, the Elections Committee stipulates.

The polls will be located at the Student Center, Seminole Club in Westcott, at the bus stop in front of Bryan Hall, and on Landis Green. The poll will close at 5 p.m.

Results will be posted in 23 Education Building about 9 p.m., Betty Willmon, elections secretary, has announced.

Balota will be IBM-machine-counted type but space is provided for write-in ballots.

Flambeau photo, Tom Sawyer

What's That ,Teacher?—Looking at campaign material on elections board, youngsters seem to wonder what it's all about. They're charges of Ann Gwynn, who is majoring in Child Care here.

Elections Set Today; Board Runoff Possible

Presidential Race

(Note: The Florida Flambeau presents the information below as an open letter from The Politics Club).

Students:

In order that you may make a wise decision in voting for your Student Body President, the Politics Club of FSU presents an unbiased list of the qualifications of both presidential candidates.

'Jem' Moore

3 years University Senate
- a. Speaker Pro tem 2 years
- c. Committee Chairman for judicial rules and elections
- d. Led fight for reapportionment
- e. Worked on constitution and statutory revision
- f. Pressed for passage of school insurance.

Alpha Council vice president
Gold Key
Chairman of Homecoming, Intelligent Faith week, and class committees
Attache—House of Representatives, 1955
Active in Civic and Church Activities
Worked as Student Employee for University
Pre-Law Student

Dave Bachman

2 years University Senate
- a. Worked as chairman of the Insurance Committee, which secured lower rates
- b. Sponsored bill which allows organizations to keep entire fund raising proceeds
- c. Active in Statutory revisinn
- d. Chairman Senate Organizations, and Finance committees

One year on President's Cabinet
One year varsity debate squad
Scholastic record. 27
Officer in several campus organizations
Lived in Dormitory and other FSU housing
Member of ODK
Alpha Council Treasurer
Worked on Intelligent Faith Week Committees
Chairman of Homecoming Committee, 1954
Member of planning committee for new Student Union Building

Delta Zeta, Memary Four Are Guests

Collegians Concert Set Friday

Delta Zeta Sorority Chorus and The Memary Four Barbershop Quartet will be guest singers on a concert by the Collegians Friday night at 8:15 in Opperman Music Hall.

Delta Zeta won top honors in the women's division of Campus Sing this year, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia professional music fraternities.

Martha Sue Mizell, director of the group and chapter president, also serves as accompanist for the Collegians.

Gene Cokeroft, Danny Whipple, John Combs, and David Whipple make up the Memary Four. Two current and two former members of the Collegians, they are well-known for their barbershop quartet singing throughout the South.

Recently chosen as Distinguished Alumni of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Incorporated, the Memory Four will soon travel to Asheville, North Carolina, to compete for the regional championship.

Holds Office

Besides being a member of the quartet, Danny Whipple also holds the office of student director of the Collegians. James E. Harris is faculty director.

The concert will open with "Festive Overture" by Pfitzer-

(Continued on Page 4)

Concert Preparations—Are made by Collegians members. At piano is Jim Harris, director. L to r are Steve Kleid, Martha Sue Mizell and Bob Gregory, soloists at concert set for Friday.

Freshman Rally Set Tomorrow

The Freshman Class will hold a rally tomorrow night to boost its scheduled bicycle race, class officials announced.

The rally is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. in the music amphitheatre. The bicycle race is to be sponsored Thursday, April 26.

A pep band will play and school songs will be sung tomorrow, said Bill Clendinen, class president.

Other pre - contest activities scheduled include a meeting tonight at 9 in 305 Westcott of all fraternity and sorority representatives to the race.

Rules will be explained tonight, Clendinen noted.

Entries for King and Queen of the race, he stipulated, must be turned in at the Longmire main desk by Saturday. Only freshmen are eligible for the royalty contest, and no entry must submit petitions signed by 25 freshmen.

The race will be held on the Florida High School track. Twenty teams will be selected from preliminary heats

Leon's Cheerleaders Slate Alum Banquet

Reservations for the first Leon High School Cheerleader Alumni Banquet may be made now through April 13 by contacting the present cheerleaders at the high school, according to Leon officials.

The banquet will be held at the Silver Slipper in Tallahassee at 7 p.m., April 14. There is a charge of $1.50 per plate.

Noon Devotional Held Weekdays

Noonday devotionals are being held in the club-room on the second floor of Longmire, Monday through Friday at 12:35 to 12:50.

The Student Religious Association is making program plans for the year, according to newly-elected co-presidents Charlotte and Phyllis Patten.

Other officers include Frank Williams, vice-president; Rosemary Yarr, recording secretary; Lois Buchholz, corresponding secretary; and Rhon Charleton, treasurer.

The SRA is aiming to reach students who are not affiliated with the student houses as well as bringing together the members of other student organizations.

Present projects of SRA are compiling list of material to be available for student devotionals and planning devotionals for all possible television programs.

All students interested in the organization are welcomed to attend meetings held every Tuesday at 5:00 in Longmire, announced the presidents.

FILM CLUB SHOWING SET

Pennsylvania Blues will be shown twice Thursday night by the FSU Film Club in the Dem School Auditorium.

Showings of the 1951 South African film are scheduled for 6:30 and 8:40 p.m.

Penny Night Money Sets Scholarship

Money from the Mortar Board sponsored Penny-A-Minute Night will be used to sponsor a scholarship.

Applications must be in by April 24 for the $150 gift scholarship available to a junior or senior woman.

The money is to be used only for essecial needs, such as fixed fees or a repayment of loans, announced Nancy Vaughn, sponsor of Mortar Board proposal.

The scholastic standing of the applicant must be 2.84—the same as required for membership in Mortar Board.

Application should be made to the Chairman of the Committee on Scholarships, Loans, and Student Employment, who will screen the applications and consult with the President of Mortar Board for approval, of the student.

Mortar Board is a national Senior women's honorary dedicated to promoting scholarship,

FSU Above Hysteria

The advent of application for admission o Florida State University by a Negro student brings our student body face to face with the problem which some have shamefully said "will never happen here." But it has come, and we are confident that Florida State students will meet it in a manner which evidences their education, reason, and tolerance.

Not long ago, on this page, we noted that the University of Texas Student Assembly had adopted a resolution pledging to accept integration peacefully when it came to their university, and further pledging to oppose any violence which might ensue.

If our own FSU student senate would follow the example that Texas begun, it would be a meritable action on their part, and might set Florida State in the business world which is gaining momentum throughout the South.

Letter Reprimands Folsom

The Florida Flambeau reprints the following letter upon request, written as a public reprimand from the office of the Dean of Men to Robert Folsom, author of the article, "How Free Is College Journalism," published in the April 2 issue of the New Republic. Further comment by Folsom and the present editor of this publication are found on this page.

DEAR ROBERT:

After reading your article in the April 2 issue of The New Republic entitled, "How Free Is College Journalism," I asked you to come in for questioning. The New Republic described your article as the story of suppression of opinion at Florida State University." You indicated that suppression of opinion on our newspaper, The Florida Flambeau, has been carried on by the administration and most notably by our President, Dr. Doak S. Campbell. I am sure that you realize that this is a serious charge, and the object of inviting you in for questioning, as I explained to you at the time, was to determine whether or not you had ample evidence to support your charge.

You were editor of The Florida Flambeau throughout the 1954-55 school year, and I asked you what instances you had experienced first hand during that year which convinced you that the administration of the University was suppressing opinion in the Flambeau. I told you that you had never been called in by the president on any editorial matter connected with the newspaper and then I asked you if any other member of the administration had ever brought pressure upon you which could be construed as interfering with your free expression of editorial opinion, you said that Dean Oglesby, Dean of Students, invited you to his office on one occasion.

Additional questioning revealed that the reason for your conference with Dean Oglesby was that the Dean had heard that you were planning to publish the name of a young lady in a context which could be interpreted as "defamation of character." Dean Oglesby wanted to be certain that you were aware of the legal implications if you were contemplating such action. This incident did not represent an effort to suppress opinion.

In the course of the questioning you were not able to cite a single personal experience in which the administration interfered with your freedom of expression during your year as editor. In fact you revealed one outstanding example to the contrary.

In The New Republic article you refer to a public hearing in which President Campbell was involved and you say, "Of this case an editor wrote: 'The existence of a democratic student constitutional process on this campus is a sham'." When I asked you what editor you were quoting, you said that you were quoting yourself. Though you made this scathing criticism of the administration on the editorial page of The Florida Flambeau, you indicated that you never were once called in by the president or by any other member of the administration in an effort to suppress such comment. In the process of condemning the administration for suppression you have cited an example which is in direct contradiction to the thesis of your article.

It is my considered judgment, after questioning you, that in The New Republic article you have shown a lamentable disregard for facts which you could not help knowing because they were part of your personal experience. Therefore I am reprimanding you for having been guilty of a most reprehensible journalism which is itself inimical to the preservation of a free press. Also, since your article was published to a nation-wide reading audience, you have left me no choice but to make this reprimand a public one. It is being sent to The Florida Flambeau and to The New Republic for publication.

VERY TRULY YOURS,
SAMUEL R. NEEL, JR.
DEAN OF MEN

Notes On Spring

Spring has given a new coat of color to just about everything on the campus, including the drab gray of the walks of pipe which juts up from the road by Westcott gate. We had been hoping somebody would remove the hazardous crosby prehistoric object, but not so. Instead, it has received a coat of yellow paint.

Won't someone tell us what purpose it serves?

And while we're in Westcott circle, has anyone noticed that our fountain never fountains? Its pathetic trickle of spray does not refresh the mind, remind us of cool green pastures, or reflect the quickening pulse of a growing University. Rather, it reminds us of our own wilted, once-starched dresses and shirts on hot Spring afternoons.

A final observation on the physical state of the campus was noted yesterday. Tacked to the base of a large shade tree on the green was this sign: "Out to Lunch."

Letters To The Editor

The FLORIDA FLAMBEAU welcomes letters to the editor on any topic, and provides this space for student opinion. The letters do not have to coincide with the views of the paper, but must be in good taste. Unsigned letters will not be printed, but names will be withheld upon request in cases where the reasons are deemed adequate by the editor. Letters should not exceed 250 words. or 25 typewritten lines.

Student Replies To Columns

TO THE EDITOR:

In reply to columns written in the Flambeau advocating the integration of the white and Negros race.

Florida is one of the most progressive states in the union. This is my home state, and I love this state. I want to see it progress in every manner. Florida is my second state in my school and I want to see it progress and prosper. Neither the white or the school can afford a recurrence of the recent racial crisis that occurred in Alabama and Mississippi.

I do not believe the caliber of the students at FSU, and the residents of the Tallahassee area is any different than that of the students at the University of Alabama and the residents of the Tuscaloosa area. It seems inevitable that a repetition of the Tuscaloosa riots will take place here if the Negroes are admitted to FSU.

I would hate to see FSU suffer the same consequences the University of Alabama has suffered. I would never advocate violins of this sort, nor would I take part in it, but I do not believe it can be avoided.

I believe race relationships in Florida are as good as, if not better than, those of any other state whether a northern or southern state. I know of no riot in Florida like the one which took place in Detroit last week. Here in Florida, the Negroes have their own society, so do the white people. For the most part, the people of both races are content and satisfied with this situation.

Let the Negro work to improve his social caliber than infiltrating the white society, and let us, the white people, while imposing our own socieyty, lend a helping hand to the Negro.

Florida needs industry. But no industry is going to move into an area of racial tension. It is imperative for the welfare of this state that the racial harmony that now exists in Florida continue to prevail.

I do not know whether the writer of these columns cares about our great state or the welfare of FSU, but I am proud. To him I say. Please consider the consequences this state and school before you make such statements as, "Integration or racial marriage." I have no moral objection to it."

Statements of this kind accomplish nothing, except to create racial tension which no Christian American wants.

Today men in Florida do not like to marry girls from other sides and our streets are safe for our women and children. Just as they were in Alabama before radicals like yourself created such a tension.

Mr. Columnist, let all the people of the South live in peace as we have in the past. If you want to help the Negro, turn your eyes to the North-the place where real racial discrimination exists, hatred, and race flghtins exists.

The situation in the South of separate but equal is ideal. It certainly more desirable than the Northern situation of "hatred without separation."

OICK ROEMHELD
•Ed. Note: This letter was postscripted with a threat to mail copies of it to other major newspapers in the state and to the Florida Alligator if we did not publish it. The correspondent also implies that we do not print all letters in this paper. Only two letters have been withheld by this editor this year—one from the same source and another from his accomplice—both of which were in offensive poor taste and of vulgar character.)

Support For Candidate

DEAR STUDENTS:

As persons active in various fields on campus, some of the writers of this letter have already adopted a bi-partisan view toward student politics.

Yet this does not mean that we do not have an interest in student affairs. On the contrary our contacts with student government have given us definite choices in certain races.

So it is as students interested in the betterment of student government and affairs that we write now to urge the election of Jim E. Moore as President of the Student Body in today's election.

We have great respect for JEM's opponent. But when it comes to experience we feel JEM Moore to be far more qualified.

He has taken an active part in molding what we believe to be the beginning of a new era", more progressive, more aggressive student government.

JEM Moore has not only been fair to student government, but has become well acquainted with the many phases of student life. Many of you know him as personal friends, as we do.

We can think of no greater service students could do themselves than to elect Jim E. Moore their next Student Body President.

SINCERELY,
LIZ CURRY
GERRY GORDON
PAT FINLEY
WINNIE MAY OUGLAR
KARL MOHR
NANCY DENHAM
CORDING GANTER
NANCY SPACE
GUY MILLNER
PAT HILTON
OSCAR JOHNSON

Folsom And Present Editor Spar Content Of 'New Republic' Article

TO THE EDITOR:

In an editorial April 6 the Flambeau accused me of "misrepresenting" its position in my article in the New Republic. As I did not present, or claim to represent, the Flambeau and therefore I could not have misrepresented the paper. The article simply gives my own opinion that the administration is up under which the undergraduate publications at FSU now operate—specifically the overplacement of principles that has been made official as the determining basis on which material will be published—definitely deprives the students of their rights to express themselves freely.

The Flambeau seems exercised over a relatively minor inaccuracy in my article stating that the staff members could not be on the board, when what I should have said was that the editors of the publications can't be voting members of the board. This was an oversight on my part which I'm happy to correct.

But I see that I'm not the only one that made occasional inaccuracies. The Flambeau seems to have made a grave one when it stated that the printing equipment alluded to "has not yet been decided upon, let alone requisitioned." A quote from another Flambeau editorial Sept. 27, 1955: "We were not surprised when representatives of the printing industries appeared before the Board of Control in Gainesville last Friday to protest FSU's purchase of printing equipment for a Flambeau press."

Now which of these statements is correct? Both can't be.

The editorial says that it is the board members rather than the "written words of guidance" that is important in safeguarding student expression. While I certainly agree that if you can get the right people in authority you won't have them trying to censor what everybody else can say or think. Its certainly gullyible-naive to suppose that you don't need written principles that guarantee people their liberties.

With this kind of thinking it wouldn't matter what is in the U. S Constitution. As long as we have good people running the country Freedom of speech is okay But unfortunately there are always people getting in power who aren't so careful of everybody's rights. The written principles prevent those who like to push others around from doing so.

The main drift of the editorial though is that the publications are completely free and apparently always will be and there's nothing to worry about. I'm reminded of the story told about FDR in one of his political camoaigns when he remarked that we don't have enough freedom in this country. His opponent replied that he hadn't noticed that we didn't

BOB FOLSOM

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Folsom evidently based all of his knowledge on September's Board of Control vs. Associated Industries controversy on printing equipment and contracts, on the Flambeau editorial entitled "Padding Whose Pockets." Had he looked at the reports in the daily newspapers for that week, he would have surmised quickly that rumors concerning the possibility of future plans for Flambeau printing equipment entered the controversy as a secondary subject—their basic protest in this respect being the on-campus printing of the University of Florida's humor magazine. As the controversy centered on competition between State and private printing contracts we naturally played up the incident which concerned the student body here. However, the complete story was so well-covered by the commercial press that had Mr. Folsom been at FSU that semester he could not have confused the question.

Folsom says he has not misrepresented our situation nor misreported himself as the FLORIDA FLAMBEAU. But his article has been interpreted as follows by the NEBRASKAN, April 4 issue:

". . . In three outstanding cases—Florida State University, the University of Georgia and the University of Texas—suppression of the press is running directly counter to administration . . . At Florida State, the newspaper staff is fluctuating between their paper awaiting official control by a faculty committee . . . This control has come about mainly because of the paper's opposition to the school's one-time. The paper—The Florida Flambeau—claims this control stems from the president's efforts to muzzle any opposition to his administration."

As to the rest of Mr. Folsom's reply to our editorial he is merely setting up straw men after a half-hearted and ammunition for better targets.

—ed.

The Dissenter

Predicts 25 Percent Turnout

By MARTIN OYCKMAN

TODAY IS another campus election. If the past reveals itself, the spirit of political enthusiasm, obligation, excitement, and citizenship, will engulf about twenty-five percent of the undergraduates.

And of these, not enough will know anything about the Student Government on whose officers they will be voting.

Among the non-voting majority, many reasons are used as to why campus elections are something to avoid.

These take the following forms

"Student government is a farce. It never does anything."

Or the more tolerant, "Sure, it does something—it fusses around with its own makeup and never does anything constructive."

"What difference does it make? The faculty still have the last word."

"It's stupid."

Many students pride themselves that student government is for "intelligent people"—therefore they ignore it.

These seem should stop and ask why Student Government is "ineffective," although it has done more than they realize

If there are fools in the government, it is because the "intelligent people" don't care enough to vote them out.

If the Honor Committee on Student Affairs can get away with murder in its review of Student Senate legislation, could it be they know how weak it is in relation to the campus body?

THE VICIOUS cycle has been exposed before, in this column and elsewhere. Students do not support Student Government because they see no interest in it, nearly zero in support.

One of the principal weaknesses lies in some of the people who are elected to Student Government. Generally, he who sets a lucky start as a freshman stays in. These people are sometimes extremely capable and sincere; others are dolts. After one or two years their failings are manifest to any who care to examine the situation, and some "reform" candidates so affect their offices. What happens? The reformers are soundly and ignobly defeated. They get tired of this, eventually, and Student Government becomes a private club.

If anything can overcome this, or at least weaken the evils of tradition, it will be the living unit system of representation that Lassitie has passed. Provided no last-minute snags develop, fewer class senators (who qualify by voter apathy) will be elected in favor of many representatives from each area of the campus.

WHAT RELATION does Student Government now have with the Administration, and what should the relation be?

In theory, the university does not have to have a student government. The Board of Control and the President are legally vested with all power.

The conception is that there should be a student government, as a training ground for democracy, and that if one exists, it should be effective.

Presently, the university listens to Student Government when it is convenient to do so, but does ahead on its own when Student Government acts too slowly or does not act at all.

If the Administration were to elect mature, responsible, and intelligent leaders and thinkers as all, not a few, of their officials, by sheer law of human nature the administration would grant them more respect.

But so long as good-time Charlies and Joe Colleges can stay in office because they are lucky enough to win election as freshmen, so long as the majority of voters are indifferent men and sorority women who vote because Greeks are to emphasized by their system as a social rather than a political organization no respect accorded Student Government won't matter much.

Of All Things

Kelly-Rainier Wedding Tops All

By OSCAR JOHNSON

THE PENDING Kelly-Rainier event is shaping up as the marriage to end all marriages.

Event so far starts, it had the biggest possible buildup. When the Monocan Prince first arrived in the States for a "rest," newspapers trumpeted in blaring headlines about his eligibility as the "World's No. One Bachelor", implying that any American girl would have the opportunity now of marrying a real, live prince.

Well, as a large percentage of the world must know by now, it wasn't just any girl who got engaged to the prince. Much to the delight of Hollywood gossip-writers, it was movie idol Grace the Kelly.

If anybody had ever previously harbored any doubts that Hollywood is being run by a conspiracy of formality, that person must view the current goings-on with an air of shocked incredulousness matched only by a Gobi Desert camel driver seeing the Rains of Ranchipur. For the current union of the Actress and the Prince has received the kind of publicity in the past usually set up for the meeting of the Two Hemispheres of the Atlantic, and discovery of gold in the West.

COMPARED to this, the Monroe-DiMaggio wedding seems like a one-act play at Whistle-stop, Arkansas.

This week, the event hit probably the peak so far. Miss Grace's picture graced the cover of Life, loads of articles appeared such as "what Grace Kelly's Life Will Be Like" in This Week, and news stories told of how free wine was flowing in Monoco, on the day of the wedding. It has not been decided yet whether barrels will be set up on street corners or in public bars.

In New York the heroine made a final mad-cap shopping spree as the movie company lab plans for capitalizing on her two latest films. They realize that she will be unable to make any more pictures once she is married to the Prince

And the reason? It's very simple—whoever heard of a famous star who didn't quit the sack as Grace will soon have:

"THE PRINCESS of Monaco, the Princess of Chatean-Porcieux, the Duchess of Valentinois, of Mayenne, of Estouteville of Matarin; the Baroness of Fontenoy, of Aiglemont, and of Lutlumiere of Buis, of Massy; Lady St. Trinity, Lady of Valdrome, the Marquise of Beaucaire, of Gilly, of Guiscard; the Countess of Carladez, of Jumeaux, of Carlades, of Torlingni, and of Rethmond."

It's impossible, the ad-men will tell you. Just can't be done

Getting on to more pungent matters, we have the finest Chinese restaurant along, although we cannot vouch for its authenticity

DID YOU KNOW—A local restaurant addresses one of its patrons in this manner . . . and then you begin to notice the subtle, coincidental overtones of sweet-sour milk moon, gently mingling in the Chinese flashes of orange, green and red, which tend to dominate the color scheme of your plate.

"You can hardly help falling madly in love with this satin smooth, creamy, delightful specialty, the result of which spreads satisfy of old, musty bear rugs

"All this is true when you order your flaky-tender mouthful of chewy minced army blankets at restaurants located at choice spots across the exotic disturbance belt of buttery America

In The Wings

Webster Defines Sarasota Symposium

By DAVE WARD-STEINMAN

SYMPHONIC is defined as to Webster's: "In ancient Greece, a drinking together, usually following the banquet proper, with music, singing, and dancing." Thus the banquet or social gathering at which there is free interchange of ideas. A conference at which a particular subject is discussed and opinions gathered.

The definition so aptly describes the Art Symposium at Sarasota that additional comment is almost superfluous. It was my pleasure to visit there, and I returned duly impressed, enlightened, sun-burned, and weary.

Beginning this year as TODAY'S America, and topics covered ranged from "Jazz in America Today" to "Nazism: Past and Future Directions." Each of the lectures was illustrated with from ten to thirty color slides, and at the subject was open for discussion. The question the lecturer, though in many cases this developed into lively conversation periods. The personable Dore Ashton, art critic of the New York Times and the only female lecturer, discoursed on Nazism in such a manner that many of us sheered openly from the audience, but no Fairfield here out.

PROBABLY THE most entertaining lecturer was Richard Latham, a partner in one of Chicago's leading design firms. He is something of a philosopher and has done a lot of thinking about values in art, design, and styling, yet his lectures were casual, slangy, profane, and couched in the vernacular. all of which enhanced rather than detracted from his message. He was a welcome relief after some of the sterile dissertations that had preceded previously.

By unwritten law all of the sessions begin at least twenty minutes late. Sheets and sport shirts were the prevalent costumes And a good time was had by all.

• • •

FINALLY GOT around to crossing St. Petersburg's highly touted "Sunshine Skyway," the new bridge that spans Tampa Bay. The view is enchanting, but the bridge itself is aesthetically disappointing. Instead of the usual satisfactory approaches, rising majestically toward what should be a crowning central span, but instead of growing effortlessly into the delicate lines of the approaches, the central span looks as if it had been designed by committee from a mail-order catalogue and then stuck on with chewing gum.

There is no unity between the span and its overseas approaches. It is functional in that it will connect the two points quickly, but it is not artistic, and there is no reason why it shouldn't be. No one who has ever seen (and I mean seen: the George Washington Bridge, the Golden Gate Bridge or the sketches for the unfinished Mackinac Straits Bridge could ever passively accept the second-rate hack-work of the so-called Sunshine Skyway.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON WOODS—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ..... Martin Dyckman
Campus Editor ..... Felicia Brady
Senior Reporters ..... Jeri Bradfield
Marty Reeves, Bob Dollison, Bob Moore, Phoenix Jones
Photographic Editor ..... Tom Sawyer
Photographers: Laird Anderson, Steve Kleid, Charles Allen, Mike Bradley, Charlie Ellis
Columnists ..... Bob Dollison, Dave Ward-Steinman, Clyde Ward, Martin Dyckman, Oscar Johnson, George Seminole,

Pat Marston, News Editor
Feature Editor ..... Arlieda Ries
Sports Editors ..... Larry Block
Alan Guttmacher
Sports Staff ..... Ben Baker, Dave Evans, Joe Greene, Tom Hale, Pierce Lehmberg
Junior Staff ..... Ginger Conner, Betty Orr, Peggy DeBoll, Bob Duke, Cayne Bering, Delores Lafferty, Julie Cornette, Bob Simmons
Greek Editor ..... Charlet Pottsvind

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager ..... Marguerite Kateb
Exchange Editor ..... Sandra Coley
Exchange Staff ..... Joy Wilkins
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service

The Florida Flambeau is published twice (ug Service, 420 Madison Ave New York (7, weekly by students of Florida State University.

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown.
Circulation ..... Mike Brady
Business ..... Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith,
Enid Pearlman, Jane Anderson, Lee Meyerl
Telephone 2.800, extension 6821, 5421 211, 212 Longmira Building

Intercollegiate Press and Associated Collegiate Press

The Press Table

By ALAN WHITMARSH
Flambeau Sports Editor

Still proving themselves one of the minor sports powers of the South, the Seminoles rolled to victory in their own baseball tourney easily Thursday night.

And the 12-0 victory over Illinois was actually an athletic matic one, because for all practical purposes the tournament was settled the night previous when the Tribe topped the University of Wisconsin, 4-3.

Most observers were critical of the tourney's pairings in the final two days because reporters felt that the top contest of the tourney, the FSU-Wisconsin clash should have been saved for the event's final night.

Instead, it came as the second semi-final and Illinois with a so-so 3-3 count was given the final bid at taking the title from the Seminoles, which they could not do.

Particularly encouraging from the Seminoles' point of view in that final Illinois game was the hurling of Tommy Garcia who had been pointedly ineffective in a couple previous trials on the hill.

Garcia fired a four hit shutout at the Illini, though the visitors did get a homer which was taken away from them when the batter failed to touch first.

The little right hander from Fort Myers was FSU's top rurler last year with a 5-1 mark, and it appears that he may be's found his touch this season.

Now Coach Danny Litwhiler's charges get down to the serious business of seeking national recognition and an invitation to the NCAA tourney.

Rollins has been the area's entry for the last two seasons and they have another top notch team this year, which tha Tribe gets a crack at here May 11 and 12.

They could be the two games that count.

TOURNAMENT TIDBITS . . . . Tuesday night's West Virginia-Brown game had everything, passed balls, wild throws, 13 errors and an inside the park home run, but who had one of the most unusual outs this reporter has ever witnessed. A West Virginia batter came up in the eighth inning and lashed a double with two men out on first and two called out. It seems he had batted out of turn, and thus was an automatic out.

Nobody noticed it on either bench until one of the umpires in the press box called down to the West Virginia third base coach. The umpire finally notified the team on bench and after 10 or 15 minutes of consultation the batter called out to his and the fans' befuddlement.

FSU coach Danny Litwhiler wore a nice shiner for action Tuesday after being hit with a basket practice ball in the drive. We have an unofficial report that he was trying around to pose for a photographer. Unofficial report . . . . Seminole outfielder Lee Corso was so confident of scoring on Owen McCurrin's high bouncer in the Illinois game Tuesday he stopped to pick up a bat lying in the third base area on the way home . . . .

HATS OFF—

It's hard to give more praise to an organization such as Florida State's gymnastics team which has already coined so much in their six or seven year domination of the southern gym scene.

However, we think they deserve a special tip of the proverbial bonnet for a great showing in the NCAA meek or so ago, particularly in light of their expected weak showing.

As it in spite of a pre-meet prediction by Coach Hartley Price that the Seminoles might not be able to break into the top ten, the gymnasts finished a sparkling third, a scant few points behind runner-up Penn State.

In addition, they returned with two national champions. Jamile Ashmore in his favorite event—the free exercise—and Ronnie Amster on the horizontal bar.

The last NCAA title the Seminoles brought home was in 1952, but since then they've picked up two national AAU crowns and are a favorite to take a third come April 27-28 at State College, Pa.

A little late perhaps, but congratulations to Coach Hartley Price and his gymnasts for a job well done. And we do mean well done.

DINNER TONIGHT ! AT
THE MECCA

at your TALLAHASSEE THEATRES

FLORIDA

ENDS TODAY
"Anything Goes"
Bing Crosby, Jeanmaire
Donald O'Connor
Mitzi Gaynor

WEDNESDAY-SATURDAY
"Miracle In The Rain"
Jane Wyman, Van Johnson
Peggie Castle

PERRY HIGHWAY OUTDOOR

TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY
"The Private War of Major Benson"
Charlton Heston
Julie Adams

THURSDAY-SATURDAY
"Teenage Crime Wave"
Tommy Cook
Joe ...
"Hell's Horizon"
John Ireland
Marla English

STATE

ENDS TODAY
"Forbidden Planet"
Walter Pidgeon
Anne Francis

STARTS WEDNESDAY
"I'll Cry Tomorrow"
Susan Hayward
Richard Conte, Eddie Albert

CAPITOL DRIVE-IN
ON WOODVILLE HWY.

TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY
"A Bullet For Joey"
Edward G. Robinson
George Raft, Audrey Totter

THURSDAY-SATURDAY
"Gunfighters"
Randolph Scott
plus ...
"Desert Sands"
Marla English
Ralph Meeker

Tribe Faces Gators Again Today

Tracksters Whip Davidson, Mercer

By BOB WOLFENBARGER
Flambeau Sports Writer

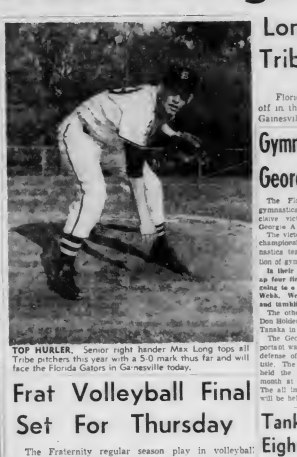
Florida State's nine first places were ample enough to edge Davidson College and lambast Mercer College in a triangular track meet held Saturday in Macon.

The Seminole cindermen surpassed Davidson 83 1/2 to 76 1/6 while Mercer hung on with a mere 31½ points.

Seminole track mentor Mike Long's charges set three new records and tied three records in competition with the Mercer squad. Saturday's meet was the first time the Davidson team had participated in the traditional competition between Mercer and FSU.

Coach Long spotlighted several members of his squad for their excellent performance in Saturday's meet.

In addition to complimenting the consistently excellent showings of dash specialist Jack Terwilliger and team captain Ron Weaver, Coach Long singled out high point man Jim Davis and high jumper Lloyd Lassen for their efforts



Terwilliger rebounded from a narrow loss in the 100 yard dash to Phil Koonce to nip Koonce in the 220 yd. dash with a time of 21.5.

Ron Weaver disregarded nasty high winds to toss the javelin 189 feet 5 inches for a new Mercer-FSU record

Joe Davis copped the high point honors for his two first places and one third place.

Davis tied the broad jump with a distance of 22 feet, 0½ inches, the 220 yd. low hurdles in 25 seconds, and placed third in the 100 yd. dash behind Terwilliger.

Davidson's best effort was made by Pete Ashcraft who was also a two-event winner. Ashcraft outdistanced competition in the mile by waiting it to 4:37 and finishing the 880 in 2:03.

TOP HURLER. Senior right hander Max Long tops all the pitchers this year with a 5-0 mark thus far and will face the Florida Gators in Gainesville today.

Flambeau photo - Adrian Allen

DOUBLE PLAY! Seminole catcher Gary Ashley arrives too late as Wisconsin first baseman John Demerrit hauls in the relay throw for a Badger double play in last Wednesday night's game

Tennis Team Tops Emory, 9-0; Play Four Games On Road

After evening up their season mark at 4-4, Florida State's tennis team plays four straight matches beginning today, every one on the road.

The nemesis face Mercer, the Georgia Bulldogs, Georgia Tech and Emory.

FSU holds decisions over Georgia Tech by a 6-3 count and over Emory 9-0. Georgia handed the Seminoles their opening loss of the season, 6-3.

In Saturday's match FSU blanked Emory, 9-0. Winners for the Tribe in singles were Hal Schaus, Shelby Creach, Lex Hester, Fred Serrett, Charles Nordlinger and Sonny Sellers.

Serrett had the toughest match going three sets to defeat Steve Schulman, 6-4, 10-12, 6-3.

In the doubles, Jim Maddock and Nordlinger defeated John Loudermilk and Jim Griffin, 7-5, 6-2. Serrett and Sellers came from behind to down John Fraser and Schulman 2-6, 7-5, 6-2, while Hester and Dick Sweetman also had three sets to defeat Rick Perry and John Jenkins 7-5, 6-4, 9-7.

Scores of the singles matches were 6-1, 6-3, Schaus downing Loudermilk, Creach over Griffin 6-1, 6-2, Hester topping Fraser 6-3, 6-1, Nordlinger beating Perry 6-2, 6-2, and Sellers losing but one game to Jenkins to cop an easy set 6-1, 6-0.

Besides victories over Emory and Georgia Tech, the Tribe thinned both Ohio State and Southern Illinois 9-0. Losses came at the hands of Miami, Florida, Rollins and Georgia.

Coach Pitchford's netters are now at the halfway point for the season. The remaining teams they face after this road trip are Florida Southern, the University of Florida and Rollins.

Relax Sherlock we have it!!

- SCIENCE WHEELS
- DATA GUIDES
- COLLEGE OUTLINES
- PENGUIN BOOKS
- EIS-ED CARDS
- SCHAUM'S OUTLINES
- ART SERIES BOOKS
- FSU STATIONERY
- GREETING CARDS
- FSU "T" SHIRTS
- ACCOUNTING WHEELS

Plus Cash . . . for used books

Bill's Book Store

Frat Volleyball Final Set For Thursday

The Fraternity regular season play in volleyball wound up last Thursday night, except for one match.

SAE made the playoffs by beating LCA 15-7 and then taking Theta Chi out of the championships 15-2, 15-9.

PBT had no easy time beating a scrappy DTD team 15-8, 9-15, 15-7, TEP kept their hopes alive by whipping fresh PKP 15-11, 15-6, and KA knocked off SN 15-14, 15-10.

Tonight in the Women's Gym the finals begin:

6:30 PDT vs TEP-DTD winner.

6:30—SN vs SAE
7:30—PDT vs SN
8:30—SAE vs TEP-DTD winner

Thursday's schedule:

6—SN vs TEP DTD
7—PDT SAE
8—Dorm champ vs Frat champ

The playoffs are on a round robin basis, the team with the highest standings in matches won, being the winner.

The final standings of the teams except the TEP-DTD match:

Dorm Championships

The finals of the Dorm playoffs are scheduled for tomorrow:

5—Petchouse vs Bennett Hall.
6—Baptists vs Methodists

Thursday

8—Dorm vs Frat champs.

Softball

Intramural softball games are scheduled for every day of the week from 4:15 to 9 P.M. on the diamonds north of the baseball field.

See Student Center and Longmire Boards for schedules.

Golf

The golf championships were under way yesterday afternoon at the Tallahassee Country Club

Play continues in a single elimination tournament this week and next.

Horseshoes

The date has been set for the doubles horseshoes tournament, for May 1st. New courts are to be constructed next to the new Men's Gym.

Gymnasts Win Georgia Crown

The Florida State Gymkana gymnastics team swept to a decisive victory Saturday in the Georgia A A U meet

The victory constituted the 29th championship won by the gymnastics team since the initiation of gymnastics at FSU in 1950

In their win, the Tribe chalked up four first places, two of them going to a vastly improved Roger Wehk. Wehk won free exercise and tumbling.

The other first places went to Don Holder in all-around, and Jim Tanaka in the flying rings

The Georgia meet was an important warmup for the Seminole defense of their National A A U title. The National meet will be held the 27th and 28th of this month at Penn State University. The all important Olympic trials will be held at the same time.

Tankers Place Eighth In AAU

The Seminole aquatard medley relay team placed eighth in the North Carolina Athletic Club team meet on to win, shattering the world's record in the process at the National AAU meet in New Haven.

In individual events Jim Jochum placed in the top 20 out of a field of over 50 in the freestyle, while breast stroker Joel Jacobs won his individual heat, but was unable to qualify for the finals. His final position was 14th

FSU Volleyballers Meet Fliers Today

Coach Bill Odenwald's championship volleyball team will play Tyndall Air Base here tonight at the Demonstration School starting at 8 p.m.

Top slugger in Florida State's Baseball Tournament was Wisconsin's hard-hitting first baseman John DeMerrit who clouted five round-trippers in seven games.

Taking twelve round for the Seminoles today will be Max Long who is 5-0 with a five and nothing record into the fray.

Backing Long will be some healthy Tribe batters in the form of Dick Houser, Phil Hunt, Lea Corso, and Fred Twomey.

A game in Gainesville today-doubleheader tomorrow.

Coach Dave Fuller has a young club this year and is swinging to mind a lot. The Gator infield produced fully defensive ball champs with the Tribe hills and slightly plus.

According to Fuller the Gator pitching staff has been feeding pitchers to batters, but this may be Gators' turn.

Florida boasts a strong lineup this year. Outfielder Jim Hyatt and team captain Jim Tanaka are the flying wings.

The Gator outfield is hitting at a better than 400 clip per man and may give the Tribe some trouble.

In an intrasquad game against Wisconsin last Saturday, the Seminoles' Jack Antonelli limited a one-hitter to lead the Tribe to a 5-1 victory.

The win was the third of the season against the Badgers and gave the Seminoles a 2-1 edge in a two game series.

Wisconsin took the Tribe in the second loss of the current year 10-3 earlier in the series.

Antonelli's victory came from three hit John DeMerrit, the Florida State intercollegiate baseball champion. The hit was a single.

At any rate, Wisconsin's mound choice Scottie Rusch fanned 13 batters each Rusch and four runs.

The Seminoles winning tally came in the fourth inning.

With Dick Houser on second base by route of a single and a theft, Lee Corso singled to drive in the only run of the ball game, by Hunt, who subsequently collected the only two hits off of Wisconsin's Rusch.

1. SUPERIOR TASTE

So good to your taste because of L&M's superior tobaccos. Richer, tastier—especially selected for filter smoking. For the flavor you want, here's the filter you need.

2. SUPERIOR FILTER

So quick on the draw! Yes, the flavor comes clean—through L&M's all white Miracle Tip. Pure white inside, pure white outside for cleaner, better smoking.

RELAX WITH L&M

MAKE TODAY YOUR BIG RED LETTER DAY!

©Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

FSU's Bullfighter

Student Is Out-Of-Ordinary

By OSCAR JOHNSON

One of Florida State University's most out-of-the-ordinary students is its student bullfighter.

His name is Juan Leonardo Lopez, the fun-loving president of the International Students Club.

Juan, a clean-cut young man of 22, doesn't fit the general conception of a matador. He's rather tall, almost slender, and has a friendly personality. He is perhaps best known to students for his appearances in the local Gymkana show, "Latino," as the matador in the bullfight number, and as the dancing instructor in "Tropicana Night Club."

Over 50 Bulls

As a matador, the FSU Junior has participated, and come out victor, in between 50 and 60 bullfights since the age of 18. These matches were held in arenas in his native Cuba, Juan's home town is Havana. Mexico and the southwestern United States.

Still actively interested in bullfighting, Juan says his main desire as president of the International Club is to stage a real, live bullfight in Tallahassee under the club's auspices. But that's not all he plans to do.

Very Active

Juan has a philosophy about being active on campus. It is simply this: to take as full advantage as possible of the opportunities for work and play at this university.

Here, anybody can be anything that he wants to be," Juan enthuses. "He can be whatever he wants, to any field. The foreign students are given the same opportunity.

"There is no discrimination, nothing at all."

Foolish Sketchy

His command of English, still sketchy, seems to partially hold back Juan's ability to express fully a tremendous appreciation of FSU which he says the 160 foreign students here have. "We want to be part of the social life here, part of the fraternity and sorority life," he declares.

Flambeau photo Tom Bawyer

JUAN LOPEZ
FSU's student bullfighter

In connection with this desire, Juan says the International Club is planning to sponsor a "Miss Foreign Student" contest. He hopes to have entries from each sorority. But he would like to make all foreign students do not have to be foreign to be associated with, or to be members of, the club.

Another big item on the group's agenda for next year is a convention to be held here in September of all foreign students going to college in Florida. That is to be a demonstration of "how grateful we are to the United States of America," Juan says.

'Big Democracy'

"We really like this place. Here you have a very BIG democracy." The students hope to have the Governor attend this conference.

Other projects planned include seminars dealing with countries represented by FSU students, a large picture stamp exposition in which each country presents a display, and a "big presentation" in next year's Homecoming Parade.

All these things, says Juan, are to "observe more students and to be more foreign students" wish to be a part of FSU's social life. He continues that his purpose as president will be to "make all foreign students here feel at home, even though some may have different customes.

'Father Sam'

"Before I came here I didn't know what 'Uncle Sam' meant. Now Uncle Sam means to me Father Sam."

His interest in gymnastics first prompted Juan to come to FSU. Last year, while a Sophomore at the University of Mexico, he visited this institution to see a meet between the FSU gym team and the visiting Swedish team. As a result of this visit, he filled out papers to come to FSU, since "People were so friendly here and so nice."

While here, he has pursued his interest in gymnastics by becoming a member of the team. Coach Hartley Price has told him that if he works hard enough, he will make the rope-climbing team for the next national intercollegiate tourney.

Pre-Med Studies

A pre-med student, Juan expects a large increase in the number of foreigners striving for educations here next year. He says there will be 300 foreign students, due largely to the publicity which those now here are sending back to their countries.

"You will hear about the International Club next year," Juan Lopez believes.

Collegians

(Continued from Page 1)

said, and Schumann's "Jagdlieder" "Hunting Songs". Op. 137. Selections from Wagner's "Tannhauser" and Gilbers and Sullivan's "Pirates of Pennance" will follow.

Four American folk songs will conclude the first half of the program.

Calypso Music

Following intermission, the group will sing two calypsos "Brown-skinned Gal" and "Dambullah," followed by a few selections by the Memory Four Quartet.

More selections by the Collegians include "This Train," "Humble" "He Never Said a Mumbalin' Word," "In Dat Great Gittin' Up Mornin'," "Moonglow," "The Birth of the Blues," "Fee and Fiddy," and "This Nearly Was Mine" from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific."

Delta Zetas Sing

The Delta Zeta Chorus will take over the program with Ernesto Lecona's "Andalucia" and Noble Cain's arrangement of "My Lover Is A Fisherman." Assisted by the Collegians, they will sing selections from another Rodgers and Hammerstein show, "Carousel," "Hymn to the Garnet and Gold" will conclude the concert.

Soloists will be Bob Gregory, John Condra, Martha Sue Mizell, and Steve Kling. Thirty-nine collegians make up the program.

The concert is free and open to the public.

HOME EC CLUB MEETS THURSDAY

The Home Economics Club will meet Thursday night in the base Lounge in Longmire at 7 p.m.

The program will be a "Talent Find," announced officers.

KD, AG, Zeta Sororities Have 'Weekend' Fun

Alpha Gams and Zetas have initiated original parties for their annual sorority weekends.

"Weekend on Park Avenue" was the theme of the Alpha Gam celebration. The new initiates pledges, and their dates were presented Friday night at the formal dance held at the Tallahassee Country Club.

Frederick Hodges was named Alpha Gam Man.

A "Penthouse" party Saturday night was the feature of the festivities. Decorations carried out the theme with murals on the walls showing various night club scenes. An all day coast party was held Sunday.

ZTA

Zeta Tau Alpha weekend featured an "Oriental" party complete with chinese lanterns, kimonos, and oriental make-up.

The Zeta Stardust Ball was held at the Tallahassee Country Club Saturday night. Bill Burkhart was crowned "Sweetheart of ZTA."

Other activities included an outdoor luncheon and a coast party.

KD

Kappa Deltas save their annual White Rose Ball at the Women's Club Saturday night.

A big square dance was held at Silver Lake Friday night with Karl Edwards, SX, doing the calling.

After church Sunday, a buffet dinner was served the KDs and their dates at the Tallahassee Dining Room.

Alpha Chi

The Alpha Chi Omegas honored their pledge class last weekend with a camp party at Lake Bradford.

On Sunday afternoon they honored patrons with a tea in Longmire.

Singers Slate

(Continued from Page 1)

Brahms Rendition

Following intermission, the group will do a rendition of Brahms' "Gypsy Songs," Op. 103 and four Old American songs arranged by Copland-Fine. The songs include "Simple Gifts", "Shaker Song", "Long Time Ago" "Ballad", "China-A-Ring Chaw" "Minstrel Song", and "I Bought Me a Cat" (Children's Song).

Concluding the concert are three selections arranged by student accompanist Ward-Steinman. They consist of "Count Every Star" by Coquatrix, "Ugly Woman" by Haitian and "A Poesy Day" by Gershwin.

FSU Now Offers MS In Recreation

Florida State University is one of 24 colleges and universities in the United States now offering the master's degree with emphasis on recreation, according to a new survey published by the National Recreation Association.

The university in Tallahassee is the only such school in Florida emphasizing the professional major for an MS degree in recreation education — the survey cites University of Florida as offering a BS degree and graduate courses in the field.

Adams Exhibit Is Displayed In Art Gallery

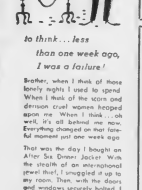
Paintings by Franklin Adams, Florida State University graduate student in art, will go on exhibit today in the University Art Gallery.

The public is invited to the informal opening of the one-man show at 8 p.m. Tuesday. The 25 works will be on display through April 25.

The paintings, principally in gouache (opaque water color) and Polymer tempera (plastic) are the work of the last year and a half.

Some of them have helped win for Adams honorable mention in the show of Society of the Four Arts at Palm Beach, the Exploria Show at Sarasota and the Atlanta Paper Company Show.

He also has exhibited in shows of the Florida Federation of Art, the Florida Artist Group, the Atlanta Southeastern Show, and currently has an entry in the International Exhibition of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.



A pupil of Karl Zerbe, Adams expects to obtain his MA degree in August. He will then study in France on a Fulbright scholarship.

Wesley Foundation To Sponsor Party

The annual coast party sponsored by the Wesley Foundation will be held Saturday. Chairmen are the Foundation at 9 p.m. and return at 9 p.m.

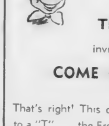
Jane Soper, World Christian Community Chairman, has announced the Sacrificial Supper will be held tomorrow night at 6:30. Donations will go to "Meals for Millions." Thelma Morris will buy a meal for famine relief. Miss Soper said.

Rev. Davenport from The Methodist Church will speak on "Disciples after the Resurrection" Sunday at 9:30.

to think . . . less than one week ago, I was a failure!

Brother, when I think of those lonely nights I used to spend! When I think of the scorn and derision cruel women heaped upon me. When I think . . . oh well, it's all behind me now. Everything changed on that fateful moment just one week ago.

That was the day I bought an After Six Dinner Jacket. With the stealth of an international jewel thief, I smuggled it up to my room. Then, with the doors and windows securely bolted, I boldly tried it on. What a change! Immediately, my muscles bulged. I was taller, slimmer, brimming over with brand-new pep and vigor.



Get rid of that pallid complexion, that feeling of inadequacy. Get back your self-confidence with a light new, bright new Super Stain-Shy After Six Dinner Jacket.

After Six by Desoto at finest dealers everywhere

C56-6

Summer Vacation?

Learn to speak SPANISH, fulfill language requirement, increase your EARNING power, in AIR-CONDITIONED comfort. 11 weeks course $435.00. Folder free. Latin American Institute Staten A. Hattiesburg, Miss.

"MIKE"
at CAPITAL
TRUCK CENTER invites you to COME OUT SOON!

That's right! This delicious food will suit you to a "T"! . . . the French Fries are just right . . . the salads are crisp. Let Mike serve you soon . . . the food's Terrific!

Capital Truck Center
On The New Quincy Highway

GENUINE ENGRAVED Wedding Announcements
SAMPLES MAILED UPON REQUEST
$7.95 FOR 50 EXTRAS 9c EACH
FINEST QUALITY
FR 3-3166
FREE Bring Book (or don't bother) Setting $15 or more
FREE Embossing on Gummed Envelopes $14.00 or More
Miami Engraving Co.
1501 N.W. 3rd Ave. Miami

Records
Phonographs
FREE LP RECORD
WITH EACH PHONOGRAPH
Baker's Music Center
107 E. Jefferson
Phone 3-0161

LIBRARY
FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
TALLAHASSEE, FLA.

Bachman Wins In Close Prexy Race

Elections Prove Way You Play Game Important

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

In sports, there's an old adage "It's not whether you won or lost but how you played the game."

Many people think this is true in regard to student politics.

On the who-won basis, State Party members could be discouraged over their showings since their rivalry with the Student Party began two years ago.

They have yet to win the presidency, the office that generally indicates party strength, and haven't taken very much else.

But their leaders consider Tuesday's elections a moral victory, and say the two-party system is stronger than ever. Student Party spokesmen don't debate the point.

Moore Comments

Jim E. "Jem" Moore, who lost the president's race to Dave Bachman by a 185 vote margin from the 2,547 votes cast for the office, commented:

"I think it was a moral victory, though not a material one."

He called attention to crushing defeats suffered by his State Party predecessors who had challenged past Presidents Pete Nuttall and Doyle E. Moore Jr.

In a letter to the Student Body, the senior senator declared:

'Good Flight'

"We fought a good fight for the principles and ideals that were dear to our hearts. We are proud of each and every one who campaigned on our behalf and for our cause. We shall always know that it was a good, clean campaign. Though we lost the material object, we have gained more intangible benefits."

And Art Moore, his brother and State Party chairman, said:

"I was well satisfied with the State Party showing. The closeness of the election indicates to me that the State Party has made tremendous strides. I'd like to point out there were some 3,000 that didn't vote whom we intend to touch in the year to come."

Voting 'Apathetic'

"I wasn't pleased at all with the election turnout," he said, terming the 2,547 total "apathetic."

"It could be called face-saving for defeated politicians, except for the comments of those who used them out.

Hall Edwards, Student Party chairman, admitted he "certainly was" in doubt as to the outcome many times during the campaign.

"I'm sure the outcome was in the final three days," he remarked.

Leads Opponents

Bud Edwards, "I'd like to congratulate Art Moore" and other members of the State Party for the way in which they conducted the campaign and for bringing in PAD a two-party system, which I feel will benefit Student Government."

Edwards also had words of praise for workers in his own party.

Jim Soles, elected men's vice-president on the Student ticket after holding the State Party, was a bit more specific regarding the State Party's vigor.

"I think the election of Art Moore as chairman did more to bring about a two-party system," he commented.

Bachman Comments

Dave Bachman, victorious in the close race for Student Body President, also lauded the two-party system.

"The campaigns as a whole were the cleanest I have ever seen," he said. "I think both parties are to be commended for turning up a greater amount of interest than ever shown before.

"By no means do I think the State Party is finished," he said of his opposition. "The results speak for themselves."

Student Feast

The State Party didn't come out of Tuesday's voting entirely empty-handed, though Student Party did feast on most offices.

The minority party won the Presidency of the Graduate Recreational Association, with Pat Feazel, and the chairmanship of Traffic Court, with Patty Pasikas.

Pete Anthony ran only 30 votes behind the winner for Student Association, and Jan Kamins, re-elected as a defense attorney, came in only 39 votes behind Cynthia Close for women's vice-president. Priscilla Hall received seven votes for a seat on Board of Publications.

Flambeau photo Tom Sawyer

As elections day drew to a close, students interested in the results gathered at the Education Building where ballots were being counted. By 8 o'clock, a large number was there and the tension began mounting a little after 9. The Elections Committee posted results as excited students crowded up for a look In photo at left, "Jem" Moore and Barbara Moore get the news— Dave Bachman had won the Student Body presidency. In center picture, State Party Chairman Art Moore is consoled by friend, while at right, Jim Soles reads the handwriting on the wall. He's new vice-president of men's senate. Another shot on p. 4.

Defeats Moore By 185 Votes For Presidency

In one of Student Government's closest races to date, Dave Bachman was elected Student Body President Tuesday.

Bachman, Student Party nominee defeated Jim E. "Jem" Moore, State Party candidate, by a vote of 1,206 to 1,141.

Bachman's majority of 185, though clear and decisive was hardly comparable to the landslides scored by the Student Party since two-party rivalry began two years ago.

'For politicians' views an future of two-party system, see another story, on this page.)

Last year, Cooper E. Moore Jr. won the office over Gordon Gassler by 954 votes. Pete Nuttall was elected president in 1954 by a margin of 455 votes.

Last year's voting turnout of 2,309 was nationly looped Tuesday by 2,547 votes cast, a new record.

Cullom Triumphs

Bill Cullom, Student, scored the biggest margin of the elections with his 1,419 to 642 victory over Billy Bryant, State Party, for vice-president.

Carolyn Close Student, defeated State Party's Jan Kamins 1,284 to 1,093, for women's vice-president.

Jim Soles, Student, defeated James Davis, State, 1,600 to 822, for men's vice-president.

Secretary Closest

In the election's closest two-way contest, Sylvia Watson, independent, edged Faye Anthony, State, 1,180 to 1,160, for secretary of Student Senate.

Bill Manning, Student, was elected without opposition Honor Court Chief Justice. Similarly unopposed were Polly Swain, independent, Honor Court clerk; and June McManus, Student, chairman of Judicial.

Laud Anderson, Student, with 1,245 votes, Pat Brady, Student, with 1,203, and Don Heidel independent, with 962 votes, were elected to the Board of Publications.

Narrow Victory

Heidel was separated in over Priscilla Moss State Party, who had 919 votes. Others in the race were Russ Parriah, independent, Judy and Alan Whitehurst, Student, 807.

The State Party's only two victorious came with the election of Pat Rooney, University Recreational Association president, by 1,291 votes over 1,061 for Mollie A. Carroll, Student, and of Patty Pasikas, traffic court chairman over Bob Porter, Student, 1,176 to 1,125.

The elections have not been contested.

The Florida Flambeau

Vol. XLI, No. 44 45 Published By The Students Of Florida State University Friday, April 13, 1956

Pan-Am Program Is Slated Tonight

Pan American Day will be celebrated on the campus tonight with a program sponsored by four organizations: Sigma Delta Pi, Pi Delta Phi, Los Pirates and the International Club.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Lounging Auditorium. The speaker will be Edward T. Desmond, Supervisor of Latin American Affairs of the International Trade Section of the Florida Development Commission.

Desmond will discuss the coordination of trade, tourism, culture and education within Florida, between Florida and Latin America, and between Florida and other states. The talk will deal primarily with cultural and education, announced club officials.

Social Events

Refreshments, displays and entertainment will follow the speaker.

Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, is in charge of the exhibit and refreshments for the evening.

The International club will present Latin American songs and dances as part of the entertainment following the address.

Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary, and Los Pirates are in charge of the administrative part of the program, the speaker and the program.

Exhibit

An exhibit of objects from the various Latin American countries will be displayed in the club room of Lonsmire following the program.

A general exhibit is now on display in a showcase outside of the Art Reference room in the library. It consists of materials from Latin America, from the personal collection of Marjorie V. Campbell of the modern language faculty.

Annual Feast

Pan American Day is celebrated each year on April 14th by those people who are interested in fostering good relations between the various Latin American Countries, explained Dr. Campbell.

The Organizations of Americas Study is generally held by Felix Verela-mo, the Brazilian author who appeared on the FSU campus recently and presented various talks to different groups on campus, she noted.

SENATE MEET IS SHORTEST YET RECORDED

Student Senate held one of its shortest meetings on record Wednesday.

The chaplain's invocation was followed by the reading of the minutes, and by a commit-te report. Old business was called for by vice-president Jimmy Joanos. Silence.

New business was called for. Again, silence.

Joanos, surprised, called for the final roll call.

Behind the presiding officers' table came a lift from Mrs. Barbara Grabhm, who had been preparing to tape record the session for a radio program.

Varied Program Set By Collegians, 8:15

A varied program ranging from a psalm to "The Birth of the Blues" will be presented by the Collegians tonight in Opperman Music Hall beginning at 8:15.

No admission will be charged.

Directed by James M. Harris, the men's glee club will be assisted by the Delta Zeta sorority chorus and The Memory Four barbershop quartet. Martha Sue Mizell will accompany the singers on the piano.

The concert will begin with "Praises In Unum" by Bernard Fitzgerald. Psalm 132, on which this number was based was sung by priests and singers as they passed through Jerusalem's crowded streets toward the temple in which they offered themselves as servants of the Most High, commented Harris.

Schumann

Three Hunting Songs, or "Jagdlieder", Op 137, by Robert Schumann, will also be included. "Jagdmorgen" "The Hunter's Evening Song" and "Abschied" Have a Care," and "Beim Jagen" "Beim Flasche" "In Full Chase." They will be accompanied by a French horn quartette.

Schumann, prolific composer of the nineteenth century, is seldom thought of as a choral conductor or composer The latter years of his study in Dresden brought about this different aspect of his musical life. He succeeded Ferdinand Hiller as conductor of a Dresden choral society. It was during this employ he composed the "Spanisches Liederspiel" to poems of H. Laube. Harris noted.

Opera Excerpts

Operatic choruses make up the second section of the program The Collegians have chosen "Chorus of Pilgrims" from Richard Wagner's "Tannhauser" and "Chorus of Pirates and Police" from "The Pirates of Penzance" by Gilbert and Sullivan.

Tannhauser, a knight and minstrel, lured of living amidst the revelries of Venus and her beautiful nymphs, finally journeys to Rome. The Pilgrims are heard singing of their beloved homeland as they return from Rome, he said.

In the Gilbert and Sullivan tale of "cops and robbers," the comicalitary element also is never reluctantly, descend upon the typical element which is about to "rub out" Major-General Stanley comical father of a number of beautiful daughters.

Police Sing

Here we have a chorus of police singing a brave 'Ta-ran-ta-ra' while, only three feet away the pirate songs about "with cat-like tread" with neither group knowing of the other's presence, explained Harris.

Folk songs complete the first half of the concert. These include two American numbers, "Erie Canal" and "Old Joe Clark" an Appalachian song. "Ballade In the Color of My True Love's Hair" and the traditional chantey, Shenandoah."

Following intermission, the group will sing Brown-ekinned Girl" a song recorded by Antigua, British West Indies, and "Dambalah", a Haitian calypso. Authentic native instruments will be used for accompaniment, said Harris.

Many years ago plantation owners of the West Indies knowing of the excellent effect of rhythm on their workers, began to force men to beat drums in order to keep them awake and

(Continued On Page 3)

Wilsons Appear On Coffee Hour

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson will make their Blue Jean-effort appearance at today's Coffee Hour in Westminster House at 4.

Hope for the Florida department's sponsored weekly presentation is slated as "Poetry and Music" by pianist a limited time with poetry with Dr. Wilson of the music department playing the music of composers some of his wife's poetry.

The couple will first explain their separate contributions, then the combination of the art zone as it is called. The common characteristics and aims of poetry and music to effective communications will be stressed.

Miss Betty Jane Grimm, contralto, and Mrs. Edith Kaup, soprano, will assist in the lyrics.

A native of England, Mrs. Wilson, who is very active in Tallahassee literary wives' groups, has had some of her poetry printed in the Poetry Quarterly published in London.

After receiving his Master and Bachelor of Music degrees, Dr. Wilson studied abroad on a Julius Rosenwald fellowship. He has taught at Ohio State and University of Kansas City, also he was head of piano at the American University at Biarritz, France.

In 1948 Dr. Wilson obtained his doctorate at the University of London, after which he came to FSU.

Cast Revealed For Last Play Here, 'Ghosts'

The cast for the final Department of Speech production, Henrik Ibsen's "Ghosts," has been announced.

Bill King will play the lead role of Oswald Alving with Marjorie Tisdell as his mother.

Margaret Rhodes will enact the role of Regina Engstrand, the servant, while Jon Thomas will be Pastor Manders.

Phil Johnson will be cast as Engstrand.

The play, scheduled for the Augusta Conradi theatre April 20, 21, 28 and 24, will be directed by Dr. Lynn E. Orr.

Scenery and lighting are under the supervision of Charles H. Reimer with costumes and make-up done by Jane Barry.

Sue Pecsok is in charge of the control board with Warren Gerard as stage manager. Carolyn Bass, house manager; John Paul Davis and Charles Curry, hand props, and George Goodwin and Sue Mahorner, set props.

Reserved tickets go on sale at the concert ticket office Wednesday.

Flambeau photo Mike Smith

Let's Have A . . . —No, it's not Kim Novak, not William Holden, but it is a Picnic. Roger Berry, Leslie Bauer and Robert Temple display tickets to Junior Class Picnic while tending booth in front of Kahler's

Near Stadium

Juniors To Hold Picnic Sunday

The Junior Class will hold a picnic Sunday afternoon from 3 to 6, announced Roger Berry, general chairman.

A slogan, "It's not Kim Novak, not William Holden, but a Picnic," has been adopted, he quoted.

The affair will be held in the grounds across from Doss Campbell stadium behind the Delta Tau Delta House.

The picnic, sponsored by the Junior Class for juniors and their guests, will cost 75c per ticket. The menu will include fried chicken, baked beans, cole slaw, rolls, cup cakes, and iced tea.

Tickets will be on sale at the grounds.

The characteristics of an old-fashioned picnic will be carried out with recreational activities such as pie eating contests and sack races under the direction of Dr. William Tait, one of the class sponsors, explained Berry.

A "combo" will be on hand to provide music.

Roberts Captures Debating Award

Fred Roberts of Florida State University won an award for debate from the floor at a recent convention, Dr. Gregg Phifer, speech department, has announced.

Roberts attended the Congress on Human Relations sponsored by the Southern Speech Association.

A bill sponsored by Roberts was passed by the Congress, as one of ten to be enacted into law "on" by the group.

His "legislation" concerned the televising of meetings of state legislatures and important legislative committees.

Herbert Lacayo and Lan Hester also attended the meeting.

Lacayo served as chairman of the education committee and Hester presented a bill.

The Congress was attended by representatives of ten south-eastern colleges.

College students made up the Senate while high school sponsors Soo berry and other Southern-ers schools.

Four Attending Pensacola Meet

★ ★ ★ ★

Four students from Florida State University are attending the Novice Debate Tourney at Pensacola this weekend.

Harold Williams and Leasan Reed are arguing for the affirmative side of the Guaranteed Annual Wage question while Robert Martins and Jeanne Bleichner support the negative.

Students will also participate in oral reading and oratorial speaking.

The tourney, sponsored by Pensacola Junior College, will be attended by Millsap College, Mississippi Southern and other Southeastern schools.

Dean Campbell Talks Monday

Dr. Laurence R. Campbell, dean of the School of Journalism, will discuss "Collision in Palestine" in a public speech Monday evening.

Dr. Campbell has just returned from an extended visit to the Middle East.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. in the Geology Building Auditorium, announced Alpha Delta Sigma, men's professional advertising fraternity, which is sponsoring the dean's talk.

Dr. Campbell said he will review his recent visit to the Palestine area and give first-hand impressions of conditions there.

Conflict between Arab and Israeli forces and development of anti-American sentiment will be discussed.

A question period will follow the address.

CIRCLE K CLUB MEETS TUESDAY

Circle K Club will meet Tuesday at 5 p.m. in the Day Students' Lounge in Longmire.

Board Puts Off Negro's Request

The Board of Control Wednesday put off action on the application of a Negro for entrance to a Florida State University graduate school.

The Board, which administers the policies of the state universities, said it would consider the application of William C. Jones of Tallahassee after the State Supreme Court completes its survey to determine whether such action would create "public mischief."

Jones, who is presently an undergraduate at Hampton Institute, Va., made application to the FSU graduate School of Business. He is one of three Negroes seeking admission to Florida's all-white universities. The other two have applied at the University of Florida.

The Board met in Fort Lauderdale.

'Students Face No Especially Bad Problems'

There are no especially vexing problems confronting Student Government, according to Dave Bachman, president-elect.

Queried as to specifics, Bachman brought about this different opinion can be carried on.

"Records are hung on from with to the court now, and from the Honor Committee, and I think it can be continued.

Procedures Stressed

Bachman, a past student in the social sciences, said revision of the court is concentrating on procedures and the duties of the student body aware of the Honor Committee.

The hoped for result, he declared, is "an illusion" that there will be a protection for those of us students that do not cheat."

Bachman said he has no immediately pending decisions on his cabinet appointments, especially for next year. He said he expects to appoint some this spring but may have to wait until fall to name the rest.

Sole ODK Junior

Bachman, a 19-year-old junior who served in Student Body Club year and as a freshman, is the sole junior in Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership and scholastic honorary.

As a senator, he has been active in committees and bill-drafting, although he is not noted for extensive participation in floor debates.

His most colorful stand was his opposition, two years ago, to a bill which would have required freshmen to attend all home football games.

Only he and Senator Gordon Gassler spoke in opposition, but the bill was defeated.

Lensen Publishes Book On Yalta

Dr George A Lensen, of the history department is co-author of a book published here this month.

The Meaning of Yalta: Big Three Diplomacy and the New Balance of Power" will be published April 22 by the Louisiana State University Press.

Dr Lensen, an expert in Far Eastern affairs, wrote in collaboration with three other history professors revealed departmental sources.

Starlight Event Slated Wednesday

Clashie Culbreath will be featured Wednesday as a saxophone soloist in the first of a series of light concerts under the name Starlight Serenades.

Marches, ballads, and familiar jazz classics will be on the program which will begin in the Music Building Amphitheater at 8:15 p.m.

Morley Whitcomb of the School of Music faculty will direct the Starlight presentations, which are slated each week for the next four weeks.

Some Record!

The so-called record turnout at the election polls on campus Tuesday was disappointing in the light of enrollment growth in the past year. The fact that we have at least 700 more students on campus this year than last actually invalidates equality of the two totals at all.

Out of 4,800 students, 2,509 voted last year in the student body elections. This year, out of 5,500, only 2,547 voted—an increase of 38 votes—dropping the percentage figure from 50 per cent to 40 per cent.

But then if the other 3,000 students don't care, why should we?

Ike's Civil Rights

President Eisenhower's recent recommendations for civil rights legislation are more than vaguely reminiscent of Truman's 10-point civil rights program delivered to Congress on February 2, 1948.

This 1948 program not only caused many Southern Democrats to bolt the party and from the Dixiecrats, but it failed to make any headway whatsoever in the Eightieth Congress. We reprint the 1948 platform for comparison with the one Ike is rapidly developing:

"The protection of civil rights is the duty of every government which derives its powers from the people. This is equally true of local, state and national governments. There is no doubt that the states can and should do at this time to extend their protection of civil rights. Wherever the law enforcement measures of state and local governments are inadequate to discharge this primary function of government, these measures should be strengthened and improved.

The Federal Government has a clear duty to see that Constitutional guarantees of individual liberties and of equal protection under the laws are not denied or abridged anywhere in our Union. That duty is shared by all three branches of Government, but it can be fulfilled only if the Congress enacts modern, comprehansive civil rights laws, adequate to the needs of the day, and discontinues our continuing faith in the free way of life.

I recommend, therefore, that the Congress enact legislation at this session directed inward the following specific objectives:

1. Establishing a permanent Commission on Civil Rights, a Joint Congressional Committee on Civil Rights, and a Civil Rights Division in the Department of Justice.

2. Strengthening existing civil rights statutes.

3. Providing Federal protection against lynching.

4. Protecting more adequately the right to vote.

5. Establishing a Fair Employment Practice Commission to prevent unfair discrimination in employment.

6. Prohibiting discrimination in interstate transportation facilities.

7. Providing home rule and suffrage in Presidential elections for the residents of the District of Columbia.

8. Providing Statehood for Hawaii and Alaska and a greater measure of self-government for our island possessions.

9. Equalizing the opportunities for residents of the United States to become naturalized citizens.

10. Settling the avacuation claims of Japanese-Americans.

Now the Republican candidate for whom four Southern states shed their tradition of Democratic ancestry in 1952 has seconded Attorney General Brownell's program with the following:

1. Create a commission to investigate individual civil rights grievances.

2. Establish a new civil rights division within the Justice Department.

3. Provide authority to initiate civil actions in alleged conspiracies to intimidate witnesses or use Klan-type disguises depriving citizens of their rights.

4. Legislate a law which would enable citizens who felt their civil rights had been infringed to bypass the state and go directly into a federal court.

Needless to say, such proposals are not strengthened by Eisenhower's support in the South, and Southern House and Senate members have already voiced opposition to them. Senator Eastland, (D-Miss), better-known for his role as long-time foe of civil rights legislation" heads the Senate Judiciary Committee which would handle most of such legislation.

While we do the Southern cries of "politics" in relation to these proposed measures, we are nevertheless glad to see them out in the open once more. And unless the segregation-conscious South can come up with a dark-horse presidential candidate with an anti-civil rights program, Northern parties will face similar proposals no matter who enters the White House in '57.

With a tidal wave of such legislation staring them in the face, the southern opposition would do bast to ride the crest of the times. Such unity is eminently important in the eyes of other nations watching the presidential race; the lead weights of the South can drag unity under if they try hard enough.

The Dissenter

Republicans Saying 'Nix' On Nixon

By MARTIN DYCKMAN

AMERICA HAS always regarded the vice-presidency in either of two strange ways. As an ordinance for unwanted or annoying politicians, or as a popularity summit to win votes.

The vice-presidency was viewed in the latter light by the Republicans in 1952 when they nominated Richard Nixon for the office. Three years later, they and the nation had a cruel shock. Nixon almost became president. President Eisenhower, under the circumstances, did not come back from the valley of death recovered and Nixon was still the GOP's Golden Boy, instead of president.

But perhaps the event has shaken the nation from its fruitless investigation of the powers of the vice-presidency. Perhaps candidates for this office will be selected with greater care from now on. Typical of the attitudes that would make such a course advisable is the following comment made by a conservative PSU student who has passed the voting age:

"IF THE DEMOCRATS nominate Stevenson I'll vote for Ike. Otherwise, I'll vote for Ike unless Nixon is nominated for vice-president in which case I'll vote for anybody the Democrats nominate."

For several reasons, many people are unwilling to risk having Nixon a heart beat away. Nixon has shown himself to be an opportunist even to the detriment of his own party. One instance was his aiding and abetting of Joe McCarthy, who, through calling the Democrats a party of treason, was doing more to discredit the Republicans than the Democrats.

Nixon has said the wrong things at the wrong times too often. A typical remark was his commencement address, a "Great Republican Chief Justice"—Earl Warren. Even Nixon's godfather, Ike, was moved to a mild rebuke.

For these and other failings, the Republicans are considering junking Nixon, in spite of his high position personally, for dog Checkers and Nixon's all-American family, which played a big part in his 1952 campaign.

Mentioned as possibilities for the nomination are Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, the Massachusetts Governor Christian A. Herter.

HISTORICALLY, the office has been used on occasion to dispose of politicians who were embarassing vested interests in the parties. An outstanding example was the nomination, in 1900, of Trody Roosevelt as William McKinley's veep. Teddy as governor of New York was becoming a political problem.

McKinley, however, was assassinated Mark Hanna, Republican boss then, kept the wayward McKinley at Philadelphia. Now that damned rowdy is President of the United States." Protestantism for the nation that "invented cowboys" was a good president.

Ike, who was elected, in 1944, was picked, some said, because he was from Missouri and therefore attractive to the southern and midwestern voters, and not a "Dewey-Easterner." He was a liberal yet had not made any startling pronouncements on racial matters; because he had been a good senator but not too outstanding a one.

World War II was not yet over when Franklin D. Roosevelt died and Truman became president. To his credit, he performed the job in a better manner than most people will allow.

Other than the big question of November, 1956's second great issue is whether the Republican Party will manifest a new attitude toward the vice-presidency.

The Florida Flambeau

JAY ROBERTSON WOODS—Editor

Oscar Johnson, Managing Editor
Associate Editor ——— Martin Dyckman
Campus Editor ——— Patricia Barger
Senior Reporters ——— Jari Bradfield
Marty Reeves Bob Dollison, Bob Moren.
Photographer ——— Editor Gaynor
Photographers Laird Anderson, Steve Kleid, Adrian Allen, Mike Smith, Charlie Siner.
Columnists ——— Wilson, Dan Ward-Steinman, Clyde Ward, Martin Dyckman, Oscar Johnson, Georgie Seminole.

MARY ELIZABETH KING—Business Manager

Assistant Business Manager, ——— Marguerite Kateb
Exchange Editor ——— Sandra Colley
Exchange Staff ——— Joy Wilkins
The Florida Flambeau is published twice weekly by students of Florida State University.
Nationally Represented by National Advertising Service, 420 Madison Ave., New York 17.

Pat Marston, News Editor
Feature Editor ——— Arileda Rice
Sports Editors ——— Larry Block
Alan Whitmarsh
Sports Staff ——— Ben Salser, Dave Evans, Joe Green, Tom Hale, Pierce Lenabeck
Bob Wolfsenbarger.
Junior Staff ——— Glazer Connor, Betty Otey, Peary DeBoli, Bob Duke, Cyane Bering, Delores Lafferty, Julie Cisneros, Bob Simmons.
Greek Editor ——— Charles Poitevint

Advertising Manager, Nancy Brown
Circulation ——— Mike Brady
Business Gail Burdsall, Larry Meredith,
Enid Pearlman, Jane Anderson, Les Meyers
Telephone 2.800, extension 6821, 3421
211, 213 Longmire Building
Intercollegiate Press and
Associated Collegiate Press

Letters To The Editor

Candidates And Parties Express Thanks

Folsom Replies

TO THE EDITOR:

While I do not care to profess the controversy over my report to the New Republic concerning the threat to the freedom of the press of mimeographed publications at FSU, I do think it may dispel some of the misunderstanding that has grown up about my brief report to point out that the word "suppression" occurs in my article only one time, and that is in the phrase "target for suppression" which I state is the Flambeau.

The problem of freedom is almost never one of suppression; it is one of repression and the even more hidden device of supervision and management in such a way that any need for suppression seldom or never arises. That, of course, is the threat to present concerning the publications at FSU under the statement of principles adopted by the Board of Publications.

BOB FOLSOM

Frosh Bike Race

TO THE STUDENTS:

It is unusual indeed that you will find a more spirited crowd on our campus than the one that was seen at the Freshman class rally last Wednesday night.

Gathered together for the purpose of forming a pep organization on the frosh bicycle race to be held April 28th, these students displayed enthusiasm that will not soon be forgotten. Besides the yells of the cheerleaders, the speech of the campus leaders, that of our deans, and the entertainment that was provided, we sensed a feeling of confidence throwing that we had such a class behind us.

It is our hope, that with your spirit, we as a class can establish this historic race and watch it grow into a tradition at Florida State University.

The Bicycle Race Chairman

'ReadRoemheld'

TO THE EDITOR:

Mr. Roemheld's recent letter to the Flambeau shows that some white Southerners seem to be living in a dream world, unchanged since the 18th century. They absolutely believe that the Negro society in the South is an impervious, homogeneous, completely separate from white society, and that due to this separation would especially racial relations exist between these races. The reality is eminently different. The facts are quite the contrary. Southern law and custom make the Negro the political, economic, and psychological inferior of the Caucasian; this is naturally quite strongly reasoned by the Negro population of the South and this resentment in turn makes southern white society tense.

Yes, Florida race relations are good, if you consider merely the absence of lynchings, headlines from the newspapers, and no such riots of the fact that hundreds of thousands of Floridians are relegated to a second-class citizenship by violation of their Constitutional rights. Racial tension can be absent only when racial segregation is either completely accepted or completely rejected. The former state of affairs is now gone forever, and was in the South are now moving toward the latter. If Mr. Roemheld is sincerely interested in eliminating racial tension and the attractive industries to Florida together with other, more important benefits of racial harmony, he should work for the end of segregation.

The fact that racial tensions is also exist in the North is no excuse for Southerners to escape their obligations as human beings and as Americans to bring about an end to racial segregation and other forms of discrimination. Each man must fight this evil in the area in which it manifests itself in his own neighborhood.

It is not a few radicals who are doing this; it is every American, from the President and the Supreme Court on down, who believes that the Constitution is a living guarantee of human freedom. The "few radicals" are those who with limitations of trouble and violence attempt to forestall the peaceful accomplishment of desegregation.

I am unable to comprehend the amazing intellectual leap which Mr. Roemheld makes in saying that a viewpoint which permits interracial marriage thus foments racial hatred. And then, I do not have the perspective which comes with being a 19th-century Southerner.

After enumerating so many wide differences of opinion between our positions, I am glad to find one area in which we can agree with Mr. Roemheld. I would also like to see Senator Leroy Lowry, the next governor of Florida, in the absence of any candidate ephemera opposition of Mr. Lowry and his fellow race-baiters.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN BOARDMAN

(Ed. Note: Roemheld denies knowing the persons who wrote the letter signed by "a friend" and in poor taste" by this Ed. Board. The last issue of Flambeau. We stand corrected in our sentence structure which implied that a person known to Roemheld was of the nature described.)

Student Party

TO FRIENDS AND WORKERS OF THE STUDENT PARTY:

We hear all kinds of comment. "Is unity there is kinship." and the validity of this statement was certainly well illustrated in the election last Tuesday. The excellent committee takes no credit for the fine job done for they were it not for the sacrifice of so many of you our crusade for a true student government would not have been such a tremendous success. For this reason we wish to thank all of you for your dedication to the party, and for Your efforts in behalf of its candidates.

SINCERELY YOURS,
KARL EDWARDS)
THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE STUDENT PARTY

TO WORKERS OF THE STATE PARTY:

The Student Party wishes to express its thanks of you for making two important contributions to student government at Florida State.

First we want you to know how glad we are that a two-party system exists on our campus as has at last become a reality. There is no doubt in our minds but what this has resulted in more interest in university politics as well as illustrated a record turnout of voters last Tuesday and that it has improved our entire system of student government.

Secondly, we want to congratulate you on the manner in which you have managed your campaign. It was conducted in a positive manner—showing what you would do rather than what the other fellow would not do.

For these reasons we wish to thank you and sincerely hope that our two party system will continue to thrive throughout the forthcoming class elections.

Sincerely Yours,
THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL

State Party

TO THE STUDENTS:

State Party has just begun to work!

As familiar as this may sound, this expresses exactly the status of the State Party.

The first year's Student Body Elections the Student Party was barely able to squeeze out a slim majority in filling most of the top offices on the slate. If you will compare these results to the past years you will see a marked improvement in the State Party. Heretofore, Student Party has walked confidently away with sweeping majorities — the State party doing well to fill a few offices.

Although we did not fill many of these impressive offices, the closeness of the election proved victory is only a few votes out of our reach.

The light turnout showed that there are a great number of un-interested student (approximately 3000) who are not taking the responsibility of their vote seriously.

This letter is directed to:

1. Those who have worked for State Party—thanking them and urging them to continue with the spirit and work.

2. To you who neglected to take part in this election urging you to consider our spirit and interest in the next general class election.

3. To the Student Party—reminding you that we still stand for something and that we will be late for class, early to rise work like the dickens and advertise.

SINCERELY YOURS,
ART MOORE
STATE PARTY CHAIRMAN

James Davis

DEAR STUDENTS:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you who aided and supported me in my campaign. Although not victorious in quest for office, I feel that I have been rewarded by the many acquaintances that I made among you. I would like to wish Jimmy Sims the best of luck in his new office next year. Once again thanks.

Sincerely,
JAMES DAVIS

Pat Brady

DEAR STUDENTS:

At this time I would like sincerely thank you for placing your confidence in me by making me to your Student Body Publications.

I promise you that I will do my best to present your views to the Board and to make wise decisions concerning your publications.

SINCERELY,
PAT BRADY

Jim Soles

DEAR STUDENTS:

Thank you for the confidence you placed in me in Tuesday's election.

(Continued On Page 4)

Of All Things

Cars Important Aspect Of U.S.A.

By OSCAR JOHNSON

